t When God ſhall have finiſhed that Work of Judgment upon the Ungodly, he will extend Mercy to a Remainder. 18 Wo unto them that draw Iniquity b with cords of vanity c, and ſin as it were with a cart-rope d.

b That are not only drawn to ſin by the Allurements of the World, or by the Perſwaſions of wicked men, being ſurpriſed and overtaken by Sin, as ſometimes good men are, Gal. 6. 1. but are active and induſtrious in drawing Sin to themſelves, or themſelves to Sin; that greedily and ſteadily purſue Sin, and the Occaſions of it, and are not at reſt till they have overtaken it; that ſin wilfully, and reſolvedly, and induſtriouſly. c Or, with cords of lying, as the laſt Word frequently ſignifies, i. e. with vain and deceitful Arguments and Pretences, whereby Sinners generally draw themſelves to Sin, among which, one follows in the next Verſe, to wit, the Impunity which they promiſe to themſelves. Or theſe Cords may note the Means which they uſe to accompliſh that Iniquity which they have deviſed. d. With all their might, as Beaſts commonly do that draw Carts with Ropes.

e To Wit, God, in whoſe Name thou and other Prophets are always reproving and threatning us. f He only thinks to affright us with Bugbears; but he either cannot, or will not do us any harm: we do not fear him, let him do his worſt; let him begin as ſoon as he pleaſeth. Not that any of the Iſraelites were ſo impudent as to uſe theſe Expreſſions; but this was the plain Language of their Actions; they lived as if they were of this Opinion; their Preſumption and Security ſhewed their deſperate Contempt of God, and of all his Judgments. g Who by his Holineſs is engaged to puniſh us. h That take away the difference between Good and Evil; that juſtifie and approve wicked Men and Things, and condemn Piety, or Vertue, or righteous Perſons. Compare Prov. 17. 15. Thus many call Serious Godlineſs, Humourous Singularity; and Juſtice, Moroſity; and Meekneſs, Stupidity, &c. as on the contrary, they call Pride, Magnanimity; and Covetouſneſs, Good-husbandry. 21 Wo unto them that are * wiſe in their own eyes, and prudent † in their own ſight i.

i That being puffed up with an Opinion of their own Wiſdom, deſpiſe the Counſels and Inſtructions of God by his Prophets, and prefer their own vain Fancies before the Judgment of the All-wiſe God, as appears by the Errour beforementioned, v. 20. that they affirmed that to be Evil, which God had declared to be Good.

22 Wo unto them that are mighty to drink wine k, and men of ſtrength to mingle l ſtrong drink.

k That can drink much without Intoxication, in which they gloried, as too many do at this day. l i. e. To drink: the Antecedent being put for the Conſequent; which is uſual: for they mingled it in order to drinking.

24 Therefore as † the fire devoureth the ſtubble, and the flame conſumeth the chaff, ſo their root ſhall be as rottenneſs o, and their bloſſom ſhall go up as duſt p: becauſe they have caſt away q the law of the LORD of hoſts, and deſpiſed the word of the holy One of Iſrael.

25 Therefore is the anger of the LORD kindled againſt his people, and he hath ſtretched forth his hand againſt them, and hath ſmitten them: and the hills did tremble r, and their carcaſes were ‖ torn in the midſt of the ſtreets. * For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill ſ.

Although that part of the Prediction, v. 29. They ſhall lay hold of the prey, and ſhall carry it away ſafe, and none ſhall deliver it, do not ſeem to agree to them, nor that Invaſion; for the Aſſyrians were forced to retreat with great ſhame and loſs, and the Jews were delivered from them. He intimates how eaſily and ſpeedily God can do this Work. y Which is not to be underſtood ſtrictly, but popularly, and with a latitude, from very remote Places; although part of the Chaldean Army did come from Places not very far diſtant from the end of that part of the World, ſo far as it was then known.

27 None ſhall be weary z, nor ſtumble amongſt them: none ſhall ſlumber nor ſleep a: neither ſhall the girdle of their loins be looſed, nor the latchet of their ſhoes be broken b.

I will take all Impediments out of their way.

28 Whoſe arrows are ſharp, and all their bows bent c: their horſes hoofs ſhall be counted like flint d, and their wheels like a whirlwind e.

c Who are every way furniſhed and ready for my Work, waiting only for my Command. d Becauſe they ſhall not be broken or battered by the length or ſtonineſs and ruggedneſs of the Way. e Partly for the ſwiftneſs of their March, and partly for the force and violence of their Chariots in Battlel.

f Which ſignifies both their Cruelty, and their greedineſs and eagerneſs to catch and devour the Prey. g Neither the Jews themſelves, nor the Egyptians, to whoſe help they will truſt, nor any of their Confederates.

30 And in that day they ſhall roar againſt them, like the roaring of the ſea h: and if one * look unto the land, behold, darkneſs and ‖ ſorrow i, ‖ and the light is darkned in the heavens thereof k.

2 Above it ſtood g the Seraphims h: each one had ſix wings; * with twain he covered his face i and with twain he covered his feet k, and with twain he did flie l.

g As Miniſters attending upon their Lord, and waiting to receive and execute his Commands. e Certain holy and bleſſed Angels, thus called from fire and burning, which this word properly ſignifies; to repreſent either, 1. their Nature, which is bright and glorious, ſubtil, and pure, and ſpiritual, like Fire; or, 2. their Property, of fervent Zeal for God's Service and Glory; or, 3. their Office and preſent Employment, which was to execute God's Vengeance upon the Jews, and to burn them up like Droſs. i Out of profound Reverence, as being ſo ſenſible of the infinite diſtance between God and him, that he durſt not preſume to look directly upon him, and judg'd himſelf neither able nor worthy to behold the Brightneſs of his Glory. k Eeither, 1. his ſecret Parts, which ſometimes come under that name, as Deut. 28. 57. Iſa. 7. 20. & 36. 12. of which ſee more in my Latin Synopſis upon Exod. 4. 25. And ſo this is done for our Inſtruction, to teach us Modeſty and Chaſtity: Or, 2. their Feet properly ſo called, as that Word is generally uſed; from which uſe we ſhould not depart without neceſſity, which, with ſubmiſſion ſeems not to be in this place. And ſo this may ſignifie a ſence of their own natural, though not moral Infirmity, and a deſire that God would not too ſeverely examine all their Ways and Actions, which the feet commonly ſignifie, becauſe though they did not ſwerve from God's Commands, yet they were not worthy of the acceptation, nor ſuitable to the Dignity of ſo glorious a Majeſty. l Which ſignifies their great forwardneſs and expedition in executing God's Commands. Comp. Dan. 9. 21.

t I am a great Sinner, as many other ways, ſo particularly by my Lips, which being in a ſpecial manner conſecrated to God by my Prophetical Office, ſhould have been intirely devoted to him: But, alas! my Speeches, either to God in prayer, or from God in preaching and propheſying to the people, have been mixed and defiled with ſo much irreverence, dulneſs, diſtraction of Thoughts and Affections, carnal Fear, and many other Infirmities, that I dread the thoughts of appearing before thy Judgment-ſeat, which I ſee erected in this place. For Iſaiah had been a Prophet before this time, chap. 1. 1. and was now called, not in general to his Prophetical Office, but to the delivery of this ſpecial Meſſage. u I am an unclean Branch of an unclean Tree; and beſides my own Uncleanneſs, I have both by my Omiſſions and Commiſſions involved my ſelf in the guilt of their Sins, and therefore may juſtly fear to partake with them in their Plagues. x The ſight of this glorious and holy God gives me cauſe to fear that he is come to Judgment againſt me, together with others. Whilſt Sinners are ſecure and preſumptuous, the holieſt perſons have ever been filled with great Reverence, and oft times with Doubts and and Fears, at any extraordinary Manifeſtation of God's preſence. And Imperative Words among the Hebrews are frequently put for the future, as is well known to the Learned. The ſence is, becauſe you have ſo long heard my Words, and ſeen my Works, to no purpoſe, and have hardned your Hearts, and will not learn nor reform, I will puniſh you in your own kind, your Sin ſhall be your Puniſhment. I will ſtill continue my Word and Works to you, not in Mercy, and for your Good, but to aggravate your Sin and Condemnation; for I will blind your Minds, and withdraw my Spirit, ſo that you ſhall be as unable, as now you are unwilling, to underſtand or perceive any thing that may do you good.

And this ſeems beſt to agree with the following Words. This making of their Hearts fat, is here aſcribed to the Prophet, as it is aſcribed to God in the repetition of this Prophecy, Joh. 12. 40. becauſe God inflicted this Judgment upon them by the Miniſtry of the Prophet, partly by way of Prediction, foretelling that this would be the effect of his Preaching; and partly by way of Judicial Operation, withdrawing the Light and Help of his Spirit, and giving them up to the Power and Arts of Satan, and to their own Miſtakes and Luſts, whereby they are eaſily and commonly lead to turn God's Word, as they do other things, into Occaſions of Sin. i Make them dull of hearing, as Iſa. 59. 1. Zech. 7. 11. as ſometimes the Ears are made by an exceſſive Noiſe. k Heb. dawb their eyes, as the Word is uſed alſo, Iſa. 44. 18. l That they may not be able, as before they were not willing, to ſee. m Turn from their ſinful Practices unto God. n Of Sin, which is the Diſeaſe of the Soul, by Remiſſion and Sanctification, and of all the deadly Effects of Sin.

f Though he do not ſeek nor ſend to thee, as he ought. This is an eminent inſtance of preventing Mercy. g Whoſe very Name carried in it a Sign and Pledge of the promiſed Deliverance. h Whither he probably went to take care about the Waters which thence were brought into the City, either to ſecure them to himſelf, or to keep them from the Enemy, as Hezekiah afterward did, 2 Chron. 32. 3, 4.

4 And ſay unto him, take heed, and be quiet i; fear not, † neither be faint-hearted for the two tails of theſe ſmoaking fire-brands k, for the fierce anger of Rezin with Syria, and of the ſon of Remaliah l.

i See that thou be quiet, abandon thy Fears, and ſettle thy Mind by the belief of that joyful Meſſage and Promiſe which I am now to deliver thee from the Lord. k They are not whole Firebrands burning in the Fire, but ſmall pieces or ends of them, taken out of the Fire, in which there is more Smoke than Fire, and the Fire will be ſpeedily extinguiſhed. They have more of Shew and Terrour, than of Strength. Pekah King of Iſrael, v. 1. whom here, and in the next Verſe, he calls only the ſon of Remaliah, to intimate, that he was unworthy of the Name of King, as having got that Title and Power by Uſurpation, and the Murder of his Maſter and King Pekahiah, 2 Kings 15. 25.

5 Becauſe Syria, Ephraim, and the ſon of Remaliah have taken evil counſel againſt thee, ſaying, 6 Let us go up againſt Judah, and ‖ vex it, and let us make a breach therein m for us, and ſet a king in the midſt of it, even the ſon of Tabeal n.

m Either, 1. break and divide that Country into two parts, one for thee, and another for me; or rather, 2. break their Power and Kingdom, and ſubdue it to our ſelves: For, 1. the ſame Word and Phraſe is ſo uſed, 2 Chron. 32. 1. where there was no ſuch Diviſion intended. 2. Becauſe the next Clauſe intimates, that the Kingdom of Judah was ſtill to be united under another King, who ſhould pay Tribute to them ſeverally, as they ſhould agree. n Some conſiderable Captain, in whoſe Fidelity both of them had good confidence; but whether he was an Iſraelite or Syrian, is uncertain, and not material.

7 Thus ſaith the LORD God, It o ſhall not ſtand, neither ſhall it come to paſs.

o Their evil Counſel, as it is called, v. 5.

8 For the head of Syria is p Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus is Rezin; and within threeſcore and five years q ſhall Ephraim be broken, † that it be not a people.

p Or, rather, ſhall be: for the Verb is not expreſſed in the Hebrew Text, and therefore may be either way ſupplied. The ſence is, Damaſcus ſhall ſtill continue to be the Capital and Chief City of the Kingdom of Syria; and therefore Jeruſalem ſhall not be taken, nor become a part of Rezin's Dominion; but he ſhall be kept within his own Bounds, and be King of Damaſcus only, and not, as he hopes, of Jeruſalem. q To be computed either, 1. from the Prophecy of Amos, who Propheſied in the days of Uzziah, two years before the earthquake, Amos 1. 1. which the Jews affirm to have hapned about the time of his Uſurpation of the Prieſt's Office, and being ſmitten with Leproſie, 2 Chron. 26. 16, &c. which though it be not proved, yet it may be admitted, becauſe it cannot be diſproved. And it is more than probable, that that Action and Accident was divers years before his death, during which time Jotham acted as his Viceroy, 2 Chron. 26. 21. And the Prophecy of Amos being expreſs and full concerning the Deſtruction of the People and Commonwealth of Iſrael, being alſo freſh in the memory of many now living, the Prophet Iſaiah might well have reſpect to it. So the ſenſe is as if he had ſaid, There ſhall be but 65 years between the Delivery and the Execution of that Prophecy. And ſo the number of years may be thus made up. Fix the beginning of them Ten years before Uzziah's death, add the Sixteen Years of Jotham's Reign, and then the Sixteen years of Ahaz his Reign, and then Six of Hezekiah's Reign, in in which Iſrael was carried Captive, 2 Kings 18. 10. theſe make up 48 years: And for the 17 years, which yet remain of the 65, they may be taken out of the reſt of Hezekiah's Reign. For although the Tranſportation of that People began in the Sixth year of Hezekiah, yet it might be continued or repeated divers years after, and compleated 17 years after, Jer. 52. 28, 29, 30. Or rather, 2. theſe years may be computed from the time of this Prophecy of Iſaiah. And whereas it may objected againſt this Opinion, That the Judgment here threatned was executed in the Sixth year of Hezekiah, as was before noted, and therefore within 18 or 19 years of this Prophecy, which was delivered in the third or fourth year of Ahaz; Two things may be anſwered, 1. That the Iſraelites were not tranſported in the Sixth year of Hezekiah: For although Samaria be ſaid to be taken in the Sixth year of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 18. 10. and the Tranſportation of the Iſraelites be mentioned immediately after it, v. 11. yet it doth not thence follow, that it was done immediately, and at that one time; becauſe this is not unuſual in Scriptnre, in Hiſtorical Relations to mention thoſe things together which were done at a conſiderable diſtance of time one from another; as it is recorded, Act. 7. 15, 16. Jacob——died, he and our fathers, and were carried over into Sychem, and laid in the Sepulchre of Abraham, &c. although it was above 200 years e'er all which is ſaid in thoſe few words was done. And other inſtances of like nature might eaſily be produced. 2. That this Work of Tranſportation was not done at once, but ſucceſſively, and by degrees. Thus it certainly was in the Tranſportation of Judah, which was begun in Nebuchadnezzar's Seventh year, continued in his Eighteenth year, and perfected in his Three and Twentieth year, Jer. 52. 28, 29, 30. And thus it might be, and probably was, in this Tranſportation. It might be begun preſently after the taking of Samaria, and afterwards continued, until at laſt the whole Body of the People was removed. And as ſoon as that was done, and not before, the King of Aſſyria brought into their place thoſe new Colonies mentioned, 2 King. 1. 24. Which that it was not done at the time of the taking of Samaria, but many years after it, ſeems to me evident, becauſe thoſe Colonies were not brought thither by Shalmanezer, who took Samaria, 2 Kings 18. 10. no nor by Sennacherib, his next Succeſſour; but by Eſarhaddon, as is affirmed Ezra 4. 2. who was the Son and Succeſſour of Sennacherib, 2 Kings 19. 37. and reigned above Fifty years; for he ſeems to have begun his Reign about the Fourteenth year of Hezekiah's Reign, by comparing 2 Kings 18. 13. and 19.

35, 36, 37. and ſo he reigned with Hezekiah about Fifteen years, and with Manaſſeh above forty years, as the Learned Sir John Marſham affirms in his Chronicus Canon, &c. page 496. And this Work of Tranſporting the Remainders of the Iſraelites, and bringing the new Colonies, might not be done till towards the end of his Reign: Which delay might be occaſioned by his Wars, or other great Affairs. And leſt this ſhould ſeem to be only my own private Conjecture, if the Reader conſult Sir John Marſham's fourth and laſt Chronological Table, inſerted after page 589. of his Work, he will find that Learned Chronologer to be of the ſame mind, and to make above Fifty years diſtance between the taking of Samaria, and the Tranſlation of the new Colonies into thoſe Parts. And thus theſe Sixty five years might well be accompliſhed in his time. And ſo this Place agrees with other Scriptures, and the Difficulties objected againſt other Interpretations, ſeem to be avoided.

9 And the head of Ephraim is r Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah's ſon *: ‖ If ye will not believe, ſurely ye ſhall not be eſtabliſhed ſ.

* See 2 Chr. 20. 20.

‖ Or, Do ye not believe? it is becauſe ye are not ſtable, or ſhall not be eſtabliſhed.

r Or either, ſhall be; and the ſence is the ſame as in the foregoing Verſe, Samaria ſhall continue to be the Chief City of the Kingdom of Iſrael, and Pekah ſhall not conquer Jeruſalem, as he hoped and deſigned to do. ſ If you do not believe this and the other Promiſes of God, but, in diſtruſt of God, ſhall ſeek to the Aſſyrians for Succour, to which I perceive you are inclined, inſtead of that Deliverance and Settlement which you expect, you ſhall be diſtreſſed and conſumed thereby; the Accompliſhment of which Threatning is recorded 2 Chron. 28. 20. And by this Threatning he implies, That if they did rely upon God's Word and Help, they ſhould be eſtabliſhed. Only he delivereth it in the form of a Threatning, rather than of Promiſe, partly becauſe he foreſaw that they would chuſe the worſe part, and bring the Judgment threatned upon themſelves; and partly becauſe this was moſt neceſſary for them, to affright them out of their preſent Security and Infidelity.

10 † Moreover, the LORD ſpake again unto Ahaz, ſaying, † Heb. And the LORD added to ſpeak.

11 Aſk thee a ſign of the LORD t thy God u, ‖ aſk it either in the depth, or in the heighth above x.

t I perceive thou doſt not believe God's Word and Meſſage now delivered by me; yet God is ſo patient and merciful to thee, that he gives thee liberty to demand of him any Signal or miraculous Work, whereby thou mayſt be aſſured of the Truth and Certainty of this Promiſe. u Both by right of Dominion, and by vertue of his gracious Covenant made with all Iſrael, of whom thou art a Member, and King; and by thy own Profeſſion, for he ſtill worſhipped God together with his Idols; and by the continuance of his Care and Kindneſs to thee, and to thy People, notwithſtanding all your Wickedneſs; whereof this Promiſe and Offer is a clear Demonſtration. x Demand ſome Prodigy to be wrought, either in Earth or in Heaven, at thy pleaſure.

12 But Ahaz ſaid, I will not aſk y, neither will I tempt the LORD z.

y This Refuſal proceeded not from the ſtrength of his Faith, but from his Contempt of God, and total diſtruſt and diſregard of his Word, and inward Reſolution to take another Courſe; as is manifeſt both from the following words, and from the Hiſtory of Ahaz, 2 Chron. 28. z Either, 1. By aſking a Sign, as if he queſtioned the Truth of his Word: So this was deep Hypocriſie: Or, 2. By neglecting any means neceſſary for my preſervation, which were indeed a tempting of God. And therefore I ſhall not ſit ſtill and rely upon God till I be deſtroyed, which will be the effect of thy Counſel; but I ſhall do as becometh a wiſe King, ſeek for Succour from Potent Allies, ſuch as the Aſſyrian is. So this is flat Rebellion againſt God.

13 And he ſaid, Hear ye now, O houſe of David a, Is it a ſmall thing for you b to weary men c, but will ye weary my God alſo d?

a Of which, ſee above, v. 2. He reproveth them all, becauſe they were the King's Counſellours, and promoted the Deſign of ſending for the Aſſyrian Succours. b Is not that Wickedneſs more than enough? Muſt you add more to it? c To vex God's Prophets and People, and the generality of your Subjects, with your Oppreſſions and horrid Impieties. d By your curſed Ingratitude and Unbelief, and Diſobedience to his Commands. He ſaith, my God, i. e. the God whoſe Servant and Prophet or Meſſenger I am; to intimate, that this heinous Offence was not committed againſt a weak and fooliſh Man, ſuch as they might think the Prophet to be, but againſt God himſelf, who ſent the Meſſage. Compare Exod. 16. 8.

14 Therefore e the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign f; * Behold g, a virgin h ſhall conceive, and bear i a ſon, and ‖ ſhall call k his name Immanuel l.

e Becauſe you deſpiſe me, and the Sign which I now offer to you, God of his own free Grace will ſend you a more honourable Meſſenger, and give you a nobler Sign, to try whether that will cure you of your Infidelity. Or, Nevertheleſs, as this Particle ſeems to be underſtood, Iſa. 30. 18. Jer. 16. 14. and 30. 16. Although you deſerve no Sign nor Favour, yet for the comfort of thoſe few Believers which are among you, and to leave you without excuſe, I ſhall mind you of another and a greater Sign, which God hath promiſed, and will in his due Time perform; which alſo is a Pledge of the certain Accompliſhment of all God's Promiſes. Or, Surely, as this Particle is ſometimes uſed, as Gen. 4. 15. Jer. 2. 33. & 5. 2. Zech. 11. 7. f To wit, of your Deliverance. Queſt. How was this Birth of a Virgin, which was not to come till many Ages after, a Sign of their Deliverance from the preſent Danger? Anſw. 1. Becauſe this was a clear Demonſtration of God's infinite Power and Goodneſs, and Faithfulneſs, and conſequently of the certain Truth of all God's Promiſes from time to time, which can never fail ſo long as thoſe Attributes of God ſtand: And mens Faith is either ſtrong or weak, as they believe them or doubt of them. Of which ſee Pſalm. 77. 8, and 78. 19, 20. Rom. 4. 20, 21. And ſo this was a proper Remedy for Ahaz his Diſeaſe, which was a ſecret Suſpicion that God either could not, or would not deliver them. 2. Becauſe that Promiſe, I ſay not only the actual Giving, which was long after, but even the Promiſe of the Meſſiah, which had been made long ſince, and oft renewed, and was univerſally believed by all the People, was the Foundation of all God's Mercies and Promiſes unto them, 2 Cor. 1. 20. and a Pledge of the Accompliſhment of them. 3. Becauſe this promiſed Birth did ſuppoſe and require the Preſervation of that City, and Nation, and Tribe, in and of which the Meſſiah was to be born; and therefore there was no cauſe to fear that utter Ruine which their Enemies now threatned to bring upon them. 4. This is one, but not the only Sign here given, as we ſhall ſee at v. 16. g You who will not believe that God alone is able to deliver you from the united Force of Syria and Iſrael, take notice, for your full ſatisfaction, that God is not only able to do this Work, but to do far greater and harder things, which he hath promiſed, and therefore both can and will accompliſh. h Strictly and properly ſo called. The Jews, that they may obſcure this plain Text, and weaken this Proof of the Truth of Chriſtian Religion, pretend that this Hebrew Word ſignifies a young Woman, and not a Virgin. But this corrupt Tranſlation is eaſily confuted, 1. Becauſe this Word conſtantly ſignifies a Virgin in all other places of Scripture where it is uſed, which are Gen. 24. 43. compared with v. 15. Exod. 2. 8. Pſalm 68. 25. Cant. 1. 3. & 6. 8. To which may be added Prov. 30. 19. The way of a Man with a Maid, or a Virgin: For, though it be ſuppoſed that he did deſign and deſire to corrupt her, and afterwards did ſo; yet ſhe may well be called a Virgin, partly becauſe he found her a Virgin, and partly becauſe ſhe ſeemed and pretended to others to be ſuch, which made her more careful to uſe all poſſible Arts to preſerve her Reputation, and ſo made the diſcovery of her impure Converſation with the Man more difficult, whereas the filthy Practices of Common Harlots are eaſily and vulgarly known. 2. From the ſcope of this Place, which is to confirm their Faith by a ſtrange and prodigious Sign, which ſurely could not be, that a young Woman ſhould conceive a Child, but that a Virgin ſhould conceive, &c. i Or rather, bring forth, as it is rendred Mat. 1. 23. and as this Hebrew Word is uſed Gen. 16. 11. and 17. 19. Judg. 13. 5. k The Virgin, laſt mentioned, ſhall call: Which is added as a further Evidence of her Virginity, and that this Son had no Humane Father, becauſe the Right of Naming the Child (which, being a Sign of Dominion, is primarily in the Husband, and in the Wife only by his conſent or permiſſion, as is evident from Gen. 5. 29. and 35. 18. Luke 1. 60, 63. and many other places of Scripture) is wholly appropriated to her. l Which ſignifies, God with us, God dwelling among us, in our Nature, John 1. 14. God and Man meeting in one Perſon, and being a Mediator between God and Men. For the deſign of theſe Words is not ſo much to relate the Name by which Chriſt ſhould commonly be called, as to deſcribe his Nature and Office: As we read that his Name ſhall be called Wonderful, Counſellor, &c. Iſa. 9. 6. and that this is ſaid to be his (the Meſſiah's) Name whereby he ſhall be called, The Lord our Righteouſneſs, Jer. 23. 6. although he be never called by theſe Names in any other place of the Old or New Teſtament; but the meaning of theſe Places is, He ſhall be Wonderful, and our Counſellor, &c. and our Righteouſneſs: For, to be called is oft put for to be, as Iſa. 1. 26. and 4. 3, &c m The common Food of Children in that Country, where they were in great abundance, and of the beſt ſort. n The Virgins Son laſt mentioned, who, though he be God bleſſed for ever, yet ſhall become Man, and, to ſhew the Truth of his Humanity, ſhall not only be conceived and brought forth, but alſo ſhall be nouriſhed and brought up by the ſame means and ſteps as other Children; which is juſtly mentioned here as a ſtupendous and miraculous Work of God. o That by this Food he may grow up, and ſo may know, &c. Or, until he know, as it is rendred by divers Learned Men, and, among others, by the Chaldee Interpreter, who beſt knew the uſe of this Particle among the Hebrews. p To diſcern between things morally good and evil; which Children are capable of doing in ſome meaſure, when they are five or ſix years old. Compare Deut. 1. 39. where young Children are deſcribed by this Character, that they had no Knowledge between good and evil.

15 Butter and honey m ſhall he n eat, that he may know o to refuſe the evil, and chuſe the good p.

16 * For q before the child r ſhall know to refuſe the evil, and chuſe the good, the land ſ that thou abhorreſt t ſhall be forſaken of both her Kings u.

* See 8. 4.

q Or, Yea; for ſo this Particle is uſed by way of amplification or Addition, Iſa. 32. 13. Jer. 14. 5, 18. So the ſence is, Not only this Land of thine ſhall be preſerved until the Virgin's Son be born, but thine Enemies Land ſhall be ſorely ſcourged, and theſe two Kings deſtroyed, within a very little time. r Heb. this Child; not the Virgin's Son, but the Prophet's Child, Shearjaſhub, whom in all probability the Prophet, to prevent miſtakes, pointed at, and who was brought hither by God's ſpecial command, v. 3. and that for this very uſe; for otherwiſe his Preſence was wholly inſignificant. ſ The Lands, to wit, of Syria and Iſrael, as is evident from the next Words. It is an Enallage of the Singular for the Plural. t For its cruel Deſigns and Practices againſt. Or, which vexeth or moleſteth thee, as this Word is uſed Exod. 1. 12. Numb. 22. 3, &c. u So far ſhall Pekah and Rezin be from conquering thy Land, that they ſhall loſe their own Lands, and their Lives too; which they did within two Years after this Time, being both ſlain by the King of Aſſyria, 2 Kings 15. 29, 30. and 16. 9.

17 The LORD ſhall bring x upon thee y and upon thy People and upon thy Father's houſe z, days a that have not come, from the day that * Ephraim departed from Judah b, even the King of Aſſyria c.

* 1 Kings 12. 16.

x But although God will deliver you at this Time for his own Name's ſake, yet he will remember and requite all your preſent and following Wickedneſs, and hath a dreadful Judgment in ſtore for you. y For part of this Aſſyrian Storm fell in Ahaz his Reign, 2 Chron. 28. 20. z Upon thy Sons and Succeſſours, the Kings of Judah: The Accompliſhment whereof is recorded in their Hiſtory. a To wit, evil days, by a Synecdoche; or Calamities: For days are oft put for the Events which happen in them, and eſpecially for Judgments or Tribulations, as Job 18. 20. Pſalm 137. 7. Iſa. 9. 4. Obad. v. 12. b When Ten Tribes revolted from thy Father's Houſe, and ſet up another oppoſite Kingdom. c Who may well be called their Plague or Calamity, as he is called the Rod of God's Anger, Iſa. 10. 5. Or, with (as this Hebrew Particle oft ſignifies) the King, &c. or, by the King, &c. And King is here put for Kings, as Dan. 2. 37. and 8. 21.

18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day d, that the LORD ſhall hiſs e for the flie f, that is in the uttermoſt part g of the Rivers h of Egypt, and for the Bee i that is in the land of Aſſyria k.

d Known to God, and appointed by him for the Execution of theſe Judgments. e See on Iſa. 5. 26. f The Flies. So he calls theſe Enemies, to imply either their great Numbers, or their ſpeedy March, or their unavoidable Aſſault. g In, or near, or towards their Extremity or End, where they go out into the Sea. h Of the River Nilus, which may be called Rivers, either for its greatneſs, for which cauſe the Title of Rivers is given alſo to Euphrates, Pſalm 137. 1. and to Tigris, Nah. 2. 6. or becauſe, towards the end of it, it is divided into ſeven famous Streams, by which it emptieth it ſelf into the Midland Sea, Iſa. 11. 15. He ſeems plainly to deſign and deſcribe the Egyptians, who were always dangerous Neighbours to Judah, and did probably animate and aſſiſt the Philiſtines, and Edomites, and others, againſt them, and at laſt made a formal Invaſion and Conqueſt of their Land, 2 Kings 23. 33, &c. Beſides, when the Chaldeans had in good meaſure ſubdued the Egyptians, it is very probable that great numbers of the Egyptian Soldiers did liſt themſelves in the Chaldean Army, and with them invade the Land of Judah. i The Bees, the Aſſyrian Army, who are compared to Bees, as for their numerous Forces and orderly March, ſo for their fierce Attempts and miſchievous Effects. k In the Empire of Aſſyria, or Babylon; for theſe two were united into one Empire, and therefore in Scripture are promiſcuouſly called ſometimes by one Title, and ſometimes by the other.

19 And they l ſhall come, and ſhall reſt all of them m in the deſolate valleys n, and in the holes of the rocks o, and upon all thorns, and upon all ‖ buſhes p.

l The Flies, and eſpecially the Bees. m They ſhall have an eaſie Victory; few or none of them ſhall be ſlain in the Attempt. n Either, 1. Such as were and had long been deſolate. So it ſignifies the vaſt Numbers of their Enemies, which filled all Places, both ſuch as are well inhabited, and ſuch as were in a great meaſure deſolate: Or, 2. Such as they found very fruitful, but made them deſolate. o To which poſſibly the Iſraelites fled for Refuge. p Which he mentions partly becauſe Flies and Bees uſe frequently to reſt there; and partly to intimate, that no Place ſhould eſcape the fury of this Enemy.

20 In the ſame day ſhall the LORD ſhave with a * raſour q that is hired r, namely by them beyond the River ſ, by the King of Aſſyria t, the head and the hair of the feet u: and it ſhall alſo conſume the beard x.

q i. e. Utterly ſpoil and deſtroy, as ſhaving takes away all the Hair, and leaves not any thing of it viſible, as there is when the Hair is only cut or polled. r Either, 1. By Ahaz, who did hire them, 2 Kings 16. 7, 8. And ſo the Prophet notes the juſt Judgment of God, in ſcourging them with a Rod of their own making; and by this Threatning he endeavours to prevent that wicked Deſign which then was on foot, of hiring Aſſyrian Succours: Or, 2. By God, who did ſtir them up, and ſend them upon his Errand againſt Judah, as he threatens Iſa. 10. 6. and paid them liberally for that Service, as he did Nebuchadnezzar, of which ſee Jer. 25. 9. and 27. 6, 7. Dan. 2. 37, 38. ſ Euphrates, called the River by way of eminency, Pſalm 72. 8. Jer. 2. 18. beyond which Aſſyria lay. t By the Succeſſive Kings of the Aſſyrian Empire, Sennacherib, 2 Kings 18. 13, &c. Eſarhaddon, 2 Chron. 33. 11. and eſpecially by Nebuchadnezzar, who having ſubdued the Aſſyrian Monarchy, from thenceforth was King of Aſſyria as well as of Chaldea. And the Prophet rather mentions Aſſyria than Chaldea, or Babylon, partly becauſe the Aſſyrian began and continued to execute this Judgment, although the Babylonian compleated it; and partly to inform them, that they laid the Foundation of their own Ruine, by opening the Door to the Aſſyrian, who afterwards entred at his Pleaſure, and left it open for Nebuchadnezzar. u Of the lower or ſecret Parts, which come under that Name, Ezek. 16. 7, 25. and elſewhere, as it hath been noted again and again; and which the Jewiſh Writers affirm to have been ſhaved in the Purification of Lepers and Levites, Lev. 14. 8, 9. Numb. 8. 7. x Which they highly eſteemed, as a great Ornament. By theſe Metaphorical Expreſſions he ſignifies the total Deſtruction of their State, from head to foot, from the higheſt to the loweſt.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a man ſhall nouriſh a young cow, and two ſheep y.

y This and the following Verſe contain either, 1. A Mitigation of the foregoing Calamity, or ſome Comfort for the Remainders of the People, after the publick Devaſtion; or rather, 2. A further Declaration of the threatned Deſolation; which beſt agrees not only with the foregoing, but alſo with the following Verſes. So the ſence of this Verſe is this, They who formerly uſed to keep great Herds of Cattel, and many Flocks of Sheep, ſhall eſteem it a great happineſs if they can keep but one Cow and two Sheep, to keep themſelves from Extremity of Famine.

22 And it ſhall come to paſs for the abundance of milk that they ſhall give z, he ſhall eat butter: for butter and honey a ſhall every one eat that is left † in the Land.

z Becauſe they ſhall have excellent and large Paſtures, by reaſon of the great ſcarcity of Cattel; whereas formerly their Lands were oft times over-ſtocked with Cattel. a Which may be here mentioned, either, 1. As mean and vulgar Food, being very common in thoſe Parts; which are oppoſed to that Fleſh and Corn, and other excellent Fruits of the Earth, wherewith their Land formerly abounded; or, 2. As very good and pleaſant Food, which the poorer ſort had formerly uſed to ſell, to procure more neceſſary and cheaper Food for themſelves: But now the Land ſhould be ſo deſtitute of People, that there were none to whom they could ſell them, and thoſe few who did ſurvive might freely eat all ſorts of Proviſions.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that every place ſhall be, where there were a thouſand vines at a thouſand ſilverlings b, it ſhall even be for Briars and Thorns c.

b Or, pieces of ſilver, as the ſame Word is commonly rendred. Whereby we may underſtand either, 1. So many Pounds; a Pound for each Vineyard, to wit, for the Annual Rent: Or, 2. So many Shekels, which Word is moſt commonly underſtood, when no particular kind of Coin is expreſſed, as 2 Sam. 18. 11, 12. Mat. 26. 15. and then the meaning is, not that the thouſand Vineyards were lett for a thouſand Shekels, a Vineyard for a Shekel, which is a contemptible price; but that each of the thouſand Vineyards might have been ſold or let for a thouſand Shekels, which was the yearly Rent of ſome excellent Vineyards, as may be gathered from Cant. 8. 11. Except we underſtand this not of ſo many Vineyards, as other Interpreters do, but of ſo many ſingle Vines, as the Word properly and generally ſignifies, planted together in one large Vineyard, which may be here meant by the place of the River; and then each Vine may be valued at a Shekel. But this place may poſſibly be otherwiſe rendred, and that exactly according to the Hebrew Text, Every place where there are a thouſand Vines, ſhall be for a thouſand pieces of Silver, i. e. It ſhall be valued, or offered, either to be let, or rather to be ſold, at that Price; which was a very low Price, and therefore fitly ſignifies the greatneſs of the Deſolation. c Becauſe it ſhall be utterly neglected, and therefore overſpread with them. Or, yea it ſhall be for Briars and Thorns. No man will either buy or hire it upon any terms.

24 With arrows and with bows d ſhall men come thither: becauſe all the land ſhall become briars and thorns.

d Either to hunt, or to defend themſelves from Wild Beaſts, which commonly abide in ſuch deſolate and overgrown Grounds.

25 And on all hills that ſhall be digged e with the mattock, there ſhall not come thither the fear of briars and thorns f: * but it ſhall g be for the ſending forth of oxen, and for the treading of leſſer cattel h.

* Chap. 32. 20.

e Or, that were digged, to wit, formerly; that uſed to be digged and dreſſed for the planting of Vines, or other choice Fruit-trees. f The Words thus rendred, ſound like a Promiſe: But that doth no way agree with the ſcope of the Place. And they may be, and are by ſome, underſtood not of Briars and Thorns growing in thoſe Grounds, which would hinder the feeding of Cattel there, but of ſuch wherewith they were fenced, and by which the Cattel were affrighted or hindred from breaking into them, which cauſe of their Fear being now removed by the general Devaſtation, they might now enter there, and feed at pleaſure, as the next Words imply. Or they may be rendred thus, as they are by a late Learned Interpreter, That there might not come thither, &c. which is mentioned as the Reaſon why they were digged and dreſſed, that they might be freed from Briars and Thorns. And ſo there is only a defect of the Hebrew Particle aſher, which is frequent, and that not only as it ſignifies which, but as it is taken finally for that, as Iſa. 5. 11. and 10. 2. and elſewhere. g Or, even (as this Particle is oft rendred) there ſhall be, to wit, a place; which Word is underſtood, 2 Sam. 7. 1. 1 Kings 18. 12. Or the Words may be thus rendred, And all Hills that ſhall be digged—and thorns, even they or each of them ſhall be, the Singular being taken collectively, as is very uſual. h All ſorts of Cattel may fairly enter, and feed there, the Fences being broken down, and the Owners generally ſlain, or carried into Captivity.

CHAP. VIII.

Syria and Iſrael ſhould be ſubdued by Aſſyria, 1,—4. Judah alſo ſhould be afflicted, 5,—8. God's Judgments irreſiſtible, and to be feared, 9,—13. The Lord is a Sanctuary to the Godly, a Stone of ſtumbling to the Wicked, 14,—15. The Prophecy ſure, God to be waited on, Necromancers not to be conſulted, but the Prophecy, their Miſery, 16,—22.

MOreover the Lord ſaid unto me, Take thee a great roll a, and write in it with a mans pen b, concerning † Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz c.

† Heb. in making ſpeed to the ſpoil, he haſteneth the prey, or, make ſpeed, &c.

a Or, A great Volume, becauſe the Prophecy to be written in it was large, and God would have it written in very large and legible Characters. b With ſuch a Pen as Writers uſe, Pſalm 41. 6. Jer. 8. 6. that ſo all may read and underſtand it. c Concerning that thing which is ſignified by the Name of thy Child, which is here mentioned by way of Anticipation, as not being given him till v. 3. i. e. concerning that which God is making haſte to do, the giving up the Kingdoms of Syria and Iſrael for a Prey to the Aſſyrian, as this Name is explained, v. 4.

* 2 Kings 16. 10.

2 And I took unto me faithful witneſſes, to record d, * Uriah the Prieſt, and Zechariah the ſon of Jeberechiah.

d Perſons of unqueſtionable Reputation, who ſhould bear witneſs that the following Name and Prophecy was written and publiſhed by me according to God's Command.

3 And I † went unto e the propheteſs f, and ſhe conceived and bare a ſon: then ſaid the LORD to me, Call his name Maher-ſhalal-haſh-baz.

e Heb. I came near to her. A modeſt Expreſſion of the Conjugal Act. f So called, partly as ſhe was the Prophet's Wife, Wives being frequently denominated from their Husbands Titles, as the Wives of Mayor, or Doctor, &c. are commonly called Mayoreſs, Doctoreſs, &c. and partly becauſe ſhe did concur with the Prophet to the procreation of this Prophetical Child.

* 2 Kings 16. 9.

4 For before the child ſhall have knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother g, ‖ * the riches of Damaſcus, and the ſpoil of Samaria ſhall be taken away h before the king of Aſſyria i.

g To ſpeak, and to know his Parents; which is within the ſpace of two years. And this agrees with the other Prophecy, Iſa. 7. 16. Before the child ſhall know to refuſe the evil and chuſe the good, which requires a longer time than to diſtinguiſh his Parents from Strangers; which ſuits well to Shear-jaſhub, who, being born ſome years before this, was capable of that further degree of Knowledge, as ſoon as this was capable of the lower degree. h The Kingdoms of Syria and Iſrael, here ſignified by their two Capital Cities, ſhall be ſtripped of their Wealth and Power, as they were by Tiglath Pileſer, within the time here limited, 2 Kings 15. 29. i In his preſence, and by himſelf and his Forces: For in Scripture uſe that is ſaid to be before a Man, which is in, or is put into a man's power, as Gen. 13. 9. & 20. 15. &c. and men are ſaid to be ſmitten before their enemies, when they are ſmitten by them, as Numb. 14. 42. Deut. 1. 42. Judg. 20. 39. and oft elſewhere. Others refer this Phraſe to the ancient Cuſtom of Conquerors, of ſending or carrying their Spoils before them into their own Country.

5 The LORD ſpake alſo unto me again, ſaying,

6 For as much as this people k ‖ refuſeth l the waters of Shiloah m that go ſoftly n, and rejoyce in Rezin and Remaliah's ſon:

k Either, 1. the People of Judah, which are ſuppos'd to have grown weary of their preſent Government, and out of diſtruſt of God's protection, deſigned to revolt from God, and from the Houſe of David, and to put themſelves under the power and protection of the Kings of Syria and Iſrael. But there are no Footſteps of any ſuch Deſign or Practice of that People. And the following Clauſe of rejoycing in Rezin, &c. cannot with any colour be aſcribed to the Jews, whom at this time they ſought to deſtroy: or, rather, 2. the People of Iſrael, of whom he laſt ſpake, v. 4. and who are the chief Subject of this whole Prophecy, contained in this and the foregoing Chapter; and who did rejoyce not only in their own King Pekah, but alſo in the Aſſiſtance of ſo powerful an Allie as Rezin was. l Or rather, deſpiſeth, as the Word properly and moſt frequently ſignifies. m That ſmall and contemptible River or Brook which ran by that City, which is here ſecretly oppoſed to the great Rivers of Tigris and Euphrates, by which the Aſſyrian Empire was fortified. Hereby he underſtands the munitions and ſtrength of the Jews, which their Enemies derided and contemned. n Gently, as little Rivers do.

7 Now therefore o behold, the LORD bringeth up upon them p the waters of the river q ſtrong and many, even the king of Aſſyria, and all his glory: r and he ſhall come up over all his chanels ſ, and go over all his banks.

o Becauſe they deſpiſe the Oppoſition which they have from Siloah and Jeruſalem, they ſhall have a more potent Enemy. p Upon Iſrael. See on the foregoing Verſe. q of Euphrates, oft called the river, for its eminent greatneſs: Whereby he underſtands the Aſſyrian Forces, as the next Words explain the Metaphor. r His numerous and puiſſant Army, in which he gloried. See Iſa. 10. 8. ſ This great River ſhall overflow its own proper Channels. The meaning is, This Great Monarch ſhall enlarge his Dominions, and add the Lands of Syria and Iſrael to them. Some render the Words, he ſhall come up with all his channels or ſtreams; for the Hebrew Particle all ſometimes ſignifies with, as Job 38. 32. But it ſeems hard to underſtand the ſame Particle one way in this Clauſe, and another in the laſt Clauſe. Beſides, the laſt Clauſe favours the former interpretation, the ſame thing being repeated in it, as is uſual in the Sacred Writings. Or, this may be underſtood of the Channels and Banks of the People or Land of Iſrael. The Enemy being repreſented under the Metaphor of a River breaking in upon their Land, may fitly be ſaid to overflow all their Channels and Banks, to wit, all places both low and high, ſo that nothing ſhall be able to withſtand his Fury.

8 And he t ſhall paſs through Judah u; he ſhall overflow and go over; he ſhall reach even to the neck x, and † the ſtretching out of his wings y ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O * Immanuel z.

t Or, it, to wit, the River, v. 7. which yet deſigns the ſame Perſon and Thing, to wit, the Invaſion of the King of Aſſyria. u And when he ſhall have finiſhed his Work againſt you, he ſhall invade the Land of Judah, as Sennacherib did ſome few years after his Conqueſt of Samaria, 2 Kings 18. 9, 13. x So as they ſhall be in great danger of being drowned or deſtroyed. He perſiſts in the Metaphor of a River ſwelling ſo high as to reach to a man's Neck, and be ready to overwhelm him. Such was the danger of Judah's Land, when Sennacherib took all the fenced Cities of Judah, 2 Kings 18. 13. and ſent his Army againſt Jeruſalem. y Of his Forces, or of the Wings of his Army, as they anciently were and ſtill are called. z Of the Land of Judah, ſo called becauſe the Meſſiah, who is called by God himſelf Immanuel, ch. 7. 14. ſhould certainly be born and live and die there. And this is added emphatically for the Conſolation of God's People, to aſſure them, that notwithſtanding this dreadful Scourge, yet God would make a difference between Iſrael and Judah, and whereas Iſrael ſhould be ſo broken by the Aſſyrian, that they ſhould not be a People, as was threatned, ch. 7. 8. Judah ſhould be reſtored and preſerved, for the ſake of the Meſſiah, to be the place of his Birth and Miniſtry, according to that famous Prophecy, Gen. 49. 10.

9 Aſſociate your ſelves, O ye people a, ‖ and ye ſhall be broken in pieces; and give ear all ye of far countries b: gird your ſelves, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces; gird your ſelves c, and ye ſhall be broken in pieces d.

a Syrians and Iſraelites. Immanuel's Name inſpireth the Prophet with new Courage, and makes him ſend a Challenge to all God's Enemies, and foretell their certain downfall. b Whoſoever you be, whether far or near, who do or ſhall conſpire againſt Immanuel's Land. c With Sword and Belt. Prepare your ſelves for War. d This is repeated for the greater Aſſurance of the thing, and the Comfort of God's people, who are apt to deſpond upon ſuch occaſions.

10 Take counſel together, and it ſhall come to nought: ſpeak the word e, and it ſhall not ſtand: for God is with us f.

e Declare and fix your purpoſe, and make your boaſt of it. f The Almighty and only true God fighteth for us, and againſt you. He gives the Interpretation of the Name Immanuel expreſſed before, v. 8. for though the Word in the Hebrew be the ſame here and there, yet there it ſeems to be taken properly, and here appellatively.

11 For the LORD ſpake thus to me † with a ſtrong hand g, and inſtructed me, that I ſhould not walk in the way of this people h, ſaying,

g With a vehement and more than ordinary Inſpiration, ſtrongly imprinting it in my Mind. h Of the generality of the People of Judah; whoſe eminent Danger and Calamity he foretells, v. 8. but withal gives them full aſſurance that God would deliver them out of it, v. 9, 10. Which he doth to aggravate the preſent Sin of Ahaz and his People, in forſaking God, and ſeeking to the King of Aſſyria for help, as they did 2 Kings 16. 6, 7, 8.

12 Say ye i not, A confederacy k, to all them to whom this people ſhall ſay, A confederacy: neither fear ye their fear l, nor be afraid.

i Thou Iſaiah, and thine and my Children. k Do not approve of or conſent to this wicked Deſign of making a Confederacy with the King of Aſſyria. l. That thing which they fear, that, if they do not call in the Aſſyrian Succours, they ſhall certainly be deſtroyed by thoſe two Potent Kings united againſt them, and that God either cannot or will not deliver them.

13 Sanctifie the LORD of hoſts m himſelf, and let him be your fear n, and let him be your dread.

m Give him the Glory of his Power, and Goodneſs, and Faithfulneſs, by truſting to his Promiſes for your Deliverance. n Let God, and not the Kings of Syria and Iſrael, be the chief object of your Fear.

14 And he ſhall be your ſanctuary o: but for * a ſtone of ſtumbling, and for a rock of offence p to both the houſes of Iſrael q, for a gin, and for a ſnare to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem r.

And that ſuch a Place and People ſhould reject Immanuel, or their Meſſiah, when he ſhould appear, was ſo great and ſtrange an Occurrent, that the Prediction of it was highly neceſſary, leſt otherwiſe, when it came to paſs, it ſhould ſhake the Faith of all who did believe on him; whereas now the Accompliſhment hereof was a notable Confirmation of their Faith, and an Evidence that Chriſt was the true Meſſiah.

16 Bind up the teſtimony, ſeal the law among my † diſciples u.

u Theſe are by the conſent of all, God's Words to the Prophet. By the teſtimony and the law or doctrine (for ſo this Word is frequently taken) he underſtands one and the ſame thing, as he doth alſo, v 26. to wit, the Word of God, and eſpecially that which is the main Scope and Subſtance thereof, the Doctrine of the Meſſias, which, though now profeſſed by all the Iſraelites, ſhall be diſowned by the generality of them, when the Meſſiah ſhall come. Bind up and ſeal are to be underſtood Prophetically, Declare and propheſie that it ſhall be bound up and ſealed; as Iſaiah is ſaid to make fat and to blind, &c. Iſa. 6. 10. and Jeremy to root out and pull down, &c. Jer. 1. 10. when they foretell theſe Events. Moreover, bind up and ſeal deſign the ſame thing, and that is, either, 1. Security and certainty, as things are bound up or ſealed that they may not be loſt. So he ſignifies, That although this Doctrine would be loſt among the Body of the Iſraelites, yet it ſhould be preſerved among his Diſciples. Or, 2. Secreſie, as many things are bound up or ſealed that they may be hid from the Eyes of others. And ſo he informeth them, that this Doctrine now was and ſhould be hid in a great meaſure among all God's People, even till the Accompliſhment of it; and that even when it was accompliſhed, it ſhould ſtill continue to be as a Secret and Myſtery, known indeed to his true Diſciples, but hid from the Body of the Nation, who would not ſee it, and therefore ſhould be blinded by God's juſt Judgment, that they ſhould not ſee it, as was propheſied, Iſa. 6. 9, 10. Or, 3. both Security and Secreſie, ſignifying, That it ſhould certainly be fulfilled, yet withall kept ſecret from the unbelieving Jews. For why may not theſe two be joyned in the Expoſition of this Text, as they were in the Event? By God's Diſciples he means thoſe who were taught of God, as it is expreſſed, Iſa. 54. 13. where this very word is uſed; or, every one that hath heard and learned of the Father, and therefore cometh unto Chriſt, as it is explained, John 6. 45.

17 And x I will wait upon the LORD y that hideth his Face z from the houſe of Jacob a, and I will look for him b.

x Or, as this Particle is rendred, Jer. 2. 32, 35. and elſewhere, Yet, notwithſtanding this dreadful Prophecy concerning the Unbelief and Rejection of Iſrael. y I will refer my ſelf and this Matter unto God, caſting my Care upon him, and expecting the Accompliſhment of his Promiſe, in ſending the Meſſiah, and in conferring upon me and all believing Iſraelites all his Mercies and Bleſſings, to be procured by and through his Blood and Merits. z That now doth, and threatneth that he will hereafter, withdraw his Favour and Bleſſing, as this Phraſe ſignifies, Pſal. 10. 1. & 27. 9. and oft elſewhere. a From the Family or People of Iſrael. b With an Eye of Faith and Expectation, till his time cometh.

h. 3. 8. ders e in Iſrael f, from the LORD of hoſts g, which dwelleth in mount Zion h.

c It is worthy of your obſervation and admiration. Theſe Words are literally ſpoken by Iſaiah concerning himſelf, but withal myſtically concerning Chriſt, of whom he ſpeaks more frequently and fully than any other Prophet, and of whom he was an evident Type; and therefore they are fitly applied to Chriſt, Heb. 2. 13. d Either, 1. his natural Children, whoſe very Names were Prophetical, and Signs of future Events, ch. 7. 3. & 8. 3, 4. or, 2. his ſpiritual Children, whom he had either begotten or brought up by his Miniſtry. For the Prophets were called Fathers not only with reſpect to the young Prophets, who were commonly called the Sons of the Prophets, but alſo in relation to others, as 2 Kings 2. 12. & 13. 14. And this ſence ſeems more probable than the former, becauſe it agrees beſt, 1. with the following Words, which ſeem to be too lofty and emphatical to be uſed concerning his natural Children; for their Prophetical Names, which, if they were Signs, could not properly be called Wonders: 2. with the Context, and ſcope of the Place, which is to ſet forth the Incredulity of the Iſraelites, and their Contempt and Rejection of Chriſt, and of all his faithful Meſſengers, both the Prophets, who were ſent as Harbingers before his coming, and the Apoſtles, who were Witneſſes of his coming. 3. with Heb. 2. 13. where they are expounded of ſpiritual Children. e Are a Gazing-ſtock to, and admired by them, for our folly in believing God's Promiſes: For ſo the believing Jews now were, to Ahaz and the generality of the People, who thought it their Wiſdom and Intereſt to procure Aid from Aſſyria, and eſteemed thoſe Fools who, upon pretence of relying upon God, would neglect ſo great an Advantage. And ſo the Prophet foretells that they ſhould be when the Meſſiah did come; which is the myſtical, as the other is the literal ſence: and ſo both of them may be meant in this place. f Even amongſt the Iſraelites, who have been taught and do profeſs better things. g Which come to paſs by the wiſe Counſel and Providence of God, in which I willingly acquieſce. h Where the Temple now was, and where the Meſſiah was to ſet up his Kingdom.

people ſeek unto their God o? for the living to the dead p?

i The Iſraelites, to whom I and my Children are Signs and Wonders, who are fallen from God, and his true Religion and Worſhip, into Superſtition and Idolatry, and will endeavour to ſeduce you into the ſame impiety. k My Children, whom the Prophet here arms againſt the common Temptation. l For Advice and Help, and ſeek no more to the Prophets who have hitherto deluded you with vain Words. This was the Counſel of the ungodly and unbelieving Jews. m Of whom ſee Levit. 19. 31. & 20. 27. & Deut. 18. 11. n That ſpeak with a puling and low voice, as theſe two Words ſignifie; which they affected to do, ſpeaking rather inwardly in their Bellies, than outwardly and audibly with their Mouths and Voice, as the Title of Ventriloqui, commonly given to them, ſignifies. o This Anſwer the Prophet puts into their Mouths, to the foregoing Counſel: Doth not every Nation, in Caſes of Difficulty or Diſtreſs, ſeek to their own Gods for relief? Much more ſhould we do ſo, that have the only true God for our God. p Shall they ſeek (which Words are eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing Clauſe) for the living, &c. That Living Men ſhould enquire of the Living God, is proper and reaſonable; but it is highly abſurd for them to forſake him, and to ſeek to dead Idols, either to the Images, or to the Spirits of dead Men, which are ſuppoſed to dwell and ſpeak in them.

20 * To the law and to the teſtimony q: if they r * Luke 16.
ſpeak not according to this word, it is becauſe there is 29.

q Let this Diſpute between you and them be determined by God's Word, which is here and in many other places called the law, to ſignifie their Obligation to believe and obey it; and the teſtimony, becauſe it is a Witneſs between God and Man, of God's Mind and Will, and of Man's Duty; and ſo theſe two Titles contain two Arguments againſt theſe Idolatrous Practices. r Your Antagoniſts, that ſeek to pervert you, v. 19. ſ This proceeds from the darkneſs of their Minds, becauſe they are blind, and will not ſee, and God hath ſhut their Eyes that they cannot ſee. But theſe Words are by divers Learned Interpreters underſtood not as a Declaration of their Ignorance, but a Commination and Prediction of their Miſery, light being moſt commonly uſed in Scripture for Comfort and Happineſs, and darkneſs for Sorrows and Calamities. And this ſence ſeems to be much favoured by the following paſſages. And then the Words may be thus rendred, Aſſuredly (for the Hebrew Particle aſher is frequently uſed as a Note of Aſſeveration, as 1 Sam. 15. 20. Pſal. 10. 6. & 95. 11. &c. as hath been more than once obſerved before) no light or morning-light ſhall be (for that may as well be underſtood as is) to them, a Night of Miſery ſhall come upon them, and they ſhall never have a Morning of Deliverance from it; they ſhall be ſwallowed up in endleſs Calamities.

21 And they t ſhall paſs through it u hardly beſtead x and hungry y: and it ſhall come to paſs, that when they ſhall be hungry, they ſhall fret themſelves, and curſe their king z, and their God a, and look upward b.

t The Idolatrous and Apoſtatical Iſraelites. u Or, in it, to wit, their own Land, which is eaſily underſtood out of the Context, and from the Phraſe it ſelf, the Pronoun Relative being put without an Antecedent, as it is in other places which have been formerly noted. They ſhall either paſs through it into Captivity, or wander hither and thither in it, like diſtracted men, not knowing whither to go, nor what to do; whereas if they had not forſaken God, they might have had a quiet and ſetled abode in it. x Sorely diſtreſſed, as this Word is uſed, Gen. 35. 16. & Job 30. 25. y Deſtitute of Food, and of all Neceſſaries, which are oft ſignified by Food. z Either becauſe he doth not relieve them; or becauſe by his fooliſh Counſels and Courſes, he brought them into theſe Miſeries. a Either, 1. the True God; or rather, 2. their Idols, to whom they truſted, and whom they now find too late unable to help them. b To Heaven for help, as Men of all Nations and Religions in great Calamities uſe to do.

c Finding no help from Heaven, they turn their Eyes downward, looking hither and thither for Comfort. d Many Words expreſſing the ſame thing are put together, to ſignifie the variety and extremity and continuance of their Miſeries.

a The Words thus rendred contain a Mitigation of the foregoing Threatning: And ſo the ſence of the Verſe may be this, The Calamity of this Land and its Inhabitants ſhall be great, yet not ſuch as that which was brought upon the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes by the King of Aſſyria, who at firſt indeed dealt more gently with them, but afterwards quite rooted them out, and carried them away into a dreadful Captivity, from whence they were not to return, no not when the Meſſiah came into the World; for, after this Darkneſs, of which I have now ſpoken, there ſhall come a glorious Light, as it follows in the next Verſe. The Dutch Interpreters take it in the ſame ſence, and render the Words thus, But the Land that was diſtreſſed ſhall not be utterly darkened. To the ſame purpoſe they may be thus rendered, according to the Hebrew, But darkneſs ſhall not be (i e. ſhall not abide or continue; for to be is ſometimes put for to abide or continue to be, as 1 Sam. 12. 14. Prov. 23. 5. Mat. 17. 4. Heb. 8. 4.) unto her (to wit, the Land, which by the conſent of Interpreters is underſtood here, as it was ch. 8. 21.) to whom this diſtreſs is or ſhall be. She ſhall be diſtreſſed and darkned, as I ſaid before, ch. 8. 22. but not irrecoverably, nor for ever. Some underſtand the Words to be an aggravation of the Darkneſs or Miſery threatned, ch 8. 22. rendring the Words thus, for the dimneſs ſhall not be, &c. And ſo the ſence is, This ſhall not be ſo ſlight an Affliction as that which befell them by Pul, 2 Kings 15. 19. nor as that which ſucceeded it by Tiglath-Pileſer, who, at the deſire of Ahaz, did about this time make another Invaſion into the Land of Iſrael, 2 Kings 15. 29. and was an heavier Stroke than the former; but this ſhall be far heavier than either of them. But the former ſence ſeems better to agree both with the following Verſes and with Mat. 4. 13, 14, 15. where theſe Words are expounded as a Promiſe, and ſaid to be fulfilled by Chriſt's preaching the Goſpel in theſe Parts. b In the firſt Invaſion which the King of Aſſyria made upon Iſrael. c To wit, God, who is oft underſtood in ſuch Caſes, and who is here ſuppoſed to be the Author or Inflicter of this Judgment. Or, it is an Imperſonal Speech, he afflicted for was afflicted, than which nothing is more common in the Hebrew Language. d Either, 1. By Pul; or rather, 2. By Tiglath-Pileſer, who at this time invaded and ſubdued theſe Parts, as is expreſſed 2 Kings 15. 29. e Theſe Parts are particularly mentioned, becauſe this Storm fell moſt heavily upon them; but under them the other Parts of the Land are underſtood by a common Figure called Synecdoche. f Either, 1. By Tiglath-Pileſer; or rather, 2. By Shalmaneſer, who took Samaria, and carried Iſrael into Captivity, 2 Kings 17. 5, 6. Of which Calamity, though yet to come, the Prophet ſpeaks as if it were paſt, as the manner of the Prophet is. g In that part of the Land which bordereth upon the Sea, to wit, the Lake of Geneſareth, which is very commonly called a Sea, as Mat. 4. 18. John 21. 1, &c. and upon which the Portions of Zebulun and Nephtali bordered. h Or, on this ſide Jordan; for this Prepoſition is uſed both ways, and this Land might be ſaid to be either beyond or on this ſide Jordan, in divers reſpects. i Or, Galilee of the Gentiles, to wit, the Upper Galilee, ſo called becauſe it bordered upon the Gentiles. But this laſt Clauſe, and the two foregoing Clauſes, are otherwiſe rendred and interpreted by divers Learned men, as a Prophecy concerning the Light of the Goſpel that ſhould ſhine in thoſe Parts. As at the firſt time (to wit, in the former Ages of the Iſraelitiſh Church and Commonwealth) he made the Land of Zebulun and the Land of Nephtali vile or contemptible (as he might be ſaid to have done, partly by putting thoſe People at ſo great a diſtance from His Sanctuary, partly by expoſing them to ſome Calamities which other Tribes eſcaped, and partly by denying them thoſe Honours and Privileges which he afforded to other Tribes, of which ſee John 7. 52. Out of Galilee ariſeth no Prophet; and John 1. 46. Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? which was an eminent City of Galilee); ſo in the latter or laſt time (to wit, in the days of the Meſſiah, or of the Goſpel, which are frequently ſo called in the Scriptures both of the Old and New Teſtament) he made it, (i. e. he will make it, for the Prophet ſpeaks of things to come as paſt, as he doth moſt commonly in this Prophecy) glorious (to wit, by Chriſt's firſt preaching the Goſpel in thoſe parts) in or towards the way of the Sea (to wit, of Galilee or Geneſareth) beyond or on this ſide Jordan, in Galilee of the Gentiles. Which Interpretation I thought fit to propoſe, as deſerving farther Conſideration.

*Mat. 4. 16. Eph. 5. 14. 2 * The people that walked l in darkneſs m, have ſeen n a great light: they that dwell in the land of the ſhadow of death o, upon them hath the light ſhined.

k The People of God, Iſrael and Judah, and eſpecially thoſe of them mentioned in the foregoing Verſe. l In Mat. 4. 16. it is ſate. It notes not their geſture, but their State or Condition, they lived or abode. Only walking in darkneſs is more perillous than ſitting. m The Expreſſion is general, and ſo may well comprehend both the Darkneſs of Calamity, and the Darkneſs of Ignorance, and Idolatry, and Prophaneneſs, in which thoſe Parts were eminently involved, by reaſon of their great diſtance from God's Sanctuary, and by their frequent Converſe with the Gentiles, who bordered upon them, and of which this place is expounded, Mat. 4. n i. e. Shall ſee at the coming of the Meſſiah. o Which notes both extream, and dangerous, or deadly Darkneſs.

p Thou haſt made good thy Promiſe to Abraham concerning the Multiplication of his Seed, Gen. 15. 5. and 22. 17. by adding his Spiritual Seed unto the Carnal, by gathering in the Gentiles to the Jews, and making them both one People in Chriſt, John 10. 16. Eph. 2. 14, &c. For in Scripture-account the Believing Gentiles are the Seed of Abraham, as well as the Jews; of which ſee Gal. 3. 7, 8, 9. Or, thou haſt magnified the Nation, honoured them with peculiar Privileges above all other Nations, and eſpecially with this tranſcendent Privilege, that the Meſſiah and Saviour of the World ſhould be born of them, and live among them; of which he ſpeaks more fully, v. 6, 7. q Or, yet not encreaſed their joy. Which might very truly and fitly be ſaid of the Jewiſh Nation, upon this occaſion, partly becauſe they did not rejoyce in the Converſion of the Gentiles, as they ſhould have done, but murmured, and grieved, and ſtumbled at it; and partly becauſe, through their perverſeneſs and unbelief, that would be unto them an occaſion of their utter ruine, the Converſion of the Gentiles being attended with the Rejection of the Jews. But becauſe this Tranſlation ſeems not to agree with the following Words, which aſcribe great Joy to them, ſome render the Words otherwiſe; either thus, and wilt thou not encreaſe their joy? To which Queſtion, the next Words give an affirmative Anſwer. So the Hebrew Particle lo is put interrogatively for halo, as it is in many other places which I have formerly obſerved. Or thus, and haſt increaſed to it, or him, or them (to that Nation) their joy. For though the Hebrew lo be written like an Adverb, yet it may be read like a Pronoun, as it is both by Jewiſh ond Chriſtian Interpreters acknowledged to be in many places; of which ſee more in my Latin Synopſis. r In thy Preſence, and in the Place of thy Worſhip; not with a Carnal and Worldly, but with a Spiritual and Religious Joy, giving thee the Praiſe and Glory of all thy Favours afforded to them. ſ When Men receive with great Joy, that for which they have laboured much, and long waited. See Pſalm 125. 5, 6. t When, after a bloody Fight, and a glorious Victory, they come to take the Spoil.

‖ Or, when thou breakeſt. * Judg. 7. 2. Chap. 10. 26. 4 ‖ For thou haſt broken u the yoke of his burden x, and the ſtaff of his ſhoulder y, the rod z of his oppreſſour a, as in the day of * Midian b.

u This notes the Matter and Occaſion of the foregoing Joy. x His burdenſome and heavy yoke, as the Throne of Holineſs is put for the Holy Throne, Pſalm 47. 8. y Either the Staff wherewith his Shoulders were ſmitten, or the Staff or Staves by which he was forced to carry Burdens upon his Shoulders. z Wherewith he beat him. Or, the Scepter, the Power and Tyranny which he exerciſed over him. a Of all his Oppreſſors, but eſpecially of Sin and of the Devil. b When God deſtroyed the Midianites in ſo admirable a Manner, and by ſuch unlikely and contemptible Means, by three hundred Men, and they not fighting, but only holding Lamps in their Hands, and ſounding their Trumpets. Which was an eminent Type of Chriſt's conquering the Devil, and all his Enemies, by dying upon the Croſs, and by the Preaching of a few unlearned und deſpicable Perſons, &c.

5 ‖ For every battel of the warriour is with confuſed noiſe c, and garments rolled in blood d; ‖ but this ſhall be with burning and † fewel of fire e. ‖ Or, whe the whole battle of the warri our was, &c.

c With the triumphant Exclamations of the Conqueror, and the bitter Lamentations of the Conquered, and the differing Cries of the ſame Perſons, ſometimes conquering, and ſometimes conquered. d With great difficulty and ſlaughter. e But this Victory which God's People ſhall have over all their Enemies, ſhall be more eaſie to them, and more terrible to their Adverſaries, whom God will ſuddenly and utterly conſume, as it were by Fire. ‖ Or, and it was, & † Heb. meat.

f Having ſpoken of the glorious Light, and Joy, and Victory of God's People, he now proceeds to ſhew the Ground of it, and by what Perſon theſe things are procured. g Unto us Jews, of whom Chriſt was born, and to whom he was primarily ſent, Mat. 15. 24. for our Uſe and Benefit. h The Meſſiah by the conſent of Interpreters, not only Chriſtian, but Jewiſh: For ſo the ancient Hebrew Doctors underſtood the Place, and particularly the Chaldee Paraphraſt; although the later Jews, out of oppoſition to Chriſt, wreſt it to Hezekiah. Which extravagant Conceit, as it hath no Foundation at all in this or any other Text of Scripture, and therefore may be rejected without any further Reaſon, ſo it is fully confuted by the following Titles, which are ſuch as cannot without Blaſphemy and Nonſence be aſcribed to Hezekiah, nor indeed to any meer mortal Man, as we ſhall ſee. But all the following Particulars do ſo truly and exactly agree to Chriſt, that they cannot without great violence be alienated from him, or aſcribed to any other. i For, ſhall be born, as the Prophets generally ſpeak. k So he determines the Sex of the Child. Or, the Son, to wit, of the Virgin, of whom I ſpake before, ch. 7. 14. l Is freely and graciouſly given to us by God. Other Children alſo are ſaid to be given by God, Gen. 30. 6. and 48. 9. but this in a peculiar manner, and therefore he is called the Gift of God, John 4. 10. m To wit, of Iſrael, or of God's People, to whom he is given. n i. e. Upon him, or in his Hands. He mentions Shoulders, becauſe great Burdens are commonly laid upon Mens Shoulders; and, as all Government, if it be rightly managed, ſo this eſpecially, is a very heavy Burden, requiring extraordinary Care and Diligence and Self-denial. Poſſibly here may be alſo an Alluſion to the ancient Cuſtom of carrying the Enſigns of Government before the Magiſtrate, upon the Shoulders of their Officers; or to the Croſs of Chriſt, which was laid upon his Shoulders, John 19. 17. which alſo was the way to his Kingdom or Government, Luke 24. 26. o Either, 1. He ſhall be called; for Names are oft put for Perſons, as Acts 1. 15. Rev. 3. 4. and 11. 13. or, 2. His Name ſhall be; for, to be called in Scripture is oft put for to be, as I have noted before on ch. 1. 26. and oft elſewhere. But this is not to be taken for a Deſcription of his Proper Name, by which he ſhould be commonly called, but of his glorious Nature and Qualities. See my Notes on Iſa. 7. 14. p Theſe Words may be taken either, 1. Severally, as they are in our Tranſlation, and by many others. This the Jews apply to Hezekiah, who, as they ſay, is called Wonderful, becauſe of the Miracle which God wrought for him, 2 Kings 20. 2, &c. and Counſellor, becauſe he took Counſel with his Princes about God's Worſhip, and the Defence of the City, 2 Chron. 29. 4, &c. and gave good Counſel to others. Which ridiculous Account is ſufficient to overthrow that Expoſition. But they agree moſt eminently to the Lord Chriſt, who is truly Wonderful, in his Perſon, and Natures, and Words, and Works, being made up of Wonders, in whom there was nothing which was not Wonderful; who alſo may well be called Counſellor, becauſe he knew the whole Counſel of God, and (ſo far as it was neceſſary) revealed it to us, and is the Great Counſellor of his Church and People in all their Doubts and Difficulties. Or, 2. Jointly, Wonderful Counſellor: Which may ſeem beſt to agree both with the following Titles, each of which is made up of two Words, and with Iſa. 28. 29. where God is called Wonderful in counſel, and makes the Title more full and emphatical. To call Chriſt ſimply a Counſellor, may ſeem too mean a Character, being common to many others with him: But to ſay he is a Wonderful Counſellor, is a ſingular Commendation. And ſo Chriſt is, becauſe he hath been the Counſellor of his Church in all Ages, and the Author and Giver of all thoſe excellent Counſels delivered not only by the Apoſtles, but alſo by the Prophets, as is evident from 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11. and hath gathered, and enlarged, and preſerved his Church, by admirable Counſels and Methods of his Providence, and, in a word, hath in him all the Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge, Col. 2. 3. q This Title can agree to no man but Chriſt, who was God as well as Man, to whom the Title of God or Jehovah is given, both in the Old and New Teſtament, as Jer. 23. 6. John 1. 1. Rom. 9. 5. and in many other Places. And it is a moſt true Obſervation, That this Hebrew Word El is never uſed in the Singular Number, of any Creature, but only of the Almighty God, as is evident by peruſing all the Texts where this Word is uſed. And although the Title of Elohim, which is of the Plural Number, be twice or thrice given to ſome Men, yet there is conſtantly added ſome diminiſhing Expreſſion to it, as when they are ſaid to be afraid, Job 41. 25. and to die, Pſalm 49. 10. whereas here he adds the Epithet of Mighty, which is aſcribed to the Great God, Deut. 10. 17. and elſewhere. r Heb. the Father of Eternity. Having called him a Child, and a Son, in reſpect of his Humane Nature, leſt this ſhould be miſinterpreted to his diſparagement, he adds that he is a Father alſo, even the God and Father of all things, the Work of Creation being common and commonly aſcribed to each of the Perſons of the Bleſſed Trinity, the Maker and Upholder of all Creatures, as he is ſaid to be John 1. 3. Heb. 1. 3. and the Father of all Believers, who are called his Children, Heb. 2. 13. and the Father of Eternity; either, 1. The firſt Author (ſuch Perſons being called Fathers, as Gen. 4. 20. and elſewhere) of eternal Salvation, as he is called Heb. 5. 9. Or, 2. As we render it, the Everlaſting Father, who, though as Man he was then unborn, yet was and is from Everlaſting to Everlaſting. They who apply this to Hezekiah render it, the Father of an Age, and expound this of his long Life and numerous Poſterity: Which I the rather mention, to ſhew what abſur'd Shifts they are forced to uſe, who interpret this Text of any other but Chriſt. For, he did not live very long, nor had he, that we read of, more than one Son, Manaſſeh. And if both theſe things had been true of him, they were more eminently true of many other men. Beſides, this Hebrew Word being uſed of God, as here it is of him who was now called the mighty God, conſtantly ſignifies Eternity, as Iſa. 26. 4. and 57. 15, &c. ſ This Title doth not fully agree to Hezekiah, whoſe Reign was not free from Wars, as we ſee 2 Kings 18. but it agrees exactly to Chriſt, who is called our Peace, Mic. 5. 5. Eph. 2. 14. and is the only Purchaſer and Procurer of Peace between God and Men, Iſa. 53. 5. and of Peace between Men and Men, Jews and Gentiles, Eph. 2. 15. and of the Peace of our own Conſciences; and leaves Peace as his Legacy to his Diſciples, John 14. 27. and 16. 33.

7 Of the increaſe of his Government and Peace, * there ſhall be no end t, upon the Throne of David u and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to eſtabliſh it with Judgment and with Juſtice x, from henceforth even for ever y: the * zeal of the LORD of hoſts will perform this z.

t His peaceable and happy Government ſhall be enlarged without end: Either, without end of Duration, for ever; but that is expreſſed in a following Clauſe of this Verſe: Or, without end of Limitation, or without Bounds. It ſhall not be confined to a narrow ſpot of Ground, the Land of Canaan, but ſhall be extended far and wide to all the ends of the Earth. u Which was promiſed to David, and to his Seed for ever. x Not with Oppreſſion and Tyranny, by which other Kingdoms are commonly managed, but by the Adminiſtration of Juſtice. y From the beginning of it, unto all Eternity. z This great Work, which ſurpaſſeth all the Power and Skill of Men, ſhall be brought to paſs by Almighty God, out of that fervent Affection which he hath to his own Name and Glory, and to the Honour of his dearly beloved Son, and unto his Church and People.

Againſt Rezin laſt mentioned; or rather, 2. Againſt Ephraim or Iſrael, who may eaſily be underſtood either from the foregoing or following Verſe: For againſt them this Prophecy is directed, and of them he ſpeaks both in the next Clauſe of this Verſe, and in the next Verſe; and it ſeems reaſonable, that him in this Clauſe, and his in the next Clauſe, ſhould be underſtood of the ſame Perſons. p Heb. mingle, i. e. unite them ſo that they ſhall agree together to fight againſt Iſrael, and ſhall invade him from ſeveral Quarters. q Not Rezin's, but Ephraim's, as appears from the next Verſe, which is added to explain this Clauſe.

x Either with the Smoak laſt mentioned, or with Miſery. Or, burnt up, as the LXX. Chaldee and Arabick Interpreters render it. y They ſhall deſtroy one another, as they did in their Civil Wars, which were frequent among them. The Name Bro- ther is oft largely uſed among the Hebrews, even of the remoter Kindred, yea of the Fellow-members of one City, or Tribe, or Nation.

z Every one ſhall greedily and violently ſeiſe upon any Proviſions that come in his way. Which implies, either great Scarcity, or inſatiable Covetouſneſs, as is manifeſt from the next Clauſe. a Either, 1. properly; ſo it notes extream Famine: in which caſe men are apt to eat their own Fleſh. Compare Jer. 19. 9. Or, 2. Metaphorically, which ſeems beſt to ſuit with the following Verſe, the Fleſh of his Brethren by Nation and Religion, which are as it were our own Fleſh, and are ſo called, Iſa. 58. 7. Zech. 11. 9. and conſequently, the Fleſh of their Arm, is in a manner the Fleſh of our own Arm. And one Tribe was to another as an Arm, i. e. a Support or Strength, which is called an arm, 2 Chron. 32. 8 Jer. 17. and elſewhere.

* Chap. 11. 13. ſhall eat. 21 * Manaſſeh, Ephraim b; and Ephraim, Manaſſeh: and they together ſhall be againſt Judah c. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

b Though more near and dear to one another, than any other Tribe, being both Sons of Joſeph. c Which might be accompliſhed either before Shalmaneſer took Samaria, or afterwards. For though the Iſraelites were miſerably deſtroyed at that time, yet they were not utterly rooted out. Of which, ſee my Notes on Iſa. 7. 8.

CHAP. X.

The woe of unjuſt oppreſſors. 1,—4. Of Aſſyria for their Pride and Ambition: His folly in it. 5,—19. A Remnant of Iſrael ſhall be ſaved: and that ſpeedily. 20,—27. Sennacherib marching toward Jeruſalem. 28,—31. His judgment, 32,—34.

* Pſ. 58. 1. & 94. 20. || Or, to the writers that write grievouſneſs. WO unto them that * decree unrighteous decrees a, and || that write b grievouſneſs c, which they have preſcribed:

a Unto thoſe Magiſtrates who make unjuſt Laws, and give unjuſt Sentences. b Either, 1. the Scribes, who were aſſiſtant to the Magiſtrates, and oft-times did promote or execute ſuch Decrees; or, 2. the unjuſt Magiſtrates, whoſe Decrees were uſually written. So the ſame thing is repeated in other Words. Only this writing may note their Obſtinacy or Perſeverance in their unjuſt Decrees, and their proceeding to the Execution of them. c Grievous things, ſuch unjuſt Decrees as cauſe Grief and Vexation to their Subjects.

2 To turn aſide the needy from Judgment d, and to take away the right from the poor e of my people f, that widows may be their prey, and that they may rob the fatherleſs.

d Or, from their right, as it is in the next Clauſe: or, from obtaining a juſt Sentence, becauſe they either denied or delayed to hear their Cauſes, or gave a wrong Sentence. e Whom I have in a ſpecial manner committed to your Care. f Of Iſraelites, who profeſs themſelves to be my People, and whom I did take into Covenant with my ſelf; and therefore this is an injury not only to them, but to me alſo.

* Job 31. 14. 3 And * what will ye do g in the day of viſitation, h, and in the deſolation which ſhall come from far i? to whom will ye flee for help k? and where will you leave l your glory m?

g To ſave your ſelves. h When I ſhall come to viſit you in wrath, as the next Words limit it, and as this Phraſe is oft uſed; although ſometimes it ſignifies a Viſitation in mercy, as Luke 19. 44. and elſewhere. i From the Aſſyrians. This he adds, becauſe the Iſraelites, having weakned the Jews, and being in Amity with the Syrians their next Neighbours, were ſecure. k To the Syrians, as now you do? But they ſhall be deſtroyed together with you, as they were, 2 Kings, 16. l To be kept ſafe for your uſe, and to be reſtored to you when you call for it. m Either, 1. your Power and Authority, which now you ſo wickedly abuſe; or, 2. your Wealth, got by Injuſtice, as glory is taken, Gen. 31. 1. Pſalm 49. 16, 17, &c.

* Ch. 5. 25. & 9. 12. 4 Without me they ſhall bow down n under o the priſoners, and they ſhall fall under the ſlain: * For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

n The Words thus tranſlated ſeem to contain an Anſwer to the foregoing Queſtions: In vain do you ſeek for a Refuge and Help from others; for without me, without my Favour and Help which you have forfeited, and do not ſeek to recover, and which I ſhall withdraw from you; or, becauſe you are without me, or forſaken by me, you ſhall bow down, notwithſtanding all your Succours. In the Hebrew here is a change of the Perſon and Number, which is very uſual in Prophetical Writings. The Seventy, and ſome others, joyn theſe Words to the foregoing Verſe, and tranſlate them thus, that you may not bow down: So the ſence of the Place is, What will you do to prevent your Captivity or Slaughter? And it is true, that the firſt Word is elſewhere taken for a Negative Particle. But the former Tranſlation ſeems more genuine. o Or rather, in the place (as this Particle ſignifies, and is rendred by Interpreters, Gen. 30. 2. & 50. 19. Exod. 16. 29. Joſ. 5. 8. and elſewhere) of the priſoners, or among the priſoners: And ſo in the next Clauſe, among or in the place of the ſlain.

|| Or, Wo to the Aſſyrian. 5 || O † Aſſyrian p, * the rod of mine anger q, || and the ſtaff in their hand is mine indignation r. † Heb. Aſſhur. * Jer. 51.

p So it is God's Call or Invitation to him to take the Charge, and ſet upon the Work. Or, Wo to the Aſſyrian, becauſe though he do my Work, yet he doth it in a wicked manner, and for wicked Ends, as we ſhall ſee. q The Inſtrument of mine Anger, wherewith I ſhall chaſtiſe my People. r Mine Anger againſt my People puts the Weapons of War into their Hand, and gives them Strength and Succeſs in this Expedition.

6 I will ſend him ſ againſt an hypocritical t nation, and againſt the people of my wrath u will I give him a charge x to take the ſpoil, and to take the prey, and † to tread them down like the mire of the ſtreets y. † Heb. Lay them a treading.

ſ Not by expreſs Commiſſion, but by the ſecret yet powerful Conduct of my Providence, giving him both occaſion and inclination to this Expedition. t See on ch. 9. 17. u The Objects of my juſt Wrath, devoted to deſtruction. x by putting this Inſtinct into his mind. y Which ſignifies that he ſhould eaſily conquer them, and utterly deſtroy them, as he did after this time.

7 * Howbeit, he † meaneth not ſo z, neither doth his heart think ſo, but it is in his heart to deſtroy, and cut off nations not a few a. * Mic. 4. † Heb. not mean ... not with heart th... ſo.

z He doth not at all deſign the Execution of my Will, and the Glory of my Juſtice, in puniſhing mine Enemies; but only to enlarge his own Empire, and ſatisfie his own Luſts. Which is ſeaſonably added, to juſtifie God in his Judgments threatned to the Aſſyrian, notwithſtanding this Service. a To ſacrifice multitudes of People to his own Ambition aud Covetouſneſs; which is abominable Impiety.

9 Is not Calno, as Carchemiſh c? is not Hamath, as Arpad d? is not Samaria as Damaſcus e?

c Have not I conquered one Place as well as another, the ſtronger as well as the weaker? Have I not from time to time added new Conqueſts to the old? Calno ſeems to be the ſame with Calneh, Gen. 10. 10. Amos 6. 2. a great and ſtrong City. Carchemiſh was a City upon Euphrates, of which 2 Chron. 35. 20. Jer. 46. 2. Hamath was an eminent City of Syria, not far from Euphrates, called Hemath, or Hamath the Great, Amos 6. 2. of which ſee 2 Kings 14. 28. & 17. 24. Jer. 49. 23, 27. Arpad ſeems to have been an obſcure Place, not being elſewhere named. Is not that as ſoon conquered as this? e Or, Shall not Samaria be as Damaſcus? Shall I not take that, as I have done this City? For although Damaſcus poſſibly was not yet taken by the Aſſyrian, yet the Prophet ſpeaks of it as actually taken, becauſe theſe Words are Prophetically delivered, and ſuppoſed to be uttered by the King of Aſſyria, at or about the Siege of Samaria, when Damaſcus was taken.

10 As my hand hath found f the kingdoms of the idols g, and whoſe graven images did excel them h of Jeruſalem, and of Samaria.

f i. e. Hath taken, as this Word is uſed, Prov. 1. 13. and oft elſewhere, the Antecedent being put for the Conſequent, becauſe what men find they commonly take to themſelves. g Which worſhipped their own proper Idols, and vainly imagined that they could protect them from Power. He calls the Gods of the ſeveral Nations, not excepting Jeruſalem, Idols by way of contempt, becauſe none of them could deliver their People out of his hands, as he brags, Iſa. 37. 11, 12. and becauſe he judged them to be but Petty-Gods, far inferiour to the Sun, which was the great God of the Aſſyrians. h To wit, in Reputation and Strength. Which Blaſphemy of his proceeded from his deep ignorance of the True God.

11 Shall I not, as I have done unto Samaria and her idols, ſo do to Jeruſalem and her idols i?

i I ſhall certainly do it, and neither God nor Man can hinder me.

12 Wherefore k it ſhall come to paſs, that when the LORD hath performed his whole work l * upon mount Zion, and on Jeruſalem, I will † puniſh m the fruit † of the ſtout heart of the king of Aſſyria, and the glory of his high looks n. † Heb. the gr... neſs of heart.

k Becauſe of this impudent Blaſphemy. l Of chaſtiſing his People ſo long and ſo much as he ſees fit and neceſſary for them. m Heb. viſit, to wit, in wrath, as before on v. 3. n His inſolent Words and Carriages, proceeding from intolerable Pride of Heart.

13 For he ſaith o, By the ſtrength of my hand I have done it, and by my wiſdom p; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds q of the people, and have robbed their treaſures r, and I have put down ſ the inhabitants || like a valiant man. || Or, many ple.

o Not only within himſelf, but before his Courtiers and others. p I owe all my Succeſſes to my own Power, and Valour, and wiſe Conduct, and to no other God or Man. q I have invaded their Lands, and added them to my own Dominions, as this Phraſe is uſed, Prov. 22. 28. Hoſ. 5. 10. r Heb. their prepared things, their Gold, and Silver, and other precious things, which they had long been preparing and laying in ſtore ſ Deprived of their former Glory and Power.

14 And my hand hath found as a Neſt t the riches of the People: and as one gathereth eggs that are left u, have I gathered all the earth x, and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth or peeped y.

t As one findeth young Birds in a Neſt, the Neſt being put for the Birds in it, as Deut. 32. 11. No leſs eaſily do I both find and take them. u Which the Dam hath left in her Neſt. This is more eaſie than the former; for the young Birds might poſſibly make ſome faint reſiſtance, or flutter away; but the Eggs could do neither. x All the Riches of the Earth or World. An Hyperbole not unuſual in the Mouths of ſuch Perſons, upon ſuch Occaſions. y As Birds do, which, when they ſee and cannot hinder the robbing of their Neſts, expreſs their Grief and Anger, by hovering about them, and by mournful Cries.

15 Shall the ax boaſt it ſelf againſt him that heweth therewith z? or ſhall the ſaw magnifie it ſelf againſt him that ſhaketh it? ‖ as if the rod ſhould ſhake it ſelf againſt them that lift it up a, or as if the ſtaff ſhould lift up ‖ it ſelf, as if it were no Wood b.

z How abſurd and unreaſonable a thing is it, for thee, who art but an Inſtrument in God's hand, and canſt do nothing without his leave and help, to blaſpheme thy Lord and Maſter, who hath as great a power over thee, to manage thee as he pleaſeth, as a Man hath over the Ax wherewith he heweth? a Or, as it is rendred in the Margin, and by other Interpreters, as if a rod ſhould ſhake (i. e. ſhall pretend to ſhake, or, ſhould boaſt that it would or could ſhake; which may eaſily be underſtood out of the foregoing words) them that lift it up. b As if a Staff ſhould forget that it was Wood, and ſhould pretend or attempt to lift up it ſelf either without or againſt the man that moveth it. Which is abſurd in the very ſuppoſition of it, and were much more unreaſonable in the practice. Nor are thy Boaſts leſs ridiculous.

16 Therefore ſhall the Lord, the Lord of hoſts c, ſend among his † fat ones leanneſs d, and under his glory he ſhall kindle a burning like the burning of a fire e.

c The Sovereign Lord and General of thine and all other Armies. d Strip him, and all his great Princes and Commanders, of all their Wealth, and Might, and Glory. e He will deſtroy his numerous and victorious Army, and that ſuddenly and irrecoverably, as the Fire doth thoſe combuſtible things which are caſt into it. Which was fulfilled 2 Kings 19. 25.

17 And the light of Iſrael f ſhall be for a fire g, and his holy One for a flame: and it ſhall burn and devour his thorns and briars h in one day.

f That God who is and will be a comfortable Light to his People. g To the Aſſyrians, who ſhall have Heat without Light, as it is in Hell. h His vaſt Army, which is no more able to reſiſt God, than dry Thorns and Briars are to oppoſe the Fire which is kindled among them.

i Of his great Army, which may not unfitly be compared to a Foreſt, either for the multitude of their Spears, which, when lifted up together, reſemble the Trees of a Wood or Foreſt; or for the numbers of Men, which ſtood as thick as Trees do in a Foreſt. k Of his Soldiers, which ſtood as thick as Ears of Corn do in a fruitful Field. Heb. of his Carmel. Wherein it is not improbably conjectured by our late moſt Learned Mr. Gataker, that there is an Alluſion to that Brag of the Aſſyrian, who threatens that he would go up to the ſides of (Iſrael's) Lebanon, and to the Foreſt of his Carmel, and there cut down the Tall Cedars thereof. Which though it was not uttered by the Aſſyrian till ſome years after this Time, yet was exactly foreknown to God who underſtandeth mens Thoughts, and much more their Words, afar off, Pſalm 139. 2, 3, 4. and therefore might direct the Prophet to uſe the ſame Words, and to turn them againſt himſelf, Whereas thou threatneſt to deſtroy Iſrael's Carmel, I will deſtroy thy Carmel. l i. e. Totally, both inwardly and outwardly, both Strength and Life. Heb. from the Soul to the Fleſh. Which may poſſibly ſignifie the manner of their Death, which ſhould be by a ſudden Stroke of the deſtroying Angel upon their inward and vital Parts, which was ſpeedily followed by the Conſumption of their Fleſh. See Iſa. 37. 35, 36. m The State of that King, and of his great and valiant Army, ſhall be. n Like that of an Army when their Standard-bearer either is ſlain, or rather flees away, which ſtrikes a Panick Terrour into the whole Army, and puts them to flight.

20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the remnant of Iſrael, and ſuch as are eſcaped of the houſe of Jacob q, ſhall no more again ſtay upon him that ſmote them r: but ſhall ſtay upon the LORD, the holy One of Iſrael in truth ſ.

q Such Jews as ſhall be preſerved from that ſweeping Aſſyrian Scourge, by which great numbers both of Iſrael and Judah were deſtroyed, and from their ſucceeding Calamities. For that this Place looks beyond the Deliverance from the Aſſyrian Army, and unto the Times of the New Teſtament, ſeems probable, 1. From the following Verſes, which belong to that Time, as we ſhall ſee: 2. From the State of the Jewiſh Nation, which, after that Deliverance, continued to be very ſad and corrupt, and averſe from that Reformation which Hezekiah and Joſiah proſecuted with all their might; and therefore the Body of that People had not yet learned this Leſſon of ſincere Truſting in God alone. 3. From St. Paul's Explication and Application of theſe Words, Rom. 9. 27. of which more may be ſaid when I come thither. And for the Words in that Day, which may ſeem to reſtrain this to the time of the Aſſyrian Invaſion, they are frequently uſed in the Prophets of the times of the Goſpel, as Iſa. 2. 11. and 4. 2. and 11. 10. &c. r Shall learn by this Judgment and Experience, never to truſt to the Aſſyrians for Help, as Ahaz and his People now did, ſ Not only by profeſſion, but ſincerely.

t Or, a remnant, or, but a remnant, or, a remnant only. Which Particles are oft underſtood, as hath been formerly and frequently obſerved, and may be here ſupplied from the following Verſes. u Unto the Meſſiah, expreſly called the mighty God, Iſa. 9. 6.

22 * For though thy People Iſrael x be as the ſand of the Sea, yet a remnant y † of them ſhall return: * The Conſumption decreed ſhall overflow z ‖ with Righteouſneſs a.

† Heb. in, or amongſt.

x Or, O Iſrael: to whom by an Apoſtrophe he directeth his Speech. y Or, a remnant only, as before: For that this is a Threatning in reſpect of ſome, as well as a Promiſe in reſpect of others, is evident from the reſt of this, and from the following Verſe. z The Deſtruction of the People of Iſrael was already decreed or determined (as it is in the next Verſe) by the fixed Counſel of God, and therefore muſt needs be executed, and like a Deluge overflow them. a As this Word is rendred Rom. 9. 28. the Prepoſition in or with being here underſtood, as it is every where. And this is added, to ſhew, that although this Judgement of God may ſeem very ſevere, yet it is moſt juſt, not only by the Laws of ſtrict and rigid Juſtice, but even by the Rules of Equity and Clemency, as this Word oft ſignifies, inaſmuch as he hath ſpared a conſiderable Remnant of them, when he might have deſtroyed them utterly. And ſo this Word is added as a Reaſon why a Remnant, and why but a Remnant, ſhould return; becauſe God would both glorifie his Juſtice, and manifeſt his Mercy. And in this mixed ſence the Apoſtle ſeems to expound this Place, Rom. 9. 27, 28.

23 For the Lord GOD of hoſts ſhall make a Conſumption, even determined b in the midſt of all the Land c.

b The ſame thing is repeated in other Words, with ſome addition: God will execute his own Decree concerning the Deſtruction of Iſrael, which he is well able to do, becauſe he is the Lord of Hoſts. c In all the Parts of the Land, not excepting Jeruſalem, which was to be preſerved in the Aſſyrian Invaſion, when almoſt all the other fenced Cities of Judah ſhould be taken; but ſhould afterwards be taken and deſtroyed, as it was, firſt by the Babylonians, and then by the Romans.

24 Therefore d thus ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts, O my People that dwelleſt in Zion e, be not afraid of the Aſſyrian: he ſhall ſmite thee with a rod f, ‖ and ſhall lift up his ſtaff againſt thee, after the manner of * Egypt g.

d This is an Inference, not from the Words immediately foregoing, but from the whole Prophecy. Seeing the Aſſyrian ſhall be deſtroyed, and a Remnant of my People preſerved and reſtored. e In Jeruſalem, which is frequently called Sion, as Pſalm 48. 12. and 87. 2. Iſa. 1. 8, 27. and 33. 20, &c. Which he mentions, becauſe this was the principal Object of the Aſſyrians Deſign and Rage, and there were the Temple, and Thrones of Juſtice, and the King and his Princes; and Multitudes had fled thither from the Aſſyrian. f He ſhall afflict thee, but not deſtroy thee. Compare 1 Kings 12. 11. g As the Egyptians formerly did, and with the ſame ill Succeſs to themſelves, and comfortable Iſſue to you.

25 For yet a very little while, and the indignation h ſhall ceaſe i, and mine anger in their deſtruction.

h Mine Anger, as it is explained in the next Clauſe; either, 1. Towards my People; which ſhall weaken the Aſſyrian, whoſe great Strength lay there; of which, ſee above, v. 5. Or, 2. Towards the Aſſyrian, with whom God was very angry, v. 12, &c. yea, ſo angry, as not to be ſatisfied without their Deſtruction, as it follows. i As Anger commonly doth, when Vengeance is fully executed.

26 And the LORD of hoſts ſhall ſtir up a ſcourge k for him, according to the ſlaughter of * Midian l at the rock of Oreb m: and as his rod was upon the ſea n, ſo ſhall he lift it up after the manner of Egypt o.

k Shall ſend a deſtroying Angel, Iſa. 37. 36. l Whom God ſlew ſuddenly, and unexpectedly, and in the Night, as he did the Aſſyrians. m Upon which one of their Chief Princes was ſlain, and nigh unto which the Midianites were deſtroyed. n To ſmite and divide it, and ſo to make way both for thy Deliverance, and for the Deſtruction of the Egyptians. o As he did in Egypt, to bring his Plagues upon that Land and People.

27 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that * his burden p † ſhall be taken away from off thy ſhoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke ſhall be deſtroy'd becauſe of the anointing q.

p The Burden of the Aſſyrian; for ſo it was actively, becauſe impoſed by him; though paſſively it was Iſrael's Burden, as being laid upon him. q Out of the reſpect which I bear to that Holy Unction, which I have eſtabliſhed amongſt you. And ſo this may relate either, 1. To the Body of the People, who were in ſome ſort anointed, being made by God a Kingdom of Prieſts, and an Holy Nation, Exod. 19. 6. or, 2. To that Sacred Kingdom which God had, by his poſitive Precept, and ſolemn Covenant, eſtabliſhed in David and his Poſterity for ever. The Jews therefore, and ſome others, underſtand this of Hezekiah, to whom God had a ſingular reſpect, and upon whoſe Prayers God gave this Deliverance, as we read Iſa. 37. 15, &c. Poſſibly it might be better underſtood of David, who is oft mentioned in Scripture by the Name of God's anointed, as Pſalm 20. 6. and 89. 20. and 132. 17. and elſewere; and for whoſe ſake God gave many Deliverances to the ſucceeding Kings and Ages, as is expreſly affirmed, 1 Kings 11. 32, 34. 2 Kings 8. 19. And, which is more conſiderable, God declareth, that he would give this very Deliverance from the Aſſyrian for David's ſake, 2 Kings 19. 34. and 20. 6. But the Meſſiah, I doubt not, is here principally intended, of whom David was but a Type; and who was in a peculiar manner anointed above all his fellows, as is ſaid, Pſal. 45. 7. For he is the Foundation of all the Promiſes, 2 Cor. 1. 20. and of all the Deliverances and Mercies granted to God's People in all Ages; whence this very Prophet makes uſe of this great promiſe of the Meſſiah, as an Aſſurance that God would make good his promiſes of particular Deliverances from their preſent or approaching Calamities, as Iſa. 7. 14, &c. and 9. 4, &c. And therefore the Prophet might well ſay, that God would grant this Deliverance for Chriſt's ſake: Eſpecially if it be conſidered, that this was the very Reaſon why God had promiſed, and did ſo conſtantly perform his Mercy promiſed unto the Tribe of Judah, and unto the Houſe of David, until the coming of the Meſſiah, becauſe the Meſſiah was to come of the Tribe of Judah, and of the Poſterity of David, and was to ſucceed David in his Throne and Kingdom; and he was to be known by this Character: and therefore this Tribe and Houſe and Kingdom were to continue, and that in a viſible manner, till Chriſt came.

28. He is come to Ajath r, he is paſſed to Migron: at Michmaſh he hath laid up his carriages ſ.

r Here the Prophet returns to his former Diſcourſe concerning the Aſſyrian Invaſion into Judah; which he deſcribes, after the manner of the Prophets, as a thing preſent, and ſets down the ſeveral Stages by which he marched towards Jeruſalem. The Places here named are moſt of them Towns of Benjamin, and ſome of Judah, as appears from other Scriptures; of which it is needleſs to ſay more in this place. He, to wit, Sennacherib King of Aſſyria, is come in his way to Jeruſalem. ſ Leaving ſuch things there as were leſs neceſſary, that ſo he might march with more expedition. Heb. he viſited his veſſels or inſtruments: which may be meant of his taking a Survey of his Army and Artillery, to ſee that all things were ready for his Enterpriſe.

29 They are gone over the paſſage t: they have taken up their lodging at Geba, Ramah is afraid, Gibeah of Saul is fled u.

Chriſt, a Branch out of the Root of Jeſſe, endued with the Spirit of the Lord, ſhould ſet up a Kingdom by the Preaching of his word, 1,—15. The Members of his Church ſhould live in Peace and Unity. 6,—9. and be Victorious over their Enemies: and to him ſhould the Gentiles ſeek. 10,—16.

AND * there ſhall come forth a a rod b out of the ſtemm c of * Jeſſe d, and * a branch ſhall grow e out of his roots f.

a the Prophet having diſpatched the Aſſyrian, and comforted God's People with the Promiſe of their Deliverance from that formidable Enemy, now he proceeds further, and declares, That God will do greater things than that for them, that he will give them their long-expected and much-deſired Meſſiah, and by him will work Wonders of Mercy for them. For this is the manner of the Prophets, to take the occaſion of particular Deliverances, to fix the Peoples Minds upon their great and everlaſting Deliverance from all their enemies by the Meſſiah. And having ſaid that the Aſſyrian yoke ſhould be deſtroyed becauſe of the anointing, ch. 10. 27. he now more particularly explains who that anointed Perſon was. b Or, twig, called a branch in the next Clauſe. Parents are oft compared to Roots or Trees, and their Children to Branches. He ſpeaks of the moſt eminent Branch, of that famous Son of a Virgin, Iſa. 7. 14. of that Wonderful Child, Iſa. 9. 6. not of Hezekiah, as ſome of the Jews and Judaizing Chriſtians conceit; but of the Meſſiah, as will evidently appear from the following Deſcription. c Or, trunk; or rather, ſtump: for the Word properly ſignifies a Trunk cut off from the Root: Or, root, as the LXX here render the Word, and as it is explained in the next Clauſe. By which he clearly implies, that the Meſſiah ſhould be born of the Royal Houſe of David, at that time when it was in a moſt forlorn and contemptible condition, like a Tree cut down, and whereof nothing is left but a Stump or Root under Ground. Which really was the State of David's Family when Chriſt was born, as is notoriouſly known; but was in a far better condition when Hezekiah was born. d He doth not ſay of David, but of Jeſſe, who was a private and mean Perſon, 1 Sam. 18. 18, 23. & 20. 30. to intimate, That at the time of Chriſt's Birth the Royal Family ſhould be reduced to its Primitive Obſcurity. e He ſpeaks of one not yet born, and therefore not of Hezekiah, who was born divers year before his Father Ahaz (in whoſe time this Prophecy was delivered) was King, by comparing 2 Kings 16. 2. & 18. 2. but of the Meſſiah. f Out of one of his Roots, i. e. Branches, as this Word root is ſometimes uſed, by a very uſual Figure called a Metonymy, as it is here below, v. 10. Iſaiah 53. 2. Hoſea 14. 5.

It is neither eaſie, nor at all neceſſary, exactly to diſtinguiſh theſe two Gifts; it is ſufficient that they are neceſſary Qualifications for a Governour, and for a Teacher, both which Offices were to meet in the Meſſiah; and it is evident that they ſignifie a practical and perfect Knowledge of all things neceſſary for the diſcharge of his Truſt, and for his own and Peoples Good, and a ſound Judgment, to diſtinguiſh between things that differ. k Of Prudence, to give good Counſel; and of Might and Courage, to execute it; which are two neceſſary Qualifications of a Ruler. l Of the perfect Knowledge of the whole Will and Counſel of God, eſpecially that which concerns the Salvation of Men, the proſecution whereof was his great Work, as alſo of all ſecret and hidden things, yea of the Hearts of Men, the Knowledge whereof is aſcribed to Chriſt, Mat. 9. 4. Revel. 2. 23. m Not a fear of Diffidence or Horrour, but of Reverence, a Care to pleaſe him, and lothneſs to offend him; which well became the Meſſiah towards his God and Father.

y The firſt time, to which this Word ſecond relates, ſeems to be either, 1. the Deliverance out of Egypt, as moſt both Jewiſh and Chriſtian Interpreters underſtand it: And then this ſecond Deliverance muſt be that out of Babylon: Or, 2. the Deliverance out of Babylon: And then this ſecond Deliverance muſt be in the days of the Meſſiah. Which, with ſubmiſſion to better Judgments, ſeems to me more probable; 1. becauſe that firſt Deliverance is ſuppoſed to be, like the ſecond, a Deliverance of the Remnant of this People from ſeveral Countries, into which they were diſperſed: whereas that out of Egypt was a Deliverance not of a Remnant, but of the whole Nation, and that out of Egypt onely: 2. becauſe this ſecond Deliverance was univerſal, extending to the generality of the Outcaſts and Diſperſed ones, both of Iſrael or the Ten Tribes, and of Judah or the Two Tribes, as is evident from v. 12. 13. whereas that out of Babylon reached onely to the Two Tribes, and to ſome few of the Ten Tribes which were mixed with them, as is acknowledged both by Jews and Chriſtians: 3 becauſe this ſecond Deliverance was given them in the days of the Meſſiah, and did accompany or follow the Converſion of the Gentiles, as is evident from v. 9. 10. whereas that out of Babylon was long before the coming of the Meſſiah, and the calling of the Gentiles. z From all Places both far and near, into which either the Ten Tribes or the Two Tribes were carried Captives; for the Places of both their Captivities are here named, Of which it is needleſs to diſcourſe particularly, becauſe they are well known, and have been conſidered in former Texts. Onely Pathros was not named before; and that was a Province in Egypt, which yet is ſometimes diſtinguiſhed from Egypt ſtrictly ſo called. See on Jer. 44. 1, 15. Ezek. 29. 14. & 30. 14.

5. They come from a far Country, from the end of heaven m, even the LORD, and the weapons of his indignation n, to deſtroy the whole land o.

m From the ends of the Earth under Heaven, as Mat. 24. 30. Which is not to be underſtood ſtrictly and properly, but popularly and hyperbolically, as ſuch Expreſſions are commonly uſed in Sacred and Profane Authors. And yet in ſome reſpects this might be truly ſaid of Perſia, which on the South-ſide was bounded by the Main Ocean; as for the ſame reaſon Sheba, a Part of Arabia, is called the utmoſt parts of the earth, Mat. 12. 42. n The Medes and Perſians, who were but a Rod in God's Hand, and the Inſtruments of his Anger, as was ſaid of the Aſſyrian, Iſa. 10. 5. o To wit of Babylon, of which he is now ſpeaking.

6 Howl ye, for the day of the LORD is at hand; * it ſhall come as a deſtruction p from the Almighty q.

p Or rather, a deſtruction or devaſtation ſhall come, as the LXX and Vulgar Latin render it. For this was not as a deſtruction, but was a Deſtruction indeed. And the Particle as is ſeldom uſed to expreſs not the likeneſs, but the reality of the thing, as Joh. 1. 14. q Who fighteth for your Adverſaries, and againſt you, and therefore your Deſtruction is unavoidable.

Iſrael ſhould be delivered from the Babyloniſh Captivity: Their triumphant Inſultation over Babel. 1 — 13. God's purpoſe againſt Aſſyria 24 — 27. Paleſtina is threatned. 28 — 32.

a God will pity and deliver his People; and therefore will deſtroy Babylon, which hinders it, and ſet up Cyrus, who ſhall promote it. b Will renew his Choice of them; for he had refuſed and rejected them. c So they did in part at their coming from Babylon, being thereunto moved either by the Favour which the Jews had in the Perſian Court, or by the conſideration of their wonderful Deliverance, and that exactly in the time deſigned by their Holy Prophets. But what was then begun, was more fully accompliſhed at the coming of the Meſſiah.

2 And the people ſhall take them, and bring them to their place: and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs them in the land of the LORD, for ſervants and hand-maids: and they ſhall take them captives, † whoſe captives they were, and they ſhall rule over their oppreſſours d.

But this was more evidently and eminently verified in a Spiritual Senſe, in the days of the Goſpel, when the Apoſtles and other Miniſters, who were of the Jewiſh Nation, conquered a great part of the Gentile-world to the Worſhip and Obedience of their Meſſiah.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs in the day that the LORD ſhall give thee reſt from thy ſorrow, and from thy fear e, and from the hard bondage wherein thou waſt made to ſerve:

And it is a very uſual thing, both in Prophetical and in Profane Writers, to deſcribe the Princes and Potentates of the World under the Title of the Sun or Stars of Heaven. Some underſtand this Place of the Devil; to whom indeed it may be myſtically applied: But as he is never called by this Name in Scripture, ſo it cannot be literally meant of him, but of the King of Babylon, as is undeniably evident from the whole Context, which certainly ſpeaks of one and the ſame Perſon, and deſcribes him as plainly as words can do it. z The Title of ſon is given in Scripture not only to a Perſon or Thing begotten or produced by another, but alſo in general to any thing which is any way related to another; in which ſenſe we read of a ſon of ſtripes, Deut. 25. 2. the ſon of a night, Jonah 4. 10. a ſon of perdition, Joh. 17. 12. and, which is more agreeable to the preſent Caſe, the ſons of Arcturus, Job 38. 32.

13 For thou haſt ſaid in thy heart, I will aſcend into heaven a, I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God b: I will ſit alſo upon the mount a I will advance my ſelf above the State of a weak and mortal Man. Great Monarchs are eaſily induced, by their own vain Imaginations, and the Flattery of their Courtiers, to entertain an Opinion of their own Divinity; ſo far, that many of them have received and required Divine Worſhip to be paid to them. b Either, 1. above all other Kings and Potentates whom he hath ſet up; or, 2. above the moſt eminent Perſons of God's Church and People, who are frequently called ſtars, as Dan. 8. 10. Rev. 1. 16, 20. & 12. 1. which ſenſe the next Words favour. c I will eſtabliſh my Royal Throne upon Mount Sion, where the Jews meet together to worſhip God. d This is added as a more exact Deſcription of the Place of the Temple, which ſtood upon Mount Moriah, which was northward from the Hill of Zion ſtrictly ſo called, and was a part of the Hill of Zion largely ſo called. See on Pſal. 48. 2.

14 I will aſcend above the heights of the clouds e; I will be like the moſt high f.

He ſaith, to the ſtones of the pit, either becauſe ſuch Bodies are commonly thrown into the next pits, and pits were frequently made by digging Stones out of their Quarries; or becauſe there uſually are a great number of Stones in the bottoms of Pits, either naturally, or being caſt in thither upon divers occaſions; and when dead Bodies are caſt in thither, men uſe to throw an heap of Stones upon them. p Neglected, like ſuch a Carcaſs. Or, this might literally happen to Belſhazzar's dead Body, through Military Fury and Contempt, or from other Cauſes.

q Not in place; for ſo the Kings of ſeveral Nations did not uſe to be joyned in the ſame Sepulchre; but in Condition, not be buried as they are. r Thou haſt exerciſed great Tyranny and Cruelty, not only to thine Enemies, but even to thine own Subjects. Which it is more than probable Belſhazzar did, and it is certain that his Parents and Predeceſſors had done, whoſe Sins contributed, together with his, to bring down God's Judgments upon that Empire. ſ Such as Belſhazzar was, being deſcended from that Nebuchadnezzar who had made ſuch horrid Slaughters and Devaſtations in the World, meerly to gratifie his own unſatiable Luſts, and who had been ſo impious towards God and his Temple, and ſo bloody towards his Church and People. t Or, ſhall not be renowned for ever. Although I have long born with thee and thy Family, and ſuffered them to get a great Name in the World, yet I will now put a period to the Renown of thy Family and Empire.

24 The LORD of hoſts hath ſworn, ſaying, Surely as I have thought, ſo ſhall it come to paſs; and as I have purpoſed, ſo ſhall it ſtand.

d I will not repent of this Threatning, as I did of that againſt Nineveh, Jonah 3. 4, 10. And this ſolemn Oath is added to confirm the Faith of God's People, becauſe otherwiſe the Deſtruction of this vaſt and mighty Empire might ſeem incredible. But it is to be diligently obſerved, that this Verſe doth not only concern this preſent Prophecy of Babylon's Deſtruction by the Medes and Perſians, but is alſo to be extended unto the foregoing Prophecy concerning the Overthrow of Sennacherib and the Aſſyrian Hoſt, ch. 10. as appears by the next Verſe, where the ſum of that Prophecy is repeated. Nor is this any Digreſſion, but very pertinent to the main Deſign and Buſineſs of this Chapter; inaſmuch as the Overthrow of that great Aſſyrian Hoſt, and of the Deliverance of God's People at that time, was a Pledge of the certain Accompliſhment of that future Deſtruction of the City and Empire of Babylon, and of their Deliverance out of that Captivity.

Others underſtand it of Ahaz: But he was ſo far from ſmiting them, that he was ſmitten by them, as was noted on v. 27. It ſeems better to underſtand it more generally, of the Royal Race, or foregoing Kings of Judah, who had been a terrible Scourge to them, whoſe Rod might be ſaid to be broken, becauſe that Scepter was come into the hands of ſlothful and degenerate Princes, ſuch as Ahaz was, who had been lately broken by the Philiſtins, and who probably was alive when this Prophecy was delivered, becauſe he here ſpeaks of Hezekiah not as a preſent but as a future King. It is ſaid indeed, that this burden was in the year that Ahaz died: But ſo it might be, though it was before his Death. n From the Root and Race of David ſhall come Hezekiah, who, like a Serpent, ſhall ſting thee to death, as he did, 2 Kings 18. 8.

30 And the firſt born of the poor o ſhall feed p, and the needy ſhall lie down in ſafety: and I will kill thy root q with famine, and he ſhall ſlay thy remnant.

o The People of the Jews, who are brought to extreme poverty by the Cruelty, and the Malice of other Enemies. The Firſt-born were the chief of all the Children. Hence the Title of firſt-born is given to Perſons or Things which are moſt eminent in their kinds, as to the People of Iſrael, Exod. 4. 22. to David, Pſal. 89. 27. to a grievous Death, Job 18. 13. and here to Perſons eminently poor. p Shall have plenty of Proviſions, in ſpight of all thine Attempts againſt them. q I will utterly deſtroy thee both Root and Branch, ſo that there ſhall not be a Remnant of thy People reſerved, as it follows. It is a Metaphor from a Tree, which for want of Nouriſhment is dried up by the Roots.

31 Howl, O gate r, cry, O city ſ, thou whole Paleſtina art diſſolved t: for there ſhall come from the North u a ſmoke x, and || none ſhall be alone in his || appointed times y.

r The gate is put either, 1. Metaphorically, for the People paſſing through the Gates, or for the Magiſtrates and others who uſed to meet in the Gate for Judgment, or upon other Occaſions; or, 2. Synecdochically, for the City, as gates are commonly put, as Jer. 22. 19. and as it is explained in the next Words. ſ City is here put collectively for their Cities, of which ſee 1 *Sam.*6. 17. t Heb. melted. Which may be underſtood either, 1. of the fainting of their Spirits and Courage, as Exod. 15. 15. Joſh. 2. 9, 24, &c. or, 2. of the Diſſolution of their State. u Either, 1. from Judea; which lay Northward from ſome part of the Philiſtins Land. But in truth Judea lay more Eaſt than North from Paleſtine, and therefore the Philiſtines are ſaid to be on the weſt, Iſa. 11. 14. and never, ſo far as I remember, on the North: Or, 2 from Chaldea, as may be gathered, 1. from the Scripture uſe of this Phraſe, which generally deſigns that Country, as Jer. 1. 14, 15, & 6. 1, 22. &c. 2. from Jer. 47. where Deſtruction is threatned to the Philiſtins from the North, v. 2. which all underſtand of the Chaldeans under Nebuchadnezzar. And whereas it is ſpeciouſly objected, That this ſuits not with the next Verſe, which ſpeaks of Zions Safety at the time of this Deſtruction of the Philiſtins, whereas Zion and the Land and People of Judah were deſtroyed together with the Philiſtins by Nebuchadnezzar; I humbly conceive it may be anſwered, That that Verſe is added to expreſs the far differing Condition of God's People, and of the Philiſtins in the Events of that Babylonian War; and that whereas the Philiſtins ſhould be irrecoverably and eternally deſtroyed thereby, and no remnant of them ſhould be left, as was ſaid v. 30. God's People, though they ſhould be ſorely ſcourged, and carried into Captivity, yet they ſhould be ſtrangely preſerved, and after ſome years delivered, and reſtored to their own Land and Temple; whereby it would appear, that Zion ſtood upon a ſure Foundation, and, albeit it was grievouſly ſhaken, yet it could not be utterly and finally overthrown. x A grievous Judgment and Calamity, which is oft ſignified by ſmoak, as Gen. 15. 17. *Deut.*29.20. Joel 2. 30. either becauſe ſmoke is generally accompanied with Fire, or becauſe it cauſeth a great Darkneſs in the Air; for Afflictions are frequently deſcribed under the names of fire and darkneſs. y When God's appointed time ſhall come for the execution of this Judgment, not one Perſon of all that numerous Army, which is ſignified by the ſmoke laſt mentioned, ſhall retire and deſert his Colours, or lag behind the reſt; But they ſhall march with great unanimity and alacrity, and none of them ſhall withdraw his hand till the Work be finiſhed, till the Philiſtins be utterly deſtroyed.

32 What ſhall one then anſwer the meſſengers of the nation z? That * the LORD hath founded Zion, and * the poor of his people ſhall || truſt in it a, z What ſhall a Jew ſay to the People of other Nations, who ſhall either be ſent or come to enquire concerning the State of Zion in that day, when not only the Philiſtins, but even the Jews themſelves, ſhall fall by the hands of one and the ſame Enemy? Nation is put collectively for nations, as gate and city for gates and cities in the foregoing Verſe. a They ſhall give them this anſwer, That although Zion at preſent be in a very diſtreſſed and deplorable condition, and ſeems to be forſaken by her God, yet ſhe ſtands upon a firm Foundation, and God who firſt founded her, will again reſtore and eſtabliſh her, and his poor deſpiſed People ſhall reſort to her, as to a ſure and ſure Refuge.

Pſal. 87. ...5. & ...2. 16. ...*eph.*3.12 ...ch. 11. ...r, be-...e them-...es unto

CHAP. XV.

The Deſtruction of Moab. 1,—9.

THe burden of Moab a: Becauſe in the night b Ar c of Moab is laid waſte, and || brought to ſilence d; becauſe in the night Kir e of Moab is laid waſte, and brought to ſilence:

...zek. ...8. ...s 2. 1. ..., cut off.

a A Prophecy of the Deſtruction of the Moabites, the inveterate and implacable Enemies of the Jews, begun by the Aſſyrian, and finiſhed by the Babylonian Emperours. b Or, in a night, ſuddenly and unexpectedly; for Men ſleep ſecurely in the Night, and therefore the Evils which then overtake them, are moſt terrible to them. c The Chief City of Moab, Numb. 21. 28. Deut. 2. 9. d Or rather, is cut off, as the word oft ſignifies, as Jer. 47. 5. Hoſ. 10. 9, 15. and elſewhere. e Another eminent City of Moab, called more largely and fully Kir-heres, and Kir-hareſheth, Iſa. 16. 7, 11. Jer. 48. 31, 36.

2 He is gone up to Bajith f, and to Dibon g, the high places, to weep h: Moab ſhall howl over Nebo, and over Medeba i, * on all their heads ſhall be baldneſs, and every beard cut off k.

f Which ſignifies an houſe. It is ſuppoſed to be the Name of a Place ſo called from ſome eminent Houſe or Temple of their Idols which was in it. It is called more fully Beth-baal-meon, that is, The houſe of Baal's habitation, Joſ. 13. 17. g Another City of Moab, as is manifeſt from Jer. 48. 18, 22. where alſo was their other eminent High-places. To theſe two Places they uſed to reſort in caſe of great Difficulties and Troubles. h To offer their Supplications with Tears to their Idols for help. i Two conſiderable Cities, anciently belonging to the Moabites, from whom they were taken by the Amorites, and from them by the Iſraelites, and poſſeſſed by the Reubenites, Numb. 21. 30. & 32. 2, 38. but were, as it ſeems, recovered by the Moabites, in whoſe hands they now were, as is evident, for Nebo, Jer. 48. 1, 22. and for Medeba, from this Text. k The Hair of their Heads and Beards (which was their Ornament) was ſhaved, as was uſual in great Mournings, as hath been oft obſerved upon divers preceding Texts. See on Levit. 19. 27, 28. & 21. 5.

3 In their ſtreets they ſhall gird themſelves with ſack-cloth l: on the tops of their houſes m, and in their ſtreets n, every one ſhall howl † weeping abundantly.

l This was another practice of Mourners. m Which were made flat, Deut. 22. 8. to which Men uſed to go up, either to walk, or to cry to God in Heaven or to Men for Help. n Publickly, without ſhame; whereas in ordinary Sorrows men are wont to ſeek ſecret Places for their Mourning.

4 And Heſhbon ſhall cry, and Elealeh o: their voice ſhall be heard even unto Jahaz p: therefore the armed ſouldiers q of Moab ſhall cry out, his life ſhall be grievous unto him r.

o Two other Moabitiſh Cities; of which ſee Numb. 21. 25, 26. & 32. 3. 37. p Another City in the utmoſt Borders of Moab, Numb. 21. 23. called alſo Jahazah, Joſ. 21. 36. q Who ſhould be and uſe to be the moſt couragious. r The Moabites ſhall generally long for death, to free themſelves from thoſe dreadful Calamities which they perceive unavoidably coming upon them.

5 My heart ſhall cry out for Moab ſ, || his fugitives t ſhall flee unto Zoar u, an * heifer of three years old x: for by the mounting up of Luhith with weeping ſhall they go it up: for in the way of Horonaim, they ſhall raiſe up a cry y of † deſtruction z.

ſ Their Deſtruction approaching is ſo dreadful, that although they are a moſt vile Nation, and by their implacable Enmity againſt God and his People do abundantly deſerve it, yet the reſpect which I have to Humane Nature fills me with Horrour at the very thoughts of it. Compare Iſa. 86. 11. t Or, his bars, as others render it, and as this Word is frequently taken, as Exod. 26. 26, 27. Pſal. 107. 16. &c. whereby we may underſtand their valiant Men, or their Princes and Rulers, who as they are called the ſhields of the earth, Pſal. 47. 9. becauſe, like Shields, they do, or ſhould defend their People; ſo for the ſame reaſon they may be called Bars, becauſe Bars are the ſtrength of the Gates of Cities or Caſtles, and therefore are mentioned as ſuch, Pſal. 147. 13. Prov. 18. 19. Jer. 51. 30. u Or, ſhall cry unto Zoar, either ſhall cry as they go along the way, even till they come to Zoar; or, ſhall cry, ſo as they may be heard to Zoar: which may eaſily be underſtood out of the foregoing Verſe. Zoar was a Town bordering upon Moab; of which ſee Gen. 19. 20, 21, 22. & Deut. 34. 3. x Which ſome underſtand of the City of Zoar, ſo called for her Strength and Wantonneſs. But ſuch a Deſcription of Zoar ſeems very improper and impertinent in this place. The words therefore are to be tranſlated here, as they are by our Tranſlators, Jer. 48. 34. as an heifer of three years old; and ſo they belong to their Cry, and ſignifie that it is ſtrong and loud, like that of ſuch an Heifer. y He ſignifies, that the Cry ſhould be univerſal, in all places where they come, and reaching from one ſide of the Country to another. Of Luhith, ſee Jer. 48. 4, 5. z Such a Cry as Men ſend forth when they are juſt falling into the Pit of Deſtruction.

a Either, 1. properly, they ſhall be dried up; or, 2. figuratively, the Wateriſh Grounds, as waters ſeem to be taken, Eccleſ. 11. 1. Iſa. 32. 20. Theſe being very fruitful, are commonly moſt inhabited and cultivated; but now they alſo, and much more the dry and barren Grounds, ſhall be deſolate, and without Inhabitant. b By the juſt and ſpecial Judgement of God. Thus God and Man conſpire together to deſtroy them.

7 Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, ſhall they c carry to the || brook of the willows d.

c To wit, their Enemies; which is plainly implied. d Unto ſome Brook or River having great numbers of Willows growing by it, by which they might convey them to ſome eminent and ſtrong City built upon the ſame River. Poſſibly he means ſome ſuch River which ran into Euphrates, and ſo gave them opportunity of carrying their Spoils by Water unto Babylon. Though the Words may be rendred, into the valley of the Arabians; whither the Spoils might be firſt carried, in order to their Tranſportation into Aſſyria or Chaldea: for part of Arabia lay between Moab and thoſe Countries. But the former Tranſlation ſeems better, becauſe theſe very Words are ſo rendred, Levit. 23. 40.

9 For the waters of Dimon f ſhall be full of Blood: for I will bring † more g upon Dimon, lions upon him that eſcapeth of Moab h, and upon the remnant of the land.

f This ſeems to be the ſame place with Dibon mentioned v. 2. here called Dimon for the great bloodſhed in it, as it here follows; ſuch changes of a Letter being not unuſual in Proper Names, as in Merodach for Berodach, Iſa. 39. 1. g Either, 1. more than upon other parts of the Country, that being one of their High-places, v. 2. or rather, 2. more than hath been already mentioned. h God ſhall ſend Lions to find out thoſe that eſcape the Fury of Men.

CHAP. XVI.

The Moabites exhorted to entertain kindly the baniſhed Jews: 1,—5. They are threatned for their pride and arrogance, 6, —8. the Prophet bewaileth them, 9, — 11. their judgment, 12, — 14.

SEnd ye the lamb || to the ruler of the land a, from || † Sela b to the wilderneſs c, unto the mount of the daughter of Zion d:

a The Prophet continues his Prophecy againſt Moab in this Chapter, and here turneth his Speech to them, and gives them Counſel what to do, to prevent, if poſſible, the threatned Deſolation. In theſe firſt Words he adviſeth them to the Practice either, 1. of Juſtice: Pay that Tribute of Lambs and Goats which you obliged your ſelves to pay unto David, and to his Poſterity, 2 Sam. 8. 2. and pay it not unto Iſrael, as you have done, 2 Kings 3. 4. but unto the King of Judah, who is the rightful Heir of David, and King of the Land: Or, 2. of Piety: Send a Lamb, for a Sacrifice, unto God, who is Ruler of the Land; to wit, of your Land no leſs than of ours, or of the earth, as the Word is commonly rendred, who is the God of the whole earth, as he is called Iſa. 54. 5. the God of all the kingdoms of the earth, Iſa. 37. 16. Make your Peace with God, by Sacrifice, for all your Injuries done to him, and to his People. Theſe Words may be underſtood Ironically, and the Deſign of them may be to repreſent their miſerable and deſperate Condition; as if he had ſaid, You have tried all other ways, and ſought to your Idols, ch. 15. 2. and all in vain; now ſeek to the God of Iſrael, who alone can help you. But, alas! he is highly incenſed againſt you, and coming to deſtroy you. But this ſeems rather to be a ſerious Advice, by comparing theſe Words with v. 3, 4. b An eminent City of Moab, ſeated upon a Rock, which is here named, either becauſe the King and his Court at this time reſided there, or for ſome other Reaſon then evident, though now unknown. c To the Wilderneſs of Moab, of which we read Numb. 21. 11. Deut. 2. 8. and ſo onward to Zion, as it follows. Or, this may be added as a Deſcription of the Place called Sela. Hence ſome render the Words, Sela of the wilderneſs; and others, Sela which lieth or looketh towards the wilderneſs. And this Limitation might be the more neceſſary, to diſtinguiſh this from other Places of Moab called by the ſame name, which, ſignifying a rock, might be common to ſeveral Places in that Rocky Country. d Unto the Temple upon Mount Zion.

2 For e it ſhall be that as a wandring bird || caſt out of the neſt f, ſo the daughters of Moab ſhall be at the fords of Arnon g.

e Or, otherwiſe, as this Particle is ſometimes uſed; if you do not follow my advice. f Which knows not whither to go, nor what to do. g Which was the Border of the Land of Moab, where they were, either being carried that way into Captivity, or rather with deſign to flee out of their own Land, although they knew not whither, as the foregoing Metaphor ſheweth.

3 † Take counſel h, execute judgment i, make thy ſhadow as the night k in the midſt of noon-day, hide the out-caſts l, bewray not him that wandreth m.

h Conſider ſeriouſly among your ſelves what courſe to take to prevent your utter Ruine. i Do thoſe things which are juſt and right, as to all men, ſo particularly to my People, to whom you have been moſt unrighteous and unmerciful. k Or, as the ſhadow of the night, large and dark, as the Shadow of the Earth is in the Night-ſeaſon. The meaning is, Conceal and protect my People in the time of their Diſtreſs and Danger, as this Metaphor is explained in the reſt of this, and in the following Verſe. l Mine out-caſts, as it follows v. 4. thoſe of my People which are driven out of their Land. m Unto their Enemies, as thou haſt treacherouſly done in former times.

4 Let mine out-caſts n dwell with thee, Moab, be thou a covert to them from the face of the ſpoiler: for the † executioner is at an end o, the ſpoiler ceaſeth, † the oppreſſours are conſumed out of the land.

n Whom though I have forſaken, and ſorely chaſtened, yet I do, and ſtill will, own for my People; and I do obſerve, and will requite, both the Kindneſſes and the Injuries done to them. o Shall ſhortly be deſtroyed, and my people ſhall e're long be reſtored, and then thou wilt not loſe the Fruit of thy Kindneſs. The Preſent Tenſe is put for the Future, as it is uſually in Prophecies.

* Dan. 7. 14, 27. Mic. 4. 7. Luk. 1. 33.

5 And in mercy p * ſhall the throne q be || eſtabliſhed, and he r ſhall ſit upon it in truth ſ, in the tabernacle t of David, judging and ſeeking judgment u, and haſting righteouſneſs x.

p By my Mercy. Though they have ſinned, and I am now puniſhing their Sins, yet I will deliver them for my own Mercies ſake. q The Kingdom of Judah. Therefore for thine own ſake ſhew them Kindneſs in this day of their diſtreſs; for they will be capable of requiting thee. r Their King, which is eaſily and neceſſarily underſtood. ſ Which may reſpect either 1. the Manner of his Government, exerciſing Truth and Juſtice: But that is more plainly and fully expreſſed in the laſt part of the Verſe. Or, 2. the Continuance of it, in truth, i. e. firmly and conſtantly; for truth is oft put for the ſtability and certainty of a thing, as 2 Chron. 32. 1. Prov. 11. 18. Iſa. 61. 8. And this makes the Argument more conſiderable to the preſent purpoſe. The Kingdom ſhall not only be reſtored, but firmly ſetled: Therefore it is your Intereſt, O Moabites, to be kind to my People. t In the Houſe, or Palace, which is called a tent, or tabernacle, either becauſe Houſes are frequently ſo called in Scripture, as 2 Sam. 20. 1. 1 Kings 8. 66. & 12. 16. or with reſpect unto the unſetledneſs of David's Houſe, which now indeed was more like a Tabernacle than a ſtrong Palace; and yet notwithſtanding its preſent Imbecility, ſhould be firmly eſtabliſhed. u Seaching out the Truth of Cauſes and things with care and diligence, which is the Duty of a Judge. x Neither denying, nor yet delaying Juſtice. And theſe good Qualifications ſeem to be here mentioned, partly to teach the Rulers of Moab their Duty towards their own People, and the Iſraelites which were among them; and partly as a Reaſon and Evidence of that Stability which he had promiſed to the Houſe of David.

* Jer. 48. 29. Zeph. 10.

6 We have heard of the * pride of Moab y, (he is very proud) even of his haughtineſs, and his pride, and his wrath: but his lies ſhall not be ſo z.

y The Prophet, having ſpoken to the Moabites, and acquainted them with their Duty and Intereſt, now he turneth his Speech to God's People, whom he armeth and comforteth againſt their approaching Miſery. The ſcope and ſenſe of the Propet in this Verſe is this, I do not expect that my Counſels will have any good effect upon Moab, they will ſtill carry themſelves inſolently and outragiouſly towards you, and they promiſe themſelves that they ſhall now effect what they have long deſired, even ſatisfie their Malice in your total and final Deſtruction; but they ſhall be diſappointed of their Hopes. It is well known to me, and you, and all their Neighbours, that they are a haughty and furious People, and therefore they will ſcorn my Advice, and doubt not to ſtand upon their own Legs. z His vain Imaginations, and falſe and crafty Counſels, ſhall not take effect. But the Words are and may be otherwiſe rendred, But his ſtrength (as this Word is rendred Job 18. 13. Heb. bars, which are the Strength of Gates or Doors) is not ſo, not equal to his Pride or Fury. Or thus, exactly according to the Words and Order of the Hebrew Text, not ſo lies. A conciſe Speech, ſuch as are very common in this and other Prophets. And theſe Words may poſſibly be brought in as the Words of the Moabites, making this ſhort Reply to the Prophets Counſels and Threatnings, directed to them in the foregoing Verſes of this Chapter: It is not or ſhall not be ſo as thou ſayſt; thy Words are but Lies, we fear not thy Threats againſt us. But this I propoſe with ſubmiſſion.

7 Therefore ſhall Moab * howl for Moab a, every one ſhall howl: for the foundations of Kirhareſeth b ſhall ye || mourn c, ſurely they are ſtricken d.

a For it ſelf; the Noun put for the Pronoun, as is uſual in the Hebrew Text. Or, to Moab. One Moabite ſhall howl or lament to or for another. b An ancient and eminent City of Moab, called Kir, chap. 13. 1. and Kir-hareſh, v. 11. which ſignifies, The city of the ſun; probably becauſe there was the Temple of the Sun: which City was preſerved when their other Cities were ruined, 2 Kings 3. 25. and therefore the Deſtruction of it was more lamented. c Or, ye ſhall meditate or talk, as this Word commonly ſignifies. Your Thoughts and Diſcourſes will run much upon the Ruine of ſuch a City. d Or, broken, overthrown or deſtroyed.

8 For the fields of Heſhbon languiſh e, and the vine of Sibmah, the lords of the heathen f have broken down the principal plants g thereof, they are come even unto Jazer h, they wandered through the wilderneſs i, her branches k are || ſtretched out l, they are gone over the ſea m.

e Either for want of Rain, as chap. 15. 6. or becauſe there are no men left to till and manure them. f The Aſſyrians or Chaldeans, the great Rulers of the Eaſtern Nations. g The choiceſt Vines. Under which one Particular he ſeems to underſtand not only all other Fruits and Goods, but even their Perſons and choiceſt People. h Either, 1. the Lords of the Heathen are come as far as Jazer, which is the utmoſt Border of Moab; or, 2. the People of Moab are going into Captivity, and part of them are already gone as far as Jazer. Some underſtand this and the following Clauſes of the Vines, which are here commended, to aggravate the Loſs and Ruine of them, and render the Words, which reached even unto Jazer, which Vineyards were planted for many miles together, even as far as Jazer. i Others of the Moabites fled away for their Lives, and wandred hither and thither in the Wilderneſs of Moab; of which ſee Numb. 21. 11. Deut. 2. 8. k i. e. Her People, called plants before. l Or, are ſpread abroad, as this Word ſignifies Numb. 11. 32. Judg. 15. 9. 1 Sam. 30. 16. are driven from their own Homes, and diſperſed into ſeveral Countries. m Over the Dead Sea, which was the Border of Moab. They were forced to flee out of their own Country to ſave their Lives.

9 Therefore I will bewail with the weeping of Jazer, the vine of Sibmah n: I will water thee with my tears, O Heſhbon, and Elealeh: for || the ſhouting for thy ſummer fruits, and for thy harveſt is fallen o.

n So the ſenſe is, I will bewail Sibmah as I did bewail Jazer, which, they ſay, was deſtroyed before Sibmah: Or, the weeping of Jazer might be a Proverbial Expreſſion; for it is uſed alſo

Jer. 48. 32. like that of the mourning of Hadadrimmon, Zech. 12. 11. though the Reaſon of it be now unknown, as it is in many other Proverbs. The Words are by others rendred, and that more agreeably to the Hebrew Text; I will bewail with weeping (which is an uſual Hebraiſm for, I will bitterly bewail) Jazer, and (which Particle is oft underſtood) the vine of Sibmah. But our Tranſlation ſeems to be juſtified by the parallel Place, Jer. 48. 32. where it is, O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer. o Thoſe joyful Shouts and Acclamations which were cuſtomary in the time of Harveſt and Vintage, Iſa. 9. 3. Jer. 25. 30. ſhall ceaſe, becauſe thy Land ſhall be waſted, and thy People deſtroyed. Or, as it is in the Margin, the ſhout or alarm is fallen upon thy ſummer-fruits and thy Harveſt, inſtead of that joyful Shout which was then uſed, to which he here alludes. Which ſeems to be the truer Tranſlation, not only becauſe this Hebrew Word is elſewhere uſed concerning the ſhout of an Enemy falling upon a People, as Jer. 25. 30. & 51. 14. but eſpecially by conſidering the parallel Place, Jer. 48. 32. where, for the ſhout is fallen, it is, the ſpoiler is fallen upon, &c. If it be objected, That the next Verſe ſpeaks of the ceaſing of their joyful Shouts, and that this Hebrew Word is there uſed for vintage-ſhouting, which at firſt made me incline to the former Interpretation; that ſeems to be fully anſwered from Jer. 48. 33. which ſpeaks likewiſe of the ceaſing of their Joy and joyful Shouts, but withal adds, in the cloſe of the Verſe, what may end this Controverſie, their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting; they ſhall indeed have a Shouting, but not ſuch an one as they uſed to have, a joyful Shouting of their own People, but an inſulting Shout of their Enemies.

Je. 48. 10 And * gladneſs is taken away, and joy out of the plentiful field, and in the vineyards there ſhall be no ſinging, neither ſhall there be ſhouting: the treaders p ſhall tread out no wine in their preſſes; I have made their vintage-ſhouting to ceaſe.

p In thoſe times they uſed to ſqueeze out the Juyce of their Grapes by treading them with their Feet, in Veſſels appointed for that uſe, Judg. 9. 27. Neh. 13. 15.

11 Wherefore my bowels ſhall ſound q like an harp for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kirhareſh.

q Through compaſſion to them: of which ſee on Iſa. 15. 5. In exceſſive Griefs the Bowels are ſometimes rolled and tumbled together, ſo as to make an audible noiſe. Hereby he ſignifies the greatneſs of their approaching Calamitie, which being ſo grievous to him, muſt needs be intolerable to them.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs, when it is ſeen that ap.15.2 Moab is weary * on the high place r, that he ſhall come to his Sanctuary ſ to pray, but he ſhall not prevail t.

r When it ſhall appear to them and others, that all their other Devotions are vain and ineffectual. ſ To the Temple of his great God Chemoſh, Numb. 21. 29. 1 Kings 11. 7. Jer. 48. 46. from whom he ſhall ſeek and expect Succour. t His God can neither hear nor help him.

13 This is the word that the LORD hath ſpoken
eb. from concerning Moab † ſince that time u.

, that u Since the beginning of God's Revelation to me concerning hereto- Moab, and hitherto. Which Expoſition ſeems to be confirmed by the following Words, But now.

14 But now the LORD hath ſpoken x, ſaying, Chap. 21. Within three years y, * as the years of an hireling z, and the glory of Moab a ſhall be contemned b, with all that great multitude c; and the remnant ſhall be x Hath made this further diſcovery of his Mind to me. y To be computed either, 1. from the time of Jeruſalems Deſtruction by Nebuchadnezzar, who did, as is confeſſed by all, invade the Moabites at or about that time, and execute the Judgment firſt foretold by this Prophet, and afterwards by Jeremy, ch. 48. or rather, 2. from the time of the Delivery of this Prophecy. Which, being uncertain, leaves us the greater Latitude for the dertermination of the preciſe time when this was fulfilled. But this is certain, from Iſa. 1. 1. that this Prophecy muſt be delivered, at fartheſt, before the end of Hezekiah's Reign. And then there ariſeth this great Difficulty, How this can conſiſt with the Prophecy of Jeremiah, who above or about an hundred years after this time ſpeaketh of Moab as a People that had been at eaſe from their youth, and had not gone into captivity, Jer. 48. 11. and propheſieth againſt them in the very ſame words which Iſaiah uſeth in this Prophecy? The Anſwer is, That they do not ſpeak of the ſame time, nor of the ſame Calamity; but Iſaiah of a former Tribulation, and Jeremiah of their latter Devaſtation. It is true, Jeremiah uſeth the ſame words which Iſaiah doth, and ſo do the later Prophets ſometimes uſe the words of the former, to other purpoſes than they were firſt delivered, as we ſhall ſee hereafter, and as is moſt evident from the Revelation of St. John, in which the ſame words are uſed concerning Myſtical Babylon, which were uſed by the foregoing Prophets concerning the firſt and literal Babylon. And although the foregoing Prophecy of Iſaiah ſeems to ſpeak of the ſame Deſtruction threatned by Jeremiah, and inflicted by Nebuchadnezzar; yet this Prophecy contained in this Verſe, and uſhered in with another Preface, ſeems to be of a differing nature, and to ſpeak of a more ſpeedy and leſs grievous Affliction that ſhould befall them, which ſhould be as a Pledge to aſſure them of the certain Accompliſhment of the other Prophecy, and of their utter Deſtruction. And therefore it is obſervable, that the Prophet doth not here ſay, Within three years all that I have foretold and threatned ſhall be fulfilled; but only, the glory of Moab ſhall be contemned, &c. which is quite another thing; and as the Terms here uſed are much milder, ſo the Judgment here denounced ſeems much leſs, than in the forogoing Prophecy. And therefore this Verſe may very well be underſtood of ſome great Blow given to the Moabites, either by Sennacherib, or by his Son Eſarhaddon, from which notwithſtanding they in a little time recovered themſelves, and flouriſhed again, and continued ſo to do, till Nebuchadnezzar compleated their Deſtruction. And this may well enough conſiſt with what is ſaid of Moab's being at eaſe from his youth, Jer. 48. 11. which is not to be underſtood ſimply as if they had been wholly free from War and other Calamities; for the contrary is evident both from Scripture, as 2 Sam. 8. 2. 2 Kings 3. 24, 25. and from other Hiſtories: but comparatively, that they had not been brought to Deſolation, nor carried away into Captivity, as it is explained in the following Words, and as Iſrael had been at that time, and Judah was threatned to be. z i. e. Within three years preciſely accounted; for Hirelings are very punctual in obſerving the time for which they are hired; and their Thoughts and Deſires run much upon it, becauſe then they are to receive their Wages: of which ſee Job 7. 1, 2. & 14. 6. And this Expoſition is confirmed by comparing this Place with Iſa. 21. 16. where the ſame Phraſe is uſed of one year. So groundleſs is that Opinion which the Jewiſh Writers gather from this Place, compared with Deut. 15. 18. That three years was the uſual and appointed time for the generality of hired Servants. a Their Strength, and Wealth, and other things in which they glory. b Shall be made contemptible to thoſe who formerly admired them. c With the great numbers of their People, of which they boaſted. d Comparatively to what they were before. Which might be very true, and yet afterwards, in an hundred years ſpace, they might be ſufficiently recruited.
Or, not very ſmall and ‖ feeble d.

CHAP. XVII.

Damaſcus, Samaria, Iſrael and their Cities to be ruined by the Aſſyrians, 1,—5. a Remnant ſhall conſider and Repent, 6,—8. the Reſt plagued for their impiety, 9. 11. the Woe of Iſrael's Enemies, 12,—14.

THE burden of Damaſcus a: Behold Damaſcus is * taken away from being a City, and it ſhall be a ruinous heap b. * Jer. 49. 23. Amos 1. 3. Zech. 9. 1.

a Both of that City and Kingdom, as appears from v. 2, 3. b This was fulfilled by Tiglath-pileſer, 2 Kings 16. 9. although afterwards it was re-edified and poſſeſſed by another ſort of Inhabitants.

2 The cities of Aroer c are forſaken: they ſhall be for flocks which ſhall lie down, and none ſhall make them afraid d.

c Of that part of Syria called Aroer, from a great City of that name; of which ſee Deut. 2. 36. & 3. 12. Theſe Cities were poſſeſſed by the Reubenites and Gadites, whom Tiglath-Pileſer carried into Captivity, 1 Chron. 5. 26. Theſe he mentions here, as he doth Ephraim in the next Verſe, becauſe they were Confederate with Syria againſt Judah. d Becauſe the Land ſhall be deſolate, and deſtitute of Men who might diſturb them.

3 The fortreſs alſo e ſhall ceaſe from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damaſcus, and the remnant of Syria f: they ſhall be as the glory * of the children of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

e Either Samaria, their chief Fortreſs; or all their Fortreſſes or Strong Holds, the Singular Number being put for the Plural; or all their Strength and Glory; which anſwers to the Kingdom in the next Clauſe. f Or, and from (which Particle is eaſily underſtood from the former Clauſe) the remnant of Syria. So the ſenſe is, The Remainders of Damaſcus and Syria ſhall be an Headleſs Body, a People without a King. * An Ironical Speech, implying their contemptible Condition; for their Glory is ſuppoſed to be departed from them, by what he had already ſaid of them. The ſenſe is, Syria ſhall have as much Glory as Iſrael, i. e. neither of them ſhall have any at all.

4 And in that day it ſhall come to paſs, that the glory of Jacob ſhall be made thin g, and the fatneſs of his fleſh ſhall wax lean.

g Or, ſhall be emptied, as this Word is rendred, Iſa. 19. 6.

5 And it ſhall be as when the harveſt-man gathereth the corn, and reapeth the ears with his arm h; and it ſhall be as he that gathereth ears in the Valley of Rephaim i.

h Taking care, as far as may be, that all may be gathered in, and nothing left. So ſhall the whole Body of the Ten Tribes be carried away Captive, ſome few Gleanings only being left of them, as it is in the Harveſt. i A very fruitful Place near Jeruſalem, Joſ. 15. 8. & 18. 16.

6 * Yet gleaning-grapes ſhall be left in it k, as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermoſt bough, four or five in the outmoſt fruitful branches thereof, ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael. * Chap. 24. 13.

k Some few Iſraelites were left after their Captivity, who joined themſelves to the Kingdom of Judah, and were carried Captive to Babylon with them, from whence alſo they returned with them, as we find in the Hiſtory of their Return in Ezra and Nehemiah.

7 At that day ſhall a man l look to his maker m, and his eyes ſhall have reſpect to the holy One of Iſrael.

l Thoſe few Men that are left. m They ſhall ſincerely reſpect, and truſt, and worſhip (all which are underſtood by looking to) God, and God only, as the next Verſe explains it. Their Afflictions ſhall at laſt bring them to Repentance.

8 And he ſhall not look to the altars n, the work of his hands o, neither ſhall reſpect that which his fingers have made, either the groves p, or the ‖ images q.

n Not reſort or truſt to them, or to the worſhip offered to Idols upon them. o Their own Inventions; for otherwiſe the Altars made by God's Command were the Work of Mens Hands. p Which were deviſed and planted by Men, as fit Places for the Worſhip of their Gods; and therefore were forbidden, Deut. 16. 21. 1 Kings 14. 15. q Worſhipped in their Groves. The word properly ſignifies images of the Sun, either having the Form and Shape of the Sun, or at leaſt erected to his Honour and Worſhip; of which ſee Deut. 4. 19. & 17. 3. 2 Kings 23. 5. 11. Jer. 8. 2. & 7. 18. & 44. 17, 18.

r In the day of Jacob's Trouble, of which he ſpake v. 4. and continueth his Speech unto theſe Words, and afterwards. ſ Which he that pruneth the Tree neglecteth, either becauſe he eſteems it uſeleſs and inconſiderable, or becauſe he cannot reach it. t The ſenſe is, either, 1. Which they, to wit, the Enemies, left, or, which ſhall be left (the Active Verb being put Imperſonally, as it frequently is in the Hebrew Text) becauſe of or for the children of Iſrael; which God inclined their Hearts to leave or ſpare, out of his Love to his Iſrael. Thus this is mentioned as a Mercy, or Mitigation of the Calamity. But this ſeems not to agree either with the foregoing or following Words, both which manifeſtly ſpeak of the greatneſs of the Judgment. And that their ſtrong Cities were not left for them, but taken from them, ſeems evident from v. 3, 4. Or, 2. As the Cities (which Words are eaſily underſtood out of the former part of the Verſe, where they are expreſſed) which they (to wit, the Canaanites, as the Seventy Interpreters expreſs it; and it was needleſs to name them, becauſe the Hiſtory was ſo well known to them to whom the Prophet writes) left or forſook (which they did either by departing from them, or being deſtroyed out of them) becauſe of (or before, or for fear of) the children of Iſrael. And this was a very fit Example, to awaken the Iſraelites to a ſerious belief of this Threatning, becauſe God had inflicted the ſame Judgment upon the Canaanites, and that for the ſame Sins of which they were guilty.

10 Becauſe thou u haſt forgotten the God of thy ſalvation, and haſt not been mindful of the rock of thy ſtrength x: thereſore ſhalt thou plant ‖ pleaſant plants y, and ſhalt ſet it with ſtrange z ſlips:

u O Iſrael. x That God who was thy only ſure Defence. y Excellent Flowers and Fruit-trees. z Fetched from far Countries, and therefore highly eſteemed. The ſenſe is, Thou ſhalt uſe much Induſtry and Coſt, but to no purpoſe, as it follows.

11 In the day ſhalt thou make thy plant to grow, and in the morning ſhalt thou make thy ſeed to flouriſh a: but the harveſt ſhall be ‖ a heap in the day of grief, and of deſperate ſorrow b.

a Thou ſhalt from day to day, beginning early in the Morning, uſe all Care and Diligence that what thou haſt planted and ſown may thrive; and thou ſhalt ſee ſome Effect of thy Labours, and ſome hopes of Succeſs. b The ſenſe of the word thus rendred is this; But in the time of your grief, &c. or when this grievous Calamity ſhall come, all your Harveſt ſhall be but one heap, which in it ſelf is very inconſiderable, and is eaſily carried away by your Enemies. But the Place is and may be otherwiſe rendred, and that very agreeably both to the Words and Order of the Hebrew Text; But the heap (or, heaps, the Singular Number being moſt commonly put for the Plural) of the harveſt (i. e. in ſtead of thoſe Heaps of Corn which thou didſt expect, and which Men uſually reap in Harveſt) in the day or time (to wit, of the Harveſt; or, in the day of Calamity, of which I have ſpoken, v. 4, 9. or, in a day i. e. ſpeedily or ſuddenly) ſhall be (or, thou ſhalt have) grief and deſperate ſorrow. This ſhall be all thy Harveſt, and the Event of thy Labours.

12 Wo c to the ‖ multitude of many people d, which make a noiſe like the noiſe of the ſeas e; and to the ruſhing of nations, that make a ruſhing like the ruſhing of ‖ mighty waters.

c This is a new Prophecy, added for the preſent ſupport and comfort of God's People. d Combined together againſt Judah. It matters not whether you underſtand this of the Syrians and Iſraelites who were united againſt Judah, or of the Aſſyrians, whoſe Army conſiſted of vaſt numbers, and of men of ſeveral Nations. The following Words agree to either of them. e Which invade my Land and People with great force and fury, as the Sea doth, either in its own Channel, or when it enters into the Land by a Breach.

13 The nations ſhall ruſh like the ruſhing of many waters: but God ſhall rebuke them f, and they ſhall flee far off, and ſhall be chaſed as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like ‖ a rolling thing g before the whirlwind.

f Not in Words, but Deeds; ſhall diſcomfit and overthrow them. g Which is eaſily moved by every ſlight touch, and much more by a violent Wind. Or, like a wiſp, to wit, of Straw, which is ſometimes rolled together.

14 And behold at evening-tide trouble, and before the morning he is not h: this is the portion of them that ſpoil us, and the lot of them that rob us i.

h At Even there is a great Terrour and Conſternation among God's People, for fear of their Enemies; and e'er the Morning cometh, their Enemies are cut off by the Hand of God. This was literally and eminently fulfilled in the Deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army before Jeruſalem. Although the Words may be more generally underſtood of any great and ſudden Change, and unexpected Deliverance, granted to God's People, when their Enemies were ready to devour them. And this Place may be compared with that in Pſal. 30. 5.——weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning. i This is a triumphant Concluſion, uttered by the Prophet in the name of God's People.

CHAP. XVIII.

God in defence of his Church and puniſhing her Enemies, will deſtroy the Ethiopians. 1,—6. an acceſs thereby ſhall be to the Church. 7.

VVO to the land a ſhadowing with wings b, which is * beyond c the rivers d of Ethiopia e:

* Ch.20. Ezek.30. Zeph.2.1 & 3.10.

a Either, 1. of Arabia; or, 2. of Ethiopia beyond Egypt; or, 3. of Egypt, as ſome both ancient and later Interpreters judge; of whom he ſpeaks more darkly in this Chapter, and then explains himſelf more clearly in the next Chapter. But this Controverſie will be beſt determined by examining the following Deſcription. b The Title of wings is oft given, both in Scripture, and in other Authors, unto divers things which have ſome general kind of reſemblance to Wings, as to the Battlements of an Houſe or Temple, as Mat 4. 5. to the Skirts of a Garment, as Ruth 3. 9. and oft elſewhere; to an Army, as Iſa. 8. 8. Jer. 48. 40. & 49. 22. and to the Sails of a Ship, as this Word is here commonly underſtood, and as it is unqueſtionably uſed in other Authors. And ſhadowing with wings is nothing elſe but overſpread or filled with them. Which Title may be given either to Ethiopia or Egypt, in regard of the great numbers either, 1. of their Armies; or rather, 2. of their Ships or Veſſels ſailing upon the Sea or Rivers: For, 1. in theſe they exceeded moſt of thoſe Nations who had Dealings with the Jews, whereas other Nations equalled or exceeded them in numerous Armies: But they had an innumerable Company of Ships or Boats, not only becauſe of the Commodiouſneſs of the River Nilus, and its many Branches, and the Red Sea, and the Midland Sea, for Navigation; but alſo becauſe of the frequent Overflowings of the River Nilus over their Land, which made them abſolutely neceſſary. 2 This beſt ſuits with the next Verſe. 3 Thoſe ancient and venerable Interpreters, the Seventy, and the Chaldee, who beſt underſtood the Hebrew words and phraſes, expound it ſo. c Or, on this ſide, as this Particle is rendred Numb. 21. 13. and 22. 1. and in many other places. Or, as others tranſlate it, beſides, which may comprehend both ſides; and ſo the Land of which he ſpeaks is ſuppoſed to be ſcituated on both ſides of this River or Rivers; which is moſt true both of Egypt and of Ethiopia. d A late Learned Writer underſtands this of three or four Rivers of Arabia Chuſæa, whereof one flows into the Red Sea, another into the Midland Sea, and a third into a great Lake. Which being obſcure and very inconſiderable Rivers, and running in ſo diſtant Channels, it is not probable that this Land ſhould receive its Denomination from them. And therefore it ſeems more reaſonable to underſtand this of the great River Nilus, which comes from Ethiopia, and runs through the length of that Land, and through Egypt, into the Midland Sea; and which is here called rivers, in the Plural Number, as it is alſo Exod. 7. 19. Iſa. 7. 18. Ezek. 29. 3, 4. and, unqueſtionably, Nahum 3. 8. And ſo it might well be called, either for its Greatneſs, or for the many Rivulets that run into it, or for the various Streams or Channels into which it is divided; as Tigris, upon the ſame Reaſons, hath the ſame Title of Rivers aſcribed to it, Nahum 2. 6. e Heb. of Cuſh. By which he ſeems to underſtand either, 1. Arabia, which in many places of Scripture comes under that name, though not in all places, as ſome Learned Men contend. Nor doth this Place ſeem to be underſtood here, becauſe theſe Rivers were not interpoſed between Judæa, in which Iſaiah wrote this Prophecy, and Arabia; nor were the Rivers of Arabia, mentioned before, interpoſed between Judæa and Egypt or Ethiopia: and beſides, thoſe Rivers were but ſmall and inconſiderable, and therefore, as was noted before, this Land, whatſoever it is, would not have been denominated from them, eſpecially when it is not properly ſituated either beyond them, or on this ſide of them. But if this Cuſh be Arabia, peradventure it were better to underſtand the rivers, or the River, as it was explained before, of the Red Sea, beyond which indeed both Egypt and Ethiopia were, in reference to Arabia. And whereas it may be objected, That the Title of river or rivers is very improperly given to the Sea, it may be fairly anſwered, That as Rivers are ſometimes called by the name of the Sea, as Euphrates is, Iſa. 21. 1. Jer. 51. 36. ſo this very Word here rendred river, is uſed concerning the Sea in the Hebrew Text, Jonah 2. 3. rnd indeed may not unfitly be given to the Red Sea, which both for its Length and Breadth hath a maniſeſt reſemblance unto ſome large Rivers which are in the World. And ſo the Words may be very truly underſtood either of Egypt, or of Ethiopia, both which Countries in this ſenſe are beyond the rivers or river of Arabia. But this I only propoſe, and ſubmit to the Reader's Judgment. Or, 2. Ethiopia, properly ſo called: For the Cuſhites or Ethiopians are diſtinguiſhed by Herodotus, and divers other both ancient and later Writers, into the Eaſtern, which ſeem to be the Arabians, and the Weſtern, which ſeem to be the Ethiopians under Egypt. And it is probably thought, that theſe Cuſhites were firſt planted in Arabia, and, upon their increaſe, part of them paſſed over into Africa by croſſing the Red Sea, which was a very ſhort and an eaſie Paſſage, and ſetled there. And according to this Interpretation of the Word, the Deſcription of the Land given in the laſt Clauſe of this Verſe agrees either to Ethiopia, or to Egypt, as is evident from what hath been already ſaid tor the clearing of this dark and difficult Verſe.

2 That ſendeth ambaſſadours f by the ſea g, even in veſſels of bulruſhes h upon the waters †, ſaying *, Go ye ſwift Meſſengers i to a nation ‖ ſcattered k and peeled l, to a people terrible from their beginning hitherto m; ‖ † a nation meted out n and trodden down o, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled p.

f That at this time are ſending Ambaſſadours after their manner, to ſtrengthen themſelves with Leagues and Alliances, whereby they think to prevent thoſe Judgments and Calamities, which, notwithſtanding all their Endeavours, I will bring upon them. The firſt part of this Verſe ſeems to contain a further Deſcription of the People of the Land, mentioned in the foregoing Verſe. g either by the Midland Sea, or by the Red Sea, or by great Lakes which were both in and near the Land of Egypt; it being uſual among the Hebrews to give the Title of Seas to Lakes, or any great Collections of Waters, as hath been oft obſerved before. h For both the Egyptians and Ethiopians, as Diodorus Siculus, and Strabo, and Pliny relate, did commonly uſe Boats of Ruſhes or Reeds, which were more convenient for them than thoſe of Wood, becauſe they were both cheaper and ſwifter, and lighter for carriage from Place to Place; for which they had frequent occaſion in thoſe Parts: and ſafer, becauſe of the many Rocks, and Shelves, and Water-falls of Nilus. † Heb. upon the face or ſurface of the waters. Which is properly expreſſed, becauſe ſuch Veſſels being very light, did not ſink ſo deep into the Waters as thoſe of Wood do. * This Word is ſupplied here, as it is in many other Places. And the Words here following are ſuppoſed to contain the Commiſſion and Direction given by the People hitherto deſcribed, unto their Meſſengers, to go to the People deſcribed in the following Words. But this Word, ſaying, is not in the Hebrew Text, nor is it ſupplied either by the Seventy, or by the Chaldee; nor doth it ſeem neceſſary to be underſtood. And it ſeems very improbable, that the People to whom the Meſſengers were ſent, ſhould be deſcribed in ſuch general and ambiguous Terms, and in ſo large a manner, and not a Word ſaid concerning their Meſſage. And therefore, with ſubmiſſion, I humbly conceive theſe to be the Words of the Prophet, who having in God's Name pronounced a Wo againſt the Land hitherto deſcribed, here continues his Speech, and gives a Commiſſion from God to theſe meſſengers following, to go to this nation ſcattered, &c. Then he calls to all Nations to be Witneſſes of the Meſſage ſent by theſe Meſſengers, v. 3. And then the Meſſage follows in the ſucceeding Verſes. And ſo the Coherence ſeems to be clear. i O you my Angels, or Men, whom I have appointed for this Work, go ſpeedily to them, and tell them what I am about to do with them, or inflict the following Judgment upon them. k not by Baniſhment, but in their Habitations. Which agrees well to the Cuſhites or Ethiopians, both for the vaſtneſs of the Land inhabited by them, to wit, Ethiopia and Arabia, and for the manner of their Habitation, which is more ſcattered than that of other People. Or, theſe People may be called ſcattered Prophetically, not that they were ſo, but that they ſhould be ſo. Or, this Word may be rendred, as it is in the Margin, and by ſome others, out-ſpread, or drawn out at length; which exactly ſuits to Egypt, which is much more extended in length than in breadth. l Either, 1. without Hair; for ſo were the Ethiopians in a great meaſure, through the great Heat of their Country: Or, 2. having their Hair ſhaven or plucked off; for the Word doth not ſignifie a natural want of Hair, but a violent taking away of Hair, as appears from Ezra 9. 3. Nehem. 13. 25. Iſa. 50. 6. And this plucking or ſhaving of the Hair is metaphorically uſed in Scripture, to ſignifie ſome great Calamity, whereby Men are ſtripped of all their Comforts, as Iſa. 7. 20. and elſewhere. And this Title may be given to them Prophetically, to ſignifie their future and approaching Deſtruction. m Such were the Egyptians, and Ethiopians or Cuſhites, as appears both from Sacred and Profane Hiſtories. And this may be here added as an Aggravation of their impending Miſeries, that they who had been for a long time terrible to others, ſhould now become a contemptible and wretched People. n. Heb. of line line, i. e. meeted out as it were with Lines to Deſtruction; of which Phraſe and Cuſtom ſee 2 Sam. 8. 2. 2 Kings 21. 13. Pſal. 60. 6. Iſa. 34. 11. o By Divine Sentence, and to be trodden down by their Enemies. p. Which may be taken, either, 1. literally, becauſe Egypt and Ethiopia were frequently overflowed by thoſe two great Rivers Niger and Nilus; although that Overflow was rather an Advantage to the Land, by making it fruitful, than a Miſchief: Or, 2. metaphorically and prophetically, of the Aſſyrians or Babylonians breaking in upon them like a River, and deſtroying their Land and People; of which ſee more on Ezek. 30. For powerful Enemies invading a Country, are oft compared to a River, as Iſa. 8. 7, 8. & 59. 19. Jer. 46, 7, 8.

3 All ye Inhabitants of the world, and dwellers on the earth, ſee ye q when he lifteth up an enſign on the mountains, and when he bloweth a trumpet r, hear ye ſ.

q Take notice of what I ſay, and God will do. Or, Ye ſhall ſee it; you ſhall be Eye-witneſſes of this dreadful Wo or Judgment which I am bringing upon the People of whom I have ſpoken. The Prophet doth in a manner ſummon all Nations to bear witneſs of his Prophecy, and of the accompliſhment thereof. r When God ſhall gather together the Nations, as it were by the lifting up of an Enſign, or by the ſound of a Trumpet, to execute his Judgments upon this People. Heb. as when a man lifts up an enſign upon the mountains, which men can eaſily ſee; and as when a man ſounds a trumpet, they can hear: no leſs viſible and manifeſt ſhall this Judgment of God be. ſ Ye ſhall hear it, as in the other Branch.

4 For ſo the LORD ſaid unto me, I will take my reſt t, and I will ‖ conſider u in my dwelling place x, like a clear heat ‖ upon herbs, and like a cloud of dew in the heat of harveſt y.

t I will ſit ſtill, and not beſtir my ſelf, either to help this People, or to hinder their Enemies. God is ſaid in Scripture to reſt or ſit ſtill, when he doth not work on the behalf of a Perſon or People; as, on the contrary, he is ſaid to beſtir himſelf, when he acts for them. u Or, I will contemplate, or look upon them, to wit, the People of whom I am here ſpeaking. So it is only an Ellipſis of the Pronoun. Now God's looking in Scripture is variouſly uſed; ſometimes in way of Favour and Mercy, as Pſal. 25. 18. Iſa. 66. 2. &c. and ſometimes in a way of Anger and Judgment, as Exod. 14. 24. Pſal. 25. 19. and, as I humbly conceive, in this place. I know ſome Learned men render this and the next word, I will look upon my dwelling place, and interpret the Place of God's gracious Reſpect to his Church or People, to preſerve and deliver it in the midſt of all the Confuſions and Combuſtions that happen in the World. Which Interpretation ſeems altogether unſuitable to the ſcope and buſineſs of the Chapter, which in all the foregoing and following Verſes ſpeaks of another ſort of People, even of the Egyptians or Ethiopians, of whom therefore this Verſe alſo muſt be underſtood, or otherwiſe we make a breach in the Context. x In Heaven, the Place where God dwells, and where he is ſaid to hear Prayers, 1 Kings 8. 30, 32. as here to conſider Men and Things, as elſewhere he is ſaid to hear and to look from Heaven, as 2 Chron. 6. 21. Iſa. 63. 15. the Hebrew Particles beth, in, and mem, from, being put promiſcuouſly one for another, as hath been noted before. y The ſenſe is, That God would look upon them, as the Sun with clear Heat looks upon Herbs, &c. But this may be underſtood either, 1. in way of Mercy, as moſt take it: And ſo the ſenſe is, That God would look out and ſhine forth upon his Church and People, and be as comfortable and refreſhing to them, as the clear heat which ſhines upon the Herbs; or, as others render it, after the rain, or, as a cloud of dew is in the heat of harveſt: Or, 2. in way of Judgment: And ſo the ſenſe is, That God would look upon them with as uncomfortable an Influence as the Sun with a clear heat upon the Herbs, which are ſcorched and killed by it; and as a cloud of the dew, which brings Dew or Rain, in the heat of harveſt, when it is unwelcome and hurtful. And this ſenſe ſeems beſt to agree with the following Verſe, which continueth the Metaphor of an Harveſt, and manifeſtly ſpeaks not of refreſhing, but of the deſtruction of the Fruits thereof.

5 For afore the harveſt z, when the bud is perfect, and the ſowre grape is ripening in the flower, a, he b ſhall both cut off the ſprigs with pruning-hooks, and take away and cut down the branches c.

z Before they receive the end of their Hopes, and finiſh the Work which they have deſigned and begun. a When the Bud or Flower is turned into a perfect but unripe Grape, which gives hopes of a good Vintage. The Body of this People are compared to a Vine-tree. b The Lord, who is eaſily underſtood from the foregoing Verſe, and who is here repreſented under the Notion of an Husband-man or Vine-dreſſer. c In ſtead of the gathering of the Grapes, he ſhall cut down the Body and Branches of the Tree, and throw it into the Fire.

d The Sprigs and Branches being cut down and thrown upon the Ground, with the unripe Grapes upon them. e They ſhall lie upon the Earth neglected by Men, as being unripe, and unfit for their uſe, ſo that either Birds or Beaſts may ſhelter themſelves with them, or feed on them, both Summer and Winter. You are not to underſtand that the Summer is appropriated to the Fowls, and the Winter to the Beaſts; but this is only an Elegancy of the Hebrew Language, to uſe ſuch Diſtributions, of which we have many Inſtances in Prophetical Writings.

7 In that day f * ſhall there a preſent be brought unto the LORD of hoſts, of a people g ‖ ſcattered and peeled, and from a people terrible from their beginning hitherto; a nation meted out and trodden under foot, whoſe land the rivers have ſpoiled, to the place of the Name of the LORD of hoſts, the mount Zion.

f Which is to be taken largely and indefinitely, as it is frequently in the Prophets, as we have already ſeen, and ſhall more fully ſee hereafter. At or after that time, when the Judgment threatned in the foregoing Verſes ſhall be fully and compleatly executed, whereby that People will be awakened to Repentance. g The People of whom I am ſpeaking ſhall preſent and offer themſelves, and their Sacrifices, unto the True God. He ſpeaks of their Converſion to God and Chriſt, by the Preaching of the Goſpel; the Accompliſhment of which Promiſe is recorded in the Hiſtories of the Church.

CHAP. XIX.

The Confuſion of Egypt: their Inteſtine Diſſention: their Idols deceive them: Cruel Lords over them: Waters fail them: their Trade dead: their Princes and Counſellors made fooliſh: their terrour before the Lord, 1, 17. the calling of Egypt to the Church, 18, —22. the Covenant of Egypt, Aſſyria and Iſrael, 23,— 25.

* THE burden of Egypt a: Behold the LORD rideth b upon a ſwift cloud c, and ſhall come into Egypt, and the idols of Egypt ſhall be moved d at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the midſt of it e.

* Jer. 46. 13. Ezek. 29. & 30.

a Some Learned men conceive, that what was ſaid more generally and darkly in the foregoing Chapter, is here more particularly and clearly explained to be meant of Egypt; it being uſual for the Prophets to mix obſcure and plain Paſſages together, and to clear the one by the other. Others underſtand that Chapter of Ethiopia, and this of Egypt. But this Controverſie muſt be decided by an exact conſideration of all the paſſages of the former Chapter. b As a General in the Head of his Army; or, as a Judge riding the Circuit to execute Judgment. c Which Phraſe ſheweth, that the Judgment ſhall come ſpeedily, unexſpectedly, and unavoidably. And Clouds being very unuſual in Egypt, the Appearance of a Cloud was a kind of Prodigy, and a Prognoſtick of ſome grievous Calamity. d From their Seats, and from their former Reputation. Or, ſhall ſhake or tremble. So far ſhall they be from helping the Egyptians, as they expect, that they ſhall tremble for themſelves; which divers of the Egyptian Gods, being living Creatures, might properly do. e They ſhall loſe all their ancient Strength and Courage, for which they had been famous formerly.

2 And I will † ſet the Egyptians againſt the Egyptians f; and they ſhall fight every one againſt his brother, and every one againſt his neighbour; city againſt city, and kingdom againſt kingdom g.

f I will raiſe Civil Wars among them. g For although all Egypt was now one Kingdom, and under one King, yet not many years after this time it was divided into twelve ſeveral Kingdoms, between whom there were many and cruel Wars, as is related by the Hiſtorians of thoſe Times, and particularly by Herodotus and Diodorus.

3 and the ſpirit h of Egypt † ſhall fail in the midſt thereof: and I will † deſtroy the counſel thereof: and they ſhall ſeek to the idols i, and to the charmers, and to them that have familiar ſpirits, and to the wizards.

h Either, 1. their Courage: But of that he ſpake v. 1. Or, 2. their Underſtanding, as it is explained in the next Clauſe: for the Word ſpirit is oft put for the Reaſonable Soul, as Eccleſ. 3.21. & 12. 7. and for the Thoughts of the Mind, as Prov. 29. 11. Ezek. 13. 3. i As not knowing what to do, without the help of an higher Power.

4 And the Egyptians will I || give over into the hand of a cruel lord, and a fierce king k ſhall rule over them, ſaith the LORD, the LORD of hoſts.

k Either, 1. of the King of Aſſyria or Chaldæa; or, 2. of thoſe twelve petty Kings, the Singular Number being put for the Plural; or, 3. of Pſammetichus, who being at firſt one of thoſe twelve Kings, waged War with the reſt, and ſubdued them, and conquered all the Land of Egypt, and ruled it with rigour.

5 And the waters ſhall fail from the ſea l, and the river m ſhall be waſted and dried up n.

l Which may be underſtood either, 1. Metaphorically, of the taking away of their Dominion or Commerce, &c. or rather, 2. Properly, as may be gathered from the following Words and Verſes. For as the River Nilus, when it had a full Stream, and free Courſe, did pour forth a vaſt quantity of Waters by its ſeven famous Mouths into the Sea, ſo when that was dried up, which is expreſſed in the next Clauſe, thoſe Waters did truly and properly fail from the Sea. So there is no need of underſtanding by ſea either the River Nilus, or the great Lake of Mœris, which, after the manner of the Hebrews, might be ſo called. m To wit, Nilus, upon whoſe Fulneſs and Overflow both the Safety and the Wealth of the Land depended, as all Authors agree; and therefore this was a very terrible Judgment. n Not totally, but in a very great meaſure, as ſuch Phraſes are commonly uſed.

6 And they ſhall turn the rivers far away o, and the brooks of defence p ſhall be emptied and dried up: the reeds and flags q ſhall wither r.

o Which is to be taken Imperſonally, as ſuch Expreſſions are very frequently, for, the rivers (thoſe ſmall Rivolets by which the Waters of Nilus were conveyed and diſtributed into ſeveral Parts of the Land) ſhall be turned far away, as they muſt needs be, when the greater River Nilus, which fed them, was dried up. p The ſeveral Branches of the River Nilus, which were a great Defence to Egypt, as is well known. q Which were very uſeful to them for making their Boats, which were abſolutely neceſſary in that Country, and divers other things. r As they commonly do for want of Water.

7 The paper-reeds ſ by the brooks, by the mouth of the brooks, and every thing ſown by the brooks t ſhall wither, be driven away, † and be no more.

ſ Which by a Needle, or other fit Inſtrument, were divided into thin and broad Leaves, which being dried and fitted, were uſed at that time for Writing, as our Paper is; and conſequently was a very good Commodity. t And much more what was ſown in more dry and unfruitful places.

8 The fiſhers alſo ſhall mourn u, and all they that caſt angle into the brooks ſhall lament, and they that ſpread nets upon the waters ſhall languiſh.

u Becauſe they could catch few or no Fiſh, by which Trade they got their Living. Which alſo was a great Plague to the People, whoſe common Diet this was, becauſe out of Superſtitious Conceits they killed and eat but few Living Creatures, as appears both from Sacred and Profane Writers.

9 Moreover they that work in fine flax x, and they that weave || net-works ſhall be confounded.

x That make fine Linen, which was one of their beſt Commodities; of which ſee 1 Kings 10. 28. Prov. 7. 16. Ezek. 27. 7.

10 And they ſhall be broken in the † purpoſes thereof y, all that make ſluces and ponds † for fiſh.

y i. e. Of Egypt, or of the Egyptians. They ſhall loſe their Ends and Hopes; for the Fiſhes in them ſhall die for want of Water.

11 Surely the princes of Zoan z are fools, the counſel of the wiſe counſellers of Pharoah is become brutiſh a: how ſay ye unto Pharoah b, I am the ſon of the wiſe c, the ſon of ancient kings d?

z The chief City, in which the King and Court frequently reſided. See Pſal. 78. 12. a Exceeding fooliſh, and deſtructive to themſelves. b Why do you put ſuch falſe and fooliſh Words into Pharoah's Mouth? c Wiſdom is hereditary and natural to me. This vain Opinion of himſelf they cheriſhed by their Flatteries, although he undid himſelf and his People by his Folly. d He derides the Vanity of the Egyptians, who uſed to make great brags of the Antiquity of their Nation, and eſpecially of their Kings, who, as they pretended, had reigned ſucceſſively for above Ten thouſand years. Which number of years they made up by this Craft, by making thoſe Succeſſive Kings, which reigned together at the ſame time, in their ſeveral Nomi, or Provinces.

12 Where are they? where are thy wiſe men e? and let them tell thee now, and let them know what the LORD of hoſts hath purpoſed upon Egypt.

e Who pretended, that either by their deep Policy, or by their Skill in Aſtrology or Magick, they could certainly foreſee things to come.

13 The princes of Zoan are become fools, the princes of Noph f are deceived, they have alſo ſeduced Egypt, even || † they that are the ſtay g of the tribes h thereof.

f Another chief City, and one of the King's Seats, ſo called alſo Jer. 2. 16. & 44. 1. called alſo Moph in the Hebrew Text, Hoſ. 9. 6. and by other and later Authors, Memphis. g Heb. even the corner, or, the Corner-ſtone, which is the chief Support of the Building. Whereby he may deſign, either, 1. the King; or, 2. ſome eminent Stateſman of that Age, upon whoſe Counſels both King and People depended; or, 3. their chief Counſellors, the Singular Number being here put collectively, as it is in many other places. h Of the Provinces, which he calls by a Title borrowed from the Hebrews, in whoſe Language he ſpake and wrote this Prophecy.

14 The LORD hath mingled i † a perverſe ſpirit k in the midſt thereof; and they have cauſed Egypt to err in every work thereof l, as a drunken man ſtaggereth in his vomit m.

i Or, hath poured out or given them to drink, as appears from their Drunkenneſs, expreſſed in the end of the Verſe. Which alſo ſuits with the Scripture-phraſe, whereby a cup ſignifies God's Judgments, as Iſa. 51. 17, 21, 22. Jer. 25. 15. k Heb. a ſpirit of perverſities or crookedneſſes; or, as the Seventy and Chaldee render it, of errour or deluſion; a Diſpoſition of Mind very apt to miſtake, and to miſlead them into fooliſh and crooked Counſels and Courſes. Which God could eaſily effect, partly by laying occaſions of ſtumbling in their way, and partly by withdrawing or darkning that Wiſdom which he had infuſed, by which alone Men can diſcern their way. l In all their Deſigns and Undertakings. m When he is ſo exceſſively drunk, that he reels to and fro, and vomits up his Drink.

16 In that day ſhall Egypt * be like unto Women o: and it ſhall be afraid and fear, becauſe * of the ſhaking of the hand of the LORD of hoſts p, which he ſhaketh over it.

o Feeble and fearful, as it follows. p Becauſe they ſhall perceive that they do not fight with Men only, but with the Lord of Hoſts, who now lifts up his Hand againſt them, as he did againſt their Forefathers, Exod. 14. the very remembrance whereof is very terrible to them.

17 And the land of Judah ſhall be a terrour unto Egypt q, every one that maketh mention thereof ſhall be afraid in himſelf; becauſe of the counſel of the LORD of hoſts, which he hath determined r againſt it ſ.

q Either, 1. becauſe of Judah's Calamities and Deſolations: For Judah was their Bulwark againſt the Aſſyrians and Babylonians; and when this Bulwark was removed, the Egyptians, their Neighbours and Confederates, had juſt cauſe to fear: Or, 2. becauſe of their manifold both former and later Injuries againſt Judah, for which they now apprehend that God is calling them to an account. Which Interpretation ſeems to be favoured by the following Words; for their fear of mentioning Judah's Name ſeems to have proceeded partly from the ſenſe of their Guilt and Miſcarriages towards Judah, and partly from their Apprehenſion and Experience of the irreſiſtible Power and Juſtice of the God of Judah, whom they had provoked, and who was now marching to plead his own and Judahs Cauſe againſt them. Compare Jer. 23. 34, &c. r Becauſe God is now about to execute his appointed Judgments. ſ Againſt Egypt.

18 In that day t ſhall five cities u in the land of Egypt ſpeak † the language of Canaan x, and ſwear to the LORD of hoſts y; one z ſhall be called the city || of deſtruction.

and oft elſewhere. In the Times of the Goſpel, which are oft noted in the Prophets by that very Expreſſion. u A conſiderable number of their chief Cities, a certain number being put for an uncertain. x Profeſs the Jewiſh Religion, agree with them in the ſame Mind; which is fitly ſignified by ſpeaking the ſame Language, becauſe out of the abundance of the heart the mouth ſpeaketh. Thus the changing and purifying of a People's Lips, is uſed to ſignifie the change of their Hearts and Lives, Zeph. 3. 9. and praiſing God with one Mouth, to note their Unity or Conſent in the Faith, Rom. 15. 6. y It is well obſerved by ſome Learned Interpreters, that he doth not ſay ſwear by the Lord, which is the moſt common Phraſe, and which, being one eminent Part and Act of Worſhip, is put for the whole, but ſwear to the Lord; which Phraſe is alſo uſed, 2 Chron. 15. 14. Pſal. 132. 2. Iſa. 45, 23. and it implies the Dedication, or Oblation, and yielding up of a Perſon or Thing to the Lord, by a ſolemn Vow, or Covenant, or Oath, as appears by the Places now quoted. In like manner God is ſaid to ſwear to a Man, Deut. 26. 15. and one Man to another, Gen. 21. 23. when they oblige themſelves by Oath to do ſuch or ſuch a thing for them. And therefore what is called ſwearing to God, Iſa. 45. 23. is rendred or expounded bowing the knee (which ſignifies the ſubjection of a man's ſelf) to God, and confeſſing to God, Rom. 14. 11. z Not one of the five, for they are ſuppoſed to be ſaved in the foregoing Clauſe; but one City, or another City, the ſixth City. As divers Cities ſhall be converted and ſaved, ſo ſome other Cities ſhall continue in their impenitency, and be deſtroyed. Others render this Clauſe thus, One of them ſhall be called (or, ſhall be; for, to be called is oft put for to be) the city of the ſun; or, as the Græcians call it, Heliopolis; which the Egyptians called On, Gen. 41. 45. which was a very eminent City, and a chief Seat of Idolatry, being a City of Prieſts, as Strabo reports; and therefore its Converſion to the Faith was more wonderful.

19 In that day ſhall there be an altar a to the LORD in the midſt of the land of Egypt, and a pillar b at the border thereof c to the LORD.

a For God's Worſhip; not a Levitical, but a Spiritual and Evangelical Altar, as appears from hence, becauſe that was confined to one place, Deut. 12. 13, 14. The altar is put for the Worſhip of God, as it is in many places both of the Old and New Teſtament. And nothing is more common in the Prophets than to ſpeak of Goſpel-worſhip in the Phraſes of the Law. b A Monument of the True Religion. Here alſo he alludes to the ancient Cuſtom of erecting Pillars to God; of which ſee Gen. 12. 7. & 28. 18, &c. Joſ. 22. 10. & 24. 26, 27. c As before, in the midſt of it. The meaning is, There ſhall be Evidences of their Piety in all Places.

20 And * it d ſhall be for a ſign, and for a witneſs unto the LORD e of hoſts in the land of Egypt: for they ſhall cry unto the LORD becauſe of the oppreſſors f, and he ſhall ſend them a Saviour and a great one g, and he ſhall deliver them.

* Joſ. 4. 21, & 27.

d The Altar or Pillar laſt mentioned. e To teſtifie that they own the Lord for their God. f Being ſorely diſtreſſed, and finding the weakneſs of their Idols, they ſhall turn unto the True God. g A great or mighty Saviour, by a common Figure called Hendiaduo, as a cloud and ſmoke is put for a ſmoakie cloud, Iſa. 4. 5. or, a Saviour and a Prince, even Chriſt, who is ſo called Act. 5. 31. as is evident from the whole Context, which apparently ſpeaks of Goſpel-times. And the emphatical Phraſe here uſed, directed them to look for an extraordinary Saviour.

21 And the LORD ſhall be known to Egypt, and the Egyptians ſhall know the LORD h in that day, and ſhall do ſacrifice and oblation i; yea, they ſhall vow a vow unto the LORD, and perform it k.

h Shall acknowledge, and love, and ſerve them; for Words of Knowledge in Scripture commonly include Affection and Practice, as hath been often obſerved. i Shall worſhip God ſpiritually; which yet is ſignified by Typical Phraſes, as it is Mal. 1. 11. and in many other Places. k They ſhall not only profeſs and promiſe Piety, but ſhall ſeriouſly and diligently practiſe it.

22 And the LORD ſhall ſmite Egypt, he ſhall ſmite and heal it l, and they ſhall return even to the LORD, and he ſhall be intreated of them, and ſhall heal them.

l God will afflict them by Oppreſſours, v. 20. and otherwiſe; and by thoſe Afflictions he will convert and ſave them.

23 In that day * ſhall there be a high-way out of Egypt to Aſſyria, and the Aſſyrian ſhall come into Egypt, and the Egyptian into Aſſyria m, and the Egyptians ſhall ſerve n with the Aſſyrians.

m They who were implacable Enemies one to another, and both to the Church and People of God, ſhall now be reconciled and united together in the ſervice of God, and Love to his Church. n To wit, the Lord; who is eaſily underſtood from v. 21. & 25.

24 In that day ſhall Iſrael be the third o with Egypt, and with Aſſyria p, even a bleſſing q in the midſt of the land r:

o The third Party, to wit, in that ſacred League, whereby all of them oblige themſelves to God. p theſe People are named, becauſe they were the moſt obſtinate and malicious Enemies to God's Church, and therefore in a ſpecial manner accurſed by God; but they are here put Synecdochically for all the Gentiles. q This is peculiar to Iſrael, who is not only a third Party, as the others are, but is the moſt eminent and bleſſed of the three, as being the Fountain, or rather the Conduit-pipe, by which the Bleſſing is conveyed to the other two, becauſe Chriſt was to be born of them, and the Goſpel-Church and Ordinances were firſt eſtabliſhed among them, and from them derived to the Gentiles. r Or, of the earth. Which may be added, to imply, that God's Bleſſing ſhould be conveyed from and by Iſrael, not only to the Egyptians and the Aſſyrians, but to all the Nations of the Earth, in the midſt of which the Land of Iſrael might well be ſaid to lie. Or, of that Land, of which I am here ſpeaking; or, the Singular Number being put for the Plural, of thoſe Lands, Egypt and Aſſyria, between which Iſrael lay.

25 Whom the LORD of hoſts ſhall bleſs ſ, ſaying, Bleſſed be Egypt my people t, and Aſſyria the work of my hands, and Iſrael mine inheritance.

ſ Whom. i. e. which People, to wit, Iſrael, Egypt, and Aſſyria, expreſſed both in the foregoing Verſe, and in the following Clauſe of this Verſe; of whom he ſpeaks as of one People, in the Singular Number, becauſe they are all united into one Body and Church. Or, For, or Becauſe (as this Particle is taken, 1 Sam. 15. 15. and elſewhere) the Lord of hoſts ſhall bleſs him or them. So this is added as a Reaſon why he ſaid, Iſrael ſhould be a Bleſſing to them all. t This Title, and thoſe which follow, that were peculiar to the People of Iſrael, ſhall now be given to theſe and all other Nations of the World.

a A great Commander in Sennacherib's Army, 2 Kings, 18. 17. b An eminent and ſtrong City of the Philiſtins, Joſ. 13. 3. 1 Sam. 5. 1. in the utmoſt part of the Land of Canaan, towards Egypt. c What King of Aſſyria this was, is much diſputed. It is well known, and confeſſed, that one and the ſame Perſon hath frequently ſeveral Names, both in Scripture, as hath been obſerved again and again, and in other Authors. And therefore this may be either, 1. Salmaneſer, who when he took Samaria, might alſo by Tartan take this Place; or, 2. Sennacherib,, who, before he came to Jeruſalem, came up againſt and took all the fenced cities of Judah, 2 Kings 18. 13. of which Aſhdod might be reckoned one, as being in the Tribe of Judah, Joſ. 13. 3. & 15. 47. and taken by Hezekiah from the Philiſtins, as it ſeems very probable from that paſſage, 2 Kings 18. 8. He ſmote the Philiſtins even unto Gaza, and the borders thereof, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city: Or, 3. Eſarhaddon, Sennacherib's Son, who, by cutting off the firſt Letter, is called Sarchedon, Tobit 1. 21. and thence poſſibly, by abbreviation, Sargon: Who might do this thing in Hezekiah's time, ſome years after his Father's Death, and his coming to the Empire, although it be not recorded in Scripture: For no man doubts that there were many great Actions in thoſe Times, which are wholly omitted in the Sacred Writings.

2 At the ſame time ſpake the LORD † by Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz, ſaying, Go, and looſe d the ſackcloath e from off thy loins f, and put off thy ſhoe from thy foot: And he did ſo, * walking naked g and bare-foot h.

d Ungird it and put it off; the Antecedent put for the Conſequent, which is very uſual, as hath been often noted. God would ſometimes have his Prophets to add to their Word a viſible Sign, to awaken Peoples Minds to a more ſerious Conſideration of the Matters propoſed to them. e Either, 1. his courſe and hairy Garment, which the Prophets uſed to wear, 2 Kings 1. 8. Zech. 13. 4. as many underſtand it. But that is expreſſed by another Word in the places quoted, and never, to my knowledge, by this Word: Or, 2. his mournful Habit, which was commonly made of Sackloath, and which he wore in token of his hearty grief for the great Calamities which were already come upon Iſrael, and were either come or coming upon Judah. f Upon which the upper Garments were commonly girt, 1 Kings 20. 32. 2 Kings 9. 1. g Not wholly naked, which had been indecent and ſcandalous, and withal very dangerous, at leaſt to do ſo for three years, as he did, v. 3. but without his upper Garmment, as Slaves and Priſoners uſed to do, whoſe poſture he was to repreſent, v. 4. And ſo the word naked is uſed, 1 Sam. 19. 24. 2 Sam. 6. 20. John 21. 7. Thus alſo men are ſaid to be naked when they are ill cloathed, as Job 22. 6. Mat. 25. 36. 1 Cor. 4. 11. James 2. 15. h After the manner of Mourners, 2 Sam. 15. 30. and Captives, Jer. 2. 25.

3 And the LORD ſaid, Like as my ſervant Iſaiah hath walked naked and bare-foot three years i for a ſign k and wonder upon Egypt, and upon Ethiopia;

i Not conſtantly, but when he went abroad among the People, to whom this was appointed for a Sign. Some think it was only three days, a day being uſually put for a year in Prophetical Scriptures, as Numb. 14. 33, 34. Ezek. 4. 4, 5, 6. But although a day be put for a year, yet a year is never put for a day. k Either, 1. when this Judgment ſhould come; to wit, three years after this Prophecy. Or, 2. how long it ſhould continue; for three years: For ſome have obſerved that the Chaldeans ſpent ſo much time in Conquering Egypt and Ethiopia.

4 So ſhall the king of Aſſyria lead away l † the Egyptians priſoners, and the Ethiopians captives, young and old, naked and bare-foot, even with their buttocks uncovered m to the † ſhame of Egypt.

n All they that ſhall truſt to them, and glory in them, as appears from the following Words, the Pronoun they being put Indefinitely here, as it is Iſa. 2. 19. and elſewhere. But under this general expreſſion the Iſraelites not only are comprehended, but ſeem to be principally intended, becauſe to them this Prophecy was delivered, and they were eminently guilty of this Sin; of which ſee Iſa. 30. 2. & 31. 1.

6 And the inhabitants of this ‖ iſle o ſhall ſay in that day, Behold, ſuch is our expectation p whether we flee for help q, to be delivered from the King of Aſſyria: and how ſhall we eſcape r?

o Of this Land, in which the Prophet was, and to whoſe Inhabitants, theſe Words were uttered. For the Title of Iſles or Iſlands in Scripture is frequently given not only to Lands encompaſſed with the Sea, but alſo to ſuch Countries, as lay upon the Sea-Coaſts, as Pſal. 72. 10. Ezek. 26. 15, 18. as Paleſtina or Canaan did, yea to ſuch Countries as are remote or ſeparated from that place in or of which the Words are ſpoken, as Eſth. 10. 1. Iſa. 24. 15. & 42. 4, 10, &c. as Canaan was from Egypt, or at leaſt from Ethiopia. Add to this, that Canaan had ſome reſemblance with an Iſle, either becauſe it was almoſt incompaſſed with the Midland Sea on one ſide, and with the Dead Sea, and the Sea of Galilee or Tiberias and Jordan on the other ſide; or becauſe, as Iſles are ſeparated from other Lands by the Sea, ſo this Land and People were ſeparated from all the reſt of the World by God's ſpecial Providence, and Preſence, and Worſhip. p So vain is our hope placed upon ſuch a People as are unable to deliver themſelves, and much more to deliver us. q To whom we now and uſually truſt: for this was the common diſeaſe of the People of Iſrael, although Hezekiah was in a good meaſure free from it, as we read 2 Kings 18. 5. r Either by their help, who cannot defend themſelves; or, by our own ſtrength; ſeeing they who were much more potent than we are, could not eſcape.

THE burden of the deſert of the ſea a. As * whirlwinds in the ſouth b paſs through c, ſo it d cometh from the deſart e, from a terrible land f.

a Of Babylon, as is evident both from her deſtroyers, the Medians, v. 2. and eſpecially from v. 9. where ſhe is named. She ſeems to be called Deſart Prophetically, to intimate, that although ſhe was now a moſt Populous City and Kingdom, yet ſhortly ſhe ſhould be turned into a Deſolate Wilderneſs, as was threatned, chap. 13. 19, &c. But the Word here rendred Deſart ſometimes ſignifies a Plain, as a very learned Interpreter hath obſerved, and thus it moſt properly agrees to Babylon and the Land about it, which Geographers note to be a very plain Country, without any Conſiderable Mountains in it. It is called the Deſart of the Sea, becauſe it is ſcituate by the Sea, as the Iſles of the Sea, Eſt. 10. 1. are thoſe Countries which were beſide the Sea. And the Title of the Sea might well be given to the Waters of Babylon, becauſe of the great plenty and multitude of them, the great Channel of Euphrates, and the ſeveral leſſer Channels cut out, and the vaſt Lakes of Water; in which reſpects it is ſaid to ſit upon many waters, Jer. 51. 13. the Name of ſea being given by the Hebrews to every great Collection of Waters. b In thoſe Parts which lay Southward from Judea, where there were many and great Deſerts, in which the Winds have greater force. See Job 1. 19. Jer. 4. 11. c As meeting with no ſtop or oppoſition. d The Burden or Judgment. Or, he, the Median, as it is in the next Verſe. e From Media and Perſia; thus expreſſed, either becauſe thoſe Countries were full of Deſarts; or becauſe a great Deſart lay between them and Chaldæa, as Geographers and Hiſtorians report. f From the Medes, a warlike and formidable People, as appears both from Sacred and Prophane Writers.

2 A † grievous viſion g is declared unto me, the treacherous dealer dealeth treacherouſly, and the ſpoiler ſpoileth h: * Go up i, O Elam k; Beſiege l, O Media; all the ſighing thereof m have I made to ceaſe.

g A Viſion or Prophecy, containing dreadful Calamities which were to fall upon Babylon. h This is ſpoken either, 1. of the Chaldeans, as their Sin, for which God ſends the following Judgment: So the ſenſe is, The Chaldeans ſtill perſiſt in the Practice of Treachery and Rapine, to which they have been ſo long accuſtomed: Or, 2. of the Medes and Perſians, who are here noted to pay the Babylonians in their own Coin, and to uſe the ſame Treachery and Violence towards them, which they had done to others. To which purpoſe the Words are and may well be rendred otherwiſe, either thus, The treacherous dealer hath found a treacherous dealer, and the ſpoiler hath found a ſpoiler: or thus, O thou that dealeſt treacherouſly with the treacherous dealer: and that ſpoileſt the ſpoiler, go up, O Elam, &c. as it followeth. Theſe Words will be much illuſtrated by comparing them with Iſa. 33. 1. There is no doubt to be made, but the Medes and Perſians uſed Treachery as well as Force againſt Babylon: And beſides other Inſtances now unknown, we have one upon Record, of their entertaining thoſe two Traytors, Gadatas and Gobrias, and following their Counſel and Conduct in taking the City, which made them Partakers of their Treaſon. i To fight againſt her. Theſe are God's Words, either giving them Command and Commiſſion to do ſo, or rather foretelling what they would do; which is oft done in this form of Speech. k Perſia, called Elam Synecdochically, becauſe Elam was an eminent Province of Perſia, bordering upon the Medes. l To wit, Babylon, v. 9. m Either, 1. Babylons ſighing, which ſhall ceaſe, becauſe they ſhall have no time to ſigh, or lament their Miſeries, being ſuddenly ſurpriſed, and cut off in a moment, as they were. As God is ſaid to ſeek out the wickedneſs of wicked men till he find none, Pſal. 10. 15. when he utterly deſtroyeth them in or with their Sins: Or, 2. the ſighing and groanings of God's People, and other Nations under the heavy Oppreſſions of that potent and cruel Empire; the Pronoun her, or thereof, being taken here not paſſively, as commonly it is; but actively, or efficiently, as ſometimes it is, as Deut. 11. 25. your fear, i. e. the fear of you; and Job 33. 7. my terrour, i. e. the terrour or dread of me upon thee.

3 Therefore are my loins n filled with pain; pangs have taken hold upon me, as the pangs of a woman that travelleth o: I was † bowed down at the hearing of it, I was diſmayed at the ſeeing of it.

n Which he mentions with reſpect to the following Similitude of childbearing, in which the loins are ſorely pained. And this the Prophet ſpeaks, either, 1. in the Name and Perſon of the Babylonian. Or rather, 2. in his own Name; which is moſt natural, and agrees beſt with the laſt clauſe of the Verſe, which plainly ſpeaks of the torment which he had in the meer hearing of the Word, and ſeeing the Viſion, and not of that which they had in the feeling of it; although the latter is implied in the former; and the Prophet expreſſeth his horror in hearing and ſeeing, to intimate the dreadful horrour which ſhould ſeize upon them when it came upon them. o Sharp and grievous pains.

4 ‖ My heart panted, fearfulneſs afrighted me: the night of my pleaſure p hath he q † turned into fear r unto me.

p The night, in which I uſed to have a ſweet Repoſe and Sleep. He ſeems to have had this Viſion in a night. But withal this horrour of the Prophet by night was Typical, and did ſignifie that grievous horrour and deſtruction, which ſhould befal the Babylonians in a night of great Feaſting and Jollity, as it did Dan. 5. 1, 30. q God, who ſhewed him that Viſion. r Into a time and matter of fear.

5 Prepare the table ſ, watch in the watch-tower t, eat, drink: ariſe, ye Princes u, and anoint the ſhield x.

ſ Furniſh it with Meats and Drinks, as it follows. The Prophet foretells what the Babylonians would be doing when their Enemies were at their Doors, that they would give up themſelves to Feaſting and Security. t To give us notice of any approaching danger, that in the mean time we may more ſecurely indulge our ſelves in Mirth and Pleaſures. u Either, 1. ye Medes and Perſians: Whilſt your Enemies the Babylonians are feaſting ſecurely, prepare to make your Aſſault. Or, 2. ye Princes of Babylon: Ariſe from the Table and run to your Arms. Which ſudden alarm and change of their Poſture proceeded from Tidings out of the Watch-tower, as may be gathered from the former Clauſe, and is more fully expreſſed in the following Verſes. x Prepare your ſelves and your Arms for the Battle approaching. The ſhield is put for all their weapons of Offence and Defence. They uſed to Anoint their Shields with Oyl, partly to preſerve and poliſh them; and partly to make them ſlippery, that their Enemies Darts might not faſten in them, but ſlide off from them.

y I ſpeak not my own fancies, but what God hath made me to ſee and hear in a Viſion; the Particulars whereof are related in the following Verſes. z Either, 1. a Prophet; ſuch being oft ſo called, as Ezek. 3. 17. & 33. 2. Or rather, 2. a Military Watchman. For this was now done only in a Viſion, which yet did foreſignifie what ſhould be done really afterwards. a To thee in Viſion, to them Really.

b A ſhort Speech, for he told me that he ſaw. c Not for Burden, but for War, in which Chariots were then much uſed. d Attended with two Horſemen. So there were both Chariots and Troops of Horſemen. Or, with a couple of Horſes, as this Word is ſometimes uſed, as 1 Sam. 8. 11. 2 Sam. 1. 6. The Chariot was drawn with two Horſes. e Two Chariots, one drawn by Aſſes, (under which Title ſome underſtand Mules, as being engendred of Aſſes) and the other by Camels. Whereby he ſignifies the Variety and Abundance of Warlike Proviſions which the Medes and Perſians ſhould have for this Expedition, and particularly of Chariots, whereof ſome were for the Carriage of Neceſſary Things, and others for the Battle. f He carefully obſerved what he ſaw, and what he could further diſcover.

g The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred is this, The Watchman cried out, I ſee alſo a Lion, to wit, marching before the Horſemen and Chariots already mentioned: which they ſuppoſe to repreſent Cyrus or Darius marching in the Head of their Armies. Or, as it is rendred in the Margin, and by divers others, he cried as (which Particle is oft underſtood, as hath been formerly and frequently noted) a lion, with a terrible Cry, as being affrighted with the Viſion, and withal ſignifying the dreadfulneſs of that Judgment which was here repreſented as coming upon Babylon. h The Watchman ſpeaks theſe Words either to God, or to the Prophet, who by command from God had ſet him in this Place and Station; to whom therefore he gives the following Account of his Diſcharge of the Work wherewith he was intruſted. i According to thy Command I have ſtood, and do yet ſtand continually, both day and night, upon my Watch-Tower.

9 And behold k, here cometh a chariot of men l, with a couple of horſemen m: and he n anſwered and ſaid, * Babylon is fallen, is fallen: and all the * graven images of her gods o he p hath broken unto the ground.

k The ſum of what I have diſcovered is this. l Not filled with Goods, as Chariots of Burden uſe to be; but provided with Men, to fight from or with them. m Underſtand, and a chariot of aſſes, and a chariot of camels; which is eaſily underſtood from v. 7. where they are expreſſed. n The Prophet Iſaias, who ſet the Watchman; or the Lord, by whoſe Command he was ſet, v.6. who here gives an explication of the Viſion. o Which is mentioned as an Evidence that ſhe was fully conquered, becauſe otherwiſe they would not have ſuffered their Idols to have been thrown to the Ground. p God, by the Hands of Cyrus, his Inſtrument. Or, it is an indefinite Speech, he hath broken, &c. for they are broken, &c.

10 O my threſhing q, and the † corn of my floor r: that which I have heard of the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, have I declared ſ unto you t.

q Threſhing is here put for the Corn threſhed, as it is explained in the following words, the Act being frequently put for the Object, as captivity for the Captives, fear for the thing feared, &c. as hath been noted before. And the Corn threſhed is here metaphorically put for People ſorely afflicted and puniſhed, which is oft expreſſed by Threſhing, as Iſa. 25. 10. & 41. 15. Mich. 4. 13, &c. This is ſpoken either, 1. of the Jews, to whom he now turneth his Speech, whom God did grievouſly threſh and afflict by the Babylonians, and whom he here comforts with theſe Tidings, as if he had ſaid, though thou wilt be threſhed firſt, yet Babylon ſhall be threſhed laſt, and moſt dreadfully, and their Threſhing ſhall be thy Deliverance. This Interpretation is thought neceſſary, becauſe of the latter Clauſe of the Verſe, wherewith this is to be joined. Or, 2. of Babylon. O my threſhing: or, thou art my threſhing, whom I have undertaken to threſh and puniſh. And ſo this is fitly mentioned here, to aſſure them that this Prophecy of Babylon's Fall muſt neceſſarily be accompliſhed, becauſe the Almighty was engaged in the Work. And this Interpretation ſeems not to be inconſiſtent with the reſt of the Verſe, as we ſhall ſee. r The Corn which I will cauſe to be threſhed upon the Floor. Heb. the ſon of my floor. For the Title of ſon is oft given to lifeleſs things, as Arrows are called the ſons of the bow, or of the quiver, Job 5. 7. & 14. 28, &c. ſ What I have foretold is not my own Invention, but the Word of God, and therefore ſhall infallibly come to paſs. t Either, 1. unto you my People, or Hearers; for all the Prophecies, even concerning other Nations, were publiſhed to them, and for their Uſe and Comfort: Or, 2. Unto, (or, Concerning, as this Hebrew Particle is ſometimes uſed, as the Learned know) you Babylonians, to whom this was in ſome ſort declared, becauſe it was publiſhed amongſt the Jews, and by their means might eaſily come to the knowledge of other People, and conſequently of the Babylonians. Nor is it unuſual for the Prophets, in their Prophecies delivered to God's People concerning Babylon, by an Apoſtrophe to turn their Speech to the Babylonians themſelves; of which we have Inſtances, Jer. 50. 24, 31. & 51. 13, 14, 25, 26.

11 The burden of Dumah u. He x calleth to me y out of Seir z, Watchman a, what of the night b? watchman, what of the night c?

u Either, 1. of a part of Arabia, ſo called from Dumah, one of Iſmael's Race, Gen. 25. 14. 1 Chron. 1. 30. Or rather, 2. of Edom or Idumea, as ſeems moſt probable from the mention of Mount Seir, which was a part of Edom; which may here be called Dumah, either by an abbreviation, or cutting off the firſt Letter from Idumea, as Ram is put for Aram, 1 Chron. 2. 9. Job 32. 2. or rather prophetically and ſarcaſtically; for Dumah ſignifies ſilent: Whereby he intimates, That Edom, which was much given to vain boaſting and railing againſt God, and againſt his People, as we read elſewhere, ſhould be brought to ſilence and utter ruine. And ſuch new, and enigmatical, and ſignificant Names are elſewhere given by the Prophets to divers known Places, as Babylon is called Sheſhach, Jer. 25, 26. and Egypt, Mazor, Mich. 7. 12, &c. x To wit, Dumah, or the People of Dumah, of whom he ſpeaks, or one of them in the name and by the appointment of the reſt. y To the Watchman, as appears by the following Words: For the Prophet delivers his Prophecy in the form of a Dialogue between the People and the Watchman. z Out of Edom, which is frequently called Seir, as Gen. 32. 3. & 36. 8. 2 Chron. 20. 20, &c. & 25. 11. a Whereby he means either, 1. the Prophet Iſaiah, whom they call watchman, either ſeriouſly, or in ſcorn, becauſe the Prophets were ſo called by God, and by the People of the Jews: Or, 2. the Watchman of Edom, whom they had ſet as People uſe to do in times of great Danger. b The night is taken either, 1. metaphorically, for a time of Tribulation. So they ask the Prophet what he hath to ſay concerning that Night of Calamity which he had ſo long and oft threatned to them, whereof as yet they ſaw no appearance: Or, 2. properly; the night being the proper and chief time in which the Watchman's Care is moſt neceſſary, becauſe then their Enemies had opportunity to do them moſt harm. So the People are ſuppoſed to come to him very early in the Morning, to enquire what had hapned in the Night; which ſhews a State of great Perplexity and Fear: which might well be called a burden, both becauſe Fear in it ſelf is a great Torment, and becauſe this Fear was a Sign or Preſage of their approaching Miſeries. c The repetition of the ſame Words, ſhews the greatneſs of their Solicitude and Fear.

d The Night is paſt without any great miſchief to you, and the comfortable Light of the Morning is approaching, which freeth mens Minds from the Terrours of the Night; but although the Morning be coming, it will be gone, and the Night will return, and your Fears with it. The night ſeems to be here taken properly, as the morning is; yet ſo, that he alludes to the Metaphorical Signification of the Word, and intimates, that the Night of Affliction was coming upon them. e If this Watchman be the Prophet Iſaias, then the ſenſe of theſe Words is this, If you will be enquiring, enquire ſincerely and ſeriouſly of God, by me, concerning your Danger, and the way to prevent it; return unto the Lord by true Repentance, who alone can ſecure you, and come unto me for Direction. But if it be their own Watchman, which, with ſubmiſſion, I conceive moſt probable, the ſenſe is, If you will enquire, enquire: I perceive, by what I have obſerved this Night, that your Danger is not paſt, and there will be occaſion for further Enquiries from time to time; and therefore return, come, i. e. either return to them that ſent you with this Meſſage, and then come to me for further Tydings; or, come again, as return, lie down, is put for lie down again, 1 Sam. 3. 5. come to me the next Morning, as you have reaſon to do, and ſo from Morning to Morning; for I ſee every Night is likely to bring ſome evil Tidings to you.

CHAP. XXII.

The Anguiſh of Judah: the Prophet much grieved, 1.—5. by the Perſians, Medes and Aſſyrians, 6, 7. he reproveth their humane Wiſdom, 8,—11. and prophane joy, 12, 13. which God would certainly puniſh, 14. Shebnah's deprivation for his Pride, 15, 19. Eliakim put in his place: his glory, 20,—25.

THE burden of the villany of Viſion a. What aileth thee now, that thou art wholly gone up to the houſe tops b?

a Of Judah; and eſpecially of the City of Jeruſalem, as the next Verſe ſheweth. Which is called a valley, becauſe a great part of it ſtood in a Valley, and comparatively to thoſe higher Mountains wherewith it was encompaſſed; of which ſee Pſal. 121. 1. & 125. 2. Iſa. 72. 7. and the valley of viſion, becauſe of the many and clear Viſions or Revelations of God's Mind, in that Place, above all other Parts of the World. As the Prophets are called ſeers, 1 Sam. 9. 9. ſo Prophecy is frequently called viſion, as 1 Sam. 3. 1. Iſa. 1. 1. Ezek. 7. 13, 26. a As they uſed to do in times of great Confuſion and Conſternation, that they might mourn, and look, and cry to Heaven for help. Compare Iſa. 15. 3. Jer. 48. 38.

c Or, Thou who waſt full of ſtirs, or noiſes, to wit, of joyful Shouts, as the following Words limit it, and as this Word is uſed Zech. 4. 7. though elſewhere it be taken for doleful Cries. d Or, ſtreperous, full of noiſe and clamour, through Revelling and Jollity. See Prov. 20. 1. Zech. 9. 15. e But either by Famine or Peſtilence in the Siege, as many died, Jer. 14. 18. & 38. 2. or in their Flight, as others were; both which were inglorious kinds of Death.

3 All thy rulers f are fled together; they are bound † by the archers g: all that are found in thee h are bound together i, which are fled from far k.

[f] Zedekiah and his Chief Commanders, whoſe Flight he foretels. [g] Heb. from the bow, i. e. ſo as they were diſenabled from uſing the Bow: which is an uſual Hebraiſm, as from a king is put for from being a king, 1 Sam. 15. 23. and from ſeeing, Pſal. 69. 23. is rendred that they cannot ſee, Rom. 11. 10. But this Word is by ſome, and may very well be joyned to the foregoing Clauſe; for the Words in the Hebrew lie thus, All thy rulers are fled together from the bow (or, bowmen, as this Word is rendred, Iſa. 21. 17.) they are bound. Which ſeems moſt plain and unforced, and ſuits beſt with the following Words, as alſo with the Prophet's uſe of the ſame Phraſe, chap. 21. 15. they fled —— from the bent bow, &c. [h] That remaineth there with Zedekiah in the Siege; for thoſe who had fled to the Chaldeans ſaved their Lives and Liberties. [i] In Fetters, Jer. 52. 11. [k] Which fled to Jeruſalem from the remoteſt parts of the Land. —— But he rather ſpeaks of thoſe who fled from Jeruſalem, and from their Enemies, whereof ſome had fled away, but were purſued and overtaken by their Enemies, and bound, as others had been. And the Words ſeem to be well rendred, they fled far away, as this very Word is uſed, Iſa. 23. 7. which may be underſtood either of the ſame Perſons who fled, but were taken in their Flight, as was now ſaid; or of others, who fled away, when others abode there and were bound.

* Jer. 4. 19. & 9. 1.
† Heb. I will be bitter in weeping.

4 Therefore ſaid I, * Look away from me[l]; † I will weep bitterly, labour not to comfort me[m]: becauſe of the ſpoiling of the daughter of my people[n].

[l] Take off your Eyes and Thoughts from me, and leave me alone, that I may take my fill of Sorrows. [m] For all your Labour will be loſt, I neither can nor will receive any Conſolation. [n] Of that City and Nation whereof I am a Member. The Title of daughter is oft given both to Cities and Nations, as hath been noted before.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of treading down[o], and of perplexity by the Lord GOD of hoſts[p] in the valley of viſion, breaking down the walls[q], and of crying to the mountains[r].

[o] In which my People are trodden under foot by their inſolent Enemies. [p] This is added partly to ſhew, that this did not happen without God's Providence; and partly to aggravate their Calamity, becauſe not only Men, but God himſelf fought againſt them. [q] Of the ſtrong Cities of Judah; which was done by Sennacherib, 2 Kings 25. 10. [r] With ſuch loud and diſmal Outcries as ſhould reach to the neighbouring Mountains, and make them ring again therewith.

6 And Elam[ſ] bare the quiver[t] with chariots of men and horſemen[u], and Kir[x] † uncovered[y] the ſhield[z].

[ſ] The Perſians, who now, and for a long time after, were ſubject to the Aſſyrian and Chaldean Emperours, and were employ'd by them in their Wars. [t] Being expert Bowmen, as appears from Jer. 49. 35. and from Strabo's Teſtimony. [u] As ſome of them fought on foot, ſo others fought from Chariots and Horſes. [x] The Medes, ſo called by a Synecdoche from Kir, an eminent City and Region of Media, of which ſee 2 Kings 16. 9. Amos 1. 5. [y] Prepared it and themſelves for the Battel; for in times of Peace Arms were wrapt up and covered, to preſerve them clean, and fit for uſe. [z] Their defenſive and offenſive Weapons.

7 And it ſhall come to paſs, that † thy choiceſt valleys ſhall be full of chariots[a], and the horſemen ſhall ſet themſelves in aray ‖ at the gate[b].

[a] Valleys were the moſt proper Places for the uſe of Chariots: See Joſ. 17. 16. [b] To aſſiſt and defend the Footmen whilſt they made their Aſſault, and withal to prevent and take thoſe who endeavoured to eſcape.

8 And he[c] diſcovered * the covering of Judah[d], and thou didſt look in that day to the armour[e] * of the houſe of the forreſt[f].

[c] The Enemy, Sennacherib, of whoſe Invaſion he ſeems to ſpeak. [d] He took thoſe fenced Cities, which were a Covering or Safeguard both to the People of Judah, who fled to them, and to Jeruſalem, which was begirt and defended by them. [e] Thy Hope and Truſt was wholly or chiefly placed in the Arm of Fleſh. For although Hezekiah was commended for his Truſt in God, yet the Generality of the People were guilty of Diſtruſt in God, and Confidence in the Creature. [f] More fully called the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon, 1 Kings 7. 2. not becauſe it was built in Lebanon, for it was in Jeruſalem; but either becauſe it was built of the Trees of Lebanon, for which cauſe the Temple is called Lebanon, Zech. 11. 1. or for other Reaſons. See my Notes on 1 Kings 7. 2.

9 Ye have ſeen[g] alſo the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and ye gathered together the waters of the lower pool[h].

[g] i. e. Obſerved or conſidered, as this Word is uſed, Exod. 32. 9. and elſewere, in order to the Reparation of them, and to fortifie the City, as the next Words manifeſt. [h] That you might both deprive the Enemy of Water, and ſupply the City with it; of which ſee on 2 Chron. 32. 4, 5.

10 And ye have numbred the houſes of Jeruſalem[i], and the houſes[k] have ye broken down to fortifie the wall.

[i] That they might exactly know their own Strength, and the Number of their People, and ſo lay the Burdens more equally upon them, and make ſufficient Proviſions for them. [k] Which ſtood upon or without the Walls of their City, and ſo gave their Enemies any Advantage againſt them, and hindred the ſearching or fortifying the Walls and City.

11 Ye made alſo a Ditch between the two walls[l], for the water of the old pool[m]: but ye have not looked unto the maker thereof[n], neither had reſpect unto him that faſhioned it[o] long ago[p].

[l] Either thoſe 2 Kings 25. 4. or thoſe 2 Chron. 32. 5. in both which Places we read of two Walls. [m] To receive the Waters conveyed into it by Pipes from the old Pool. [n] Either, 1. of the Water; for both the Springs and the Rain which filleth the Pools are from God alone: or, 2. of Jeruſalem, expreſſed in the foregoing Verſe, and eaſily underſtood here, becauſe all theſe Works were undertaken for Jeruſalems Defence and Proviſion. And it is uſual in Scripture for the Pronoun Relative to be put by it ſelf, without any expreſs mention of the Perſon or Thing to which it belongs, which is left to the Reader to gather out of the foregoing or following Words; of which ſee the Notes on Pſal. 87. 1. Cant. 1. 1. [o] Heb. the former, or framer of it, God, who made it a City, and the Place of his ſpecial Preſence and Worſhip; which alſo he had undertaken to protect, if the People would obſerve his Commands; to whom therefore they ſhould have reſorted and truſted in this time of their diſtreſs. [p] Which Clauſe may be added to aggravate their Sin, in diſtruſting that God who had now for a long time given proof of his Care and Kindneſs in defending this City.

12 And in that day did the Lord GOD of hoſts call[q] to weeping, and to mourning; and to baldneſs[r], and to girding with ſackcloth.

[q] Invite and oblige them by the Courſe of his Providence, and require this by the Precepts requiring theſe things in ſuch Times and Conditions. [r] to make themſelves bald, by plucking or ſhaving off the Hair of their Heads, as was uſual in great Sorrows, as Ezra 9. 3. Job 1. 20. Mic. 1. 16. although it was forbidden in caſe of the Death of Relations, for a ſpecial Reaſon; of which ſee on Lev. 19. 27, 28. & 21. 5.

[ſ] Not only for Neceſſity, but to Exceſs and Luxury, as eating and drinking are taken Mat. 24. 38. [t] The Prophets tell us, that we ſhall certainly and ſuddenly be deſtroyed; it concerns us therefore to make our beſt of the preſent time, and to be merry whilſt we have the opportunity. A moſt perverſe and deſperate Concluſion, proceeding from obſtinate Profaneneſs, and Contempt of God's Judgments.

14 And it was revealed in mine ears[u] by the LORD of hoſts, ſurely this iniquity ſhall not be purged from you, till ye die[x], ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts.

[u] What I am ſaying is not my own Invention, nor uncertain Reports; but what I heard with theſe Ears of mine. The like Phraſe we have 1 Sam. 9. 15. the Lord hath told Samuel in his ear. [x] You ſhall feel the ſad Effects of this wickedneſs, and my juſt diſpleaſure for it, as long as you live. This is not ſpoken excluſively, as if it ſhould be purged after their death, which is abſurd and impious to imagine, at leaſt concerning ſuch as lived and died in this deſperate and impenitent Condition; but emphatically, to ſhew that God will have no mercy upon them in that time of Life, in which he uſeth and delighteth to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins unto Mankind.

[y] Which the Prophet might boldly do, becauſe he had the Protection not only of God, who ſent him upon this Errand, but probably of Hezekiah alſo, who at the time of this Prophecy was either King, or his Fathers Viceroy, or at leaſt Heir-apparent to the Crown. [z] Who ſeems to have been advanced by wicked Ahaz, and to have been a great Patron of Impiety and Injuſtice in his Reign, and by politick Compliance with Hezekiah, thought to gain his Favour, and ſo to keep his Place and Power at Court. [a] Over the Houſe of David, as is more fully expreſſed below, v. 22. Poſſibly he was not only the Lord Treaſurer, but alſo the King's Prime Miniſter of State.

16 What haſt thou here[b]? and whom[c] haſt thou here, that thou haſt hewed thee out a ſepulchre[d] here[e] ‖ as he that heweth him out a ſepulchre on high[f], and graveth an habitation[g] for himſelf in a rock[h].

[b] Or, What doſt thou here? what right haſt thou to this Place and Office? [c] Either, 1. What Friends, in whom thou canſt confide? Thou haſt ſo ill managed thy ſelf and thy Affairs, that thou art univerſally hated. Or, 2. What Kindred or Relations? For the Jews ſay, he was a Stranger by Birth; which is the more probable, becauſe his Pedegree is not mentioned in any of thoſe Places of Scripture where he is named. [d] As great and ambitious men uſed to do. [e] Not in thine own Country, the proper Place for ſuch a Monument; but in Jeruſalem, which ſhould not be defiled nor diſparaged with it. [f] In an high and eminent Place, as Iſa. 57. 7. [g] Either, 1. a Sepulchre, which is called a mans houſe, Job 30. 23. or, 2. a Dwelling-Houſe. He erected, or is compared to one that doth erect, a ſtately Houſe to live in, and a ſtately Sepulchre to receive him when he dies. And theſe two are fitly joined together, becauſe their Sepulchres were commonly built in or near their Houſes. See Iſa. 14. 18. Joh. 19. 41. [h] A fit Place both for Strength and State. Thus we read of a ſepulchre hewed out of a rock, Mat. 27. 60.

[i] Will cauſe thee to be carried into Captivity by a ſtrong Hand, or by the Hand of a mighty man, from which therefore thou ſhalt not be able to eſcape. Or, will caſt thee away with the

caſting of a mighty man, i. e. with great force: or, in caſting will caſt thee away, O thou mighty man. k To wit, with confuſion, as is here implied, and as this Phraſe is more fully expreſſed, Pſal. 89. 40. & 109. 29. Or, covering may be put for obſcuring his Glory, which he deſigned to publiſh, and to that end erected ſtately Monuments, &c. Or, this may be an Alluſion to the ancient Cuſtom of covering the Faces of Condemned Perſons; of which ſee Eſth. 7. 8. Compare Job 9. 24. Ezek. 12. 6, 12.

18 He will ſurely violently turn and toſs thee like a ball l into a † large country m: there ſhalt thou die, and there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be the ſhame of thy lords houſe n. † Heb. large ſpaces.

l Heb. Wrapping he will wrap thee up like a Ball, which conſiſts of Materials wrapped and bound together, that it may be toſſed far away. Or, Rolling he will roll thee with the rolling of a Ball. m Like a Ball which is caſt into a large and plain ſpot of Ground, where being thrown by a ſtrong man it runs far and wide. Or, to a far Countrey, which ſeems to be here called large of ſpaces, not ſo much in it ſelf, for that was inconſiderable to him, whether the Land of his Captivity was large or little, as in reſpect of its diſtance from the Place of his Birth and Abode. n The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred, ſeems to be this, Thy glorious Chariots wherein thou didſt ride in great State at Jeruſalem, ſhall then and there be turned into ſhame to thy ſelf, and to thy Maſter, to whom it is juſt matter of reproach, that he was ſo fooliſh as to advance and truſt ſuch a faithleſs and unworthy Perſon. But the Words are by divers others fitly rendred, there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be, (or, ſhall die or vaniſh, i. e. That ſhall be the end of all thy pompous Chariots, and other Monuments of thy Pride) O thou who art the ſhame of thy Lord's houſe, who by thy unjuſt and wicked Practices haſt expoſed thy King and Maſter, and the Royal Family, to Reproach and Contempt.

19 And I o will drive thee from thy ſtation, and from thy ſtate ſhall he p pull thee down.

o The Lord, whoſe Words theſe are, v. 15. as is manifeſt from the following Verſes. p The Lord; ſuch ſudden changes of Perſons being very uſual in theſe Writings.

20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will call q my ſervant * Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah: Kings 18.

q By my Spirit fitting him, and by my powerful Providence moving Hezekiah's heart to call him.

21 And I will cloath him with thy robe, and ſtrengthen him with thy girdle r, and I will commit thy government into his hand, and he ſhall be a father ſ to the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah.

r There was a peculiar ſort of Robe and Girdle which was the Badge of his Office, which ſhould be taken from him, and given to Eliakim. ſ He ſhall not only have the Authority of a Father, which thou now haſt, in which reſpect all Rulers are called fathers, as Exod, 20. 12. Numb. 36. 1. but ſhall alſo govern them with Fatherly Care and Affection, and not with Rigour and Cruelty, as thou doſt.

22 And the key t of the houſe of David will I lay upon his ſhoulder u: ſo he ſhall * open and none ſhall ſhut x, and he ſhall ſhut and none ſhall open. 12.

t The Government, the Power of opening and ſhutting, of letting men into it, or putting them out of it, whereof a key is a fit Emblem; whence the delivering of the Keys of an Houſe or City into the Hands of another, is a Sign to ſignifie and confirm the giving him the Power and Poſſeſſion of it. u He mentions the ſhoulder rather than the Hand, in which Keys are commonly carried, either from ſome Ceremony then in uſe, of carrying a Key upon the Shoulder, either of the Officer of State himſelf, or of another in his name and ſtead; or to ſignifie that this was a Key of greater weight than ordinay, and that Government, which is deſigned by this Key, is an heavy Burden, and therefore in Scripture-phraſe ſaid to be upon the ſhoulder, as Iſa. 9. 6. x Againſt his Will, or without his Commiſſion or Conſent.

9. 8. 23 And I will faſten him y as * a nail in a ſure place z: and he ſhall be for a glorious throne to his fathers houſe a.

y I will eſtabliſh the Power in his Hands. z In the ſtrong walls, or ſolid Timber, in the Houſe: Which is oppoſed to Shebna's inſtability, ſignified by a Ball, v. 18. a By his prudent and righteous Government he ſhall procure great Glory, not only to himſelf, but to all that have any relation to him. This alſo is oppoſed to what is ſaid of Shebna in the end of v. 18.

b Of his own Kindred and Family, who ſhall all depend upon him, and receive Glory from him: of the Houſe of David, which is called his fathers houſe, either becauſe Kings are called the fathers of all their Subjects, both in Scripture, as 1 Sam. 24. 12. 2 Kings 5. 13. & 16. 7. and in other Authors; or, as Calvin ingeniouſly conjectures, becauſe he was of the Blood Royal. Otherwiſe this had been no great Commendation to him, that he ſtudied ſo much the Advancement of his own private Family. And this ſeems more probable, becauſe this Character is oppoſed to that of Shebna, who was the ſhame of his Lords, to wit, the King's houſe or Family, v. 18. c Great and ſmall, the Children and Grandchildren of his Fathers houſe. d The meaneſt of them ſhall receive a Luſtre and Advantage from their Relation to him. e All ſorts of Veſſels, great or ſmall, mean or precious, may be hanged upon him, without any fear of falling; whereas ordinary Nails or Pins, if they be oppreſſed with too great weight, are eaſily broken down, and the Veſſels fall with them.

25 In that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, ſhall the nail that is faſtned in the ſure place f, be removed, and be cut down, and fall: and the burden that was upon it g ſhall be cut off: for the LORD hath ſpoken it.

f Shebna, who ſeemed to be ſo, both in his own Eyes, and in the Eyes of others. g All thoſe wicked Officers that were advanced and ſupported by his Power.

CHAP. XXIII.

The Deſtruction of Tyre: from God: for their Pride. 1,—14. the time of her riſing again, 15,—17. and Converſion to God, 18.

*THE burden of Tyre a. Howl ye ſhips b of Tarſhiſh c, for it is laid waſte d, ſo that there is no houſes, no entring in e: from the land of Chittim it is revealed to them f. * Jer. 25. 22. & 47. 4. Ezek. 26. & 27. & 28. Amos 1. 9. Zech. 9. 2, 4.

a The Prophecy of the heavy Calamity and Deſtruction of Tyre; which now ſtood in its Strength and Glory, being ſeated in an Iſland, upon a Rock, abounding in Riches, mighty in Naval Power, having lately conquered that Navy which the Aſſyrians brought againſt them. Yet this City was, according to this Prophecy, deſtroyed; and that twice, firſt by Nebuchadnezzar, and long afterward by Alexander the Great. And although this Prophecy ſeem directly and properly to reſpect the former Deſtruction, yet it ſeems to have ſome reference to the latter alſo; only it is intimated, That after ſeventy years Tyrus ſhould recover her former Power and Glory, before her ſecond and final Deſtruction. b Either, 1. properly; to which Howling and Lamenting is aſcribed by a known Figure called Proſopopœia: or, 2. Metonymically, the Merchants and Owners of Ships, who had much Commerce with this illuſtrious Mart. c Either, 1. of Tarſus, a great Port of Cilicia, which anciently had the Dominion of that part of the Sea: or, 2. of the Ocean, which is ſo called, 1 King. 10. 22. Pſal. 48. 8. Iſa. 2. 16. d It ſhall ſhortly be laid waſte; Which was fulfilled not by Shalmanezer, as ſome would have it; for though he ſtraitned it for ſome time, yet he never took it; but by Nebuchadnezzar. e So effectually waſted, that there is not an Houſe left in it, nor any Merchants or others that go into it, either to Trade in it, or to repair it. f The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred may be this, It, i. e. this Burden or Deſtruction of Tyre, is, i. e. ſhall be, revealed, declared or made known, unto them; either, 1. to the Tyrians, to whom this Notice ſhould be ſent concerning the Preparations of their Enemies againſt them: or, 2. to the Ships, by which he means their Owners or Merchants, from the land of Chittim: which may be here mentioned either becauſe they firſt had and gave them notice of it, as was now ſaid; or becauſe their laſt and soreſt deſtruction was brought upon them by Alexander, who was of the land of Chittim, as is affirmed by that very ancient and venerable, though Apocryphal Writer, 1 Maccab. 1. 1. & 8. 5. But this Place is otherwiſe rendred, both by ancient and later Interpreters, which ſeems to be more natural and eaſie, and no leſs agreeable to the Hebrew Text; either thus, that ſhe is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, nor entring or coming in (to wit, for Traffick) from the land of Chittim, is made known to them, to wit, to the ſhips or Merchants that uſed to reſort thither for Traffick: or rather thus, for it is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, (not any Houſes left for the Citizens to dwell in) nor entring or coming in (to wit, of Merchants) from the land of Chittim; ſhe (to wit, her People) is removed or gone into captivity, as this Word properly ſignifies, and is rendred, Iſa. 38. 12. And for the laſt Hebrew Word, lamo, which is rendred to them (which is the only Objection againſt this Interpretation) it is only added as an Elegancy of the Hebrew Language, and hath no farther ſignification, as it is alſo, Pſ. 58. 7: and as the Particle lo, which ſignifies the ſame thing, and ſuch other Pronouns, are frequently redundant and inſignificant in the Hebrew Text, as hath been oft obſerved by Grammarians and Interpreters. He mentions the land of Chittim, becauſe this was an eminent Place for Shipping and Trading, as is manifeſt from Numb. 24. 24. Ezek. 27. 6. Dan. 11. 30. and therefore doubtleſs had great Dealings and Commerce with Tyre, and may here be put Synecdochically for all other Countries which Traded with her. It is not neceſſary, for the underſtanding of this Text, to determine what Chittim is, whether it was Italy, or Greece, or the Iſlands in thoſe Parts; it is ſufficient to know, that it was a Seafaring Place in the Midland Sea, and ſo much ſtartled and concerned in the Deſtruction of Tyre.

2 Be † ſtill g ye inhabitants of the iſle h, thou whom the merchants of Zidon i, that paſs over the ſea k, have repleniſhed l. † Heb. ſilent.

g Heb. Be ſilent, as one confounded, and not knowing what to ſay, or as Mourners uſe to be, Job 2. 8, 13. Iſa. 47. 5. boaſt no more of thy Wealth and Power, as thou uſedſt to do. h Heb. of Tyrus, which now was an Iſland, Ezek. 27. 3. & 28. 2. till Alexander joined it to the Continent, as Pliny reports. Although the Title of Iſlands is oft given by the Hebrews to Places bordering upon the Sea. i An eminent City of Paleſtina, nigh unto Tyre, much concerned with her and for her. k That are a Seafaring People. l With Mariners, Ezek. 27. 8. and Commodities.

m By the Sea, which is very fitly called the great waters, Pſal. 107. 23. underſtand, cometh, or is brought to her. n The Corn of Egypt, wherewith Egypt abounded, and furniſhed divers other Parts of the World, whence it was called the Granary of the Roman Empire; which alſo was eaſily conveyed by Sea from Egypt to Tyre, and thence to divers other Countries. This is called ſeed here, as alſo Hag. 2. 10. and elſewhere, by an uſual Metonymy, and the ſeed of Sihor, becauſe it grew up the more abundantly becauſe of the Overflow of the River, as all ſorts of Authors have f Zedekiah and his Chief Commanders, whoſe Flight he foretels. g Heb. from the bow, i. e. ſo as they were diſenabled from uſing the Bow: which is an uſual Hebraiſm, as from a king is put for from being a king, 1 Sam. 15. 23. and from ſeeing, Pſal. 69. 23. is rendred that they cannot ſee, Rom. 11. 10. But this Word is by ſome, and may very well be joyned to the foregoing Clauſe; for the Words in the Hebrew lie thus, All thy rulers are fled together from the bow (or, bowmen, as this Word is rendred, Iſa. 21. 17.) they are bound. Which ſeems moſt plain and unforced, and ſuits beſt with the following Words, as alſo with the Prophet's uſe of the ſame Phraſe, chap. 21. 15. they fled —— from the bent bow, &c. h That remaineth there with Zedekiah in the Siege; for thoſe who had fled to the Chaldeans ſaved their Lives and Liberties. i In Fetters, Jer. 52. 11. k Which fled to Jeruſalem from the remoteſt parts of the Land. —— But he rather ſpeaks of thoſe who fled from Jeruſalem, and from their Enemies, whereof ſome had fled away, but were purſued and overtaken by their Enemies, and bound, as others had been. And the Words ſeem to be well rendred, they fled far away, as this very Word is uſed, Iſa. 23. 7. which may be underſtood either of the ſame Perſons who fled, but were taken in their Flight, as was now ſaid; or of others, who fled away, when others abode there and were bound.

And it is uſual in Scripture for the Pronoun Relative to be put by it ſelf, without any expreſs mention of the Perſon or Thing to which it belongs, which is left to the Reader to gather out of the foregoing or following Words; of which ſee the Notes on Pſal. 87. 1. Cant. 1. 1. o Heb. the former, or framer of it, God, who made it a City, and the Place of his ſpecial Preſence and Worſhip; which alſo he had undertaken to protect, if the People would obſerve his Commands; to whom therefore they ſhould have reſorted and truſted in this time of their diſtreſs. p Which Clauſe may be added to aggravate their Sin, in diſtruſting that God who had now for a long time given proof of his Care and Kindneſs in defending this City.

12 And in that day did the Lord GOD of hoſts call q to weeping, and to mourning; and to baldneſs r, and to girding with ſackcloth.

ſ Not only for Neceſſity, but to Exceſs and Luxury, as eating and drinking are taken Mat. 24. 38. t The Prophets tell us, that we ſhall certainly and ſuddenly be deſtroyed; it concerns us therefore to make our beſt of the preſent time, and to be merry whilſt we have the opportunity. A moſt perverſe and deſperate Concluſion, proceeding from obſtinate Profaneneſs, and Contempt of God's Judgments.

14 And it was revealed in mine ears u by the LORD of hoſts, ſurely this iniquity ſhall not be purged from you, till ye die x, ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts.

u What I am ſaying is not my own Invention, nor uncertain Reports; but what I heard with theſe Ears of mine. The like Phraſe we have 1 Sam. 9. 15. the Lord hath told Samuel in his ear. x You ſhall feel the ſad Effects of this wickedneſs, and my juſt diſpleaſure for it, as long as you live. This is not ſpoken excluſively, as if it ſhould be purged after their death, which is abſurd and impious to imagine, at leaſt concerning ſuch as lived and died in this deſperate and impenitent Condition; but emphatically, to ſhew that God will have no mercy upon them in that time of Life, in which he uſeth and delighteth to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins unto Mankind.

y Which the Prophet might boldly do, becauſe he had the Protection not only of God, who ſent him upon this Errand, but probably of Hezekiah alſo, who at the time of this Prophecy was either King, or his Fathers Viceroy, or at leaſt Heir-apparent to the Crown. z Who ſeems to have been advanced by wicked Ahaz, and to have been a great Patron of Impiety and Injuſtice in his Reign, and by politick Compliance with Hezekiah, thought to gain his Favour, and ſo to keep his Place and Power at Court. a Over the Houſe of David, as is more fully expreſſed below, v. 22. Poſſibly he was not only the Lord Treaſurer, but alſo the King's Prime Miniſter of State.

16 What haſt thou here b? and whom c haſt thou here, that thou haſt hewed thee out a ſepulchre d here e ‖ as he that heweth him out a ſepulchre on high f, and graveth an habitation g for himſelf in a rock h.

b Or, What doſt thou here? what right haſt thou to this Place and Office? c Either, 1. What Friends, in whom thou canſt confide? Thou haſt ſo ill managed thy ſelf and thy Affairs, that thou art univerſally hated. Or, 2. What Kindred or Relations? For the Jews ſay, he was a Stranger by Birth; which is the more probable, becauſe his Pedegree is not mentioned in any of thoſe Places of Scripture where he is named. d As great and ambitious men uſed to do. e Not in thine own Country, the proper Place for ſuch a Monument; but in Jeruſalem, which ſhould not be defiled nor diſparaged with it. f In an high and eminent Place, as Iſa. 57. 7. g Either, 1. a Sepulchre, which is called a mans houſe, Job 30. 23. or, 2. a Dwelling-Houſe. He erected, or is compared to one that doth erect, a ſtately Houſe to live in, and a ſtately Sepulchre to receive him when he dies. And theſe two are fitly joined together, becauſe their Sepulchres were commonly built in or near their Houſes. See Iſa. 14. 18. Job. 19. 41. h A fit Place both for Strength and State. Thus we read of a ſepulchre hewed out of a rock, Mat. 27. 60.

i Will cauſe thee to be carried into Captivity by a ſtrong Hand, or by the Hand of a mighty man, from which therefore thou ſhalt not be able to eſcape. Or, will caſt thee away with the caſting of a mighty man, i. e. with great force: or, in caſting will caſt thee away, O thou mighty man. [k] To wit, with confuſion, as is here implied, and as this Phraſe is more fully expreſſed, Pſal. 89. 40. & 109. 29. Or, covering may be put for obſcuring his Glory, which he deſigned to publiſh, and to that end erected ſtately Monuments, &c. Or, this may be an Alluſion to the ancient Cuſtom of covering the Faces of Condemned Perſons; of which ſee Eſth. 7. 8. Compare Job 9. 24. Ezek. 12. 6, 12.

18 He will ſurely violently turn and toſs thee like a ball [l] into a † large country [m]: there ſhalt thou die, and there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be the ſhame of thy lords houſe [n].

[l] Heb. Wrapping he will wrap thee up like a Ball, which conſiſts of Materials wrapped and bound together, that it may be toſſed far away. Or, Rolling he will roll thee with the rolling of a Ball. [m] Like a Ball which is caſt into a large and plain ſpot of Ground, where being thrown by a ſtrong man it runs far and wide. Or, to a far Countrey, which ſeems to be here called large of ſpaces, not ſo much in it ſelf, for that was inconſiderable to him, whether the Land of his Captivity was large or little, as in reſpect of its diſtance from the Place of his Birth and Abode. [n] The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred, ſeems to be this, Thy glorious Chariots wherein thou didſt ride in great State at Jeruſalem, ſhall then and there be turned into ſhame to thy ſelf, and to thy Maſter, to whom it is juſt matter of reproach, that he was ſo fooliſh as to advance and truſt ſuch a faithleſs and unworthy Perſon. But the Words are by divers others fitly rendred, there the chariots of thy glory ſhall be, (or, ſhall die or vaniſh, i. e. That ſhall be the end of all thy pompous Chariots, and other Monuments of thy Pride) O thou who art the ſhame of thy Lord's houſe, who by thy unjuſt and wicked Practices haſt expoſed thy King and Maſter, and the Royal Family, to Reproach and Contempt.

19 And I [o] will drive thee from thy ſtation, and from thy ſtate ſhall he [p] pull thee down.

[o] The Lord, whoſe Words theſe are, v. 15. as is manifeſt from the following Verſes. [p] The Lord; ſuch ſudden changes of Perſons being very uſual in theſe Writings.

20 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will call [q] my ſervant * Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah:

Kings 18. 18.

21 And I will cloath him with thy robe, and ſtrengthen him with thy girdle [r], and I will commit thy government into his hand, and he ſhall be a father [ſ] to the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and to the houſe of Judah.

[r] There was a peculiar ſort of Robe and Girdle which was the Badge of his Office, which ſhould be taken from him, and given to Eliakim. [ſ] He ſhall not only have the Authority of a Father, which thou now haſt, in which reſpect all Rulers are called fathers, as Exod, 20. 12. Numb. 36. 1. but ſhall alſo govern them with Fatherly Care and Affection, and not with Rigour and Cruelty, as thou doſt.

22 And the key [t] of the houſe of David will I lay upon his ſhoulder [u]: ſo he ſhall * open and none ſhall ſhut [x], and he ſhall ſhut and none ſhall open.

ob 12. … 3. 7.

[t] The Government, the Power of opening and ſhutting, of letting men into it, or putting them out of it, whereof a key is a fit Emblem; whence the delivering of the Keys of an Houſe or City into the Hands of another, is a Sign to ſignifie and confirm the giving him the Power and Poſſeſſion of it. [u] He mentions the ſhoulder rather than the Hand, in which Keys are commonly carried, either from ſome Ceremony then in uſe, of carrying a Key upon the Shoulder, either of the Officer of State himſelf, or of another in his name and ſtead; or to ſignifie that this was a Key of greater weight than ordinay, and that Government, which is deſigned by this Key, is an heavy Burden, and therefore in Scripture-phraſe ſaid to be upon the ſhoulder, as Iſa. 9. 6. [x] Againſt his Will, or without his Commiſſion or Conſent.

23 And I will faſten him [y] as * a nail in a ſure place [z]: and he ſhall be for a glorious throne to his fathers houſe [a].

[y] I will eſtabliſh the Power in his Hands. [z] In the ſtrong walls, or ſolid Timber, in the Houſe: Which is oppoſed to Shebna's inſtability, ſignified by a Ball, v. 18. [a] By his prudent and righteous Government he ſhall procure great Glory, not only to himſelf, but to all that have any relation to him. This alſo is oppoſed to what is ſaid of Shebna in the end of v. 18.

24 And they ſhall hang upon him all the glory of his fathers houſe [b], the off-ſpring and the iſſue [c], all veſſels of ſmall quantity [d]; from the veſſels of cups, even to all the || veſſels of flagons [e].

[b] Of his own Kindred and Family, who ſhall all depend upon him, and receive Glory from him: of the Houſe of David, which is called his fathers houſe, either becauſe Kings are called the fathers of all their Subjects, both in Scripture, as 1 Sam. 24. 12. 2 Kings 5. 13. & 16. 7. and in other Authors; or, as Calvin ingeniouſly conjectures, becauſe he was of the Blood Royal. Otherwiſe this had been no great Commendation to him, that he ſtudied ſo much the Advancement of his own private Family. And this ſeems more probable, becauſe this Character is oppoſed to that of Shebna, who was the ſhame of his Lords, to wit, the King's houſe or Family, v. 18. [c] Great and ſmall, the Children and Grandchildren of his Fathers houſe. [d] The meaneſt of them ſhall receive a Luſtre and Advantage from their Relation to him. [e] All ſorts of Veſſels, great or ſmall, mean or precious, may be hanged upon him, without any fear of falling; whereas ordinary Nails or Pins, if they be oppreſſed with too great weight, are eaſily broken down, and the Veſſels fall with them.

25 In that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, ſhall the nail that is faſtned in the ſure place [f], be removed, and be cut down, and fall: and the burden that was upon it [g] ſhall be cut off: for the LORD hath ſpoken it.

[f] Shebna, who ſeemed to be ſo, both in his own Eyes, and in the Eyes of others. [g] All thoſe wicked Officers that were advanced and ſupported by his Power.

CHAP. XXIII.

The Deſtruction of Tyre: from God: for their Pride. 1,—14. the time of her riſing again, 15,—17. and Converſion to God, 18.

*THe burden of Tyre [a]. Howl ye ſhips [b] of Tarſhiſh [c], for it is laid waſte [d], ſo that there is no houſes, no entring in [e]: from the land of Chittim it is revealed to them [f].

* Jer. 2… 22. & 47. 4. Ezek. 26. & 27. & 28. Amos 1. 9. Zech. 9. 2, 4.

[a] The Prophecy of the heavy Calamity and Deſtruction of Tyre; which now ſtood in its Strength and Glory, being ſeated in an Iſland, upon a Rock, abounding in Riches, mighty in Naval Power, having lately conquered that Navy which the Aſſyrians brought againſt them. Yet this City was, according to this Prophecy, deſtroyed; and that twice, firſt by Nebuchadnezzar, and long afterward by Alexander the Great. And although this Prophecy ſeem directly and properly to reſpect the former Deſtruction, yet it ſeems to have ſome reference to the latter alſo; only it is intimated, That after ſeventy years Tyrus ſhould recover her former Power and Glory, before her ſecond and final Deſtruction. [b] Either, 1. properly; to which Howling and Lamenting is aſcribed by a known Figure called Proſopopœia: or, 2. Metonymically, the Merchants and Owners of Ships, who had much Commerce with this illuſtrious Mart. [c] Either, 1. of Tarſus, a great Port of Cilicia, which anciently had the Dominion of that part of the Sea: or, 2. of the Ocean, which is ſo called, 1 King. 10. 22. Pſal. 48. 8. Iſa. 2. 16. [d] It ſhall ſhortly be laid waſte; Which was fulfilled not by Shalmanezer, as ſome would have it; for though he ſtraitned it for ſome time, yet he never took it; but by Nebuchadnezzar. [e] So effectually waſted, that there is not an Houſe left in it, nor any Merchants or others that go into it, either to Trade in it, or to repair it. [f] The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred may be this, It, i. e. this Burden or Deſtruction of Tyre, is, i. e. ſhall be, revealed, declared or made known, unto them; either, 1. to the Tyrians, to whom this Notice ſhould be ſent concerning the Preparations of their Enemies againſt them: or, 2. to the Ships, by which he means their Owners or Merchants, from the land of Chittim: which may be here mentioned either becauſe they firſt had and gave them notice of it, as was now ſaid; or becauſe their laſt and foreſt deſtruction was brought upon them by Alexander, who was of the land of Chittim, as is affirmed by that very ancient and venerable, though Apocryphal Writer, 1 Maccab. 1. 1. & 8. 5. But this Place is otherwiſe rendred, both by ancient and later Interpreters, which ſeems to be more natural and eaſie, and no leſs agreeable to the Hebrew Text; either thus, that ſhe is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, nor entring or coming in (to wit, for Traffick) from the land of Chittim, is made known to them, to wit, to the ſhips or Merchants that uſed to reſort thither for Traffick: or rather thus, for it is laid waſte, ſo that there is no houſe, (not any Houſes left for the Citizens to dwell in) nor entring or coming in (to wit, of Merchants) from the land of Chittim; ſhe (to wit, her People) is removed or gone into captivity, as this Word properly ſignifies, and is rendred, Iſa. 38. 12. And for the laſt Hebrew Word, lamo, which is rendred to them (which is the only Objection againſt this Interpretation) it is only added as an Elegancy of the Hebrew Language, and hath no farther ſignification, as it is alſo, Pſ. 58. 7. and as the Particle lo, which ſignifies the ſame thing, and ſuch other Pronouns, are frequently redundant and inſignificant in the Hebrew Text, as hath been oft obſerved by Grammarians and Interpreters. He mentions the land of Chittim, becauſe this was an eminent Place for Shipping and Trading, as is manifeſt from Numb. 24. 24. Ezek. 27. 6. Dan. 11. 30. and therefore doubtleſs had great Dealings and Commerce with Tyre, and may here be put Synecdochically for all other Countries which Traded with her. It is not neceſſary, for the underſtanding of this Text, to determine what Chittim is, whether it was Italy, or Greece, or the Iſlands in thoſe Parts; it is ſufficient to know, that it was a Seafaring Place in the Midland Sea, and ſo much ſtartled and concerned in the Deſtruction of Tyre.

[g] Heb. Be ſilent, as one confounded, and not knowing what to ſay, or as Mourners uſe to be, Job 2. 8, 13. Iſa. 47. 5. boaſt no more of thy Wealth and Power, as thou uſedſt to do. [h] Heb. of Tyrus, which now was an Iſland, Ezek. 27. 3. & 28. 2. till Alexander joined it to the Continent, as Pliny reports. Although the Title of Iſlands is oft given by the Hebrews to Places bordering upon the Sea. [i] An eminent City of Paleſtina, nigh unto Tyre, much concerned with her and for her. [k] That are a Seafaring People. [l] With Mariners, Ezek. 27. 8. and Commodities.

[m] By the Sea, which is very fitly called the great waters, Pſal. 107. 23. underſtand, cometh, or is brought to her. [n] The Corn of Egypt, wherewith Egypt abounded, and furniſhed divers other Parts of the World, whence it was called the Granary of the Roman Empire; which alſo was eaſily conveyed by Sea from Egypt to Tyre, and thence to divers other Countries. This is called ſeed here, as alſo Hag. 2. 10. and elſewhere, by an uſual Metonymy, and the ſeed of Sihor, becauſe it grew up the more abundantly becauſe of the Overflow of the River, as all ſorts of Authors have noted. For Sihor is nothing elſe but Nilus, as appears from Jer. 2. 18. which is called Sihor, as by the Greeks it was called Melas, from its black Colour. And this and no other River ſeems to be that Sihor, which is ſo oft mentioned as one of the bounds of the Land of Canaan, as Numb. 34. 5. &c. becauſe that Land, at leaſt in that extent which God allotted and gave it to the Iſraelites, though they through neglect or cowardiſe might not actually poſſeſs it, did reach to one of the Branches of that River: And indeed, if Sihor be not Nilus, that great and Neighbouring River is not named in all the Scripture, which ſeems very improbable. o This Clauſe explains the former; that plentiful Harveſt of Corn which comes from the Influence and Inundation of Nilus, which is emphatically called the river, as here, ſo alſo Exod. 1. 22. Iſa. 19. 5. Ezek. 29. 3. 9. as Euphrates is in other Texts of Scripture. p Is as eaſily procured, and plentifully enjoyed by her, as if it grew in her own Territories. q A Place to which all Nations reſort for Traffick.

4 Be thou aſhamed, O Zidon r; for the ſea ſ hath ſpoken, even the ſtrength of the ſea t, ſaying, I travel not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nouriſh up young men, nor bring up virgins u.

r For Zidon was a great City near Tyre, and ſtrongly united to her by Commerce and League, and called by ſome the Mother of Tyre, which they ſay, was built and firſt inhabited by a Colony of the Sidonians; and therefore ſhe muſt needs be greatly concerned in the Deſtruction of Tyrus. ſ That part of the Sea in which Tyrus was, and from which Ships and Men were ſent into all Countries. t This is added to explain what he meant by the ſea, even Tyrus, who might be called the ſtrength of the Sea, either actively, becauſe it defended that part of the Sea from Pyracies and Injuries; or paſſively, becauſe it was defended and ſtrengthned by the Sea, which encompaſſed it. And this Title is here given to Tyrus, to ſhew what great cauſe of Confuſion and Fear Sidon had from this Example, which for Strength was much inferiour to Tyrus. u I who was ſo exceeding fruitful and populous, that I ſent forth Colonies into other Countries, (of which the Famous City of Carthage was one) am now become barren and deſolate.

x According to this Tranſlation the ſenſe is, All the neighbouring Nations ſhall be no leſs terrified at the Tidings of the Deſtruction of Tyrus, than they were of old upon the Report of God's former and dreadful Judgments upon the Egyptians; of which ſee Exod. 15. 14, 15, 16. Joſ. 2. 9, 11. becauſe they ſhall deſpair of reſiſting that Enemy againſt whom that vaſt and potent City, which was deemed impregnable, could not defend it ſelf. But the words are by the Seventy, and other both ancient and later Interpreters, rendred otherwiſe, and that very agreeably to the Hebrew Text, When the report (to wit, of the Deſtruction of Tyre) came, or ſhall come, (which Word is eaſily underſtood, as it is above, v. 3. and in other Texts of Scripture before mentioned) to the Egyptians, they ſhall be ſorely pained according to the report of Tyre; their Grief ſhall be anſwerable to the Report; as the Report is very dreadful, ſo their Grief and Anguiſh ſhall be very great: or, they ſhall fear leſt they ſhould be deſtroyed in like manner as Tyrus was deſtroyed.

y Flee from your own Country to Tarſus of Cilicia, and there bewail your Calamities. Or, rather, as others render the Place, Paſs over the Sea, which is oft call'd Tarſhiſh; of which ſee on v. 1. z Of Tyrus, as before, v. 2.

For, as ſome of the Tyrians were taken and carried Captive into Chaldea and other Places, ſo others fled by Sea into ſeveral Parts of the World, Carthage, and divers other Towns of the Midland Sea, as is recorded by ancient Hiſtorians.

8 Who hath taken this counſel againſt Tyre e, the crowning city f, whoſe merchants are princes g, whoſe traffiquers are the honourable of the earth?

e Words of Admiration: Who and where is he that could imagine or durſt attempt ſuch a thing as this? † Heb. to pollute.

9 The LORD of hoſts hath purpoſed it h, † to ſtain the pride of all glory, and to bring into contempt all the honourable of the earth i.

h This is the Lord's own doing; therefore do not doubt it, nor wonder at it. i God's Deſign is by this one Example to abate and abaſe the Pride of all the Potentates of the Earth, that they may ſee and know what weak and wretched Creatures they are, when God leaves them, and ſets himſelf againſt them.

10 Paſs through thy land k as a river l, O daughter of Tarſhiſh m, there is no more † ſtrength n.

k Tarry no longer in thy own Territories, but flee through them, and beyond them, into other Countries, for Safety and Relief. l Swiftly, leſt you be prevented; and continually, till you be all gone; and in Sholes and Multitudes. m O Tyrus; for of her he ſpeaks both in the foregoing and following words. And Tyrus might well be called the daughter of Tarſhiſh, i. e. of the Sea, as that Word is uſed, v. 1. and elſewhere, becauſe it then was an Iſland, and therefore as it were born of the Sea, and nouriſhed and brought up by it. n Heb. no more girdle: the Girdle, which ſtrengthens the Loins of a Man, is put for Strength, as Job 12. 21. & 38. 3. It behoveth you, O People of Tyrus, to flee away, as I adviſe you; for your City is unable to defend you; your Wealth, the Sinews of War, is loſt; your Walls broken down; the Sea, which, like a Girdle, ſurrounded and defended you, is now in part filled up by your Enemies, who have joined you to the main Land; your former Friends and Allies forſake you.

11 He o ſtretched out his hand p over the ſea q, he ſhook the kingdoms r: the LORD hath given a commandment ſ ‖ againſt † the merchant city t, to deſtroy the ‖ ſtrong holds thereof.

o The Lord, expreſſed, v. 9. p To ſtrike it, the Antecedent being put for the Conſequent. q Or, againſt the Sea; i. e. againſt Tyrus, the Daughter of the Sea, as ſhe was now called; and conſequently againſt all thoſe Ships and Men which uſed to Traffique with Tyrus, and were enriched by that Trade, and therefore ſuffered in her Fall. r Heb. He made the kingdoms to tremble; either, 1. the two Kingdoms of Tyre and Sidon; or rather, 2. the neighbouring and confederate Kingdoms, as appears by comparing this with Ezek. 26. 15, 16, 17, 18. who might juſtly quake at her Fall, partly for the dreadfulneſs and unexpectedneſs of the thing; partly becauſe Tyre was a Bulwark, and a Refuge, and a great Advantage to them; and partly becauſe her Fall made way for their Ruine, as being deſtroyed by their common Enemy. ſ Hath contrived and purpoſed it, as was ſaid, v. 8, 9. hath put this deſign into the Heads and Hearts of her Enemies, and given them Courage to attempt, and Strength to execute ſo difficult an Enterpriſe. t Heb. againſt Canaan: the Word Canaan being taken either, 1. for a merchant, as it is uſed, Job 41. 6. Hoſ. 12. 7. or rather, 2. for the Proper name of a Place or People, as it is generally uſed: for the Tyrians and Sidonians were deſcended from Canaan, Gen. 10. 15. and were the only conſiderable Remainders of that curſed Race whom God had devoted to Deſtruction. And ſo this Phraſe may be here uſed, both as an Evidence and as an Argument of their intended and approaching Ruine.

u So he calls her, either for her Pride and Beauty, and living in great eaſe and pleaſure; or becauſe ſhe had hitherto never born the yoke of a conquering Enemy: though withal he declares, that ſhe ſhould be oppreſſed or deflowred very ſuddenly. x Whereby he underſtands either, 1 Zidon her ſelf, who ſuffered in and with Tyre; for ſo this Phraſe ſeems generally to be uſed, the daughter of Sion, or of Jeruſalem, or of Babel, or Egypt, &c. being nothing elſe but Sion, Jeruſalem, Babel, Egypt, &c. or rather, 2. Tyrus, as moſt Interpreters both Jewiſh and Chriſtian underſtand it, of whom this whole Context and Prophecy ſpeaks; which may well be called the daughter of Zidon, becauſe ſhe was firſt built and poſſeſſed by a Colony of the Sidonians; as Pliny calleth Carthage the Daughter of Tyre, becauſe ſhe was built by a Colony of Tyrians. And the Title of daughter is oft-times given in Scripture to Towns or Cities which had their Being from, or Dependence upon other Cities; in which ſenſe we read of the daughter of Heſhbon, Numb. 21. 25. and of Rabbah, Jer. 49. 2, 3. and of Sodom, and of Samaria, Ezek. 16. 46, 49, 53. And the daughter of Tarſhiſh here above, v. 10. is not meant of Tarſhiſh it ſelf, but of Tyrus, which had a Relation to, and Dependence upon Tarſhiſh. y Of which Place, ſee on v. 1. z Thither thine Enemies ſhall purſue thee, and there ſhall they overtake thee, although thou wilt think thy ſelf ſecure when thou art fled to remote Parts beyond the Sea.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans a; this people was not b, till the Aſſyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderneſs c: they ſet up the towers thereof, they raiſed up the palaces thereof d, and he e brought it to ruine f.

a You Tyrians, who think your City impregnable, caſt your Eyes upon the Land and Empire of the Chaldeans, or Babylonians; which, though now it be a flouriſhing Kingdom, and ſhall ſhortly grow far more glorious and potent, even the glory of kingdoms, as it is called, Iſa. 13. 19. yet ſhall certainly be brought to utter ruine: and therefore your Preſumption is moſt vain and unreaſonable. b The Chaldeans at firſt were not a People, not formed into any Commonwealth or Kingdom. c Till Nimrod, the Head and Founder of the Aſſyrian Monarchy, built Babel, Gen. 10. 9. now the head of the Chaldean Monarchy, which he built for thoſe People, who then lived in Tents, and were diſperſed here and there in wild and waſte places, that he might bring them into Order, and under Government, and thereby eſtabliſh and promote his own Empire. d The Chaldeans being by this means brought together into a Body, fell to the Work of Building their City, and its Towers and Palaces, and thereby got Power and Dominion over their Neighbours, till at laſt they grew the greateſt of all the Monarchies that then were upon Earth. e The Lord, who is expreſſed before, and is frequently deſigned in Scripture by this indefinite Pronoun he, as hath been many times obſerved: Whereby he inſinuates the true Reaſon why neither the Chaldeans nor the Tyrians ſhould be able to ſtand, becauſe the Almighty God was engaged againſt them. f Will infallibly bring that great Empire to ruine. He ſpeaks of a future thing as if it were already paſt, as the Prophets uſe to do. The Chaldeans ſhall now return to their firſt Nothing, and become no People again.

h Neglected and forſaken by thoſe who uſed to reſort thither. i During the whole time of the Jewiſh Captivity in Babylon. For Tyrus was taken by Nebuchadnezzar, Jer. 27. 3, 8. Ezek. 26. 7. a little after the taking of Jeruſalem, and was reſtored by the favour of the Perſian Monarchs after the return of the Jews from the Captivity of Babylon. k Either, 1. of the Kingdom of Babylon, which laſted ſo long after this time; the Word king being put for kingdom, as it is Dan. 7. 17. & 8. 21. or, 2. of one Royal Race, of Nebuchadnezzar, including his Son, and his Son's Son, in whom his Family and Kingdom were to expire, as we read Ezek. 28. 7. l She ſhall by degrees return to her former State of Proſperity and Traffick, whereby ſhe ſhall eaſily entice the Merchants of the World to converſe and trade with her, as Harlots uſe to entice their Cuſtomers by Laſcivious Songs.

16 Take an Harp, go about ‖ the city m, thou harlot n that haſt been forgotten; make ſweet melody, ſing many ſongs, that thou mayſt be remembred o.

Or, O City.

m As Harlots uſe to do, to allure Cuſtomers. n So he calleth Tyre, partly becauſe ſhe enticed Merchants to deal with her by various Artifices, and even by diſhoneſt Practices, as Harlots uſe: and partly becauſe of the great and general Uncleanneſs which was both committed and tolerated in it. o By thoſe who had forgotten thee, v. 15.

17 And it ſhall come to paſs after the end of ſeventy years, that the LORD will viſit Tyre p, and ſhe ſhall turn to her hire q, and ſhall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world r upon the face of the earth.

p To wit, in mercy, as this Phraſe is uſed Ruth 1. 6. Pſal. 65. 9. and elſewhere. q The Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, the hire of an harlot; which agrees well with the fornication in the next Clauſe: although theſe Phraſes are not to be underſtood properly, but metaphorically, of Trading or Commerce with others. r Shall trade promiſcuouſly with People of all ſorts of Nations, as Harlots entertain all Comers.

18 And her merchandiſe, and her hire ſhall be holineſs to the LORD ſ: it ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up t: for her merchandiſe ſhall be for them that dwell before the LORD u, to eat ſufficiently, and for † durable clothing.

ſ He ſpeaks not here of what the Tyrians would do immediately after their Reſtitution, but ſome time after it, even in the days of the Meſſiah; of which even ſome of the Jewiſh Rabbies underſtand it, and to which the Prophets have a ſpecial reſpect in their ſeveral Prophecies, and Iſaiah among and above the reſt of them. So this is a Prophecy concerning the Converſion of the Tyrians to the True Religion, of the Accompliſhment whereof, ſomething is ſaid Acts 21. 3, 4, 5. and more in other Authors. t Either out of Covetouſneſs, or for the ſervice of their Pride and Luxury, as they formerly did; but now they ſhall freely lay it out upon Pious and Charitable Uſes. u For the Support and Encouragement of the Miniſters of Holy Things, who ſhall teach the good Knowledge of the Lord, who dwell in God's Houſe, and miniſter in his Preſence; the Support of ſuch Perſons being not only an Act of Juſtice and Charity, but alſo of Piety, and of great uſe and neceſſity to maintain and propagate Religion in the World. Although this doth not exclude, but rather imply their Liberality in contributing to the Neceſſities of all Chriſtians.

a Or, the land, to wit, of Canaan, or Iſrael, or Judæa. It is uſual with all Writers, when they write of their own Country, to call it the land, by way of eminency. There are many things in this Prophecy which manifeſtly concern this Land and People; and nothing, at leaſt before v. 21. which may be taken as a new and additional Prophecy, which is neceſſary to be underſtood of other Nations. But this I ſpeak with ſubmiſſion, and due reſpect to thoſe Learned and Judicious Interpreters who take this to be a Prophecy againſt Judæa, and all the neighbouring Nations. b He will ſhortly make it waſte, firſt by the Aſſyrians, and then by the Chaldeans. c Bringeth it into great diſorder and confuſion.

2 And it ſhall be, as with the people, ſo with the ‖ * prieſt d; as with the ſervant, ſo with his maſter; as with the maid, ſo with her miſtreſs; * as with the buyer, ſo with the ſeller e; as with the lender, ſo with the borrower; as with the taker of uſury, ſo with the giver of uſury to him.

d The approaching Calamity ſhall be univerſal, without any reſpect or diſtinction of Perſons or Ranks of Men; the Prieſts themſelves having been Partakers of the Peoples Sins, ſhall alſo partake with them in their Plagues. e The Purchaſer of Lands ſhall have no more left than he that hath ſold all his Patrimony; and all Perſons ſhall be made equal in Beggary and Slavery.

3 The land ſhall be utterly emptied, and utterly ſpoiled: for the LORD hath ſpoken this word.

4 The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world f languiſheth and fadeth away, † the haughty people g of the earth do languiſh.

f From this Word ſome infer, That this Prophecy concerns not only the Land of Judæa, but alſo the neighbouring Countries: But if the proper Signification of that Word be urged, this Prophecy muſt be extended to all the Parts of the World, which theſe Learned Men will not allow. And the world, both in Scripture, and other Authors, is often uſed Synecdochically for that which in truth is but a ſmall part of it, at leaſt in compariſon with the Whole; as it is not only of the Roman Empire, as Luke 2. 1. Acts 11. 28. but alſo of Babylon, Iſa. 13. 11. and, which cometh nearer to the point, of this very Land of Judea, as Joh. 12. 19. & 18. 20. and elſewhere. And therefore it may well be ſo underſtood here, eſpecially when this Word world is explained by thoſe other Words the earth, and the land, which the very next Verſe ſheweth to be meant of Iſrael or Judæa, as we ſhall there diſcover. g Not only Common People, who uſe to be of low Spirits; but the High and Lofty Ones, who uſe to be ſtout in their Words and Carriages towards me, and to deride my Threatnings.

5 * The earth alſo h is defiled under the inhabitants thereof i: becauſe they have tranſgreſſed the laws k, changed the ordinance l, broken the everlaſting covenant m.

* Gen. 3. 17.

h Heb. And the land, or, this land; for here is an emphatical Article in the Hebrew Text. i By the Wickedneſs of its People; of which ſee Levit. 18. 25, 27. Num. 35. 33, &c. k The Laws of God revealed to them, and preſſed upon them in a ſingular manner, called ſimply the laws, as the Word of God is ofttimes called the word by way of eminency. l God's Ordinances concerning his Worſhip and Service; the Singular being put collectively for the plural. m The Covenant made between God and Abraham, and all his Poſterity, renewed with the Iſraelites at Sinai, which was everlaſting, both on God's part, who, upon the Conditions therein expreſſed, engaged himſelf to be a God to them and to their Seed for ever; and on Iſrael's part, who were obliged thereby to conſtant and perpetual Obedience through all Generations. All theſe Clauſes clearly prove, that the earth or land which this Prophecy concerns, is no other than the Land of Iſrael and Judah.

6 Therefore hath the curſe n devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are deſolate: therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned o, and few men left.

n The Curſe of God threatned to Tranſgreſſours, Deut. 28. 15, &c. and 29. 20. and imprecated by and upon themſelves, if they ſhould not perſiſt in their Obedience to God, Deut. 27. 26. and elſewere. o Are conſum'd by the Wrath of God, which is commonly compared to Fire.

* Chap. 16. 8, 9. Joel 1. 10, 12.

p Becauſe there are either none, or none but the Enemies of God and Iſrael, to drink it. Grief is aſcribed to ſenſeleſs Creatures by a Figure uſual in all Authors. q Either becauſe there are no People left to dreſs it, or gather its Grapes; or becauſe it is broken down and ſpoiled by the Enemy. r That made their Hearts merry with Wine, Pſal. 104. 15.

ſ Which they uſed in their Feaſts and Revellings. t The Word properly ſignifies a roaring Noiſe and confuſed Clamour, ſuch as drunken men make, Pſal. 78. 65. Zech. 9. 15.

9 They ſhall not drink wine with a ſong, ſtrong drink ſhall be bitter to them that drink it u.

u Becauſe of the Fears and Miſeries wherewith it is mixed.

10 The city x of ‖ confuſion y is broken down: every houſe is ſhut up z, that no man may come in.

x Jeruſalem, and other Cities; for the Singular Word may be here taken collectively. y Or, of vanity, or emptineſs, or deſolation; for this Hebrew Word ſignifies all theſe things. And the City may be thus called, either, 1. in regard of the Judgments of God coming upon it, as if he had ſaid, a City devoted to Deſolation or Deſtruction, to be emptied of its Goods and People: or, 2. for its Sin, a City of Confuſion or Diſorder, breaking all the Laws and Orders which God had eſtabliſhed among them; or a City that walketh with or after vanity, as the Scripture ſpeaks, Job 31. 5. Jer. 2. 5. that loveth and ſpeaketh vanity, as they did Pſal. 4. 2. & 12. 2. And this may ſeem moſt convenient, that the Sin of the City ſhould be noted in this Word, as the puniſhment is expreſſed in the next. z Either for fear of the Enemy who have entred the City; or rather, becauſe the Inhabitants are either fled, or dead, or gone into Captivity, and ſo there are none to go into it, or come out of it.

a For the want or loſs of their Wine, and ſpoil of their Vines, whereby they were deprived of the Means both of their Delight and Profit. Whereby he intimates their groſs Senſuality and Sottiſhneſs, that inſtead of crying for their Sins, and humbling themſelves under God's Judgments, did only howl for their corn, and wine, and oil, as they did Hoſ. 7. 14.

noted. For Sihor is nothing elſe but Nilus, as appears from Jer. 2. 18. which is called Sihor, as by the Greeks it was called Melas, from its black Colour. And this and no other River ſeems to be that Sihor, which is ſo oft mentioned as one of the bounds of the Land of Canaan, as Numb. 34. 5. &c. becauſe that Land, at leaſt in that extent which God allotted and gave it to the Iſraelites, though they through neglect or cowardiſe might not actually poſſeſs it, did reach to one of the Branches of that River: And indeed, if Sihor be not Nilus, that great and Neighbouring River is not named in all the Scripture, which ſeems very improbable. o This Clauſe explains the former; that plentiful Harveſt of Corn which comes from the Influence and Inundation of Nilus, which is emphatically called the river, as here, ſo alſo Exod. 1. 22. Iſa. 19. 5. Ezek. 29. 3. 9. as Euphrates is in other Texts of Scripture. p Is as eaſily procured, and plentifully enjoyed by her, as if it grew in her own Territories. q A Place to which all Nations reſort for Traffick.

4 Be thou aſhamed, O Zidon r; for the ſea ſ hath ſpoken, even the ſtrength of the ſea t, ſaying, I travel not, nor bring forth children, neither do I nouriſh up young men, nor bring up virgins u.

r For Zidon was a great City near Tyre, and ſtrongly united to her by Commerce and League, and called by ſome the Mother of Tyre, which they ſay, was built and firſt inhabited by a Colony of the Sidonians; and therefore ſhe muſt needs be greatly concerned in the Deſtruction of Tyrus. ſ That part of the Sea in which Tyrus was, and from which Ships and Men were ſent into all Countries. t This is added to explain what he meant by the ſea, even Tyrus, who might be called the ſtrength of the Sea, either actively, becauſe it defended that part of the Sea from Pyracies and Injuries; or paſſively, becauſe it was defended and ſtrengthned by the Sea, which encompaſſed it. And this Title is here given to Tyrus, to ſhew what great cauſe of Confuſion and Fear Sidon had from this Example, which for Strength was much inferiour to Tyrus. u I who was ſo exceeding fruitful and populous, that I ſent forth Colonies into other Countries, (of which the Famous City of Carthage was one) am now become barren and deſolate.

x According to this Tranſlation the ſenſe is, All the neighbouring Nations ſhall be no leſs terrified at the Tidings of the Deſtruction of Tyrus, than they were of old upon the Report of God's former and dreadful Judgments upon the Egyptians; of which ſee Exod. 15. 14, 15, 16. Joſ. 2. 9, 11. becauſe they ſhall deſpair of reſiſting that Enemy againſt whom that vaſt and potent City, which was deemed impregnable, could not defend it ſelf. But the words are by the Seventy, and other both ancient and later Interpreters, rendred otherwiſe, and that very agreeably to the Hebrew Text, When the report (to wit, of the Deſtruction of Tyre) came, or ſhall come, (which Word is eaſily underſtood, as it is above, v. 3. and in other Texts of Scripture before mentioned) to the Egyptians, they ſhall be ſorely pained according to the report of Tyre; their Grief ſhall be anſwerable to the Report; as the Report is very dreadful, ſo their Grief and Anguiſh ſhall be very great: or, they ſhall fear leſt they ſhould be deſtroyed in like manner as Tyrus was deſtroyed.

k Tarry no longer in thy own Territories, but flee through them, and beyond them, into other Countries, for Safety and Relief. l Swiftly, leſt you be prevented; and continually, till you be all gone; and in Sholes and Multitudes. m O Tyrus; for of her he ſpeaks both in the foregoing and following words. And Tyrus might well be called the daughter of Tarſhiſh, i. e. of the Sea, as that Word is uſed, v. 1. and elſewhere, becauſe it then was an Iſland, and therefore as it were born of the Sea, and nouriſhed and brought up by it. n Heb. no more girdle: the Girdle, which ſtrengthens the Loins of a Man, is put for Strength, as Job 12. 21. & 38. 3. It behoveth you, O People of Tyrus, to flee away, as I adviſe you; for your City is unable to defend you; your Wealth, the Sinews of War, is loſt; your Walls broken down; the Sea, which, like a Girdle, ſurrounded and defended you, is now in part filled up by your Enemies, who have joined you to the main Land; your former Friends and Allies forſake you.

o The Lord, expreſſed, v. 9. p To ſtrike it, the Antecedent being put for the Conſequent. q Or, againſt the Sea; i.e. againſt Tyrus, the Daughter of the Sea, as ſhe was now called; and conſequently againſt all thoſe Ships and Men which uſed to Traffique with Tyrus, and were enriched by that Trade, and therefore ſuffered in her Fall. r Heb. He made the kingdoms to tremble; either, 1. the two Kingdoms of Tyre and Sidon; or rather, 2. the neighbouring and confederate Kingdoms, as appears by comparing this with Ezek. 26. 15, 16, 17, 18. who might juſtly quake at her Fall, partly for the dreadfulneſs and unexpectedneſs of the thing; partly becauſe Tyre was a Bulwark, and a Refuge, and a great Advantage to them; and partly becauſe her Fall made way for their Ruine, as being deſtroyed by their common Enemy. ſ Hath contrived and purpoſed it, as was ſaid, v. 8, 9. hath put this deſign into the Heads and Hearts of her Enemies, and given them Courage to attempt, and Strength to execute ſo difficult an Enterpriſe. t Heb. againſt Canaan: the Word Canaan being taken either, 1. for a merchant, as it is uſed, Job 41. 6. Hoſ. 12. 7. or rather, 2. for the Proper name of a Place or People, as it is generally uſed: for the Tyrians and Sidonians were deſcended from Canaan, Gen. 10. 15. and were the only conſiderable Remainders of that curſed Race whom God had devoted to Deſtruction. And ſo this Phraſe may be here uſed, both as an Evidence and as an Argument of their intended and approaching Ruine.

u So he calls her, either for her Pride and Beauty, and living in great eaſe and pleaſure; or becauſe ſhe had hitherto never born the yoke of a conquering Enemy: though withal he declares, that ſhe ſhould be oppreſſed or deflowred very ſuddenly. x Whereby he underſtands either, 1 Zidon her ſelf, who ſuffered in and with Tyre; for ſo this Phraſe ſeems generally to be uſed, the daughter of Sion, or of Jeruſalem, or of Babel, or Egypt, &c. being nothing elſe but Sion, Jeruſalem, Babel, Egypt, &c. or rather, 2. Tyrus, as moſt Interpreters both Jewiſh and Chriſtian underſtand it, of whom this whole Context and Prophecy ſpeaks; which may well be called the daughter of Zidon, becauſe ſhe was firſt built and poſſeſſed by a Colony of the Sidonians; as Pliny calleth Carthage the Daughter of Tyre, becauſe ſhe was built by a Colony of Tyrians. And the Title of daughter is oft-times given in Scripture to Towns or Cities which had their Being from, or Dependence upon other Cities; in which ſenſe we read of the daughter of Heſhbon, Numb. 21. 25. and of Rabbah, Jer. 49. 2, 3. and of Sodom, and of Samaria, Ezek. 16. 46, 49, 53. And the daughter of Tarſhiſh here above, v. 10. is not meant of Tarſhiſh it ſelf, but of Tyrus, which had a Relation to, and Dependence upon Tarſhiſh. y Of which Place, ſee on v. 1. z Thither thine Enemies ſhall purſue thee, and there ſhall they overtake thee, although thou wilt think thy ſelf ſecure when thou art fled to remote Parts beyond the Sea.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans a; this people was not b, till the Aſſyrian founded it for them that dwell in the wilderneſs c: they ſet up the towers thereof, they raiſed up the palaces thereof d, and he e brought it to ruine f.

a You Tyrians, who think your City impregnable, caſt your Eyes upon the Land and Empire of the Chaldeans, or Babylonians; which, though now it be a flouriſhing Kingdom, and ſhall ſhortly grow far more glorious and potent, even the glory of kingdoms, as it is called, Iſa. 13. 19. yet ſhall certainly be brought to utter ruine: and therefore your Preſumption is moſt vain and unreaſonable. b The Chaldeans at firſt were not a People, not formed into any Commonwealth or Kingdom. c Till Nimrod, the Head and Founder of the Aſſyrian Monarchy, built Babel, Gen. 10. 9. now the head of the Chaldean Monarchy, which he built for thoſe People, who then lived in Tents, and were diſperſed here and there in wild and waſte places, that he might bring them into Order, and under Government, and thereby eſtabliſh and promote his own Empire. d The Chaldeans being by this means brought together into a Body, fell to the Work of Building their City, and its Towers and Palaces, and thereby got Power and Dominion over their Neighbours, till at laſt they grew the greateſt of all the Monarchies that then were upon Earth. e The Lord, who is expreſſed before, and is frequently deſigned in Scripture by this indefinite Pronoun he, as hath been many times obſerved: Whereby he inſinuates the true Reaſon why neither the Chaldeans nor the Tyrians ſhould be able to ſtand, becauſe the Almighty God was engaged againſt them. f Will infallibly bring that great Empire to ruine. He ſpeaks of a future thing as if it were already paſt, as the Prophets uſe to do. The Chaldeans ſhall now return to their firſt Nothing, and become no People again.

g The City of Tyre, where you found Safety and Wealth.

15 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that Tyre ſhall be forgotten h ſeventy years i, according to the days of one king k: after the end of ſeventy years † ſhall Tyre ſing as an harlot l.

Heb. it ...ll be unto ...re as the ...g of an ...lot.

h Neglected and forſaken by thoſe who uſed to reſort thither. i During the whole time of the Jewiſh Captivity in Babylon. For Tyrus was taken by Nebuchadnezzar, Jer. 27. 3, 8. Ezek. 26. 7. a little after the taking of Jeruſalem, and was reſtored by the favour of the Perſian Monarchs after the return of the Jews from the Captivity of Babylon. k Either, 1. of the Kingdom of Babylon, which laſted ſo long after this time; the Word king being put for kingdom, as it is Dan. 7. 17. & 8. 21. or, 2. of one Royal Race, of Nebuchadnezzar, including his Son, and his Son's Son, in whom his Family and Kingdom were to expire, as we read Ezek. 28. 7. l She ſhall by degrees return to her former State of Proſperity and Traffick, whereby ſhe ſhall eaſily entice the Merchants of the World to converſe and trade with her, as Harlots uſe to entice their Cuſtomers by Laſcivious Songs.

16 Take an Harp, go about ‖ the city m, thou harlot n that haſt been forgotten; make ſweet melody, ſing many ſongs, that thou mayſt be remembred o.

m As Harlots uſe to do, to allure Cuſtomers. n So he calleth Tyre, partly becauſe ſhe enticed Merchants to deal with her by various Artifices, and even by diſhoneſt Practices, as Harlots uſe: and partly becauſe of the great and general Uncleanneſs which was both committed and tolerated in it. o By thoſe who had forgotten thee, v. 15.

17 And it ſhall come to paſs after the end of ſeventy years, that the LORD will viſit Tyre p, and ſhe ſhall turn to her hire q, and ſhall commit fornication with all the kingdoms of the world r upon the face of the earth.

p To wit, in mercy, as this Phraſe is uſed Ruth 1. 6. Pſal. 65. 9. and elſewhere. q The Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, the hire of an harlot; which agrees well with the fornication in the next Clauſe: although theſe Phraſes are not to be underſtood properly, but metaphorically, of Trading or Commerce with others. r Shall trade promiſcuouſly with People of all ſorts of Nations, as Harlots entertain all Comers.

18 And her merchandiſe, and her hire ſhall be holineſs to the LORD ſ: it ſhall not be treaſured nor laid up t: for her merchandiſe ſhall be for them that dwell before the LORD u, to eat ſufficiently, and for † durable clothing.

ſ He ſpeaks not here of what the Tyrians would do immediately after their Reſtitution, but ſome time after it, even in the days of the Meſſiah; of which even ſome of the Jewiſh Rabbies underſtand it, and to which the Prophets have a ſpecial reſpect in their ſeveral Prophecies, and Iſaiah among and above the reſt of them. So this is a Prophecy concerning the Converſion of the Tyrians to the True Religion, of the Accompliſhment whereof, ſomething is ſaid Acts 21. 3, 4, 5. and more in other Authors. t Either out of Covetouſneſs, or for the ſervice of their Pride and Luxury, as they formerly did; but now they ſhall freely lay it out upon Pious and Charitable Uſes. u For the Support and Encouragement of the Miniſters of Holy Things, who ſhall teach the good Knowledge of the Lord, who dwell in God's Houſe, and miniſter in his Preſence; the Support of ſuch Perſons being not only an Act of Juſtice and Charity, but alſo of Piety, and of great uſe and neceſſity to maintain and propagate Religion in the World. Although this doth not exclude, but rather imply their Liberality in contributing to the Neceſſities of all Chriſtians.

CHAP. XXIV.

Judgments on Judah for their defilements and tranſgreſſions, 1, — 2. a Remnant ſhall praiſe God, 13, — 15. God, by his judgments on his People and their Enemies, will advance his Kingdom, 16, — 23.

BEhold, the LORD maketh the earth a empty, and maketh it waſte b, and † turneth it upſide down c, and ſcattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

a Or, the land, to wit, of Canaan, or Iſrael, or Judæa. It is uſual with all Writers, when they write of their own Country, to call it the land, by way of eminency. There are many things in this Prophecy which manifeſtly concern this Land and People; and nothing, at leaſt before v. 21. which may be taken as a new and additional Prophecy, which is neceſſary to be underſtood of other Nations. But this I ſpeak with ſubmiſſion, and due reſpect to thoſe Learned and Judicious Interpreters who take this to be a Prophecy againſt Judæa, and all the neighbouring Nations. b He will ſhortly make it waſte, firſt by the Aſſyrians, and then by the Chaldeans. c Bringeth it into great diſorder and confuſion.

2 And it ſhall be, as with the people, ſo with the ‖ * prieſt d; as with the ſervant, ſo with his maſter; as with the maid, ſo with her miſtreſs; * as with the buyer, ſo with the ſeller e; as with the lender, ſo with the borrower; as with the taker of uſury, ſo with the giver of uſury to him.

d The approaching Calamity ſhall be univerſal, without any reſpect or diſtinction of Perſons or Ranks of Men; the Prieſts themſelves having been Partakers of the Peoples Sins, ſhall alſo partake with them in their Plagues. e The Purchaſer of Lands ſhall have no more left than he that hath ſold all his Patrimony; and all Perſons ſhall be made equal in Beggary and Slavery.

3 The land ſhall be utterly emptied, and utterly ſpoiled: for the LORD hath ſpoken this word.

4 The earth mourneth and fadeth away, the world f languiſheth and fadeth away, † the haughty people g of the earth do languiſh.

f From this Word ſome infer, That this Prophecy concerns not only the Land of Judæa, but alſo the neighbouring Countries: But if the proper Signification of that Word be urged, this Prophecy muſt be extended to all the Parts of the World, which theſe Learned Men will not allow. And the world, both in Scripture, and other Authors, is often uſed Synecdochically for that which in truth is but a ſmall part of it, at leaſt in compariſon with the Whole; as it is not only of the Roman Empire, as Luke 2. 1. Acts 11. 28. but alſo of Babylon, Iſa. 13. 11. and, which cometh nearer to the point, of this very Land of Judea, as Joh. 12. 19. & 18. 20. and elſewhere. And therefore it may well be ſo underſtood here, eſpecially when this Word world is explained by thoſe other Words the earth, and the land, which the very next Verſe ſheweth to be meant of Iſrael or Judæa, as we ſhall there diſcover. g Not only Common People, who uſe to be of low Spirits; but the High and Lofty Ones, who uſe to be ſtout in their Words and Carriages towards me, and to deride my Threatnings.

5 * The earth alſo h is defiled under the inhabitants thereof i: becauſe they have tranſgreſſed the laws k, changed the ordinance l, broken the everlaſting covenant m.

* Gen. 3. 17.

h Heb. And the land, or, this land; for here is an emphatical Article in the Hebrew Text. i By the Wickedneſs of its People; of which ſee Levit. 18. 25, 27. Num. 35. 33, &c. k The Laws of God revealed to them, and preſſed upon them in a ſingular manner, called ſimply the laws, as the Word of God is ofttimes called the word by way of eminency. l God's Ordinances concerning his Worſhip and Service; the Singular being put collectively for the plural. m The Covenant made between God and Abraham, and all his Poſterity, renewed with the Iſraelites at Sinai, which was everlaſting, both on God's part, who, upon the Conditions therein expreſſed, engaged himſelf to be a God to them and to their Seed for ever; and on Iſrael's part, who were obliged thereby to conſtant and perpetual Obedience through all Generations. All theſe Clauſes clearly prove, that the earth or land which this Prophecy concerns, is no other than the Land of Iſrael and Judah.

6 Therefore hath the curſe n devoured the earth, and they that dwell therein are deſolate: therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned o, and few men left.

n The Curſe of God threatned to Tranſgreſſours, Deut. 28. 15, &c. and 29. 20. and imprecated by and upon themſelves, if they ſhould not perſiſt in their Obedience to God, Deut. 27. 26. and elſewere. o Are conſum'd by the Wrath of God, which is commonly compared to Fire.

* Chap. 16. 8, 9. Joel 1. 10, 12.

p Becauſe there are either none, or none but the Enemies of God and Iſrael, to drink it. Grief is aſcribed to ſenſeleſs Creatures by a Figure uſual in all Authors. q Either becauſe there are no People left to dreſs it, or gather its Grapes; or becauſe it is broken down and ſpoiled by the Enemy. r That made their Hearts merry with Wine, Pſal. 104. 15.

8 The mirth * of tabrets ſ ceaſeth, the noiſe t of them that rejoyce endeth, the joy of the harp ceaſeth.

* Jer. 7. 34. & 16. 9. & 25. 10. Ezek. 26. 13. Hoſ. 2. 11.

ſ Which they uſed in their Feaſts and Revellings. t The Word properly ſignifies a roaring Noiſe and confuſed Clamour, ſuch as drunken men make, Pſal. 78. 65. Zech. 9. 15.

9 They ſhall not drink wine with a ſong, ſtrong drink ſhall be bitter to them that drink it u.

u Becauſe of the Fears and Miſeries wherewith it is mixed.

10 The city x of ‖ confuſion y is broken down: every houſe is ſhut up z, that no man may come in.

x Jeruſalem, and other Cities; for the Singular Word may be here taken collectively. y Or, of vanity, or emptineſs, or deſolation; for this Hebrew Word ſignifies all theſe things. And the City may be thus called, either, 1. in regard of the Judgments of God coming upon it, as if he had ſaid, a City devoted to Deſolation or Deſtruction, to be emptied of its Goods and People: or, 2. for its Sin, a City of Confuſion or Diſorder, breaking all the Laws and Orders which God had eſtabliſhed among them; or a City that walketh with or after vanity, as the Scripture ſpeaks, Job 31. 5. Jer. 2. 5. that loveth and ſpeaketh vanity, as they did Pſal. 4. 2. & 12. 2. And this may ſeem moſt convenient, that the Sin of the City ſhould be noted in this Word, as the puniſhment is expreſſed in the next. z Either for fear of the Enemy who have entred the City; or rather, becauſe the Inhabitants are either fled, or dead, or gone into Captivity, and ſo there are none to go into it, or come out of it.

a For the want or loſs of their Wine, and ſpoil of their Vines, whereby they were deprived of the Means both of their Delight and Profit. Whereby he intimates their groſs Senſuality and Sottiſhneſs, that inſtead of crying for their Sins, and humbling themſelves under God's Judgments, did only howl for their corn, and wine, and oil, as they did Hoſ. 7. 14.

b The Gates of the City are totally ruined, that the Enemy may enter when and where they pleaſe.

13 When thus it ſhall be c in the midſt of the land d
 Chap. 17. 5, 6.* among the people, * there ſhall be as the ſhaking of an olive-tree, and as the gleaning-grapes when the vintage is done e.

c When this Judgment ſhall be executed. d In the Land: But withal this Phraſe may intimate, that the Judgment ſhould not be ſlight and ſuperficial, and in the Skirts of the Land; but that it ſhould reach their very Heart, their moſt inward and beſt defended Parts. e There ſhall be left a Remnant, and that but a very ſmall Remnant; as there are ſome few, and but a few Olives or Grapes left after the Vintage is over. Which, by comparing this with the following Verſe, ſeems to be added by way of mitigation, to ſignifie, that God would in Judgment remember Mercy.

14 They f ſhall lift up their voice, they ſhall ſing for the majeſty of the LORD g, they ſhall cry aloud h from the ſea i.

f The Remnant preſerved. g For his glorious Power and Goodneſs manifeſted in their Deliverance. h In way of Exultation and Thankſgiving to God. i From the Iſles of the Sea, as this is explained in the next Verſe; from thoſe Parts beyond the Sea into which they were carried Captive, and in which they were miraculouſly preſerved.

 Ezek. 39.* fires l, even the Name of the LORD God of Iſrael in the iſles of the ſea m.

k Theſe are the Words either, 1. of the Remnant, who being themſelves delivered, do encourage and exhort their Brethren to glorifie God with them: or, 2. of the Prophet, directing and exciting God's People to glorifie God in their Afflictions, becauſe of that Deliverance which he had promiſed, and would aſſuredly give to them. l When you are in the Furnace of Affliction; although this Word is never uſed in Scripture in this ſenſe. Others therefore render the Word, in the valleys; and others, in the holes, you that are now forced to hide your ſelves in Holes. Poſſibly it may be better rendred, for light or illumination; which may be underſtood either of the Light of the Truth which God would reveal to them; or for the Comfort and Felicity which God would confer upon them; Light being frequently taken both ways in Scripture. For this Hebrew Word, in all other Places of Scripture where it is found, ſignifies that Urim which was in the High-Prieſt's Breaſt-plate, and which properly ſignifies illumination, as both Jews and Chriſtians render it, whereof that was both a Sign and Inſtrument; of which ſee on Exod. 28.30. Add to this, that this part of the Prophecy ſeems to concern the Days of the Goſpel, and that Light which the Jews ſhould then receive by the Meſſias, of whom the High-Prieſt with his Ephod and Urim was a Type. And ſo this is an Exhortation to the converted Jews to bleſs God for the true Urim, even for Chriſt and the Goſpel. And ſome of the ancient Tranſlators had this ſignification of the Word in their Eye, as the Vulgar Latin, who render it, in doctrines; and the Chaldee, who tranſlate it, when light ſhall come to the juſt. But this I propoſe with ſubmiſſion. m In remote Countries, beyond the Sea, which in Scripture are commonly called iſles, as hath been formerly and oft obſerved. Whereby he ſeems to imply, that he here ſpeaks not ſo much of a Temporal Felicity which the Jews ſhould receive and enjoy in their own Country, as of a Spiritual Advantage which they ſhould have by the Meſſias in the Places where they were diſperſed.

n From all the Parts of the Earth or Land in which the Jews are or ſhall be. o Songs of Joy and Praiſe. p Or, glory be to the righteous; which may ſeem to be the Matter of the Song. By the righteous may be here underſtood either, 1. the Generation of Righteous and Holy Men, who formerly were deſpiſed, but now, upon this eminent Deliverance, ſhall be highly honoured: or, 2. the Lord, whom they were exhorted to glorifie in the foregoing Verſe, and who may well be called the righteous one, as he is frequently ſtiled the holy one, as Hoſ. 11. 9. Habak. 3. 3, &c. or, 3. the Meſſiah, to whom this Title of juſt or righteous is frequently given, as Iſa. 53. 11. Jer. 23. 5. Zech. 9. 9, &c. And the believing Jews call him righteous emphatically, partly to intimate that he is the Author and Procurer of all true Righteouſneſs, and partly in oppoſition to their unbelieving Brethren, who rejected and condemned him as a Malefactor. All which the Prophet foreſaw by the Spirit of Prophecy. q But in the midſt of theſe joyful Tidings, I diſcern ſomething which interrupts my Joys, and gives me cauſe of bitter complaint and lamentation. r I faint and pine away for grief, for the following Reaſon. ſ The Jews, who have been frequently guilty of great perfidiouſneſs towards God, are now acting the ſame Part. Which he ſpeaks either, 1. of thoſe who lived in his time; or rather, 2. of thoſe who ſhould live when the Meſſias was upon Earth, of whom he foreſaw by the Spirit, that they would forſake God, and reject their Meſſiah, and thereby bring utter Deſtruction upon themſelves. For even the Hebrew Doctors expound this Place of the Perfidiouſneſs of ſome Jews in the times of the Meſſiah. And it is not ſtrange that ſo ſad a ſight made the Prophet cry out, My leanneſs, &c.
* Jer. 48. t He repeats it to ſhew the horridneſs of the Crime, and how 43, 44. See deeply he was affected with it.

He alludes to the Deluge of Waters which God poured down from Heaven, and to the Earth-quakes which he oft-times cauſeth below.

19 The earth is utterly broken down, the earth is clean diſſolved, the earth is moved exceedingly b.

b This is repeated again, partly to ſhew the dreadfulneſs and certainty of theſe Judgments, and partly to awaken and affect the ſtupid Iſraelites, who greatly needed it.

Or, as others render it, like a tent, which is eaſily and commonly carried from place to place. f Thoſe Sins which they formerly eſteemed light and pleaſant, ſhall now be moſt burdenſome and grievous to them, becauſe of the dreadful puniſhments which ſhall follow them.

And thus the unbelieving Jews were generally gathered together at Jeruſalem, to their Solemn Feaſt, when Titus came and beſieged, and after ſome time took and deſtroyed them. Which was a very remarkable Hand of God, as Joſephus and other Hiſtorians obſerved. And I know nothing to the contrary, but this very thing may be meant in this place; it being confeſſed, that divers Paſſages of this Chapter concern the times of the Meſſiah. l As Malefactors, which are taken in ſeveral Places, are uſually brought to one common Priſon, where they are reſerved in order to their Trial and Puniſhment. m Either, 1. in Judgment, as viſiting is oft uſed. So the ſenſe is, After they have been puniſhed with long Impriſonment, and tormented with Expectation and Fear, they ſhall be brought forth to receive condign Puniſhment. Or, rather, 2. in Mercy. And ſo the ſenſe may be either, 1. After the Jews ſhall have ſuffered many and grievous things from the Aſſyrians, Chaldeans, Perſians, and others, at laſt their Meſſiah and Deliverer ſhall come into the World, &c. Or, 2. After the Unbelieving and Apoſtate Jews ſhall have been ſhut up in Unbelief, and in great Tribulations for many Ages together, they ſhall be convinced of their Sin in crucifying their Meſſiah, and brought home to God and Chriſt by true Repentance.

n The ſun and moon are here conſidered either, 1. as they were abuſed to Idolatry; for theſe two were moſt eminent Idols, and moſt generally worſhipped, eſpecially in thoſe Eaſtern Countries, Deut. 4. 19. & 17. 3. Job 31. 26, &c. and ſo may be put for all Idols, which were confounded by Chriſt at his coming, as was foretold in Scripture, and verified by the Teſtimony of Ancient, yea even of Heathen Hiſtorians: Or, 2. as they were the moſt eminent and glorious Lights of the World, and were oft uſed, both in Scripture and other Authors, to ſignifie the great Kings and Potentates and Glories of the World, as hath been formerly noted, and we ſhall have further occaſion to remember. So the ſenſe is, That all Earthly Powers and Glories ſhould be obſcured with the far greater Splendor of Chriſt the King of Kings, at whoſe Feet even the Kings of the Earth ſhall fall down and worſhip, as we ſhall ſee in other parts of this Prophecy. o The Meſſiah, who, though Man, yet is alſo God, and the Lord of Hoſts, and is ſo called Zech. 2. 8, 11. p Shall come in the Fleſh, and ſet up his Kingdom, firſt in Jeruſalem, and afterward in all other Nations.

q Before his Miniſters, who are in ſome ſort the Courtiers of this King of Glory, as being continually attending upon him, and enjoying his Preſence, and executing the Powers and Offices of his Kingdom; and eſpecially before his Apoſtles, who were the Witneſſes of his Divine Words and Works, and particularly of his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, by which he entred upon his Kingdom; and of this exerciſe of his Royal Power, in ſubduing both Jews and Gentiles to himſelf. The Word ancient or elder is not a Name of Age, but of Office, as it is in very many Texts of Scripture. And the Ancients are here put Synecdochically for the whole Church, in whoſe Name and for whoſe Service they act. r Heb. in glory; for that Prepoſition is very frequently underſtood.

CHAP. XXV.

God Glorious in his Judgments on Babel, 1,—5. and his People's Salvation, 6,—12.

O LORD, thou art my God, I will exalt thee, I will praiſe thy Name a; for thou haſt done wonderful things; thy counſels of old are faithfulneſs and truth b.

a The Prophet reflecting upon thoſe great and glorious Prophecies which he had delivered concerning the Deſtruction of his Enemies, and the Protection and Deliverance of his People, and the ſending of the Meſſiah, and the Eſtabliſhment of his own Kingdom in ſpight of all oppoſition, interrupteth the Courſe of his Prophecies, and breaketh forth into a Solemn Celebration of all theſe wonderful Works. b Thy counſels from which all thy Works proceed, and which thou haſt from time to time revealed to thy Prophets and People, which were of old, being conceived from all Eternity, and long ſince made known by thy Threatnings and Promiſes, are true and firm, and therefore ſhall certainly be accompliſhed.

Ch.21.9. 23.13. 2 For thou haſt made * of a city c, an heap; of a defenced city, a ruin: a palace of ſtrangers d, to be no city, it ſhall never be built e.

c Which is put collectively for cities. He ſpeaks of the Cities of ſtrangers, as the following Clauſe explains it, or of Enemies of God, and of his People. And under the Name cities he comprehends their Countries and Kingdoms, of which Cities are an eminent and commonly the ſtrongeſt part. d The Royal Cities, in which were the palaces of ſtrangers, i.e. of the Kings of ſtrange People, or of the Gentiles. e Their Cities and Palaces have been or ſhall be utterly and irrecoverably deſtroyed.

3 Therefore ſhall the ſtrong people glorifie thee, the city of the terrible nations ſhall fear thee f.

f Thy ſtouteſt Enemies obſerving thy wonderful Works, in ſaving thy People, and in deſtroying others of thine and their Adverſaries, ſhall be either converted, or at leaſt convinced, and forced to acknowledge thy Power, and ſhall tremble before thee.

4 For thou haſt been a ſtrength to the poor, a ſtrength to the needy in his diſtreſs, a refuge from the ſtorm, a ſhadow from the heat g, when the blaſt of the terrible ones is as a ſtorm againſt the wall h.

g For thou haſt defended thy poor and helpleſs People, againſt the fierceſt Aſſaults of their Enemies. h Or, for (as this Particle commonly ſignifies; or rather, therefore, as it is frequently uſed, becauſe thou art their Defender) the blaſt if the terrible, or ſtrong, or violent one, was like a ſtorm (of Hail, or Rain or Wind) againſt a wall, which makes a great and terrible noiſe, but without any effect, for the Wall ſtands firm in ſpight of it. It is probable the Prophet in theſe Words had a ſpecial reſpect to that miraculous Deliverance of Jeruſalem from the Rage and Attempt of Sennacherib; although the Words be general, and include other Deliverances of a like nature.

5 Thou ſhalt bring down the noiſe i of ſtrangers k, as the heat in a dry place; even the heat with the ſhadow of a cloud l: the branch m of the terrible ones ſhall be brought low.

i The tumultuous noiſe, as the Word properly ſignifies, which he called their blaſt in the foregoing Verſe; by which he means their Rage and furious Attempts, which are commonly managed with much noiſe and clamour. k Of thoſe ſtrange and Heathen Nations that fought againſt God's People. l With as much eaſe as thou doſt in the Courſe of thy common Providence allay the Heat of a dry Seaſon and Place, either by the ſhadow of thy Clouds, or by the Rain which falleth from black and ſhadowy Clouds. m The Arm or Power, as a Branch is the Arm of a Tree. Or, the Prince or Commanders: for the Word branch is ſometimes put for a Perſon of eminent place and Power, as Pſal. 80. 15. Iſa. 4. 2. Zech. 3. 8. & 6. 12. But others render the Word, the ſong, as it is uſed, Cant. 2. 12. their jovial and triumphant Song.

9.2. 22.4. 6 And in this mountain n ſhall * the LORD of hoſts make unto all people o a feaſt of fat things p, a feaſt of wines on the lees q, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.

n In Mount Zion, to wit, in God's Church, which is very frequently meant by the Names of Zion and Jeruſalem, both in the Old and in the New Teſtament. o Both Jews and Gentiles, who ſhall then be admitted to the participation of the ſame Privileges and Ordinances. p A Feaſt made up of the moſt exquiſite and delicate Proviſions: Which is manifeſtly meant of the Ordinances, Graces, and Comforts given by God in and to his Church. q Which have continued upon the Lees a competent time, whereby they gain ſtrength, and afterwards drawn off from the Lees, and ſo refined, as it is explained in the next Clauſe.

up. Co- 7 And he will † deſtroy in this mountain the face of the covering r † caſt over all people, and the vail ſ that is ſpread over all nations.

r Which is put either, 1. for the covering of the Face, by an Hypallage, as ſilver of ſhekels is put for ſhekels of ſilver, Lev. 5. 15. or, 2, for the Covering or veil, as the next Clauſe expounds it, the Word face being oft ſuperfluouſly uſed in the Hebrew Language, as Gen. 1. 2, 29. and elſewhere. ſ The Vail of Ignorance of God, and of the true Religion, which then was upon the Gentiles, and now is upon the Jews, 2 Cor. 3. 14, 15, 16. which, like a Vail, covers mens Eyes, and keeps them from diſcerning between things that differ. It may be alſo an Alluſion either to the Vail which was put upon Moſes his Face, Exod. 34. 33, 34. or to the Vail of the Sanctuary, by which the perſons without it were kept from the ſight of the Ark. This is a manifeſt Prophecy concerning the Illumination and Converſion of the Gentiles.

8 He t will * ſwallow up death u in victory x, and the Lord GOD will * wipe away tears y from off all faces, and the rebuke of his people z ſhall he take away from off all the earth a: for the LORD hath ſpoken it b. * 1 Cor.15. 54. Rev.20.14 * Rev. 7. 17. & 21. 4.

t The Lord, expreſſed both in the foregoing and following Words, even the Meſſiah who is God and Man. u Shall by his death deſtroy the Power of Death, as is ſaid Heb. 2. 14. take away the Sting of the Firſt Death, and prevent the Second Death, and give Eternal Life to the World, even to all that believe in him. x Heb. unto victory, i. e. ſo as to overcome it perfectly; which compleat Victory Chriſt hath already purchaſed for, and will in due time actually confer upon his People. y Will take away from his People all Sufferings and Sorrows, and all the Cauſes of them; which is begun here, and perfected in Heaven. z The Reproach and Contempt which was daily caſt upon his faithful People by the ungodly World, and, among others, by the Apoſtate and Unbelieving Jews, who accounted the Chriſtians to be the ſcum and off-ſcouring of all things. a Or, from off all this Land, i. e. from all the Church and People of God, whereſoever they ſhall be, from all their faces, as was ſaid in the foregoing Clauſe. b Therefore doubt not of it, though it ſeem incredible to you.

9 And it ſhall be ſaid c in that day, Lo, this is our God d, we have waited for him e, and he will ſave us: this is the LORD, we have waited for him, we will be glad, and rejoyce in his ſalvation.

c By God's People, in way of triumph and reply to their Enemies. d Your Gods are ſenſeleſs and impotent Idols; but Our God is Omnipotent, and hath done theſe great and glorious Works which fill the World with Admiration. We may well boaſt of him; for there is no God like to him. Poſſibly it may be an intimation, that God ſhould take fleſh, and become viſibly preſent amongſt Men. e Our Meſſiah or Saviour, long ſince promiſed, and for whom we have waited a long time, now at laſt is come into the World, bringing Salvation with him.

10 For in this mountain ſhall the hand of the LORD reſt f, and Moab g ſhall be ‖ trodden down under him h, even as ſtraw is ‖ trodden down for the dunghill i. ‖ Or, threſhed. ‖ Or, threſhed in Madmenah.

f The powerful and gracious preſence of God (which is oft ſignified in Scripture by God's hand) ſhall have its conſtant and ſetled abode; it ſhall not move from place to place, as it did with the Tabernacle; nor ſhall it depart from it, as it did from Jeruſalem, but ſhall continue in his Church even to the end of the World, Mat. 28. 20. g the Moabites, which having been conſtant and implacable Enemies to Iſrael, are Synecdochically put for all the Enemies of God's Church, as the Edomites upon the ſame account are, Iſa. 34. 6. & 63. 1. h Under his Feet, as appears by the following Similitude. i As eaſily and as effectually as the Straw, which being left upon the Ground, and mixed with the Dung which lies there, is trampled upon by the Feet of Men and Beaſts.

11 And he k ſhall ſpread forth his hands l in the midſt of them, as he that ſwimmeth ſpreading forth his hands m to ſwim: and he ſhall bring down their pride together with the ſpoils of their hands n.

k Either, 1. Moab, who being plunged into a Sea of troubles, ſhall endeavour to ſwim out of it, but to no purpoſe; or rather, 2. the Lord, who is deſigned by this very Pronoun he, both in the latter Clauſe of this Verſe, and in the following Verſe; whoſe Power they ſhall be no more able to reſiſt, than the Waters can reſiſt a Man that ſwims, who with great facility divides them hither and thither. l Or, ſtretch forth his hands to the utmoſt, to ſmite and deſtroy them. m Which he doth to the uttermoſt. n With all that Wealth which they have gained by Rapine, and ſpoiling of God's People, and others. But the Words are otherwiſe rendred by others with or by (as this Hebrew Particle is uſed, Eſth. 9. 25.) the arms of his hands: which he may mention, becauſe the Strength of a Man, and of his Hands, conſiſteth in his Arms; whence alſo the arm in Scripture, is oft put for ſtrength: or, by the motion or ſtroke of his hands, as all the ancient Tranſlators do in effect render it. And this ſeems to agree beſt with the Metaphor here borrowed from one that ſwimmeth, which is performed in that manner.

12 And the * fortreſs of the high fort of thy walls o ſhall he bring down, lay low, and bring to the ground, even to the duſt. * Ch. 26.5.

o All thy Walled Cities and Fortifications, to which thou truſteſt.

CHAP. XXVI.

A Song of Praiſe and Confidence in God: for the bleſſings of Righteouſneſs: judgments on their Enemies: and favour to his People: their Chaſtiſement, repentance, and hope. 1,—21.

*Chap. 60. 18. IN that day a ſhall this ſong be ſung in the land of Judah b, We have a ſtrong city c, * ſalvation will God appoint for walls and bulwarks d.

a When God ſhall do ſuch glorious Works for the Comfort of his People, and for the Ruine of his and their Enemies, as he hath deſcribed in the foregoing Chapter. b In the Church of God, which in Scripture is oft ſignified by the Titles of Judah, and Jeruſalem, and Sion, or the like. c Jeruſalem, or the Church, which is oft called or compared to a City, as Pſal. 87. 3. Rev. 3. 12. & 11. 2. & 21. 2. d God's immediate and ſaving Protection ſhall be to his Church inſtead of Walls, &c. But I conceive, with ſubmiſſion, the Words may very fitly be thus rendred, He will ſend or put or make her walls and bulwarks ſalvation, i. e. as ſafe as Salvation it ſelf: or, in ſafety, there being only a defect of the Prepoſition, which is very frequent in Scripture.

* Pſal. 118. 19, 20. † Heb. truths. 2 * Open ye the gates e, that the righteous nation f which keepeth the † truth g may enter in.

e Of the City mentioned v. 1. f Either, 1. thoſe godly Jews who are returning from Babylon; or, 2. the whole body of righteous and holy Men, whether Jews or Gentiles. For he ſeems to ſpeak here, as he apparently did in the foregoing Chapter, of the Times of the Goſpel. g Which is ſincere and ſtedfaſt in the Profeſſion and Practice of the True Religion.

h Heb. the fixed thought or mind (i. e. the Man whoſe Mind and Thoughts are fixed and ſetled upon thee by Faith, as the next Clauſe explains it, the Qualifications being put for the Perſon ſo qualified, as folly and wiſdom are put for a Fool and a Wiſe man, Prov. 24. 9. Mic. 6. 9. and peace for a Man of Peace, Pſal. 120. 7.) thou wilt keep in peace peace, i. e. in all manner of peace, in conſtant and perfect peace. In the foregoing Verſe the Righteous were admitted into the City, and here they were preſerved and defended in it by God's Almighty Power.

i In all times and Conditions. k Heb. the rock of ages, a ſure Refuge to all thoſe that truſt in him, through all generations; therefore you may ſafely truſt in him, and that for ever.

* Chap. 25. 12. & 32. 19. 5 For he bringeth down l them that dwell on high m, the * lofty city n, he layeth it low, he layeth it low, even to the ground, he bringeth it even to the duſt.

l Heb. he hath brought down, which yet may be put for the future, he will bring down, &c. You may truſt him; for he can and doth raiſe ſome, and throw down others, according to his own good pleaſure. m He ſpeaks not ſo much of heighth of Place, as of Dignity and Power; in which ſenſe alſo he mentions the lofty city in the next Clauſe. n Which may be underſtood either of proud Babylon; or, collectively, of all the ſtrong and ſtately Cities of God's Enemies.

6 The foot ſhall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the ſteps of the needy o.

o God will bring it under the Feet of his poor and weak and deſpiſed People.

p Or, moſt even or plain. Heb. evenneſs or plainneſs. Which is underſtood either, 1. of the Rectitude or Goodneſs of his Actions or Courſe: or rather, 2. of the good Succeſs of his Affairs: for this ſuits beſt with the Coherence. When the way of the Wicked is rugged, in which they eaſily ſtumble and fall into miſchief, of which he ſpoke v. 5, 6. the path of Juſt men is plain and ſmooth, and they walk ſafely and comfortably in it. q The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred is, Thou, O God, who art moſt upright in all thy ways, and therefore a Lover of Uprightneſs, and of all upright Men, doſt weigh (i. e. examine) the path of the juſt, the Courſe of his Actions, and, which is implied, doſt approve of them, and therefore direct them to an happy iſſue. But the Words are otherwiſe rendred by ſome late Learned Interpreters, to this purpoſe, Thou doſt level or make plain (as this very Word ſignifies Pſal. 78. 50.) the path of the juſt exactly. Heb. with evenneſs, or evenly, ſo as to make it very even. Thus the firſt Clauſe declares that it was even or plain, and this ſheweth whence or by whom it is made ſuch, even by God.

r And as we thy People have loved and ſerved thee when thou haſt made our way plain and eaſie for us; ſo we have not forſaken thee, but waited upon thee, when thou haſt made it rugged and troubleſome by thy Judgments. He ſpeaks of the ſame Juſt men, v. 7, 8, 9. though it be with a change of the Numbers and Perſons, which is uſual in Prophetical Writings, the juſt, v. 7. we v. 8. I, v. 9. ſ Heb. to thy name and thy memory; which by a known Figure called Hendiaduo, may be put for the remembrance of thy Name. And the Name of God is here, as it is in many other places, put for God himſelf, as he hath made himſelf known by his Word and Works. And ſo the ſenſe of this Clauſe is, Our Affections are not alienated from thee by thy Judgments, but we ſtill continue to deſire thy Preſence and Favour, and we ſupport and comfort our ſelves with the remembrance of what thou art, and what thou haſt done, and what thou haſt promiſed to be to do to thy People.

t Sincerely and moſt affectionately, as Pſal. 63. 1. and elſewhere. u The Prophet ſpeaks this in the name of all God's People, by comparing this with the foregoing Verſe. x Either, 1. figuratively, in the time of Affliction, which is often called night or darkneſs; or rather, 2. properly, as appears from the next Clauſe, wherein early or in the morning is oppoſed to it. When others are ſleeping, my Thoughts and Deſires are working towards God. y By fervent Prayer for thy Loving-kindneſs. z Betimes in the morning, as the Word ſignifies. a And good reaſon it is that we ſhould thus deſire and ſeek thee in the way of thy Judgments, becauſe this is the very deſign of thy Judgments, that men ſhould thereby be awakened to learn and return to their Duty; and this is a common effect of them, that thoſe who have been careleſs in Proſperity, are made wiſer and better by Afflictions. The inhabitants of the world ſeem to be here taken not in oppoſition to God's People, as if not they only, but even the wicked World would do thus; but in a general Notion, ſo as to include, yea principally to deſign God's People, as may be gathered both from the former part of this, and the foregoing Verſe, in which he deſcribes their pious Carriage under Affliction; as alſo from the two following Verſes, in which he ſpeaks of the wicked, whom he ſeems to oppoſe to theſe inhabitants of the world, becauſe theſe learn Righteouſneſs, whilſt thoſe wicked men remain incorrigible both under Mercies and Judgments, v. 10, 11.

10 * Let favour be ſhewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteouſneſs b: in the land of uprightneſs c will he deal unjuſtly, and will not behold the majeſty of the LORD d. *Eccl. 8. 11.

b This is the Carriage of thy People; but the Courſe of Wicked men is directly contrary in all conditions: For if thou doſt ſpare them, when thou puniſheſt thine own People, they will not accept of that gracious Invitation to Repentance, nor walk worthy of ſo great a Mercy. c Even in God's Church, and among his People, where Righteouſneſs is profeſſed and taught, and by many practiſed; and where Unrighteouſneſs is diſcountenanced and puniſhed: all which things are Aggravations of his Sin. d Although God gives ſuch plain and clear Diſcoveries of his Majeſty and Glory, not only in his Word, but alſo in his Works, and eſpecially in this glorious Work of his Patience and Mercy to Wicked men, yet they wilfully ſhut their Eyes at it, and will not acknowledge it.

11 LORD, when thy hand is lifted up, they * will not ſee e: but they ſhall ſee f, and be aſhamed for their envy || at the people g; yea, the fire of thine enemies h ſhall devour them. * Job 3 27. Pſal. 28. 5. Chap. 5 || Or, towards the people.

e And they are guilty of the ſame obſtinate Blindneſs when thou doſt ſmite and puniſh them, which is commonly ſignified by lifting up the hand, as Ezek. 44. 12. Micha 5. 9. Compare alſo 2 Sam. 20. 21. 1 Kings 11. 26. Or, as others render it, When thine hand is high or exalted, i. e. When thy Works are moſt evident and moſt glorious, when thou appeareſt moſt glorioully for the defence of thy People, and for the puniſhment of thine and their Enemies, they will not ſee. f The ſame Word is repeated in another ſenſe: They ſhall feel and know that by ſad and coſtly Experience, which they would not learn by other and eaſier ways. Seeing is oft put for feeling; in which ſenſe Men are ſaid to ſee affliction, Lam. 3. 1. and to ſee death, Pſal. 89. 48. and the like. g Or, at or towards thy people, the Pronoun thy being repeated out of the following Clauſe, as it is in many other places of Scripture, as hath been before noted. Their Envy and Hatred againſt God's People blinded their Minds, that they neither could nor would ſee that God was on their ſide, though the Tokens of it were moſt manifeſt and undeniable. Which was the Caſe of Pharaoh and the Egyptians, who were not ſenſible that the Lord fought for Iſrael againſt the Egyptians, as they ſaid Exod. 14. 25. till it was too late. h Not efficiently, but objectively: Such Fire or Wrath as thou uſeſt to pour forth upon thine implacable Enemies. As my wrong, Gen. 16. 5. is not the Wrong done by me, but to me; and my violence, Jer. 51. 35. is the violence done to me, as we tranſlate it, not by me.

i As thou wilt deſtroy thine and our Enemies, ſo thou wilt bleſs us thy People with Peace and Proſperity. k Either, 1. all the Good Works done by us, which are the Effects of thy Grace: or rather, 2. all the Good and Great Works which have been wrought for us, all our wonderful Deliverances and ſingular Bleſſings come from thee. And ſo the Argument is this, God hath delivered us formerly upon all occaſions, and therefore he will ſtill deliver us, and give us Peace: Which Inference is frequently made by Holy Men in Scripture. l Heb. to or for us.

m Others beſides thee, who art our only Judge and King, and Law-giver, Iſa. 33. 22. and beſides thoſe Governours who have been ſet up by thee, and have ruled us for thee, and in ſubordination to thee, even Foreign and Heatheniſh Lords, ſuch as the Philiſtins, and lately the Aſſyrians. n Have exerciſed a Tyrannical Power over us. o By thy Favour and Help, by which alone (and not by our Strength or Merits) we have been reſcued from their Tyranny. p We will celebrate thy Praiſe, and truſt in thee for the future. Thou only haſt given us both Ability and Occaſion to magnifie thy Name, whereas without thy Succour we had gone into the place of Silence, where there is no remembrance of thee, as is ſaid Pſal. 6. 5.

14 They are dead, they ſhall not live; they are deceaſed, they ſhall not riſe q: therefore r haſt thou

q Thoſe Tyrants and Enemies are utterly and irrecoverably deſtroyed, ſo as they ſhall never live or riſe again to moleſt us. Poſſibly he ſpeaks of the miraculous deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army before Jeruſalem. r That they might be ſo effectually deſtroyed, thou didſt undertake the Work. Or, rather, becauſe (as this Particle is uſed Numb. 14. 43. Pſal. 42. 6.) thou haſt, &c. as it follows. ſ Thou haſt deſtroyed both them and theirs, and all the Monuments or Memorials of their Greatneſs and Glory.

t Heb. Thou haſt added to the nation. Which may be underſtood either, 1. in way of Mercy, of adding to their Numbers, as our Tranſlation takes it; and ſo we have in effect the ſame Phraſe, 2 Sam. 24. 3. The Lord add to the people, &c. and Pſal. 115. 14. in the Hebrew Text, The Lord ſhall add upon or to you: or, 2. in way of Judgment, of adding to their Plagues or Miſeries, of which we read Rev. 22. 18. in which ſenſe the Phraſe is found in the Hebrew Text, Pſal. 120. 3. What ſhall be added to thee; and in that uſual Form of Imprecation, The Lord do ſo to me and more, Ruth 1. 17. 1 Sam. 3. 16, &c. where it is in the Hebrew, The Lord do ſo to me and add. Aud this ſenſe ſeems to be favoured by the Context, as alſo by the ancient Greek Tranſlators, who render the Words, add to them evil or puniſhments. And ſo the Word adding may be uſed emphatically and ſarcaſtically: God indeed will add to them; but what? Not Numbers, and Power, and Glory, as they expected; but Plagues and Judgments one after another. This nation is is ſuppoſed by the Current of Interpreters to be the People of Iſrael, emphatically called the nation. Poſſibly it may be the Aſſyrians, of whom he ſpoke in the laſt Verſe. But this I propoſe with ſubmiſſion. u Thy Juſtice is glorified in their Puniſhment or Deſtruction. x Which may be underſtood either, 1. of Iſrael, and that either in a way of Mercy, Thou haſt by deſtroying the Aſſyrians enlarged thy People, who were ſhut up in Jeruſalem, ſo that now they may go to the remoteſt parts of the Land; or in way of Judgment: Thou haſt removed thy People out of their own Land, and ſuffered them to be carried Captive to the ends of the Earth: Or, 2. of the Aſſyrians; Thou haſt removed them from Jeruſalem, which they had beſieged, and cauſed them to flee into their own Country, which in Scripture-phraſe was in the ends of the earth; of which ſee Iſa. 5. 26. & 13. 5.

y To wit, thy People, as appears both from the Matter of this Verſe, and from the following Verſes. z Come into thy Preſence, with their Prayers and Supplications, as the next Clauſe explains it. a Which notes the Plenty or rather the Earneſtneſs of their Prayers, as Pſal. 42. 4. & 142. 2. b Heb. a muttering or lowly ſpeech, ſuch as Charmers uſe, and ſuch as Hezekiah uſed when he was in great diſtreſs, Iſa. 38. 14. Like a crane or ſwallow ſo did I chatter, I did mourn as a dove; and ſuch as is uſual in caſe of great humiliation and dejection of Mind. c When thou waſt puniſhing them for their Sins.

17 Like as * a woman with child, that draweth near the time of her delivery, is in pain, and crieth out in her pangs: ſo have we been d in thy ſight e, O LORD. b. 16.

d Such was our Anguiſh and Danger. e Whilſt thou didſt only look upon us like a meer Spectator, without affording us the leaſt degree of Pity or Help. Cr, this Phraſe notes only the reality of the Thing; God was Witneſs of this our Miſery, and knoweth the Truth of what I ſay.

18 We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind f, we have not wrought any deliverance g in the earth h, neither have the inhabitants of the world i fallen.

f We have had the Torment of a Woman in Childbearing, but not the Comfort of a Living Child, Joh. 16. 21. for we have brought forth nothing but Wind; all our Labours and Hopes were vain and unſucceſsful. The Prophet here repreſents their deplorable and deſperate Condition, before God appeared ſo eminently to deliver them. g we found that we were utterly unable to deliver our ſelves. h Or, in the land, in our own Country, where yet we had far greater Advantages than we could have had elſewhere. i The Aſſyrians, or our other Enemies; for they are here oppoſed to God's People.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live k; together with my dead body l ſhall they ariſe m: awake n, and ſing, ye that dwell in the duſt o: for thy dew p is as the dew of herbs q, and the earth ſhall caſt out the dead r.

k The Prophet here turneth his Speech to God's People, and gives them a Cordial to ſupport them in their deep Diſtreſs, expreſſed in the foregoing Verſe. Thy dead Men are not like thoſe v. 14. for they ſhall not live, as I there ſaid; but thine ſhall live. You ſhall certainly be delivered from all your Fears and Dangers. Nothing is more frequent, both in Scripture and other Authors, than for great Calamities to be compared to death, and Deliverance from them to life, and reviving, and reſurrection: And particularly the Captivity of the Jews in Babylon, and their Deliverance out of it, is largely expreſſed by this very Similitude, Ezek. 37. 11, &c. l As I my ſelf, who am one of your number, and of theſe Dead men, ſhall live again. You ſhall be delivered together with me. Which he might add, to meet with an Objection; for they might think that God would take ſome ſpecial Care of this Holy Prophet, and would preſerve him when they ſhould be deſtroyed. No, ſaith he, As I am at preſent like a dead Carkaſs no leſs than you, ſo you ſhall be reſtored to Life no leſs than I. If the Supplement of our Tranſlation ſeems to be too literal, it may be rendred to the ſame purpoſe, as my body, the Particle as being oft underſtood, as I have divers times obſerved: As my dead Body ſhall riſe, ſo ſhall theirs alſo; we are equally dead, and ſhall equally live again. m Unto Life, as appears from the former Clauſe. n Out of your ſleep, even the ſleep of death, as it is called Pſal. 13. 3. Death being oft compared to a Sleep, as Joh. 11. 11. Act. 7. 60. and Reſtauration to Life unto awaking, as 2 Kings 4. 31. o You that are dead and buried in the Duſt, as the Dead are ſaid to ſleep in the duſt, Dan. 12. 2. p The Favour and Bleſſing of God upon thee, which is oft compared to the dew, as Hoſ. 14. 5. Mich. 5. 7. The Pronoun thy is here taken not efficiently, but objectively, as thy curſe Gen. 27. 13. is the Curſe coming upon thee. q Which gently refreſheth and reviveth them, and maketh them to grow and flouriſh. r As an abortive Birth is caſt out of the Womb, to which the Grave is compared, Job 1. 21. But becauſe the Verb here uſed doth not ſignifie to caſt out, but to caſt down, which ſeems not proper here, theſe Words may be and are, both by ancient and later Interpreters, rendred otherwiſe, and thou wilt caſt down the land of the giants, or of the violent ones, of the proud and potent Tyrants of the World. For the Word here rendred dead, is elſewhere rendred giants, as 2 Sam. 21. 16, 18. See alſo Job 26. 5. Prov. 9. 18. & 21. 16. But then the Words ſeem to be better rendred, and thou wilt caſt the giants down to the ground: Either, 1. thou, O God, who is oft underſtood in ſuch Caſes; or rather, 2. thou, O my People, to whom he ſpeaks in the foregoing Clauſes of the Verſe, thy dead body, and thy dew, and here continueth his Speech, thou wilt or ſhalt caſt, &c. thou ſhalt ſubdue even the moſt Giant-like and mighty Enemies. Which though it be properly God's Work, the Church is oft ſaid to do, becauſe ſhe by her Prayers engageth God to do it. And ſo as the former Clauſes of the Verſe ſpeak of the Deliverance and Proſperity of God's Church and People, ſo this Clauſe ſpeaks of the Deſtruction of their Enemies, which uſually accompanieth it.

ſ Having foretold the wonderful Deliverance and great Happineſs of God's People, and the utter Deſtruction of their Enemies, leſt they ſhould think they were now entring into the poſſeſſion of this Felicity, he adds what here follows, and intimates, that for the preſent they were to expect Storms, and to prepare for them, and patiently to wait God's time for the Accompliſhment of ſo great a Mercy. t Withdraw thy ſelf from the Company and Converſation of the Wicked World, leſt partaking with them in their Sins, thou doſt alſo partake of their Plagues; pour out thy Prayers to God in thy Cloſet, as this may be explained by comparing Mat. 6. 6. put thy ſelf under the protection of my Providence and Grace by Faith and Prayer. He alludes to the common practice of Men, who when there are Storms or Dangers abroad, betake themſelves into their own Houſes or Chambers for ſafety; or, as ſome think, to that Hiſtory, Exod. 9. 19, 20. or to that Command of not going out of their houſes, Exod. 12. 22. or to the like Charge given to Rahab, as the Condition of her Preſervation, Joſ. 2. u Whereby he intimates, that all their Afflictions, how long and tedious ſoever they may ſeem, are but ſhort and momentary, in compariſon of that Happineſs which is reſerved for them. x The dreadful Effects of God's Anger, thoſe ſore Judgments of God mentioned in the following Verſe.

y Cometh down from Heaven; which God in Scripture is frequently ſaid to do, when he undertaketh any great and glorious Work, either of Delivering his People, or of Deſtroying their Enemies. The Speech is borrowed from the manner of Princes, who come out of their Palaces either to ſit in Judgment, or to fight againſt their Enemies, which is the Caſe here. z All the Enemies of God and of his People; for theſe are here oppoſed to God's People: Therefore take heed you be not found in the number of them. a The innocent Blood which hath been ſpilled upon the Earth ſhall be brought to light, and ſhall be ſeverely revenged upon the Murderers. For the Phraſe ſee on Gen. 4. 10. Job 16. 18. Ezek. 24. 7.

CHAP. XXVII.

God's care over his Vineyard, 1,—6. his chaſtiſements on them, 7,—9. his ſevere judgments againſt them, 10,—11. their return, 12,—13.

IN that day the LORD with his ſore and great and ſtrong ſword ſhall puniſh Leviathan a the ‖ piercing ſerpent b, even Leviathan that crooked ſerpent c, and he ſhall ſlay * the dragon d that is in the ſea. ‖ Or, croſſing like a bar. *Chap. 51. 9.

a What kind of Creature the Leviathan is, ſee in my Notes on Job 41. 1, &c. Whence it is evident, that it was a very great and terrible Sea-monſter. But here it is certain that the Expreſſion is metaphorical, and that by this Leviathan, Serpent and Dragon, (for all ſignifie the ſame thing) he underſtands ſome very powerful Enemy or Enemies (for the Singular Number may be here put for the Plural, as it is in many other places) of God, and of his Church or People, which may well be called by theſe Names, partly for their great Might, and partly for the great Terrour and Deſtruction which they cauſe upon the Earth, as the Leviathan doth in the Sea. He ſeems to have a ſpecial reſpect to a When God ſhall do ſuch glorious Works for the Comfort of his People, and for the Ruine of his and their Enemies, as he hath deſcribed in the foregoing Chapter. b In the Church of God, which in Scripture is oft ſignified by the Titles of Judah, and Jeruſalem, and Sion, or the like. c Jeruſalem, or the Church, which is oft called or compared to a City, as Pſal. 87. 3. Rev. 3. 12. & 11. 2. & 21. 2. d God's immediate and ſaving Protection ſhall be to his Church inſtead of Walls, &c. But I conceive, with ſubmiſſion, the Words may very fitly be thus rendred, He will ſend or put or make her walls and bulwarks ſalvation, i. e. as ſafe as Salvation it ſelf: or, in ſafety, there being only a defect of the Prepoſition, which is very frequent in Scripture.

e Of the City mentioned v. 1. f Either, 1. thoſe godly Jews who are returning from Babylon; or, 2. the whole body of righteous and holy Men, whether Jews or Gentiles. For he ſeems to ſpeak here, as he apparently did in the foregoing Chapter, of the Times of the Goſpel. g Which is ſincere and ſtedfaſt in the Profeſſion and Practice of the True Religion.

h Heb. the fixed thought or mind (i. e. the Man whoſe Mind and Thoughts are fixed and ſetled upon thee by Faith, as the next Clauſe explains it, the Qualifications being put for the Perſon ſo qualified, as folly and wiſdom are put for a Fool and a Wiſe man, Prov. 24. 9. Mic. 6. 9. and peace for a Man of Peace, Pſal. 120. 7.) thou wilt keep in peace peace, i. e. in all manner of peace, in conſtant and perfect peace. In the foregoing Verſe the Righteous were admitted into the City, and here they were preſerved and defended in it by God's Almighty Power.

i In all times and Conditions. k Heb. the rock of ages, a ſure Refuge to all thoſe that truſt in him, through all generations; therefore you may ſafely truſt in him, and that for ever.

l Heb. he hath brought down, which yet may be put for the future, he will bring down, &c. You may truſt him; for he can and doth raiſe ſome, and throw down others, according to his own good pleaſure. m He ſpeaks not ſo much of heighth of Place, as of Dignity and Power; in which ſenſe alſo he mentions the lofty city in the next Clauſe. n Which may be underſtood either of proud Babylon; or, collectively, of all the ſtrong and ſtately Cities of God's Enemies.

6 The foot ſhall tread it down, even the feet of the poor, and the ſteps of the needy o.

o God will bring it under the Feet of his poor and weak and deſpiſed People.

p Or, moſt even or plain. Heb. evenneſs or plainneſs. Which is underſtood either, 1. of the Rectitude or Goodneſs of his Actions or Courſe: or rather, 2. of the good Succeſs of his Affairs: for this ſuits beſt with the Coherence. When the way of the Wicked is rugged, in which they eaſily ſtumble and fall into miſchief, of which he ſpoke v. 5, 6. the path of Juſt men is plain and ſmooth, and they walk ſafely and comfortably in it. q The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred is, Thou, O God, who art moſt upright in all thy ways, and therefore a Lover of Uprightneſs, and of all upright Men, doſt weigh (i. e. examine) the path of the juſt, the Courſe of his Actions, and, which is implied, doſt approve of them, and therefore direct them to an happy iſſue. But the Words are otherwiſe rendred by ſome late Learned Interpreters, to this purpoſe, Thou doſt level or make plain (as this very Word ſignifies Pſal. 78. 50.) the path of the juſt exactly. Heb. with evenneſs, or evenly, ſo as to make it very even. Thus the firſt Clauſe declares that it was even or plain, and this ſheweth whence or by whom it is made ſuch, even by God.

r And as we thy People have loved and ſerved thee when thou haſt made our way plain and eaſie for us; ſo we have not forſaken thee, but waited upon thee, when thou haſt made it rugged and troubleſome by thy Judgments. He ſpeaks of the ſame Juſt men, v. 7, 8, 9. though it be with a change of the Numbers and Perſons, which is uſual in Prophetical Writings, the juſt, v. 7. we v. 8. I, v. 9. ſ Heb. to thy name and thy memory; which by a known Figure called Hendiaduo, may be put for the remembrance of thy Name. And the Name of God is here, as it is in many other places, put for God himſelf, as he hath made himſelf known by his Word and Works. And ſo the ſenſe of this Clauſe is, Our Affections are not alienated from thee by thy Judgments, but we ſtill continue to deſire thy Preſence and Favour, and we ſupport and comfort our ſelves with the remembrance of what thou art, and what thou haſt done, and what thou haſt promiſed to be to do to thy People.

t Sincerely and moſt affectionately, as Pſal. 63. 1. and elſewhere. u The Prophet ſpeaks this in the name of all God's People, by comparing this with the foregoing Verſe. x Either, 1. figuratively, in the time of Affliction, which is often called night or darkneſs; or rather, 2. properly, as appears from the next Clauſe, wherein early or in the morning is oppoſed to it. When others are ſleeping, my Thoughts and Deſires are working towards God. y By fervent Prayer for thy Loving-kindneſs. z Betimes in the morning, as the Word ſignifies. a And good reaſon it is that we ſhould thus deſire and ſeek thee in the way of thy Judgments, becauſe this is the very deſign of thy Judgments, that men ſhould thereby be awakened to learn and return to their Duty; and this is a common effect of them, that thoſe who have been careleſs in Proſperity, are made wiſer and better by Afflictions. The inhabitants of the world ſeem to be here taken not in oppoſition to God's People, as if not they only, but even the wicked World would do thus; but in a general Notion, ſo as to include, yea principally to deſign God's People, as may be gathered both from the former part of this, and the foregoing Verſe, in which he deſcribes their pious Carriage under Affliction; as alſo from the two following Verſes, in which he ſpeaks of the wicked, whom he ſeems to oppoſe to theſe inhabitants of the world, becauſe theſe learn Righteouſneſs, whilſt thoſe wicked men remain incorrigible both under Mercies and Judgments, v. 10, 11.

10 * Let favour be ſhewed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteouſneſs b: in the land of uprightneſs c will he deal unjuſtly, and will not behold the majeſty of the LORD d.  Eccl. 8. 11.*

b This is the Carriage of thy People; but the Courſe of Wicked men is directly contrary in all conditions: For if thou doſt ſpare them, when thou puniſheſt thine own People, they will not accept of that gracious Invitation to Repentance, nor walk worthy of ſo great a Mercy. c Even in God's Church, and among his People, where Righteouſneſs is profeſſed and taught, and by many practiſed; and where Unrighteouſneſs is diſcountenanced and puniſhed: all which things are Aggravations of his Sin. d Although God gives ſuch plain and clear Diſcoveries of his Majeſty and Glory, not only in his Word, but alſo in his Works, and eſpecially in this glorious Work of his Patience and Mercy to Wicked men, yet they wilfully ſhut their Eyes at it, and will not acknowledge it.

11 LORD, when thy hand is lifted up, they * will not ſee e: but they ſhall ſee f, and be aſhamed for their envy ‖ at the people g; yea, the fire of thine enemies h ſhall devour them.  Job 3 . 27. Pſal. 28. 5. Chap. 5. ‖ Or, towards the people.*

e And they are guilty of the ſame obſtinate Blindneſs when thou doſt ſmite and puniſh them, which is commonly ſignified by lifting up the hand, as Ezek. 44. 12. Micha 5. 9. Compare alſo 2 Sam. 20. 21. 1 Kings 11. 26. Or, as others render it, When thine hand is high or exalted, i. e. When thy Works are moſt evident and moſt glorious, when thou appeareſt moſt gloriouſly for the defence of thy People, and for the puniſhment of thine and their Enemies, they will not ſee. f The ſame Word is repeated in another ſenſe: They ſhall feel and know that by ſad and coſtly Experience, which they would not learn by other and eaſier ways. Seeing is oft put for feeling; in which ſenſe Men are ſaid to ſee affliction, Lam. 3. 1. and to ſee death, Pſal. 89. 48. and the like. g Or, at or towards thy people, the Pronoun thy being repeated out of the following Clauſe, as it is in many other places of Scripture, as hath been before noted. Their Envy and Hatred againſt God's People blinded their Minds, that they neither could nor would ſee that God was on their ſide, though the Tokens of it were moſt manifeſt and undeniable. Which was the Caſe of Pharaoh and the Egyptians, who were not ſenſible that the Lord fought for Iſrael againſt the Egyptians, as they ſaid Exod. 14. 25. till it was too late. h Not efficiently, but objectively: Such Fire or Wrath as thou uſeſt to pour forth upon thine implacable Enemies. As my wrong, Gen. 16. 5. is not the Wrong done by me, but to me; and my violence, Jer. 51. 35. is the violence done to me, as we tranſlate it, not by me.

i As thou wilt deſtroy thine and our Enemies, ſo thou wilt bleſs us thy People with Peace and Proſperity. k Either, 1. all the Good Works done by us, which are the Effects of thy Grace: or rather, 2. all the Good and Great Works which have been wrought for us, all our wonderful Deliverances and ſingular Bleſſings come from thee. And ſo the Argument is this, God hath delivered us formerly upon all occaſions, and therefore he will ſtill deliver us, and give us Peace: Which Inference is frequently made by Holy Men in Scripture. l Heb. to or for us.

m Others beſides thee, who art our only Judge and King, and Law-giver, Iſa. 33. 22. and beſides thoſe Governours who have been ſet up by thee, and have ruled us for thee, and in ſubordination to thee, even Foreign and Heatheniſh Lords, ſuch as the Philiſtins, and lately the Aſſyrians. n Have exerciſed a Tyrannical Power over us. o By thy Favour and Help, by which alone (and not by our Strength or Merits) we have been reſcued from their Tyranny. p We will celebrate thy Praiſe, and truſt in thee for the future. Thou only haſt given us both Ability and Occaſion to magnifie thy Name, whereas without thy Succour we had gone into the place of Silence, where there is no remembrance of thee, as is ſaid Pſal. 6. 5.

14 They are dead, they ſhall not live; they are deceaſed, they ſhall not riſe q: therefore r haſt thou

q Thoſe Tyrants and Enemies are utterly and irrecoverably deſtroyed, ſo as they ſhall never live or riſe again to moleſt us. Poſſibly he ſpeaks of the miraculous deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army before Jeruſalem. r That they might be ſo effectually deſtroyed, thou didſt undertake the Work. Or, rather, becauſe (as this Particle is uſed Numb. 14. 43. Pſal. 42. 6.) thou haſt, &c. as it follows. ſ Thou haſt deſtroyed both them and theirs, and all the Monuments or Memorials of their Greatneſs and Glory.

t Heb. Thou haſt added to the nation. Which may be underſtood either, 1. in way of Mercy, of adding to their Numbers, as our Tranſlation takes it; and ſo we have in effect the ſame Phraſe, 2 Sam. 24. 3. The Lord add to the people, &c. and Pſal. 115. 14. in the Hebrew Text, The Lord ſhall add upon or to you: or, 2. in way of Judgment, of adding to their Plagues or Miſeries, of which we read Rev. 22. 18. in which ſenſe the Phraſe is found in the Hebrew Text, Pſal. 120. 3. What ſhall be added to thee; and in that uſual Form of Imprecation, The Lord do ſo to me and more, Ruth 1. 17. 1 Sam. 3. 16, &c. where it is in the Hebrew, The Lord do ſo to me and add. Aud this ſenſe ſeems to be favoured by the Context, as alſo by the ancient Greek Tranſlators, who render the Words, add to them evil or puniſhments. And ſo the Word adding may be uſed emphatically and ſarcaſtically: God indeed will add to them; but what? Not Numbers, and Power, and Glory, as they expected; but Plagues and Judgments one after another. This nation is is ſuppoſed by the Current of Interpreters to be the People of Iſrael, emphatically called the nation. Poſſibly it may be the Aſſyrians, of whom he ſpoke in the laſt Verſe. But this I propoſe with ſubmiſſion. u Thy Juſtice is glorified in their Puniſhment or Deſtruction. x Which may be underſtood either, 1. of Iſrael, and that either in a way of Mercy, Thou haſt by deſtroying the Aſſyrians enlarged thy People, who were ſhut up in Jeruſalem, ſo that now they may go to the remoteſt parts of the Land; or in way of Judgment: Thou haſt removed thy People out of their own Land, and ſuffered them to be carried Captive to the ends of the Earth: Or, 2. of the Aſſyrians; Thou haſt removed them from Jeruſalem, which they had beſieged, and cauſed them to flee into their own Country, which in Scripture-phraſe was in the ends of the earth; of which ſee Iſa. 5. 26. & 13. 5.

y To wit, thy People, as appears both from the Matter of this Verſe, and from the following Verſes. z Come into thy Preſence, with their Prayers and Supplications, as the next Clauſe explains it. a Which notes the Plenty or rather the Earneſtneſs of their Prayers, as Pſal. 42. 4. & 142. 2. b Heb. a muttering or lowly ſpeech, ſuch as Charmers uſe, and ſuch as Hezekiah uſed when he was in great diſtreſs, Iſa. 38. 14. Like a crane or ſwallow ſo did I chatter, I did mourn as a dove; and ſuch as is uſual in caſe of great humiliation and dejection of Mind. c When thou waſt puniſhing them for their Sins.

d Such was our Anguiſh and Danger. e Whilſt thou didſt only look upon us like a meer Spectator, without affording us the leaſt degree of Pity or Help. Or, this Phraſe notes only the reality of the Thing; God was Witneſs of this our Miſery, and knoweth the Truth of what I ſay.

f We have had the Torment of a Woman in Childbearing, but not the Comfort of a Living Child, Joh. 16. 21. for we have brought forth nothing but Wind; all our Labours and Hopes were vain and unſucceſsful. The Prophet here repreſents their deplorable and deſperate Condition, before God appeared ſo eminently to deliver them. g we found that we were utterly unable to deliver our ſelves. h Or, in the land, in our own Country, where yet we had far greater Advantages than we could have had elſewhere. i The Aſſyrians, or our other Enemies; for they are here oppoſed to God's People.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live k; together with my dead body l ſhall they ariſe m: awake n, and ſing, ye that dwell in the duſt o: for thy dew p is as the dew of herbs q, and the earth ſhall caſt out the dead r.

k The Prophet here turneth his Speech to God's People, and gives them a Cordial to ſupport them in their deep Diſtreſs, expreſſed in the foregoing Verſe. Thy dead Men are not like thoſe v. 14. for they ſhall not live, as I there ſaid; but thine ſhall live. You ſhall certainly be delivered from all your Fears and Dangers. Nothing is more frequent, both in Scripture and other Authors, than for great Calamities to be compared to death, and Deliverance from them to life, and reviving, and reſurrection: And particularly the Captivity of the Jews in Babylon, and their Deliverance out of it, is largely expreſſed by this very Similitude, Ezek. 37. 11, &c. l As I my ſelf, who am one of your number, and of theſe Dead men, ſhall live again. You ſhall be delivered together with me. Which he might add, to meet with an Objection; for they might think that God would take ſome ſpecial Care of this Holy Prophet, and would preſerve him when they ſhould be deſtroyed. No, ſaith he, As I am at preſent like a dead Carkaſs no leſs than you, ſo you ſhall be reſtored to Life no leſs than I. If the Supplement of our Tranſlation ſeems to be too literal, it may be rendred to the ſame purpoſe, as my body, the Particle as being oft underſtood, as I have divers times obſerved: As my dead Body ſhall riſe, ſo ſhall theirs alſo; we are equally dead, and ſhall equally live again. m Unto Life, as appears from the former Clauſe. n Out of your ſleep, even the ſleep of death, as it is called Pſal. 13. 3. Death being oft compared to a Sleep, as Joh. 11. 11. Act. 7. 60. and Reſtauration to Life unto awaking, as 2 Kings 4. 31. o You that are dead and buried in the Duſt, as the Dead are ſaid to ſleep in the duſt, Dan. 12. 2. p The Favour and Bleſſing of God upon thee, which is oft compared to the dew, as Hoſ. 14. 5. Mich. 5. 7. The Pronoun thy is here taken not efficiently, but objectively, as thy curſe Gen. 27. 13. is the Curſe coming upon thee. q Which gently refreſheth and reviveth them, and maketh them to grow and flouriſh. r As an abortive Birth is caſt out of the Womb, to which the Grave is compared, Job 1. 21. But becauſe the Verb here uſed doth not ſignifie to caſt out, but to caſt down, which ſeems not proper here, theſe Words may be and are, both by ancient and later Interpreters, rendred otherwiſe, and thou wilt caſt down the land of the giants, or of the violent ones, of the proud and potent Tyrants of the World. For the Word here rendred dead, is elſewhere rendred giants, as 2 Sam. 21. 16, 18. See alſo Job 26. 5. Prov. 9. 18. & 21. 16. But then the Words ſeem to be better rendred, and thou wilt caſt the giants down to the ground: Either, 1. thou, O God, who is oft underſtood in ſuch Caſes; or rather, 2. thou, O my People, to whom he ſpeaks in the foregoing Clauſes of the Verſe, thy dead body, and thy dew, and here continueth his Speech, thou wilt or ſhalt caſt, &c. thou ſhalt ſubdue even the moſt Giant-like and mighty Enemies. Which though it be properly God's Work, the Church is oft ſaid to do, becauſe ſhe by her Prayers engageth God to do it. And ſo as the former Clauſes of the Verſe ſpeak of the Deliverance and Proſperity of God's Church and People, ſo this Clauſe ſpeaks of the Deſtruction of their Enemies, which uſually accompanieth it.

* Pſal. 30. 5. Chap. 54. 7, 8. 2 Cor. 4. 17.

ſ Having foretold the wonderful Deliverance and great Happineſs of God's People, and the utter Deſtruction of their Enemies, leſt they ſhould think they were now entring into the poſſeſſion of this Felicity, he adds what here follows, and intimates, that for the preſent they were to expect Storms, and to prepare for them, and patiently to wait God's time for the Accompliſhment of ſo great a Mercy. t Withdraw thy ſelf from the Company and Converſation of the Wicked World, leſt partaking with them in their Sins, thou doſt alſo partake of their Plagues; pour out thy Prayers to God in thy Cloſet, as this may be explained by comparing Mat. 6. 6. put thy ſelf under the protection of my Providence and Grace by Faith and Prayer. He alludes to the common practice of Men, who when there are Storms or Dangers abroad, betake themſelves into their own Houſes or Chambers for ſafety; or, as ſome think, to that Hiſtory, Exod. 9. 19, 20. or to that Command of not going out of their houſes, Exod. 12. 22. or to the like Charge given to Rahab, as the Condition of her Preſervation, Joſ. 2. u Whereby he intimates, that all their Afflictions, how long and tedious ſoever they may ſeem, are but ſhort and momentary, in compariſon of that Happineſs which is reſerved for them. x The dreadful Effects of God's Anger, thoſe ſore Judgments of God mentioned in the following Verſe.

y Cometh down from Heaven; which God in Scripture is frequently ſaid to do, when he undertaketh any great and glorious Work, either of Delivering his People, or of Deſtroying their Enemies. The Speech is borrowed from the manner of Princes, who come out of their Palaces either to ſit in Judgment, or to fight againſt their Enemies, which is the Caſe here. z All the Enemies of God and of his People; for theſe are here oppoſed to God's People: Therefore take heed you be not found in the number of them. a The innocent Blood which hath been ſpilled upon the Earth ſhall be brought to light, and ſhall be ſeverely revenged upon the Murderers. For the Phraſe ſee on Gen. 4. 10. Job 16. 18. Ezek. 24. 7.

God's care over his Vineyard, 1,—6. his chaſtiſements on them, 7,—9. his ſevere judgments againſt them, 10,—11. their return, 12,—13.

IN that day the LORD with his ſore and great and ſtrong ſword ſhall puniſh Leviathan a the ‖ piercing ſerpent b, even Leviathan that crooked ſerpent c, and he ſhall ſlay * the dragon d that is in the ſea.

a What kind of Creature the Leviathan is, ſee in my Notes on Job 41. 1, &c. Whence it is evident, that it was a very great and terrible Sea-monſter. But here it is certain that the Expreſſion is metaphorical, and that by this Leviathan, Serpent and Dragon, (for all ſignifie the ſame thing) he underſtands ſome very powerful Enemy or Enemies (for the Singular Number may be here put for the Plural, as it is in many other places) of God, and of his Church or People, which may well be called by theſe Names, partly for their great Might, and partly for the great Terrour and Deſtruction which they cauſe upon the Earth, as the Leviathan doth in the Sea. He ſeems to have a ſpecial reſpect to ſome particular Enemy and Oppreſſor of God's People; either the Aſſyrian Emperour, who now was ſo; or rather the Babylonian, who ſhould be ſo: Some underſtand this of the Devil: But although it may be applied to him in a myſtical ſenſe, it ſeems to be literally meant of ſome potent and viſible Adverſary; which ſeems more agreeable to the following Verſes, and to the Uſage of this and other Prophets. b Which by its ſting pierceth quickly and deeply into Mens Bodies. Or, the bar (as this Word is elſewhere uſed) ſerpent, as this may be called, either for its length, or ſtrength, or ſwift motion. c Winding and turning it ſelf with great variety and dexterity. Whereby he ſeems to ſignifie the Craftineſs and Activity of this Enemy, which being added to his Strength, makes it more formidable. d Or rather, the whale, as this Word is rendred, Gen. 1. 21. Job 7. 12. and elſewhere; which agrees better with the following Words, that is in the ſea, which poſſibly were added only to limit that general and ambiguous Word to a Sea-Monſter, and not to deſcribe the Place in which the Enemy ſignified by this Dragon had his abode. Although the ſea, which here follows, may be metaphorically underſtood of the great largneſs of his Empire, and the multitude of his Subjects, by comparing this with Rev. 17. 1, 15.

e When this potent Enemy ſhall be deſtroyed. f The Words in the Hebrew Text lie thus, A vineyard (Behold, a vineyard; or, Jacob or Iſrael, my Church and People, which is ſufficiently underſtood from the next Verſe, and is expreſſed v. 6. ſhall be a Vineyard, ſhall be defended and dreſſed, ſhall thrive and flouriſh like a Vineyard) of red wine (i. e. of the choiceſt and beſt Wine, which in thoſe parts was Red, as appears both from Scripture, as Prov. 23. 31. whence it is called the blood of the grape, Gen. 49. 11. Deut. 32. 14. and from other Authors) ſing ye (O you faithful Souls, ſing with Joy and Thankſgiving to God) to (or of, or, concerning, as this Prefix is elſewhere uſed) her, or it, to wit, the Vineyard or Church, (which is frequently compared to a Vineyard, as Pſal. 80. 8. Iſa. 5. 7. and elſewhere) now delivered from her great Enemy, and bleſſed with peace and proſperity.

3 I the LORD do keep it g, I will water it every moment: leſt any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.

g I will ſecure it, that neither Men, nor Beaſts, nor Drought ſhall ſpoil it; which alone are the things that can hurt it. I will protect my Church from all the Aſſaults of her Enemies, and ſupply her with all neceſſary Proviſions, with my Ordinances, and with my Spirit and Grace.

h To wit, againſt my Vineyard, or my People; which is eaſily underſtood both from the foregoing and following Verſes, I have been diſpleaſed with them, and have chaſtiſed them; but I am not implacable towards them, and reſolved utterly to deſtroy them as their Enemies are, and would have me to be. i This is added as a Reaſon of the foregoing Clauſe and Aſſertion; which may be conceived either, 1. thus, I rather deſire to contend with Briars and Thorns, i. e. with the wicked Enemies of my Church, who are thus called, Iſa. 10. 17. Ezek. 28. 24. and if my Wrath was now kindled againſt them, as it is againſt my People, I would be furious towards them, and never leave till I had utterly conſumed them; but I will deal more indulgently with my People. Which Expoſition ſeems to receive ſome light and ſtrength from v. 6, 7, 8. Or, 2. thus, For I conſider the weakneſs of my People, that if I ſhould let looſe my Fury upon them, they could no more ſtand before me, than Briars and Thorns (to which God's People, when they fall into Sin, and provoke God, are not unfitly reſembled) can ſtand before a devouring Fire, and therefore they would in an inſtant be utterly deſtroyed; which I will not do. And this Conſideration of Man's Imbecillity is elſewhere alledged as a Reaſon of God's Indulgence, as Pſal. 103. 13, 14, 15, 16. Iſa. 57. 16. But this I deliver with ſubmiſſion.

k Or if at any time Fury be, or ſeem to be in me againſt my Vineyard or People. l My People, as is clearly implied from the following Words; for, there is no peace to thoſe who are not God's People, or to the wicked, Iſa. 57. 21. and is expreſſed in the following Verſe. m i. e. Take hold of my Arm, which is metonymically ſtrength, and ſtay it from giving the Blow, not by Force, which is impoſſible, but by humble Submiſſion and earneſt Supplication. Or, ſtrengthen himſelf or be ſtrong (as this Word properly ſignifies, and is elſewhere uſed) by my ſtrength; not by his own ſtrength, which he will oppoſe to mine, but by my Strength, which he may by humble and frequent Prayers not only reſtrain from doing him hurt, but effectually engage to aſſiſt him, and do him good. He ſeems to allude to that Hiſtory of Jacob's Wreſtling with the Angel of God, Gen. 32. 28. which he could never have done but by a Strength received from God. n That in ſtead of oppoſing me, he may in this manner reconcile himſelf to me. Or, and he ſhall make peace with me, as the ſame Words are rendred in the next Clauſe; which may be repeated to aſſure them of that great & important Favour, that God would make Peace with them. Or, the Words may be rendred in both Clauſes, let him make peace with me, yea let him make peace with me, this Future Verb being taken Imperatively, as the other is in the former clauſe of the Verſe.

o To be firmly ſetled in their Poſſeſſions, and not toſſed hither and thither, as they have been. p Their Poſterity ſhall be ſo numerous, that their own Land ſhall not be ſufficient for them, but they ſhall be forced to ſeek Habitations in other Countries, and ſhall repleniſh them with People. But this ſeems to be underſtood of the Spiritual Seed of Jacob, or of Believers, who are oft called God's Iſrael, as Rom. 9. 6. and elſewhere.

7 Hath he ſmitten him, † as he ſmote thoſe that ſmote him q? or is he ſlain according to the ſlaughter of them that are ſlain by him r?

q The Queſtion implies a Denial; He hath not ſo ſmitten him, to wit, Jacob. He hath not dealt ſo ſeverely with his People, as he hath dealt with his and their Enemies, whom he hath utterly deſtroyed. This may look either, 1. backward upon times paſt. If you conſult former Experiences, you will find, that God hath done ſo, hath ſpared and reſtored his People, and in Judgment remembred Mercy to them, when he hath totally ruined their Enemies; or, 2. forward upon the time to come, of which he ſpeaks as of a thing paſt, after the manner of the Prophets, and of which he ſpeaks in the next Verſe. r of thoſe who were ſlain by Iſrael, or rather by God at the Prayer and on the behalf of Iſrael. Heb. of his ſlain ones, i. e. of thoſe of his Smiters or Enemies who were ſlain. Which Expoſition is favoured by comparing this with the foregoing Clauſe.

|| Or, when thou ſendeſt it forth.

ſ With moderation, in certain Proportions which God meteth out and fitteth to their Strength. t When the Vine ſhooteth forth its luxuriant Branches, he, like the Vine-dreſſer, cutteth them off, but ſo as not to ſpoil or deſtroy the Vine. Or, as divers Interpreters render it, and the Word properly and frequently ſignifies in or by caſting or diſmiſſing or ſending her or it out, or, when thou doſt caſt or ſend her out, to wit, out of her own Land, in which ſhe was planted, into Captivity. He alludes to a Man that divorceth his Wife, which is expreſſed by this Word; but withal intimates, that this ſhall not be peremptory and perpetual, as other Divorces were. u God is ſaid to debate or contend with Men, when he executeth his Judgments upon them, as Iſa. 49. 25. & 57. 16. Amos 7. 4. x He mitigateth the ſeverity of the Judgment. But, I muſt confeſs, I do not meet with any of the ancient or modern Tranſlators that agree with ours in this Verſion: nor is the Hebrew Verb ever uſed, ſo far as I know, in the ſignification of ſtaying or reſtraining: beſides, our Tranſlation takes no notice of the Hebrew Prepoſition. But this Word unqueſtionably ſignifies to remove or take away, as 2 Sam. 20. 13. Prov. 25. 4, 5. and thus moſt Interpreters underſtand it. And ſo the place is very fitly thus rendred, he (or, when he, which Particle may eaſily be underſtood out of the former Clauſe, as is uſual) removeth (underſtand either it, to wit, the Vine; or them, to wit, the Enemies of God and his People. And ſo this agreeth with the former Verſe, in repreſenting the different way of God's proceeding againſt his People, and his and their Enemies. Either way there is only a defect of the Pronoun, which I have before ſhewed in divers places to be very uſual in the Hebrew Language) with or by his rough wind, by which ſometimes Vines and other Trees are pulled up by the roots, as that did, 1 Kings 19. 11. whereby he underſtands his moſt terrible Judgments. y In the time when he ſendeth forth his Eaſt-wind; which he mentions becauſe that Wind in thoſe Parts was moſt violent and moſt hurtful to Trees and Fruits, as hath been oft obſerved, and therefore is uſed to ſignifie the moſt grievous Calamities.

* 1 Kings 18.32.

z By this manner of God's dealing with his People. a That the difference between Jacob and his Enemies, in their ſeveral Sufferings, may appear. c Heb. expiated or forgiven upon their true Repentance, which ſhall be the happy effect of their Chaſtiſement. c The effect hereof ſhall not be to deſtroy the Sinner, as it is in other Men, but only to take away the guilt and power of their Sins. d Which ſin of Jacob's ſhall be purged and taken away, and the Judgment removed, when he ſhall truly repent of all his Sins, and eſpecially of his Idolatry, to which they were moſt inclined, and for which the moſt of God's Judgments which they had hitherto felt had been inflicted upon them. e Which by an uſual Enallage may be put for the Altars, to wit, their Idolatrous Altars, as is evident from the following Words. Poſſibly he may ſay the altar with reſpect to that particular Altar which Ahaz had ſet up in the place of God's own Altar; and this Prophecy might be delivered either to the Prophet, or by him to the People, in Ahaz his time, while that Altar ſtood and was uſed. f When he ſhall break all thoſe goodly Altars in pieces, which God by his Law had enjoyned. g Which kind of Stones are of themſelves apt to break into ſmall pieces, and by the Artificer are broken into ſmaller pieces for making Mortar. He ſeems to allude to that Fact of Moſes, who to ſhew his deteſtation of Idolatry, took the golden calf, and burnt it, and ground it to powder; and intimates, that when their Repentance ſhould be ſincere, it would diſcover it ſelf by their Zeal in deſtroying the Inſtruments of their Idolatry. h Which were frequently erected to the Honour of Idols, of which we have many inſtances in Scripture, which God therefore commanded his People to deſtroy, Deut. 7. 5. & 12. 3. i Shall be thrown down with Contempt and Indignation.

k Yet before this glorious Promiſe concerning the removal of Iſrael's Sin and Calamity be fulfilled, a dreadful and deſolating Judgment ſhall firſt come upon them. l Jeruſalem and the reſt of the Defenced Cities in the Land, the Singular Number being put for the Plural. m The moſt inhabited and populous places. Or, as the Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, their pleaſant habitations, whether in the City or Country. n Which was fulfilled in the time of the Babyloniſh Captivity. o Which is Synecdochically put for all ſorts of Cattel, which may ſecurely feed there, becauſe there ſhall be no Men left to diſturb or annoy them. p Of their pleaſant Habitation; of the young Trees which ſhall grow up in that ruinated Country.

11 When the boughs thereof are withered q, they ſhall be broken off r: the women ſ come and ſet them on fire: for * it is a people of no underſtanding t: therefore he that made them u, will not have mercy on them; and he that formed them, will ſhew them no favour.

q When they ſhall begin to wither, as they will when they are thus gnawed and cropped by Cattle. r That there may be no hopes nor poſſibility of their Recovery. ſ He mentions women, either becauſe it is their uſual Work in the Country to make Fires and to gather Fewel for them; or to ſignifie, that the Men ſhould be generally deſtroyed. t They do not underſtand either me or themſelves, either my Word or Works; they know not the things which concern their own Peace and Happineſs, but like bruit Beaſts, made to be deſtroyed, they blindly and willfully go on in thoſe Courſes which will bring them to certain ruine. u Both as they are Creatures, and as they are his People; for this alſo is expreſſed by making or forming, as Pſal. 100. 3. & 102. 18. & 149. 2. Thus he overthroweth their falſe and preſumptuous Conceits, that God would never deſtroy the Work of his own Hands, nor the Seed of Abraham his Friend for ever; and plainly declareth the contrary.

x Or, ſhall beat out: Which is not meant in a way of puniſhment, which is rather deſigned by threſhing, as Iſa. 21. 10. & 25. 10. than by beating; but as an Act of Mercy, as is evident from the following Clauſe of this, and from the next Verſe. It is a Metaphor from ſome Grains which were beaten out with a Rod or Staff, of which ſee Iſa. 28. 27, 28. and then were carefully gathered and laid up for the uſe of man. y From Euphrates to Nilus, which were the two Borders of the Land of Promiſe, Joſ. 1. 4. & 13. 3. All the Iſraelites which are left in the Land; which are here oppoſed to thoſe of them that are diſperſed into Foreign Parts, ſuch as Aſſyria and Egypt.. z Which ſignifies either the ſmallneſs of the Remnant of that numerous People; or rather God's exact and ſingular Care of them, that not one of them ſhould be loſt.

a Which may be heard even to the remoteſt parts of the Earth. God ſhall ſummon them all together as it were by ſound of Trumpet, to wit, by an eminent Call or Act of his Providence on their behalf. He alludes to the Cuſtom of calling the Iſraelites together with Trumpets; of which ſee Numb. 10. 2, 3. b Where the Ten Tribes were carried Captive. c Where many of the Jews were, as is manifeſt both from Scripture, as Jer, 43. 7. & 44. 28. Hoſ. 8. 13. Zech. 10. 10. and from other Authors.

Properly, by comparing this with v. 7. & Hoſ. 7. 5. Amos 6. 6. where the Iſraelites are taxed with this ſin. Or, which is, i. e. which flower is; or which beauty or glory is. f Either 1. in Samaria, which might well be called the Head, as being ſeated upon a Mountain, and the Head of the Kingdom, and the head of the fat Valleys, becauſe it was encompaſſed with many fat and rich Valleys. Or, 2. Upon the chief or choiceſt (as this word ſignifies, Exod. 30. 23. Cant. 4. 14. Iſa. 9. 14, 15. and elſewhere) of the fat or rich Valleys: which they made occaſions and inſtruments of Luxury, g Heb. That are ſmitten, or broken, or overthrown, or knocked down; all which ſignifications of this word fitly agree to Drunkards.

2 Behold, the Lord hath h a mighty and ſtrong One i, which as a Tempeſt of Hail, and a deſtroying Storm, as a floud of mighty Waters overflowing, ſhall caſt down k to the Earth with the hand l.

3 The Crown of Pride, the Drunkards of Ephraim, ſhall be trodden † under Feet m.

h To wit, at his Command, prepared and ready to execute his Judgments. i The King of Aſſyria. k Underſtand it, the crown of pride, or them, the drunkards of Ephraim. l Or, by his hand, either by that King's force or ſtrong hand; or by the hand of God, which ſhall ſtrengthen, and ſucceed him in this work. m The Expreſſion is emphatical; the Crown which was upon their own heads, ſhall be trodden under the feet of others; and they, whoſe Drunkenneſs made them ſtagger, and fall to the ground, ſhall be trodden down there.

4 And the glorious Beauty which is on the head of the fat Valley, ſhall be a fading Flower, and as the haſty Fruit n before the Summer: which when he that looketh upon it, ſeeth it, while it is yet in his hand, he † eateth it up o.

n Which coming before the Seaſon, and before other Fruits, is moſt acceptable. o Which, as ſoon as a Man ſees he covets it, and plucks it off, yet doth not long enjoy it, but through greedineſs devours it, almoſt as ſoon as he can get it into his hand. And ſo ſhall it be with Ephraim's glory, which his Enemies, as ſoon as they obſerve, ſhall covet and ſpoil, and devour it greedily, and with delight.

5 In in that day p ſhall the Lord of Hoſts be for a Crown of Glory, and for a Diadem of Beauty q unto the reſidue of his People r:

p When the Kingdom of Iſrael ſhall be utterly deſtroyed. q God ſhall give them eminent Glory and Beauty. r Unto the Kingdom of Judah, who ſhall continue in their own Country, when Iſrael is carried into Captivity.

6 And for a ſpirit of judgment to him that ſitteth in judgment, and for ſtrength s to them that turn the battel to the gate t.

s He explains how, or wherein God would glorifie and beautifie them, even by giving wiſdom to their Rulers, and courage to their Souldiers; which two things contribute much to the ſtrength and ſafety, and glory of a Nation. t To their Warriors; whom he deſcribeth by this Phraſe to intimate, That their Valour ſhould be crowned with Succeſs, and that they ſhould not only drive their Enemies from their own Gates and Land, but ſhould purſue them into their own Lands, and beſiege them in their own Cities, which Hezekiah did, 2 Kings 18. 8.

7 But they alſo u have erred through wine, and through ſtrong drink are they out of the way x: the prieſt y and the prophet z have erred a through ſtrong drink, they are ſwallowed up b of wine: they are out of the way through ſtrong drink, they err in viſion c, they ſtumble in judgment d.

u But alas! Judah is guilty of the ſame ſins with Iſrael, and therefore they alſo muſt expect the ſame Calamities; of which he ſpeaks afterward. x They run into the ſame exceſs of Wine and ſtrong Drink, whereby they beſot themſelves, and fall into many errors and miſcarriages, both in ſacred and civil Things. The many emphatical Phraſes and Repetitions of the ſame thing in other words, in this verſe ſeem to evince, That he here ſpeaks of Drunkenneſs, properly ſo called, although he afterward chargeth them with Ignorance, and Error, and Stupidity; which alſo were the Companions, and in part, the Effects of that Sin. y To whom ſtrong Drink was expreſly forbidden, in the time of their Sacred Miniſtrations, leſt they ſhould thereby be led into errors in their work, Levit. 10. 9, 10. z The Teachers, who ſhould have been patterns of Sobriety to the People, and to whom Sobriety was abſolutely neceſſary for the right diſcharge of their Office. a In their Converſation, and in their holy Adminiſtrations. b They are, as we ſay, drowned in it; their Senſes and Reaſon are ſwallowed up, and loſt in it. They deſign only to ſwallow it, but indeed are ſwallowed up by it. c The Prophets miſcarry in their Sacred Employment of Propheſying or Teaching, which is called Viſion, Prov. 29. 18. and elſewhere. d The Prieſts miſtake in pronouncing the Sentence of the Law, which was their duty, Deut. 17. 9, 10, 11.

8 For all tables e are full of vomit, and filthineſs, ſo that there is no place f clean.

e At which the Prieſts and Prophets, and other Jews did eat and drink. They hardly made one ſober meal: Drunkenneſs was their daily practice. f No Table, or no part of the Table; no not ſo much as the holy Places, in which the Prieſts did frequently eat their meals.

g To wit, the Teacher, which is eaſily underſtood, out of the following Verb; either God, or his Prophets, or Miniſters. h Who is there among this People, that are capable and willing to be taught the good knowledge of God? A Miniſter may as ſoon teach a young Child, as theſe Men.

i They muſt be taught, like little Children, ſlowly, and by leiſure, the ſame things being oft repeated, becauſe of their great ſome particular Enemy and Oppreſſor of God's People; either the Aſſyrian Emperour, who now was ſo; or rather the Babylonian, who ſhould be ſo: Some underſtand this of the Devil: But although it may be applied to him in a myſtical ſenſe, it ſeems to be literally meant of ſome potent and viſible Adverſary; which ſeems more agreeable to the following Verſes, and to the Uſage of this and other Prophets. b Which by its ſting pierceth quickly and deeply into Mens Bodies. Or, the bar (as this Word is elſewhere uſed) ſerpent, as this may be called, either for its length, or ſtrength, or ſwift motion. c Winding and turning it ſelf with great variety and dexterity. Whereby he ſeems to ſignifie the Craftineſs and Activity of this Enemy, which being added to his Strength, makes it more formidable. d Or rather, the whale, as this Word is rendred, Gen. 1. 21. Job 7. 12. and elſewhere; which agrees better with the following Words, that is in the ſea, which poſſibly were added only to limit that general and ambiguous Word to a Sea-Monſter, and not to deſcribe the Place in which the Enemy ſignified by this Dragon had his abode. Although the ſea, which here follows, may be metaphorically underſtood of the great largneſs of his Empire, and the multitude of his Subjects, by comparing this with Rev. 17. 1, 15.

e When this potent Enemy ſhall be deſtroyed. f The Words in the Hebrew Text lie thus, A vineyard (Behold, a vineyard; or, Jacob or Iſrael, my Church and People, which is ſufficiently underſtood from the next Verſe, and is expreſſed v. 6. ſhall be a Vineyard, ſhall be defended and dreſſed, ſhall thrive and flouriſh like a Vineyard) of red wine (i. e. of the choiceſt and beſt Wine, which in thoſe parts was Red, as appears both from Scripture, as Prov. 23. 31. whence it is called the blood of the grape, Gen. 49. 11. Deut. 32. 14. and from other Authors) ſing ye (O you faithful Souls, ſing with Joy and Thankſgiving to God) to (or of, or, concerning, as this Prefix is elſewhere uſed) her, or it, to wit, the Vineyard or Church, (which is frequently compared to a Vineyard, as Pſal. 80. 8. Iſa. 5. 7. and elſewhere) now delivered from her great Enemy, and bleſſed with peace and proſperity.

3 I the LORD do keep it g, I will water it every moment: leſt any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.

g I will ſecure it, that neither Men, nor Beaſts, nor Drought ſhall ſpoil it; which alone are the things that can hurt it. I will protect my Church from all the Aſſaults of her Enemies, and ſupply her with all neceſſary Proviſions, with my Ordinances, and with my Spirit and Grace.

4 Fury h is not in me: who would ſet the briars and thorns againſt me in battel? I would || go through them, I would burn them together i.

h To wit, againſt my Vineyard, or my People; which is eaſily underſtood both from the foregoing and following Verſes, I have been diſpleaſed with them, and have chaſtiſed them; but I am not implacable towards them, and reſolved utterly to deſtroy them as their Enemies are, and would have me to be. i This is added as a Reaſon of the foregoing Clauſe and Aſſertion; which may be conceived either, 1. thus, I rather deſire to contend with Briars and Thorns, i. e. with the wicked Enemies of my Church, who are thus called, Iſa. 10. 17. Ezek. 28. 24. and if my Wrath was now kindled againſt them, as it is againſt my People, I would be furious towards them, and never leave till I had utterly conſumed them; but I will deal more indulgently with my People. Which Expoſition ſeems to receive ſome light and ſtrength from v. 6, 7, 8. Or, 2. thus, For I conſider the weakneſs of my People, that if I ſhould let looſe my Fury upon them, they could no more ſtand before me, than Briars and Thorns (to which God's People, when they fall into Sin, and provoke God, are not unfitly reſembled) can ſtand before a devouring Fire, and therefore they would in an inſtant be utterly deſtroyed; which I will not do. And this Conſideration of Man's Imbecillity is elſewhere alledged as a Reaſon of God's Indulgence, as Pſal. 103. 13, 14, 15, 16. Iſa. 57. 16. But this I deliver with ſubmiſſion.

k Or if at any time Fury be, or ſeem to be in me againſt my Vineyard or People. l My People, as is clearly implied from the following Words; for, there is no peace to thoſe who are not God's People, or to the wicked, Iſa. 57. 21. and is expreſſed in the following Verſe. m i. e. Take hold of my Arm, which is metonymically ſtrength, and ſtay it from giving the Blow, not by Force, which is impoſſible, but by humble Submiſſion and earneſt Supplication. Or, ſtrengthen himſelf or be ſtrong (as this Word properly ſignifies, and is elſewhere uſed) by my ſtrength; not by his own ſtrength, which he will oppoſe to mine, but by my Strength, which he may by humble and frequent Prayers not only reſtrain from doing him hurt, but effectually engage to aſſiſt him, and do him good. He ſeems to allude to that Hiſtory of Jacob's Wreſtling with the Angel of God, Gen. 32. 28. which he could never have done but by a Strength received from God. n That in ſtead of oppoſing me, he may in this manner reconcile himſelf to me. Or, and he ſhall make peace with me, as the ſame Words are rendred in the next Clauſe; which may be repeated to aſſure them of that great & important Favour, that God would make Peace with them. Or, the Words may be rendred in both Clauſes, let him make peace with me, yea let him make peace with me, this Future Verb being taken Imperatively, as the other is in the former clauſe of the Verſe.

6 He ſhall cauſe them that come of Jacob to take root o: Iſrael ſhall bloſſom and bud, and fill the face of the world with fruit p.

o To be firmly ſetled in their Poſſeſſions, and not toſſed hither and thither, as they have been. p Their Poſterity ſhall be ſo numerous, that their own Land ſhall not be ſufficient for them, but they ſhall be forced to ſeek Habitations in other Countries, and ſhall repleniſh them with People. But this ſeems to be underſtood of the Spiritual Seed of Jacob, or of Believers, who are oft called God's Iſrael, as Rom. 9. 6. and elſewhere.

7 Hath he ſmitten him, † as he ſmote thoſe that ſmote him q? or is he ſlain according to the ſlaughter of them that are ſlain by him r?

q The Queſtion implies a Denial; He hath not ſo ſmitten him, to wit, Jacob. He hath not dealt ſo ſeverely with his People, as he hath dealt with his and their Enemies, whom he hath utterly deſtroyed. This may look either, 1. backward upon times paſt. If you conſult former Experiences, you will find, that God hath done ſo, hath ſpared and reſtored his People, and in Judgment remembred Mercy to them, when he hath totally ruined their Enemies; or, 2. forward upon the time to come, of which he ſpeaks as of a thing paſt, after the manner of the Prophets, and of which he ſpeaks in the next Verſe. r of thoſe who were ſlain by Iſrael, or rather by God at the Prayer and on the behalf of Iſrael. Heb. of his ſlain ones, i. e. of thoſe of his Smiters or Enemies who were ſlain. Which Expoſition is favoured by comparing this with the foregoing Clauſe.

ſ With moderation, in certain Proportions which God meteth out and fitteth to their Strength. t When the Vine ſhooteth forth its luxuriant Branches, he, like the Vine-dreſſer, cutteth them off, but ſo as not to ſpoil or deſtroy the Vine. Or, as divers Interpreters render it, and the Word properly and frequently ſignifies in or by caſting or diſmiſſing or ſending her or it out, or, when thou doſt caſt or ſend her out, to wit, out of her own Land, in which ſhe was planted, into Captivity. He alludes to a Man that divorceth his Wife, which is expreſſed by this Word; but withal intimates, that this ſhall not be peremptory and perpetual, as other Divorces were. u God is ſaid to debate or contend with Men, when he executeth his Judgments upon them, as Iſa. 49. 25. & 57. 16. Amos 7. 4. x He mitigateth the ſeverity of the Judgment. But, I muſt confeſs, I do not meet with any of the ancient or modern Tranſlators that agree with ours in this Verſion: nor is the Hebrew Verb ever uſed, ſo far as I know, in the ſignification of ſtaying or reſtraining: beſides, our Tranſlation takes no notice of the Hebrew Prepoſition. But this Word unqueſtionably ſignifies to remove or take away, as 2 Sam. 20. 13. Prov. 25. 4, 5. and thus moſt Interpreters underſtand it. And ſo the place is very fitly thus rendred, he (or, when he, which Particle may eaſily be underſtood out of the former Clauſe, as is uſual) removeth (underſtand either it, to wit, the Vine; or them, to wit, the Enemies of God and his People. And ſo this agreeth with the former Verſe, in repreſenting the different way of God's proceeding againſt his People, and his and their Enemies. Either way there is only a defect of the Pronoun, which I have before ſhewed in divers places to be very uſual in the Hebrew Language) with or by his rough wind, by which ſometimes Vines and other Trees are pulled up by the roots, as that did, 1 Kings 19. 11. whereby he underſtands his moſt terrible Judgments. y In the time when he ſendeth forth his Eaſt-wind; which he mentions becauſe that Wind in thoſe Parts was moſt violent and moſt hurtful to Trees and Fruits, as hath been oft obſerved, and therefore is uſed to ſignifie the moſt grievous Calamities.

9 By this z therefore a ſhall the iniquity of Jacob be purged b, and this is all the fruit, to take away his ſin c: * when he maketh d all the ſtones of the altar e as chalk-ſtones f that are beaten in ſunder g; the groves h and || images ſhall not ſtand up i.

* 1 Kin 18. 38.

z By this manner of God's dealing with his People. a That the difference between Jacob and his Enemies, in their ſeveral Sufferings, may appear. c Heb. expiated or forgiven upon their true Repentance, which ſhall be the happy effect of their Chaſtiſement. c The effect hereof ſhall not be to deſtroy the Sinner, as it is in other Men, but only to take away the guilt and power of their Sins. d Which ſin of Jacob's ſhall be purged and taken away, and the Judgment removed, when he ſhall truly repent of all his Sins, and eſpecially of his Idolatry, to which they were moſt inclined, and for which the moſt of God's Judgments which they had hitherto felt had been inflicted upon them. e Which by an uſual Enallage may be put for the Altars, to wit, their Idolatrous Altars, as is evident from the following Words. Poſſibly he may ſay the altar with reſpect to that particular Altar which Ahaz had ſet up in the place of God's own Altar; and this Prophecy might be delivered either to the Prophet, or by him to the People, in Ahaz his time, while that Altar ſtood and was uſed. f When he ſhall break all thoſe goodly Altars in pieces, which God by his Law had enjoyned. g Which kind of Stones are of themſelves apt to break into ſmall pieces, and by the Artificer are broken into ſmaller pieces for making Mortar. He ſeems to allude to that Fact of Moſes, who to ſhew his deteſtation of Idolatry, took the golden calf, and burnt it, and ground it to powder; and intimates, that when their Repentance ſhould be ſincere, it would diſcover it ſelf by their Zeal in deſtroying the Inſtruments of their Idolatry. h Which were frequently erected to the Honour of Idols, of which we have many inſtances in Scripture, which God therefore commanded his People to deſtroy, Deut. 7. 5. & 12. 3. i Shall be thrown down with Contempt and Indignation.

k Yet before this glorious Promiſe concerning the removal of Iſrael's Sin and Calamity be fulfilled, a dreadful and deſolating Judgment ſhall firſt come upon them. l Jeruſalem and the reſt of the Defenced Cities in the Land, the Singular Number being put for the Plural. m The moſt inhabited and populous places. Or, as the Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, their pleaſant habitations, whether in the City or Country. n Which was fulfilled in the time of the Babyloniſh Captivity. o Which is Synecdochically put for all ſorts of Cattel, which may ſecurely feed there, becauſe there ſhall be no Men left to diſturb or annoy them. p Of their pleaſant Habitation; of the young Trees which ſhall grow up in that ruinated Country.

11 When the boughs thereof are withered q, they ſhall be broken off r: the women ſ come and ſet them
eut. 32. on fire: for * it is a people of no underſtanding t:
therefore he that made them u, will not have mercy
p. 1. 3. on them; and he that formed them, will ſhew them

q When they ſhall begin to wither, as they will when they are thus gnawed and cropped by Cattle. r That there may be no hopes nor poſſibility of their Recovery. ſ He mentions women, either becauſe it is their uſual Work in the Country to make Fires and to gather Fewel for them; or to ſignifie, that the Men ſhould be generally deſtroyed. t They do not underſtand either me or themſelves, either my Word or Works; they know not the things which concern their own Peace and Happineſs, but like bruit Beaſts, made to be deſtroyed, they blindly and willfully go on in thoſe Courſes which will bring them to certain ruine. u Both as they are Creatures, and as they are his People; for this alſo is expreſſed by making or forming, as Pſal. 100. 3. & 102. 18. & 149. 2. Thus he overthroweth their falſe and preſumptuous Conceits, that God would never deſtroy the Work of his own Hands, nor the Seed of Abraham his Friend for ever; and plainly declareth the contrary.

x Or, ſhall beat out: Which is not meant in a way of puniſhment, which is rather deſigned by threſhing, as Iſa. 21. 10. & 25. 10. than by beating; but as an Act of Mercy, as is evident from the following Clauſe of this, and from the next Verſe. It is a Metaphor from ſome Grains which were beaten out with a Rod or Staff, of which ſee Iſa. 28. 27, 28. and then were carefully gathered and laid up for the uſe of man. y From Euphrates to Nilus, which were the two Borders of the Land of Promiſe, Joſ. 1. 4. & 13. 3. All the Iſraelites which are left in the Land; which are here oppoſed to thoſe of them that are diſperſed into Foreign Parts, ſuch as Aſſyria and Egypt.. z Which ſignifies either the ſmallneſs of the Remnant of that numerous People; or rather God's exact and ſingular Care of them, that not one of them ſhould be loſt.

a Which may be heard even to the remoteſt parts of the Earth. God ſhall ſummon them all together as it were by ſound of Trumpet, to wit, by an eminent Call or Act of his Providence on their behalf. He alludes to the Cuſtom of calling the Iſraelites together with Trumpets; of which ſee Numb. 10. 2, 3. b Where the Ten Tribes were carried Captive. c Where many of the Jews were, as is manifeſt both from Scripture, as Jer, 43. 7. & 44. 28. Hoſ. 8. 13. Zech. 10. 10. and from other Authors.

a That proud and inſolent Kingdom; for the Crown is oft put for the Kingdom, as Jer. 13. 18. &c. b Either 1. Metaphorically, drunk with proud ſelf-confidence, and ſecurity, and proſperity: Or rather, 2. Properly, by comparing this with v. 7. & Hoſ. 7. 5. Amos 6. 6. where the Iſraelites are taxed with this ſin. For having many and excellent Vines among them, they were expoſed to this Sin, and frequently overcome by it. c Of the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes; which is commonly called by the name of Ephraim, as hath been oft noted before. d Whoſe Glory and Greatneſs ſhall ſuddenly wither and periſh. e Which proud and drunken Iſraelites have their common and chief abode. Upon the chief or choiceſt (as this word ſignifies, Exod. 30. 23. Cant. 4. 14. Iſa. 9. 14, 15. and elſewhere) of the fat or rich Valleys: which they made occaſions and inſtruments of Luxury, *g Heb. 4 And the glorious Beauty which is on the head of the fat Valley, ſhall be a fading Flower, and as the haſty Fruit n before the Summer: which when he that looketh upon it, ſeeth it, while it is yet in his hand, he † eateth it up o. †Heb. ſwalloweth.

7 But they alſo u have erred through wine, and through ſtrong drink are they out of the way x: the prieſt y and the prophet z have erred a through ſtrong drink, they are ſwallowed up b of wine: they are out of the way through ſtrong drink, they err in viſion c, they ſtumble in judgment d.

u But alas! Judah is guilty of the ſame ſins with Iſrael, and therefore they alſo muſt expect the ſame Calamities; of which he ſpeaks afterward. x They run into the ſame exceſs of Wine and ſtrong Drink, whereby they beſot themſelves, and fall into many errors and miſcarriages, both in ſacred and civil Things. The many emphatical Phraſes and Repetitions of the ſame thing in other words, in this verſe ſeem to evince, That he here ſpeaks of Drunkenneſs, properly ſo called, although he afterward chargeth them with Ignorance, and Error, and Stupidity; which alſo were the Companions, and in part, the Effects of that Sin. y To whom ſtrong Drink was expreſly forbidden, in the time of their Sacred Miniſtrations, leſt they ſhould thereby be led into errors in their work, Levit. 10. 9, 10. z The Teachers, who ſhould have been patterns of Sobriety to the People, and to whom Sobriety was abſolutely neceſſary for the right diſcharge of their Office. a In their Converſation, and in their holy Adminiſtrations. b They are, as we ſay, drowned in it; their Senſes and Reaſon are ſwallowed up, and loſt in it. They deſign only to ſwallow it, but indeed are ſwallowed up by it. c The Prophets miſcarry in their Sacred Employment of Propheſying or Teaching, which is called Viſion, Prov. 29. 18. and elſewhere. d The Prieſts miſtake in pronouncing the Sentence of the Law, which was their duty, Deut. 17. 9, 10, 11.

8 For all tables e are full of vomit, and filthineſs, ſo that there is no place f clean.

e At which the Prieſts and Prophets, and other Jews did eat and drink. They hardly made one ſober meal: Drunkenneſs was their daily practice. f No Table, or no part of the Table; no not ſo much as the holy Places, in which the Prieſts did frequently eat their meals.

9 Whom ſhall he g teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to underſtand † doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breaſts h. † Heb. the hearing.

g To wit, the Teacher, which is eaſily underſtood, out of the following Verb; either God, or his Prophets, or Miniſters. h Who is there among this People, that are capable and willing to be taught the good knowledge of God? A Miniſter may as ſoon teach a young Child, as theſe Men.

10 For precept ‖ muſt be upon precept i, precept upon precept; line upon line k, line upon line; here a little, and there a little. ‖ Or, hath been.

i They muſt be taught, like little Children, ſlowly, and by leiſure, the ſame things being oft repeated, becauſe of their great dulneſs. k One line of the book after another, as Children are taught to read.

11 For l with † * ſtammering lips m, and another tongue n ‖ will he ſpeak to this people o.

* 1 Cor. 14. 21.

l Or, therefore, as this Particle is oft uſed. For this ſeems to be the puniſhment of their dulneſs. m Either 1. in way of condeſcention, as Mothers and Nurſes teach Children, liſping and ſtammering with them. Or, 2. in way of judgment; which ſuits beſt with the next Clauſe. n By People of a ſtrange Language, whom he ſhall bring among them, and into whoſe power He ſhall deliver them; which is a great aggravation of their Miſery, ſee Deut. 28. 49. Jer. 5. 15. Ezek. 3. 5. o Seeing they will not hear Him ſpeaking, by His Prophets and Miniſters, in their own Language, they ſhall hear their Enemies ſpeaking to them in a ſtrange and rough Language.

p To which People the Lord, by his Miniſters, ſaid. q This Doctrine or Precept, as it is expreſſed, ver. 9, 10. or the Word of the Lord, as it follows, ver. 13. r The only way, in the obſervation of which you will find reſt and ſatisfaction. s Heb. Cauſe the weary (underſtand either Soul or Country) to reſt. As Reſt is offered to you by the Prophets in God's name, do you embrace it; which is to be done by hearkning to God's Word, as appears by the following Clauſes. So ſhall this People, which hath been ſo oft, and ſo long wearied, and haraſſed by great and manifold Calamities, find Reſt and Peace. t They are wilfully ignorant, and obſtinately refuſed the very means of Inſtruction.

13 But the word of the LORD was unto them, precept upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little u; that they might go and fall backward, and be broken, and ſnared, and taken x.

u The ſenſe of the Words thus rendred, may be this, They ſpake of God's Word, with ſcorn and contempt, repeating the Prophets Words in a ſcoffing manner, and with a ſtammering and ridiculous tone, ſaying, Precept upon Precept, &c. as if they had ſaid, It ſeems the Prophet takes us to be meer Children, that need to be taught our firſt Rudiments, and that but ſlowly. That theſe were ſcornful men, and mockers, is affirmed, ver. 14. 22. and as ſcoffers frequently catch the words out of others mens Mouths, and uſe them in way of deriſion; ſo it may be thought they did with the Prophets words. But the words may be, and by divers learned Men, are rendred a little otherwiſe; And the word of the Lord ſhall be unto them, precept upon preecept, &c. As this Method hath been uſed by them, and was altogether neceſſary for them; ſo it ſtill is, and for the future ſhall be. As they were Children in underſtanding, they ſhall ſtill continue to be ſuch; they ſhall be ever learning, and never come to the knowledge of the Truth; as they formerly would not, ſo now they ſhall not profit by the Word; and their ſin ſhall be their puniſhment. And this ſeems to ſuit with the following Clauſe, which notes the dreadful deſign and effect of that judicial blindneſs, That they may, or might go and fall backward, &c. x According to the former, which is our Tranſlation, this Clauſe notes only the event, or conſequent of their Sin: According to the Latter, it notes the Judgement of God deſigned and inflicted for it; that God's Word being ſo horribly abuſed by them, might be an occaſion at which they might ſtumble and fall, and that backward, which is the worſt, and moſt dangerous way of falling; and ſo be broken to pieces, or by which they might be ſnared and taken.

y Which make a mock at ſin, and at God's Words and Threatnings; and doubt not by your witty Devices, and by your wicked Practices, to eſcape God's Judgments, of which we read in the next Verſe.

15 Becauſe ye have ſaid z, We have made a covenant with death, and with hell are we at agreement a; when the overflowing ſcourge b ſhall paſs through c, it ſhall not come unto us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under falſhood have we hid our ſelves d.

z In your hearts. a We are as ſafe from Death, and Hell, or the Grave, as if they had entred into Covenant with us, that they would not invade us. The word rendred Hell, moſt commonly ſignifies the Grave; which alſo ſeems moſt proper in this place, that ſo the ſame thing may be repeated in other words, as is moſt uſual in Prophetical Writings. b The judgment of God, which is called a Scourge, for its ſharpneſs and ſeverity, and overflowing for its univerſality; two differing Metaphors being joyned together; which is not unuſual, both in Scripture, and in other Authors. c To wit, the Land. d We ſhall ſecure ouy ſelves by lying and diſſimulation, by compliance with our Enemies, and with their Religion too if it be neceſſary, and many crafty devices. Or by lies and falſhood, he means their Riches and Strength, to which they truſted, to which he giveth theſe Titles, not that they called or thought them ſuch; but that he might ſignifie what they really were, and would appear to be; ſee the Notes on Prov. 1. 11.

16 Therefore e thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold, I lay f in Zion g for a foundation h, * a ſtone i, a † tried ſtone k, a precious l corner-ſtone m, a ſure foundation n: he that believeth o, * ſhall not make haſt p.

e The Coherence is ſomething obſcure and difficult. It may be made either 1. thus, Therefore I will bring moſt terrible Judgments upon you; which are fully expreſſed, ver. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21. But before he comes to the Commination, to which, therefore, properly belongs, he firſt propoundeth a comfortable Promiſe concerning the ſending of the Meſſiah, partly for the ſupport of Believers, who are apt to tremble at God's Word, and might otherwiſe be apt to deſpond at the prediction of ſuch dreadful Things: And partly to aggravate their Miſery by comparing it with the ſafety and happineſs, which the Godly, and Believing Jews, whom they deſpiſed and mocked, ſhould find in Zion; and by ſignifying, that that bleſſed and ſure Foundation laid in Zion, ſhould yield them no ſupport nor benefit, nor ſecure them from the Vengeance of God. Or, 2. thus, Becauſe your Refuges are ſo mean, and vain, and deceitful; therefore I will direct you to a better and ſurer Refuge, which will never fail thoſe that truſt to it, which God hath made in Zion. But if you ſhall deſpiſe and reject that Refuge, which I now offer to you All, if you will Believe; then know, that I will lay judgment to the line, &c. as it follows, v. 17. And this ſeems to me, to be the moſt natural and eaſie Connexion. f I have purpoſed and promiſed it, and will, in the fulneſs of time, actually perform it. g In my Church, which is commonly called Zion; and in Jeruſalem, where this Stone ſhall be firſt laid, which afterwards ſpread further, and filled the whole Earth, as it is ſaid of it, Dan. 2. 35. h Upon which I will Build my Church, conſiſting both of Jews and Gentiles, the Foundation of all the hopes, and comfort, and happineſs of my People; the Foundation of my Covenant made with my Church, and of all my Promiſes. i Not Hezekiah, but the Meſſiah, as appears: 1. From thoſe Scriptures of the Old-Teſtament, in which Chriſt is called a Stone, as Pſal. 118. 22. Iſa. 8. 14. Dan. 2. 34, 35, 45. Zach. 3. 9. 2. From the New-Teſtament, where this Text is directly expounded of Chriſt, as Rom. 9. 32, 33. 1 Pet. 2. 4. 3. From the laſt Clauſe, wherein He requires Faith in this Stone, which is not to be given to any meer Man, Jer. 17. 5. and wherein He implies, That this Stone was not yet come, nor to come ſpeedily into the World; whereas Hezekiah was King at the time of this Prophecy. 4. From the uſual practice of the Prophets, and eſpecially of this Prophet, which is, to comfort and fortifie God's People, againſt the dread of approaching Calamities, by that great and fundamental Promiſe of the Meſſiah, in whom alone all other Promiſes are, Yea, and Amen; whereof we have ſeen ſome Inſtances already, and ſhall ſee more hereafter. k Which I have tried, and approved as every way ſufficient to be a Corner-ſtone, and a Foundation-ſtone. Such Stones in Buildings uſe to be choſen with care, and to be thoroughly examined by the Builder. l Giving not only ſtrength but beauty, and glory to the Building, as Corner-ſtones frequently do, Pſal. 144. 12. m Uniting the ſeveral parts of the Building together, making Ephraim and Judah, now ſadly divided, one ſtick, Ezek. 37. 19, 24. and Jews and Gentiles, now implacable Enemies, one Church and People, Eph. 2. 14, &c. n Upon whom you may ſecurely Reſt; One who will not fail, nor deceive you, as your lying Refuges will. o To wit, this Promiſe; or in this Stone, as it is explained, 1 Pet. 2. 6. p Shall not make more haſt than he ought, or, as we ſay, more haſt than good ſpeed; ſhall not haſtily and greedily catch at any way of eſcaping his danger, whether it be right or wrong, but ſhall patiently wait upon God in His way, till he deliver him. Withal, here is a plain intimation, that the Mercy here promiſed was not to be given preſently, but after ſome conſiderable time; and therefore, that they ſhould quietly, and patiently ſubmit to God's Will, under their preſent difficulties, and expect the accompliſhment of it in God's due time; compare Hag. 2. 3. The Word here rendred, make haſt, is by the Seventy Interpreters rendred, be confounded, whom the Apoſtles follow, Rom. 9. 33. and 1 Pet. 2. 6. either becauſe they thought it moſt convenient, in a matter where the difference was not conſiderable, to follow that Tranſlation which was moſt uſed, and beſt underſtood by the generality of Jewiſh and Gentile Chriſtians; or becauſe the ſame Word hath both theſe ſignifications in the Eaſtern Languages, as the moſt Learned, and Worthy Dr. Pocock hath proved; or becauſe the one follows upon the other; and precipitation or haſt, commonly expoſeth Men to ſhame and confuſion; which alſo is implied in the following Verſes, wherein the dreadful Judgements of God are denounced againſt thoſe, who ſhould not believe, and would make haſt to prevent or remove their Dangers by any means whatſoever.

17 Judgment alſo will I lay to the line, and righteouſneſs to the plummet q, and the hail ſhall ſweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters ſhall overflow the hiding place r.

q I will Execute juſt Judgment, as it were by a Line and Plummet annexed to it, i. e. with exactneſs and care. And this may be underſtood, either, 1. That God would ſo order and ſettle things in His Church, that Juſtice and Judgment ſhould prevail, and not Iniquity, as hitherto it had done: or rather, 2. That as God would build up, and preſerve all Believers upon that Foundation-Stone, ſo he would ſeverely puniſh, and utterly deſtroy all thoſe unbelieving Jews, who ſhould reject that Stone. For the line and plummet, or the plumb-line, was not only uſed in erecting Buildings, but alſo in pulling them down; thoſe parts of the Building being thus marked out, which were to be demoliſhed; and therefore is uſed in Scripture, to ſignifie the Deſtruction of a Place or People, as is evident from 2 Kings 21. 13. Iſa. 34. 11. Lament. 2. 8. Amos 7. 7, 8. And this ſenſe agrees beſt with the following Clauſe and Verſe. r My Judgments, which in Scripture are compared to a ſtorm of Hail or Rain, ſhall diſcover the vanity of all your crafty and wicked Devices, and ſhall ſweep you away with the Beſom of Deſtruction, in ſpight of them.

18 And your covenant with death ſhall be diſannulled s, and your agreement with hell ſhall not ſtand; when the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through,

s Made void or of none effect: it ſhall ſtand you in no ſtead. t Which you flattered your ſelves, that it ſhould not come unto you, ver. 15.

19 From the time that it goeth forth, it ſhall take you u: for morning by morning it ſhall paſs over x, by day and by night; and it ſhall be a vexation, only ‖ to underſtand the report y.

u As ſoon as this overflowing Scourge or Judgment ſhall go forth from me into the Land, it ſhall aſſuredly, and with the firſt, take or ſeize upon you ſcoffers, or carry you away, which agrees well, both with the Hebrew word, which is frequently taken in that Senſe, and with the Metaphor of a Flood, which is here uſed. x It ſhall not only come to you, contrary to your preſumption, ver. 15. but it ſhall abide upon you; and when it hath paſſed over you, it ſhall return again to you, morning after morning; and ſhall follow you day and night, without giving you the leaſt reſpite. y So dreadful ſhall the Judgment be, that it ſhall ſtrike you with great horror, when you only hear the rumor of its approach, or of the ſad effects of it, upon other perſons or parts of the Land.

20 For the bed is ſhorter than that a man can ſtretch himſelf on it: and the covering † narrower, than that he can wrap himſelf in it z.

Heb. nar- w when wrappeth mſelf.

z For thoſe lying Refuges, to which you truſt, will not be able to give you that Protection and Comfort, which you expect from them; no more than a man can ſtretch himſelf (as theſe luxurious Iſraelites uſed to do, Amos 6. 4.) upon a bed which is too narrow for him, or wrap or keep himſelf warm, with a covering or bed cloaths, which are not large enough for him.

21 For the LORD ſhall riſe up a as in mount * Perazim b, he ſhall be wroth as in the valley of * Gibeon c, that he may do his work, his ſtrange work d; and bring to paſs his act, his ſtrange act.

That God would puniſh them not with ordinary puniſhments; but in a moſt dreadful and ſingular, and extraordinary manner; ſuch a Judgment being called a marvellous work, Iſa. 29. 14. although the Hebrew word there uſed, be not the ſame with this, but of a much differing ſignification: Or rather 2. That this work of bringing total and irrecoverable Deſtruction upon Iſrael, was contrary to the benignity of his own Nature, and to the uſual way of dealing with his people, whom he uſed and delighted to protect, and ſpare, and bleſs; and whom, even when he is angry with them, and puniſheth them, he handleth more gently, than he doth other perſons, in Judgment remembring Mercy to them, as was noted, Iſa. 27. 7, 8. ſee alſo Chap. 25. 11.

22 Now therefore be ye not mockers e, leſt your bands be made ſtrong f: for I have heard * from the Lord GOD of hoſts a conſumption, even determined upon the whole earth g.

e For your own ſakes do not make a mock of God's Word and Threatnings, as you uſe to do. f Leſt thereby you make the Judgments of God, which are oft compared to bands, as Pſal. 65. 11. and 73. 4. and elſewhere, more ſure and unavoidable, and more ſevere and terrible, as bands are, when they are tied faſter, and more ſtrongly upon a priſoner. g God hath aſſured me, That he will utterly root out, and deſtroy the people of Iſrael; as indeed he did in Hezekiah's reign.

23 Give ye ear, and hear my voice; hearken and hear my ſpeech h.

h Obſerve what I ſay, and do you judge if it be not reaſonable.

24 Doth the plowman plow all day to ſow i? doth he open k and break the clods of his ground l?

i The Plowman doth not ſpend all his time in plowing the Ground, in order to the ſowing it, or, as it follows, in opening it, and breaking its clods; but he hath ſeveral times for ſeveral works, a time for plowing, and a time for ſowing and harrowing, and a time for reaping, and a time for threſhing or beating, and bruiſing the Corn for his own uſe. Which wiſdom God hath put into him. This is the Sum of the ſimilitude propounded here, and in the following Verſes. The deſign and meaning whereof ſeems to be this, to teach them, That God had his times and ſeaſons for ſeveral Works, and that the methods of his providence were various at ſeveral times, and towards ſeveral Perſons or People; and therefore that thoſe ſcoffing Iſraelites were guilty of great Folly, in flattering themſelves, and deſpiſing God's Threatnings, becauſe of God's long Patience towards them, and becauſe of their preſent impunity and proſperity; for God would certainly and ſpeedily take a time to Threſh, and break them with his Judgments, as at preſent he Plowed and Harrowed them, and ſo prepared them for it by his threatnings. k Underſtand, all day, or continually, out of the foregoing Clauſe, l Which they uſed to do with a kind of Harrow, or other proper Inſtrument. See Jer. 4. 3. Hoſ. 10. 11, 12.

25 When he hath made plain the face thereof m, doth he not caſt abroad the fitches, and ſcatter the cummin, and caſt in ‖ the principal wheat n, and the appointed barley o, and the ‖ rie in their † place p?

Or, as others, the marked Barley; or, the choiſe Barley, which they laid aſide in a Sack for Seed; and therefore ſet aſide with a peculiar Mark upon it. p Heb. in his Border; each Seed in a ſeveral and proper place.

26 ‖ For his God doth inſtruct him to diſcretion, and doth teach him q.

‖ Or, and he bindeth it in ſuch ſort as his God doth teach him,

q The Senſe of the Words thus rendred is this, All this he performeth by that diſcretion, which God hath put into him: and therefore be aſſured, That God will order all His Affairs with Judgement, and will in due ſeaſon execute the Puniſhments which now He threatens, and will perfect His own Works. But the Words by ſome, are rendred otherwiſe. And he beateth it out (as this Word may be rendred, 1 Kings 12. 11. Prov. 19. 18. and 29. 17.) in ſuch ſort, as his God doth teach him, in a diſcreet manner, which being generally mentioned here, is particularly deſcribed in the following Verſe.

r Which then and there was made like a Sled ſhod with Iron, which was drawn by Men or Beaſts, over the ſheafs of Corn, to bruiſe them, and beat the Grain out of them. s A leſſer and lower Wheel than a Cart-wheel, but of the ſame form, upon which poſſibly the threſhing Inſtrument was drawn. t As being unable to bear harder uſage.

28 Bread-corn is bruiſed u; becauſe x he will not ever be threſhing it, nor break it y with the wheel of his cart, nor bruiſe it with his horſemen z.

u With a threſhing Inſtrument, by comparing this with the foregoing Verſe, and the following Words. x Or rather, but, or nevertheleſs, as the Word is frequently uſed. The Senſe is, The Husbandman doth indeed threſh the Bread-corn, but he doth it with moderation, and only for a time, not for ever. y Underſtand, for ever, out of the foregoing Clauſe, as is uſual in Scripture. z Which governed the Horſe or Horſes, that drew the threſhing Inſtrument. Or, with horſes: For it is evident, and hath been obſerved before, that this Hebrew word ſignifies Horſes, as well as Horſemen. And this was another way of Threſhing out the Corn, by driving Horſes, or other Cattel. over the Sheaves to tread it out: of which, ſee Deut. 25. 4. Mich. 4. 13.

29 This alſo ‖ cometh forth from the LORD of hoſts, which * † is wonderful in counſel, and excellent in working †.

* Jer. 32. 19.
† Heb. he hath made counſel wonderful, he hath made wiſdom great.

‖ This part of the Husbandmans diſcretion expreſſed, v. 27, 28. as well as that expreſſed, v. 24, 25. † Theſe words contain the Application of the Similitude. The Husbandman manageth all his Affairs with common diſcretion; but God governs the World, and His Church, with wonderful Wiſdom: He is great and marvellous, both in the deſign or contrivance of Things, and in the Execution of them.

a This Word ſignifies a ſtrong Lion, or the Lion of God; and is uſed concerning Lion-like Men, as it is rendred, 1 Chron. 11. 22. and of God's Altar, as it is rendred, Ezek. 43. 15, 16. which ſeems to be thus called, becauſe it devoured and conſumed the Sacrifices put upon it, as greedily, and as irreſiſtably, as the Lion doth his prey. If the Altar be here meant, it is put Synecdochically for the Temple, and the words may be rendred, Wo to Ariel, to Ariel of or in the City, or, and the City; for that conjunction is ſometimes underſtood, as Iſa. 22. 6. Hab. 3. 11. And ſo the Threatning is denounced both againſt the Temple, and againſt Jeruſalem. But he ſeems rather to underſtand it of Jeruſalem, as may be gathered: 1. From the next words, which ſeem to be added by way of Appoſition, to explain what he meant by that obſcure and ambiguous Term: Wo to Ariel, to Ariel, even to the City: 2. From the following Verſes, which plainly declare, That this Ariel is the place which God threatens, that he would diſtreſs and fill with Heavineſs, ver. 2. and lay ſiege againſt Her, ver. 3. And that the Nations ſhould fight againſt her, ver. 7. All which Expreſſions agree much better to Jeruſalem, than to the Altar. And this City might be called Ariel, or the ſtrong Lion: Either 1. For its eminent ſtrength in regard of its Scituation and Fortifications, by reaſon whereof, it was thought almoſt impregnable, both by themſelves and others, Lam. 4. 12. Or, 2. For its Lion-like Fierceneſs and Cruelty, for which ſhe is called the bloody City, Ezek. 7. 23. and 22. 2. and in effect, Iſa. 1. 15. and 59. 3. and Jer. 19. 4. and for which her Princes are called Lions, Ezek. 19. 2. Zeph. 3. 3. Or, 3. In reſpect of the Altar of God, which was erected in, and confined to that City, and in which the Strength and Glory of that City did chiefly conſiſt. b The Royal City, and Seat of David and his Poſterity. Which is here mentioned, as the ground of their Confidence; and withal, it is implied, That their Relation to David, and their ſuppoſed Intereſt in the Promiſes made to him, and to his Seed, ſhould not ſecure them from the Deſtruction here threatned. c Go on in killing Sacrifices from time to time, one year after another, whereby you think to appeaſe me, and to ſecure your ſelves: But all ſhall be in vain.

19 For the people ſhall dwell in Zion at Jeruſalem f thou ſhalt weep no more: he will be very gracious unto thee, at the voice of thy cry: when he ſhall hear it, he will anſwer thee g.

f For although the time is coming, when the People ſhall be baniſhed from Jeruſalem, and carried Captives into Babylon; yet after a ſet time, they ſhall return to Jeruſalem, and have a fixed and comfortable Abode there. Which was in part accompliſhed upon their return from Babylon; but more fully in the times of the Goſpel, when many of them were, and the whole Body of them ſhall be brought into Chriſt's Church, which is oft called Zion and Jeruſalem, both in the Old and New-Teſtament. g Whereas now He ſeems to be deaf to thy Prayers.

20 And though the LORD give you the bread of adverſity, and the water of ‖ affliction h, yet ſhall not thy teachers be removed into a corner any more i, but thine eyes ſhall ſee thy teachers k.

h And although in that time and ſtate of the Church, you will be ſubject to many outward Straits and Afflictions. This Phraſe is borrowed from Deut. 16. 3. and 1 Kings 22. 27. He ſeems to allude to the condition of beſieged Cities, and particularly of Jeruſalem, as it was ſtraitned and diſtreſſed by Sennacherib; and as it ſhould be far more ſtraitned by the Chaldeans; of which ſee 2 Kings 25. 3. Or, The Lord indeed will give, &c. i As they have been in former times, both in Iſrael and Judah, when the Godly Prophets and Miniſters were but few, and when they were perſecuted and baniſhed by their wicked Rulers. But in the New-Teſtament God hath made better proviſion for his Church, ſending his Son, the great Teacher of the Church, into the World; and pouring forth the Gifts and Graces of the Spirit in abundance, and increaſing the number of able and faithful Miniſters; and promiſing a continued Succeſſion of them to the end of the World, Mat. 28. 19, 20. k Thou ſhalt have their preſence, and their inſtruction and aſſiſtance.

Or 2. from Travellers, who, when they are gone out of the right way, are oft-times recalled and admoniſhed of their Errour, by ſome other Paſſenger or Perſon, who is behind them, and therefore diſcerns their miſtake; which he could not ſo eaſily diſcover, if he were before them.

n To ſhew your contempt of it, and to make it unfit for your own, or any others uſe. o The Leaves or Plates wherewith their wooden Images were frequently covered: of which ſee Exod. 38. 17, 19. Numb. 16. 38, 39. p Or, the coat or covering. Heb. the Ephod, as this very Word is rendred, Exod. 28. 8. and 39. 5. which was a coſtly and glorious Robe. The Idolaters ſpared no Coſt in the making and adorning their Idols: And, among others, the Image of Jupiter in Sicily, had a Coat put upon it made all of maſſy Gold. q Thou ſhalt ſo deeply abhor Idolatry, that thou ſhalt caſt away with indignation, all the Monuments and Inſtruments thereof.

23 Then ſhall he give the rain of thy ſeed r that thou ſhalt ſow the ground withal, and bread of the increaſe of the earth s, and it ſhall be fat and plenteous t: in that day ſhall thy cattel feed in large paſtures.

Their Sins, the cauſe of all God's Judgments which had befallen them, being removed by their ſincere Repentance, and God's gracious Pardon, God ſhowreth down all his Bleſſings upon them. s Which ſhall be the Fruit of thy own Land and Labour: which is a great Mercy and Comfort. t Thy Bread ſhall be excellent for quality, which is called fat, Deut. 32. 14. and abundant for quantity.

u Or, as Learned Mr. Gataker renders it, Threſhed, which agrees well with the following Clauſe, Corn being firſt Threſhed, and then Winnowed. The Senſe is, There ſhould be ſuch plenty of Corn, that there very Beaſts, inſtead of Straw, ſhould eat Corn; and that not in the Ear, or with the Straw, but the pure Grain.

25 And there ſhall be upon every high mountain, and upon every † high hill x, rivers, and ſtreams of waters, in the day of the great ſlaughter y, when the towers z fall.

x Which are commonly dry and barren, and deſtitute of Rivers. y When God ſhall deſtroy the Enemies of His People, He will ſhower down his Bleſſings upon his Church. z Either properly, the Towers of Babylon, for which She was Famous; or Metaphorically, the high and mighty Potentates, which fought againſt God's People, as Iſa. 2. 15.

26 Moreover the light of the moon ſhall be as the light of the ſun a, and the light of the ſun ſhall be ſevenfold, as the light of ſeven days b, in the day that the LORD bindeth up the breach of his people, and healeth the ſtroke of their wound c.

a For conſtancy and brightneſs: Which, as alſo the following Clauſe, is to be underſtood Metaphorically, of the moſt glorious and comfortable Condition of God's Church, far ſurpaſſing what it was in former Ages. And ſo this, as well as other paſſages in this Chapter, concerns the times of the Goſpel. b As if the Light of ſeven days were combined together in one: Its Light ſhall then be tranſcendently more bright and glorious, than it hath hitherto been. Which magnificent Expreſſions ſeem to be too high for the deliverance of the Jews, either from Sennacherib, or out of Babylon: And do much better agree to the times of the Goſpel, in which the Light is far more clear, and the Grace of God much more abundant, than ever it was in former times. And this expoſition ſeems the more probable, becauſe it is the manner of the Prophets; and eſpecially of this, who is rightly called the Evangelical Prophet, to take all occaſions to ſpeak of the days of the Meſſiah, and of the bleſſed Priviledges of that time and ſtate of the Church, among which, they conſtantly reckon Light, whether you take it for Knowledge or for Comfort, to be one. c When God ſhall effectually Cure the Wounds and Breaches of his People, firſt making up the Breach between Him and them, then making Iſrael and Judah to be one, who now are ſadly divided; and making Jew and Gentile to be one Fold under one Shepherd, even the Meſſiah, which the Prophets foretel, that it ſhall be in the times of the Goſpel.

27 Behold d, the name of the LORD e cometh from far f, burning with his anger, ‖ and the burden thereof is † heavy g: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire h.

d Here begins the laſt part of the Chapter, wherein he gives them an earneſt of thoſe greater Mercies promiſed for times to come, by aſſuring them of the approaching Deſtruction of the Aſſyrian Forces. e The Lord himſelf: For as the names of Men are oft put for the Men themſelves, as Numb. 26. 53. Acts 1. 15. Rev. 3. 4. and 11. 13. So the name of God is frequently put for God, as Gen. 4. 26. Deut. 28. 58. Pſal. 20. 1, 7, &c. f From a very remote place; even from Heaven, whence God ſent His Angel to deſtroy them, Iſa. 37. 36. Poſſibly this Expreſſion may reſpect the judgment of the Aſſyrians, who looked upon God as one afar off, not only in his Preſence, which they thought to be confined to Heaven, but in his care of, and affections to the Jews; and therefore, no more expected any oppoſition from Him, than from them who live in the ends of the Earth. g He will inflict heavy Judgments upon them. h He hath pronounced a ſevere Sentence againſt them, and will give command for the Execution of it.

28 And his breath i as an overflowing ſtream k, ſhall reach to the midſt of * the neck l, * to ſift m the nations n with the ſieve of vanity o: and there ſhall be a * bridle in the jaws of the people p, cauſing them to err q.

* Chap. 8. 8. * Amos 9. 9. * Chap. 37.

i Either 1. The breath of his Noſtrils, as it is called, Job 4. 9. or The blaſt of the breath of his Noſtrils, as Pſal. 18. 15. in both which places it is mentioned, as a ſign and effect of God's Anger, and the cauſe of the Deſtruction of thoſe, againſt whom it is directed. And the Expreſſion ſeems to be borrowed from hence, that Men diſcover their Anger by a ſtrong and vehement breathing through their Noſtrils. Or 2. The breath of his Lips or Mouth, to which the deſtruction of God's Enemies is elſewhere aſcribed, as Job 15. 30. Iſa. 11. 4. which may be the ſame thing with his Lips and Tongue in the foregoing Verſe, or may deſign a ſtrong blaſt coming out of his Mouth: for God is frequently ſaid to deſtroy wicked Men, by blowing upon them, as Iſa. 40. 7, 24. Ezek. 21. 31. and 22. 21. k Coming from Him as vehemently as a mighty Torrent of Waters. l Shall bring him into a moſt dangerous condition, as a Man, who is in deep Waters, which reach to his Neck, is in danger of being drowned; and afterwards, as is related in the following Verſes, will utterly Deſtroy him. And this was fulfilled in Sennacherib, who was highly endangered, when he loſt ſo great a part of his Army, and ſhortly after ſlain by his own Sons. Although theſe words may be added as a deſcription of the overflowing ſtream now mentioned, and may be thus rendred, which Reacheth even to the midſt of the Neck; for the relative Particle is frequently underſtood in Scripture. m To ſhake and ſcatter, as it were with a Sieve: or to try and vex, as this Metaphor ſignifies, Amos 9. 9. Luke 22. 31. n The Aſſyrian Army, which was made up of the People of ſeveral Nations. o Not with an ordinary Sieve, which caſteth away the Chaff only, but keepeth the Corn; but with a Sieve, which ſhould ſhake them ſo long and ſo vehemently, as to caſt away all together, and to make a full End of them. p God will reſtrain and over-rule them by His ſecret and powerful Providence. q Whereas other Bridles guide the bridled Creatures into the right way, this ſhall turn them out of the way, by giving them up to their own Miſtakes, and fooliſh Counſels, and wicked Courſes, which ſhall bring them to ſore and certain Ruine.

29 Ye ſhall have a ſong r, as in the night, when a holy ſolemnity is kept s, and gladneſs of heart, as when one goeth with a Pipe t to come into the mountain of the LORD, to the † mighty one of Iſrael.

r You ſhall have occaſion of great joy, and ſongs of Praiſe for your ſtupendious Deliverance from that formidable Enemy. s He mentions the Night, either becauſe the Jewiſh Feaſts begun at the Evening, and were Celebrated with great Joy in part of the Night-ſeaſon, as well as on the following Day; or becauſe He hath a particular reſpect to the ſolemnity of the Paſſoever, in which they ſpent ſome conſiderable part of the Night in Feaſting, and Rejoycing, and ſinging of Pſalms and Songs before the Lord. t Like the joy of one that is going up to the ſolemn Feaſts with Muſick, and the voice of Joy and Praiſe, as they uſed to do, Pſal. 42. 4. to cheer up themſelves in the way, which to many of them was long, and would otherwiſe have been tedious.

30 And the LORD ſhall cauſe † his glorious voice u to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the lighting down of his arm x, with the indignation of his anger y, and with the flame of a devouring fire, with ſcattering, and tempeſt, and hailſtones.

u His Thunder, which is called God's Voice, and ſaid to be full of Majeſty, Pſal. 29. 4. But then Thunder is Metaphorically taken for ſome terrible Judgment, as it is in many places of Scripture. x Upon the Aſſyrian, whom he will ſmite with a deadly blow in the face of the World. The Phraſe is taken from the geſture of a Man, who is about to ſmite another; who firſt lifts up his hand, and then lets it fall with great force upon him, whom he deſigns to ſtrike. y With great wrath; which is ſignified by the heaping of ſo many words of the ſame ſignification together.

31 For through the voice of the LORD z ſhall the Aſſyrian be beaten down, which ſmote with a rod a.

z That Voice mentioned in the laſt Verſe. a Which was the Rod wherewith God ſmote His and other people, Iſa. 10. 5, 6. He who uſed to ſmite others, ſhall now be ſmitten himſelf. Or, as the words may be, and by others are rendred, He (the Lord laſt mentioned) ſhall ſmite him with a rod, or with his rod.

32 And † in every place where the grounded ſtaff b ſhall paſs, which the LORD ſhall † lay c upon him d, it ſhall be with tabrets and harps e: and in battles of ſhaking f will he g fight ‖ with it h.

b Heb. the founded rod, the Judgment of God, which is frequently called a Rod in Scripture, and may be here called a founded Rod, or the Rod of Foundation; either becauſe it was firmly eſtabliſhed, and certainly to come by God's immutable Purpoſe and Appointment: or becauſe the Rod ſhould not ſlightly touch him, and paſs over him, but ſtrike deep, and be fixed, and as it were grounded or founded in his Fleſh; and made to reſt upon him, as it follows in the next Clauſe. c Heb. ſhall cauſe to reſt; which is contrary to the manner of God's dealing with His People, upon whom He will Not ſuffer the rod of the wicked to reſt, Pſal. 125. 3. d Upon the Aſſyrian, mentioned in the foregoing Verſe. e The Senſe is, Either 1. their Deſtruction ſhall be Celebrated, by God's People, with joy and muſick, and ſongs of Praiſe. Or, 2. the Victory ſhall be got, not by warlike Inſtruments and Atchievements, but as it were by Tabrets and Harps. Wherein He may poſſibly allude to the Victory which Jehoſhaphat got againſt Moab and Ammon, not by fighting, but only by ſinging, and praiſing God with the Voice, and with muſical Inſtruments, 2 Chron. 20. 19, 21, 27, 28. God being pleaſed to Fight for them, by his own immediate Power; which alſo was the caſe here, which made the People of God ſing a Triumph before the Fight, Iſa. 37. 22. f Or, with battles or fightings of ſhaking, to wit, of ſhaking of the hand, of which kind of Shaking this Hebrew word is conſtantly uſed, ſuch as are performed by the meer ſhaking of the hand; namely, by God's ſhaking His Hand againſt them, as He threatens to do againſt others, Iſa. 11. 15. and 19. 16. in which laſt place this very word is uſed; and in the former, the Verb from whence it comes. For that this Shaking is an Act of God, ſeems more than probable, and from the following words, Will he, i.e. God, as all underſtand it, fight againſt it. And ſo the Senſe of the place may be this, God will Fight againſt them, and deſtroy them by His own Hands. g To wit, the Lord, who declareth himſelf to be the Enemy of the Aſſyrian, both in the foregoing and following Verſes. h With the Army of the Aſſyrians: Or, according to the other Hebrew reading, with them, with the Aſſyrians.

33 For Tophet i is ordained k † of old l: yea, for the king m it is prepared, he n hath made it deep and large n: the pile thereof is fire and much wood o; * the breath of the LORD p, like a ſtream of brimſtone q, doth kindle it r.

i This was a place near Jeruſalem, in which the Idolatrous Iſraelites uſed cruelly to Offer up their Children to Moloch, 2 Chron. 28. 3. and 33. 6. See alſo Jer. 7. 31. and 19. 6. And it may be put Synecdochically, for any place of Torment or Miſery: And particularly it is put for Hell, as well in the Writings of the ancient Jewiſh Doctors, as in holy Scripture, as Mat. 18. 8, 9. and 23. 15. Mark 9. 43. 44. And ſo this place may be underſtood:

Either 1. literally of Tophet in the Valley of Hinnom, in which the Aſſyrian Hoſt was, either ſlain by the Angel, as Joſephus reports, or buried, or burnt. For although the Aſſyrians did not make any great attempt upon Jeruſalem, Iſa. 37. 36. yet Rabſhakeh came very near it with a great Army, Iſa. 36. 2. Or 2. figuratively of Hell. k Or, was ordered or prepared. And it might be ſaid, in ſome ſort, to be prepared by Hezekiah for this end, by the care which he took to purge this and other places, abuſed to Idolatry, which made them more fit to receive ſo great a Favour and Deliverance from God. But for Hell, that doubtleſs was ordained or prepared by God, for the puniſhment of impenitent Sinners. l Heb. From yeſterday: Which Phraſe is ſometimes uſed of a time but lately paſt, as Job 8. 9. 2 Sam. 15. 20. and ſometimes of any time paſt, without limitation. m For the King of Aſſyria, Either 1. for the Kings, the Singular Number being put for the Plural, whereby he may underſtand the Princes or Chief Commanders of the Hoſt, by comparing Iſa. 10. 8. Are not my Princes altogether Kings. Or 2. for Rabſhakeh, the General of this Army, who, according to the ſtyle of Scripture, might very well be called King. Or, 3. Sennacherib; for whom this place might be ſaid to be ordained or prepared: partly becauſe it was ordained for the Deſtruction of his Hoſt; nothing being more ordinary, both in Sacred and Prophane Writers, than to intitle the King, or General of the Army, to all the Victories procured, or Loſſes and Slaughters ſuſtained by his Army: And partly becauſe the ſudden Deſtruction of the Aſſyrian Army, ſuppoſed to be in this place, was the occaſion of the Conſpiracy of that King's Sons, and ſo of the King's Death. But if this Tophet deſign Hell, this is Emphatically denounced againſt him, to intimate, That although he eſcaped that ſudden Plague which cut off his Army, yet there was a more terrible Judgment appointed for him, which he ſhould be utterly unable to eſcape. n The Lord, who is oft deſigned by this Pronoun, as in the next foregoing Verſe, and elſewhere; and who is expreſſed in the following words. Or it is an indefinite Expreſſion; for, it is made deep and large. n Capable of receiving vaſt Numbers; whereby he intimates, That he deſigned to make a great and general Deſtruction of the Aſſyrians; and withal, that it was a vain and fooliſh Confidence which the Aſſyrians had in their numerous Hoſt, ſeeing the greateſt Numbers of God's Enemies are wholy unable, either to oppoſe Him, or to ſave themſelves from his wrath and power. o Whereby he further implies, That he intended to make a great ſlaughter among them. And he alludes in this Phraſe, to the ancient Cuſtom, either of burning Sacrifices, and particularly of burning Children to Moloch, or of burning the dead Bodies of Men. p The immediate hand of God, or his Word of Anger: See on ver. 28. q He ſeems to allude to that ſhower of Fire and Brimſtone, Gen. 9. 24. r The pile of Fire and Wood now mentioned.

a As the Jews did contrary to God's Command, Deut. 17. 16. and 26. 68. b For Egypt had many and choice Horſes. c Their confidence in the Creature was accompanied with, and did produce a diſtruſt of God, and a neglect of ſeeking to him by Prayer for his help.

2 Yet he alſo is wiſe d, and will bring evil e, and will not † call back his words f: but will ariſe g againſt the houſe of evil doers h, and againſt the help i of them that work iniquity.

d You think you are wiſe, and act wiſely in ingaging the Egyptians, who are a wiſe and warlike People, to help you; but God is not inferiour to them in Wiſdom nor in Strength, but much their Superiour; and therefore you have done fooliſhly, and wickedly in preferring them before him. e Will execute his Judgements upon you, notwithſtanding all that you, or your Allies the Egyptians, can do to hinder it. f His Threatnings denounced againſt you, but will infallibly Execute them. g Though at preſent he ſit ſtill, yet he will beſtir himſelf and Fight. h Againſt this wicked and rebellious People of the Jews. i The helpers, as it is explained in the next Verſe: The Abſtract being put for the Concrete.

k And therefore utterly unable to defend you, either without or againſt my Will. l Weak and frail, as that word ſignifies, Pſal. 78. 39. Heb. 5. 7. and elſewhere. m Not like ſpiritual Subſtances, ſuch as the Angels, who are immortal, and inviſible by Men; whereof we have Inſtances, Exod. 12. 29, 30. Iſa. 37. 36.

4 For n thus hath the LORD ſpoken unto me, Like as the lion and the young lion roaring on his prey o, when a multitude of ſhepherds is called forth againſt him, he will not be afraid of their voice, nor abaſe himſelf p for the || noiſe of them, ſo ſhall the LORD of hoſts come down to fight for q mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

n Or, But: or, Nevertheleſs, as this Particle is elſewhere uſed, as hath been proved before. Although you have done evil in ſending to Egypt for help, and they ſhall not be able to help you; yet the Lord himſelf will, of his own grace, and for the glory of his own Name, give you that help and deliverance which you do not deſerve, and have no reaſon to expect from him. And therefore deſiſt from thoſe evil Counſels and Courſes, as thoſe which are both unneceſſary and pernicious. o When he is ready to ſeize upon it, and devour it. p It hath been obſerved of Lions, that when they are purſued, they do not run away with all ſpeed, as other Creatures do, but march away ſlowly, and make an honourable Retreat. q Although this Hebrew particle might be rendred againſt; and ſo this place might be underſtood of God's fighting againſt the Jews and Egyptians, of which he ſpeaks, ver. 3. yet it is better rendred, for, as it is taken in many other places, as is manifeſt from the following ſimilitude and verſe.

He ſeems to allude, and to oppoſe this to thoſe boaſting Expreſſions of the Aſſyrian, Iſa. 10. 14. compare Deut. 32. 11, 12. Mat. 23. 37. s The deſtroying Angel ſhall paſs over Jeruſalem untouched, and ſhall fall upon the Aſſyrians. He ſeems to allude to the Hiſtory of God's paſſing over, and ſparing the Houſes of the Iſraelites, when he ſlew the Egyptians, in which this Word is conſtantly uſed, Exod. 12. 12, 22, 26.

t Let the conſideration of this gracious Promiſe ingage you to repent of your carnal Policies, in ſeeking and truſting to Egypt for Help, and ſincerely to return to God. u Either 1. the Iſraelites, ſtrictly ſo called, who are now utterly deſtroyed for their Apoſtacy; and therefore take heed that you do not follow their Example. Or 2. you Jews who are the Children of Iſrael: which Title, he here gives them, partly to admoniſh them of their great and many Obligations to God; and partly to aggravate the Sin of their Apoſtacy. x In neglecting and forſaking him, and ſeeking to Egypt for help; which he calls a deep revolt, partly becauſe it was an hainous Sin, being contrary to God's expreſs Command, and highly diſhonourable to God: And partly becauſe it was carried on with deep Diſſimulation, and with a publick profeſſion of cleaving to God, and with a deſign of ſeeking deep to hide this their counſel from the Lord, wherewith he charged this People, Iſa. 29. 15.

* Ch. 2. 2 & 30. 22 † Heb. idols of h gold.

7 For in that day every Man ſhall * caſt away his idols y of ſilver, and † his idols of gold, which your own hands have made unto you for a ſin z.

y For when the Aſſyrian ſhall invade your Land, you ſhall find the vanity of thoſe Idols, to which you have truſted; and therefore ſhall caſt them away with indignation, and be forced to ſeek to me for help. So this is added, as an Argument to perſuade them to practiſe his Counſel of turning to God. z Which you have made as Inſtruments of your ſin of Idolatry. Or, Which your ſinful hands (by a common Hebraiſme, called hands of ſin) have made for you. Or, the ſin (as an Idol is called, Deut. 9. 21.) which your hands have made for you. So there is only a Tranſpoſition of one Word, which is very uſual in the Hebrew Text.

* See 2 Kings 19. 35. || Or, fr fear of the ſword, || tributary. † Heb. f melting, tribute.

a When you have caſt away your Idols, and ſeriouſly ſought to me for help; both which things were performed by Hezekiah. b By the Sword, not of any Man, either mean or mighty, but of an Angel. c From, or for fear of, that Plague which ſo ſtrangely and ſuddenly deſtroyed his Army. d Heb. his choice young men, his Guards and valiant Commanders and Souldiers. e Heb. ſhall melt away, a great part of them being deſtroyed by the Angel; and the hearts of the reſt melting for fear.

9 And † he ſhall paſs over to || his ſtrong hold f for fear, and his princes ſhall be afraid of the enſign g, ſaith the LORD, whoſe fire is in Zion h, and his furnace in Jeruſalem i.

f Sennacherib ſhall flee away, with all ſpeed, from Jeruſalem, to his ſtrong City of Nineveh, Iſa, 37. 37. Or, as it is in the Margent, and as the Words lie in the Hebrew Text, his rock (i. e. his Strength, the greateſt Champions of his Army, to whom he truſted) ſhall paſs away (ſhall flee with all ſpeed from Jeruſalem) for fear, leſt the Sword of the deſtroying Angel ſhould overtake them. g Either 1. of any Enſign. This dreadful Judgment ſhall ſtrike them with ſuch a Terrour, that they ſhall not dare to look any Enemy in the Face. Or 2. of the Lord's Enſign, which He hath lifted up againſt them. h So the Senſe is, Either 1. whoſe Fire is continually burning upon the Altar in Zion; which ſignifies his Preſence and reſidence there. Or rather 2. who is, and will appear to be in Zion, like a Fire to defend his People, and to conſume their Enemies; for which end God promiſeth, That he would be unto Jeruſalem a wall of fire round about, Zech. 2. 5. &c. And that he would make the Governours of Judah like a hearth of fire among the wood, and like a Torch of fire in a ſheaf; and that they ſhould devour all the People round about. Poſſibly theſe and the following Words, may be thus rendred, and that very agreeeable to the Hebrew words, Who will be a fire (to wit, a conſuming Fire) to him (to the King of Aſſyria, of whom he is here ſpeaking) in Zion (from whence he will ſend forth that Fire which ſhall conſume his Army: Or, for Zion, for Zion's ſake; for the Prefix here rendred in, frequently for, as hath been proved) and a furnace to him in or for Jeruſalem. But this I only propoſe, leaving it to the Judgment of the intelligent Reader. i The ſame thing repeated in other Words.

CHAP. XXXII.

Chriſt's Kingdom, and it's Bleſſings, 1,——8. Careleſs Women ſhall be troubled, 9,——11. and the Land laid waſte, 12,—14. untill a Reſtoration, 15,—20.

*Pſa.*45.1. ech. 9. 9. BEhold, a * a king b ſhall reign c in righteouſneſs, and princes c ſhall rule in judgment.

a This ſeems to me to be a diſtinct Prophecy from the former, and delivered at another time, and probably before that which is related in the former Chapters. For this is certain, and confeſſed by all, That the Prophecies are not always ſet down in that order, in which the Prophets delivered them. The foregoing Prophecy ſeems to have been delivered, not in the time of Ahaz, for he ſent to the Aſſyrian, and not to the Egyptian, for Help; but in the days of Hezekiah, who Rebelled againſt the King of Aſſyria, as is ſaid, 2 Kings 18. 7. was too prone to truſt upon the ſtaff of Egypt, as the Aſſyrian expreſly chargeth him there, ver. 21. To which Courſe it is likely he was drawn or tempted by ſome of his wicked Princes and Counſellours, whom the Prophet therefore ſeverely cenſures and condemns in the two foregoing Chapters. And this ſeems to have been delivered in the time of Ahaz, and and to ſpeak of Hezekiah, and of his righteous and happy Government: but withal, as Hezekiah and his Reign was an eminent Type of Chriſt, and of his Kingdom; ſo this Prophecy looks thorough Hezekiah unto Chriſt, as many other Scriptures in their literal Senſe do unqueſtionably concern David, which yet have a myſtical Senſe, and are alſo meant of Chriſt, in whom thoſe things were more fully and eminently accompliſhed. b Hezekiah, a Type of Chriſt, and Chriſt Typified by him. c Therefore Hezekiah was not King when this Prophecy was delivered. And whereas ſome ſay, That he ſpeaks of the good Government of Hezekiah, after the Deſtruction of Sennacherib; it is eaſie to obſerve, That his Government was as good before that time as afterward; and that in the very beginning of his Reign, he Ruled with Righteouſneſs, and the fear of God, as the Hiſtory plainly declareth. c The Miniſters of State, and Juſtice, and War, under the King. For a wiſe and good King will take care to have like Miniſters.

2 And a man d ſhall be as an hiding place e from the wind f, and a covert from the tempeſt: as rivers of water in a dry place g, as the ſhadow of a † great rock in a weary land h. b. hea- d Either 1. the Man or King ſpoken of. Or 2. each or every one, to wit, of his Princes. That King ſhall not patch up an old Garment with new Cloth, nor mingle good and bad together; but ſhall take care to purge out all the corrupt Magiſtrates, and, as far as he can, to ſettle good Ones in all places. A man is oft put for every or any man, as Iſa. 2. 20. and 3. 5, 6. and elſewhere. e Unto the People under their Government, eſpecially to ſuch as are oppreſſed or injured by thoſe who are more Potent than they. f From the rage and violence of evil Men. g No leſs refreſhing and acceptable ſhall this King and his Princes be to their Subjects. h In a dry and ſcorched Country, which is called weary here, as alſo Pſal. 63. 1. Metonymically, becauſe it makes Travellers weary; as death is called pale in other Authors, becauſe it makes men's Faces pale.

3 And the eyes of them that ſee, ſhall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear, ſhall hearken i.

i This is meant, Either 1. of the Princes or Magiſtrates, who are inſtead of Eyes and Ears, both to the King, and to the People, who, by their Office, are to ſee and obſerve all things, and to hear all Cauſes. Theſe, ſaith he, ſhall not ſhut their Eyes, nor ſuffer them to be blinded with Gifts, to favour a rich Man in an unjuſt Cauſe; they ſhall not ſhut their Ears againſt the Complaints of the poor oppreſſed Ones, as wicked Princes commonly do. Or 2. of the People, they ſhall not ſhut their Eyes and Ears againſt the good Counſels and Examples of their Religious King and Rulers, as they have done formerly: Both Princes and People ſhall be reformed. This was done in ſome poor meaſure in Hezekiah's time; but far more fully and eminently in the days of the Meſſiah, who, by his grace, changeth Men's Hearts, and cureth them of that wilful and obſtinate Blindneſs, whereof they had been Guilty before. Which clearly ſheweth, That this Prophecy looks through Hezekiah unto Chriſt. And the like may be ſaid of the following Verſe.

b. haſty. 4 The heart alſo of the † raſh k ſhall underſtand knowledge l, and the tongue of the ſtammerers m ſhall be ready to ſpeak ‖ plainly. , ele- ly.

k Who were haſty and heady in judging of Things; which is an Argument of Ignorance and folly. l Shall become more knowing and conſiderate in their Judgments and Actions. m That uſed to ſpeak of the Things of God, darkly, and doubtfully, and unwillingly. As Men's Underſtandings ſhall then be enlightned, ſo their Speech ſhall be reformed. Which though it was in part fulfilled in Hezekiah; this Reformation being effected in ſome meaſure by his Counſel and Example, and by the powerful Preaching of the Levites, whom he excited and encouraged to Teach the good knowledge of the Lord, as is ſaid, 2 Chron. 30. 22. yet was truly and fully accompliſhed only by Chriſt, who wrought this wonderful Change in an innumerable company both of Jews and Gentiles.

, honou- e. 5 The vile perſon n ſhall be no more called ‖ liberal o, nor the churl p ſaid to be bountiful.

n Baſe and worthleſs Men. Heb. the fool: which in Scripture-uſe commonly ſignifies a wicked Man. o Or, Noble, or a Prince, or Lord, as this word is uſed, Pſal. 118. 9. and 146. 3. and elſewhere. The Senſe of the place is, Either 1. Unworthy Men ſhall not be advanced to places of Honour and Power, as the Seventy, and ſome others underſtand it; for, to be called, is oft put in Scripture for, to be, as hath been frequently obſerved. Or 2. vicious and worthleſs Perſons ſhall no longer be reputed Honourable and Vertuous, becauſe of their high and honourable Places, as commonly they are under wicked Princes, by means of Flatterers; but wickedneſs ſhall be diſcovered and puniſhed whereſoever it is, and Vertue ſhall be manifeſted and rewarded; and all things ſhall be Managed with ſincerity and ſimplicity: Which was eminently fulfilled under the Goſpel; by the Preaching whereof, and by Chriſt's Spirit, Hypocrites are detected, and Men are enabled to diſcern between Good and Evil, both Perſons and things. p The ſordid and covetous Man; which is a great Vice in any Man, but eſpecially in Magiſtrates; who therefore muſt be Men hating covetouſneſs, Exod. 18. 21. But under this one Vice, all Vices are underſtood by a Synecdoche, very frequent in Scripture, and in other Authors; as under the oppoſite Vertue of bountifulneſs, all Vertues are comprehended.

6 For the vile perſon will ſpeak villany q, and his heart will work iniquity r, to practiſe hypocriſie s, and to utter errour againſt the LORD t, to make empty the ſoul of the hungry, and he will cauſe the drink of the thirſty to fail u.

q So this is a reaſon of the Aſſertion, ver. 5. either thus, Such ſhall not be Advanced to Places of Truſt and Dignity; for if they were, they would abuſe them by unjuſt Sentences and Practices: Or thus, Men ſhall no longer be miſcalled; for every one will diſcover what he is by his Words and Actions; which alſo ſhall be narrowly obſerved. But theſe and the following Words are, and may be otherwiſe rendred: But (as this Particle oft ſignifies) he ſhall be called or ſaid to be (which words are eaſily underſtood out of the former Verſe, as is very frequent in Scripture) a fool, who (which relative Particle is underſtood in very many places) ſhall ſpeak villany, and whoſe heart ſhall work iniquity, &c. r He will, from time to time, be deviſing Wickedneſs, that he may Execute it when he hath opportunity. s To do bad things, but with a pretence of Religion and Juſtice, which he ſhall uſe to keep himſelf from the diſ-favour of his Prince, and from the laſh of the Law. Or, to practiſe prophaneneſs or wickedneſs, as this Word, at leaſt ſometimes, ſeems to ſignifie. t To paſs unjuſt Sentences, which is directly contrary to the Will and Command of God. u Whereby they take away the Bread and Drink of the Poor, and give it to their rich Oppreſſors.

x Heb. The veſſels, &c. which is a Word of a very general Signification among the Hebrews, and ſignifies any perſon or thing, which is employed in a Man's uſe and ſervice. I ſay perſon, for the name of veſſel is given to ſuch Perſons as are inſtrumental to another, as to the Babylonians, who were God's inſtruments in executing His Vengeance, Iſa. 13. 5. to God's Miniſters, Acts 9. 15. 2 Cor. 4. 5. and to uſeful Chriſtians, 2 Tim. 2. 20. and to Wives, 1 Pet. 3. 7. And ſo it may here noted, That ſuch covetous or wicked Princes moſt willingly chuſe, and employ wicked Men in their Affairs, becauſe ſuch Men will, without any regard to Conſcience or Juſtice, ſerve all their exorbitant Deſires or Luſts. But withal, it ſeems to include his Counſels, and Practices, and Arts, which are here declared to be generally Evil. But this Verſe is, and may be otherwiſe rendred, as the former was; And (repeat, he ſhall be called) a churl (as indeed he is one) whoſe inſtruments are evil, and who deviſeth, &c. Which agrees with the order of the Words in the Hebrew Text, and with the order of the foregoing Verſes: For as he ſpeaks of the vile perſon, and of the churl, ver. 5. So he gives a Deſcription of the vile Perſon, ver. 6. and then of the churl, in this Verſe. y He uſeth all his Wit and Art to do Injury to others, without any inconvenience to himſelf. z With falſe and unrighteous Decrees. a When their Cauſe is juſt and good.

8 But the liberal deviſeth liberal things, and by liberal things ſhall he ‖ ſtand b. ‖ Or, be eſtabliſhed.

b He who is truly Liberal and Vertuous, will ſhew it by deſigning and practiſing liberal or vertuous Actions: And he who doth ſo, will not deſtroy himſelf thereby, as wicked Men falſely ſuppoſe, but eſtabliſh and advance himſelf. But this Verſe alſo, as well as the former, is, and may be otherwiſe rendred: And (repeat, he ſhall be called, as before) liberal, who deviſeth liberal things, and perſiſteth, or continueth in liberal things. If it be thought ſtrange, That ſo many Verſes ſhould be ſpent in Affirming that which, in effect, was ſaid, ver. 5. it muſt be conſidered, that theſe Verſes do not only contain an Affirmation, that they ſhould be called vile perſons, or churles, or liberal, that were ſo; but alſo a Deſcription of their Qualities and Practices, which was uſeful for their Conviction, and for the Inſtruction of others.

c Beſtir, and prepare your ſelves to hear, as it follows; and ſhake off Sloth and Careleſneſs. d That indulge your ſelves in Idleneſs and Luxury. e Heb. confident or ſecure, who are inſenſible of your ſin and danger. f The ſame before called women: Whom he here reproveth, and threatneth for their Sins, as he did the Men before, for ſeeking to Egypt for Help, and divers other Sins, whereof the Men were moſt Guilty.

10 † Many days and years f ſhall ye be troubled, ye careleſs women: for the vintage ſhall fail g, the gathering h ſhall not come. † Heb. days above a year.

f Heb. Days above a year, i. e. a year and ſome days: Which notes, Either 1. the time from this Prophecy to the beginning of this Judgment: Or rather 2. the time of the continuance of it; that it ſhould laſt for above one Year; as indeed this did, and no longer: For Hezekiah Reigned in all but twenty nine Years, 2 Kings 18. 2. and Sennacherib came in his fourteenth Year; and after his defeat and departure, God promiſed, and added to him fifteen Years more, 2 Kings 20. 6. g During the time of the Aſſyrian Invaſion. And this Commination is here added to qualify the foregoing Promiſe, and to warn them, that although God would give them ſo good a King, and there ſhould be ſome Reformation of their former abuſes under the Government of Ahaz; yet as there were many Sins among them, not yet repented of, ſo they ſhould be ſeverely chaſtiſed for them. h To wit, of the other Fruits of the Earth; as that Feaſt, which was obſerved after the gathering of all the Fruits, was called the feaſt of in-gathering, Exod. 23. 16.

11 Tremble ye women that are at eaſe, be troubled, ye careleſs ones: ſtrip ye and make ye bare i, and gird ſackcloth upon your loyns.

i Put off your Ornaments, as God commanded upon a like occaſion, Exod. 33. 5. that you may put on Sackcloth inſtead of them, as Mourners and Penitents uſed to do.

k Either 1. properly, becauſe, through Famine, your Teats are deſtitute of Milk for the nouriſhment of your poor Children. Or rather 2. Metaphorically, as the following Words explain it, for the pleaſant and fruitful Fields, which like Teats yielded you plentiful and and excellent Nouriſhment, for which the Land was ſaid to flow with milk, Ezek. 20. 6. And the Earth being compared to the Womb that bare us, Job 1. 21. it is not ſtrange, if its fruitful Fields be compared to the Breaſts which nouriſh us.

13 * Upon the land of my people ſhall come up thorns and briers l, ‖ yea upon all the houſes of joy m in the joyous city:

* Chap. 34. 13. Hoſ. 9. 6. ‖ Or, burning upon, &c.

l If any of you think there is no great cauſe for ſuch Trembling and Lamentation, which ſhall laſt but for a year and ſome days; know that this Calamity, by the Aſſyrians, is but an earneſt of further and ſorer judgments: For the time is coming, when this Land ſhall be laid deſolate; and inſtead of Vines and other Fruits, it ſhall yield nothing but Briers and Thorns: of which, ſee on Iſa. 7. 23, 24. m Upon that Ground, where now your Houſes ſtand, in which you delight, and take your fill of mirth and pleaſure.

14 Becauſe the palaces n ſhall be forſaken, the multitude of the city ſhall be left o, the ‖ forts and towers ſhall be for dens for ever, a joy of wild aſſes p, a paſture of flocks.

n Heb. the palace, the King's Houſe, and other magnificent buildings in the City. o Or rather ſhall be forſaken, to wit, of God, and given up into their Enemies hands. And the Verb in the foregoing Clauſe, may be rendred, ſhall be left. p Deſolate places, in which wild Aſſes delight to be, Job 39. 5. Jer. 2. 24.

15 Until the ſpirit be poured upon us from on high q, and * the wilderneſs be a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be counted for a forreſt r.

q And this Calamity and Deſolation ſhall, in a manner, continue until the time come, in which God will pour, or, as the Hebrew Word properly ſignifies, reveal, i. e. evidently and plentifully pour out his ſpirit from Heaven upon his people. Which was done in ſome ſort upon the return of the People from Babylon, when God, by his Spirit, ſtirred up the Spirit, both of Cyrus to give them liberty of returning to Jeruſalem, and of the people to return and build the City and Temple: But was far more clearly and fully accompliſhed in the days of the Meſſiah. And indeed the promiſes contained in theſe, and the following Words and Verſes, were not fulfilled upon their coming out of Babylon, after which time they had but a little reviving in their bondage, as is ſaid, Ezra 9. 8. and continued in ſervitude and diſtreſs under the Perſian Emperours. Nehem. 9. 36, 37. and afterward ſuffered many and grievous Calamities, from the Kings of Syria, and Egypt, and from the Romans: which ſuits very ill with that glorious Promiſe here following, ver. 18. And therefore theſe promiſes concern the times of the Goſpel, when God's Spirit was in a moſt evident and glorious Manner poured forth upon the Apoſtles, and other believing Jews, to the Aſtoniſhment of their very Adverſaries; and when the following Promiſes were in a good Meaſure fulfilled, and are more fully to be accompliſhed in God's due time. r Which is Allegorically underſtood. The meaning may be this; God's people, who were deſolate and deſtroyed, ſhall be Revived and Flouriſh, and their flouriſhing Enemies ſhall be brought to Deſolation and Deſtruction. It may alſo ſignify, The Converſion of the barren and deſpiſed Gentiles, and the Rejection of the Jews, in the time of the Meſſiah.

16 Then judgment s ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs, and righteouſneſs remain in the fruitful field t.

s Juſt Judgment, as the next Clauſe explains it. t Juſtice ſhall be Executed in all the parts of the Land, both in the barren and fruitful Places, and ſhall be practiſed by all My People: Which agrees with that Promiſe, Iſa. 60. 21. Thy people ſhall be all righteous, &c.

17 And the work of righteouſneſs ſhall be peace u, and the effect of righteouſneſs, quietneſs x and aſſurance y for ever.

u The effect of this prevailing practice of Righteouſneſs ſhall be Proſperity and outward Felicity. x Tranquility, both of Mind and outward Eſtate. y Or, confidence. The obſervation of God's Precepts will beget in them a confidence, and aſſurance of God's Mercy, and the fulfilling of his Promiſes.

18 And my people z ſhall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in ſure dwellings, and in quiet reſting places:

z Either the Gentiles, who then ſhall be My People: Or, the Jews, to whom this Promiſe ſhall be made good upon their Converſion to Chriſt in the latter times of the Goſpel.

19 When it ſhall hail, coming down on the forreſt a, ‖ and the city b ſhall be low in a low place c.

a Heb. And it ſhall hail, &c. As my Bleſſings ſhall be poured down upon my People, who, from a Wilderneſs, are turned into a fruitful Field, as it is ſaid, ver. 15. So my Wrath and Judgments (which are ſignified by hail, Iſa. 28. 2, 17. and elſewhere) ſhall fall upon them, who were a fruitful Field, but are turned into a Forreſt, as was ſaid, ver. 15. i. e. upon the unbelieving and rebellious Jews, who ſeem there to be deſigned under that Notion. b Either 1. Babylon, the great Enemy and Oppreſſour of God's People. Or 2. Jeruſalem, which, though now it was the Seat of God's Worſhip and People; yet he foreſaw, by the Spirit of Prophecy, That it would be the great Enemy of the Meſſiah, and of God's People. c Heb. Shall be humbled with humiliation: Which, by an ordinary Hebraiſme ſignifies, ſhall be greatly humbled, or brought very low.

d As the barren Forreſt ſhall be deſtroyed with hail, ver. 19. ſo the fruitful Field ſhall be improved, and bring forth much Fruit; which is ſignified by a Declaration of the bleſſedneſs of them that Sow in it. e In all moyſt and fat Grounds, which are like to yield good Fruit. But this paſſage, as well as others in the foregoing Verſes, is to be underſtood myſtically, and ſeems to reſpect the times of the Goſpel. The Prophet reflecting upon his own unſucceſsful Labours, of which he complains, Iſa. 49. 4. and elſewhere, and foreſeeing by the Spirit, the great and happy Succeſs of his Succeſſors, the Miniſters of the Goſpel; tacitely bewails his own unhappineſs, who ſowed his Seed upon dry and barren Ground, by congratulating the happineſs of the Apoſtles, who ſowed their Seed more generally, upon all fit Grounds, without any diſtinction between Jews and Gentiles; and who found the Ground, to wit, the hearts of the people, more moiſtned and ſoftned, and better prepared to receive the good Seed of God's Word. f Which Creatures they employed in plowing and ſowing the Ground, Deut. 22. 10. Pſal. 144. 14. Iſa. 30. 24.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The deſtruction of the Enemies of the Church: who are derided, 1,---13; which terrifieth the Sinners in Zion, 14. the ſafety and priviledges of the Godly, 23,—24.

VVO to thee that * ſpoileſt a, and thou waſt not ſpoiled b, and dealeſt treacherouſly c, and they dealt not treacherouſly with thee d; when thou ſhalt ceaſe to ſpoil, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled e; and when thou ſhalt make an end to deal treacherouſly, they ſhall deal treacherouſly with thee.

a To Sennacherib, who waſted the Land of Judah, b Thou didſt not meet with any conſiderable Oppoſition, but waſt victorious over all thine Enemies; of which, the Aſſyrian boaſteth, Iſa 10. 8, 9. & 36. 18, 19. c As Sennacherib did with Hezekiah, 2 Kings 18. 14, 17. d None of thine Enemies could prevail againſt thee, either by force, of which he ſpeaketh in the former Clauſe, or by treachery, as here. Or when they dealt not, &c. when Hezekiah did not deal treacherouſly with thee. If it be ſaid, that Hezekiah dealt treacherouſly with him, in breaking his Faith, and rebelling againſt him; it may be anſwered, That Hezekiah neither promiſed nor owed him any Service or Subjection. What was done in that kind, was done by Ahaz only: And he only begged his aſſiſtance for a particular Work, and paid him well for it, 2 Kings 16. 7, 8. and the King of Aſſyria did not keep his Conditions with him; for, he diſtreſſed him, but ſtrengthned him not, 2 Chron. 28. 20. e When thou haſt performed the Work of chaſtiſing my People, for which I ſent thee, thou alſo ſhalt be ſpoiled by thine Enemies.

2 O LORD, be gracious unto us d, we have waited for thee, be thou their * arm e every morning f, our ſalvation alſo in the time of trouble.

d The Prophet contemplating the Judgment which was now coming upon God's People, directeth his Prayer to God for them. e Our Arm or Strength. Or rather 2. actively, as appears from the next Clauſe; as Caterpillars or Locuſts (for the Word ſignifies either) gather and devour all the Fruits of the Earth; which was a common Plague in thoſe Countries. n As Locuſts, eſpecially when they are ſent, and Armed by Commiſſion from God, come with great force, and run hither and thither, devouring all the Fruits of the Earth, whereſoever they find them.

5 The LORD is exalted o; for he dwelleth on high p, he hath filled Zion q with judgment and righteouſneſs r.

o Will get great Glory by the marvellous Deſtruction of ſo proud and potent an Army; and by the Defence of his People. p For he is, and will appear to be Superior to his Enemies, both in Place and Power. He dwelleth in the Heaven, whence He can eaſily, and irreſiſtably pour down Judgments upon his Enemies. Although theſe words may be, and by ſome are joined with thoſe that follow, thus, For he that dwelleth on high hath filled, &c. q He will fill Jeruſalem. r Either 1. with a glorious Inſtance of his juſt Judgment againſt the Aſſyrians. Or 2. with the Execution of Juſtice by good Hezekiah, as before it was filled with impiety and injuſtice under Ahaz. The City ſhall not only be delivered from that wicked Enemy, but ſhall alſo be eſtabliſhed and bleſſed with true Religion and Righteouſneſs; which was a great addition to that Mercy.

13 Hear ye that are far off, what I have done, and ye that are near, acknowledge my might r.

r My Power and Juſtice in deſtroying the Aſſyrians, ſhall be ſo evident, that People, both far and near, ſhall be forced to acknowledge it.

14 The ſinners in Zion are afraid s, fearfulneſs hath ſurprized the hypocrites; who among us ſhall dwell with the devouring fire? who amongſt us ſhall dwell with everlaſting burnings t?

s This is ſpoken, not of the Aſſyrians, as ſome would have it, but of the Jews, as appears, both from the Words themſelves, and from the following Verſes. The Prophet having foretold the Deliverance of God's People, and the Deſtruction of their Enemies, ver. 10, 11, 12. for the greater Illuſtration of that wonderful Mercy, here returns to the Deſcription, and gives a lively repreſentation of the diſmal and frightful Condition, in which the Jews, eſpecially ſuch of them as were ungodly and unbelieving, were before this Deliverance came. Although the godly Jews were, in ſome meaſure, ſupported by the ſenſe of God's Favour, and by God's Promiſes delivered to them by Iſaiah; yet the generality of the People were filled with Horrors, and expectation of utter Deſtruction. t How ſhall we be able to abide the Preſence, and endure, or avoid the Wrath of that God, who is a conſuming Fire; who is now about to deſtroy us utterly by the Aſſyrians, and will afterwards burn us with unquenchable Fire? For ſeeing it is ſufficiently evident, from both Old and New-Teſtament, as hath been formerly obſerved and proved, That the Jews, except the Sadducees, did generally believe the rewards and puniſhments of the future Life; and theſe Temporal Judgments, as they did frequently cut Men off from this Life, ſo they tranſmitted them into that future and endleſs Life: It is not ſtrange, if their guilty Conſciences made them dread both the preſent Judgment here, and the terrible Conſequences of it hereafter. Heb. Who ſhall dwell for us, &c. i. e. in our ſtead? Who will interpoſe himſelf between God's Anger and us? How ſhall we eſcape theſe Miſeries? That this is the Sence of this Queſtion, may be gathered from the Anſwer, given to it in the following Verſe; in which, he directs them to the right Courſe of removing God's Wrath, aud regaining His Favour.

Or, rather 2. a thankful Acknowledgment of deliverance from a former Danger; as if he had ſaid, When thou art delivered, thou ſhalt, with pleaſure and thankfulneſs, recal to mind thy former Terrours and Miſeries. i Theſe Words are, Either 1. words of Gratulation, and Inſultation over the Enemy. Thou ſhalt then ſay, Where are the great Officers of the Aſſyrian Hoſt? They are no where, they are not, they are dead or ſlain. Or rather 2. the words of Men diſmayed and confounded, ſuch as proceeded from the Jews, in the time of their diſtreſs; and are here remembred to aggravate the preſent Mercy. For the Officers here mentioned, ſeem not to be thoſe of the Aſſyrian Army, who were actually fighting againſt the Jews and Jeruſalem (for then he would rather have mentioned the Captains of the hoſt, as the Scripture commonly doth in theſe caſes, than the ſcribes and receivers, &c.) but rather of the Jews in Jeruſalem, who, upon the approach of Sennacherib, began to make Military preparations for the defence of the City, and to chuſe ſuch Officers, as were neceſſary and uſual, for that end; ſuch as theſe were, to wit, the ſcribe, whom we call Muſter-Maſter, who was to make and keep a Liſt of the Souldiers, and to call them together, as occaſion required: The receiver, who received and laid out the Money for the Charges of the War; and he that counted the Towers, who ſurveyed all the parts of the City, and conſidered what Towers or Fortifications were to be made or repaired for the Security of the City. And unto theſe ſeveral Officers the People reſorted, with great diſtraction and confuſion, to acquaint them with all Occurrences, or to quicken them to their ſeveral Works, or to tranſact Matters with them, as occaſion required.

n Contemplate Zions beauty and ſafety, and her glorious and peculiar Priviledges: it is an Object worthy of thy deepeſt Meditation. o This he mentions, as the chief part of Zions Glory and Happineſs, that God was ſolemnly Worſhipped, and the ſolemn Aſſemblies and Feaſts kept in her. p Which was but very obſcurely and imperfectly fulfilled in the literal Zion; but was clearly and fully accompliſhed in the myſtical Zion, the Church of God in the times of the Goſpel, againſt which, we are aſſured, that the gates of Hell ſhall not prevail, Mat. 16. 18.

x He directeth his Speech to the Aſſyrians; and having tacitely deſigned their Army under the notion of a gallant Ship, ver. 21. he here repreſents their broken and undone condition, by the Metaphor of a Ship, toſſed in a tempeſtuous Sea, having her Cables broken, and all her Tacklings looſe, and out of order, ſo as ſhe could have no benefit of her Maſts and Sails; and therefore is quickly broken, or ſwallowed up by the Sea. y The Aſſyrians, of whom he ſtill ſpeaks, as in the firſt Clauſe he ſpake to them. z They, who came to ſpoil and prey upon my People, ſhall become a prey to them, and ſhall be forced to flee away ſo ſuddenly, that they ſhall leave ſo many Spoils behind them, that when ſtrong and active Men have carried away all that they deſired, there ſhall be enough left for the Lame, who come laſt to the Spoil. The general Sence of the place is, That God's People ſhall be Victorious over all their Enemies.

24 And the inhabitant a ſhall not ſay, I am ſick b: the people that dwell therein ſhall be forgiven their iniquity c.

a To wit, of Jeruſalem; God's people. b Shall have no cauſe to complain of any ſickneſs or calamity; ſhall be fully delivered from all their Enemies and evil Occurrents; ſhall enjoy perfect tranquility and proſperity. c This may be added, Either 1. as the Reaſon of the foregoing priviledge; Their Sins, the main cauſes of all their Diſtreſſes, ſhall be pardoned; and therefore their Sufferings, the effects of Sin, ſhall ceaſe: Or 2. as an additional Favour. They ſhall not only receive from me a glorious Temporal Deliverance; but, which is infinitely better, the pardon of all their Sins, and all thoſe ſpiritual and everlaſting Bleſſings, which attend upon that Mercy.

13 And * thorns ſhall come up in her palaces, nettles and brambles in the fortreſſes thereof k, and * it ſhall be an habitation of dragons, and a court for ‖ † owls.

k This is another Mark and Evidence of extream Deſolation, as it is alſo, Hoſ. 9. 6.

14 † The wild beaſts of the deſert ſhall alſo meet with † the wild beaſts of the iſland, and the ſatyr ſhall cry to his fellow l, the ‖ ſcrichowl alſo ſhall reſt there m, and find for her ſelf a place of reſt.

l See on Iſa. 13. 21, 22. m Becauſe there ſhall be no Men left to diſturb or affright them, Iſa. 17. 2.

15 There ſhall the great owl n make her neſt, and lay and hatch, and gather under her ſhadow o, there ſhall the vulturs alſo be gathered, every one with their mate.

n Whether this, or what other Creature is meant by this Hebrew Word, the learned Reader may find largely diſcourſed in my Latin Synopſis upon this place: For others, it may ſuffice to know, what all agree in, that, whether it be a Bird or a Serpent, it is a Creature that lives in deſert places. o As fearing no Diſturbance from any Men.

p When this Judgment is executed, if you peruſe this Book of holy Writ, and particularly this Prophecy of mine, you will find, that all things ſhall exactly come to paſs, as I have told you. q As I have ſaid, That the Vulturs ſhould each have their Mate; ſo ſhall it be: And this Prophecy ſhall be exactly fulfilled, even in its ſmalleſt Circumſtances. r My Spirit; ſuch ſudden Changes of Perſons being frequent here. And God's Spirit may be put for his Might and Power, as it is in many places of Scripture. s Hath brought all theſe Creatures together, as he formerly brought the Creatures to Adam, and to Noah, by an inſtinct which he put into them.

17 And he hath caſt the lot for them, and his hand hath divided it unto them by line t: they ſhall poſſeſs it for ever, from generation to generation ſhall they dwell therein.

t He hath divided the Land to them, as it were, by Lot and Line, as Canaan was divided among the Iſraelites.

CHAP. XXXV.

The joyful flouriſhing of Chriſt's Kingdom, 1, 2. the weak he ſtrengthens and comforts, 3, 4. his Miracles, 5, 6. the proſperity and peace of his people, 7, — 10.

Heb. dry . Chap. 52. & 55 12.

THe wilderneſs and the † ſolitary place a ſhall * be glad for them b, and the deſert ſhall rejoyce, and bloſſom as the roſe.

a And as the Land of God's Enemies, which was exceeding Fruitful, ſhall be turned into a deſolate Wilderneſs, as was declared in the foregoing Chapter; ſo on the contrary, Emanuel's Land, or the Seat of God's Church and People, which formerly was deſerted, and deſpiſed like a Wilderneſs, and which the rage and malice of their Enemies had brought to deſolation, ſhall flouriſh exceedingly. b For the Wilderneſs and ſolitary Place: or, for theſe things, which were Propheſied in the foregoing Deſtruction, concerning the Ruine of the implacable Enemies of God, and his Church. But that Hebrew Letter which is in the end of this Hebrew Verb, and is here rendred for them, is by all the ancient Tranſlators, and by divers others neglected in their Tranſlations, as if it were only added to the Verb Paragogically, as Grammarians ſpeak; and therefore thoſe two words may well be omitted.

2 It ſhall bloſſom abundantly, and rejoyce even with joy and ſinging; the glory of Lebanon ſhall be given unto it, the excellency of Carmel and Sharon c; they d ſhall ſee the glory of the LORD e, and the excellency of our God.

c The Wilderneſs ſhall be as pleaſant and fruitful as Lebanon, and Carmel, and Sharon; which were eminent parts of the Land of Canaan, as hath been oft noted. d Who are underſtood by the Wilderneſs. e The glorious diſcoveries and effects of God's power and goodneſs to his People.

3 * Strengthen ye the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees f.

f Ye Prophets and Miniſters of God, comfort and encourage God's people, who are now ready to faint, with hopes and aſſurance of that Salvation, which, in due time, I will work for them. He mentions hands and knees, becauſe the ſtrength and weakneſs of any Man, eminently appears in thoſe parts.

4 Say to them that are of a † fearful heart, Be ſtrong, fear not; behold, your God will come g with vengeance h, even God with a recompence, he will come and ſave you.

g Though he ſeem to be abſent, and departed from you, he will come to you, and abide with you. He will ſhortly come in the fleſh. For although this, and the following Promiſes may be Metaphorically taken, concerning the temporal Deliverance of his People from Babylonian and other Oppreſſors; yet they are much more Emphatically and Literally underſtood concerning the Redemption of God's People by Jeſus Chriſt, as is ſufficiently manifeſt, both from the Words and Phraſes themſelves, and from divers places of the New-Teſtament, where they are ſo expounded by Chriſt and the Apoſtles. h To execute Vengeance upon the Enemies of God, and of his People: Which alſo was verified in Chriſt, who was Set for the fall, as well as for the riſing of many in Iſrael, Luke 2. 34. and who did accordingly inflict moſt dreadful Judgments, both temporal and ſpiritual, upon the unbelieving and apoſtate Jews, who were the great Perſecutors of Chriſt, and of his People.

5 Then * the eyes of the blind ſhall be opened, and * the ears of the deaf ſhall be unſtopped i.

* Chap. 29. 18. & 42. 7. Mat. 9. 27, &c. & 11. 5. & 12. 22. & 20. 30. & 21. 14. Joh. 9. 6, 7. * Mat. 11. 5. Mar. 7. 32, &c.

i The moſt ignorant and ſtupid Creatures ſhall be forced to Acknowledge the wonderful Works of God. Or rather thus, The poor Gentiles, who before were Blind and Deaf, ſhall now have the Eyes and Ears of their Minds opened to ſee God's Works, and to hear and receive his Word. And in token hereof, many Perſons, who are corporally blind and deaf, ſhall have ſight and hearing miraculouſly conferred upon them: All which being ſo fully and literally accompliſhed in Chriſt, and applyed by Chriſt to himſelf; it is a plain Proof, That this Prophecy belongs to the times of the Goſpel.

6 Then ſhall the * lame man leap k as an hart, and the * tongue of the dumb ſing: for in the wilderneſs ſhall * waters break out, and ſtreams in the deſert l.

* Mat. 11. 5. & 15. 30. & 21. 14. Joh. 5. 8, 9. Act. 3. 2, &c. & 8. 7. & 14. 8, &c. * Mat. 9. 32, 33. & 12. 22. & 15. 30. * Joh. 7. 38, 39.

7 And the parched ground ſhall become a pool, and the thirſty land ſprings of waters: in the habitation of Dragons where each lay, ſhall be ‖ graſs with reeds and ruſhes m.

k For joy, or go nimbly and readily. And this Clauſe alſo, and that which follows are to be underſtood, both Spiritually and Literally, as in the former Verſe. l The moſt dry and barren Places ſhall be made moiſt and fruitful: Which is principally meant of the plentiful Effuſion of God's Grace upon ſuch Perſons and Nations, as had been wholly deſtitute of it. m Thoſe dry and parched Deſerts, in which Dragons have their Abode, ſhall yield abundance of Graſs, and Reeds, and Ruſhes, which grow only in moiſt Grounds, Job 8. 11.

8 And an high-way ſhall be there, and a way n, and it ſhall be called the way of holineſs o, * the unclean ſhall not paſs over it p, ‖ but it ſhall be for thoſe q: the way-faring men, though fools, ſhall not err therein r.

* Joel. 3. 17. Rev. 21. 27. ‖ Or, for he ſhall be with them.

n The high-way, and the way are not to be taken for two different Ways, but for one and the ſame Way, even a Cauſey or Caſt-way, which is both raiſed Ground, as the firſt Hebrew Word ſignifies, and a Way; both ſignifying a convenient, prepared, plain, and common Road, or Path for Travellers, ſuch as the Doctrine of the Goſpel is, which is frequently compared to a Way, both in the Old and New-Teſtament, as hath been often obſerved. o It ſhall be an holy Way, trodden by holy Men, and filled with holy Practices, The People (walking in it) ſhall be all (i.e. a very great number of them, not ſo few as in the times of the Law) righteous, as is declared and propheſied afterward, Iſa. 60. 21. p Either to diſturb or defile it. Unclean Perſons ſhall, in a good meaſure, be kept or caſt out of my Church, by the ſtrict exerciſe of good Diſcipline here, and hereafter not one unclean Perſon ſhall enter into my Kingdom. q But this way ſhall be appropriated unto thoſe Perſons above-mentioned; the Weak, and Blind, and Lame, whom God will Heal and Save, ver. 3, 4, 5, 6. The pronoun Relative is put without an Antecedent, as it is in many other places. But this, and the following Clauſe, is, and may well be, rendred otherwiſe, and he (to wit, God, who is oft deſigned by this Pronoun, and is eaſily underſtood out of the Context) ſhall be to or with them walking in the way (their Companion and Guide in their Way, which is a great felicity) that fools may not err therein. r The Way ſhall be ſo plain and ſtraight, that even the moſt fooliſh Travellers (who are deſcribed by this Character, that They know not the way to the City, Eccleſ. 10. 15.) cannot eaſily miſtake it.

9 No lion ſhall be there, nor any † ravenous beaſt ſhall go up thereon, it ſhall not be found there s, but the redeemed ſhall walk there.

s It ſhall not only be a plain but a ſafe Way, free from all annoyance or danger from miſchievous Creatures. This is the ſame Promiſe for ſubſtance, with that Iſa. 11. 9. They ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy Mountain.

* Chap. 51. 11.

10 And the * ranſomed of the LORD t ſhall return and come to Zion u with Songs, and everlaſting joy upon their heads; they ſhall obtain joy and gladneſs, and * ſorrow and ſighing ſhall flee away x.

t They whom God ſhall Reſcue and Redeem from their corporal Slavery in Babylon, and eſpecially from their ſpiritual Bondage under Sin and Satan. u Shall come again to Zion, from whence they had been carried away Captive. Or, ſhall return, to wit, to the Lord now mentioned, and come to Zion, i. e. joyn themſelves to God's Church and People. x Which Expreſſions are too magnificent and emphatical, to be ſatisfied by the return of the Jews from Babylon to their own Land, which was accompanied and followed with many Sighs and Sorrows, as appears, both from ſacred and other Hiſtorians; and therefore muſt neceſſarily be underſtood of Goſpel-times, and of the Joy and Happineſs purchaſed by Chriſt for his People, begun here, and continued to all Eternity.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Sennacherib invadeth Judah, 1. he ſendeth Rabſhakeh, who by his blaſphemous perſuaſions tempteth Hezekiah to deſpair, and the people to revolt, 2, — 22.

* Kings 18. 13. 2 Chr. 32. 1.

NOw * it came to paſs in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, that Sennacherib king of Aſſyria came up againſt all the defenced cities of Judah, and took them.

2 And the king of Aſſyria ſent Rabſhakeh, from Lachiſh to Jeruſalem, unto king Hezekiah, with a great army; and he ſtood by the conduit of the upper pool, in the high-way of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth unto him Eliakim Hilkiahs ſon, which was over the houſe, and Shebna the || ſcribe, and Joah Aſaphs ſon the recorder,

4 And Rabſhakeh ſaid unto them, ſay ye now to Hezekiah, Thus ſaith the great king, the king of Aſſyria, What confidence is this wherein thou truſteſt?

* Ezek. 29. 6, 7.

5 I ſay, ſaiſt thou (but they are but † vain words) || I have counſel and ſtrength for war: now on whom doſt thou truſt, that thou rebelleſt againſt me?

6 Lo, thou truſteſt in the * ſtaff of this Broken reed, on Egypt, whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand and pierce it; ſo is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that truſt in him.

7 But if thou ſay to me, We truſt in the LORD our GOD: is it not he, whoſe high places, and whoſe altars Hezekiah hath taken away, and ſaid to Judah, and to Jeruſalem, Ye ſhall worſhip before this altar?

8 Now therefore give || pledges, I pray thee, to my maſter the king of Aſſyria, and I will give thee two thouſand horſes, if thou be able on thy part to ſet riders upon them.

9 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain of the leaſt of my maſters ſervants, and put thy truſt on Egypt for chariots and for horſemen?

10 And am I now come up without the LORD againſt this land to deſtroy it? the LORD ſaid unto me, Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

11 Then ſaid Eliakim, and Shebna, and Joah unto Rabſhakeh, Speak, I pray thee, unto thy ſervants in the Syrian language, for we underſtand it: and ſpeak not to us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall.

12 But Rabſhakeh ſaid, Hath my maſter ſent me to thy maſter and to thee, to ſpeak theſe words? hath he not ſent me to the men that ſit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own piſs with you?

13 Then Rabſhakeh ſtood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſaid, Hear ye the words of the great king, the king of Aſſyria.

14 Thus ſaith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you, for he ſhall not be able to deliver you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you truſt in the LORD, ſaying, The LORD will ſurely deliver us, this city ſhall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah, for thus ſaith the king of Aſſyria, || † Make an agreement with me by a preſent, and come out to me, and eat you every one of his vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his own ciſtern.

17 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, 18 Beware leſt Hezekiah perſwade you, ſaying, the LORD will deliver us. Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

19 Where are the gods of Hamath, and Arphad? where are the goods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who are they amongſt all the gods of theſe lands, that have delivered their land out of my hand, that the LORD ſhould deliver Jeruſalem out of my hand?

21 But they held their peace, and anſwered him not a word, for the kings commandment was, ſaying, Anſwer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the ſon of Hilkiah, that was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and Joah the ſon of Aſaph the recorder, to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabſhakeh.

The Hiſtory related here, and in the Three following Chapters, is, for the ſubſtance of it, and almoſt wholly, in the ſame words contained, 2 Kings, Chap. 18. and 19. and 20. It is fitly inſerted here, to explain and confirm ſome of the foregoing Predictions. It may ſeem to have been firſt Written by this Prophet, and from him to have been taken into the Book of Kings, to compleat that Hiſtory.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Hezekiah mourneth and ſendeth to Iſaiah to pray for them, 1, — 5. he comforteth them, 6, 7. Sennacherib called away againſt the King of the Ethiopians, ſendeth a blaſphemous Letter to Hezekiah, 8, — 13. his prayer, 14, — 20. Iſaiah's Prophecy, 21, — 35. An Angel ſlayeth the Aſſyrians, 36. Sennacherib is ſlain at Nineveh by his own ſons, 37, 38.

* 2 Kings 19. 1, &

ANd * it came to paſs when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himſelf with ſackcloth; and went into the houſe of the LORD.

2 And he ſent Eliakim who was over the houſhold, and Shebna the ſcribe, and the elders of the prieſts covered with ſackcloth, unto Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz.

3 And they ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of || blaſphemy: for the children are come to the † birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth.

4 It may be the LORD thy God will hear the words of Rabſhakeh, whom the king of Aſſyria his maſter hath ſent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words which the LORD thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is † left.

5 So the ſervants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah ſaid unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſter, Thus ſaith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words that thou haſt heard, wherewith the ſervants of the king of Aſſyria have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will || ſend a blaſt upon him, and he ſhall hear a rumour, and return to his own land, and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own land.

8 So Rabſhakeh returned, and found the king of Aſſyria warring againſt Libnah, for he had heard that he was departed from Lachiſh.

9 And he heard ſay concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, He is come forth to make war with thee, and when he heard it, he ſent meſſengers to Hezekiah, ſaying, 10 Thus ſhall ye ſpeak to Hezekiah king of Judah, ſaying, Let not thy God in whom thou truſteſt deceive thee, ſaying, Jeruſalem ſhall not be given into the hand of the king of Aſſyria.

11 Behold thou haſt heard what the kings of Aſſyria have done to all lands by deſtroying them utterly, and ſhalt thou be delivered?

12 Have the God's of the nations delivered them which my fathers have deſtroyed, as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Telaſſar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena and Ivah?

14 And Hezekiah received the letter from the hand of the meſſengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up unto the houſe of the LORD, and ſpread it before the LORD.

15 And Hezekiah prayed unto the LORD, ſaying,

16 O LORD of hoſts, God of Iſrael, that dwelleſt between the cherubims; thou art the God, even thou alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou haſt made heaven and earth.

17 Incline thine ear, O LORD, and hear; open thine eyes, O LORD, and ſee: and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which hath ſent to reproach the living God.

18 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Aſſyria have laid waſt all the † nations and their countreys:

19 And have † caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, wood and ſtone, therefore they have deſtroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O LORD our God, ſave us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know, that thou art the LORD, even thou only.

21 Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent unto Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael Whereas thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria:

22 This is the word which the LORD hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn, the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee.

23 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thine eyes on high? even againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

24 † By thy ſervants haſt thou reproached the Lord, and haſt ſaid, By the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains, to the ſides * of Lebanon, and I will cut down † the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof; and I will enter into the height of his border, and ‖ the forreſt of his Carmel.

25 I have digged and drunk water, and with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of the ‖ beſieged places.

26 ‖ Haſt thou not heard long ago, how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſt defenced cities into ruinous heaps.

27 Therefore their inhabitants were † of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded; they were as the graſs of the field, and as the green herb, as the graſs on the houſe tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up.

28 But I know thy ‖ abode, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage againſt me.

29 Becauſe thy rage againſt me, and thy tumult is come up into mine ears; therefore will I put my hook into thy noſe, and my bridle in thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt.

30 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch as groweth of it ſelf: and the ſecond year that which ſpringeth of the ſame, and in the third year ſow ye, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And † the remnant that is eſcaped out of the houſe of Judah, ſhall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.

32 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and † they that eſcape out of mount Zion: the * zeal of the LORD of hoſts ſhall do this.

33 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhields, nor caſt a bank againſt it.

34 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return, and ſhall not come into this city, ſaith the LORD.

35 For I will * defend this city to ſave it, for mine own ſake, and for my ſervant David's ſake.

11 I ſaid, I ſhall not ſee the LORD f, even the LORD in the land of the living g; I ſhall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world h.

f I ſhall not enjoy him; for ſeeing is put for enjoying, as hath been frequently noted. g In this World, which is ſo called, Pſal. 27. 13. & 116. 9. Iſa. 53. 8. in his Sanctuary. Which Limitation is prudently added to intimate, That he expected to ſee God in another place and manner, even in Heaven, Face to Face. h I ſhall have no more Society with Men upon Earth.

12 Mine age is departed i, and is removed from me as a ſhepherds tent k: I have cut off l like a weaver m my life: he n will cut me off ‖ with pining ſickneſs o; from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me p.

i The time of my Life is expired. k Which is eaſily and ſpeedily removed. l To wit, by my Sins, provoking God to do it. Or, I do declare, and have concluded, That my Life is or will be ſuddenly cut off: For Men are oft ſaid in Scripture, to do thoſe Things which they only declare and pronounce to be done; as Men are ſaid to pollute, and to remit and retain ſins, and the like, when they only declare Men and things to be polluted, and Sins to be remitted or retained by God. m Who cutteth off the Web from the Loom, either when it is finiſhed, or before, according to his pleaſure. n The Lord, who pronounced this Sentence againſt him. o With a conſuming Diſeaſe, waſting my Spirits and Life. Some render this Word, from the thrum, from thoſe Threds at the end of the Web, which are faſtned to the Beam. So the ſimilitude of a Weaver is continued. p The Senſe is, Either 1. this Sickneſs will kill me in the ſpace of one day. Or rather 2. thou doſt purſue me night and day with continual Pains, and wilt not deſiſt till thou haſt made a full End of me; ſo that, I expect that every day will be my Laſt day.

13 I reckon till morning q, that as a lion, ſo will he break all my bones, from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

q When I was filled with Pain, and could not Reſt all the Night long, even till Morning, my Thoughts were working and preſaging, That God would inſtantly break me to pieces, and that every moment would be my laſt; and the like reſtleſs and diſmal Thoughts followed me from Morning till Evening. But he mentions only the time before Morning, to aggravate his Miſery, that he was ſo grievouſly Tormented, when others had ſweet Reſt and Repoſe.

14 Like a crane or a ſwallow r, ſo did I chatter s: I did mourn as a dove t; mine eyes fail with looking upward u: O LORD, I am oppreſſed x, || undertake for me y.

r Or, a crane and a ſwallow; the conjunction, and, being here, as it is Hab. 3. 11. and elſewhere, underſtood, as is manifeſt from Jer. 8. 7. where it is expreſſed with theſe very words. s My complaint and cry was like to the noiſe of a Swallow, quick and frequent; and like that of a Crane, loud and frightful. And this very Compariſon is uſed of Mourners, not only in Scripture, but in other Authors; concerning which, the Learned Reader may conſult my Latine Synopſis. t Whoſe mournful Tone is obſerved, Iſa. 59. 11. Ezek. 9. 16. and elſewhere. u Whilſt I lift up mine Eyes and Heart to God for relief, but in vain. x By my Diſeaſe, which like a Serjeant hath ſeized upon me, and is haling me to the Priſon of the Grave. y Stop the Execution, and reſcue me out of his hands.

15 What ſhall I ſay z? he hath both ſpoken unto me, and himſelf hath done it a: I ſhall go ſoftly b all my years in the bitterneſs of my ſoul c.

z I want words ſufficient to expreſs my deep Senſe of God's dealings with me. a He did foretel it by his Word, and effect it by his Hand. This Clauſe and Verſe is, Either 1. a Continuance of his Complaint hitherto deſcribed: God hath paſſed this Sentence upon me, and hath alſo put it in execution, and to Him I muſt ſubmit my ſelf: Or 2. a Tranſition or entrance into the Thankſgiving, which is undoubtedly contained in the following Verſes. So the Sence is, God hath ſent a gracious Meſſage to me by his Prophet, concerning the prolongation of my Life; and he, I doubt not, will make good his Word therein. And this Sence ſeems the more probable: 1. Becauſe here is mention of his years to come, whereas in his ſickneſs he expected not to live to the end of a day. 2. Becauſe the Chaldee Paraphraſt, and the Seventy, and Syriack, and Arabick Interpreters expound it ſo in their Verſions. 3. Becauſe this ſuits beſt with the context and coherence of this Verſe, both with the former, and with the following Verſe. For as he endeth the foregoing Verſe with a Prayer to God for longer Life, ſo in this Verſe he relates God's gracious Anſwer to his Prayer: And if this Verſe be thus underſtood, the next Verſe hath a very convenient Connexion with this; whereas it ſeems to be very abrupt and incoherent, if the Thankſgiving begin there. b I ſhall walk in the courſe of my Life; Either 1. humbly, with all humble thankfulneſs to God for conferring ſo great a Favour upon ſo unworthy a Perſon: Or 2. eaſily and peaceably with leaſure, not like one affrighted, or running away from his Enemy: Or 3. by ſlow and gentle paces, as Men commonly ſpin out their Days by degrees unto a juſt length, which is not unfitly oppoſed to his former ſtate and time of Sickneſs, wherein his days were ſwifter than a weavers ſhuttle, and than a poſt, as Job complained upon the ſame occaſion, Job 7. 6. & 9. 25. and were cut off like a weavers Web, as he complained, ver. 12. c Ariſing from the remembrance of that deſperate Condition, from which God had delivered me: For great dangers, though paſt, are ofttimes very terrible to thoſe that reflect upon them. But the Words may be rendred, upon or after (as this particle is rendred, Iſa. 18. 4.) the bitterneſs of my ſoul, after the deliverance from this bitter and dangerous Diſeaſe. Which may be compared with ver. 17. where he ſaith, For or after peace, I had great bitterneſs, as here he preſageth and aſſureth himſelf of the contrary, That he ſhould have Peace after his great bitterneſs. The Chaldee Paraphraſt renders the Words, Becauſe of my deliverance from bitterneſs of Soul; bitterneſs being put for deliverance from bitterneſs, as five is put for lack of five, as we render it, Gen. 18. 28. and fat for want of fat, Pſal. 109. 24. and fruits for want of fruits, Lam. 4. 9. And other ſuch like Defects there are in the Hebrew, which is a very conciſe Language.

|| Or, haſt recovered me or, made me ſcrer, &c.

16 O Lord, by theſe things d men live, and in all theſe things is the life of my ſpirit e: ſo || wilt thou recover me, and make me to live f.

d By vertue of thy gracious Word or Promiſe, and powerful Work; by thy Promiſes, and thy performances of them, mentioned in the foregoing Verſe. This place may be explained by comparing it with Deut. 8. 11. Man doth not live by bread, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord. The Senſe is, Not I only, but all Men do receive and recover, and hold their Lives by thy Favour, and the Word of thy Power: And therefore it is not ſtrange, That one Word of God hath brought me back from the very jaws of Death. e And as it is with other Men, ſo hath it been with me in a ſpecial manner; for in theſe above all other things is the life of my ſpirit or Soul, i. e. either the comfort (which is ſometimes called Life) of my Spirit: or rather, That Life, which is in my Body, from my Spirit or Soul united to it. f Or, and or for thou haſt recovered me, &c. to wit, by theſe things.

17 Behold, || for peace I had great bitterneſs g, but † thou haſt in love to my ſoul h delivered it from the pit of corruption; for thou haſt caſt all my ſins behind my back i.

g My Health and Proſperity was quickly changed into bitter Sickneſs and Affliction. Or, as others render it, My great bitterneſs was unto peace, was turned into Proſperity, or became the occaſion of my ſafety and further advantages: For that drove me to my prayers, and prayers prevailed with God for a gracious Anſwer, and the prolonging of my Life. h In kindneſs to me, the Soul being oft put for the Man. This is an emphatical Circumſtance: For ſometimes God prolongs mens days in anger, and in order to their greater miſery. i Thou haſt forgiven thoſe ſins which brought this evil upon me, and upon that account haſt removed the puniſhment of them; which ſheweth that thou didſt this in love to me. The phraſe is borrowed from the cuſtom of men, who when they would accurately ſee and obſerve any thing, ſet it before their Faces, and when they deſire, and reſolve not to look upon any thing, turn their backs upon it, or caſt it behind them.

18 For k the † * grave cannot praiſe thee l, death cannot celebrate thee: they that go down into the pit cannot hope for thy truth m.

† Heb. H

k In this and the following verſe, he declares Gods deſign in delivering him, that he might praiſe him in his Church; which if he had died he could not have done. l The dead are not capable of glorifying thy Name among men upon Earth: which I deſire and determine to do. See the like expreſſions, Pſal. 6. 5. & 30. 9. & 88. 10, &c. The Grave is put for the perſons lodged in it by a Metonymy. m They cannot expect nor receive the accompliſhment of thy promiſed goodneſs in the Land of the Living.

19 The Living, the living, he ſhall praiſe thee n, as I do this day, the father to the children ſhall make known thy truth o.

n They are eſpecially obliged to it, and they only have this priviledge. o They ſhall not only praiſe thee whilſt they live, but take care to propagate and perpetuate thy Praiſe and Glory to all ſucceeding generations.

20 The LORD was ready to ſave me p, therefore we q will ſing my ſongs to the ſtringed inſtruments r, all the days of our life, in the houſe of the LORD.

p Was a preſent help to me, ready to hear, and ſuccour me upon my prayer in my great extremity. q Both I and my People, who are concerned in me, and for me will ſing forth thoſe ſongs of praiſe which are due eſpecially from me, for Gods great mercy to me. r According to the cuſtom of thoſe times.

21 For * Iſaiah had ſaid, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaiſter upon the boil, and he ſhall recover s.

20. 7.

s This was rather a ſign appointed by God, than a natural means of the cure: For if it had a natural faculty to ripen a ſore, yet it could never cure ſuch a dangerous and peſtilential diſeaſe at leaſt in ſo little time.

22 Hezekiah alſo had ſaid t, What is the ſign, that I ſhall go up u to the houſe of the LORD x.

t Or, For Hezekiah had ſaid, had asked a ſign, which is here added as the reaſon, why Iſaiah ſaid what is related in the foregoing verſe: to wit, in anſwer to Hezekiah's queſtion. u Within three days, as is more fully related, 2 Kings 20. 5, 8. x For thither he deſigned in the firſt place to go, partly that he might pay his vow and thankſgivings to God, and partly that he might ingage the people to praiſe God with him, and for him.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The King of Babel ſendeth Ambaſſadors with Letters and a preſent to Hezekiah: who ſheweth them all his treaſures, 1, 2. Iſaiah foretelleth him of the Babyloniſh Captivity, 4, — 7. his Reſignation, 8, 3 Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men? and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country unto me, even from Babylon.

4 Then ſaid he, What have they ſeen in thy houſe? and Hezekiah anſwered, All that is in my houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſures that I have not ſhewed them.

5 Then ſaid Iſaiah to Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD of hoſts.

6 Behold, the days come that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore until this day, ſhall be carried to Babylon, nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the LORD.

7 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget, ſhall they take away; and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

8 Then ſaid Hezekiah to Iſaiah, Good is the word of the LORD which thou haſt ſpoken: he ſaid moreover, For there ſhall be peace and truth in my days.

The Hiſtory contained in this Chapter is related in the ſame words, 2 Kings 20. 12, &c. only he who here is called Merodach is there called Berodach, meerly by the change of one letter, which is very uſual in the Hebrew Language, eſpecially in proper Names, as Dimon is put for Dibon, Iſa. 15. 9. and the ſame man is called Nebuchadnetſar, Nebuchadretſar. This King is called, Merodach from the Idol ſo called, Jer. 50. 2. and Baladan from his Fathers Name. But whether this man was an Aſſyrian or a Mede or a Babylonian it is not eaſie to determine nor worth while to enquire. But this is certain, that about this time there were Wars between the Aſſyrians, and the Babylonians, the iſſue whereof was, that the latter ſubdued the former.

CHAP. XL.

The Prophet having now foretold the Babyloniſh Captivity, chap. 39. 6, 7. doth here arm his People againſt it by the conſideration of their certain deliverance out of it, and their bleſſed condition after it, as in other things ſo eſpecially in the coming of the Meſſiah, and the great and glorious priviledges conferred upon God's Church and People in his days.

The Preaching of the Goſpel by John Baptiſt and the Apoſtles, 1,—11, The Power and Wiſdom of God in governing the World, 12, — 17. the folly of Idolatry, 18,— 26. God knoweth the ſtate of his People: and both can and will protect them, 27,— 31.

COmfort ye, comfort ye my people a, ſaith your God.

a Ye Prophets and Miniſters of the Lord, which now are, or hereafter ſhall be, deliver this comfortable meſſage from me to my People, that they may not ſink under their burdens.

2 Speak ye † comfortably to Jeruſalem, and cry unto her b, that her ‖ warfare c is accompliſhed, that her iniquity is pardoned d: for ſhe hath received of the LORD'S hand * double for all e her ſins.

Heb. to heart. Or, ap- ted e. Jer.16. Lam.1. Dan.9.

b Proclaim it in my name. c The time of her ſervitude, and captivity, and miſery. d I am reconciled to her; I will not impute ſin to her, to puniſh her any longer for it. e Not twice as much as her ſins deſerved, for ſhe her ſelf confeſſed the contrary, Ezra 9. 13. Lam. 3. 22. but abundantly enough to anſwer God's deſign in this chaſtiſement, which was to humble and reform them, and to warn others by their example. Double is oft put for abundantly, as Iſa. 61. 7. Jer. 16. 18. & 17. 18. God here ſpeaks of himſelf after the manner of men, and compareth himſelf to a tender-hearted Father, who when he hath corrected his Child for his miſdemeanour relenteth and repenteth of his ſeverity, and caſteth his Rod away.

3 * The voice f of him that crieth in the wilderneſs g, Prepare ye the way h of the LORD i, make ſtraight k in the deſert a high way for our God.

f An abrupt and imperfect ſpeech, ſuch as there are many in the Hebrew Language. Methinks I hear a voice: Or, a voice ſhall be heard. g Which words declare the place either, 1. Where the cry was made: Or, 2. Where the way was to be prepared, as it is expreſſed in the following Clauſe, which is added to explain this. And ſuch places being commonly path-leſs, and many ways incommodious to paſſengers, it was the more neceſſary to prepare a way there. But both come to one thing, for the cry was to be in that place which was to be prepared. This place ſeems to be underſtood immediately of the deliverance of the Jews out of Babylon, and of ſmoothing their paſſage from thence to Judea, which lay through a great Wilderneſs; but ultimately and principally concerning their Redemption by the Meſſiah, whoſe coming is uſhered in by the Cry of John the Baptiſt, who did both cry and prepare the way in the Wilderneſs, as we read, Mat. 3. 1, &c. Where this Text is directly expounded of him. But withal the terms of Wilderneſs and Deſert, ſeem to be here chiefly uſed in a metaphorical ſenſe, to expreſs the deſolate and forlorn condition of the Jewiſh Nation, and eſpecially of the Gentile-world, when Chriſt came to redeem them; for ſo theſe words are frequently uſed in prophetical writings, as hath been noted in divers places. h You to whom this work belongs. He alludes to the cuſtom of Princes who ſend Pioneers before them to prepare the way through which they intend to paſs. The meaning is only this, That God ſhall by his Spirit ſo diſpoſe mens hearts, and by his providence ſo order the Empires and affairs of the World, as to make way for the accompliſhment of this promiſe. i For the Lord, as it is expounded in the next clauſe, that the Lord may walk in it: Which though it may be underſtood of their coming out of Babylon, when God might in ſome ſort be ſaid to march in the head of them, conducting and preſerving them, yet it was much more evidently and eminently fulfilled, when Chriſt who was and is God bleſſed for ever, came into the World in a viſible manner. k Either direct, in oppoſition to crooked, or even and level, in oppoſition to the Mountains and Valleys mentioned in the next verſe.

4 Every Valley ſhall be exalted, and every Mountain and Hill ſhall be brought low: and the crooked ſhall be made ‖ ſtraight; and the rough places ‖ plain l.

l This is only a more particular explication of that which was generally expreſſed ver. 3. The ſenſe is, All obſtructions ſhall be removed, and the way made in all reſpects convenient and eaſie for the paſſenger.

5 And the glory of the LORD ſhall be revealed m, and all fleſh n ſhall ſee it together; for the mouth of the LORD hath ſpoken it o.

m So it was in ſome ſort, when God brought them out of Babylon, which was a glorious work of God, but far more properly and eminently, when Chriſt who was the glorious God, was manifeſted in the fleſh, and gave much clearer and fuller diſcoveries of God's glorious wiſdom, and holineſs, and goodneſs, and other divine perfections than ever yet had been imparted to mankind and to the Church. n All Nations, both Jews and Gentiles. o Though this may ſeem incredible, yet God is able to accompliſh it.

6 The voice ſaid p, Cry. And he ſaid q, What ſhall I cry? * All fleſh is graſs, and all the goodneſs thereof is as the flower of the field r.

* Job 14. 2. Pſ. 102. 11. & 103. 15. Jam. 1. 10. 1 Pet. 1. 24.

p God ſpeaks unto his Prophets or Miniſters. q The Prophet deſires to know God's mind, and his meſſage. r The Prophet having foretold glorious and wonderful things, which God had declared and determined to do, and ſuſpecting that men would hardly believe them; he confirmeth their faith, and the certainty of the thing in this, and the two next verſes, by repreſenting to their minds the vaſt difference between the nature, and word, and work of men and of God. All that men are or have, yea their higheſt accompliſhments, are but like the graſs or flower of the field, weak and vaniſhing, ſoon nipt and brought to nothing; but God's word is like himſelf, Immutable and Irreſiſtible: and therefore as the mouth of the Lord, and not of man, hath ſpoken theſe things, as was ſaid ver. 5. ſo doubt not but they ſhall be fulfilled.

7 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth; becauſe * the Spirit of the LORD s bloweth upon it: ſurely the People t is graſs.

* Pſal. 147. 18. Hoſ. 13. 15.

s Or, The breath, &c. as this word is rendred, Pſal. 147. 18. the wind, as it frequently ſignifies, which hath this effect upon graſs and flowers, Pſal. 103. 16. Jam. 1. 11. t The ſame which he called Fleſh, and ſaid they were Graſs, ver. 6. Which that he might prove, in this verſe he firſt declares the frail nature of Graſs and flowers, and then he applies this to the People: Or, this People, the Jews no leſs than the Gentiles; for here is an Article in the Hebrew Text, which is frequently emphatical and reſtrictive.

8 The graſs withereth, the flower fadeth, but the * word of our God ſhall ſtand for ever u.

* Joh. 12. 34. 1 Pet. 1. 25.

u Whatſoever God hath ſaid ſhall infallibly come to paſs.

9 ‖ O Zion that bringeſt good tidings x, get thee up into the high mountain y: ‖ O Jeruſalem, that bringeſt good tidings, lift up thy voice with ſtrength; lift it up, be not afraid z: ſay unto the Cities of Juday a, Behold your God b.

x O Zion, to whom the glad tidings of the coming of Chriſt into the World, and of the Salvation of Mankind by him were firſt publiſhed by Chriſt and his Apoſtles, and by whom they were publiſhed to all Nations. But the words are otherwiſe rendred in the margent, and by others, O thou (whoſoever thou art, Prophet or Apoſtle) that bringeſt good tidings to Zion. So Sion is not the deliverer but the receiver of theſe good tidings, as ſhe is in the Parallel place, Iſa. 52. 7. But our tranſlation ſeems to agree better with the Hebrew Text, in which the particle, unto, is not here expreſſed, as it is in the latter part of the verſe; by comparing which part with the former, it ſeems moſt probable, that Zion or Jeruſalem is the Speaker or Publiſher, and the Cities of Judah the hearers. y That thy voice may be better heard, as appears from the next branch of the verſe, See Judg. 9. 7. 1 Sam. 26. 13, 14. z Leſt thou ſhouldeſt be found a falſe Prophet; for it ſhall certainly be fulfilled. a To all my People in the ſeveral places of their abode, whether Cities or Countries. Only he names Cities to intimate, that they alſo, though they ſhould be deſtroyed, yet ſhould afterwards be rebuilt, and inhabited again. b Take notice of this wonderful Work, and glorious appearance of your God, who will be viſibly preſent with you, ſo that men may point at him and ſay, Behold here he is.

10 Behold the Lord GOD will come ‖ with ſtrong hand c, and his arms ſhall rule for him d; behold, * his reward is with him e, ‖ and his work before him f.

c With invincible ſtrength conquering all his Enemies. The word Hand or Arm, may very well be underſtood out of the following clauſe. d He ſhall need no ſuccours, for his own Power ſhall be ſufficient to govern his People, and to deſtroy his Adverſaries. e He comes furniſhed with recompences as well of Mercy and Bleſſings for his Friends and Followers, as of Juſtice and Vengeance for his Enemies. f He carrieth on his work or deſign effectually, ſo as none can hinder him: for that is ſaid in Scripture to be before a man which is in his Power, as Gen. 20. 15. & 24. 51, &c. Or Work is here put for the reward of the Work, as it is, Iſa. 49. 4. & 65. 7. and elſewhere. And ſo the ſame thing is repeated in other words, as is very uſual.

* Chap. 49. 10. Ezek. 34. 23. Joh. 10. 11. ‖ Or, that give ſuck.

g He ſhall perform all the Offices of a tender and faithful Shepherd towards his People, carrying himſelf wiah great Wiſdom and Condeſcenſion, and Compaſſion to every one of them according to their ſeveral Capacities and Infirmities.

12 Who hath meaſured the waters in the hollow of his hand b? and meted out heaven with the ſpan, and comprehended the duſt of the earth in † a meaſure, and weighed the Mountains in ſcales, and the hills in a ballance!

b i. e. Who can meaſure them? for indicative Verbs in the Hebrew Language are often taken potentially; who can do this and the following things but God? And this diſcourſe of God's infinite Power and Wiſdom, is here conveniently added to give them the greater aſſurance, that God was able, as he had declared himſelf willing, to do theſe great and wonderful things which he had promiſed; and that neither men nor falſe Gods were able to hinder him in it. God is here compared to a mighty Giant, ſuppoſed to be ſo big that he can take up, and hold all the waters of the Sea and Rivers of the whole World in one hand, and ſpan the Heavens, and then take up and weigh the whole Earth with the other hand.

18 To whom then will ye * liken God u? or what likeneſs will ye compare unto him?

u This is a proper inference from the foregoing diſcourſe of God's immenſe and infinite greatneſs; from whence he taketh occaſion to ſhew both the folly of thoſe that make mean and viſible repreſentations of God, as not the Gentiles only but even ſome of the Jews did; and the utter inability of Men or Idols to give any oppoſition to God in the doing of theſe great Works. And this diſcourſe of the madneſs of Idolaters proſecuted both here, and in the following Chapter, was deſigned by God, as a neceſſary antidote whereby the Jews might be preſerved from the contagion of Idolatry, to which God ſaw they now had ſtrong inclinations, and would have many and great temptations when they were in Captivity.

x He melteth ſome baſe Metal into a mould, which giveth it the form of an Image, which afterwards is graven or carved to make it more exact and amiable. Thus the Image oweth all its excellency to the Earth for the matter of it, and to the art of man for the form or faſhion of it. y Beaten out into Leaves or Plates. z Either for Ornaments: Or, rather for uſe, to faſten it to a Wall or Pillar, leſt it ſhould fall down, and be broken in pieces. 21 Have ye not known d? have ye not heard? hath it not been told you from the beginning e? have you not underſtood from the foundation of the earth?

d To wit, God to be the only true God, the Maker and Governour of the World, and all its Inhabitants: how can you be ignorant of ſo evident a truth? f As a Judge or Governour upon his Throne: g Or, above the Circle, &c. far above this round Earth, even in the higheſt Heavens; from whence he looketh down upon the Earth, where men appear to him like Graſhoppers. He alludes to one that looks down upon the Earth below him from ſome high place. As here we have the Circle of the Earth, ſo elſewhere we read of the Circle of Heaven, Job 22. 14. and of the Circle of the Deep, or Sea, Prov. 8. 27. becauſe the form of the Heaven, and Earth and Sea is circular and round, as is evident both from Senſe, and from the Principles of Philoſophy. h Small and contemptible in his ſight. 27 Why ſaiſt thou y, O Jacob, and ſpeakeſt, O Iſrael, My way z is hid from the Lord, and my judgment a is paſſed over from my God b?

y In thy heart: why doſt thou give way to ſuch jealouſies concerning thy God, of whoſe infinite Power and Wiſdom, and Goodneſs, there are ſuch evident demonſtrations given to all mankind, and to thee in a ſingular manner? z The courſe and condition of my Life. He takes no notice of my Prayers and Tears, and Sufferings for his Name, but ſuffers my Enemies to abuſe me at their pleaſure, and doth not attempt to reſcue me out of their hands. This complaint is uttered in the name of the People being prophetically ſuppoſed to be in Captivity. a Either 1. My Puniſhment: Or, rather 2. My Cauſe, as this word is moſt commonly uſed. God hath neglected to plead my Cauſe, and to give Judgment for me againſt mine Enemies, as he hath formerly done. b God hath diſmiſſed it, and left it and me in the hands of mine Enemies, and now our caſe is ſo deſperate that God cannot help us: for which reaſon they compared themſelves to dry Bones lying in the Grave, Ezek. 37.

28 Haſt thou not known? haſt thou not heard, that the everlaſting God, the LORD, the creator of the ends of the earth c fainteth not, neither is weary d? * there is no ſearching of his underſtanding e.

* Pſal. 14 5.

c Of all the Earth and the Inhabitants thereof, from one end to another. He ſeems to mention the ends or utmoſt bounds, becauſe they might ſeem to be more out of the reach and care of God's Providence, as being moſt remote from Jeruſalem, the only place of God's ſolemn and publick Worſhip in the World, and being then thought to be uninhabited. The argument is clear and ſtrong: God who made all, even the moſt deſolate and barbarous parts of the Earth, and conſequently takes care of them, will not neglect his own Land and People. d He is not by age or hard labour become weak and unable to help his People, as men are apt to be. e His Counſels by which he governeth all the World, and in a moſt particular manner thine affairs, are far above the reach of thy underſtanding: and therefore thou doſt ignorantly and fooliſhly in paſſing ſo raſh a cenſure upon the Ways and Works of the infinitely Wiſe God.

29 He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might he encreaſeth ſtrength f.

f He hath ſtrength enough not only for himſelf but for all, even the weakeſt of his creatures, whom he can eaſily ſtrengthen to bear all their burdens, and to vanquiſh all their oppreſſors.

30 Even the youths g ſhall faint, and be weary, and the young men ſhall utterly fall:

g The youngeſt and ſtrongeſt men, left to themſelves or without God's help, or which do not wait upon God; which is eaſily underſtood from the oppoſition in the following verſe.

31 But they that wait upon the LORD h, ſhall † renew their ſtrength i, they ſhall mount up with wings as eagles k, they ſhall run and not be weary, and they ſhall walk and not faint l.

God called Abraham, and was with him: the Nations Idolatrous, 1,—8. Iſrael encouraged by promiſes of ſafety and deliverance, 9,—20. the vanity of Idols, 21,—24. Redemption by Chriſt, 25,—29.

eouſ-
* Chap. 46. 11.
* Gen. 14, &c.

f What man or God? Was it not my alone work? The Idols were ſo far from aſſiſting me, that they did their utmoſt to oppoſe me in it. g Into Being and Power, ſtirring up his Spirit, and ſtrengthning him to the work. h Heb. Righteouſneſs, which is put for a man of Righteouſneſs, as Pride is put for a proud man, Pſal. 36. 11. and Deceit for a deceitful man, Pſal. 109. 2. For it is evident from the following words, that he ſpake here of a perſon: But who this perſon is, is much diſputed by interpreters. Some underſtand it of Chriſt. And doubtleſs the Perſon here ſpoken of was an eminent Type of Chriſt, and ſo in a myſtical ſenſe it may belong to him. But the things here ſaid to be done by this Righteous Man, ſeems to agree much better unto a Man of War, than unto the Prince of Peace. And therefore this place is immediately underſtood either. 1. Of Abraham, who was a Perſon eminently Righteous, and came out of Chaldea, which ſometimes ſeems to be called the Eaſt, as Iſa. 2. 6. Zech. 8. 7. who did the things here mentioned; partly in his own perſon, conquering five Kings and the Nations with them, Gen. 14. and following God he knew not whither; and partly by his Poſterity; whoſe exploits may well be aſcribed to him, not only becauſe they came out of his Loyns, but alſo and eſpecially, becauſe all their ſucceſſes and victories were given to them for Abraham's ſake, and by the virtue of God's Promiſe and Covenant made with Abraham, for the giving of Canaan to him and to his Seed for ever. And this Interpretation may ſeem to receive ſome countenance from ver. 5, 6. which agrees well to the practice of the Canaanites and Neighbouring Nations; who upon Iſrael's March towards them were filled with great conſternation, and uſed all poſſible diligence in ſeeking both to their Idols, and to men for help againſt them, as we read in that Sacred Hiſtory. And thus God's argument againſt Idolatry, is taken from an illuſtrious example of God's infinite Power, put forth in ſaving his people, and deſtroying their enemies before them; and of the impotency of Idols to hinder him in that work: Or, 2. of Cyrus, who might be called a Righteous man: Or, as it is in the Hebrew, a man of Righteouſneſs; becauſe he was Raiſed up in Righteouſneſs, as it is ſaid of him, Iſa. 45. 13. and was God's great Inſtrument to manifeſt his Righteouſneſs; both his Faithfulneſs, in fulfilling his promiſe of delivering his people out of Babylon after ſeventy years (Righteouſneſs being often put for Faithfulneſs) and his Juſtice, in puniſhing the Enemies and Oppreſſors of his People, the wicked Babylonians; upon which account the Medes, who ſerved under Cyrus in his Expedition againſt the Babylonians, are called God's Sanctified Ones, Iſa. 13. 3, 17. And all the other expreſſions here uſed are very applicable to him, and were verified in him. He came from the Eaſt, from Perſia which was directly eaſtward, both from Judea and from Babylon, and which is called the Eaſt in this very caſe, Iſa. 46. 11. He was raiſed up by God in an eminent and extraordinary manner, as is noted both by ſacred and profane Hiſtorians; and therefore this very word is uſed concerning him and his Army, not only here, but elſewhere; as Iſa. 13. 17. Jer. 50. 9. and 51. 1, 11. To him alſo all the following paſſages agree, as we ſhall ſee. And although this great perſon & action were yet to come; yet the Prophet ſpeaks of them as if they were already paſt, as the Prophets moſt frequently do. And as in the clauſe of the former Chapter he ſpeaks of God's People, as if they were actually in the captivity of Babylon, ver. 27. ſo here he ſpeaks of them, as if they were actually brought out of Babylon by Cyrus. And by this inſtance he pleads his cauſe againſt the Gentiles and their Idols; becauſe this was an evident proof of God's Almighty Power, and of the vanity and weakneſs of Idols, which eminently appeared in the deſtruction of the Babylonians, who were a People mad upon their Idols, as is ſaid, Jer. 50. 38. and yet were deſtroyed together with their Idols, Jer. 51. 47. i From a Country Eaſtward from Judea, as Chaldea was in part, but Perſia more directly. k To march after him, and under God's Banner againſt Babylon. Thus Baracks Army is ſaid to be at his feet, Judg. 4. 10. Compare alſo Gen. 30. 30. l Subdued Nations and their Kings before him. m To be beaten by him as ſmall as duſt, as is ſaid, Pſal. 18. 42. Or, to be put to flight as eaſily as the duſt is ſcattered by the wind, as the following clauſe expounds this.

3 He purſued them and paſſed † ſafely n; even by the way that he had not gone with his feet o.

n Went on in the purſuit with great eaſe and ſafety, and ſucceſs. o Which is added as a further evidence of God's wonderful providence, in encouraging and inabling him to march by unknown paths; which hath oft proved dangerous and deſtructive to great Armies. This alſo was verified both in Abraham, and in Cyrus, as is well known.

4 Who hath wrought and done it p, * calling q the generations from the beginning r? I the Lord, the * firſt, and with the laſt s, I am he.

p Whoſe work was this but mine? q Either 1. Calling them out of nothing, giving to them breath and being: Or, 2. Calling them to his foot, as he ſaid above, ver. 2. diſpoſing and employing them as he ſees fit, ſending them upon his errands. r All Perſons and Generations of mankind from the beginning of the World to the end of it. s Who was before all things even from Eternity, and ſhall be unto Eternity; whereas the Idols, to whom God herein oppoſeth himſelf, were but of yeſterday, being made by mens hands, and ſhall within a little time vaniſh, and be deſtroyed.

5 The iſles t ſaw it u, and feared x; the ends of the earth were afraid, drew near, and came y.

t Even remote Countries, as ver. 1. u Diſcerned the mighty Work of God in delivering his People, and overthrowing their enemies, in ſo wonderful a manner. x Leſt they ſhould be involved in the ſame Calamity, as being conſcious to themſelves, that they alſo were enemies to God's people. y They gathered themſelves together to conſult for their common ſafety, and to maintain the cauſe of their Idols, whom by this inſtance they perceived in great Jeopardy.

6 * They helped every one his neighbour, and every one ſaid to his Brother, † Be of good courage z.

* Chap. 40. 19. & 44. 12.

a Who brought wood to compoſe the body of the Idol. b Who was to prepare golden plates for covering, and adorning of the Image, which ſome of them beat out upon the Anvil, and others ſmoothed or poliſhed, as it follows. c That we may put the ſeveral parts together, and ſet it up to be worſhipped. d To the Wall or Pillar, leſt it ſhould fall down, or go, or be carried away from them. See Iſa. 40. 19, 20.

e Thus the Gentiles ſhew themſelves to be the Servants of their Idols, and own them for their God; but thou art my people and I am and will be thy God. f Out of the heap of the Idolatrous Nations to be my peculiar People. g With whom I made a ſtrict league of perpetual friendſhip; of which ſee Gen. 12. 2, 3. and 15. 1, 8.

9 Thou whom I have taken from the ends of the earth h, and called thee from the chief men thereof i, and ſaid unto thee, Thou art my ſervant, I have choſen thee, and not caſt thee away k.

h Thou Iſrael, whom I took to my ſelf, and brought hither in the loins of thy Father Abraham from a remote Country; to wit, Chaldea: Or, whom I brought back out of Babylon into thine own Land, Which though yet to come, he may ſpeak of as of a thing paſt, as the Prophets uſe to do, as was noted before. But the former interpretation ſeems to agree better with the foregoing verſe. i From the midſt of many great and noble perſons among whom he lived in Chaldea. So this notes Gods ſingular mercy to Abraham, and conſequently to the Iſraelites deſcended from him, that he paſſed by many of Abraham's betters, and called him into fellowſhip with himſelf. k I have choſen thee not for a ſmall moment, but for ever, by making an everlaſting Covenant with thee and thy Seed through all Generations. Or the ſenſe is this: As I have choſen thee at firſt, ſo I have not ſince that time caſt thee off, as thou hadſt frequently given me ſufficient occaſion to do. Or, and did not refuſe thee, as this word is elſewhere uſed. So the ſame thing is repeated in other words, not without ſome emphaſis; for he intimates that he choſe them when he had juſt cauſe of refuſing them.

10 Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not diſmayed, for I am thy God. I will ſtrengthen thee, yea, I will help thee, yea I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteouſneſs l.

l Which I do and will manage with Righteouſneſs, whereby I will deliver thee, and deſtroy thine and mine enemies, as it follows.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter: that we may know that ye are gods: p yea, * do good, or do evil q, that we may be diſmayed, and behold it together r.

p That we may have, if not a certain proof, yet at leaſt a probable argument of your Deity. It may be objected that the Devil hath foretold future events by Idols: but it may be anſwered, that ſuch predictions were but rare, and oftentimes were falſe, and confuted by the event; and generally were dark, and doubtful, as hath been noted; and when they were verified by the event, that was only done by Divine Permiſſion and revelation, for the tryal or puniſhment of wicked men, of which we have an inſtance, Deut. 13. 1, 2, 3. and therefore doth no more prove them to be Gods, than the predictions made known by God unto the Prophets, proved them to be Gods. q Protect and Bleſs your Worſhippers whom I intend to deſtroy, and deſtroy my People whom I intend to ſave, and then you have ſome colour to aſſert your Deity. But alas! You can neither do good nor evil. r That I and my People may be aſtoniſhed, and confounded, and forced to acknowledge your Godhead.

24 Behold, * ye are ‖ of nothing s, and your work t ‖ of nought: an abomination is he that chooſeth you u.

s You lately were nothing, without any Being at all, and now you have nothing at all of Divinity or Vertue in you. t Either 1. Paſſively, your workmanſhip, all the coſt and art which is laid out upon you. Or, 2. Actively, all that you can do. Your Operations are like your Beings, there is no reality in your Beings, nor efficacy in your Actions. u He that chooſeth you for his Gods, is moſt abominable for his folly, as well as his wickedneſs.

25 I have raiſed up x one y from the north, and he ſhall come: from the riſing of the Sun ſhall he ‖ call upon my name z, and he ſhall come upon princes as upon morter a, and as the potter treadeth clay.

x You neither foreknow nor can do any thing. But I do now foretel, and will certainly effect a great revolution and change in the World, which you ſhall not be able to hinder. y Which word, though not expreſſed in the Hebrew muſt neceſſarily be underſtood, as being oft deſigned in the following words by the pronoun He. He underſtands one People: Or, rather one Perſon, Prince or General together with his People or Forces, as appears from the latter part of the Verſe. Some conceive that the Prophet in this place ſpeaks of two ſeveral perſons; in the firſt clauſe of Nebuchadnezzar, who in Scripture is commonly ſaid to come from the North, as Jer. 1. 13, 15. and 4. 6. and the next clauſe of Cyrus who came from the Eaſt, Iſa. 46. 11. And then the words may be thus rendred, one from the North, and he ſhall come: and one from the riſing of the Sun, He ſhall call, &c. But it ſeems more natural and eaſie to underſtand the whole context of one and the ſame Perſon, even of Cyrus, of whom he ſpake before, ver. 2, &c. who might well be ſaid to come, both from the North, and from the Eaſt; from the North rather, becauſe he was a Mede by his Mother, as he was a Perſian by his Father; or becauſe a great part of his Army was gathered out of Media, which was, and in Scripture is ſaid to be Northward in reference to Judea, Jer. 50. 9, 41. and 51. 48. and becauſe Darius the Mede was joyned with him in this expedition: and from the Eaſt, becauſe Perſia was directly eaſtward from Judea. And peradventure this work of calling upon or proclaiming God's Name, is here aſcribed to him as he came from the Eaſt, rather than as he came from the North, becauſe that work was not done by Darius the Mede, but by Cyrus the Perſian. z Or rather, as others render it, who ſhall call upon: Or rather, proclaim my name, which Cyrus did in expreſs and emphatical terms, Ezra 1. 1, 2. a Treading them down, as eaſily as a man treadeth down morter.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning b, that we may know? and before-time c, that we may ſay d, He is righteous e? yea, there is none f that ſheweth, yea, there is none that declareth, yea, there is none that heareth your words g.

b Which of all your Idols did or could foretel ſuch things as this from the beginning of the World unto this day? They never yet did nor can foretel any ſuch things, further than I think fit to reveal it to them. c Either in time paſt: Or, before the things come to paſs. d That we may be convinced and forced to acknowledge. e His Cauſe now pleaded is juſt and good: He is a God indeed as he pretends to be, he claims his Divinity by a good title. f Heb. Surely there is none of your Gods that hath done or can do this, and therefore their claim to the Deity is falſe and fooliſh. g None of your Worſhippers ever heard any ſuch thing either from you or of you: nor indeed doth any man hear your words, becauſe you are dumb and cannot ſpeak.

h I who am the firſt, as I ſaid before, ver. 4. and therefore capable of declaring or foretelling things to come from the beginning, which your Idols cannot do, ver. 26. i Do and will foretel unto my people by my Prophets things to come. k I repreſent things future as if they were preſent, and to be beheld with your eyes. By them he means either, 1. Theſe things which are to come: Or, 2. Theſe men, either Cyrus and his Forces who came to deliver the Jews out of Babylon: Or, which is the ſame thing in effect, the Jews returning from their captivity in Babylon. l A Meſſenger or Meſſengers, the ſingular number being here put for the plural, as it is in many other places, to wit, my Prophets who ſhall foretel the good tidings of their deliverance from Captivity.

28 For I beheld m, and there was no man n, even amongſt them, and there was no counſeller o, that when I asked of them, could † anſwer a word p. Heb. re- m.

m Heb. And I beheld, I looked about me to ſee if I could find any man of them that could certainly, and of themſelves foretel ſuch future events. n Not any, to wit, of the Idols; for the word Man is ſometimes uſed by the Hebrews of brute creatures, and even of lifeleſs things, as Iſa. 34. 15. and 40. 26. and elſewhere. o Though theſe Idols were oft conſulted, and by the help of the Devil did ſometimes deliver Oracles, yet none of them were able to give any ſolid and certain advice concerning future things. p When I tried their divinity by this character, they had nothing to ſay for themſelves.

q This is the concluſion of the whole diſpute, and the juſt ſentence which God paſſeth upon Idols after a fair trial; they are vain things, and are falſly called Gods. r See ver. 24. s Which he mentions, becauſe their materials were moſt precious, and more coſt and art was commonly beſtowed upon them, for after they had been molten they uſed to be carved or poliſhed and adorned: but under theſe he ſynecdochically comprehends all Images whatſoever. t Empty and unſatisfying things, which alſo like the wind, do quickly paſs away and come to nothing. u Confuſed and deformed and uſeleſs things, like that rude heap in the beginning of God's Creation, of which this very word is uſed, Gen. 1. 2.

CHAP. XLII.

The Perſon and office of Chriſt appointed by the Father, 1,—9. a new ſong to God for his Goſpel, among the Gentiles, 10,—16. the idolatry of the Heathen: and obſtinacy of the Jews, 17,—25.

Mat. 12.
Mat. 3.
Eph. 1.6.
3. 34.

BEhold a, * my ſervant b whom I uphold c, mine elect d in whom my ſoul * delighteth e: I * have put my Spirit upon him f, he ſhall bring forth g judgment h to the Gentiles i.

a The Prophet, having in the former Chapter detected the vanity of Idols, by their groſs Ignorance of future things, and having given one eminent inſtance of God's certain Foreknowledge of things to come, in the prediction of the deſtruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of the Jews out of it by Cyrus; he now addeth another more eminent and remote example of it, and foretelleth the coming of the Meſſiah, and ſeveral great effects or conſequences thereof. Which he rather doth, becauſe this was the perſon by whom the Idols were to be utterly aboliſhed, as was foretold, Iſa. 2. 18. compared with ver. 2, 3, 4. and as it fell out in the event: This having been obſerved not only by Chriſtians, but even by the learned Heathens, not without aſtoniſhment, That at that time, when Chriſt came into the World, Idols were generally ſtruck dumb, and the Oracles ceaſed. b The perſon, of whom he here ſpeaketh, is by ſome ſuppoſed to be Cyrus, and by others Iſaiah himſelf, and by others the People of the Jews. But the moſt and beſt Interpreters underſtand this place of Chriſt. And although I am ſenſible, that ſome learned men have done wrong to the ſacred Text, and to the Chriſtian cauſe, by expounding ſome places of Chriſt without ſufficient evidence, yet this is one of the many places in this Prophecy, which cannot without manifeſt violence be applied to any other; which is ſo evident, that not only the generality of Chriſtians, but divers of the moſt learned Jews underſtand it of the Meſſiah, and of him alone; and paſs a ſevere cenſure upon their Brethren, that expound it of any other perſon, and affirm that they are ſmitten with blindneſs in this matter. Moreover this place is expreſly interpreted of Chriſt, Mat. 12. 18, &c. And to him, and to him only all the particulars here following do truly and evidently belong, as we ſhall ſee. c Whom I will aſſiſt and enable to do and ſuffer all thoſe things which belong to his Office to do. d Choſen by me to this great work of Mediation and Redemption, to which he is ſaid to be ſealed and ſent, John 6. 27, 29. and predeſtinated, 1 Pet. 1.20. and choſen of God, 1 Pet. 2.4. e Or, as this ſame word is oft rendred, is well pleaſed, both for himſelf and for all his people, being fully ſatisfied with that Sacrifice, which he ſhall offer up to me. f I have furniſhed him with that abundance and eminency of gifts and graces, which are neceſſary for the diſcharge of his high and hard employment. g Shall publiſh or ſhew, as this word is tranſlated, Mat. 12. 18. ſhall bring to light what before was hid in his breaſt, or in his Fathers boſome. h This word is very ambiguous, and elſewhere is put for puniſhment, which cannot be meant here, becauſe the whole context ſpeaks of his mercy and ſweetneſs, and not of his ſeverity: but here it is clearly put for God's Law, as this very word is expounded here below, ver. 4. and as it is frequently uſed in the Holy Scriptures, as Pſal. 119. and elſewhere: which alſo beſt agrees with the bringing forth or publiſhing of it here mentioned, publication being neceſſarily required and conſtantly uſed about Laws. And this interpretation is confirmed by the following words, to the Gentiles. For the great things which Chriſt publiſhed unto all the World, both Jews and Gentiles, was nothing elſe but the Law and Will, and Counſel of God concerning man's ſalvation, and the way, and means of obtaining it. i Not only to the Jews, to whom the knowledge of God's Laws had been hitherto appropriated, but to the Heathen Nations of the World.

k, Either 1. In a way of contention, as anger is oft accompanied with clamour, Eph. 4. 31. Or, 2. In a way of oſtentation. It ſeems to be meant both ways, by comparing this place with Mat. 12. 16, 17, 20. He ſhall neither erect nor manage his Kingdom, with violence and outward pomp and ſtate, as worldly Princes do, but with meekneſs and humility. l His voice, which is eaſily underſtood out of the following clauſe, and from many other Scriptures, where that word is added to this verb, to compleat the Phraſe. m As contentious and vain-glorious perſons frequently do.

3 A bruiſed reed ſhall he not break n: and the ‖ ſmoaking flax ſhall he not † quench o: * he ſhall bring forth judgment unto truth p. ‖ Or, dimly burning. † Heb. quench it. * Pſal. 94. 15.

n He will not break it to pieces, but rather will ſtrengthen and bind it up. It is a common figure, whereby more is underſtood than was expreſſed, and one contrary is left to be gathered from another, of which many inſtances have been given in former Texts. The ſenſe is plainly this, Chriſt will not deal roughly and rigorouſly with thoſe that come to him, but he will uſe all gentleneſs and kindneſs to them, paſſing by their greateſt ſins, bearing with their preſent infirmities, cheriſhing and encouraging the ſmalleſt beginnings of grace, comforting and healing wounded conſciences, and the like. o The ſame thing is repeated in other words, to give us the greater aſſurance of the truth of it. That wiek of a Candle (called Flax metonymically, becauſe it is made of Flax) which is almoſt extinct, and doth only ſmoke and not flame, he will not utterly quench, but will revive and kindle it again. p Judgment may be here taken either, 1. For the Law or will of God, or the Doctrine of the Goſpel, which he will bring forth, i. e. publiſh, which he will do unto or in or with or according to (for this prepoſition is uſed all thoſe ways) truth, i. e. truly and faithfully, not concealing nor corrupting it, as falſe teachers commonly do. So this is a character, like that which is given to Chriſt, Mat. 22. 16. Thou art true and teacheſt the way of God in truth: And thus this phraſe of bringing forth Judgment, is taken here as it is ver. 1. Or, 2. for the Cauſe which is debated, or for the ſentence which is given in the cauſe, as this word is moſt frequently uſed, which he will bring forth, i. e. bring to light, or diſcover or publiſh; and this he will do according to truth and equity, and not unjuſtly and partially, as corrupt judges uſe to give ſentence againſt the poor and meek. In this ſence this very phraſe of bringing forth Judgment. is taken Pſal. 37. 6. And this ſenſe ſeems to be favoured, both by the conſideration of the quality of the Perſons, to whom this judgment is here implied to be brought forth, who are called bruiſed Reeds, and ſmoaking Flax, whereby they are ſuppoſed to be Perſons diſcouraged, and oppreſſed, and in a conteſt with themſelves, or with their ſpiritual adverſaries about the ſtate of their Souls; as alſo by comparing this place with Mat. 12. 20. where theſe very words are quoted, and thus rendred, Till he ſend forth Judgment unto Victory, i. e. till judgment or ſentence be given for him, in which caſe a man is ſaid to be victorious in Judgment. If it be ſaid for the former interpretation, that it ſeems moſt reaſonable to underſtand Judgment here as it is underſtood, ver. 1, and 4. and bringing forth Judgment here as it is taken, ver. 1. it may be truly and fairly anſwered, that it is a very common thing in Scripture, for the ſame words or phraſes to be uſed in ſeveral ſenſes, not only in two neighbouring verſes, but ſometimes alſo in the very ſame verſe, whereof I have formerly given divers inſtances.

q Though he be thus meek, and gentle, yet he is alſo couragious, and reſolute againſt all the great, and many difficulties and conflicts, to which he will be expoſed, and will not give over till he have finiſhed his work: Or, as others render the words, He ſhall not be darkned (This glorious light ſhall not be eclipſed or obſcured: Or, He ſhall ſhine forth brightly and glorioufly, as the Seventy render this word) nor broken, by all the attempts and vigorous indeavours of his Enemies who deſign it. r Till he hath publiſhed and eſtabliſhed his law or doctrine (as this Judgment ment is expounded in the next clauſe) among the nations of the Earth. And this word, till, reſpects only the time paſt, but not the time to come, as if he would then fail, or be diſcouraged, when once he had ſet Judgment on the Earth; which is contrary to reaſon, and to other evident Scriptures. And ſo this word is uſed, Gen. 28. 15. Pſal. 71. 18. Mat. 1. 25. s The Countries remote from Judea, to which God's Law was now confined, as this word is oft uſed. t Shall gladly receive his Doctrine and commands from time to time.

5 Thus ſaith God the LORD, * he that created the heavens, and ſtretched them out; he that ſpread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and ſpirit to them that walk therein u:

u This large deſcription of God's infinite power, is here ſeaſonably added, to give them aſſurance of the certain accompliſhment of theſe great and wonderful promiſes, which otherwiſe would ſeem incredible.

* Ch. 49. 8. * Ch. 49. 6. Luk. 2. 32. Act. 13. 47.

6 I the LORD have called thee in righteouſneſs x, and will hold thine hand y, and will keep thee z, and give thee for * a covenant a of the people b, for * a light of the Gentiles c;

x To declare my righteouſneſs, as is ſaid, Rom. 3. 26. or my faithfulneſs, which is frequently called Righteouſneſs in Scripture, according to my promiſe long ſince made, and oft renewed. As the former verſe aſſerted God's Power, ſo this clauſe declares his will and firm purpoſe and obligation, to effect this work, and both together evince the certainty and neceſſity of it. y Will give thee counſel and ſtrength for thine high and hard work. z That thou ſhalt not fail in, nor be hindred by thine enemies, from the accompliſhment of thy work. a To be the Angel of the Covenant, as Chriſt is called, Mal. 3. 1. or the Mediator in and by whom my Covenant of Grace is made, and confirmed with mankind. b Either of my People, the Jews: Or, indefinitely or univerſally, of all People, not only Jews but Gentiles alſo, as it follows. c To enlighten them with true and ſaving knowledge, and to direct them in the right way to true happineſs, from which they had miſerably wandred. He alludes to God's fiery Pillar, which enlightned and directed the Iſraelites in the Wilderneſs.

* Ch. 35. 5. & 61. 1. Luk. 4. 18. Heb. 2. 14, 15.

7 To open the blind eyes d, and to bring out the priſoners e from priſon, and them that ſit in * darkneſs out of the priſon-houſe.

d The eyes of their minds blinded with long ignorance, and deep prejudice and inveterate error, and by the Power and Policy of the God of this World, 2 Cor. 4. 4. which nothing but the almighty Power of God could cure. e Sinners who are taken captive by the Devil at his will, as we read, 2 Tim. 2. 26. and as daily experience ſheweth, and who are enſlaved and chained by their own luſts, and made Free-men only by Chriſt, Joh. 8. 32, 36. Compare this portion of Scripture with Iſa. 61. 1. and both with Luke 4. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 Where it is ſaid to be fulfilled in and by Chriſt.

8 I am the LORD f that is my name g, and my * glory will I not give to another, neither my praiſe to graven images h.

f Heb. Jehovah: Who have all being in and of my ſelf, and give being to all my Creatures, and to all my promiſes, as this name ſignifies. The everlaſting, and unchangeable, and omnipotent God, who therefore both can, and will fulfill all my promiſes, and plead the cauſe, and ſet up the Kingdom of my Son in ſpight of all oppoſition, and deſtroy all thoſe Idols which are ſet up againſt him and me. g Which I muſt own and juſtifie to the World. He ſeems to allude to Exod. 3. 14, 15. and 6. 3. h I will not any longer ſuffer that Honour and Worſhip, which is peculiar to me, to be given to Idols as it hath been, but I will by Chriſt and the Goſpel, aboliſh Idolatry in the World.

* Chap. 43. 9, 10. & 44. 7, 8. & 46. 9, 10.

9 Behold, the former things are come to paſs and * new things do I declare i: before they ſpring forth I tell you of them k.

i As all things, which I have formerly promiſed or foretold, have exactly come to paſs in their proper ſeaſons, and not one of them failed, as was noted Joſh. 23. 14. So you have great reaſon to believe, that what I now promiſe, though it be new, and ſtrange to you, ſhall infallibly be accompliſhed. k That when they come to paſs, you may know that I am God, and that this is my Work. Compare John 13. 19.

* Pſal. 33. 3. † Heb. the fulneſs thereof.

10 * Sing unto the LORD a new Song l, and his praiſe from the end of the earth m: ye that go down to the ſea, and † all that is therein; the iſles and the inhabitants thereof n.

l Upon this new and great occaſion, the calling and ſalvation of the World by Chriſt. m All Nations from one end of the Earth to another, who ſhall be ſharers in this Mercy. n You that go by Sea carry theſe glad tidings from Judea, where Chriſt was born, and lived, and died, and publiſhed the Goſpel, unto the remoteſt parts of the Earth, that they may joyn with you in ſinging forth God's praiſes for his marvellous kindneſs and grace to them.

11 Let the wilderneſs o and the cities thereof lift up their voice, the villages that Kedar p doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rock ſing, let them ſhout from the top of the mountains q.

o Thoſe parts of the World which are now like a Wilderneſs; not literally, for he ſpeaks of their Cities in the next clauſe, but ſpiritually, deſolate and forſaken of God, dry and deſtitute of the waters of God's grace, and barren of all good fruits. p The Arabians: which were an Heatheniſh and Barbarous People, and well known to the Jews, and are ſynecdochically put for all Nations in the ſame circumſtances. q Having mentioned Cities and Villages, he now adds thoſe who dwell upon Rocks and Mountains, which are commonly more ſavage and ignorant than others, and therefore harder to be taught and reformed.

r In the remoteſt parts of the World, as well as in Arabia, which was near to them.

13 The LORD ſhall go forth s, as a mighty man, he ſhall ſtir up jealouſie t like a man of war: he ſhall cry, yea, roar u; he ſhall ‖ prevail againſt his enemies.

s To wit, to war, or battle, as this Phraſe is uſed, Numb. 1. 3, 18. 2 Sam. 11. 1. t He ſhall ſtir up himſelf, and his ſtrength, and anger againſt the obſtinate and implacable enemies of his Son and Goſpel. u As a Lyon doth upon his prey, and as Souldiers do when they begin the battle.

14 I have long time held my peace x, I have been ſtill and refrained my ſelf; now will I cry like a travailing woman y, I will deſtroy and † devour at once z.

x I have for many ages ſuffered the Devil and his Servants, Tyrants, and Idolaters and Perſecuters to prevail in the world, to afflict my people, and to hinder the entertainment of my Doctrine and Worſhip in the World. y Now I will bring forth and accompliſh that glorious work which I have long conceived in my mind. z I will ſuddenly and utterly deſtroy the incorrigible enemies of my Truth, and of my Sons Kingdom. He alludes to thoſe wild Beaſts which open their mouths wide, and devour all their prey at one morſel or at one time.

15 I will make waſt mountains and hills a, and dry up all their herbs, and I will make the rivers iſlands, and I will dry up the pools b.

a Not dry and barren ones, for theſe were waſt already, but ſuch as are clothed with Graſs and Herbs, as the following words imply. Which is to be underſtood Metaphorically, of God's deſtroying his moſt lofty and flouriſhing enemies, who are oft compared in Scripture unto Mountains and Hills. b I will remove all impediments out of the way: which is expreſſed in the Prophetical dialect, by drying up Euphrates, that the way of the Kings of the Eaſt might be prepared, Rev. 16. 12. He ſeems to allude to that which God did in drying up firſt the Red Sea, and then Jordan, to give his people paſſage into Canaan. And this expoſition is confirmed by the following verſe.

16 And I will bring the blind c by a way that they know not d, I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkneſs light before them, and crooked things † ſtraight e. Theſe things will I do unto them, and not forſake them f.

c The Gentiles who were blind and were called ſo above, ver. 7. and in many other places of Scripture, and were ſo accounted by the Jews. d By the way of truth, which hitherto hath been hidden from them, until by my Word and Spirit I revealed it to them e I will take away all hinderances, and give them all advantages and conveniences for their Journey. I will direct them in the right way. I will enlighten their dark minds, and rectifie their perverſe wills and affections. f Until I have brought them with ſafety and comfort to the end of their journey.

17 They ſhall be * turned back, they ſhall be greatly aſhamed that truſt in graven images g, that ſay to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

* Pſal. 97. 7. Chap. 1. 29. & 44. 11. & 45. 16.

g This may be underſtood either 1. Of the Converted Gentiles; who ſhall be turned back from their former ſinful courſe, and ſhall ſincerely grieve, and be aſhamed that they did truſt, &c. as the word may be rendred; that they ſhould ever be guilty of ſuch wickedneſs and madneſs to Worſhip and Truſt in Idols: Or, rather 2. of thoſe Gentiles who, when their Brethren embraced the true God and Chriſt, perſiſted obſtinately in their Idolatrous courſes, who ſhall be confounded and deſtroyed: For this phraſe of being turned back is generally uſed in Scripture in a bad ſenſe; or of them who are overthrown, or put to flight in battle, as Pſal. 9. 3. & 35. 4. & 70. 2, 3, &c. And the like I may ſay of being aſhamed, or, confounded or put to ſhame, eſpecially where this Phraſe is joyned with the other, as it is in the two places of the Pſalms laſt quoted.

h O you, whoſoever you are, whether Jews or Gentiles, which ſhall reſiſt this clear light, and obſtinately continue in your former errours, attend diligently to my words, and conſider theſe mighty works of God.

19 * Who is blind but my ſervant i? or deaf as my meſſenger k that I ſent? who is blind as he that is perfect l, and blind as the LORD's ſervant m.

* Chap. 43.

i But no People under Heaven are ſo blind as the Jews who call themſelves my Servants and People, who will not receive their Meſſiah, though he be recommended to them, with ſuch evident and illuſtrious Signs, and miraculous Works, as force belief from the moſt unbelieving, and obſtinate Gentiles. k My Meſſengers, the ſingular number being put for the plural, as it is commonly in Scripture. l The Prieſts and other Teachers whom I appointed to inſtruct my People in the right way. m As the moſt eminent Teachers and Rulers of the Jews, whom he calleth Perfect, either becauſe it was their duty to know and teach the way, and truth of God perfectly; or rather Sarcaſtically, becauſe they pretended to greater perfection, and proudly called themſelves Rabbies and Maſters, as our Saviour obſerved, and deſpiſed the People as curſed and not knowing the Law, Joh. 7. 49. and derided Chriſt, for calling them blind, Joh. 9. 40. m Which title as it was given to the Jewiſh People in the firſt clauſe of the verſe; So here it ſeems to be given to the Prieſts, becauſe they were called and obliged to be the Lords Servants, in a ſpecial and eminent manner.

* Rom. 2. 22. 20 Seeing many things, * but thou obſerveſt not: opening the ears, but he heareth not n.

n Thou doſt not ſeriouſly and impartially conſider the plain word, and the wonderful Works of God, of which thine ears and eyes have been witneſſes, which are abundantly ſufficient for the Conviction of any conſidering man.

* Chap. 59. 16. ‖ Or, him. 21 The LORD is well pleaſed o; * for his righteouſneſs ſake p, he will magnifie the Law, and make ‖ it honourable q.

o To wit, with you: Or, as this word is moſt commonly uſed, hath a good will, to you or to this People: which may be underſtood out of the following verſe, as is very uſual in ſacred Scripture. The meaning ſeems to be this; Although thou art a wicked people that rebelleſt againſt the cleareſt light, and therefore God might juſtly deſtroy thee ſuddenly, yet he is very unwilling to do it, and will patiently wait for thy repentance that he may be gracious unto thee. p Not for thy ſake, for thou deſerveſt no ſuch thing from him, but for the glory of his own faithfulneſs, in fulfilling that Promiſe and Covenant, which he made with thy pious Progenitors for themſelves, and for their Seed. q He will maintain the honour of his law, and therefore is not forward to deſtroy you, who profeſs God's Law, and the true Religion, leſt his Law ſhould upon that occaſion be expoſed to contempt.

‖ Or, in aring all e young en of em. † Heb. a eading. 22 But this is a people robbed and ſpoiled r, ‖ they are all of them ſnared in holes, and they are hid in priſon-houſes s: they are for a prey, and none delivereth; for a † ſpoyl, and none ſaith, Reſtore t.

r But notwithſtanding this great reſpect which God hath to his Law, and to his people for the ſake of his Law, it is apparent that God hath ſeverely ſcourged you for your ſins: and therefore take heed that you do not provoke him by your obſtinate infidelity, leſt he caſt you off for ever. s They are, or have been, taken in ſnares made by their own hands, and by God's juſt judgment delivered into the hands of their enemies, and by them caſt into Pits or Dungeons and Priſons. t None afford them either pity or help in their extremities.

† Heb. for after- 23 Who among you will give ear to this? who will hearken and hear † for the time to come u?

u O that you would learn from your former and dear-bought experiences to be wiſer for the future, and not to provoke God to your own total and final ruine.

24 Who gave Jacob for a ſpoil, and Iſrael to the robbers? did not the LORD x, he againſt whom we have ſinned? for they would not walk in his wayes, neither were they obedient unto his law.

x Do not flatter your ſelves with a conceit of impunity, becauſe you are a people whom God hath favoured and endowed with many, and great priviledges, which the Jews were very prone to do, as we ſee, Jer. 7. 4, &c. and elſewhere; for as God hath puniſhed you formerly, doubt not, but if you continue to ſin, he will proceed in puniſhing you more and more for your ſins.

25 Therefore he hath poured upon him the fury of his anger, and the ſtrength of battel y: and it hath ſet him on fire round about, yet he knew not z; and it burned him, yet he laid it not to heart.

y Moſt grievous Judgments. z They were ſecure and ſtupid under God's Judgments, neither fearing them when threatned, nor truly ſenſible of God's hand in them, and of the cauſes of God's diſpleaſure againſt them, and of the means of cure.

CHAP. XLIII.

Promiſes to protect and enlarge the Church, 1,—— 5. God appealeth to them as witneſſes of his power and knowledge, 6,—— 13. He foretelleth them the deſtruction of Babylon: and a new deliverance of his people, 14,—— 21. whoſe ſins, 22,—— 24. againſt God's mercies render them inexcuſable, 25,—— 28.

BUt now thus ſaith the LORD a that created thee b, O Jacob, and he that formed thee, O Iſrael, Fear not: for I have redeemed thee c, I have called thee by thy name d, thou art mine.

a But notwithſtanding thy groſs inſenſibleneſs under former judgments, for which I might juſtly ſend far heavier ones upon thee, yet I will deal mercifully with thee. b That made thee his people, and that in ſo miraculous a manner, as if he had created thee a ſecond time out of nothing; and therefore he will be gracious to his own workmanſhip. c From the Egyptians, and divers other enemies; and therefore I will redeem thee again. d By the name of God's People, which was as proper and peculiar to them, as the name of Iſrael.

ſal. 66. 2 When thou * paſſeſt through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they ſhall not overflow thee: when thou walkeſt through the fire, thou ſhalt not be burnt; neither ſhall the flame kindle upon thee e.

e Though I will chaſtiſe thee for thy ſins, yet I will not ſuffer thine enemies utterly to deſtroy thee, Compare, Jer. 30. 11.

3 For I am the LORD thy God, the holy One of Iſrael, thy ſaviour: I gave Egypt for thy ranſom f, Ethiopia and Seba g for thee.

f This was fulfilled either, 1. When God ſmote the Egyptians, both firſt-born and others in Egypt; and drowned Pharaoh, and his Hoſt in the Red Sea, for the ſafety and benefit of his people: Or, 2. When the King of Aſſyria, either Sennacherib, as many think, or rather Eſar-haddon, who deſigned to revenge his Fathers diſgrace, and loſs before Jeruſalem, upon the Jews, but was diverted and directed by God to employ his Forces againſt Egypt, and Ethiopia, and Seba, as it follows. See the Notes upon Iſa. 20. 1, &c. g The Sabæans who were confederate with the Ethiopians, or Cuſhites.

4 Since thou waſt precious in my ſight, thou haſt been honourable, and I have loved thee h; therefore will I give men for thee i, and people for thy ‖ † life. ‖ Or, perſon † Heb. ſoul.

h So the ſenſe is, from that time that I choſe thee for my precious and peculiar treaſure and People, I have had a great eſteem and affection for thee. But the words may well be, and by ſome are rendred thus, ſince that (or, For that: or, Becauſe) Thou waſt precious in my ſight, thou waſt honourable, (the ſame thing repeated in other words.) and I love thee. i As I did give up the Egyptians, ſo I am ready to give up others to ſave thee, as occaſion requires.

5 * Fear not, for I am with thee; I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt k. * Chap. 44. 1, 2. Jer. 30. 10. & 46. 27.

k Although the Jews ſhall for their ſins be carried captives out of their own Land Northward and Eaſtward into Babylon, and the adjacent Countries, and others of them ſhall flee Southward and Weſtward, and ſhall there pine away in their iniquities, as I threatned; yet their poſterity I will bring back into Canaan, from all the places where they are diſperſed.

6 I will ſay to the north, Give up l; and to the ſouth, keep not back; bring my ſons m from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

l Thou who haſt ſo long had and held my people in Bondage, reſign them to me, and permit them to return to their own Land. He ſpeaks either to the Countries themſelves by a Proſopopæia: Or, to the Inhabitants of them. m Do not only permit but aſſiſt and further their return.

7 Even every one that is called by my name n: for * I have created him for my glory o, I have formed him, yea, I have made him p. * Pſal. 100. 3. Chap. 29. 23. Joh. 3. 4, 5. 2 Cor. 5. 17. Eph. 2. 10.

n They are called by my Name. I own them for my People and Children; and therefore what kindneſs or cruelty you exerciſe to them, I take it as done to my ſelf. So it is an argument to move thoſe people to let their Captives go: Or, it is an argument to confirm the faith of God's People, that God would deliver them, becauſe they are his own. o And therefore I will glorifie my Power and Goodneſs, and Faithfulneſs in delivering them. p I have not only created them out of nothing, as I did all other people, but I have alſo formed and made them my peculiar People.

8 Bring forth the blind People that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears q. * Chap. 42. 19. Ezek. 12. 2.

q The ſenſe is either, 1. Bring out of Captivity my People who were blind and deaf, but now have their eyes and ears opened by my grace. So this verſe relates to the foregoing paſſages: Or rather, 2. O ye Idolatrous Gentiles, produce and bring forth your falſe Gods, which have eyes but ſee not, and ears but hear not, as is ſaid Pſal. 115. 5, 6. So this verſe belongs to the following context, in which God reneweth his conteſt with Idols; which in this verſe he calleth blind, and in the next verſe proveth them ſo to be.

9 Let all the Nations be gathered together, and let the people be aſſembled r: * who among them can declare this s, and ſhew us former things t? let them bring forth their witneſſes u, that they may be juſtified x; or let them hear and ſay, It is truth y. * Chap. 41. 21, 22.

r To plead the cauſe of their Idols with me. s This wonderful work of mine in bringing my people out of Captivity, which I have already foretold, and ſhall further declare; and that ſo exactly, that I ſhall name the perſon by whom this work ſhall be begun, even Cyrus, who is yet unborn, and ſhall be ſo for above 200 years; let any of your Heathen Gods do the like. t Not things already paſt, but ſuch things as ſhall happen long before the return from the Captivity, which yet your blind Idols cannot foreſee. See on Iſa. 41. 22. u Who can teſtifie the truth and certainty of any ſuch predictions of theirs. x That they may be owned for true Gods, which in that caſe I allow them to expect. But of this argument ſee on Iſa. 41. 22, 23. y Or if they can produce no evidence of any ſuch thing, as I am well aſſured that they cannot, let them be ſilent, and hear me and my witneſſes, as it follows in the next verſe; and let them confeſs, that what I ſay is truth, that I only am the true God, and that they are but vanity and falſhood.

10 Ye are my witneſſes z, ſaith the LORD, and my ſervant whom I have choſen a: that ye may know and believe me, and underſtand that I am he b: * before me there was ‖ no God formed, neither ſhall there be after me c. * Chap. 41. 4. & 44. 8. ‖ Or, nothing formed of God.

z They can produce no witneſſes for themſelves, but you my people are able to witneſs for me, that I have given you many plain demonſtrations of my certain foreknowledge of future events, by my predictions and promiſes delivered to you from time to time. a Either, 1. Iſaiah, and other Prophets, the ſingular word being put Collectively: Or, 2. Cyrus, who is an eminent inſtance and proof of God's foreknowledge: Or, 3. the Meſſiah, as not only Chriſtians but even the Chaldee Paraphraſt underſtands it; who is called by this very title, Iſa. 42. 1. who alſo is the moſt eminent witneſs in this cauſe; and that both paſſively, as he and the time and place, and other circumſtances of his birth, and life, and death were particularly foretold by God in Scripture; and actively, as many future things were foretold by Chriſt, of which we have many examples in the New Teſtament. b He of whom the preſent diſpute is, or he whom I have affirmed my ſelf to be. That I only am that true God whom we are now ſeeking in this debate. c The Gods of the Heathens neither had a being before me nor ſhall continue after me. Wherein more is underſtood than is expreſſed, That whereas the Lord is God from everlaſting to everlaſting, theſe falſe pretenders to the Deity are but of yeſterday, and ſhall ſhortly be aboliſhed. And withal he calleth them Formed Gods, in way of contempt, and to ſhew the ridiculouſneſs of their pretence to the Divinity, which are formed by the hands of Men.

* Chap. 45. 21. Hoſ. 13. 4.

11 I, even I * am the LORD, and beſides me there is no ſaviour d.

d That can and doth ſave his Worſhippers; Whereby he implies, that the falſe Gods were not only weak and unable to ſave their People, but alſo were the deſtroyers of their People, as being the great cauſe of their ruine.

* Deut. 32. 12.

12 I have declared, and have ſaved e, and I have ſhewed f,* when there was no ſtrange god among you g: therefore ye are my witneſſes, ſaith the LORD, that I am God.

e I firſt foretold your deliverance, and then effected it. f I foretold it. This branch he repeated, becauſe this is the principal argument uſed here, and Chapter 41. to determine this controverſie between God and Idols. g And this I did when you did not worſhip any Idols, and therefore it could not be pretended that you had this knowledge from them.

* Job 9. 12. Chap. 14. 27. & 46. 10.

13 Yea, † before the day was h, I am he, i, and there is none k that can deliver out of my hand; l: I will work, and who ſhall † * let it m.

h Before all time: Or, which is all one, from all eternity: Or, Since the day was, ſince the Beginning of time and things, in all ages ſince the creation of the world, i I am God, and I have proved my ſelf to be ſo. k None of thoſe which are called Gods. l That can ſave them whom I will deſtroy. Therefore they are impotent, and conſequently no Gods. m Nor can they hinder me in any other work which I reſolve to do.

14 Thus ſaith the LORD your Redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael, For your ſake I have ſent to Babylon n, and have brought down o all their † nobles p, and the Chaldeans q, whoſe cry is in the ſhips r.

n I have ſent Cyrus, and the Medes and Perſians with him to war againſt Babylon, to this very end and purpoſe, that he might deliver you out of Captivity, and reſtore you to your Land according to promiſe. o From that height of Power and glory to which they were advanced. p Their Princes and great Commanders, who as they are called Shields, Pſal. 47. 9. So here they are called Bars, for the ſame reaſon, becauſe of that ſtrength and defence which they give to their People. q The common People of Chaldea, together with their great men who had Palaces in Babylon. r Who make fearful outcries, as they flee away from the Perſians in Ships; which they had opportunity to do, becauſe of their two great and famous Rivers, Euphrates and Tigris, and the ſeveral branches of them.

15 I am the LORD, your holy One s, the creator of Iſrael, your king.

s The holy One of Iſrael, as he frequently ſtileth himſelf, who ſanctify and glorifie my ſelf in this and ſuch other glorious Works, with reſpect to you, or for your benefit.

* Ex. 14. 22 Ch. 51. 10.
* Joſh. 3. 17.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, which * maketh a way in the Sea, and a * path in the mighty waters t:

t Who as he formerly made a path-way for his people through the Red Sea, ſo he will in no leſs wonderful manner remove all impediments or difficulties out of the way of his people, when they return from Babylon.

17 Which bringeth forth the chariot and horſe, the army and the power u; they ſhall lie down together, they ſhall not riſe x: they are extinct, they are quenched as tow y.

u Or rather, Who brought forth the Chariots, &c. i. e. Pharaoh and his Chariots and Horſes, and Army: as may be gathered from the next verſe, where the things here mentioned are called former things and things of old. x Or, they did lie down together (to wit, in the bottom of the Sea,) they did not riſe; they ſank like lead, as it is ſaid, Exod. 15. 10. and they never roſe again to moleſt the Iſraelites, as God promiſed, Exod. 14. 13. Theſe two Hebrew Verbs are of the future tenſe, but that ſeems to be put for the preter-tenſe, becauſe the two following Verbs, which treat of the ſame thing, and are added to explain theſe, are of the preter-tenſe. y As the wiecke of a Candle when it is put into the Water is wholly extinguiſhed, and not the leaſt ſpark of fire left, ſo were they utterly deſtroyed, and not one of them remained.

z But although your former deliverance out of Egypt was in it ſelf a moſt glorious work, which you ought always to remember and conſider, yet this other work of your deliverance out of Babylon by Cyrus, and thoſe bleſſings which ſhall follow upon it, and particularly that ineſtimable mercy of ſending the Meſſiah, ſhall be ſo tranſcendent a favour, that in compariſon thereof, all your former deliverances are ſcarce worthy of your remembrance and conſideration. Which expoſition is confirmed by two parallel texts, Jer. 16. 14, 15. & 23. 7, 8. From all which texts laid together it appears, that this later deliverance, compared with that out of Egypt, is not to be confined to their freedom from the Babyloniſh Captivity, but to be extended to the conſequences of it, and eſpecially to the Redemption by Chriſt; becauſe otherwiſe that Egyptian deliverance, was more glorious and wonderful in many reſpects, than the Babylonian.

* 2 Cor. 5. 17. Rev. 21. 5.
16. Jer. 31. 9.

19 Behold, I will do a * new thing a: now b it ſhall ſpring forth, ſhall ye not know it c? I will even make * a way in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert d.

a Such a work as was never yet done in the World, even the Redemption of the World by the Meſſiah. b Shortly although it was not to be done till after ſome hundreds of years. For ſo the Scripture oft ſpeaketh of things at a great diſtance of time, as if they were now at hand, as Hagg. 2. 6. Jam. 5. 9. Rev. 22. 20. and elſewhere, which it doth to correct our impatience, and to make us willing to wait till God's time come; and to aſſure us that the mercy ſhall come as ſoon as ever it is fit for us, and we for it; and to make us ſenſible of the inconſiderableneſs of time, and all temporal things in compariſon of God, and of the eternal things; upon which account it is ſaid that a thouſand years are in God's ſight but as one day, Pſal. 90. 4. c Certainly you Jews ſhall know it by experience, and ſhall find that I do not deceive you with vain hopes. d I will give you direction and proviſion in the Wilderneſs, where there is commonly no path, and where all neceſſaries are wanting: Which as it literally ſpeaks of God's conducting them in the way from Babylon to Jeruſalem, which lay through a great deſert; ſo it is myſtically meant of thoſe ſpiritual bleſſings, which God in and through Chriſt will confer upon all his people, not the Jews only, but alſo the Gentiles, who in Prophetical Language are oft compared to the Wilderneſs, as Iſa. 35. 1. and elſewhere.

20 The beaſt of the field ſhall honour me e, the dragons f and the ‖ † owls: becauſe I give waters in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert, to give drink to my people g, my choſen.

e Shall have cauſe, if they had abilities, to honour and praiſe me for their ſhare in this mercy. Poſſibly the beaſt of the field may myſtically ſignifie the Gentiles, whom the Jews reputed as Beaſts, and who were as deſtitute of all ſaving knowledge, as the Beaſts which periſh, yet ſhould become the Lord's People, as they ſeem to be called, ver. 21. f Which live in dry and barren deſerts, and are very thirſty, and therefore more ſenſible of this mercy. g To whom theſe waters were principally deſigned, but the beaſts fared better for their ſakes. Thus Chriſt was primarily ſent to the loſt Sheep of Iſrael, Mat. 15. 24. yet the Gentiles there compared to Dogs, fared better for the Children, picking up ſome crumbs of their bread; and the Jews generally rejecting Chriſt, the Gentiles came in their ſtead.

* Luke 1. 74, 75.

21 * This people h have I formed for my ſelf, * they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe i.

h My People, as he now called them, ver. 20. conſiſting in part of the Jews, but eſpecially of the Gentiles. i I have created as it were out of nothing, I have called them into my Church, that I might have glory and praiſe from them for ſo ſtupendious a mercy.

22 But k thou haſt not called upon me l, O Jacob, but thou haſt been weary of me, m O Iſrael.

k Or, For, as this conjunction is oft uſed. So this may be added as a reaſon, why God called the Gentiles to be his People, becauſe the Jews forſook him. l Thou haſt groſly neglected or very ſlightly performed the duties of my worſhip. m Thou haſt not eſteemed my ſervice to be a priviledge. as in truth it is, but as a burden and bondage. Compare Mal. 1. 13.

23 Thou haſt not brought me the † ſmall cattel of thy burnt offerings n, neither haſt thou honoured me with thy ſacrifices o, I have not cauſed thee to ſerve with an offering, nor wearied thee with incenſe p.

n Either, 1. Becauſe thou didſt not offer thy Sacrifices to me but to Idols. Or rather, 2. becauſe what thou didſt offer, was not done to me, not for my ſake, not from a principle of love and obedience to me, not to pleaſe and honour me with it, but meerly for thine own ends. Which interpretation ſeems to be favoured by the following clauſe, and by comparing this with Zech. 7. 5, 6. Did ye faſt unto me, even to me? And when ye did eat——did ye not eat for your ſelves? o Becauſe thou didſt either neglect this work of Sacrificing to me; or didſt perform it meerly out of cuſtome or ill deſign, and not with a purpoſe to pleaſe and glorifie me; or didſt diſhonour me, and pollute thy Sacrifices by thy wicked courſe of life. p So the ſenſe may be this; I did not require theſe weariſome ſervices of thee, to wit, upon theſe terms, or to be offered in ſuch a manner, as God ſpeaks, Iſa. 1. 11, 12, 13. But the words may very well be rendred, Although I did not cauſe thee to ſerve with Offerings, nor weary thee with Incenſe: the Particle Although, being here underſtood, as it is in many other places, as hath been formerly noted. And ſo this is an aggravation of their former ſin, of being weary of, and negligent in his ſervice; although God hath not laid ſuch heavy burthens upon them, nor required ſuch hard ſervices or coſtly offerings from them, as might give them cauſe to be weary, nor ſuch as Idolaters did freely and greedily perform in the ſervice of their Idols.

* Mal. 2.

q Or, Calamus, as this word is rendred, Exod. 30. 23. which was uſed in the making of that precious Ointment, Exod, 30. 34. and as a perfume, or for the Incenſe, Exod. 30. 7. See Jer. 6. 20. The meaning of this clauſe ſeems to be this, Thou haſt been niggardly in my ſervice, when thou haſt ſpared for no coſt in the ſervice of thine Idols, as is elſewhere noted. r Thou haſt offered no more Sacrifices than were ſimply neceſſary, thou haſt not multiplied thy thank offerings and free-will offerings, though I have given thee ſufficient occaſion to do ſo. s Thou haſt made me to bear the load and burden of thy ſins, which are very grievous and oppreſſive to me, Amos 2. 13. and great exerciſes of my patience. Yea thou haſt made it neceſſary for me, to take upon me the form of a Servant, that I might bear and carry away thy ſins. This clauſe and that which follows are oppoſed to, and aggravated by what he ſaid, ver. 23. I did not make thee to ſerve or weary thee with offerings, though that work was honourable and beneficial to thee, as well as conducing to my ſervice; but thou haſt made me to ſerve in the vileſt manner, with ſuch things as are not only offenſive to me, but alſo pernicious to thee.

25 I, even I t am he that * blotteth out u thy tranſgreſſions for mine own ſake x, and will not remember thy ſins y.

t I whom thou haſt thus deſpiſed, and wearied and provoked to deſtroy thee. u Out of my book in which they were all written, and to be read unto thee, and charged upon thee another day. See Jer. 17. 1. Rev. 20. 12. Sins are oft compared to debts, Mat. 6. 12, 14, &c. which are written in the creditors Book, and croſſed or blotted out when they are paid, x Being moved thereunto not by thy merits, but by my own meer goodneſs and free mercy, y So as to puniſh them and deſtroy thee for them, as thou deſerveſt.

26 Put me in remembrance z: * let us plead together: declare thou, that thou mayeſt be juſtified.

z I remember nothing by which thou haſt deſerved my favour and the pardon of thy ſins; if thou knoweſt any ſuch thing, bring it to my mind, I allow thee free liberty to plead with me, as it follows, and if thou haſt right on thy ſide, I will juſtifie thee. It is an ironical ſpeech, whereby he inſulteth over thoſe, who were puffed up with an opinion of their own innocency, and merit; which was the caſe of many Jews, as this and other Prophets have oft obſerved.

27 Thy firſt * father a hath ſinned; and thy † teachers b have tranſgreſſed againſt me.

a Either, 1. Adam, from whom the guilt and filth of ſin is propagated to thee: Or rather, 2. Abraham, who might well be called the firſt father of the Iſraelites, becauſe they all deſcended from him, had all their right and title to God's Ordinances and Promiſes, and other ſpecial Priviledges from God's Covenant made with Abraham, and with his Seed, and who is oft emphatically called their Father, as Joſh. 24. 2. Iſa. 51. 2, &c. and the Jews gloried in, and truſted to that relation, which they had to Abraham, as we read Mat. 3. 9. Joh. 8. 33. and elſewhere. And this agrees well with the foregoing context. For having ſufficiently intimated, that they had no merits of their own, he now addeth, that even their Father Abraham, to whoſe merits they truſted, had no merits of his own, nor any occaſion of boaſting, for he alſo was a ſinful man, and hath left ſome inſtances of his failings: Or, the firſt father may be put collectively for their Forefathers; and ſo he tells them, that as they were ſinners, ſo alſo were all their Progenitors, yea even the beſt of them, Abraham and David, and others, for whoſe ſakes they expected to be pardoned and rewarded. And this indeed is uſual with God to upbraid the Iſraelites with the ſins of their Fathers. b Thy Prieſts and Prophets; who were their Interceſſours with God, and who were generally preſumed to be the holieſt part of that people, and therefore if theſe were tranſgreſſours, the People had no reaſon to fancy themſelves to be innocent.

28 Therefore I have profaned c the ‖ princes of the ſanctuary d, and have given Jacob to the curſe e, and Iſrael to reproaches f.

c As they have made themſelves profane, ſo I have dealt with them as ſuch, without any regard to the ſacredneſs and dignity of their functions. I have expoſed them to contempt and deſtruction. d The higheſt and beſt of your Prieſts, whoſe perſons were moſt ſacred, and therefore ſuppoſed by themſelves and others, to be the furtheſt from danger. e To utter deſtruction, to which perſons or things accurſed were devoted, of which this Hebrew word is conſtantly uſed. f To be tbe Objects of their Enemies ſcorn and reproaches.

Or, Shall publiſh and declare: Two words expreſſing the ſame thing, as is uſual. n That which ſhall come to paſs, whatſoever it be; which is eaſily underſtood out of the following Clauſe. o Orderly relate all future Events in the ſame manner as they ſhall happen. p Heb. to me, ſo as I may hear it, and thereby be convinced of their Divinity. q Since the time that I appointed or called the Iſraelites to be my People, whom he calleth the ancient People, becauſe they were his People long before this time; or, as the Words may be rendred, the everlaſting People, becauſe he determined, That he would never totally and finally caſt them off and deſtroy them, as he would do other Nations. But the Words are, and may well be otherwiſe rendred, Since I Conſtituted or made (as this Word is elſewhere rendred) The people of the world; ſince I firſt made Man upon Earth, as the Seventy and others underſtand it. Let them give me an account of any of their Predictions of future Events from the beginning of the World to this day. r Such things as are near at hand, and ſuch as are to come hereafter. s Unto their Worſhippers, who conſult their Oracles about future Events, as I have told them unto thee, O Jacob, as it follows in the next Verſe. So the Pronoun Relative is put for the Antecedent, which is left to be underſtood out of the following Clauſe. Or, to or for themſelves, in their own defence. Although theſe Words might have been omitted in the Tranſlation, as being inſignificant, ſuch Pronouns being oft redundant in the Hebrew Language, as Gen. 12. 1. and oft elſewhere, as alſo in the Greek and Latine.

t Thee, O Iſrael, whom he bids not to fear. The Senſe is, I call you Iſraelites to bear me Witneſs, whether I have not, from time to time, acquainted you with things to come, ſuch as your Sojourning in a ſtrange Land for Four Hundred Years, and your deliverance and happineſs after that time, Gen. 15. 13, 14. and many things of the like nature? u From the time when I appointed the ancient people, as I now ſaid, ver. 7. Theſe were pregnant Inſtances of God's Prediction of things to come, not only from the beginning of the Jewiſh Common-wealth; but even from the firſt Ages of the World, as unto Enoch, Jude ver. 14. and unto Noah, Gen. 6. 3. To ſay nothing of what other Authors relate concerning Adam and Seth. x Have publiſhed it to the World in my Sacred Records. y Both of my Predictions, and of the exact agreeableneſs of Events to them. z Judge by this Character, whether I be not the only true God. a If any of you be wiſer than I am, I am willing to be informed. It is a ſarcaſtical Speech. But this Clauſe may be, and is, by others taken interrogatively, do not I know it? Is it not a certain and undeniable Truth, that there is no other God?

9 They that make a graven image are all of them vanity b, and their † delectable things c ſhall not

* Pſal. 115. 4, &c. profit, and they are their own witneſſes d, * they ſee not, nor know e; that they may be aſhamed f.

b Hereby diſcover themſelves to be vain, empty, or fooliſh Men. Or thus, They that make graven images, all of them make (which Word may fitly be repeated out of the foregoing Clauſe, as is very uſual in Scripture) a vanity or a thing of nought. Which Tranſlation ſeems better to agree, 1. With the following Clauſe, which is added to explain this, in which, not the Idol-makers, but the Idols themſelves, are ſaid to be vain or unprofitable. 2. With the uſe of the Hebrew Word in Scripture, which is never applied to Perſons, but conſtantly to Things, and ſometimes to Idols, as 1 Sam. 12. 21. c Their Idols, in the ſight and worſhip of which, they take ſo much Pleaſure. d They that make them, are Witneſſes againſt themſelves, and againſt their Idols, becauſe they very well know, That they are not God's, but the work of their own Hands, in which there is nothing but mean matter and Man's Art. e Or, that they (to wit, their Idols) do not ſee nor know, have neither Senſe nor Underſtanding. f Therefore they have juſt Cauſe to be aſhamed of their Folly and Stupidity, in worſhipping ſuch ſenſeleſs Things.

10 Who hath formed a god, or molten a graven

g What Man in his Wits can eſteem That a god which his own Hands have formed; or melt a Graven Image (underſtand out of the former Clauſe, to be his God) which is profitable for nothing? He ſpeaks of melting a graven image, becauſe the Image was firſt molten and caſt in a Mould, and then poliſhed and graven with a Tool, as was obſerved before. Or thus, Who art thou, O Man, that formeſt a god, or melteſt a graven image to worſhip it, which is profitable for nothing? Come hither and let me reaſon the Caſe with thee. Which he doth in the following Verſes: So this Verſe is a kind of Summons to Idolaters, to come and plead their own Cauſe.

Pſal.* 97. 7. Chap. 1. 29. & 42. 17. & 45. 16. 11 Behold, all his fellows h ſhall be * aſhamed: and the work-men, they are of men i: let them all be gathered together, let them ſtand up; yet they ſhall fear, and they ſhall be aſhamed together k.

h Either 1. the Workmen, as it follows, who in this Work are Companions or Partners with him, by whoſe coſt and command the Work is done. Or 2. thoſe who any way aſſiſt and encourage him in this Work, and joyn with him in worſhipping the Image which he maketh. i They are of Mankind, and therefore cannot poſſibly make a god. Or, They are of the meaneſt ſort of Men; for ſo the Hebrew Word, Adam, ſometimes ſignifies. k Though all combine together, and ſtand up with all their might to maintain the Cauſe of their falſe gods, they ſhall be filled with Fear and Confuſion, when God ſhall plead his Cauſe againſt them.

* Chap. 40. 19. & 41. 6. Jer. 10. 3. || Or, with an axe. 12 * The ſmith || with the tongs both worketh in the coals, and faſhioneth it with hammers l, and worketh it with the ſtrength of his arms: yea, he is hungry, and his ſtrength faileth; he drinketh no water, and is faint m.

l Firſt he makes the Metal ſoft and pliable, by putting it among burning Coals, and then he taketh it out, and beateth it into what form he pleaſeth. It muſt be here noted, That ſome of theſe Images were made of Braſs and Iron, as others were of Gold and Silver, Dan. 5. 4. m This is mentioned; Either 1. as an Argument of the vanity of Idols, which cannot relieve their poor Workmen, when they are ready to faint away through Hunger, and Thirſt, and Wearineſs. Or, 2. as an evidence of great Zeal, and induſtry in carrying on this Work; ſo that they forget or neglect to eat and drink when their neceſſities require it. This I prefer, 1. Becauſe it ſuits beſt with the next foregoing Clauſe, He worketh with the ſtrength of his arms, i. e. fervently, and putting forth all his might in the Work. 2. Becauſe the Prophet in this, and in the next following Verſes, is only deſcribing the mechanical part, or the matter of Images, and the art and labour of the Workmen in making them; and afterwards proceeds to the Theological conſideration of the thing, and the confutation of theſe Practices, as we ſhall ſee.

13 The Carpenter n ſtretcheth out his rule: he marketh it with a line o: he fitteth it with planes, and he marketh it out with a compaſs, and maketh it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man p; that it may remain q in the houſe r.

n He here ſpeaks; Either 1. of the ſame Image, which is ſuppoſed to be made of Wood, and then covered with ſome Metal: Or, 2. of another ſort of Images made of Wood, as the former might be made of Iron. It is not material which way you underſtand it. o He meaſureth and marketh that portion of Wood by his Rule and Line, of which the Idol is to be made. p In the ſame comely Shape and Proportions which are in a Living Man, whom he deſigns to repreſent as exactly as is poſſible. q Or ſit or dwell. Which implies, Either 1. that it cannot ſtir out of its place: Or, 2. that when the Image is made, it is ſet up and fixed in its appointed place. r Either in the Temple appointed for it: Or in the dwelling Houſe of him that made it; that he and his Family might more frequently give Worſhip to it, and might receive Protection from it, as Idolaters vainly imagined.

|| Or, taketh courage. cypreſs and the oak s, which he || ſtrengthneth for himſelf among the trees of the forreſt t: he planteth an aſh, and the rain doth nouriſh it.

s Which afford the beſt and moſt durable Timber. t The Senſe of the Words thus rendred, is, That he planteth, and with care and diligence improveth thoſe Trees, among and above all the Trees of the Forreſt, that he or his Poſterity may thence have Materials for their Images, and thoſe things which belong to them. And this Senſe ſeems to be favoured by the following Clauſe, wherein it is ſaid, He planteth an Aſh for this very reaſon: Or the Senſe may be this, Which he ſuffers to grow to greater ſtrength and largeneſs, than other Trees of the Forreſt, that they may be better and fitter for his uſe. Heb. And he ſtrengthneth himſelf, &c. And he uſeth all his ſtrength among the Trees of the Forreſt, in planting ſuch as are proper for this end; in walking hither and thither to ſurvey which is the beſt of them; in hewing them down, and in other things relating to them.

15 Then ſhall it be for a man to burn: for he will take thereof and warm himſelf: yea, he kindleth it, and baketh bread; yea, he maketh a god; and worſhippeth it; he maketh a graven image, and falleth down thereto u.

u Having related the practices of Idolaters, he now diſcovers the vanity and folly of them, that he maketh his fire and his god of the ſame Materials, diſtinguiſhed only by the Art of Man.

16 He burneth part thereof in the fire: with part thereof he eateth fleſh x: he roſteth roſt, and is ſatisfied; yea, he warmeth himſelf, and ſaith, Aha, I am warm, I have ſeen the fire y.

17 And the reſidue thereof he maketh a god, even his graven image: he falleth down unto it, and worſhippeth it, and prayeth unto it, and ſaith, Deliver me, for thou art my god.

x He dreſſeth Fleſh for his eating. y I have felt the warmth of it. Seeing is oft put for other Senſes, as Feeling, Hearing, &c. as hath been oft obſerved before.

18 * They have not known, nor underſtood z; * Chap. 4 20. for he a hath † ſhut their eyes, that they cannot ſee; † Heb. daubed.
and their hearts, that they cannot underſtand.

z This ſheweth, That they want common diſcretion, and have not the underſtanding of a Man in them. a To wit, God; who is eaſily underſtood, and is oft expreſſed by this pronoun, He; and to whom this very act is frequently aſcribed in other places of Scripture: And therefore Men need not to be ſhy in aſcribing it to God here. Which yet is to be ſoberly underſtood; not as if God did make Men wicked, but only permits them ſo to be, and orders, and over-rules their Wickedneſs to his own glorious Ends. And ſuch paſſages as theſe are added in ſuch caſes, to give an account of the prodigious madneſs of Sinners herein; becauſe, as they wilfully ſhut their own Eyes, and harden their own Hearts, ſo God judicially blinds and hardens them, and ſends ſtrong Deluſions upon them, and gives them up to believe Lies, and then it is no wonder if they fall into ſuch dotages.

19 And none † conſidereth in his heart b, neither is there knowledge nor underſtanding to ſay, I have burnt part of it in the fire, yea, alſo I have baked bread upon the coals thereof: I have roſted fleſh and eaten it, and ſhall I make the reſidue thereof an abomination? ſhall I fall down to † the ſtock of a tree?

b Whereby he implies, That the true Cauſe of this, as well as of other abſurd and bruitiſh practices of Sinners, is the neglect of ſerious and impartial Conſideration of things.

20 He feedeth of aſhes c: * a deceived heart d hath turned him aſide e, that he cannot deliver his ſoul f, nor ſay, Is there not a lie in || my right hand g?

c Which is an unſavoury, unprofitable, and pernicious Food, and no leſs unſatisfying, uncomfortable, and miſchievous is the worſhip of Idols. d A Mind corrupted and deceived by long cuſtom, deep prejudice, groſs errour, and eſpecially by his own Luſts. e From the way of Truth, from the knowledge and worſhip of the true God, unto this brutiſh Idolatry. f From the ſnares and dangers of Idolatry. This cannot is to be underſtood morally, ſo as to note the great difficulty, but not the utter impoſſibility of it; for if Idolaters would conſider things, they might be convinced of, and turned from that groſs way of Wickedneſs, as is implied from the foregoing Verſe. g What is this Idol, which I have made with my right Hand, i. e. with all my ſtrength, as was ſaid before; the right Hand being the ſtrongeſt, and the chief inſtrument of this and other actions; which I ſet at my right Hand, as the true God is ſaid in Scripture to be at the right hand of his People, Pſal. 16. 8. & 109. 31. & 121. 5. Which I highly honour, for the moſt honourable place was on the right Hand, as is known; to which, I look and truſt for relief and aſſiſtance, which God in Scripture is ſaid to afford to his People, by being at and holding of their right hand, Pſal. 73. 23. & 110. 5. What, I ſay, is this Idol? Is it not a lie, which though it ſeems and pretends to be ſomething, and to be a god, yet in truth is nothing but vanity and falſhood, deceiving all that put their truſt in it?

21 Remember theſe h, O Jacob and Iſrael; for thou art my ſervant; I have formed thee, thou art my ſervant: O Iſrael, thou ſhalt not be forgotten of me i?

h Either theſe Men: Or, which comes to one, theſe things, the deep ignorance and ſtupidity of Idolaters; which may be a warning to thee. i I will not forget nor forſake thee; and therefore thou ſhalt have no need of Idols: Or, as the ancient Interpreters and divers others render it, do not forget me; what I am, and what I have done, and can and will do for Thee; the forgetting whereof is the ready way to Idolatry.

22 I have blotted out as a thick cloud k thy tranſgreſſions, and as a cloud, thy ſins: return l unto me, for I have redeemed thee m.

k As the Sun commonly diſſolveth, or the Wind ſcattereth the thickeſt and blackeſt Cloud, ſo as there is no remnant, nor appearance of it left. l From thine Idolatry, and other wicked practices. m Therefore thou art mine, and obliged to return and adhere to me.

n By ſuch invitations to the ſenſeleſs Creatures to praiſe God with and for his People, he ſignifies the tranſcendent greatneſs of this Mercy and Deliverance, ſufficient to make even the Stones, if it were poſſible, to break forth into God's praiſes; and withal, that as the brute Creatures were Sufferers by Man's fall, ſo they ſhould receive benefit by Man's Redemption.

Cha.50.2. 27 That ſaith * to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up thy rivers u.

u That with a word can and will dry up the Sea (which in Scripture is very frequently called the deep, as Pſal. 107. 24. Iſa. 63. 13. Jonah 2. 3, &c.) and Rivers, and remove all impediments, and make the Way plain, that my People may return. Some think theſe words relate to that ſtratagem of Cyrus, whereby he diverted, and in a great meaſure dryed up the River Euphrates, and made it paſſable for his Army. But he ſeems rather to allude to that great Action of God's drying up the Red-Sea and Jordan, to give paſſage to the Iſraelites.

28 That ſaith of Cyrus x, He is my ſhepherd y, and ſhall perform all my pleaſure z, even ſaying to Jeruſalem, * Thou ſhalt be built; and to the Temple, Thy foundation ſhall be laid. 2 Chr.36. 2,23. a 1. 1, Chap. . 13.

h Such as have been ſtored up, and long kept in dark and ſecret Places, as well in Babylon, Jer. 50. 37. and 51. 13. as in other Countries, which Cyrus Conquered; and from which he took infinite Treaſures, as Pliny and others relate. i By the accompliſhment of theſe Predictions.

4 For Jacob my ſervants ſake, and Iſrael mine elect, I have even called thee by thy name k: I have ſirnamed thee, though thou haſt not known me l.

k I have called thee to this Honour, and that by name; not for thy ſake, but for Iſraels ſake: Therefore do not deſpiſe them, thou wilt find them a poor and inſlaved People, neither be puffed up into a great Opinion of thy ſelf. l I knew, and called thee by thy name, when thou didſt neither know nor think of me; nay, when thou hadſt no Being.

5 * I am the LORD, and there is none elſe, * there is no God beſides me: I girded thee m, though thou haſt not known me.  Deut. 4. 35, 39. & 32. 39. Chap. 44. 6. * Ver. 14, 18, 21.*

6 That they may know n from the riſing of the ſun, and from the weſt, that there is none beſide me; I am the LORD, and there is none elſe.

n That all Nations may know it by my foretelling of theſe things ſo long before-hand; and by the wonderful Succeſs that I ſhall give thee, and by my over-ruling thine Heart and Counſels, and Victories, to the deliverance of my People according to my Promiſe.

7 I form the light, and create darkneſs o: I make peace, and * create evil: I the LORD do all theſe things.  Amos 3. 6.*

8 Drop down, ye heavens from above, and let the skies pour down righteouſneſs p; * let the earth open q, and let them r bring forth ſalvation s, and let righteouſneſs ſpring up together t: I the LORD have created it u.  Chap. 51. 11.*

p The righteous and gracious Acts of God for his People, ſhall be ſo many and illuſtrious, as if God rained down ſhowers of righteouſneſs out of Heaven. q Open it ſelf either to receive thoſe ſhowers of righteouſneſs to be poured down from Heaven: or to bring forth thoſe Fruits which might be expected from ſuch Showers. r The Heavens and the Earth conſpiring together. s The Redemption of God's people. t Together with Salvation. Whereas Perſons or People are ſometimes delivered from their Troubles by unjuſt Courſes; this ſhall be effected with Righteouſneſs, both on God's part, who will hereby aſſert his own Juſtice and Faithfulneſs to his People; and on Cyrus his part, who will do a moſt righteous and worthy Action in reſcuing a righteous and oppreſſed Nation from cruel Tyrants and Oppreſſors. u This great Work of Salvation and Righteouſneſs; whereof, though Cyrus is the Inſtrument, I am the chief Author.

9 Wo unto him that ſtriveth with his maker x: let the potſherd ſtrive with the potſherds of the earth y: * ſhall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it, What makeſt thou? or thy work z, He hath no Hands a?  Chap. 29. 16. Jer. 18. 6. Rom. 9. 20.*

x This wo is denounced; Either 1. againſt thoſe Jews who hearing this and many other Prophecies, and Promiſes of their deliverance out of Captivity, and yet continuing in Captivity, were ever prone to diſtruſt God, and to murmure at him for puniſhing them ſo grievouſly, and for not making more ſpeed to deliver them. Or 2. againſt the Babylonians, the great oppoſers of Cyrus, and of the deliverance of God's People, whom they were reſolved to keep in Bondage, in ſpight of God and Men. And therefore as God here makes many glorious Promiſes to Cyrus, in order to this Work, ſo he pronounceth a Curſe upon them, who ſhould endeavour to hinder it; and admoniſheth the Babylonians, That they did not only fight againſt Cyrus, a Man like themſelves, but againſt God, the Maker and Governour of the World. For what Nebuchadnezzar ſpoke with reſpect to thoſe three Jews, Dan. 3. 15. the Babylonians ſpoke in their Hearts, in reference to the People of the Jews, Who is that God that ſhall deliver you out of my hands? y Contend, if you pleaſe, with your fellow Creatures, but not with your Creator. z He turneth his Speech to the Potter, of whom he ſpake in the Third Perſon in the foregoing Clauſe; ſuch ſudden Changes of Perſons being uſual in Prophetical Writings. a The Potter that made me, had no hands, i. e. no ability or skill to make good Work.

10 Wo unto him that ſaith unto his Father, What begetteſt thou? or unto the woman, What haſt thou brought forth b?

b As it were an abſurd and impudent Thing, for a Child to quarrel with his Parents, either ſimply for Begetting him, or for Begetting him of this or that Sex, contrary to his deſire; no better is it for any Perſons to quarrel with God the Maker and Father of all things, as God is called, 1 Cor. 8. 6. for diſpoſing of them and their Affairs, by his Providence, as he ſees fit, and otherwiſe than they deſire or expect; as the Jews quarrelled with God, for bringing them into Captivity; and the Babylonians, for Tranſlating the Empire from them to the Perſians.

† Heb. do they ask me of things to come concerning my Sons, and concerning the work of my hands will ye command me?

11 Thus ſaith the LORD, the holy One of Iſrael, and his maker c; † Ask me of things to come concerning my ſons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me d.

c Iſraels Maker, who not only Created him, as I did all others, but made him a new Creature, and a peculiar People to my ſelf. d The Words thus rendred, contain a conceſſion or permiſſion; and the Senſe may be this, Although the Potter doth not give an account to the Clay, nor Parents to their Children; yet I will ſo far condeſcend to you, as to be at your Command in this matter, to give you an account of theſe great Actions of mine, for which you quarrel with me. As for the Expreſſion, Command ye me, though it ſeem to be harſh, yet there are inſtances in Scripture of ſuch wonderful Condeſcentions, as when it is ſaid, that The Lord will make his People in Heaven to ſit down to meat, and will come forth and ſerve them, Luk. 12. 17. But the Words ſeem to be better rendred interrogatively, as they are in the Margent, and by ſome other Interpreters, Do you, or, will you ask me of things to come concerning my Sons, and concerning the work of mine hands will ye command me? Will you not allow me that Liberty which your ſelves take, of diſpoſing of my own Children and Works, as I ſee fit? Muſt I give you an account of theſe matters? Will you ſet Bounds to me by your commands, that I ſhall do this, and not that according to your good pleaſure? This is intolerable boldneſs in you; and yet I am able to give a good account of my Actions. And the Account is given in the following Verſe.

12 I have made the earth, and created man upon it e: I, even my hands have ſtretched out the heavens, and all their hoſt have I commanded f.

e They are wholly and ſolely my Creatures, and therefore abſolutely at my diſpoſal. f I have commanded them to be, or made them by my Command, or the Word of my Power: Compare Pſal. 148. 5.

g Cyrus, who was named before, ver. 1. h Not in a way of abſolute Soveraignty, as I might have done, but moſt juſtly, to puniſh the wicked Babylonians, to plead the Cauſe of the innocent oppreſſed Ones, to manifeſt my own Righteouſneſs, and Truth, and Goodneſs. i Guide and aſſiſt him in all his Travels and Marches, in all his Attempts, and Battels, and Sieges, crowning him with Succeſs in all his undertakings. k Freely without requiring any Ranſom for or from them, as is uſual in ſuch caſes. Such an exact Prediction of theſe things which depended wholly upon the Mind and Will of Cyrus, is mentioned here, as an infallible Evidence of the certainty of God's foreknowledge, and of his being the only true God; becauſe Idols could diſcover no ſuch things, at ſuch a diſtance of time.

14 Thus ſaith the LORD, The labour of Egypt l, and merchandiſe of Ethiopia, ‖ and of the Sabeans, men of ſtature m ſhall come over unto thee n, and they ſhall be thine, they ſhall come after thee, in chains they ſhall come over o: and they * ſhall fall down unto thee, and they ſhall make ſupplication unto thee p, ſaying, Surely God is in thee q, and * there is none elſe, there is no God r.

l The wealth gotten by their labour. m A tall and ſtrong Peopeople, who yet ſhall uſe their ſtrength not to oppoſe thee, but to ſerve thee, and to bring their labour to thee. n Either, 1. To thee O Cyrus: Becauſe thou waſt ſo generous as to diſmiſs my people freely, I will give thee another, and a better recompence, even the labour of Egypt, &c. Or, 2. to thee, O my City, or my Captivity or Captive People. For it is not to be neglected, that there are no leſs than ſix pronouns in this Verſe, all which are of the feminine gender; which ſeems not to agree to Cyrus. It is true which is objected by the moſt learned Author of this part of the Engliſh Annotations, that the Scripture oft ſpeaks of States and Kingdoms in the feminine gender; but when it ſpeaks of any particular King or Emperour, it conſtantly ſpeaks of him in the maſculine gender, as it doth of Cyrus in this very Chapter, ver. 1. and elſewhere. And thus the ſenſe of the place ſeems to be this, Jeruſalem ſhall not only be rebuilt, but the Wealth and Glory of other Countries ſhall be brought to it again, as it was in former times. Which although it was in part verified in Jeruſalem, yet it was much more fully accompliſhed in the Church of the Goſpel, which is oft expreſſed in Scripture under the name of Jeruſalem; and in the Acceſſion of the Gentiles to that Church which began in Jeruſalem, and from thence ſpread it ſelf into all the parts of the World. And this ſenſe ſeems beſt to agree with the latter part of this and with the following verſe, as we ſhall ſee. o They ſhall be taken captive by thee, and willingly ſubmit themſelves to thee. Which was accompliſhed in the Converſion of the Gentiles, whoſe ſubjection to God's Church is oft expreſſed in Scripture under ſuch Metaphors as this; as Pſal. 45. 5. and 149. 8, &c. Pſal. 68. 18. compared with Eph. 4. 8. p To obtain thy favour and ſociety. q Or, with thee. We plainly diſcern that God is on thy ſide, or in the midſt of thee; and therefore we deſire to joyn our ſelves with thee. r We are now convinced, that thou art the only true God, and that Idols are vain and empty nothings. Which was but very obſcurely fulfilled in Cyrus his time, but was moſt evidently and eminently accompliſhed in the days of the Meſſiah, of whom Cyrus was a Type; as alſo this deliverance of the Jews from Babylon by Cyrus, was a Type of the Redemption of God's People by Chriſt.

s Theſe are the words of the Prophet drawn from him by the contemplation of the great and various works and diſpenſations of God towards his Church, and in the World. t To wit, from thy people for a ſeaſon: Thy Counſels are deep and incomprehenſible, thy ways and carriages are paſt finding out, and full of beautiful variety: Sometimes thou hideſt thy face, and withdraweſt thy help from thy people, and ſometimes thou doſt ſhew thy ſelf to be their God and Saviour, as it follows. And therefore it is meet that we ſhould patiently wait for the accompliſhment of theſe glorious things here promiſed to us. And this admonition is moſt fitly inſerted here, to prevent the miſtakes of God's people, and to intimate, that theſe promiſes were not to be ſpeedily executed, but that they muſt expect and prepare for many and ſharp afflictions, before that time ſhould come, which yet ſhould end in their Salvation.

16 They u ſhall be aſhamed, and alſo confounded all of them: they ſhall go to confuſion together that are * makers x of Idols.

u The Idolatrous Gentiles, as it is explained in the end of the verſe, oppoſed to Iſrael in the beginning of the next verſe. x Either the artificers, or the chief maſters that ſet them on work, and conſequently all their Worſhippers; although the Makers being moſt guilty, and the cauſe of the ſins of others, might juſtly expect a higher degree of confuſion.

17 But Iſrael ſhall be ſaved in the LORD with an everlaſting Salvation y: ye ſhall not be aſhamed nor confounded world without end.

y Not for a ſhort time, as it was in the days of the Judges and of the Kings, under whom their dangers and calamities did frequently return upon them; but unto all ages, as it follows. whence it appears, that he ſpeaks not only nor chiefly of their Deliverance out of Babylon, which was far from being compleat or perpetual, as appears both from Scripture, as Ezra 9. 8. and elſewhere, and from other Authors; but of their Redemption by Chriſt, by which this was truly and fully verified, unto a great number of Iſraelites after the Fleſh, and eſpecially unto the myſtical, God's Church and People, who are frequently called in Scripture by that name; as the Ordinances and Priviledges of the Goſpel are commonly deſcribed in the Old Teſtament, by expreſſions borrowed from the Levitical diſpenſation. And that this is the meaning of the place is evident from ver. 22. wherein all the ends of the Earth are ſaid to be ſharers in this Salvation.

18 For thus ſaith the LORD * that created the heavens, God himſelf that formed the earth, and made it, he hath eſtabliſhed it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited, * I am the LORD, and there is none elſe z.

z This deſcription of God is here added, Either 1. To detect the vanity of Idols, by aſſerting, that none was to be owned as the true God, beſides that one God who made the Heavens and the Earth, and the Inhabitants thereof: Or, 2. To demonſtrate God's Sufficiency to fulfill all theſe glorious promiſes made to his Church, becauſe he made the World of nothing, and upholds it by the word of his Power; and withal to diſcover God's goodneſs to mankind, inaſmuch as he did not Create the Earth in vain, but for the uſe and comfort of men, that it might be a fit habitation for them: whence it was eaſie to infer, that God would much more be gracious to his own People.

a The Heathen Idols deliver their Oracles darkly and doubtfully, in obſcure Cells and Caverns of the Earth, or out of the bellies of their Prieſts: but I have delivered my Oracles to Iſrael publickly and plainly, as one that was neither afraid nor aſhamed to utter my mind, leſt I ſhould be convinced of folly and falſhood; which was the caſe of Idols. b Serve and worſhip me for nought. As I appointed them work, ſo I promiſed, and from time to time have given and ſhall give them, abundant recompence for their ſervice. Whereas the Gentiles ſeek to their Idols in vain, for they can do them no good, as is obſerved in the next verſe. c I require nothing of my people which is not highly juſt and good; whereas the Idols commanded their Worſhippers to do many ſinful and ſhameful things, even in their worſhip, as is notoriouſly known.

h To maintain the cauſe of their Idols. i This great work of which I have ſpoken, concerning Babylon's deſtruction, and the redemption of God's People. k Whereas the Gods of the Heathens are neither Juſt nor Saviours to their People, but wicked, and the Authors and Abetters of all ſorts of wickedneſs; and ſo far from being either able or willing to ſave their worſhippers, that they are the chief occaſion of their utter deſtruction.

22 Look unto me and be ye ſaved all the ends of the earth l: for I am God, and there is none elſe.

l Upon theſe conſiderations, I adviſe all People upon earth, from one end to the other, to caſt away their Idols, and to turn their eyes and hearts to me, expecting Salvation from me, and from me only; and their labour ſhall not be in vain; for they ſhall be ſaved: the imperative being put for the future, as Gen. 42. 18. and oft elſewhere. And this is not only an exhortation to the Gentiles to turn from Idols to God, but a Prediction that they ſhall turn to him and look upon Chriſt, who ſhall be the Authour of Salvation to all that obey him, whether Jews or Gentiles, which is confirmed by the following verſe.

23 I have ſworn by my ſelf m, the word is gone out of my mouth in righteouſneſs n, and ſhall not * return o, that unto me every * knee ſhall bow, every tongue ſhall ſwear p.

Chap. 55. Rom. 14. il. 2. 10.

m Which is the higheſt and moſt ſolemn Oath that is poſſible, Heb. 6. 13. and therefore ſignifies, that the matter here ſworn is of an extraordinary importance. n It is not a vain word raſhly uttered, and afterwards never remembred nor obſerved, but what I ſincerely ſpeak, and will moſt faithfully and infallibly perform. o To wit, unto me void, or without effect, as this Phraſe is more fully delivered, Iſa. 55. 11. It is a Metaphor from Ambaſſadours, who ſometimes return to their Princes without any ſucceſs in their buſineſs. p Not only the Jews, but a People of all Nations ſhall worſhip me, and ſubmit to my laws; which is ſignified by an outward act, the bowing of the knee, which is a poſture of reverence and ſubjection; and by one eminent part of God's Worſhip, which is ſwearing by his name.

24 ‖ Surely, ſhall one ſay q, In the LORD r have I † righteouſneſs s, and ſtrength t: even to him ſhall men come u, and all that are incenſed againſt him ſhall be aſhamed x.

q Or, ſhall he ſay, each or every one of thoſe, whom he now ſaid, that they ſhould bow their knees to God, and ſwear by him, ver. 23. Or, it ſhall be ſaid, ſuch active verbs being oft uſed impersonally. r By or from God alone, or the Meſſiah, who is the true Jehovah as well as man. s To juſtifie me from all things from which I could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, as is ſaid, Act. 13. 39. The ſenſe is, The Gentiles ſhall expect and obtain from Chriſt both Juſtification, or forgiveneſs of ſins by his blood, and Sanctification by his Spirit. u The Gentiles ſhall come to God and Chriſt, either 1. By conſtraint, or neceſſity to be judged by him at the laſt day: Or, 2. willingly by Prayer to ſeek, and by Faith to receive Righteouſneſs and Strength from him: Which ſeems better to agree with the foregoing Clauſe, which ſpeaks of true Believers only. Coming to Chriſt is put for believing on him, Mat. 11. 28. John 5. 50. and 6. 35, 36, 37. and elſewhere. x Or, but (as this Particle is oft rendred) all that are, &c. 8 Remember this r, and ſhew your ſelves men s: * bring it again to mind t, O ye tranſgreſſors u.

r Conſider theſe things which I now ſpeak, O ye Iſraelites. s Act like reaſonable Creatures, and be not ſo bruitiſh as to worſhip your own Works: Be ſo wiſe and courageous as to withſtand all Solicitations to Idolatry. t Think of this again and again. u You who have been guilty of this fooliſh Sin; and therefore are obliged to take the better heed, that you do not relapſe into it again.

9 Remember the former things of old, ‖ for I am God, and there is none elſe, I am God, and there is none like me.

‖ What I have done for you, and in the World, my evident Predictions of future things juſtified by the event; and thoſe other miraculous Works whereby I have abundantly proved my Divinity.

10 Declaring the end from the beginning x, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, ſaying, * My counſel ſhall ſtand y, and I will do all my pleaſure:

* Pſal. 33. 11. Prov. 19. 21. & 21. 30. Heb. 6. 17.

x Foretelling from the beginning of the World, or from the beginning of your Nation, thoſe future Events which ſhould happen in ſucceeding Ages, even to the end of the World, or to the end of your Commonwealth; for ſuch Predictions we find delivered by Moſes, the firſt founder of their Common-wealth. y As I will not, ſo no other Power can diſappoint my Purpoſes and Predictions.

11 Calling a ravenous bird z from the Eaſt a, † the man that executeth my counſel b from a far country c; yea I have ſpoken it, I will alſo bring it to paſs, I have purpoſed it, I will alſo do it.

z Cyrus called a bird for his ſwiftneſs and great expedition, and ravenous for his fierceneſs, and victoriouſneſs over his Enemies. a From Perſia, as Iſa. 41. 2. b Concerning the deliverance of my People, and the deſtruction of their cruel oppreſſors, the Babylonians. c From Perſia, which was far from Babylon, but much farther from Judea.

d Or, Ye whoſe hearts are proud or hard or ſtubborn. He ſpeaks either, 1. to the Babylonians, you who are ſtout againſt God, and ſay or think that neither God nor any man can deliver my People out of your hands: Or rather 2. To the Houſe of Jacob, expreſſed, ver. 3. Where he beſpeaks them in the ſame words here uſed, hearken to me; and to whom alone he directeth his ſpeech in this whole Chapter, for though he ſpeaketh of the Babylonians, yet he doth not ſpeak to them; and to whom the Prophet, for the moſt part, turneth his ſpeech in all his Prophecies, unleſs where there is ſomething in the Text or Context, which determineth it to ſome other Perſon or People. And this very crime of ſtoutneſs, or hardneſs of heart is moſt juſtly and moſt frequently charged upon the Jews, by their own Prophets every where, becauſe of their groſs contempt of, and incorrigibleneſs under all God's Words and Works. And the Prophet ſpeaks this, either to the Jews of his Generation; Or rather to that generation which was carried Captive to Babylon, whoſe ſtout-heartedneſs is particularly noted and reproved, Zech. 7. 11, 12. Compare Mal. 3. 13, 14, 15. e That are not only void of, but enemies to righteouſneſs and true holineſs: that give up your ſelves to wickedneſs, that deſpiſe my counſels, and promiſes, and threatnings.

13 I bring near my righteouſneſs f: it ſhall not be far off g, and my ſalvation ſhall not tarry; and I will place ſalvation in Zion h for Iſrael my glory i.

f Though you are moſt unrighteous perſons, and have given me juſt cauſe to make you to know my breach of Promiſe, as I threatned in the like caſe, Numb. 14. 34. Yet I will ſhew my ſelf to be a Righteous and Faithful God, making good my promiſe of delivering you out of Babylon after ſeventy years; and though you think the time long, and are apt to diſtruſt the thing it ſelf, yet it ſhall come, and that ſpeedily, I will bring it near, or cauſe it to approach, or come unto you, and as it follows, it ſhall not tarry beyond the appointed time. g My work of ſaving you from the Babyloniſh Captivity. h I will bring my People from Babylon to Zion, and there I will ſave them from all their Enemies. i In whom I will once again glory as my People, and the illuſtrious monuments of my glorious Wiſdom, and Power, and Truth and Goodneſs; whom I will make a great and glorious People, though now they are mean and contemptible, and in whom I will once more ſettle my glorious Preſence and Ordinances.

CHAP. XLVII.

God's Judgments upon Babylon and Chaldea: for their Cruelty towards God's People, 1,—6. their Pride and other ſins, 7,—10. their Enchantments ſhall not deliver them, 11,—15.

COme down a and ſit in the duſt b: O virgin daughter of Babylon c, ſit on the ground: there is no throne d, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called e tender and delicate.

a From thy Throne, as it follows. b Either neceſſarily, becauſe thou ſhalt have no higher ſeat: Or, voluntarily, as mourners do, bewailing thine approaching calamities. c So called either, 1. becauſe ſhe had not yet been humbled and conquered: Or rather, 2. Becauſe ſhe was tender and delicate, as the nex Clauſe informeth us. d To wit, for thee. The empire is taken away from thee, and tranſlated to the Perſians. e Either be reputed ſo, Or rather be ſo: for to be called is frequently put for to be, as hath been divers times noted. Thou ſhalt be reduced to great hardſhips and miſeries.

2 Take the Milſtones f and grind meal g, uncover thy locks h: make bare the leg: uncover the thigh i, paſs over the Rivers.

f Betake thy ſelf to the Milſtones; as we commonly ſay, take thy bed, or, betake thy ſelf to thy bed. The meaning is, Thou ſhalt be brought down to the baſeſt kind of ſlavery, which grinding at the Mill was eſteemed; of which ſee on Exod. 11. 5. Judg. 16. 21. Job 31. 10. Lament. 5. 13. For this work was not performed by horſes, as now it is, but by the labour of Slaves and Captives. g Grind Bread-Corn into Meal for thy Maſter's uſe. Such metonymical expreſſions, we find Iſa. 28. 28. Hoſ. 8. 7. and elſewhere. h Or, thine hair. Take off the Ornaments wherewith ſuch Women as were free, and of good quality, uſed to cover and dreſs their heads. This and the following paſſages, though delivered in the form of a Command, are only Predictions of what they ſhould be forced to do or ſuffer, as appears from the next verſe. i Gird up thy garments cloſe and ſhort about thee, that thou mayeſt be fit for ſervice, and for travelling on foot, and as it follows, for paſſing over thoſe Rivers, through which thou wilt be conſtrained to wade, in the way to the Land of thy Captivity.

3 Thy nakedneſs ſhall be uncovered k, yea thy ſhame ſhall be ſeen l: I will take vengeance m, and I will not meet thee as a man n.

k Either, 1. for want of raiment to cover it: Or, rather, 2. by thine enemies in way of ſcorn and contumely, by comparing this place with Ezek. 16. 37. & 23. 29. l Upon thee for thy many and great injuries done to my people. m As a man meets his enemy in the field, to contend with thee. n With moderation and gentleneſs, as thoſe men who have not quite put off Humanity uſe to do, but like a Lyon tearing thee to pieces, to which God in ſuch caſe compareth himſelf, as Hoſe. 5. 14. & 13. 7, 8. Compare Hoſe. 11. 4.

o According to this verſion, the Prophet inſerteth this paſſage in the midſt of this Prophecy againſt Babylon, as Jacob inſerteth a like paſſage in the midſt of his Bleſſings and Prophecies concerning his Children, Gen. 49. 18. And this may be here interpoſed, either, 1. As the reaſon why the Judgment here denounced ſhould be certainly inflicted, becauſe he who had undertaken it was the Lord of hoſts, and therefore able to effect it, and the Holy One, and the Redeemer of Iſrael, whom the Babylonians had cruelly oppreſſed, whoſe quarrel God would avenge upon them, and whom he had determined and promiſed to deliver out of their hands: Or, 2. As a pathetical exclamation or acclamation of God's People, for this wonderful work of breaking the ſtaff of their oppreſſors, which they here aſcribe to God, as he is their God and Redeemer, whom they here make their boaſt of, and whom they Celebrate for this glorious deliverance. But becauſe theſe words, as for, are not in the Hebrew Text, and therefore another word may be as conveniently ſupplied; this verſe may be, and is by ſome learned Interpreters, otherwiſe rendred, and joyned with the foregoing words thus, I will take vengeance, and I will not meet thee as a man, ſaith our Redeemer, whoſe Name is the Lord of Hoſts, the Holy One of Iſrael. For the word, ſaith or ſaying, is frequently underſtood, and therefore ſupplied by Tranſlators, as 1 Kings 20. 34. Pſal. 27. 8. & 105. 15. and in this very Prophecy, as Iſa. 5. 9. & 45. 14. and elſewhere.

5 Sit thou ſilent p, and get thee into darkneſs q, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou ſhalt no more be called the Lady of Kingdoms r.

p Through grief and ſhame, and as mourners uſe to do, Job 2. 13. Ceaſe thy vaunting, and inſolent ſpeeches: thou canſt ſay nothing for thine own juſtification. q Thou ſhalt go into an obſcure, diſconſolate, and calamitous condition. r The chief and glory of all Kingdoms, as Iſa. 13. 19. the moſt large and potent and glorious Empire of the World, as thou haſt been.

6 I was wroth with my people: I have polluted mine inheritance s, and given them into thine hand t: thou didſt ſhew them no mercy u; upon the ancient haſt thou very heavily laid the yoke x.

s I caſt them away as an unclean thing; I ſtained their glory; I removed them from the Holy Land, and from the place of my preſence and worſhip, which alone made them an holy and peculiar People; I baniſhed them into a polluted Land, amongſt uncircumciſed and unclean perſons, by whom they were many ways defiled; I rejected them from being my People, and ſo they were in my ſight no better than the reſt of the Heathen Nations. t To puniſh them, and deal with them as thou ſaweſt fit. u Thou haſt exceeded the bounds of thy Commiſſion, and inſtead of that compaſſion, which humanity teacheth men to ſhew to ſuch as are in miſery, thou didſt add to their afflictions. x Who beſides their common calamity were afflicted with the miſeries of Old Age, and therefore did require both pity and reverence.

7 And thou ſayeſt, I ſhall be * a Lady for ever: ſo that thou diddeſt not lay theſe things y to thy heart, neither didſt remember the latter end of it z.

y Thy cruel uſages of my People, and the heavy Judgments which thou hadſt reaſon to expect for them. z Of that Lady, or of Babylon, and her Glory and Empire, or of thy ſelf; here being a ſudden change of the perſon, of which I have noted many Examples in this Prophet. The ſenſe is: Thou waſt beſotted with the ſenſe of thy preſent felicity, and didſt not conſider, as thy duty and common diſcretion obliged thee, what might and was likely to befall thee afterward; thou didſt neither expect a change nor prepare for it.

8 Therefore hear now this, thou that art given to pleaſures, that dwelleſt careleſly, that ſayeſt in thine heart, I am a, and none elſe beſides me b; I ſhall not ſit as a widdow, neither ſhall I know the loſs of children c.

a I am independent, and ſelf-ſufficient and unchangeable, as that Phraſe implies, which therefore is appropriated to God, Iſa. 41. 4. and 43. 10. and elſewhere. The Prophet doth not here uſe the very Phraſe which the Babylonians uſed, but expreſſeth their ſenſe in a Scripture Phraſe. b Which is not either ſubject to me, or far inferiour to me in Power and Glory, ſo that in compariſon of me it may be ſaid not to be, becauſe it diſappears like Stars at the preſence of the Sun. c I ſhall never want either a King or People to defend me from all dangers.

9 But theſe two * things ſhall come to thee in a moment in one day; the loſs of children, and widowhood; they ſhall come upon thee in their perfection d, for the multitude of thy ſorceries, and for the great abundance of thine inchantments e.

d In the higheſt degree. Thy King and Kingdom ſhall be utterly and eternally deſtroyed. e For thy ſuperſtitious and magical Practices, which were very frequent there, as we ſee below, ver. 12, 13. and as was obſerved before. Or, as it is in the Hebrew, In the multitude of thy Sorceries, &c. in the midſt of, and notwithſtanding all thy diabolical Artifices, whereby thou thinkeſt to foreſee any dangers, and to ſecure thy ſelf from them.

10 For thou haſt truſted in thy wickedneſs f: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeth me g: Thy wiſdom and thy knowledge h, it hath ‖ perverted thee i, and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart, I am, and none elſe beſides me k.

f Confidently expecting to preſerve thy ſelf by theſe and other wicked Arts and Policies. g My Counſels are ſo deeply and cunningly laid, that God himſelf can neither diſcover nor prevent the Execution of them. h In State-Policy, and the Arts mentioned above and below. i Hath miſled thee into the way of Tranſgreſſion and Perdition. k Which was ſaid, ver. 8. and is here repeated, to note their intolerable Arrogancy and Self-confidence.

11 Therefore ſhall evil come upon thee l, thou ſhalt not know † from whence it riſeth: and miſchief ſhall fall upon thee, thou ſhalt not be able to † put it off: and deſolation ſhall come upon thee ſuddenly m, which thou ſhalt not know.

l Or rather, when it ſhall come: Heb. the morning of it, the day or time of its approach: And they are juſtly upbraided and derided for this ignorance, becauſe the Aſtrologers, the Star-gazers, and the monthly Prognoſticators, mentioned here, ver. 13. pretended punctually to foretell the particular time of all future events. And this Explication agrees with the Hiſtory, Babylon being ſurprized by Cyrus, when they were in deep Security, as is manifeſt, both from Scripture, Jer. 51. 31. Dan. 5. and from other Hiſtories. m Or, when, thou ſhalt not know it. Thou ſhalt not apprehend thy danger till it be too late.

12. Stand n now with thine inchantments, and with the multitude of thy ſorceries, wherein thou haſt laboured from thy youth o: if ſo be thou ſhalt be able to profit, if ſo be thou mayeſt prevail.

n This Word notes! Either 1. continuance. Perſiſt or go on in theſe Practices. Or 2. their geſture. For thoſe that enquired of their Gods by any of theſe ſuperſtitious Practices uſed to ſtand, this being a poſture, both of Reverence, and waiting for an Anſwer. But this is not a command or conceſſion, but a ſacred Irony, or ſcoff at the folly of theſe Men, who having ſo oft been diſappointed by theſe Impoſtures, yet were as forward to uſe them, and truſt to them, as if they had never deceived them. o From the beginning of thy Commom-wealth or Kingdom. For the Chaldeans in all Ages were famous, or rather infamous, for the ſtudy and practice of theſe Arts.

13. Thou art wearied p in the multitude of thy counſels: let now the † Aſtrologers, the Star-gazers, the † monthly Prognoſticators ſtand up, and ſave thee q from theſe things that ſhall come upon thee,

Heb. ewer of e heavens
Heb. that e know-dge con-rning the nths.

p Thou haſt ſpent thy time and ſtrength in going from one to another, in trying all manner of Experiments, and all to no purpoſe. q To Succour thee, or to enquire for thee.

14 Behold, they ſhall be as ſtubble: the fire ſhall burn them, they ſhall not deliver † themſelves r from the power of the flame s: there ſhall not be a coal to warme at, nor fire to ſit before it.

r And much leſs thee. s They ſhall be totally conſumed, and all the comfort which thou didſt expect from them, ſhall utterly vaniſh.

15 Thus t ſhall they u be unto thee with whom thou haſt laboured, even thy merchants from thy youth, they ſhall wander every one to his quarter: none ſhall ſave thee x.

t Such comfortleſs and helpleſs Creatures. u Either 1. thy Merchants, as it follows, with whom thou haſt trafficked. Or, 2. thy Sorcerers, Aſtrologers, &c. with whom they are ſaid to have laboured, both here, and ver. 12. who alſo may poſſibly be called their Merchants, becauſe they traded ſo much with them; and becauſe of their deceitful practices; for which Ephraim is called a Merchant, Hoſ. 12. 7. And ſo the following Clauſe may be rendred, who have been thy Merchants from thy Youth. Or, the laſt clauſe may be underſtood of Merchants, properly ſo called, who came from ſeveral Countries to trade with Babylon, as is noted in Scripture, and by other Authors: And the Verſe may be thus rendred. Thus (vain and unprofitable) ſhall they (thy Sorcerers, &c.) with whom thou haſt laboured be unto thee. (So here is only a tranſpoſition of Words, than which nothing is more uſual in Scripture. Then follows another matter in the next Clauſe:) alſo Thy Merchants, or they with whom thou haſt traded from thy Youth, ſhall wander every one to his own quarter. x They ſhall all leave thee, and flee away with all poſſible ſpeed to their ſeveral Countries and Habitations.

CHAP. XLVIII.

God reproveth their hypocriſie and obſtinacy by his Prophecies, 1,—8. he ſpareth them for his names ſake: and that they may learn to know him aright, 9,—11. God's powerful Salvation a motive to obedience, 12,—17. God lamenteth their backwardneſs, 18,—19. Deliverance out of Babylon, 20,—21. no peace to the wicked, 22.

HEar ye this a, O Houſe of Jacob, which are called by the Name of Iſrael b, and are come forth out of the waters of Judah c: which ſwear d by the Name of the LORD, and make mention of the God of Iſrael e, but not in Truth, nor in Righteouſneſs f.

a What I am now going to ſay againſt thee, that thou mayeſt be aſſured, that that great deliverance, which I have determined and declared to give thee, is not for thy own ſake, but for my names ſake. b Which are Iſraelites in name, but not in Truth, as it follows. c From the lineage of your Progenitor, Judah, as waters flow from a Fountain, and as the Iſrrelites are ſaid to be of the Fountain of Iſrael, Pſal. 68. 26. Compare alſo, Deut. 33. 28. Prov. 5. 15. &c. d Which profeſs the true Religion; one act of Religion being put for all. e Either in Oaths, or otherwiſe: that own him, and ſeem to glory in him as their God, and call themſelves by his name. f Which are the two chief ingredients of a lawful oath, Jer. 4. 2. They are guilty of falſhood and injuſtice both in oaths, and in their whole Converſation.

2 For g they ſhall call themſelves of the Holy City h, and ſtay themſelves i upon the God of Iſrael, the LORD of Hoſts is his Name k.

g Or, as others render it, and this Particle frequently ſignifies, Though. And ſo this is added as a great aggravation of their want, and neglect of Truth and Righteouſneſs. h They glory in this, that they are Citizens of Jeruſalem, a City ſanctified by God himſelf to be the only place of his true worſhip, and gracious preſence, which as it is a great priviledge, ſo it laid a great obligation upon them, to walk more holily than they did. i Not by a true and well-grounded Faith, but by a vain and preſumptive confidence, flattering themſelves, as that People commonly did, that they ſhould enjoy peace and ſafety, notwithſtanding all their wickedneſs; becauſe they were the Lord's People, and had his Temple and Ordinances among them; which diſpoſition the Prophets frequently obſerve, and ſharply cenſure in them. k Or, Whoſe name is the Lord of Hoſts.

3 I have declared the former things from the beginning l, and they went forth out of my mouth, and I ſhewed them, I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſs m.

l Thoſe things which have formerly come to paſs, which I punctually foretold from time to time before they came to paſs: Whereby I gave you full proof of my Godhead. m What my mouth foretold my hand effected.

n Therefore I gave thee the more and clearer demonſtrations of my divine nature and providence, becauſe I knew thou waſt an unbelieving and perverſe Nation, that would not eaſily nor willingly be convinced. o Which will not bow down to receive my yoke, nor to obey my commands. It is a metaphor taken from untamed and ſtubborn cattel: of which ſee alſo Nehe. 9. 29. Zech. 7. 11. Act. 7. 51. The ſenſe is, I conſidered that thou waſt unteachable and incorrigible. p Thou waſt impudent, and therefore wouldſt boldly pretend that thou didſt forſake me, for want of full conviction of my Divine Authority, and of thy duty: therefore I determined that I would leave thee without excuſe.

5 I have even from the beginning declared it to thee; before it came to paſs I ſhewed it thee q, leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, and my graven image and my molten image hath commanded them.

q I foretold theſe things, that it might be evident, that they were the effects of my counſel, and not of thine Idols as I knew thou waſt very inclinable to believe.

6 Thou haſt heard; ſee all this r, and will not ye declare it s? I have ſhewed thee new things from this time t, even hidden things, and thou didſt not know them.

r As thou haſt heard all theſe things from my mouth, from time to time, ſo now I adviſe thee to ſee, i. e. ſeriouſly to conſider them, and to lay them to heart. s I call you to witneſs: muſt you not be forced to acknowledge the truth of what I ſay? Deny it if you can: Or, have ye not declared it unto all People as occaſion required it? Have you not boaſted unto the Gentiles of this as your Honour and Priviledge? t And I have now given thee new Predictions of ſecret things, and ſuch as till this time were wholly unknown to thee, as it follows, concerning thy deliverance out of Babylon by Cyrus.

u i.e. Revealed unto thee by me; brought to light, as things are by Creation. Things are frequently ſaid to be made or done in Scripture, when they are declared or manifeſted, Job 5. 3. I curſed, i.e. I pronounced it curſed, Pſal. 51. 4. That thou mighteſt be juſtified, i.e. declared and acknowledged to be juſt, Hoſ, 5. 15. Till they acknowledge their offence; which in the Hebrew is, till they be guilty. x Heb. Not from thence, not from theſe ancient times when other things were revealed unto thee. y Heb. and (or, or, as this particle is frequently uſed :) before this day, Such pronouns are oft underſtood, as we have ſeen : and this day anſwers to now in the firſt clauſe : and this clauſe ſeems to be added as an expoſition of the next foregoing clauſe which is more general and ambiguous, not from then or before this day. z Heb. and thou didſt not hear them, to wit, before this time in which God hath revealed them to thee by my Miniſtry. a Either by thine own ſagacity : or by the help of thine Idols. The ſenſe is, That it might appear, that thou hadſt the knowledge of theſe things only from me, who made known unto thee only what, and when I pleaſed.

8 Yea thou heardeſt not, yea thou kneweſt not b, yea from that time that thine ear was not opened c : for I knew that thou wouldeſt deal treacherouſly d, and waſt called e a tranſgreſſor from the womb.

b The ſame thing is repeated again and again, becauſe this was ſo illuſtrious a proof of the infinite power and providence of the God of Iſrael, and ſo clear and full a diſcovery of the vanity of Idols. c Heb. Yea from then (of which phraſe ſee the foregoing verſe) thine ear was not opened, i.e. thou didſt not hear, to wit, from me: I did not reveal theſe things unto thee : for ſo this Phraſe of opening the ear is underſtood, 1 Sam. 9. 15. 2 Sam. 7. 27. d I knew all theſe cautions were neceſſary to cure thine infidelity and Apoſtacy. e To wit, juſtly and truly : Or, thou was indeed ſuch a perſon, to be called put for to be as we have oft noted.

9 For my Names ſake will I defer mine anger f, and for my praiſe g will I refrain h for thee, that I cut thee not off.

f And although thou doſt juſtly deſerve my hotteſt anger and moſt dreadful judgments, which alſo, if thou repenteſt not, I will in due time inflict, yet at preſent I will ſpare thee, and deliver thee out of Captivity, not for thy ſake, be it known to thee, but meerly for my own ſake, and for the vindication of my name and glory, as it follows, ver. 11. g That I may be praiſed and magnified for my Power, Faithfulneſs and Goodneſs, and other perfections. h To wit, mine anger; which is eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing clauſe.

10 Behold, I have refined thee i. but not || with ſilver k, I have choſen l thee in the furnace of affliction.

i Or, I will refine thee. Although I will not cut thee off, or utterly deſtroy thee, as I now ſaid, yet I will put thee into the Furnace, not to conſume thee, but to purifie thee from that droſs which cleaveth to thee, and needs ſuch afflictions to purge it away. k Or, not among Silver : Or, not as Silver, which is put into, and kept in the Furnace ſo long till all the droſs be purged away from it. I will not deal ſo rigorouſly with thee ; for then I ſhould wholly conſume thee : in judgment I will remember mercy. l Or, I will chuſe thee, or I will yet chuſe thee, as it is expreſſed Iſa. 14. 1. Zech. 1. 17. Or, I will chuſe thee again, as Zech. 2.12. For it muſt be conſidered, that God had in a manner rejected Iſrael, when he ſent them into Captivity, and given her a bill of divorce, as he ſaith, Jer. 3. 8. ſee alſo Iſa. 50. 1. and therefore it was neceſſary that God ſhould chuſe this people a ſecond time, that they might be betrothed to him again, as is expreſſed and promiſed, Hoſ. 2.19, 20. This ſeems to me the true ſenſe; although it may be thus underſtood, I will chuſe thee, i. e. I will manifeſt by my carriage to thee that I have choſen thee : Or, that thou art my choſen People. Things be oft ſaid to be done when they are manifeſted, as was obſerved on ver. 7.

11 For mine own ſake, even for my own ſake will I do it m ; for how ſhould my Name n be m This great work of delivering my People out of Babylon. n My Name is here fitly ſupplied both out of ver. 9. where it is expreſſed, and out of the following clauſe of this verſe, where he ſaith, my glory, which is equivalent to it. The ſenſe is, If I ſhould not ſpare and deliver my people, my name would be ſadly prophaned and blaſphemed, as if I were either impotent or implacable to them. o I will not give any colour or occaſion to Idolaters, to aſcribe the Divine Nature and Properties, which are my peculiar, unto Idols. as they would do if I did not reſcue my People out of their hands in ſpight of their Idols.

Cha.* 41. 4. & 44. 6. Rev. 1. 17. & 22. 13.

12. Hearken unto me, O Jacob, and Iſrael my called p; I am he; I am the * firſt, I alſo am the laſt.

p Whom I have called out of the World to be my peculiar People, to ſerve, and glorifie, and enjoy me, and therefore you of all others have leaſt cauſe to forſake me, or to follow after Idols.

13. Mine hand alſo hath laid the foundation of the earth, and || my right hand hath ſpanned q the Heavens : When I call unto them, they ſtand up together r.

q Or, doth ſpan, i. e. mete out the Heavens with a ſpan; as the Phraſe is, Iſa. 40. 12. Although that be expreſſed there in other Hebrew words. Or, hath ſpread them out with its palm, or like a palm, when the hand is ſtretched out. r Either they ſtood up and aroſe out of nothing, when I commanded them to do ſo : Or, they are ſtill continually in readineſs to execute my commands.

14 All ye * aſſembled † your ſelves and hear: which among them hath declared theſe things s? the LORD hath loved him t : he will do his pleaſure on Babylon u, and his arm ſhall be on the Chaldeans x.

* Ye Jews, to whom he addreſſed his ſpeech, ver. 12. and continueth his ſpeech, ver. 16, 17, &c. † I challenge you all to anſwer what I have ſaid before and am now a going to ſay again. s Which of the Gods whom any of you have ſerved or do ſtill hanker after ? t To wit, Cyrus, who might eaſily be underſtood out of the foregoing context, in which he is frequently mentioned. The pronoun is put for the noun, and is uſual both in Scripture and in other Authors. Now God loved Cyrus, not with a ſpecial, and everlaſting, and complacential love, for he was an Heathen, and had ſome great Vices as well as Vertues, but with that general love and kindneſs, which God hath for all his Creatures, as is obſerved, Pſal. 145. 9. and moreover with that particular kind of love, which God hath for ſuch men as excel others in any Vertues, as Cyrus did ; in which ſenſe Chriſt loved the young man, Mark 10. 21. and with a love of good will, and beneficence. God had ſuch a kindneſs for him, as to make him a moſt glorious and victorious General and King, and the great inſtrument for the deliverance of his own People ; which was a ſingular honour and advantage to him, and might have been far greater, and extended to the eternal Salvation of his Soul, if he had not wanted an heart to uſe the price which God hereby put into his hand. And as anger being aſcribed to God, is not meant of the affection, for ſuch paſſions are inconſiſtent with the perfection of God's nature, but of the effect ; ſo the Love of God when it is applied in Scripture, to ſuch Perſons as Cyrus, is not ſo much to be underſtood of an inward affection, as of the outward effects of it ; and ſo this Love is explained in the following Words, by that proſperous Succeſs which God gave him againſt the Chaldeans. u Cyrus ſhall execute that I have appointed him to do for the Deſtruction of Babylon, and for the Redemption of my People ; which was in it ſelf a good Work : And therefore this is added, as the reaſon why God loved him. x He ſhall ſmite and ſubdue them.

15 I, even I y have ſpoken, yea I have called him: I have brought him, and he ſhall make his way proſperous z.

y Both the foreknowledge and the execution of this great Atchievement cannot be aſcribed to Idols, but to me only. z God will give him good Succeſs in this undertaking. Here is a ſudden change of the Perſon, from I to he, which is very uſual. Or, as others render it, he ſhall proſper in his way: the prepoſition in being moſt frequently underſtood.

16 Come ye near unto me a; hear ye this; I have not ſpoken in ſecret b from the beginning c : from the time that it was d, there am I e : and now the Lord GOD and his ſpirit f hath ſent me g.

a That you may the better hear me, as it follows. A Speech of God after the manner of Men. b I have not ſmothered the Counſel and Word of God, but have plainly and publickly declared it unto you : Or, I have openly Revealed my mind to you. See the Note on Iſa. 45. 19. where theſe very Words are ſpoken by God in his own Name, as here by the Prophet in God's name ; and ſo all comes to one. c Either 1. from the firſt time that I began to Propheſie until this time. Or, 2. from the beginning of my taking you to be my People, and of revealing my Mind to you. See on Iſa. 41. 26. d Theſe Words alſo, as well as the former, are the Words, Either 1. of the Prophet ; and ſo the Senſe ſeems to be this, From the time that I was firſt called to be a Prophet, I have been there, i. e. I have diligently purſued my Prophetical Function ; I have hearkned from time to time, to hear what God would ſpeak to me, that I might impart it to you : Or, 2. of God ; and then the Senſe may be this, From the time that I firſt ſpoke of it, or foretold it, I am or was there, to take care to effect what I had foretold : I minded it carefully from that time, as being then more eſpecially obliged to do it, leſt my Truth or Power ſhould be queſtioned. Or the Words may be thus rendred and explained, From the time that this ſhall be, when the time appointed for the doing of this Work ſhall come, there I will be, to encourage and aſſiſt Cyrus in the Work. e This is oppoſed to thoſe foregoing Words, from the beginning. f God by his Spirit ; or God, even the Spirit or the Holy Ghoſt, to whom the ſending and inſpiring of God's Prophets is aſcribed, 2 Pet. 1. 21. g To wit, the Prophet Iſaiah ; who yet was a Type of Chriſt, and ſo this may have a Reſpect to him alſo.

17 Thus ſaith the LORD thy Redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael, I am the LORD thy God which teacheth thee to profit h ; which leadeth i thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt go.

h Which from time to time have made known unto thee, not vain and frivolous things, but all neceſſary and uſeful Doctrines ; which, if believed and obſerved by thee, would have been infinitely profitable to thee, both for this life and that to come. So that it is not my fault, but thine own, if thou doſt not profit. i Which acquainteth thee with thy Duty and Intereſt in all the parts and concerns of thy Life ; ſo that thou canſt not pretend ignorance.

18 O that thou hadſt hearkened to my Commandements k, then had thy peace been as a river l, and thy righteouſneſs m as the waves of the ſea n.

k The failure hath not been on my part, but on thine : I gave thee my Counſels and Commands, but thou haſt neglected and diſobeyed them, and that to thy own great diſadvantage. Such wiſhes as theſe are not to be taken properly, as if God longed for ſomething, which he gladly would but could not effect ; or as if he wiſhed that to be undone, which was irrevocably paſt and done; which is a vain and fooliſh wiſh even in a Man; and much more are ſuch wiſhes inconſiſtent with the infinite perfection and happineſs of the divine Nature: but they are only ſignifications of God's good and holy Will, whereby he requires and loves Obedience, and condemns and hates Diſobedience. l Which runs Sweetly, Strongly, Plentifully, and Conſtantly; and ſuch had been thy Proſperity. Then thou hadſt never gone into this Babyloniſh Captivity, nor needed ſuch prodigies of my power and goodneſs to Deliver thee out of it. m Not properly ſo called (for he is not now ſpeaking of their Vertues, but of their Priviledges) but thy Peace and Proſperity, as appears by the foregoing Clauſe, to which this manifeſtly anſwers; which is called Righteouſneſs here, as it is alſo, 1 Sam. 12. 7. and Hoſ. 10. 12. and elſewhere, by a Metonomy, becauſe it is the fruit of Righteouſneſs, both of God's Righteouſneſs, and of Man's Righteouſneſs; as by the very ſame figure, iniquity is very frequently put for the fruit and puniſhment of iniquity. n Infinite and continual.

o To wit, for multitude, according to my Promiſe made to Abraham: Whereas now I have, for thy Sins, made thee to know thy breach of Promiſe, as is ſaid, Numb. 14. 34. and greatly diminiſhed thy Numbers. p Which come out of thy Bowels, or Belly, or Loins; for all theſe are but various Expreſſions of the ſame thing. q Which is continued in a Man's Poſterity, and commonly dies with them; and ſo the name here is the ſame thing in effect with the ſeed and off-ſpring in the former Clauſes, which, for the moſt part, are only the memorials of Men, and of their Names, when they are dead and gone. r As now it hath been in a great meaſure, and ſhould have been totally and finally cut off, if I had not ſpared them for my own Names ſake, as he ſaid before. s Or, out of my ſight, out of their own Land, the place of my ſpecial Preſence and Reſidence.

20 Go ye forth of Babylon t: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voice of ſinging u, declare ye x, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth: ſay ye, t The imperative is here, as it is very frequently, put for the future. Ye ſhall go forth, &c. for this is not ſo much a command as a promiſe. Although this form of ſpeech may be the rather uſed to intimate, That it was their duty to go forth, as well as God's promiſe to carry them forth. u With Joy and Songs of Praiſe to the Lord. x Publiſh God's wonderful Works on your behalf to all Nations.

21 And they thirſted not when he led them through Exod. 17. the deſarts y: he * cauſed the waters to flow out of Num. 20. the rock for them: he clave the rock alſo, and the waters guſhed out.

y This is part of the matter which the Jews are obliged to declare to all People, as they have opportunity, to wit, That God took the ſame care of them in their return from Babylon to Canaan, which was through many dry and deſolate places, as he did in their march from Egypt to Canaan. They thirſted not, &c. i. e. They ſhall not Thirſt. He ſpeaks of things to come, as if they were already paſt or preſent, as the Prophets commonly do.

Chap. 57. 22 * There is no peace, ſaith the LORD, unto the wicked z.

z God having in the next foregoing Verſes, foretold that Peace and bleſſed Deliverance which he would certainly give to his ſervant Jacob, ver. 20. He here adds an explication and limitation of this Mercy; and declareth, That wicked Men ſhould not enjoy the benefit of this Mercy. Where, by the wicked. he means, Either 1. the Babylonians, who well deſerved that Title; who ſhall be deſtroyed, when God's Iſrael ſhall be delivered: Or rather 2. the unbelieving and ungodly Jews; of whom theſe very Words are uſed again, Iſa. 57. 21. and to whom ſuch a Denunciation as this, was far more proper and neceſſary, at leaſt in this place, than to the Babylonians; for he had already ſaid far more and worſe things, than this concerning them, having again and again declared, That Babylon ſhould be deſtroyed, in order to this deliverance of God's People out of it. But there was great need why he ſhould ſay this to the ungodly Jews, becauſe they were exceeding prone to cry peace, peace to themſelves, when there was no ſolid ground of Peace; and they confidently expected a ſhare in this great Deliverance. This therefore was a very ſeaſonable Caution to the Jews in Babylon, to take heed to themſelves, and to prepare for this Mercy, and to purifie themſelves from all Wickedneſs; becauſe thoſe of them, who ſhould either wickedly tarry in Babylon, when God invited and required them to go out of it; and when their Godly Brethren returned to their own Land, and to the place of God's Worſhip; or continue in Wickedneſs, when they were reſtored to their own Country, ſhould not enjoy that Tranquillity and Comfort which they promiſed to themſelves. And the neceſſity of this Commination appears from the event; for the Jews that returned to Canaan, did, for the moſt part, relapſe to many of their former Sins, and therefore fell ſhort of that Peace and Proſperity, which otherwiſe they might have enjoyed.

CHAP. XLIX.

Chriſt being ſent to the Jews complaineth of them, 1, — 4. he is ſent to the Gentiles with gracious Promiſes, 5, — 12. God's Love to his Church perpetual, 13, — 17. the ample reſtoration of the Church: and its enlargement, 18, — 23. powerful deliverance out of Captivity, 24, — 26.

LIſten, O Iſles a, unto me b and hearken ye people from far c. The LORD hath called me from the womb d, from the bowels of my mother hath he made mention of my name e.

a God having in the laſt Words ſecretly ſignified the Wickedneſs of the Jewiſh Nation, after ſo glorious a deliverance, and foreſeeing, that, for their Wickedneſs, he ſhould caſt them off, he here turneth his Speech to the Nations of the Gentiles, who are frequently deſcribed in this Prophecy, and elſewhere under the Title of Iſles, as hath been formerly noted, and inviteth them to hearken to thoſe Counſels and Doctrines which the Jews would reject. b Unto Chriſt: for it is apparent from ver. 6. and other paſſages of this Chapter, that Iſaiah ſpeaks theſe words in the name of Chriſt, by whoſe Spirit they were dictated to him, 1 Pet. 1. 11. and unto whom alone they belong, as we ſhall ſee. So this Chapter is a Prophecy of Chriſt, which alſo is very proper and ſeaſonable in this place. The Prophet having at large propheſied of the Deliverance of the Jews out of Babylon; he now proceeds further, and propheſieth of the Redemption of the World by Chriſt, of which that deliverance out of Babylon was a Type and Forerunner. c Which live in Countries far from Judea, now the only Place of God's ſpecial Preſence and Worſhip. It is evident from the foregoing Clauſe, and many other Paſſages following, that he ſpeaks of diſtance of Place, not of Time. d This or the like expreſſion is uſed of Jeremy, chap. 1. 5. and of Paul, Gal. 1. 15. but it was far more eminently true of Chriſt, who, as he was choſen to this great office of Redemption from Eternity, ſo he was ſeparated and called to it before he was born, being both conceived and ſanctified by the Holy Ghoſt in his Mothers Womb, and ſent into the World upon this Errand; of which ſee Mat. 1. 21. and Luke 1. 31, &c. and 2, 11, &c. e Called by my Name, and by ſuch a Name as ſignified my Office and Work, in the Places now mentioned.

2 And he hath made my mouth like a ſharp ſword f, in the ſhadow of his hand hath he hid me g, and made me a poliſhed ſhaft h, in his quiver i he hath hid me.

f As he made me the great Teacher of his Church, and of the World, ſo he aſſiſted me by his Spirit, and made my Word or Doctrine Quick and powerful, and ſharper than any two-edged-ſword, &c. as it is ſaid to be, Heb. 4. 12. killing Men's Luſts, convincing, humbling, and converting their Souls; and Mighty to the pulling of ſtrong holds, And every high thing that exalteth it ſelf againſt the knowledge of God, and bringing into Captivity every thought to the obedience of Chriſt, as we read, 2 Cor. 10. 4. 5. g He will Protect me by his Power from all mine Enemies, until I have finiſhed the Work, for which he ſent me. h Like an Arrow, whoſe point is bright and poliſhed; which therefore pierceth deeper. This Metaphor ſignifies the ſame thing with the former, Chriſt's piercing of Men's Hearts by his Word and Spirit. i Where Arrows are hid and kept. The Quiver ſignifies the ſame thing with the ſhadow in the foregoing Clauſe, even God's powerful and gracious Protection of him from Dangers and Miſchiefs.

3 And ſaid unto me; Thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael k, in whom I will be glorified.

k As the name of David is ſometimes given to his Succeſſors, 1 Kings 12. 16. and particularly to Chriſt, Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23. Hoſ. 3. 5. and Jacob is called, as many think, by the name of his Grand-Father, Abraham, Acts 7. 16. and the name of Iſaac is given to his Poſterity, Amos 7. 9. So here the name of Iſrael may not unfitly be given to Chriſt, not only becauſe he deſcended from his Loins; but alſo becauſe he was the true and the great Iſrael, who, in a more eminent manner, prevailed with God, as that Name ſignifies, of whom Jacob, who was firſt called Iſrael, was but a Type: And as the name of Chriſt, the Head is ſometimes given to the Body, the Church, as 1 Cor. 12. 12. So it is not ſtrange if, on the contrary, the name of Iſrael, which properly belongs to the Church, be given to Chriſt the Head of it. But this Word may be otherwiſe rendred, being joyned, Either 1. with the foregoing words, Thou art my ſervant, unto, or in, or for Iſrael, i. e. to bring them back unto me, from whom they have revolted: Or 2. with the following words; it is Iſrael, in whom I will glorifie my ſelf by thee.

4 Then I ſaid l, I have laboured in vain, I have ſpent my ſtrength for nought m, and in vain; yet ſurely my judgment n is with the LORD, and ‖ my work with my God.

l By way of Objection. Lord, thou ſaieſt thou wilſt be glorified by my Miniſtry; but I find it otherwiſe. m Without any conſiderable Fruit of my Word and Works among the Iſraelites. n My right, the reward which by his Promiſe, and my Purchaſe is my right. Judgment is oft put for that which is juſt or right, as Exod. 23. 6. Job 8. 3. and in many other places. And ſo this Clauſe agrees with the next; and the Senſe of both is this: Though I ſee no fruit of my Labour among the Jews, and meet with nothing but contempt and reproach, and ill uſage from them; yet God ſees my fidelity and diligence in my Work, and he will give Judgment for me, and my reward is laid up with and by him, which he will give me in due time.

5 And now, ſaith the LORD that formed me from the womb to be his ſervant, to bring Jacob again to him o, Though Iſrael be ‖ not gathered p, yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the LORD q, and my God ſhall be my ſtrength r.

‖ Or, that Iſrael may be gathered to him, and I may, &c.

o To Convert the Wicked and Apoſtate Iſraelites unto God. p Not brought home to God by my Miniſtry. This Word implies, That the Iſraelites were divided and ſcattered from God, and divided among themſelves, as they were in a high degree when Chriſt came into the World, and Turned every one to his own way, as is ſaid, Iſa. 53. 6. and therefore needed to be gathered. Either it is a Metaphor from wandring Sheep, which the good Shepherd diligently ſeeketh, and bringeth home to the Fold: Or, it is an Alluſion to the ſtate of the Iſraelites, who either now were, or ſhortly were to be diſperſed into ſeveral parts of the World, from whence God had promiſed to gather them, and bring them into their own Land, and unto his Temple, Iſa. 43. 5, 6. and elſewhere. The Senſe is, Though Iſrael, God's own and only People, reject me, which will be an occaſion of great wonder and ſcandal. q God will not deſpiſe me for the unſucceſsfulneſs of my Labours, but will honour and glorifie me, both with himſelf and in the face of the World, in crowning my Indeavours with glorious Succeſs among other People. r To ſupport and ſtrengthen me under this, and all other diſcouragements and difficulties in the diſcharge of mine Office.

6 And he s ſaid, ‖ It is a light thing t that thou ſhouldeſt be my ſervant to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob u, and to reſtore the ‖ preſerved of Iſrael: I will alſo give thee for a * light to the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſalvation x unto the end of the earth.

s The Lord; expreſſed both in the foregoing and following verſes. t This is but a ſmall favour in compariſon of what follows. u That remnant of them which ſhall ſurvive all their calamities and deſolations. x I will make thy labour effectual for the illumination and converſion, and ſalvation of the Gentiles in all the parts of the World: Which cannot be ſaid of Iſaiah with any truth or colour, and therefore muſt be underſtood of Chriſt, by whom this was literally and fully accompliſhed. By my Salvation he means the great Inſtrument and Author of that Eternal Salvation which I will give to the Gentiles.

7 Thus ſaith the LORD the Redeemer of Iſrael, and his Holy One y, ‖ to him whom man diſpiſeth z, to him whom the nation obhorreth, to a ſervant of rulers: Kings a ſhall ſee and ariſe b, Princes alſo ſhall worſhip, becauſe of the LORD, that is faithful c, and the Holy one of Iſrael, and he ſhall chooſe thee d.

y The Holy One of Iſrael, as he is frequently called. z To Chriſt, to whom, as he was in the days of his Fleſh, this deſcription doth moſt truly and fully agree, being the ſame in effect with that, Iſa. 53. 3. for men, both Jews and Gentiles among whom he lived, did deſpiſe him from their very hearts and ſouls, as is here implied; and the whole Nation, of which he was a member, and among whom he converſed and preached, abhorred both his Perſon and his Doctrine; and he was ſo far from being a great temporal Monarch, as the Jews vainly imagined, that he came in the form of a Servant, and was a Servant of Rulers, profeſſing ſubjection and paying tribute unto Cæſar, Mat. 17. 24, 25. & 22. 21. and being treated by the Rulers both of the Jews, and the Romans, like a Servant, being deſpitefully uſed and Crucified, which was the proper Puniſhment of Servants. a Though for a time thou ſhalt be deſpiſed, yet after a while thou ſhalt be advanced to ſuch Royal Majeſty and Glory, that Kings ſhall look upon thee with admiration and reverence. b From their ſeats in token of reverence, as was uſual, Levit. 19. 32. Judg. 3. 10. Job 29. 8. or to worſhip thee, as the next clauſe explains it: ſhall ſee and ariſe may be put for when they ſee thee they ſhall ariſe to thee: which is a common Hebraiſm. c Becauſe God ſhall make good his promiſes to thee concerning the raiſing thee from the dead, and concerning the effuſion of his Spirit upon thy Diſciples, by whoſe aſſiſtance they ſhall preach moſt powerfully, and confirm their Doctrine by evident and glorious Miracles, and concerning the giving unto thee the Heathen for thine Inheritance. and the uttermoſt parts of the Earth for thy poſſeſſion, as he promiſed, Pſal. 2. 8. Theſe and ſuch like conſiderations were the great motives which prevailed with the Princes and People of the Gentiles to receive thee as the true Meſſiah and Saviour of the World. d And although thou ſhalt be rejected by thine own People, and refuſed by their Builders or Rulers, as was Propheſied, Pſal. 118. 22. and for a time, and in ſome reſpects forſaken by God himſelf, Mat. 27. 46. yet God will return to thee and chuſe thee again, and manifeſt unto the World, that thou , and thou only art the Perſon whom God hath choſen to be the Redeemer of Mankind, and whom, in ſpight of all oppoſition, he will make *the head-*ſtone of the Corner. For the Phraſe ſee on Iſa. 48. 10. But theſe words are well rendred by others, who will chuſe or hath choſen thee, the conjunction, and, being put for the pronoun relative, as Iſa. 44. 14. and in many other places, as hath been obſerved before.

8 Thus ſaith the LORD e, * In an acceptable time f have I heard thee g, and in a day of ſalvation h have I helped thee: and I will preſerve thee i, and give thee for a covenant k of the people l, ‖ to eſtabliſh the earth m, to cauſe to inherit the deſolate heritages n.

e God the Father unto Chriſt. f Heb. In a time of good will, in that time when I ſhall have, and in a ſpecial manner manifeſt my good will unto the Sons of men, in the day of my Grace, and of mans Salvation, as this Phraſe is explained in the next clauſe, in the time of the Goſpel, which is the time of God's good Will towards men, as the Hoſt of Heaven declared at the Birth of Chriſt, Luk. 2. 14. In the days of thy fleſh, when thou diſt offer up Prayers and Supplications with ſtrong crying and tears, unto him that was able to ſave thee from death, as we read, Heb. 5. 7. which text is a good comment upon this place. g Though not ſo as to deliver thee from death and from the ſenſe of my wrath, yet ſo as to keep thee from ſinking under theſe burdens, and ſo as thou ſhouldeſt not be holden under the Pains or Power of Death, Acts 2. 24. and ſo as to Crown thee with Glory and Honour, and a bleſſed ſucceſs of all thy labours and ſufferings. h In the time of grace and of the Goſpel, which I have appointed for the working out of mans Salvation by thee. i Upon earth till thy work be finiſhed, and unto that eternal Kingdom and Glory which is prepared for thee. k To be the Mediator and Surety of that Covenant, which is made between me and them; as Chriſt is called, Heb. 7. 22. and 8. 6. to renew and confirm the Covenant, which the Meſſiah is ſaid to do, Dan. 9. 27. by his own blood, by which God and men are reconciled and united one to the other. And therefore he may well be called the Covenant by a known Metonymy, which is very uſual in ſuch caſes, as upon the ſame account Circumciſion, the ſign of the Covenant, is called God's Covenant, Gen. 17. 10. and the Paſchal Lamb is called the Paſſover, Exod. 12. 11. and the Sacramental Cup is called the New Teſtament, Luk. 22. 20. and the Communion of the Blood of Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 16. l Indefinitely of all my People, not only Jews, but alſo the Gentiles, as may be gathered from the context, and by comparing this place with Iſa. 42. 6. Where the ſame Phraſe is uſed. From both which places it is moſt manifeſt, that the Meſſiah is deſigned, and not Iſaiah, to whom this and divers other Phraſes here uſed cannot be aſcribed without great force. m To copmoſe and ſettle the Earth and the Inhabitants thereof by making peace between God and men, and between Jews and Gentiles, and by eſtabliſhing Truth and Righteouſneſs and Holineſs upon Earth, and by ſubduing thoſe Luſts and Paſſions, which are the great diſturbers of Humane Society: which was the deſign of God in ſending, and of Chriſt in coming into the World. n That deſolate Places may be repaired and repoſſeſſed. That Chriſt may poſſeſs the Heathen, according to Pſal. 2. 8. who were in a ſpiritual ſenſe in a moſt deſolate and forlorn condition.

9 That thou mayeſt ſay o * to the priſoners p, Go forth q: to them that are in darkneſs, Shew your ſelves: they ſhall feed in the ways, and their paſtures ſhall be in all high places r.

o To wit, with power and effect, as when God ſaid, Let there be Light, &c. p To the Gentiles who are faſt bound by the cords of their ſins, and taken Captive by the Devil at his will, as this ſame Phraſe is underſtood, Iſa. 42. 7. q Come forth to the light, receive Divine illumination and conſolation. r They ſhall have abundant proviſion in all places, yea even in thoſe which commonly are barren and unfruitful, and ſuch are both common roads and high grounds.

10 They ſhall not * hunger nor thirſt, neither ſhall the heat nor Sun ſmite them s: for he that hath mercy on them ſhall lead them t, even by the ſprings of water ſhall he guide them.

s They ſhall be ſupplied with all good and neceſſary things, and kept from all evil occurrents. t God who hath magnified his mercy to them will conduct them with ſafety and comfort.

11 And I will make all my Mountains a way, and my high ways ſhall be exalted u.

u I will remove all hinderances, and prepare the way for them, by levelling high grounds, and raiſing low grounds: of which ſee on Iſa. 40. 3. 4.

12 Behold theſe ſhall come from far x: and lo, theſe from the North, and from the Weſt y, and theſe from the land of Sinim z.

x My People ſhall be called and gathered even from the moſt remote parts of the Earth. He ſpeaks here, and in many other places of the Converſion of the Gentiles with alluſion to that work of gathering, and bringing back the Jews from all parts where they were diſperſed, into their own Land. y From the ſeveral parts of the world; which are here ſynecdochically expreſſed, as they are in many other places. z Either of the Sinites as they are called, Gen. 10. 17. who dwelt about the Wilderneſs of Sin , which was Southward from Judea: Or, of Sin, a famous City of Egypt, called the ſtrength of Egypt, which may be ſynecdochically put for all Egypt, and that for all Southern parts. And ſo he here mentions the ſeveral quarters of the World, where the generality of the Jews were diſperſed; the North, which is every where named as the chief place of their baniſhment and diſperſion, as Jer. 16. 15. and 31. 8. and elſewhere; the Weſt, the weſtern Countries and Iſlands; and the South.

13 Sing, O Heavens, and be joyful, O Earth, and break forth into ſinging, O Mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his People a, and will have mercy upon his afflicted.

14 But Zion ſaid, The LORD hath forſaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me b.

b This is an objection againſt all theſe glorious predictions and promiſes hitherto mentioned. How can theſe things be true, when the condition of God's Church is now ſo ſad and deſperate, as it was when the Jews were Captives in Babylon, in which the Prophet here ſuppoſeth them to be?

15 Can a woman forget her ſucking child † that ſhe ſhould not have compaſſion on the Son of her womb? yea they may forget, yet will I not forget thee c.

c Earthly Parents ſometimes are ſo unnatural and monſtrous; but do not entertain ſuch unworthy thoughts of me. I will remember thee effectually, to bring thee out of Babylon, and which is infinitely greater, to ſend my Son into the world to work out eternal redemption for thee.

16 Behold I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands d: thy walls are continually before me e.

d Mine eye and heart is conſtantly upon thee. He alludes to the common practice of men who uſe to put ſigns and memorials upon their hands or fingers of ſuch things as they dearly affect, and would remember. See Exod. 13. 9. Deut. 6. 8. Prov. 6. 21. Cant. 8. 6, Jer. 22. 24. e My thoughts run continally upon the Walls of Jeruſalem, which are now broken down that I may repair them as ſoon as ever the ſet time cometh, and then proceed to do far greater things for thee.

17 Thy children f ſhall make haſt; thy deſtroyers, and they that made thee waſte, ſhall go forth of thee g.

f Or, as others render it, thy Builders; which is favoured by the next clauſe where the deſtroyers are oppoſed to them. Howſoever the ſence is the ſame, for her children were her Builders, as we read in Ezra and Nehemiah. g Shall be ſeparated and driven from among thee, and ſo ſhall neither hinder nor annoy thee.

18 * Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all theſe h gather themſelves together and come to thee i, as I live, ſaith the LORD, thou ſhalt ſurely cloath thee with them all, as with an ornament k, and bind them on thee as a bride doth.

h To wit, the Gentiles, as ſufficiently appeareth from what hath been already ſaid, and from that which followeth. The ſence is, Thy Church ſhall not only be reſtored and eſtabliſhed in Jeruſalem, but it ſhall be vaſtly enlarged and adorned by the acceſſion of the Gentiles to it. i To receive inſtruction from thee, and to be incorporated with thee into one and the ſame Church. k They ſhall not be a burden, as the Gentiles formerly were when they mixed themſelves with the Jews, but an Ornament in reſpect of thoſe excellent gifts and graces wherewith they ſhall enrich and honour thy Church.

19 For thy waſt and thy deſolate places l, and the Land of thy deſtruction m ſhall even now be too narrow by reaſon of the inhabitants, and they that ſwallowed thee up, ſhall be far away n.

l Thy own Land, which is now waſt and deſolate, and whereof divers parts lay formerly waſt and deſolate for want of People to poſſeſs and manage them. m Or rather, Thy Land of Deſtruction, ſo called becauſe it is devoted and ſhall be expoſed to deſtruction. n To wit, from thee.

20 The children which thou ſhalt have, after thou haſt loſt o the other, ſhall ſay again p in thine ears, the place is too ſtrait for me: give place to me that I may dwell.

o Heb. The Children of thine orbity or barren and Childleſs-ſtate. Thoſe Children which thou ſhalt have when thou art grown paſt the ordinary age and ſtate of Child-bearing, as Sarah was made the Mother of a moſt numerous Poſterity: to which he ſeems here to allude. Thoſe Gentiles which ſhall be begotten by thee, to wit, by the Miniſtry of thy Children, Chriſt and his Apoſtles, when thou ſhalt be deprived of thine own natural Children, when thou ſhalt become barren and unfruitful as to Converſion of natural Jews, when the generality of the Jews ſhall cut themſelves off from God and from his true Church, by their Apoſtacy from God; and by their unbelief, and obſtinate refuſal of their Meſſiah. p Or rather, ſhall yet ſay, though for the preſent it be otherwiſe.

21 Then ſhalt thou ſay q in thine heart, Who hath begotten me theſe r, ſeeing I have loſt my children s and am deſolate t, a captive, and removing to and fro u? and who hath brought up theſe x? Behold I was left alone; theſe, where had they been?

q Not without admiration. r Whence, or by whom have I this numberleſs Iſſue? s Seeing it is not long ſince that I was in a manner left childleſs. t Without an Husband, being forſaken by God, who formerly owned himſelf for my Husband, Iſa. 54. 5. Jer. 31. 32. and elſewhere. u Which condition is in many reſpects a great impediment to the procreation of Children. x The ſame thing repeated again to expreſs the miraculouſneſs of this work, and the great ſurpriſal of the Jews at it: which ſheweth that he ſpeaks of the Converſion of the Gentiles.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD, Behold I will lift up mine hand y to the Gentiles, and ſet up my ſtandard z to the people a: and they ſhall bring thy ſons b in their † arms c: and thy daughters ſhall be carried upon their ſhoulders d.

y I will call them to me, and command them to do this work, as men commonly ſignifie their calls and commands by this geſture. z As Generals do to gather their Forces together. See on Iſa. 11. 12. a Unto thee, or to thy Church and People. b Thoſe which ſhall be thine, if not by natural Generation, yet by adoption, that ſhall own God for their Father, and Jeruſalem for their Mother. c With great care and tenderneſs, as Nurſes carry young Infants. The ſence is, even the Heathen ſhall contribute to the increaſe and preſervation of thoſe Children which ſhall be begotten to thee. d As ſick or infirm perſons uſed to be carried. See Mark 2. 3. Luke 15. 5.

23 And Kings ſhall be thy † nurſing fathers, and their † queens thy nurſing mothers e: they ſhall bow down to thee with their face toward the earth, and * lick up the duſt of thy feet f, and thou ſhalt know that I am the LORD: for they ſhall not be aſhamed that wait for me g.

e Kings and Queens ſhall have a ſincere affection, and tender regard unto thee and thy Children, which was in ſome ſort fulfilled by Cyrus, Ahaſhuerus, and ſome few others of the Perſian Kings or Queens, but much more truly and fully by thoſe many Kings, and Emperours of the Gentile World, which after Chriſts time did both themſelves embrace the true Religion, and alſo ſet it up in their ſeveral Dominions. f They ſhall highly reverence and honour thee, and ſhall moſt humbly and readily ſubmit themſelves unto thee, which was not verified in any of the Perſian Kings, but only in theſe Kings who were converted to the Chriſtian Faith and Church. The expreſſions are borrowed from the practice of the Eaſtern People in their Proſtrations and Adorations, when they bowed ſo low as to touch and kiſs the ground, whereby they did or might ſeem to lick up the very duſt of the ground which was about or under the feet of thoſe whom they adored. g Their hopes and expectations ſhall not be diſappointed, but abundantly ſatisfied.

24 Shall the prey be taken from the mighty h, or † the lawful captive delivered i?

h Here he ſtarteth an objection againſt the forementioned promiſes: How can Gods Church be delivered when ſhe is become a prey to, and is in the hands of her moſt potent Enemies? i He who was taken Captive in a juſt War, as Gods People might in ſome ſort be ſaid to be, becauſe God himſelf had delivered them into their Enemies hands, and that juſtly for their ſins. So here is a double impediment to their deliverance out of their Corporal and Spiritual Bondage, the great Power of the Enemy which kept them in Bondage, and the Juſtice of God which pleads againſt them and againſt their deliverance.

25 But thus ſaith the LORD, Even the † captives of the mighty ſhall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible k ſhall be delivered: for I l will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will ſave thy children.

k Or, of the violent, which is oppoſed to the lawful Captive in the foregoing verſe: and it is hereby intimated that although God was juſt in delivering them into Captivity, yet their Oppreſſors were guilty of injuſtice and violence both in deſiring and indeavouring to keep them in perpetual Bondage, beyond the ſeventy years which God had fixed, and in their cruel uſage of them. l I the Almighty God will undertake thy quarrel, and this work, and therefore it muſt neceſſarily be accompliſhed.

26 And I will feed them that oppreſs thee, with their own fleſh m, and they ſhall be drunken with their own * blood, as with ‖ ſweet wine: and all fleſh ſhall know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob.

m I will make them eat their own Fleſh, either through hunger, as Lev. 26. 29. Iſa. 9. 20. or through rage and madneſs. Or, I will make thine Enemies to deſtroy one another, and that greedily and with delight, as the next clauſe implies. All their Enemies are here repreſented as one Body, and ſo when one part of them devoured another, it was their own fleſh that was deſtroyed.

CHAP. L.

The Dereliction of the Jews is not of Chriſt: for he hath Power to ſave, 1, — 4. And was obedient in that Work: and God is preſent with him, 5, — 9. An Exhortation not to truſt in our ſelves, but in God, 10, 11.

THus ſaith the LORD a, Where * is the bill of your mothers divorcement b, whom I have put away: or which of my * creditors is it to whom I have ſold you c? Behold, for your Iniquities have ye ſold your ſelves, and for your tranſgreſſions is your mother put away d.

a This is another Sermon begun here, and continued in the next Chapter. The main ſcope of it is to vindicate Gods Juſtice, and to convince the Jews that they were the cauſes of all their calamities which they imputed to God. b God had formerly eſpouſed the Iſraelites to himſelf in a kind of Matrimonial Covenant, but ſeemed to caſt them off when he ſent them to Babylon, and did wholly reject them afterward from being his People, and took the Gentiles into their ſtead; which great and wonderful change was foretold in the Old Teſtament, as hath been already obſerved, and we ſhall ſee again, and accompliſhed in the New. And becauſe God foreſaw that thoſe ſtrange diſpenſations would provoke the Jews to murmur and quarrel with God, for caſting them off without ſufficient cauſe, as indeed they were always prone to accuſe God, and to vindicate themſelves, he bids them produce their Bill of divorce: For thoſe Husbands which put away their Wives meerly out of Levity or Paſſion, were obliged to give their Wives a Bill of Divorce, which vindicated the Wives Innocency, and declared that the Husbands Will and Pleaſure was the cauſe of the Divorce; of which ſee the notes on Deut. 24. 1. Mat. 19. 3. c Have I any creditors to whom I was obliged or willing to ſell you for the payment of my Debt? Produce then the Bill of ſale to witneſs againſt me. Parents might, and in ſome caſes were forced to ſell their Children to their Creditors: of which ſee on Exod. 21. 7. and 2 Kings 4. 1. d You can blame none but your ſelves and your own ſins, for all your captivities and miſeries.

2 Wherefore e when I came f, was there no man g? when I called h, was there none to anſwer i? * Is my hand ſhortned at all, that it cannot redeem? Or have I no power to deliver k? Behold, * at my rebuke l, I * dry up m the ſea: I make the * rivers a wilderneſs n: their fiſh ſtinketh becauſe there is no water, and dieth for thirſt.

* Ex. 14. 21.

* Joſh. 3. 16.

e The general Accuſation delivered in the laſt words he now proveth by particular Inſtances. f When I, firſt by my Prophets, and at laſt by my Son, came unto them, to call them to Repentance, and to redeem and deliver them, as it is explained in the following clauſes of this verſe. g That regarded and received me, that complied with my Call and Offer of Grace, as it follows. Whereby he implies that the Generality of the Jews were guilty of groſs Infidelity, and obſtinate Diſobedience, and therefore might juſtly be rejected. h Called them to Repentance, or to come unto me, or to do my Will, as Maſters call their Servants. i To come at my Call, to obey my Commands. k What is the reaſon of this horrible contempt and Rebellion? Is it becauſe you expect no good from me, but think that I am either unwilling or unable to ſave you? Becauſe you ſee no Miracles wrought for you to ſave you from the Babylonians; and becauſe my Son, your Meſſiah, cometh not with Pomp and Power, as you expect, but in the form of a Servant, poor, and expoſed to contempt and death; do you therefore believe that my power to deliver you is leſs than it was? l This Phraſe is borrowed from Pſalm 106. 9. and it is uſed Mat. 8. 26. At my Word or Command, whereby I rebuke and check its proud waves. m Heb. I will dry up, or, I can dry up; the future Verb being put potentially. As I did it once, ſo I can and will do it again, when occaſion requires it. n As dry and fit for travel as a Wilderneſs.

3 I cloath the Heavens with blackneſs o, and I make ſackcloth their covering p.

o Or, I will or can cloath, &c. What I once did in Egypt, when I drew black curtains before all the heavenly Lights, and cauſed an unparallel'd and amazing Darkneſs for three days together, to the great terrour of mine Enemies, ſo I can and will do ſtill when it is neceſſary to ſave my People. And therefore you have no reaſon to diſtruſt me. p I cover them with thick and dark Clouds black as Sackcloath, as is ſaid, Rev. 6. 12. or as that ſtuff of which the Tents of Kedar were made, Cant. 1. 5. From this and ſome other Expreſſions it appears, that they wore a black ſackcloath, which alſo was moſt ſuitable to the ſtate of mourners, by whom it was uſed.

4 The LORD GOD hath given me q the tongue of the learned r, that I ſhould know how to ſpeak a word * Mat. 11. 28. in ſeaſon to him that is * weary ſ: he wakeneth k morning by morning t, he wakeneth mine ear to hear u as the learned x.

q God having aſſerted his own power, to ſhew the groundleſneſs of the Infidelity of the Jews, he proceeds to ſhew what excellent and effectual means he uſed to bring them to Repentance and Salvation; which he mentions as a great aggravation of their Unbelief and Rebellion, which by this means was without all excuſe. This and the following paſſages may be in ſome ſort underſtood of the Prophet Iſaiah, though but obſcurely and imperfectly, but they are far more evidently and eminently verified in Chriſt, and indeed ſeem to be meant directly of him. For ſeeing there are many other paſſages in this Prophecy, which are directly meant of Chriſt, and of his Miniſtry, and not at all of the Prophet, why may not this be added to the number of them? eſpecially conſidering that there is nothing here which forceth us to underſtand this place of Iſaiah, and ſeveral of theſe paſſages are expounded of Chriſt in the New Teſtament, as is confeſſed. Beſides, this ſeems to ſuit beſt with the coherence: For according to this Expoſition the ſame perſon ſpeaketh here who hath ſpoken in all the foregoing Verſes of the Chapter, even the Lord himſelf conſidered as Man, becauſe he was both God and Man, as is abundantly evident from many Scriptures, both of the old and new Teſtament, as hath been already proved, and will hereafter be more fully evinced. r An ability of ſpeaking plainly, and convincingly, and perſuadingly, and in all points ſo as becometh a perſon taught of God, and filled with all Divine and Heavenly Wiſdom and Knowledge, and with a ſingular skill of winning Souls, and of working upon Mens Hearts and Conſciences. ſ Burdened with the ſenſe of his ſad and deplorable condition, in which caſe a word of comfort is moſt ſeaſonable and acceptable. This was the proper and principal deſign of Chriſts Miniſtry, to give Reſt and Comfort to diſtreſſed Souls, according to what is ſaid, with reſpect to this place, Mat. 11. 28. And all the Doctrines, Reproofs, and Threatnings of Chriſt were directed to this end, to make men fit for Comfort and Salvation. k To wit, me, the Pronoun being oft underſtood: or, as it follows, mine ear. t From time to time, and continually. u Becauſe humane Nature is of it ſelf weak and ſloathful, he by his Divine Power aſſiſteth and ſtirreth me up to the obſervation and practice of all his Commands and my Duties. x Either, 1. As learned Men or Teachers uſe to awaken their Scholars to hear, and learn of them from time to time: Or rather, 2. As thoſe that are or deſire and endeavour to be learned, uſe to hear with all poſſible attention and diligence: For this title of learned is in the former part of the verſe given not to the Teacher, who is ſaid to be God, but to the perſon taught by him.

5 The LORD GOD hath opened mine ear y, and I * Joh. 14. 31. Phil. 2. 8. Heb. 10. 5, &c. was not * rebellious z, neither turned away back a.

y Hath revealed unto me: Or rather, hath given me a power and Will to hear and receive his commands, as this Phraſe is uſed, Pſalm 40. 6. Iſa. 35. 5. and elſewhere. z I readily did and ſuffered what he required of me. a The ſame thing repeated in other words. I did not turn away mine Ear from hearing any of Gods Commands, nor my feet from going where God ſent me, how difficult or dangerous ſoever my employment was. He ſeems to allude to the former Prophets who had, divers of them, ſhrunk back, and for a time refuſed ſuch work as God called them to, as Moſes, Exod. 3. 11, 13. Jonah, ch. 1. 3. and others.

* Mat. 26. 67. [illegible] & 27. 26. * Lam. 3. 30. 6 * I gave my back to the ſmiters b, and * my cheeks to them that plucked off the hair c: I hid not my face from ſhame d and ſpitting e.

b I patiently yielded up my ſelf, and turned my back to thoſe who ſmote me. I was willing not only to do, but to ſuffer the Will of God, and the Injuries of men. This and the following paſſages were litterally fulfilled in Chriſt, as is expreſly affirmed, Mat. 26. 57, 67. and 27. 26, 30. and elſewhere; but we read of no ſuch thing concerning Iſaiah. And therefore it is moſt ſafe and reaſonable to underſtand it of Chriſt; the rather becauſe it is not uſual with the Prophets to commend themſelves ſo highly, as the Prophet here commends the perſon of whom he ſpeaketh. c Which was a contumely or puniſhment inflicted upon Malefactors, Neh. 13. 25. d From all manner of reproachful uſages, but did knowingly and willingly ſubmit my ſelf thereunto. e Spitting in a mans Face was uſed in token of contempt and deteſtation, Numb. 12. 14. Job 30. 10. And this was litterally fulfilled in Chriſt, Mat. 26. 67.

7 For f the LORD GOD will help me g, therefore ſhall I not be confounded h: therefore have I ſet my face like a flint i, and I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed.

f Or rather, But, as this particle is oft rendred. For Gods favour is here oppoſed to the injuries of Men. g Though as a man I am weak and inconſiderable, yet God will ſtrengthen me to go through my great and hard work. h Therefore I aſſure my ſelf of ſucceſs in my employment, and of victory over all mine Enemies. i I have hardened my ſelf with reſolution and courage againſt all oppoſition. So this or the like Phraſe is uſed, Ezek. 3. 8, 9. which elſewhere ſignifies obſtinacy and impudence, as Jer. 5. 3. Zech. 7. 12. ſo that it notes any ſettled and unmoveable purpoſe, whether good or evil.

8 * He is near k that juſtifieth me l, who will contend with me? let us ſtand together: who is † mine adverſary? let him come near to me m. * Rom. 8. 32, 33. † Heb. th maſter of m cauſe, or ſuit.

k God, though he ſeem to be at a diſtance, and to hide his face from me, yet he is in truth at my right hand, and ready to help me. l That will publickly acquit me from all the calumnies of mine adverſaries, who ſay that I am a tranſgreſſor of the Law, a falſe Teacher and Deceiver, a Blaſphemer, and a Devil, and the like, in which opinion they are confirmed by my Death and Sufferings. But God will clear up my Righteouſneſs, and ſhew by many and mighty ſigns and wonders, that he is well pleaſed with me and that I lived and died his faithful Servant. m I challenge all my Accuſers to ſtand and appear before the Judge Face to Face, and to produce all their charges againſt me: for I am conſcious of mine own Innocency, and I know that God will give ſentence for me.

9 Behold, the LORD GOD will help me, who is he that ſhall condemn me n? Lo, they all o ſhall wax old as a garment: the * moth ſhall eat them up p. *Ch. 51.

n That dare attempt it, or can juſtly do it. o Mine Accuſers and Enemies. p Shall pine away in their iniquity, as God threatned, Lev. 26. 39. ſhall be cut off and conſumed by a ſecret curſe and Judgment of God, which is compared to a Moth, Hoſ. 5. 12. whileſt I ſhall ſurvive and flouriſh, and the pleaſure of God ſhall proſper in my hands, as is ſaid, Iſa. 53. 10.

10 Who is among you that feareth the LORD q, that obeyeth the voice of his ſervant r, that walketh in * darkneſs ſ, and hath no light t? let him truſt in the name of the LORD, and ſtay upon his God u. * Ch. 10. & 9, 10.

q He now turneth his Speech from the unbelieving and rebellious Jews to thoſe of them who were or ſhould be pious. r Of the ſame perſon of whom he hath hitherto ſpoken, of Chriſt, who is called Gods Servant, Iſa. 52. 13. and 53. 11. partly by way of eminency, and partly to intimaae that although he was God, yet he ſhould take upon himſelf the form of a Servant, as is ſaid, Phil. 2. 7. He hereby ſignifies that the Grace of God, and the comfort here following belongeth to none but to thoſe that hear and believe this great Prophet of the Church; which alſo was declared by Moſes, Deut. 18. 15. compared with Acts 3. 22, 23. ſ Not in ſin, which is oft called, darkneſs, as walking in darkneſs is put for living in wickedneſs, 1 John 1. 6. but in miſery, which alſo frequently cometh under the name of darkneſs: that liveth in a moſt diſconſolate and calamitous condition, together with great deſpondency or dejection of Spirit. t No comfort nor hope left. u Let him fix his Faith and Hope in the Name, i. e. in the moſt excellent and amiable nature, and infinite perfections, and eſpecially in the free Grace, and Mercy, and Faithfulneſs, of the Lord, declared in his word, and in his propriety or intereſt in God, who by the mediation of this Servant is reconciled to him and made his God.

11 Behold, all ye that kindle a fire x, that compaſs your ſelves about y with ſparks z: walk in the light of your fire, * and in the ſparks that ye have kindled a. This ſhall ye have of mine hand, ye ſhall lie down in ſorrow b. * Joh. 9. 3

x That you may enjoy the light and comfort of it, as it is explained in the following words. You that reject the light which God hath ſet up, and refuſe the counſel of his Servant, and ſeek for Comfort, and Safety, and the Knowledge of Gods Mind, and the enjoyment of his favour by your own inventions; which was the common errour of the Jews in all Ages, and eſpecially in the days of the Meſſiah, when they refuſed him and that way of Righteouſneſs and Salvation which he appointed, and reſted upon their own Traditions and devices, going about to eſtabliſh their own Righteouſneſs, and not ſubmitting unto the Righteouſneſs of God, as is expreſſed, Rom. 10. 3. y Indeavouring to warm and refreſh your ſelves on all ſides. z Or rather, with Firebrands, as this very word is fitly rendred, Prov. 26. 18. which is better than ſparks or flames, which is there put in the margent, becauſe firebrands only, and not ſparks or flames, are capable of being thrown by one man at another. And this word is no where elſe uſed in Scripture. He mentions fire-brands, either to imply that theſe fires yielded more ſmoak than heat or light: or becauſe theſe were the uſual materials of a fire. a Uſe your utmoſt endeavours to get comfort and ſatiſfaction from theſe devices. b This ſhall be the fruit of all, through my juſt Judgment, that inſtead of that comfort and ſecurity which you expect by theſe means, you ſhall receive nothing but vexation and miſery, which ſhall purſue you both living and dying: for this word, which is here rendred lie down, is frequently uſed for dying, as Gen. 47. 30. Job 21. 26. and elſewhere. Or it is a metaphor from a man that lying down on his Bed for reſt and eaſe, meets with nothing but trouble and pain, as Job complain'd, Chap. 7. 13, 14.

a Now he turneth his Speech again to the believing and godly Jews. b That make it your chief care and buſineſs to ſeek favour and help from God. c Conſider the ſtate of Abraham and Sarah, when they procreated Iſaac, from whom Jacob and all of you ſprang: For ſo he explains the Metaphor in the next verſe. He compareth the Bodies of Abraham and Sarah unto a Rock, or Pit, or Quarry out of which ſtones are hewed or digged, thereby implying that God in ſome ſort actually did that which Chriſt ſaid he was able to do, Mat. 3. 9. even of ſtones to raiſeup Children unto Abraham; it being then as impoſſible by the courſe of nature for Abraham and Sarah in that age to procreate a Child, as it is to hew a living Child out of a Rock, or to dig one out of a Pit of Stone.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and unto Sarah that bare you; for I called him d alone e, and bleſſed him, and encreaſed him f.

d From his own Country and kindred to follow me to an unknown Land, where I promiſed that I would multiply and bleſs him, as is particularly explained, Gen. 12. 1, 2, 3. e Heb. one, either 1. Him only of all his kindred; for though he carried ſome few of them with him, yet I called none but him. So this notes God's ſingular favour to their Progenitors above all the reſt of the World. Or, 2. Him when he was alone or ſolitary, to wit, as to any Iſſue; when he neither had nor was likely to have any Child by Sarah. And this word alone, ſeems to belong not only to this word wherewith it is joined, but alſo unto the two following words, eſpecially if we conſider the order of the words in the Hebrew Text, where they lie thus; for, one (or alone, or when he was alone, or but one) I called him, and bleſſed him, and encreaſed him. f Into a vaſt multitude, when his condition was deſperate in the eye of reaſon. And therefore God can as eaſily raiſe and deliver his Church when they are in the moſt forlorn condition, and ſeem to be dead, and buried, and conſumed, ſo that nothing but dry bones remain of them, as it is declared at large, Ezek. 37.

3 For g the LORD ſhall comfort Zion h: he will comfort all her waſt places, and he will make her wilderneſs like Eden,and her deſart like the garden of the LORD i: joy and gladneſs ſhall be found therein, thankſgivinng and the voice of melody.

g So this comes in as a reaſon why they ſhould look unto, or conſider that famous example of Abraham and Sarah, becauſe they ſhould find the like wonder wrought on their behalf. Or, Therefore, or for the ſake of Abraham, my Friend, and of that Covenant which I made with him, and by which I promiſed to bleſs him and his ſeed for ever. h His Church, which is frequently called by that name both in the Old and New Teſtament. i Although ſhe ſhall be waſt and deſolate like a Wilderneſs or Deſart for a time, yet ſhe ſhall be reſtored, and be made as pleaſant and flouriſhing as the Garden of Eden was.

4 Hearken unto me, my people k, and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law l ſhall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to reſt m for a light of the people n.

k Seeing the Gentiles will hearken to me, as I have formerly told you, take heed that you Jews, whom I choſe to be my peculiar people, do not reject my counſel, nor forſake your own mercies, as I fear you will do. l A new Law, even the Doctrine of the Goſpel, which ought to have the force of a Law with you, and I expect your Obedience to it,no leſs than to my Law delivered by Moſes. m Judgment is here the ſame thing with Law in the former clauſe, the word of God, which is frequently called Judgment, as hath been obſerved again and again, or the Evangelical Doctrine, of which he ſaith that he will make it to reſt, i.e. ſettle and eſtabliſh it: whereby he may poſſibly intimate the ſtability and perpetuity of this light in the Church, that it ſhall not be like the light of the Moſaical Diſpenſation which was only to ſhine for a ſeaſon, even until the time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. when all thoſe dark ſhadows were to vaniſh and give place to the Sun of Righteouſneſs, and to that Kingdom and State that ſhould never be moved, as we read, Dan. 2. 44. Heb. 12. 26, 27, 28. and in many other places. n Heb. of or to the Peoples, not only to you Jews, but unto People of all ſorts and Nations, who ſhall receive and walk in that light which you will reject, and uſe all poſſible endeavours to extinguiſh.

5 My righteouſneſs o is near: my ſalvation is gone forth p, and mine arms ſhall judge the people q: the iſles r ſhall wait upon me s, and on mine arm ſhall they truſt.

o My Salvation, as it is expounded in the next clauſe, the Redemption of all my people, both Jews and Gentiles, which is the effect of his Righteouſneſs, either his Juſtice, or his Faithfulneſs, or his Mercy and Goodneſs, for all theſe are called by the name of Righteouſneſs in Scripture, and all theſe contributed to the work of Man's Redemption. p Shall ſhortly go forth: my ſecret and eternal purpoſe of ſaving my People ſhall ſpeedily be fulfilled. q Either 1. Shall deſtroy thoſe People who obſtruct or oppoſe this work. Or rather, 2 Shall ſubdue the Gentiles to mine Authority, and rule them by my Word and Spirit, which agrees beſt with the following clauſe. r The remote Countries of the Gentiles, as Iſa. 41. 1. & 42. 4. and elſewhere. s Shall confidently expect and hope for this promiſed Righteouſneſs and Salvation from me, and from me only, and not from Idols, as they have done, nor by any other way.

6 Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for * the Heavens ſhall vaniſh away like ſmoak, and the earth ſhall wax old like a Garment t, and they that dwell therein ſhall die ‖ in like manner u, but my ſalvation ſhall be for ever, and my righteouſneſs ſhall not be aboliſhed.
* Pſalm 102. 26. Mat. 24. 35.

t The Heavens and Earth ſhall paſs away, either 1 Simply, and by a ſubſtantial corruption or annihilation, which is yet to be underſtood comparatively or conditionally, that theſe ſhould ſooner vaniſh into nothing, than God's promiſe of Salvation ſhould not be accompliſhed: as when it is ſaid, Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, but my words ſhall not paſs away, Mat. 24, 35. It is thus expounded, It is eaſier for Heaven and Earth to paſs, than (for) one tittle of the Law to fail. Or 2. In regard of their preſent State and Properties, and Uſe, as Smoak is here ſaid to vaniſh, although the ſubſtance of it be not deſtroyed. u As they ſhall be diſſolved, as we read, 2 Pet. 3. 11. and death is nothing elſe but a diſſolution.

7 Hearken unto me, ye that know x righteouſneſs, the people * in whoſe heart is my law y, * fear ye not the reproach of men z, neither be ye afraid of their revilings.

x That love and practiſe it, as knowing is commonly uſed. y Who are tacitly oppoſed to the carnal Jews that had the Law written only in Tables. Compare 2 Cor. 3. 3. Heb. 8. 10. z The cenſures of the carnal Jews, who will load their believing and godly Brethren with a world of Reproaches: but let not theſe things diſcourage you.

8 For * the moth ſhall eat them up a like a garment, and the worm ſhall eat them like wool b: but my Righteouſneſs ſhall be for ever, and my ſalvation from generation to generation.
* Ch. 50. 9.

a Your Reproachers ſhall be eaſily deſtroyed, and ſo God will revenge your cauſe upon them, and deliver you from their Reproaches. b Like a woollen Garment, which is ſooner corrupted by Moths or ſuch Creatures than linnen.

9 Awake, awake c, put on ſtrength d, O arm of the LORD; awake, as in the ancient days, in the generations of old. Art thou not it that hath cut e Rahab f, and wounded the * dragon g?
Pſ.* 74. 13, 14. Ezek. 29. 3. Chap. 27. 1.

c Thou who haſt carried thy ſelf like one aſleep, and unconcerned for thy People, and unable to ſave them. The Prophet having foretold what Great things God would do for his Church, and longing for the accompliſhment of them, and knowing that Prayer was one means by which God fulfills his Promiſes, he poureth forth this Prayer to God in his own name, and in the name of God's People. d Cloath and adorn thy ſelf with mighty works; put forth thy ſtrength. e Heb. hewed with thy Sword. f Egypt, ſo called here, and Pſal. 87. 4. & 89. 10. either from its Pride or ſtrength, or from the ſhape and figure of that Land. g Pharaoh, ſo called, Pſal. 74. 13. Ezek. 29. 3. & 32. 2.

10 Art thou not it which hath * dried the ſea h, the waters of the great deep? that hath made the depths of the ſea a way for the ranſomed i to paſs over?

h Art not thou the ſame God, and as potent now as then thou waſt. i For thy people whom thou didſt redeem and bring out of Egypt.

11 Therefore k * the redeemed of the Lord ſhall return,and come with ſinging unto Zion, and everlaſting joy ſhall be * upon their head l: they ſhall obtain gladneſs and joy, and ſorrow and mourning ſhall flee away.
Ch.* 35. 10.
* Pſ. 7. 16.

k Or, So. Heb. And. This verſe contains an anſwer to the Prophet's Prayer. It is true, I did theſe great things, and I will do the like again. l Like a Crown of Glory. But for the accompliſhment of this magnificent Promiſe we muſt needs look beyond their return from Babylon into their own Land, when they met with many diſcouragements, and troubles, and calamities, and extend it unto the coming of Chriſt, by whom theſe great things were procured, and actually conferred upon his People.

12 I, even I am he that comforteth you: who art thou m, that thou ſhouldeſt be afraid * of a man that ſhall die, and of the ſon of man which ſhall be made * as graſs n?
* Pſalm 118. 6.

m How unreaſonable and diſtruſtful art thou, O my Church! how unlike to thy ſelf! how unſuitable in theſe deſpondencies unto thy own profeſſions and obligations! n Of a weak Mortal and periſhing Creature.

13 And forgetteſt the LORD thy maker o, that hath * ſtretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth? and haſt feared continually every day, becauſe of the fury of the oppreſſor, as if he ‖ were ready to deſtroy p? and where is the fury of the oppreſſour q?
* Job 9. 8. Pſ. 104. 2. Ch. 40. 22. & 42. 5. & 44. 24.

o And doſt not conſider the infinite power of that God who made thee, and who will plead thy cauſe. p As if it were in his power to deſtroy thee in a moment. q What is become of the power & rage of the Babylonians? Is it not all gone? Are not they broken, and thou delivered? He ſpeaks of the thing as if it were already done, becauſe it ſhould certainly and ſuddenly be done. Where is it? It is no where, it is quite loſt and gone, as this Phraſe is frrquently uſed, as Pſal. 42. 3. Zech. 1. 5. 1 Cor. 15. 55.

14 The captive exile haſteneth that he may be looſed [r], and that he ſhould not die in the pit, nor that his bread ſhould fail.

[r] God is not ſlack, as you think, but maketh haſte to fulfil his promiſe, and to reſcue his captive and oppreſſed People from all their oppreſſions and miſeries.

* Job 26.12 *Jer.*31.35.

15 But I am the LORD thy God || that * divideth the ſea, whoſe waves roared: the LORD of hoſts is his name.

Deut.* 18. 18. Ch. 49. 2, 3.
* Pſ. 11. 3. & 60. 2. & 75. 3.

16 And I have put my words * in thy mouth [s], and have covered thee in the ſhadow of mine hand [t], that I may plant the heavens, and * lay the foundations of the earth [u], and ſay unto Zion, Thou art my people [x].

[s] Theſe great and glorious Promiſes which are in thy mouth, are not the vain words of Man, a weak and unconſtant, and unfaithful Creature, but the words of the Almighty, unchangeable, and faithful God, and therefore they ſhall be infallibly accompliſhed. Theſe words are manifeſtly ſpoken by God, either 1. To Iſaiah, by whom theſe promiſes were delivered: Or 2. To Chriſt, of whom, and to whom many things are ſaid in this Prophecy, as we have already ſeen, and will further appear. And ſuch abrupt and ſudden Apoſtrophe's to perſons not mentioned in the foregoing words are not unuſual in this Prophecy, as hath been obſerved. Or rather 3, To Iſrael, to God's Church and People, to whom he ſpeaks both in the foregoing and following verſes. For God's Word is frequently ſaid to be put into the mouths, not only of the Prophets, but of the People alſo, as Iſa. 59. 21. as alſo Deut. 30. 14. Joſ. 1. 8. &c. [t] Have protected thee by my almighty power. See the ſame Phraſe, Iſa. 49. 2. [u] I have given thee theſe Promiſes, and this protection in all thy calamities, to aſſure thee of my care and kindneſs to thee, and that I will reform thee in a moſt glorious manner, and bring thee unto that perfect and bleſſed eſtate which is reſerved for the days of the Meſſiah, which in Scripture Phraſe is called a making of new Heavens, and a new Earth, Iſa. 65. 17, and 66. 22. 2 Pet. 3. 13. and elſewhere. [x] That I may own thee for my People, in a more illuſtrious manner than ever I have done.

* Pſ. 75. 8.
* Zech. 12. 2.

17 * Awake [y], awake, ſtand up [z], O Jeruſalem, which haſt drunk at the hand of the LORD the cup of his fury [a]; thou haſt * drunken the dregs of the * cup of trembling [b], and || wrung them out [c].

[y] Either 1. Out of the ſleep of ſecurity. Or 2. Out of the ſleep of death. Heb. Rouze up thy ſelf: come out of that forlorn and diſconſolate condition in which thou haſt ſo long been. This ſenſe ſuits beſt with the following words. [z] Upon thy feet, O thou who haſt fallen, and been thrown down to the ground. [a] Which haſt been ſorely afflicted; for ſo this Metaphor is uſed, Pſal. 75. 8. Jer. 25. 15 &c. and 49. 12. [b] Which ſtriketh him that drinketh it with a deadly horrour. [b] Drunk every drop of it. See on Pſal. 75. 8.

18 There is none to guide her among all the ſons whom ſhe hath brought forth: neither is there any that taketh her by the hand, of all the ſons that ſhe hath brought up [d].

[d] When thou waſt drunk with this Cup, and not able to go, neither thy Princes, nor Prophets, nor Prieſts, were able or willing to lead and ſupport thee.

19 * Theſe two things [e] † are come unto thee: who ſhall be ſorry for thee? deſolation, and † deſtruction, and the famine, and the ſword: by whom ſhall I comfort thee [f]?

[e] Either 1. Thoſe which were now mentioned, 1. That ſhe was drunk with the cup of God's wrath, v. 17. 2. That ſhe had none to ſupport or comfort her in that condition. Or 2. Thoſe which here follow, which although they be expreſſed in 4 words, yet they may fitly be reduced to two things, the deſolation or devaſtation of the Land, and the deſtruction of the People, by Famine and Sword. So Famine and Sword are not named as new evils, but only as the particular ways or means of bringing the deſtruction there mentioned, and the words may be thus rendred, deſolation and deſtruction, even (this Hebrew particle being oft taken expoſitively, whereof many inſtances have been given) famine (or, by famine) and ſword. Or, two may be put indefinitely for many, as double is put for abundantly more, Job 11. 6. Iſa. 40. 2. & 61. 7. Zech. 9. 12. and elſewhere. [f] I cannot find any man who is able to comfort and relieve thee.

20 * Thy ſons have fainted [g]; they lie [h] at the head of all the ſtreets [i]; as a wild bull in a net [k]: they are full of the fury of the LORD, the rebuke of thy God.

[g] They are ſo far from being able to comfort thee, as was ſaid, v. 18. that they themſelves faint away for want of comfort, and through Famine. [h] Dead by Famine or the Sword of the Enemy. [i] Where men enter in or go out of the ſtreets, where the Enemy found them either oppoſing their entrance, or running out of them to make an eſcape. [k] Thoſe of them who are not ſlain are ſtruggling for Life, and although they murmur at God, and fight with men, yet they cannot prevail or eſcape.

21 Therefore hear now this, thou afflicted, and * drunken, but not with wine [l].

22 Thus ſaith thy Lord, the LORD, and thy God that pleadeth the cauſe of his people [m], Behold, I have taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, even the dregs of the cup of my fury: thou ſhalt no more drink it again.

[m] Who though he hath fought againſt thee, is now reconciled to thee, and will maintain thy cauſe againſt all thine adverſaries.

* Jer. 25. 26, 29.

23 But * I will put it into the hand of them that afflict thee: which * have ſaid to thy ſoul, bow down that we may go over [n]: and thou haſt laid thy body as the ground, and as the ſtreet to them that went over.

[n] Lie down upon the ground, that we may trample upon thee, as Conquerours uſed to do upon their Conquered Enemies. See Joſ. 10. 24. Pſal. 110. 1.

CHAP. LII.

The Church redeemed and called upon to rejoice therein. 1,—6. The Univerſal Preaching of the Goſpel glorious. 7,—10. A Call to free our ſelves from bondage. 11,—12. Chriſt's Kingdom ſhall be exalted, 13,—15.

* Ch. 51. 17.

* AWake, awake, put on thy ſtrength [a], O Zion, put on thy beautiful garments [b], O Jeruſalem, the holy city [c]: for henceforth there ſhall no more come into thee [d] the uncircumciſed [e], and the unclean [f].

[a] God biddeth his Church do that which ſhe intreated him to do, ch. 51. 9. And becauſe God's word is operative, and effectual, and his ſayings are doings, this is a prediction and promiſe what ſhe ſhould do, that ſhe ſhould awake or ariſe out of her low eſtate, and be ſtrong and courageous. [b] Thy ſorrows ſhall be ended, and thou ſhalt be advanced into a moſt glorious and bleſſed condition. [c] O my Church, which is every where called by the name of Zion or Jeruſalem. [d] Either to moleſt thee, or to aſſociate themſelves with thee, or to defile or corrupt thee. [e] Heathens or Infidels, who are commonly called uncircumciſed. [f] Nor any others, who though they be circumciſed, as the Jews generally were, are unclean in any thing. Whereby he intimates, that there ſhould be a greater purity and Reformation in the Church than formerly there had been, which was eminently accompliſhed in the Church and Kingdom of Chriſt.

2 Shake thy ſelf from the duſt [g]: ariſe, and ſit down [h], O Jeruſalem: looſe thy ſelf from the bands of thy neck [i], O captive daughter of Zion.

[g] In which thou haſt lain as a Priſoner, or ſate as a mourner. [h] Upon thy Throne. Or, ſit up, as this word is rendred, Gen. 27. 19. [i] The yoke of thy captivity ſhall be taken off from thee. It is a Metaphor from Beaſts that have the yoke faſtened by bands to their necks.

* Pſ. 44. 12. Ch. 45. 13. Jer. 15. 13.

3 For thus ſaith the LORD, * Ye have ſold your ſelves [k] for nought [l], and ye ſhall be redeemed without money [m].

[k] By your ſins, into the hands of the Chaldeans. [l] Without any price or valuable conſideration paid by them either to you, or to me your Lord and owner. [m] Without paying any ranſom.

* Gen. 41. 6.
* Jer. 50. 17.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord GOD, My people went down aforetime into * Egypt to ſojourn there [n], and [o] * the Aſſyrian [p] oppreſſed them without cauſe [q].

[n] Where they had protection and ſuſtenance, and therefore owed ſubjection to the King of Egypt. And yet when he opreſſed them I puniſhed him ſeverely, and delivered them out of his hands. Which is eaſily underſtood from the following words. [o] Or, but; for here is an oppoſition made between theſe two caſes. [p] The King of Babylon, who is called the King of Aſſyria, 2 Kin. 23. 29. compared with ch. 24. 7. as alſo the Perſian Emperour is called, Ezra 6. 22. becauſe it was one and the ſame Empire which was poſſeſſed, firſt by the Aſſyrians, then by the Babylonians, and afterwards by the Perſians. [q] Without any ſuch ground or colour, by meer force invading their Land, and carrying them away into captivity. For although it be ſaid that God gave this Land and People into his hand, 2 Chr. 36. 17. by his Counſel and Providence, yet that was neither known to, nor regarded by the King of Babylon, nor was it a good and lawful Title, God's Word, and not his Providence, being the Rule by which Mens rights are determined; otherwiſe a Robber hath a right to my purſe, which he cannot take from me upon the high-way without God's Providence.

5 Now therefore, what have I here [r], ſaith the LORD, that my people is taken away [s] for nought [t]? they that rule over them [u], make them to howl [x] ſaith the LORD, and my name continually every day is * blaſphemed [y].

[r] Heb. What to me here? The ſenſe is either 1. What do I here? Why do I ſit ſtill here, and not go to Babylon to puniſh the Babylonians, and to deliver my People? Or 2. What honour have I by ſuffering this injury to be done to my People? [s] Were carried away Captive by the Babylonians. [t] Without any provocation or pretence of right. See before on v. 3. [u] Who by their Office are obliged to deal juſtly and tenderly with their ſubjects. [x] By their tyrannical and unmerciful uſage of them. [y] Inſtead of that praiſe and ſervice which the Babylonians owe me for all their ſucceſſes and Conqueſts, they blaſpheme me as if I wanted either power or good will to ſave my People out of their hands.

6 Therefore my People ſhall know my name [z]:

therefore they ſhall know a in that day b, that I am he that doth ſpeak, behold, it is I c.

z They ſhall have ſenſible Experience of my infinite power and goodneſs in fighting for them and againſt you: whereby they ſhall be able to put your blaſphemous tongues to ſilence. a Which word is underſtood from the foregoing clauſe, as is very frequent in Scripture. b When I ſhall redeem my People: which work was begun by the return of the Jews from Babylon, and afterwards carried on, and at laſt perfected by the coming of the Meſſiah. c That all theſe promiſes are not the words of a weak, or fickle, or deceitful man, but of him who is the Omnipotent, and Unchangeable, and Covenant-keeping God. Or thus, That I who have formerly ſpoken to you by my ſervants the Prophets, (for it was the Spirit of Chriſt which was and ſpake in them, 1 Pet. 1. 11.) do now ſpeak to you in my own perſon, being cloathed with fleſh. Which agrees well, as with the Analogy of Faith, and with divers other Scriptures, ſo particularly with the next verſe, and with divers following paſſages, which ſo evidently ſpeak of the perſon and Kingdom of Chriſt, that they cannot without great force be underſtood of any other.

* Nahum 1.15. Rom. 10. 15. 7 * How beautiful d upon the mountains e are the feet f of him g that bringeth good tidings, that publiſheth peace, that bringeth good tidings of good, that publiſheth ſalvation h, that ſaith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth i.

d Theſe are words of rejoicing and admiration. They are exceeding precious and acceptable. e Of Zion, and Moriah, which are ſometimes mentioned as one Mountain, and ſometimes as two. Or, in the mountainous Country of Judea, to which theſe glad tidings were brought, and from which they were ſpread abroad into other Countries. f Which carry this welcome meſſenger; or the meſſenger himſelf. g Or, of them, for the ſingular number is oft put for the plural: although it may be here emphatically uſed, to ſignifie, that although there were many Meſſengers, yet one was the chief, and Lord of the Embaſſy, whoſe coming was more acceptable than the reſt: which ſuits excellently to the Meſſiah, who is called the Meſſenger of the Covenant, Mal. 3. 1. and is oft ſaid to be ſent by God, as Joh. 6. 38. & 8. 16, 18. &c. to publiſh the glad tidings of Salvation. h Thoſe emphatical and repeated Expreſſions are a ſufficient evidence, that ſomething further and better is here intended than their deliverance out of Babylon, which in it ſelf was but a very imperfect work, and reached at firſt but to a few of that numerous People, and was attended with many fears, and ſorrows, and remainders of their bondage, Ezra 9. 8, 9. Nehem. 1. 3. and that although that was the beginning of theſe glad tidings, yet they extended much further even to the coming of Chriſt, by whom alone true Peace and Salvation were procured. i It is true, this might in ſome ſort be ſaid when God ſo over-ruled the affairs of the World, and the heart of Cyrus, that his People were freed from the Babyloniſh Captivity and reſtored into and ſetled in their own Land. Although he that conſiders the ſtate of God's People in their own Land after their return, will find that the reign of God in and over the World was not then either very conſpicuous or glorious. And therefore it ſeems far more reaſonable to underſtand it of the days of the Meſſiah, when God did diſcover and exerciſe his dominion over the World far more eminently than ever he had done from the beginning of the World until that time.

k Thy Miniſters who ſhall deſcry the approach and coming of this heavenly King and Kingdom. l Partly to give notice to all People of theſe glad tidings; and partly by way of exultation, to ſing forth the Praiſes of God for this glorious day and Mercy, as it here follows. m They ſhall underſtand, and ſo be able to teach Divine Myſteries. n Very diſtinctly and clearly, and familiarly, their eyes beholding the Eyes of this King of Glory, as it is ſaid of Zedekiah, Jer. 34. 3. Thine Eyes ſhall behold the Eyes of the King of Babylon; and as it is ſaid, Mouth to Mouth, Numb. 12. 8. and Face to Face, Gen. 32. 30. Exod. 33. 11. Numb. 14. 14. They ſhall ſee with their bodily Eyes the King of the Church, or the Word made Fleſh, as they are ſaid to have done, Joh. 1. 14. & 1 Joh. 1. 1. They ſhall be Eye and Ear-witneſſes of the Words and Works of Chriſt, and therefore their Teſtimony of theſe things ſhall be more certain and valuable. o When God ſhall compleat the work of bringing his Church out of Captivity; which was begun at the return out of Babylon, and perfected by Chriſts coming into the World.

Ch.49.13. 55.12. 9 Break forth into joy, * ſing together, ye waſte places of Jeruſalem p: for the LORD hath comforted his people, he hath redeemed Jeruſalem.

p For you ſhall be reſtored unto your former, and a far greater fertility.

ſ. 98. 2. e 3. 6. 10 The LORD hath made bare his holy arm q in the eyes of all the nations, and * all the ends of the earth ſhall ſee the ſalvation of our God r.

q Hath diſcovered and put forth his great power, which for a long time hath lain hid, and ſeemed to be idle. r All Nations of the World ſhall with aſtoniſhment behold the wonderful work of God, firſt in bringing his People out of Babylon, and afterwards in their Redemption by Chriſt.

s Make haſte, O ye baniſhed Jews, to depatt out of Babylon into your own Land, that there I may meet with you, and bleſs you, and perform thoſe further and greater things which I have promiſed there to do for you. And this invitation was the more neceſſary, becauſe God foreſaw that a great number of the Jews would upon worldly conſiderations continue in thoſe foreign Countries in which they were ſetled, and be very backward to return to the Holy Land. t And when you go thence, take heed that you carry not along with you any of their Superſtitions or Idolatries, but purifie and prepare your ſelves, that ſo God may return to you in mercy, when you return into your own Land. u And eſpecially you Prieſts and Levites, whoſe Office it is to miniſter in holy things, and to carry back the holy Veſſels of the Temple, keep your ſelves from all pollution.

12 For ye ſhall not go out with haſte, nor go by flight x: for the LORD will go before you: and the God of Iſrael will † be your rearward y. † Heb. gather you up.

x But ſecurely, and in triumph, being conducted by your great Captain the Lord of Hoſts. And therefore you will have both the greater Obligation, and the more leiſure and opportunity to cleanſe your ſelves from all filthineſs. y So that none ſhall be able either to oppoſe and ſtop you in your march, or to fall upon you in the rear, as Enemies commonly do.

13 Behold a, my ſervant b ſhall ‖ deal prudently c, he ſhall be exalted, and extolled, and be very high d. ‖ Or, proſper.

a This is the beginning of a new Prophecy, which is continued from hence to the end of the next Chapter; and therefore it is well obſerved by divers, both ancient and modern Interpreters, that the Fifty and Third Chapter ſhould have begun here. b Qu. Of whom doth the Prophet here ſpeak? It is apparent that theſe three laſt verſes of this Chapter, and all the following Chapter ſpeak of one and the ſame perſon. And that that Perſon is Chriſt is ſo evident, that the Chaldee Paraphraſt, and other ancient, and ſome later Hebrew Doctors, underſtand it directly of him, and that divers Jews have been convinced and converted to the Chriſtian Faith by the evidence of this Prophecy. And there is not a verſe in this whole context which doth not afford a clear and convincing proof of this truth, as we ſhall ſee. And there needs no other Argument to confirm it, than the variety and vanity of the pretended Expoſitions of the Jews, who uſe all poſſible Wit and Art to wreſt all theſe paſſages to other perſons. Thoſe who would ſeem wiſer than the reſt, and confute the other Expoſitions of their Brethren, underſtand it either of the Jewiſh People in general, or of the Prophet Jeremiah in particular. But both theſe conceits are ſo groundleſs and abſurd, that there is ſcarce a verſe but confutes them, as we ſhall clearly diſcern in the Expoſition of them. And therefore other Jews reject them both, and underſtand it of Abraham, or Moſes, or Joſiah, or Ezra, or Zorobabel; and they might as well have named twenty perſons more, to whom this place might be applied upon as good grounds as to any of theſe. But there is not one clauſe in all this context which is not moſt truly aud fitly applied to Chriſt, as I ſhall make apparent, ſtep by ſtep. And firſt this Title of God's Servant is in an eminent and peculiar manner given to Chriſt in this very Prophecy, as Iſa. 42. 1. & 49. 6. & 53. 11, & Ezek. 34. 23. Zech. 3. 8. c Shall manage his Kingdom with admirable Wiſdom. Or, ſhall proſper, as it is in the margent, and as this word is frequently rendred, and particularly in this very caſe, and of this ſame perſon, Jer. 23. 5. Which alſo ſeems beſt to agree with the following Clauſe, and with Chap. 53. 10. 11. And this intimation concerning the future proſperity and advancement of the Meſſiah, is fitly put in the firſt place to prevent thoſe ſcandals which otherwiſe might ariſe from the ſucceeding paſſages which largely deſcribe his ſtate of Humiliation and deep affliction. d Here are three words ſignifying the ſame thing to expreſs the Height and Glory of his Exaltation. Which agrees moſt fitly to Chriſt, but cannot without great force be applied to Jeremiah, who had no greater honour or favour done him by the Chaldeans at the taking of Jeruſalem, than to be left at liberty to go where he pleaſed, Jer. 40. 4. and who after that time met with great contempt and hardſhip from his own Countrey-men, Jer. 42. and 43, and 44.

14 As many were aſtonied e at thee f; (his * viſage was ſo marred more than any man, and his form more than the ſons of men g.) * Ch. 53. 3, 10.

e Were ſtruck with wonder, either 1. At his glorious Endowments, and the Excellency and Power of his Doctrine, and his miraculous works. Or rather 2. At his great deformity, and ſtupendious Humiliation and calamity, as may be gathered, both from the following words, and from the uſe of this word in Scripture, which is generally uſed in a bad ſenſe, or of wondring at ſome extraordinary evil, as Jer. 18. 16. & 19. 8. and oft elſewhere, and never in a good ſenſe, or of wondring at any thing which is extraordinarily good. f At thee, O my Servant, to whom he now turneth his ſpeech, and then turneth his ſpeech from him, and ſpeaks of him in the next words; ſuch ſudden changes of Perſons, and ſpeaking of one and the ſame man, ſometimes in one perſon, and then preſently in another, being very frequent in the Writings of the Prophets, as we have already ſeen in divers inſtances. g He was more deformed or uncomely than any other man. Which was undoubtedly verified in Chriſt, who in reſpect of his Birth, and Breeding, and manner of Life, was moſt obſcure and contemptible, and therefore ſaid to be a worm, and no man, a reproach of men, and deſpiſed of the People, Pſal. 22. 6. who was more hated and vilified by the generality of the Jews than any man upon Earth, and was accounted and called by them a Deceiver, a Samaritan, a Blaſphemer, and a Devil, &c. whoſe Countenance alſo was ſo marred with frequent Watchings, and Faſtings, and Troubles, that he was thought to be near fifty Years old when he was but about Thirty, Joh. 8. 57. and was farther ſpoiled with buffetings, and crowning with Thorns, and other cruel and deſpightful uſages from men, and with the deep and continual ſenſe of the burden of mens ſins, and of God's diſpleaſure due unto them; all which did not only oppreſs his ſpirit, but had a great influence upon the very conſtitution of his Body.

15 So h ſhall he ſprinkle i many nations, the kings ſhall ſhut their mouths at him k: for that * which had not been told them ſhall they ſee l, and that which they had not heard ſhall they conſider m.

h His Exaltation ſhall be anſwerable to his Humiliation. i Either 1. With his Blood, which is called, the blood of ſprinkling, Heb. 12. 24. or, ſhall juſtifie them, as it follows, Iſa. 53. 11. which is frequently expreſſed by waſhing, as Pſal. 51. 2, 7. Ezek. 16. 9. and by ſprinkling clean water, Ezek. 36. 25. Or 2. With his Word or Doctrine; which being oft compared to Rain or Waters, as Deut. 32. 2. Iſa. 55. 10, 11. Hab. 2. 14, &c. may be ſaid to be ſprinkled, as it is ſaid to be dropped, Deut. 32. 2. Ezek. 20. 46. & 21. 2. And this ſenſe ſeems to be moſt favoured by the following words. k Shall be ſilent before him out of a profound Humility, and Reverence, and Admiration of his Wiſdom, and an eager deſire to hear and receive Counſels and Oracles from his Mouth. Compare Job 29. 9, 10, 11, 21. They ſhall no more contend with him, nor blaſpeme the true God and Religion as they formerly uſed to do. l For they ſhall hear from his Mouth many excellent Doctrines, which alſo will be new and ſtrange to them, ſuch as Men are very deſirous to hear. And particularly they ſhall hear from him that comfortable Doctrine concerning the Converſion and Salvation of the Gentiles, which was not only new to them, but was ſtrange and incredible to the moſt of the Jews themſelves. m Or, they ſhall underſtand. Which is added to ſhew that the ſeeing in the former clauſe was meant of diſcerning theſe things with the Eyes of their Minds.

CHAP. LIII.

The incredulity of the Jews: the death of Chriſt: and the bleſſed Effects thereof, 1,—11. his Exaltation and Glory, 13,—15.

* Joh. 12. 38. Rom. 10. 16.

* WHo hath believed our || † report a? and to whom is the Arm of the LORD b revealed c?

a The Prophet having in the three laſt Verſes of the former Chapter, made a general report concerning the great and wonderful Humiliation, and Exaltation of Chriſt, of which he intended more largely to diſcourſe in this Chapter, before he deſcended to particulars he thought fit to uſe in this Preface, Who, not only of the Gentiles, but even of the Jews, will believe the truth of what I have ſaid and muſt ſay? Few or none. The generality of them will never receive, nor believe in ſuch a Meſſias as this. Thus this place is expounded by Chriſt himſelf, Joh. 12. 38. and by Paul, Rom. 10. 16. And this premonition was highly neceſſary, both to caution the Jews that they ſhould not ſtumble at this Stone, and to inſtruct the Gentiles that they ſhould not be ſurpriſed, nor ſcandalized, nor ſeduced with their Example. b Either 1. The Word of God, called the report in the former clauſe; the Doctrine of the Goſpel, which is expreſly called the power of God, 1 Cor. 1. 18. becauſe of that admirable Virtue and Succeſs which accompanied the preaching of it. Or 2. The Meſſiah, who alſo is called the arm or power of God, 1 Cor. 1. 24. and that moſt fitly, becauſe the Almighty power of God was both ſeated in him, and declared and exerciſed by him in his powerful Words and mighty Deeds, as Simon for ſome great works wrought by him, was called by the Samaritanes, the power of God, Acts 8. 10. c Not outwardly, for ſo Chriſt was revealed and preached to vaſt numbers, both of Jews and Gentiles, as is evident from this Context, and from divers other places of Scripture, but inwardly and with power to their Minds and Hearts, of which kind of Revelation, See Epheſ. 1. 17, 18, 19. and compare it with 2 Cor. 4. 4. Thus even Moſes, though ſufficiently revealed to the Eyes and Ears of the Jews, yet is ſaid to be unrevealed or hid from their Minds and Hearts, 2 Cor. 3. 14, 15. The ſenſe of the place is, few or none of the Jews will believe the Goſpel, or receive their Meſſiah when he comes among them.

* Ch. 49. 7. & 52. 14. Mark 9. 12.

2 * For he ſhall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground d: he hath no form nor comelineſs e: and when we ſhall ſee him, there is no beauty that we ſhould deſire him f.

d And the reaſon or occaſion why the Jews will ſo generally reject their Meſſiah, is becauſe he ſhall not come into the World with ſecular pomp, and power, like an earthly Monarch, as they carnally and groundleſly imagined, but he ſhall grow up (or ſpring up, Heb. aſcend, to wit, out of the ground, as it follows, brought forth, and brought up) before him (before the unbelieving Jews of whom he ſpake, v. 1. and that in the ſingular number, as here, who were witneſſes of his mean original; and therefore deſpiſed him, according to Chriſt's obſervation, Joh. 4. 14. or, as others, according to his face, or outward appearance, as he was man; whereby he ſufficiently implies that he had another, a far higher, and a Divine Nature in him,) as a tender plant (or, as this very word is tranſlated, Ezek. 17. 4. a young twig, which is a ſmall and inconſiderable thing) and as a root (as Chriſt is called, Rom. 15. 12. and elſewhere: or, as a branch, the root being put Metonimically for the branch growing out of the root, as it is apparently uſed, where Chriſt is called the root of Jeſſe, and of David, Iſa. 11. 10. Rev. 5. 5. and in other places, as 2 Chr. 22. 10.) out of a dry ground, out of a mean and barren ſoil, whoſe productions are generally poor and contemptible; either 1. Out of the Womb of a Virgin; but that was no ground of contempt: Or 2. Of the Jewiſh Nation, which was then poor, and deſpiſed, and enſlaved: Or 3. Out of the poor, and decayed, and contemptible Family, ſuch as the Royal Family of David was at that time. e His bodily preſence and condition in the World ſhall be mean and contemptible. f When we ſhall look upon him, expecting to find incomparable Beauty and Majeſty in his Countenance, and Carriage, and Condition, we ſhall be altogether diſappointed, and ſhall meet with nothing amiable or deſirable in him. This the Prophet ſpeaketh in the perſon of the carnal and unbelieving Jews, we, i. e. our People, the Jewiſh Nation.

3 He is deſpiſed and rejected of men g, a man of ſorrows h, and acquainted with grief i: and || † we hid as it were our faces from him k; he was deſpiſed, and we eſteemed him not l.

g Accounted as the ſcum of Mankind, as one unworthy of the company and converſation of all men. h Whoſe whole Life was filled with, and in a manner made up of an uninterrupted ſucceſſion of Sorrows and Sufferings. i Who had conſtant Experience of and familiar converſe with grievous afflictions: for knowledge is oft taken practically, or for Experience, as Gen. 3. 5. 2 Cor. 5. 21. and elſewhere. k We ſcorned and loathed to look upon him. Or, as others, he hid as it were his face from us, as one aſhamed to ſhew his Face, or to be ſeen by any Men, as perſons conſcious to themſelves of any great deformity do commonly ſhun the ſight of men, as Lepers did, Lev. 13. 45. l Here are divers words expreſſing the ſame thing, to ſignifie both the utmoſt degree of contempt, and how ſtrange and wonderful a thing it was, that ſo excellent a perſon ſhould be ſo deſpiſed.

4 Surely * he hath born our griefs, and carried our ſorrows m: yet we did eſteem him ſtricken, ſmitten of God and afflicted n.

m And whereas it may ſeem an unreaſonable and incredible thing, that ſo excellent and glorious, and ſo innocent and juſt a perſon ſhould meet with this uſage, it muſt be known that his griefs and miſeries were not laid upon him for his own ſake, but wholly and ſolely for the ſake of ſinful men, in whoſe ſtead he ſtood, and for whoſe ſins he ſuffered, as it here follows. n Yet our people, the Jews, were ſo far from giving him the Glory and Praiſe of ſuch a prodigious condeſcenſion and compaſſion, that they made a moſt perverſe conſtruction of it, and ſo great was their prejudice againſt him, that they believed that he was thus diſgraced and puniſhed, and at laſt put to death by the juſt judgment of God, for his Blaſphemy and other manifold Wickedneſſes.

* Rom. 4. 25. 1 Cor. 15. 3.
* 1 Pet. 2. 24.

5 But o he was || * wounded p for our tranſgreſſions q, he was bruiſed for our iniquities; the chaſtiſement of our peace r was upon him s, and with his * † ſtripes we are healed t.

o But this was a moſt falſe and unrighteous Sentence. p Which word comprehends all his pains, and puniſhments, and his Death among and above the reſt. q Not by them, which is expreſſed by another particle, not by the wickedneſs of the Jews, but for or becauſe of them, as this particle commonly ſignifies, for the guilt of their ſins, whe he had voluntarily taken upon himſelf, and for the Expiation of their ſins, which was hereby purchaſed and procured of God for Men. Which Interpretation is confirmed, 1. By the oppoſition of this truth to the falſe opinion mentioned in the foregoing clauſe, that he was ſmitten of God for the guilt of his own ſins. 2. By the following clauſe, as we ſhall ſee. 3. By the nature of the thing, this being evident from Scriptures both from the Old and New Teſtament, that Chriſt was not to ſuffer for his own, but for other mens Sins. See Dan. 9. 24, 26. r Thoſe puniſhments by which our Peace, i. e. our reconciliation to God, and Salvation, or Happineſs, was to be purchaſed. s Was laid upon him by God's juſtice with his own conſent. t By his ſufferings we are ſaved from our ſins, and from the dreadful effects thereof.

6 All we t like ſheep u have gone aſtray x: we have turned every one to his own way y, and the LORD † hath laid z on him the iniquity a of us all.

t All mankind, the Jews no leſs than the Gentiles. u Which are ſimple and fooliſh Creatures, and exceeding apt to ſtraggle and loſe themſelves. x From God, and from the way of his Precepts, in which he put our firſt Parents, and in which he commanded us to walk. y In general, to the way and courſe of ſin, which may well be called a mans own way, as ſins are called mens own Luſts, Jam. 1. 14. 2 Pet. 3. 3. and elſewhere, becauſe ſin is natural to us, inherent in us, born with us, and very dear to us; and in particular, to thoſe ſeveral paths of divers Luſts, which ſeveral men chuſe and follow, according to their differing Opinions, Inclinations, Occaſions, and Circumſtances. z Heb. hath made to meet, as all the Rivers meet in the Sea. a Not properly, for ſo he knew no ſin, 2 Cor. 5. 21. but the puniſhment of iniquity, as that word is moſt frequently uſed, as Gen. 4. 13. Lev. 20, 17, &c. That which was due for all the ſins of all his people, whether Jews or Gentiles, which muſt needs be ſo great and heavy a load, that if he had not been God as well as Man, he muſt have ſunk under the burden of them. This was actually verified in Chriſt. And both this and divers other paſſages here do as manifeſtly and fully point at Chriſt, as if they were not a prophetical Repreſentation of things to come, but an hiſtorical Relation of them after they were done. Nor do I ſee how they can be excuſed from the fearful wreſting of the Scripture, that expound theſe places of the Prophet Jeremiah, or any other perſon but Chriſt.

7 He was oppreſſed, and he was afflicted b, yet * he opened not his mouth c, he is brought as a lamb to the ſlaughter, and as a ſheep before her ſhearers is dumb d, ſo he openeth not his mouth.

b He was ſorely puniſhed for our ſins. But there is another Tranſlation, which ſeems to be more emphatical and more agreeable to the Hebrew Text: It (to wit, our iniquity laſt mentioned, or the puniſhment of all our ſins) was exacted, or required; (as this word moſt properly and frequently ſignifies, of which ſee my Latin Synopſis. God's Juſtice expected and required ſatisfaction from us for our ſins; which, alas! we could not make to him:)

and he was afflicted or puniſhed: he bore the guilt and puniſhment of our Sins in his Body upon the tree, as is ſaid, 1 Pet. 2. 24. or, as others render this laſt word, and he anſwered, i. e. became our ſurety, or undertook to pay the debt, and to ſuffer the Law in our ſtead, and for our ſake. c He neither murmured againſt God, for cauſing him to ſuffer for other mens Sins, nor reviled men for puniſhing him without cauſe, nor uſed Apologies or endeavours to ſave his own Life; but willingly and patiently accepted of the puniſhent of our Iniquity. d Bears the loſs of its fleece or Life without any ſuch clamour or reſiſtance as other Creatures uſe in ſuch caſes.

8 ‖ He was taken from priſon and from judgment e: and who ſhall declare f his generation g? for he was cut off h out of the land of the living; for the tranſgreſſion of my people † was he ſtricken i.

e Theſe words are underſtood either, 1. Of Chriſts Humiliation or Suffering: and then the words are to be thus rendred, He was taken away (to wit, out of this Life, as this word is uſed, Pſalm 31. 13. Prov. 1. 19. and elſewhere: he was put to death:) by diſtreſs (or violence or tyranny, as this word is uſed with this Prepoſition before it, Pſalm 107. 39.) and judgment, by oppreſſion and violence under a form and pretence of Juſtice. Or rather, 2. Of Chriſts Exaltation, becauſe of the following clauſe: which is not unſeaſonably mentioned in the midſt of his Sufferings, to take off the ſcandal which might have ariſen from Chriſts Sufferings, if there had not been a proſpect and aſſurance of his victoriouſneſs over them, and his Glory after them: and ſo the words may be rendred, He was taken up (or, taken away, freed or delivered) from Priſon (i. e. from the Grave, which being called an Houſe, Job 30. 23. and a Pit, in which men are ſhut up, Pſalm 69. 15. may fitly be called a Priſon: or from diſtreſs, or affliction, or oppreſſion, from the power and malice of his Enemies, and from the torments of his own Soul, ariſing from the ſenſe of Mens ſins and Gods diſpleaſure) and from judgment, i. e. from all the ſufferings and puniſhments inflicted upon him, either by the unrighteous judgment of men, or by the juſt judgment of God, puniſhing him for thoſe ſins which he had voluntarily taken upon himſelf: or, which is the ſame thing, from the Sentence of Condemnation, and all the effects of it: For in this ſenſe Judgment is very commonly taken both in Scripture and other Authors. f Who can declare it? The future being taken potentially, as it is frequently: no words can ſufficiently expreſs it. g Either, 1. His Age, or the continuance of his Life. So the ſenſe is, That he ſhall not only be delivered from death, and all his puniſhments, but alſo ſhall be reſtored to an inexpreſſible or endleſs Life, and to an everalaſting Kingdom. Thus great Interpreters underſtand it: with whom I cannot comply, becauſe I do not find this Hebrew word to be ever uſed in Scripture of the continuance of one mans Life. Or rather, 2. His Poſterity; and ſo this word is unqueſtionably uſed, Gen. 15. 16. Exod. 23. 5. Deut. 23. 2, 3, 8. and in many other places. And ſo the ſenſe of the place is this, That Chriſts death ſhall not be unfruitful, and that when he is raiſed from the dead, he ſhall have a ſpiritual ſeed, as is promiſed, ver. 10. a numberleſs multitude of thoſe who ſhall believe in him, and be regenerated and adopted by him into the number of his Children, and of the Children of God, John 1. 12. Heb. 2. 10, 13, 14. h To wit, by a violent death. And this may be added as a reaſon both of his Exaltation, and of the bleſſing of a numerous poſterity conferred upon him, becauſe he was willing to be cut off for the tranſgreſſion of his People; and, as it followeth, ver. 10. made his Soul an offering for Sin; Chriſts death being elſewhere declared to be the only way and neceſſary means of obtaining both theſe ends, Luke 24. 26, 46. John 12. 24, 32, 33. Phil. 2. 8, 9. But theſe words may be rendred, although he was cut off; to ſignifie that his Death ſhould not hinder theſe glorious Effects. i This is repeated again, as it was fit it ſhould be, to prevent mens miſtakes about, and ſtumbling at the death of Chriſt, and to aſſure them that Chriſt did not die for his own Sins, but only for the Sins and Salvation of his People.

k And although he did not die for his own, but only for his Peoples Sins, yet he was willing to die like a Malefactor, or like a Sinner, as all other men are, and to be put into the Grave, as they uſed to be; which was a farther degree of his Humiliation. He ſaith, he made his Grave, becauſe this was Chriſts own Act, and he willingly yielded up himſelf to death and burial. And that which follows, with the wicked, doth not note the ſameneſs of place, as if he ſhould be buried in the ſame Grave with other Malefactors, but the ſameneſs of Condition: As when David prayeth Pſalm 26. 9. Gather not my Soul (to wit, by Death) with Sinners, he doth not mean it of the ſame Grave, but of the ſame ſtate of the Dead. l This paſſage is thought by many to ſignifie that Chriſt ſhould be buried in the Sepulchre of Joſeph, who is ſaid to be both Rich, Mat. 27. 57. and Honourable, Mark 15. 43. which they conceive to be intimated as a token of Favour and Honour ſhewed to him. Which to me ſeems not probable, partly becauſe this diſagrees with the former clauſe, which confeſſedly ſpeaks of the diſhonour which was done to him; and partly becauſe the burial of Chriſt, whatſoever Circumſtances it was attended with, is ever mentioned in Scripture as a part of his Humiliation, Acts 2. 24, 27, And it ſeems more reaſonable, and more agreeable to the uſage of the Holy Scripture, that this clauſe ſhould deſign the ſame thing with the former, and that by Rich he means the ſame perſons whom he now called Wicked, not as if all rich men were, or muſt needs be wicked, but becauſe for the moſt part they are ſo; upon which ground, riches and rich men do commonly paſs under an ill Name in Scripture; of which ſee Pſalm 37. 16. and 49. 6. Luke 6. 24. and 18. 24. Jam. 1. 11. and 5. 1. m Heb. in, or at (or after, as this particle is frequently taken, hath been already noted) his Deaths: for Chriſts Death might well be called Deaths in the plural number, becauſe he underwent many kinds of death, and many deadly dangers and pains, which are frequently called by the name of death in Scripture, of which inſtances have been formerly given; and he might ſay, with no leſs Truth than Paul did, 1 Cor. 15. 31. I die daily, and 2 Cor. 11. 23. I was in Deaths oft. n This ſome ſuppoſe to be added as a reaſon of the laſt branch of the foregoing clauſe, why God ſo over-ruled matters by his Providence, that Chriſt ſhould not be buried in the ſame Grave, or in the ſame ignominious manner as Malefactors were, but in a more honourable manner, in Joſephs own Tomb. But the laſt part of the foregoing clauſe cannot, without violence, be pulled aſunder from the former, wherewith it is ſo cloſely joined, not only by a Conjunction copulative, and, but alſo by being under the government of the ſame Verb: And therefore this latter clauſe of the verſe, if thus rendred, muſt be added as the reaſon of what is ſaid to be done in the former. And ſo the ſenſe of the place may be thus conceived, This was all the reward of the unſpotted Innocency of all his words and actions, to be thus ignominiouſly uſed: But theſe words may well be, and are otherwiſe rendred both by Jewiſh and Chriſtian Interpreters, either thus, although he had done, &c. or rather thus, not for (as theſe two ſame particles placed in the very ſame order, are rendred by our Tranſlator, and others, Job 16. 17.) any violence (or injury, or iniquity) which he had done, nor for any deceit which was in his mouth; not for his own Sins, but, as hath been ſaid before, for his Peoples Sins. In which Tranſlation there is nothing ſupplied but what is moſt frequent in Scripture alſo.

10 Yet it pleaſed the LORD to bruiſe him o, he hath put him to grief p: ‖ † when thou ſhalt make his Soul an offering for Sin q, he ſhall ſee his ſeed r, he ſhall prolong his days s, and the pleaſure of the LORD ſhall proſper in his hand t.

o But although he was perfectly innocent, it pleaſed God for other juſt and wiſe Reaſons to puniſh him. p God was the principal cauſe of all his Sorrows and Sufferings, although mens ſins were the deſerving cauſe. q When thou, O God, ſhalt make, or have made, thy Son a Sacrifice, by giving him up to death for the atonement of mens Sins. His Soul is here put for his Life, or for himſelf, or his whole humane Nature, which was ſacrificed, his Soul being tormented with the ſenſe of God's Wrath, and his Body crucified, and Soul and Body ſeparated by Death. Or the words may be rendred, When his Soul ſhall make, or have made, it ſelf an offering for Sin: whereby it may be implied that he did not lay down his Life by force, but willingly. r His Death ſhall be glorious to himſelf, and highly beneficial to others, for he ſhall have a numerous iſſue of Believers reconciled to God, and ſaved by his Death. s He ſhall be raiſed to immortal Life, and ſhall live and reign with God for ever; he ſhall die no more, Rom. 6. 9. and of his Kingdom there ſhall be no end, Luke 1. 33. t Gods gracious decree for the Redemption and Salvation of Mankind ſhall be effectually carried on by his Miniſtry and Mediation.

11 He ſhall ſee u of the travel of his Soul x, and ſhall be ſatisfied y: by his knowledg z, ſhall * my righteous ſervant a juſtifie b many c: for he ſhall bear their iniquities d.

u He ſhall receive or enjoy, as this word commonly ſignifies. x The comfortable and bleſſed fruit of all his hard labours, and grievous ſufferings. y He ſhall eſteem his own and his Fathers Glory, and the Salvation of his People, an abundant recompence for all his Sufferings. z Either, 1. Actively, by that knowledge of Gods Will, and of the way of Salvation, which is in him in its higheſt perfection, and which by him is revealed unto men, and by his Spirit is imprinted in the Minds and Hearts of his People, ſo as to produce Faith and Obedience in them. Or, 2. Paſſively, by the knowledge of him, as my fear and thy fear are put for the fear of me and of thee, Pſalm 5. 7. Jer. 32. 40. Knowledge being here, as it is moſt frequently in Scripture, taken practically for that kind of Knowledge which worketh Faith, and Love, and Obedience to him. So the ſenſe is the ſame in both caſes. a Which title is here given to Chriſt, partly to vindicate him from thoſe falſe imputations of wickedneſs which were faſtened upon him by his Adverſaries, and which found the more belief becauſe of his moſt grievous and unexampled Sufferings both from God and Men; and partly to ſhew his fitneſs for this great work of juſtifying ſinners, becauſe he was exactly holy, and harmleſs, and undefiled, Heb. 7. 26. and fulfilled all Righteouſneſs according to his duty, Mat. 3. 15. and therefore his perſon and performance muſt needs be acceptable to God, and effectual for the Juſtification of his People, which was the great deſign of his coming into the World. b Acquit them from the guilt of their ſins, and all the dreadful conſequences thereof: For Juſtification is here oppoſed to Condemnation, as appears from the following clauſe, and from many other paſſages in this Chapter, and as it is uſed in all places of Scripture, one, or two at moſt, excepted, where it is mentioned. And Chriſt is ſaid to juſtifie Sinners meritoriouſly, becauſe he purchaſeth and procureth it for us; as God the Father is commonly ſaid to do it authoritatively, becauſe he accepted the price paid by Chriſt for it, and the pronunciation of the ſentence of Abſolution is referred to him in the Goſpel Diſpenſation. c Which word is ſeaſonably added, partly by way of Reſtriction, to ſhew that Chriſt will not juſtifie all, but only ſuch as believe in him, and obey him: and partly by way of Amplification, to declare that this bleſſed priviledge ſhall not now be, as hitherto it had in a manner been, confined to Judea, and the Jews, but ſhall be conferred upon an innumerable company of all the Nations of the World. d For he ſhall ſatisfie the Juſtice and Law of God for them, by bearing the puniſhment due to their ſins, and therefore by the principles of Reaſon and Juſtice they muſt be juſtified or acquitted, otherwiſe the ſame debt ſhould be twice required and paid.

12 Therefore will I e divide him f a portion g with the great h, and he ſhall divide the ſpoil with the ſtrong i: becauſe he hath poured out his Soul unto death k: and he * was numbred with the tranſgreſſors l, and he bare the ſin of many m, and * made interceſſion for the tranſgreſſors n.

* Mar. 15. 28. Luk. 22. 37.
* Luk. 23. 34. Rom. 8. 34. Heb. 7. 25. & 9. 24. 1 Joh. 2. 1.

e God the Father, the Spectator and Judge of the Action or Combat. f Give him his ſhare. Or, impart, or give to him; for this word is oft uſed without reſpect to any diſtribution or diviſion, as Deut. 4. 19. and 29. 26. and elſewhere. g Which is very commodiouſly ſupplied out of the next clauſe, where a word which anſwers to it, the ſpoil, is expreſſed. h Or, among the great; ſuch as the great and mighty Potentates of the World uſe to have after a ſharp Combat and a glorious Victory. Though he be a very mean and obſcure perſon, as to his extraction and outward condition in the World, yet he ſhall attain to as great a pitch of Glory as the greateſt Monarchs enjoy. i The ſame thing is repeated in other words, after the manner of prophetical Writers. The ſenſe of both clauſes is, That God will give him, and he ſhall receive great and happy ſucceſs in his glorious undertaking: he ſhall conquer all his Enemies, and lead Captivity Captive, as is ſaid Eph. 4. 8. and ſet up his univerſal and everlaſting Kingdom in the World. k Becauſe he willingly laid down his Life in Obedience to Gods Command, John 10. 17, 18. and in order to the Redemption of Mankind. Death is here called a pouring out of the Soul, or Life, either becauſe the Soul or Life, which in living men is contained in the Body, is turned out of the Body by Death; or to ſignifie the manner of Chriſts Death, that it ſhould be with the ſhedding of his Blood, in which the Life of Man conſiſts, Levit. 17. 11, 14. l He was willing for Gods Glory and for Mans Good to be reproached and puniſhed like a Malefactor, in the ſame manner and place, and betwixt two of them, as is noted with reference to this place, Mark 15. 27, 28. m Which was ſaid, ver. 11. and is here repeated to prevent a miſtake, and to intimate, that although Chriſt was numbred with Tranſgreſſors, and was uſed accordingly, yet he was no Tranſgreſſor, nor did ſubmit to, and ſuffer this uſage for his own Sins, but for the Sins of others, the puniſhment whereof was by his own conſent laid upon him. n Either, 1. By way of ſatisfaction: he interpoſed himſelf between an angry God and ſinners, and received thoſe blows in his own Body which otherwiſe muſt have fallen upon them. Or, 2. In way of Petition, as this word is conſtantly uſed. He prayed upon Earth for all Sinners, and particularly for thoſe that crucified him, Luke 23. 34. and in Heaven he ſtill interceedeth for them, not by an humble Petition, but by a legal demand of thoſe good things which he purchaſed for his own People by the Sacrifice of himſelf, which, though paſt, he continually repreſents to his Father, as if it were preſent.

CHAP. LIV.

The Bleſſings and Fulneſs of the Goſpel-Church, 1,—4. the Gentiles becoming Chriſts Spouſe: to whom his Love is everlaſting, 5,—10. her Glories, 11, 12. the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, 13. her ſure Preſervation, 14,—17.

* Zeph. 3. 14. Gal. 4. 27.
* 1 Sam. 2. 5. Ch. 49. 20, 21.

* SIng, O barren a, thou that didſt not bear; break forth into ſinging, and cry aloud thou that didſt not travail with child: for * more are the children of the deſolate, than the children of the married wife b, ſaith the LORD.

a The Prophet having largely diſcourſed of the ſufferings of Chriſt, and of the bleſſed fruits or effects thereof, among which, one is, that he ſhould have a numerous ſeed that ſhould believe on him, and that when the Jews rejected him, the Gentiles ſhould gladly receive him, and here foreſeeing by the Spirit of God that glorious ſtate of the Church, he rejoiced in it, as Abraham did upon the like occaſion, John 8. 56. and breaks forth into this ſong of triumph. He turneth his Speech to the Church and Spouſe of God, or of Chriſt, as is manifeſt from the following words, and eſpecially from ver. 5. and from Gal. 4. 27. where it is ſo expounded. And although this Chapter is by ſome underſtood of the flouriſhing condition of the Jewiſh Church and State after their return from Babylon, yet the magnificent and glorious Promiſes here following do ſo vaſtly exceed their Condition at that time, which was full of uncertainties, and Diſtractions, and Troubles, as all the Hiſtories of thoſe times aſſure us, and far from that Glory and laſting Tranquillity which is here aſſured to her, that it muſt neceſſarily be referred to the times of the Goſpel, in which all that is here ſaid was or will be remarkably fulfilled. And therefore as the foregoing Chapter doth directly and literally ſpeak of Chriſt, ſo doth this literally ſpeak of the Church of Chriſt, or of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, of whom the ancient Hebrew Doctors underſtood it. And this Church, conſiſting at firſt of the Jews, and afterwards of the Gentiles, who were incorporated with them into the ſame Body, he calleth barren, not becauſe it now was ſo, but becauſe before and until the coming of Chriſt it had been ſo, as Simon is called the leper, Mat. 26. 6. after he was cured. Now this Church of the Jews might well be called, and had been, barren, becauſe the ſincere converts brought forth to God by her Miniſtry had been but few among the Jews comparatively, and ſimply few among the Gentiles. b The Church or Congregation of the Gentiles, which in the times of the Old Teſtament was deſolate, having neither Husband nor Children, doth now under the Goſpel bring forth unto God a far more numerous poſterity than the Church of the Jews, which had been married to God for many ages, until by her Apoſtacy from God, and from her Meſſiah, ſhe provoked God to put her away. He alludeth here either to the Hiſtory of Sarah, who was long and naturally barren, but by the ſupernatural Power of God, was enabled to bring forth a numberleſs iſſue: or to that remarkable paſſage of Gods Providence concerning Hannah and Peninnah, 1 Sam. 2. 5. the barren hath born ſeven, and ſhe that hath many Children is waxed feeble.

2 * Enlarge the place of thy tent c, and let them d ſtretch forth the curtains of thine habitations: ſpare not, lengthen thy cords, and ſtrengthen thy ſtakes e.

c That it may be capable of the Gentiles, which ſhall flock to thee in great numbers, and deſire to aſſociate themſelves with thee. d Thoſe to whom that work belongs. The meaning is, they muſt and ſhall be ſtretched out. e That they may be able to ſupport that great weight which the Tents thus enlarged ſhall be upon them.

3 For thou ſhalt break forth f on the right hand, and on the left g, and thy ſeed h * ſhall inherit the Gentiles i, and make the deſolate cities k to be inhabited.

* Ch. 61. 4 5, 6.

f Thou ſhalt bring forth a multitude of Children; for this word is commonly uſed of any great and extraordinary propagation of living Creatures, whether Beaſts or Men, Gen. 30. 30. Exod. 1. 12. g On every ſide, in all the parts of the World. h Either, 1. Thy ſpiritual ſeed, the Church of the New Teſtament, which is accounted Abraham's Seed, or Children, Gal. 3. 7, 8, 9, 29. Or 2. Thy natural ſeed, Chriſt and his Apoſtles, and other Miniſters, who were Jews, by whom this work was firſt and moſt eminently done. i Shall ſubdue the Gentile World to the Church, and to the Obedience of the Faith. k Theſe Cities and Countries which in a ſpiritual ſenſe were deſolate and forſaken by God.

4 Fear not, for thou ſhalt not be aſhamed l: neither be thou confounded, for thou ſhalt not be put to ſhame: for thou ſhalt forget the ſhame of thy * youth m, and ſhalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood n any more.

l For that Barreneſs and Widow-hood, which once was the matter of thy grief and ſhame, becauſe now thou ſhalt be delivered from it, and God will own thee for his Wife, and beget Children of thee; as it is explained in the following Words. m It ſhall be forgotten both by thee and others: thou ſhalt not be upbraided with thy former barrenneſs in thy youthful ſtate, nor confounded and tormented with the remembrance of it; both remembring and forgetting in Scripture uſe connote or comprehend thoſe affections which naturally and uſually follow upon them; ſo great ſhall be thy fertility and felicity, that it ſhall cauſe thee to forget thy former unfruitfulneſs and miſery, as Men commonly do in like Caſes, as Gen. 41. 51. Job 11. 16. Iſa. 65. 16. John 16. 21. n That time and ſtate when thou wert like a Widow diſconſolate and deſolate, forſaken by her Husband, and having in a manner no Children; which was a great reproach, eſpecially among the Jews.

5 For thy maker o is thine husband p, (the * LORD of hoſts q is his name) and thy redeemer the holy One of Iſrael, the God of the whole earth r ſhall he be called.

o He who made thee out of nothing, and therefore can eaſily fulfil all theſe Promiſes, how unlikely ſoever they ſeem to be; and he who made thee a People, and, which is far more and better, his People, and therefore will not eaſily nor utterly forſake thee. p He will own thee for his Spouſe, and will do the part of an Husband to thee. q Who hath the ſoveraign command of all Men and Creatures, and therefore can ſubdue the Gentiles to thee, and can make thee to encreaſe and multiply in ſo prodigious a meaſure, even in thine old age, notwithſtanding thy barrenneſs in the days of thy youth, of which he ſpeaketh in the foregoing verſe. r The God and Father of all Nations, whereas formerly he was called only the God of Iſrael, and the Gentiles had no ſpecial Relation to him, nor Intereſt in his Covenant and Favour, as was obſerved Pſalm 147. 19, 20. and elſewhere.

6 For the LORD hath called thee s as a woman t forſaken u and grieved in ſpirit x, and a wife of youth y, when thou * waſt refuſed z, ſaith thy God a.

* Jer. 17.

s To return and come again to him. t When thou waſt like a Woman forſaken. Or, as an Husband recalleth his Wife. u By her Husband, who hath given her a Bill of Divorce. x For the loſs of her Husbands Favour and Society, and for the reproach attending upon it. y Or, and, as (which note of ſimilitude is ſupplied here by the Seventy, and Chaldee Interpreters, and is eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing clauſe, in which it is expreſſed) a Wife of youth, i. e. as readily and affectionately as an Husband recalleth his Wife which he married in her and his own youth, of whom ſee on Prov. 5. 18. whom though he might through a ſudden and violent paſſion put away, yet he ſoon repents of it, and his affections work towards her, and he invites her to return to him. z When thou waſt in a deſolate Eſtate, and hadſt been for ſome time rejected by me, then I recalled thee. Or, although thou waſt refuſed, or diſmiſſed, or deſpiſed by me, and that juſtly, yet I had mercy upon thee, and freely offered Reconciliation to thee. a Who will again be, and ſtill ſhew himſelf to be, thy God, and will renew his Covenant with thee.

7 * For a ſmall moment b have I forſaken thee c, but with great mercies d will I gather thee e.

b For the ſpace of ſome few years, as Seventy years in Babylon, and ſome ſuch intervals, which may well be called a ſmall moment in compariſon of Gods everlaſting Kindneſs mentioned in the next verſe. c Withdrawn my favour and help from thee, and left thee in thine Enemies hands. d Such as are moſt precious and ſweet for quality, as is here ſaid, and ſuch as are of long continuance, as is ſaid in the following Verſe. e From all the places where thou art diſperſed, from all the parts of the World.

8 In a little wrath I hid my face f from thee, for a moment; but with everlaſting kindneſs g will I have mercy on thee, ſaith the LORD thy Redeemer.

f I removed the means and pledges of my preſence and kindneſs.

neſs. g With kindneſs to thee and thy ſeed through all ſucceeding Generations, here and unto all Eternity.

.8.21. 9 For this is as the waters of * Noah unto me h:
. 11. for as I have ſworn that the waters of Noah ſhould no more go over the earth, ſo have I ſworn that I would 9. 5. not be wroth with thee i, * nor rebuke thee.

h This Covenant of Grace and Peace made with thee ſhall be as certain and perpetual as that which I made with Noah, that there ſhould never be another flood of waters to drown the World; of which ſee Gen. 9. 11. i To wit, ſo as I have been, or ſo as to forſake the utterly.

.46. 2. 10 For * the mountains ſhall depart, and the
. 5. 18. hills be removed k, but my kindneſs ſhall not depart from thee, neither ſhall the covenant of my peace l be removed, ſaith the LORD, that hath mercy on

k Which hath been verified in ſome Mountains and Hills, that by Earth-quakes, or otherwiſe, have been removed from their places. But theſe kind of abſolute expreſſions are oft times comparatively underſtood, of which ſee on Iſa. 51. 6. and ſo the ſenſe is, The Mountains ſhall ſooner depart from their places, than my kindneſs ſhall depart from thee. As when it is ſaid abſolutely, I deſired Mercy and not Sacrifice, it is meant comparatively, I deſired Mercy more than Sacrifice, as it is explained in the following clauſe. l That Covenant whereby I have made Peace and Friendſhip with thee, and have promiſed unto thee all manner of happineſs, which frequently comes under the name of peace in Scripture. The ſenſe of the place is, That God will not caſt off his Chriſtian Church, as he did caſt off the Church of the Jews; and that the New Covenant is eſtabliſhed upon better and ſurer Promiſes than the Old, as is obſerved, Heb. 8. 6, 7, &c. and elſewhere. m Who doth thus with thee not for thine own merits, but meerly for his own Grace and Mercy.

11 Oh thou afflicted, toſſed with tempeſts, and Chr. 29. not comforted n, behold, I will lay thy ſtones with *
ev. 21. fair colours, and lay thy foundations with ſaphires o.

n Oh thou my poor Church, who haſt frequently been, and wilt again and again be in a moſt afflicted and comfortleſs condition for a time; be not diſcouraged thereby. o I will make thee exceeding beautiful and glorious. Which yet is not to be underſtood of outward Pomp and worldly Glory, as is evident from many places of Scripture, which aſſure us that Chriſt's Kingdom is of another nature, and that the external condition of God's Church is, and for the moſt part will be, mean and calamitous in this World; but of a ſpiritual Beauty and Glory conſiſting in the plentiful effuſion of excellent Gifts, and Graces, and Comforts: although theſe ſhall be followed with eternal Glory in Heaven. See the like deſcription of the Churches Glory, Rev. 21. 11, &c.

12 And I will make thy windows of agates p, and thy gates of carbuncles, and all thy borders q of pleaſant ſtones.

p One kind of which ſtones was tranſparent like glaſs, as Pliny writes in his Natural Hiſtory, b. 37. ch. 10. But ſome render this word, cryſtal, and the Seventy, and ſome other of the ancients, tranſlate it jaſper. But the proper ſignification of the Hebrew names of precious ſtones is unknown to the Jews themſelves, as hath been noted before. It may ſuffice us to know that this was ſome very clear, and tranſparent, and precious ſtone. q The utmoſt parts or Walls. The Church is here evidently compared to a Building, whoſe Foundation, Pavement, Gates, and Windows, were named before.

r Not only outwardly by his word, which was made known to all the Jews under the Old Teſtament, but inwardly by his Spirit, which is poured forth under the New Teſtamont, both upon a far greater number of perſons, and in a far higher meaſure, and with much more efficacy and ſucceſs than it was under the Old. s 1. Inward Peace of Mind or Conſcience ariſing from the clear diſcoveries of God's Love and Reconciliation to us, and wrought by the ſpirit of adoption which is more abundantly given to Believers under the Goſpel, whereas the ſpirit of bondage was more common and prevalent under the Law. 2. Outward Peace, Safety, and Happineſs, which is more fully promiſed in the following verſes, and which God, when he ſees fit, will confer upon his Church.

14 In righteouſneſs t ſhalt thou be eſtabliſhed: thou ſhalt be far from oppreſſion u, for thou ſhalt not fear x, and from terrour, for it ſhall not come near thee.

t Either 1. As the means of thy Eſtabliſhment. This Kingdom ſhall not be ſet up, and ſetled by fraud or Tyranny, as other Kingdoms frequently are, but by Juſtice: Or rather 2. As the effect of the eſtabliſhment. Thine affairs ſhall be managed with Righteouſneſs, which is the Glory and Felicity of any ſociety, and not with oppreſſion, as it follows. Juſtice ſhall be freely and impartially executed. u Either by thine own Governours, or by forreign Powers. x Thou ſhalt neither have any juſt cauſe of fear, nor be given up to the torment of fear without cauſe.

y It is true, there will not want ſome that ſhall combine and make an attempt againſt thee. z As they do this without any ſuch commiſſion from me, as Sennacherib and Nebuchadnezzar had, Iſa. 10. 6, 7. Jer. 25. 9. ſo they ſhall not have my help in it, without which all their endeavours will be vain and unſucceſsful. a To battle, as is manifeſt from the following words, of which kind of gathering this word is uſed Pſal. 140. 2. and elſewhere. b Heb. with thee. But to fight with a man is all one with fighting againſt him. c For that Reſpect and Love which I bear to thee. Or, before thee, as this particle is ſometimes uſed, ſo as thine Eyes ſhall behold it.

16 Behold, I have created the ſmith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and that bringeth forth an inſtrument for his work, and I have created the waſter d to deſtroy e.

d Both the Smith that maketh all warlike Inſtruments, and the Souldier that uſeth them, are my Creatures, and totally at my Command, and therefore they cannot hurt you without my leave. e To deſtroy only whom and when I pleaſe.

17 No weapon that is formed againſt thee, ſhall proſper f, and every tongue that ſhall riſe againſt thee in judgment, thou ſhalt condemn g. This is the heritage h of the ſervants of the LORD, and their righteouſneſs i is of me k, ſaith the LORD.

f And as they cannot do any thing againſt thee without my leave, ſo I aſſure thee I will not ſuffer them to do it: and if any Smith ſhall make any weapons to be employed againſt thee, he ſhall not ſucceed in it. g And I will deliver thee not only from the fury of the War, but alſo from the ſtrife of Tongues, from all the threatnings and boaſts, and reproaches of thine Enemies, and from all the claims and pretences which they have of any right and power over thee. So thine Enemies ſhall neither prevail againſt thee by violence, nor by pretences of Juſtice. h This bleſſed condition deſcribed in this Chapter, is the portion allotted to them by me. i Either 1. The Reward or Fruit of their Righteouſneſs, as Righteouſneſs is uſed, Pſal. 112. 3, 9. Or, 2. Their Right or the righteous Adminiſtration of all their concerns whereby they are preſerved from all manner of oppreſſions, as Righteouſneſs was uſed v. 14. k I give it, and I will continue it to them, and who then can take it away from them.

The Prophet having largely diſcourſed of Chriſt, ch. 53. and of the Church of Chriſt, ch. 54. doth here invite all perſons to come to Chriſt, and to his Church. b For the Grace of God, and the bleſſings of the Goſpel. This thirſt implies a vehement, and active, and reſtleſs Deſire after it, not to be ſatisfied with any thing ſhort of it. c Which are mentioned either 1. As the place where they were to buy the following commodities, it being uſual to convey proviſions to Cities by Rivers. Or rather 2. As the commodity to be bought, the Graces and comforts of God's Spirit, which are frequently compared to Waters, as Iſa. 12. 3. and 35. 6. 7. Joh. 7. 37, 38. and elſewhere, and which are deſigned by all theſe Metaphorical Expreſſions of Waters, Wine, Milk, and Bread. d Even thoſe who are moſt poor, in the World, and thoſe who are moſt worthleſs and wicked, if they do but thirſt, may be welcome. e i. e. Procure or receive that which is freely offered to you if you do but come for it, and are willing to take it. Thus buying is uſed, Prov. 23. 23. Rev. 3. 18. Nor can this be underſtood of buying properly, becauſe here is no price paid. f Which are Synecdochically put for all ſorts of proviſions; which alſo are to be underſtood of Spiritual and Goſpel-Bleſſings, as is evident from the following words.

is not bread f, and your labour for that which ſatiſfi- weigh.
eth not? hearken diligently unto me g, and eat ye that which is good h, and let your ſoul delight it ſelf in fatneſs i.

e All your time, and ſtrength, and coſt in ſeeking it. f For thoſe vain or fooliſh things which can never nouriſh or ſatisfie you, ſuch as worldly goods, or your own Inventions, Superſtitions and Idolatries. g Unto my Doctrine and Counſel. h That which is truly, and ſolidly, and everlaſtingly good, and not ſuch things which though they be called, and ſeem to be good, yet really are evil, and moſt pernicious to men. i In this fat and moſt pleaſant food of Goſpel-enjoyments.

3 Incline your ear, and come unto me: hear k, and your ſoul ſhall live l, and I will make an everlaſting covenant with you m, even the * ſure mercies of * 2 Sam.
David n. 7. 8.

k Hearken attentively and obediently to my Counſel: hearing 2 Chr. 6. 42.
being oft put for obeying, as Deut. 18. 15. 1 Sam. 15. 22, 23. Pſal. Pſ. 89. 24, 95. 7, &c. l To wit, comfortably and happily; which only is 28, 29, 33, worthy of the name of Life. m That everlaſting Covenant of 37. Act. 13.
Grace and Peace which I made with Abraham, and his Seed, the 34.
Iſraelites, I am ready to make it with every one of you thirſting Gentiles. n Even that Covenant which was made firſt with Abraham, and then with David, concerning the exhibition of thoſe glorious and ſure Mercies or Bleſſings which God hath promiſed to his People, one and the chief of which Mercies was the giving of Chriſt to die for their ſins, and to riſe again for their juſtification. This Expoſition may receive light and ſtrength by comparing this place with Acts 13. 33, 34. He mentions David rather than Abraham, either 1. Becauſe theſe Promiſes, and eſpecially that great Promiſe, which is the foundation of the reſt, concerning Chriſt and his eternal Kingdom, were far more frequently, and expreſly, and fully made and revealed to David, than they were to Abraham. Or 2. Becauſe David was a more evident and illuſtrious Type of Chriſt than Abraham was, as being raiſed from a mean condition to the higheſt honour, being made a great and moſt victorious and righteous King, and the firſt King of that Throne upon which the Meſſiah was to ſit. Or 3. Becauſe the name of David is not here put perſonally for the King of that Name, but patronimically for the Meſſiah who was to be David's Son and Succeſſor, and who is therefore called David in the prophetical Scriptures, as Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23, 24. & 37. 24, 25. Hſ. 3. 5. as Rehoboam upon the ſame account is called David, 1 Kings 12. 16. And this is the more probable, becauſe the next verſe, which hath a manifeſt Relation to this verſe, is confeſſedly underſtood of Chriſt.

4 Behold, I have given o him p for a witneſs q to the people r, a leader and commander s to the people.

o I have already appointed, and will in due time actually give. p The David laſt mentioned, even Chriſt, the Son and Succeſſor of David, as is plain and certain from the titles and works aſcribed to him in this and in the following Verſe. But of this ſee the laſt Note upon the former Verſe. q To be a Prophet or Teacher, to declare the Counſel and Will of God concerning the duty and Salvation of Men, to bear witneſs unto the truth, as Chriſt himſelf affirmeth, Joh. 18. 37. to confirm God's Promiſes, Rom. 15. 8. and, amongſt others, thoſe which reſpect the calling and reconciliation of the Gentiles: to be a witneſs for both parties of that Covenant made between God and Men. r Not only to my People of Iſrael, but to all People, Gentiles no leſs than Jews, as is evident from the following Verſe, and from Iſa. 49. 6. and divers other places. s A ſoveraign Prince to give them Laws, and exact their Obedience, and in caſe of their Obedience to give them Protection and Rewards.

5 Behold, thou l ſhalt call m a nation that thou || knoweſt not n, and nations that knew not thee o ſhall run unto thee p, becauſe of the LORD thy God q, and for the holy One of Iſrael; for he hath glorified thee r.

l Thou, O Meſſiah, of whom he now ſpake, v. 4. and to whom he ſuddenly turneth his ſpeech, as is very common in the Prophets. m To wit, unto thy ſelf, and to the knowledge of thy ſelf, as appears from the following words, and by thee unto acquaintance and fellowſhip with God. n Or rather, didſt not know, to wit, with that ſpecial knowledge which implies approbation, and tender Care and Affection, as words of knowledge are moſt frequently uſed in Scripture: the Gentiles to whom, in former times, thou didſt not make known thy Law and Covenant, and the way of Salvation, Acts 14. 16. and 17. 30. o That had but little knowledge of God, and no knowledge of the Meſſiah. p Upon thy call ſhall ſpeedily and readily come to thee to receive Inſtructions from thee, and to follow thee whitherſoever thou ſhalt lead them. q Becauſe the Lord ſhall by many evident and unqueſtionable tokens, manifeſt himſelf to be thy God, and thee to be his Son and faithful ſervant. r Becauſe the God of Iſrael, who is the only true God, will highly honour thee by his ſingular preſence with thee, by his almighty Power accompanying thy Word, and making it wonderfully effectual for the converſion of an innumerable company, both of Jews and Gentiles, and by confirming thy Word with illuſtrious Signs and miracles, and particularly by thy Reſurrection, and glorious Aſcenſion. Theſe and other like conſiderations were the motives which convinced the Gentiles, that Chriſt was the true Meſſiah, and the Religion which he taught was the true Religion.

* Pſa. 32. 6.

6 * Seek ye the LORD s while he may be found t; call ye upon him while he is near u.

s Having diſcourſed of the Office and Work of Chriſt, and ſhewed that he ſhould call People and Nations to himſelf, and to God, he now endeavours to perſuade the People to hearken to his Call, and to ſeek the Lord, i. e. To labour to get the knowledge of God's Will, and to obtain his Grace and Favour; neither of which things were to be done but in and through Chriſt. And this Invitation or exhortation is general like that v. 1. reaching to all nations, both Jews and Gentiles, implying, that both of them had loſt him and his Favour, and were gone aſtray from him. Seek him ye Gentiles, whom he now inviteth ſo to do, and will aſſiſt in finding him. And ſeeing the Gentiles ſeek him earneſtly, let their example provoke you Jews to imitate them therein, and take heed that you do not reject him whom they will receive and own. t In this day of Grace, whileſt he offereth Mercy and Reconciliation to you; which he will not always do. Compare Prov. 1. 24, &c. Luk. 19. 44. 2 Cor. 6. 2. u Near to you by his gracious preſence and offers, in his Ordinances, ready and deſirous to receive you to Mercy upon the following conditions.

7 Let the wicked man x forſake his way y, and † the unrighteous man his thoughts z: and let him return unto the LORD a, and he will have mercy upon him, and to our GOD b, for † he will abundantly pardon c.

x Any wicked man, either Jew or Gentile. y His evil or wicked way, as is evident from the foregoing word, and as it is more fully expreſſed, Jer. 18. 11. & 25. 5. which is called his way, becauſe it is natural, and cuſtomary, and dear to him, and in oppoſition to God's good way: his ſinful courſe or manner of Life. Let him ceaſe to do evil, as it is Iſa. 1. 16. This he adds to intimate that Men's ſeeking and calling upon God will do them no good without Reformation of their Lives. z The ſinful devices and purpoſes of his Mind. Thus he ſtrikes at the root of ſinful actions, and ſheweth that the heart muſt be purged and changed as well as the outward actions. a As he hath departed from God by ſin, let him turn to him by ſincere Repentance, and the practice of all God's precepts. Whereby he intimates that a meer abſtinence from wicked courſes is not ſufficient, without the exerciſe of the contrary Graces: that we muſt not only ceaſe to do evil, but alſo learn to do well, as it is preſcribed, Iſa. 1. 16. b To the God of Iſrael, who is and hath ſhewed himſelf to be a moſt merciful and gracious God. c He uſeth ſo many Words and Arguments to encourage them to Repentance, becauſe the perſons here invited were guilty of Idolatry, Apoſtacy, and many other groſs wickedneſſes: which he knew, when they came to themſelves, and to a ſerious ſenſe of their ſins, and of the juſt and holy Nature and Law of God, would be an inſupportable burden to their awakened Conſciences, and make them very prone to conclude, that God either could not or would not pardon ſuch horrid Delinquencies, and therefore would rather drive them from God, than draw them to him.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways d, ſaith the LORD.

d My diſpoſition and carriage is vaſtly differing from yours. If any man provoke or injure you, eſpecially if he do it greatly and frequently and maliciouſly, you are very ſlow and backward to forgive him, and if you do or ſeem to forgive, and promiſe to forget, and paſs it by, yet you retain a ſecret grudge in your hearts, and upon the leaſt occaſion, and ſlight offence, you forget your Promiſe, and you are ſoon weary with forgiving, and prone to revenge your ſelves upon him; but it is not ſo with me: For I am ſlow to anger, and ready to forgive all true penitents, how many, and great, and numberleſs ſoever their ſins be; and my Promiſes of Mercy and Pardon ſhall be infallibly made good to them. And therefore you need not fear to come to me, or to find Mercy and acceptance with me.

9 For as the heavens are higher than the earth e, ſo are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

e Inexpreſſibly and infinitely: for the diſtance between the Earth and the higheſt Heavens is unmeaſurable by any man upon Earth.

10 For * as the rain cometh down, and the ſnow f from heaven, and returneth not thither g, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give ſeed to the ſower, and bread to the eater h.

f Which in its ſeaſon contributes to the fruitfulneſs of the Earth as well as the Rain. g To wit, void or without effect, as it is expreſſed in the next verſe: or immediately: it is not drawn up again as ſoon as it is come down, and abides for a covenient time upon the Earth, until it do that work for which it was ſent. h That it may bring forth ſtore of Bread-corn, both for mens preſent ſupplies, and for ſeed for the next year.

11 So ſhall my word i be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it ſhall not * return unto me void k, but it ſhall accompliſh that which I pleaſe, and it ſhall proſper in the thing whereto I ſent it l.

i My promiſes before recited concerning the ſending of the Meſſiah, and the bleſſing of his Labours with ſuch wonderful ſucceſs, and concerning the reconciliation and pardon of the greateſt ſinners, and concerning the Redemption and Salvation of his People. k Without ſucceſs. It is an alluſion to an Ambaſſador who returns without diſpatching that buſineſs for which he was ſent. l It ſhall have that effect which I intended, it ſhall certainly be fulfilled in manner before expreſſed.

12 For m ye ſhall go out n with joy, and be led forth o with peace p: the mountains and the hills ſhall * break forth before you into ſinging, and all * the trees of the field ſhall clap their hands q.

m Or, Therefore: becauſe God hath promiſed it, and therefore will effect it. n Ye ſhall be releaſed from the place and ſtate of your Bondage. He alludes to their going out of Egypt, which was a type of their ſucceeding deliverances, and eſpecially of their Redemption by Chriſt from the power of ſin and of the Devil. o Or, be led along, be conducted by the gracious and powerful preſence of God, as you were in the Wilderneſs. p Safely and triumphantly without fear of being retaken and brought back into ſlavery by your Enemies. q There ſhall be a great and general rejoycing at your deliverance: ſo that even the ſenſeleſs Creatures ſhall ſeem to rejoice with you and for you.

13 * Inſtead of the thorn ſhall come up the fir-tree, and inſtead of the briar ſhall come up the myrtle-tree q: and it ſhall be to the LORD for a name r, for an everlaſting ſign s that ſhall not be cut off t.

q Whereas your Land was filled with Thorns and Briars, as was foretold, Iſa. 7. 24. they ſhall be rooted out, and it ſhall be planted with Fir-trees and Myrtle-trees, and ſuch other Trees, which are uſeful either for Fruit or for Delight. Or, this Promiſe may be anſwerable to that Ezek. 28. 24. There ſhall be no more a pricking briar unto the houſe of Iſrael, nor any grieving thorn, &c. but inſtead of them ſhall be ſuch Trees as ſhall yield ſhade and refreſhment. The meaning is, The Church ſhall be delivered from pernicious men and things, and repleniſhed with ſincere and ſerious Believers, and with all ſorts of divine Graces and Bleſſings. r This wonderful change ſhall bring much honour to that God by whom it is wrought. s For a Monument, or evident and glorious Token of God's infinite Power, and Faithfulneſs, and Love to his People unto all ſucceeding Generations. t Which ſhall never be aboliſhed, but ſhall aways live and flouriſh in the Minds and Mouths of Men.

CHAP. LVI.

Bleſſedneſs of the Godly : without any reſpect of perſons, 1,—18.
Blind watchmen ſhall be deſtroyed, 9,—12.

THus ſaith the LORD a, Keep ye ‖ judgment, and do juſtice b: for my ſalvation c is near to come d, and my righteouſneſs e to be revealed.

a This verſe and the reſt of this Chapter, until v. 9. ſeems to belong to the foregoing Propheſie. From the conſideration of God's Promiſes made to them he moveth them to perform their duty to him. b This Phraſe elſewhere ſignifies the duties which one man oweth to another, but here it ſeems to ſignifie the Duties which men owe to God, as it is explained in the following verſes. c That eminent Salvation by the Meſſiah ſo largely promiſed, and inſiſted upon in the foregoing Chapters : for which it behoves you to prepare your ſelves, and in which, without this condition you ſhall have no ſhare nor benefit. d So the Scripture uſeth to ſpeak of things which are at a great diſtance, as if they were preſent or at hand, See Hab. 2. 3. Jam. 5. 8, 9. Rev. 22. 20. e The ſame thing which he now called Salvation, and here calleth his Righteouſneſs, becauſe it is an evident demonſtration of God's Righteouſneſs, as in the fulfilling of his promiſes, ſo in the puniſhment of ſin, and in the ſalvation of ſinners upon juſt and honourable terms.

2 Bleſſed is the man f that doth this g, and the ſon of man that layeth hold on it h: that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it i, and keepeth his hand k from doing any evil l.

f Every man, not only Jews, but Gentiles, or Strangers, as it is explained in the following Verſes. g Judgment and Juſtice, mentioned v. 1. h Or, that holdeth it faſt, that is reſolute and conſtant in ſo doing ; that not only begins well, but perſeveres in it. i That guardeth the Sabbath from prophanation, and doth not defile it, either by forbidden practices, or by the neglect of commanded duties. And the Sabbath ſeems to be put here, as Sacrifice is elſewhere, Synecdochically for the whole Worſhip of God, whereof this is an eminent part, and the bond of all the reſt. k Which being the great inſtrument of Action, is put for all the kinds and means of Action. l To wit, to ones Neighbour, as it more fully expreſſed, Pſal. 15. 3.

3 Neither let the ſon of a ſtranger m, that hath joined himſelf to the LORD n, ſpeak, ſaying, The LORD hath utterly ſeparated me from his people ; neither let the eunuch o ſay, Behold, I am a dry tree p.

m The ſtranger, as the ſon of man is the ſame with the man, v. 2. the Gentile, who by Birth is a ſtranger to God, and to the Common-wealth of Iſrael. n That hath turned from dumb Idols to the living God, and to the true Religion : for ſuch ſhall be as acceptable to me as the Iſraelites themſelves, and the partition-wall between Jews and Gentiles ſhall be taken down, and Repentance and Remiſſion of ſins ſhall be preached and offered to men of all Nations. o Who is here joined with the ſtranger, becauſe he was forbidden to enter into the Congregation of the Lord, Deut. 23. 1. as the ſtranger was, and by his barrenneſs might ſeem no leſs than the ſtranger to be caſt out of God's Covenant, and cut off from his People, to whom the bleſſing of a numerous Poſterity was promiſed. And under theſe two Inſtances he underſtands all thoſe perſons, who either by Birth, or by any Ceremonial Pollution, were excluded from the participation of Church priviledges, and ſo he throws open the door to all true Believers without any reſtriction whatſoever. p A ſapleſs and fruitleſs Tree, accurſed by God with the curſe of barrenneſs, which being oft threatned as a Curſe, and being a matter of Reproach among the Jews might eaſily occaſion ſuch diſcouraging thoughts as are here expreſſed.

4 For thus ſaith the LORD unto the eunuchs that keep my ſabbaths, and chooſe the things that pleaſe me q, and take hold of my covenant r:

q That obſerve my Commands not by cuſtom, or force, or fear, but by free choice, and full conſent, with love to them and delight in them. r That reſolvedly and ſtedfaſtly keep the conditions of my Covenant.

5 Even unto them will I give in mine houſe s, and within my walls t, a place and a name better than of ſons and daughters u: I will give them an everlaſting name, that ſhall not be cut off.

s In my Temple, to ſerve me there as Prieſts, which Eunuchs were not allowed to do, Lev. 21. 17, &c. Deut. 23. 1. t In the Courts of my Temple, which were encompaſſed with Walls. This ſeems to be added with reſpect to the People who were admitted into the Court, but not into the Houſe it ſelf. u A far greater Bleſſing and Honour than that of having poſterity, which was but a temporal Mercy, and that common to the worſt of men, even my Favour, and my Spirit, and eternal Felicity.

6 Alſo the ſons of the ſtranger, that join themſelves to the LORD x, to ſerve him, and to love the name of the LORD y, to be his ſervants, every one that keepeth the ſabbath from polluting it, and taketh hold of my covenant:

x That with purpoſe of heart cleave unto him, as is ſaid, Acts 11. 23. y To ſerve him out of love to him, and to his Worſhip.

7 Even them will I * bring to my holy mountain z, and make them joyful a in my houſe of prayer b: their burnt-offerings and other ſacrifices ſhall be accepted upon mine altar c: for * mine houſe ſhall be called an houſe of prayer for all people d.

* Mat. 21. 13. Mat. 11. 17. Luk. 19. 46.

z To my houſe, as it is explained in the following clauſe, which ſtood upon Mount Sion, largely ſo called, including Mount Moriah. Formerly the Gentiles neither had any deſire to come thither, nor were admitted there ; but now I will incline their heats to come, and I will give them admiſſion and free liberty to come into my Church. a By accepting their ſervices, and comforting their hearts with the ſenſe of my Love, and pouring down all ſorts of bleſſings upon them. b In my Temple, in and towards which Prayers are daily made and directed unto me, 1 King. 8. 19, 28. c They ſhall have as free acceſs to mine Houſe and Altar, as the Jews themſelves, and their ſervices ſhall be as acceptable to me as theirs. Evangelical Worſhip is here deſcribed under ſuch Expreſſions as agreed to the Worſhip of God which then was in uſe, as it is Mal. 1. 11. and elſewhere. See alſo Rom. 12. 1. Heb. 13. 15. d Jews and Gentiles ſhall have equal freedom of acceſs to my Houſe, and ſhall there call upon my Name. Poſſibly he may call it an Houſe of Prayer, either to imply that Prayer to God, whereof Thanſgiving is a part, is a more conſiderable part of God's Worſhip than Sacrifice, which being conſidered in it ſelf is little valued by him, as he frequently declareth : or to ſignifie that in the New Teſtament, when the Gentiles ſhould be called, all other Sacrifices ſhould ceaſe, except that of Prayer, and ſuch like Spiritual Services. Which alſo is confirmed from the nature of the thing. For ſeeing Sacrifices were confined to the Temple at Jeruſalem, and it was impoſſible that all Nations ſhould reſort thither to offer up Levitical Sacrifices in ſuch time and manner as God appointed, it was neceſſary upon ſuppoſition of the general converſion of the Gentiles, that that way of Worſhip ſhould be aboliſhed, and ſuch a way preſcribed as they were capable of practiſing.

8 The Lord GOD, which gathereth the out caſts of Iſrael e, ſaith, Yet will I gather others to him, † beſides thoſe that are gathered unto him f.

e Which will gather to himſelf, and bring into their own Land, thoſe poor Iſraelites which are, or ſhall be, caſt out of their own Land, and from God's preſence, and diſperſed in divers parts of the World. f As there are ſome few Gentiles whom I have made Proſelytes, and added to the Jewiſh Church, ſo I ſhall make another and a far more comprehenſive gathering of the Gentiles, whom I ſhall bring into the ſame Church with the Jews, making both Jews and Gentiles one fold under one Shepherd, as it is promiſed, Joh. 10. 16.

g This invitation or proclamation is a prediction of Iſrael's Deſtruction by their cruel Enemies, which are oft expreſſed in Scripture under the names of ravenous Beaſts. But the great Queſtion is, What connexion this part of the Chapter hath with the former? Which may be thus conceived: The Prophet having largely diſcourſed concerning the Meſſiah, and his Church and Kingdom, and particularly of the great acceſſion and converſion of the Gtntiles to it, and of the Infidelity, Apoſtacy, and manifold Wickedneſſes of the Jewiſh Nation, and having comforted and encouraged the Gentiles with God's gracious promiſes made to them, he now proceeds to terrifie the unbelieving and ungodly Jews, and to ſhew that as the Gentiles ſhould believe, and be ſaved, ſo They ſhould reject their Meſſiah, and be utterly deſtroyed ; although we need not labour much about the coherence : For this may be a new Sermon, and therefore many learned Interpreters make this the beginning of the 57*th* Chapter.

10 His h watchmen i are blind : they are all ignorant k, they are all dumb dogs, they cannot bark l, ‖ ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber m.

h Iſraels, as is evident from the following verſes : the Pronoun Relative being put without, and inſtead of the Antecedent ; of which I have given divers Inſtances before. i Prieſts and Prophets, or other Teachers, who are commonly called Watchmen, as Ezek. 3. 17. & 33. 2. Hoſ. 9. 8. He mentions only the Teachers, becauſe Ignorance was moſt ſhameful in them, but hereby he ſuppoſeth the groſs ignorance of the People, who neither pretended nor deſired to be wiſer than their Teachers. k Of God's Will and Word, and of their own and the Peoples duty, and of the true Meſſiah. l They are alſo ſlothful and negligent in inſtructing the people, and do not faithfully reprove them for their ſins, nor warn them of their dangers, nor keep them from Errours and Corruptions in Doctrine, and Worſhip, and Converſation, as they ought to do. m Minding their own eaſe and ſafety more than the Peoples benefit.

11 Yea, they are † greedy dogs which † * can never have enough n, and they are ſhepherds that cannot underſtand o : they * all look to their own way p, every one for his gain from his quarter q.

* Ezek. 34. 2, 3.

n Inſatiably covetous. o Heb. that know not to underſtand, that do not care, or love, or deſire (as knowing is frequently taken) either to underſtand the Law, or Word of God themſelves, or to make the People to underſtand it. p They regard neither God's Command and Glory, nor the Peoples good, but only the ſatisfaction of their own baſe Luſts. See on Iſa. 53. 6. q In their ſeveral places and ſtations, as they have opportunity: Heb. from his or their end or extremity, i. e. univerſally, or all from one end of that Body or Society of men unto the other : as the ſame word ſignifies Gen. 19. 4. from one end of the City to the other, or, as we there render it, from every quarter : and as the ſame word is by divers learned Men rendred 1 Kings 12. 31. not of the meaneſt of the people, but out of all the people, or indifferently out of every Tribe: of which ſee my note there. But if that Phraſe be rightly rendred there, out of the meaneſt of the people, as divers alſo expound the ſame Phraſe, Gen. 47. 2. of the meaneſt of his Brethren; why may it not as well be rendred here, even from the meaneſt or pooreſt of his flock, which is a great aggravation of their covetouſneſs and cruelty, to extort gains from ſuch as needed their Charity.

12 Come ye, ſay they q, I will fetch wine, and we will fill our ſelves r with ſtrong drink, and to morrow ſhall be as this day, and much more abundant s.

q Unto their Brethren, by Office, and in Iniquity: unto their Fellow-Prieſts, or other jolly companions. r We will drink not not only to Delight, but even to Drunkenneſs, as the word ſignifies, Mich. 1. 10. and elſewhere. s Which ſheweth their dreadful ſecurity and contempt of God, and of his Judgments, and their total and reſolved abandoning of all care of their own or Peoples Souls.

Although the word, King, may be here taken collectively for the Kings of Aſſyria or Egypt, or any other King, from whom they deſired or expected help in their ſtraits. And ſo the Prophet paſſeth here from their Idolatry to another ſin, even to their carnal confidence in Heathen Princes, for which they are oft ſeverely reproved; although theſe two ſins were commonly joined together, and they eaſily received Idolatry from thoſe Kings whoſe help they deſired. n With pretious Ointments, and particularly with balm, which was of great price, and was a commodity peculiar to thoſe parts, and was ſometimes ſent as a preſent. l To God's Tribunal, to anſwer for your ſelves, and to hear what I have to ſay againſt you, and to receive your ſentence. m Not by propagation, but by imitation; ſuch being frequently called a Man or Womans Sons that learn their Art, and follow their Example: you Sorcerers, either Properly or Metaphorically ſo called; for the Jews were guilty of it both ways. n Not the genuine Children of Abraham, as you pretend and boaſt, but begotten in Fornication upon a common Whore. Which is not to be underſtood properly but figuratively, becauſe their diſpoſitions and carriages were far more ſuitable to a baſtardly brood, than to Abraham's Seed.

o Conſider whom it is that you mock and ſcoff when you deride God's Prophets, as they did, Iſa. 28. 14, 22. and know that it is not ſo much Men that you abuſe, as God, whoſe Cauſe they plead, and in whoſe name they ſpeak. p Theſe are the known and common geſtures of Mockers, of which ſee Job 16. 10. Pſal. 22. 7. & 35. 21. q Either an adulterous brood, as was ſaid before: or, a Generation of Liars, whoſe practices groſly contradict your principles and profeſſions, who deal deceitfully and perfidiouſly both with God and with Men.

5 Enflaming your ſelves † with idols r * under every green tree s: * ſlaying the children t in the valleys u under the clifts of the rocks x?

* 2 Kings 16. 4.
* Ezek. 16. 20. & 20. 26.

r Heb. being enflamed, &c. luſting after them, and mad upon them, as the Phraſe is, Jer. 50. 38. fervent both in making and in worſhipping of them, as was obſerved, Iſa. 44. 12, &c. It is a Metaphor borrowed from Whoredom to which Idolatry is oft compared. s Whereſoever you ſee an Idol erected, which was commonly done in Groves, or under great and ſhady trees, which both defended the Worſhippers from the heat of the Sun, and were ſuppoſed to ſtrike them with a kind of ſacred Horrour and Reverence. See on Deut. 12. 2. 2 King. 16. 4. & 17. 10. t In way of Sacrifice to their Idols, after the manner of the barbarous Heathens; of which ſee on Lev. 18. 21. Deut. 12. 31. 2 King. 21. 6. & 23. 10. u Or, beſides the brooks, which run in the valleys: which was moſt commodious for ſuch bloody work, He ſeems to allude to to valley of Hinnom in which theſe cruelties were practiſed, Jer. 7. 31. through which alſo the Brook Kidron is ſuppoſed to have run. x Which they choſe either for ſhade, or for thoſe dark vaults and hollow places, which were either by Nature or Art made in rocks, and which were convenient for, and frequently appointed to idolatrous uſes.

6 Among the ſmooth ſtones of the ſtream is thy portion y; they are thy lot z: even to them haſt thou poured a drink-offering, thou haſt offered a meat-offering a. Should I receive comfort in theſe b?

y Thou haſt choſen for thy portion thoſe Idols which were either made of thoſe ſmooth ſtones which were caſt up by Rivers; or which were worſhipped upon Altars made of ſuch ſtones; or which were worſhipped by the ſides of Brooks or Rivers where ſuch ſmooth ſtones commonly lie. z Thou haſt forſaken me and choſen Idols for the great object of thy Worſhip and Truſt. a For the Devil is God's Ape, and Idolaters uſed the ſame Rites and offerings in the Worſhip of Idols which God had preſcribed in his own, Num. 15. 4, &c. b Should I be pleaſed with ſuch a people and ſuch Actions? Muſt I not needs be highly provoked, and ſhew my diſpleaſure by an exemplary puniſhment of ſuch wicked and fooliſh Actions? This is an uſual Figure, called Meioſis, or Litotes, when leſs is ſaid, and more is underſtood.

7 * Upon a lofty and high mountain c haſt thou ſet thy bed d: even thither wenteſt thou up to offer ſacrifice.

* Ezek. 16. 16, 25.

c In high places, which were much uſed for Religious Worſhip, both by Iſraelites and by Heathens. d Thine Altar, as appears from the Sacrifice here following, in which thou didſt commit ſpiritual Whoredom with Idols. Compare Ezek. 23. 17, 41.

8 Behind * the doors alſo and the poſts e haſt thou ſet up thy remembrance f: for thou haſt diſcovered thy ſelf to another than me g, and art gone up h: thou haſt enlarged thy bed i, and ‖ made a covenant with them k; * thou lovedſt their bed ‖ where thou ſaweſt it l.

* Ezek. 8. 10. & 23. 14.
* Ezek. 16. 25, 28. & 23. 12, &c.

e Which by a Figure called Hendiaduo may be put for the door-poſts, as it is expreſſed, Deut. 11. 20. Behind the poſts of the doors of thine Houſe: where the Heathens are ſaid to have placed their tutelar gods to whoſe protection they committed themſelves and their Houſes, that ſo they might have their Eyes and Minds upon them, whenſoever they went out or came in. Here alſo the Iſraelites might put them in ſome cloſe corner, that they might keep them ſecret, it being opprobrious, and oft times dangerous for them to worſhip Idols. f Thoſe Images or Monuments and tokens which thou didſt make and ſet up there as remembrances of thoſe Idol-gods whom they repreſented, or to whom they belonged. He ſaith, thy remembrance, in oppoſition to God's remembrances, or to that Writing of God's Law upon their door-poſts, which God preſcribed to keep him and his Law in their remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. & 11. 20. g Thou haſt uncovered thy nakedneſs; i. e. proſtituted thy Body (as the Phraſe commonly ſignifies) to others beſides me thine Husband. Heb. from with me (departing from me, or, as it were riſing out of my Bed) thou haſt uncovered or proſtituted thy ſelf to others like an impudent and inſatiable ſtrumpet. h Into the Adulterous Bed, as this very word is uſed, Gen. 49. 4. i That it might receive many Adulterers together. Thou haſt multiplied thine Idols and Altars. k Thou haſt covenanted to ſerve them, and to expect help from them. But becauſe the verb here uſed being thus put by it ſelf, never ſignifies to make a Covenant, it ſeems to be better rendred in the margent of our Bible, and by others, haſt hewed it (to wit, thy Bed, which is expreſſed both in the next foregoing, and in the next following words:) for thy ſelf (for thine Idolatrous uſes:) larger than theirs, than their Bed, as it follows: or thus, didſt hew down (to wit, trees, which is eaſily underſtood both from the Verb, and from the nature of the thing) to or for thy ſelf (to make Images or other things relating to thy falſe Gods) more than they, more than the Heathens, of whom thou haſt learned theſe practices, as God complains, 2 Kings 21. 9. Ezek. 16. 46, 47, 52. l No ſooner didſt thou ſee their Idols but thou waſt enamoured with them, and didſt fall down and worſhip them, like an unchaſte and lewd Woman, who upon all occaſions, and at the very firſt view of any man, is inflamed with Luſt towards them. Heb. thou lovedſt their Bed (i. e. their filthy converſation) in the place (for ſo this Hebrew word frequently ſignifies, as Deut. 23. 12. Iſa. 22. 18. and elſewhere,) where thou ſaweſt it. Or, thus, thou lovedſt their bed, thou didſt provide (as this word ſignifies, Exod. 18. 21. and ſo doth a word of the very ſame ſignification, Gen. 22. 8.) a place for it, to receive their Bed, to ſet up their Idols in thine own houſe.

9 And ‖ * thou wenteſt l to the king m with ointment n, and didſt encreaſe thy perfumes o, and didſt ſend thy meſſengers far off p, and didſt debaſe thy ſelf even unto hell q.

* Ch. 30. 6. Ezek. 16. 33. & 23. 16.

l Either by thy ſelf, or, by thy meſſengers, as it follows. Or, thou didſt look, to wit, earneſtly, with expectation and vehement affection. m Either to Moloch, which was as it were the King or chief of their Idols, and which ſignifies a King. Or, to the great King of Aſſyria, called the King by way of eminency, to whom the Iſraelites in the days of Iſaiah were very prone to ſeek, and truſt, and ſend preſents. Although the word, King, may be here taken collectively for the Kings of Aſſyria or Egypt, or any other King, from whom they deſired or expected help in their ſtraits. And ſo the Prophet paſſeth here from their Idolatry to another ſin, even to their carnal confidence in Heathen Princes, for which they are oft ſeverely reproved; although theſe two ſins were commonly joined together, and they eaſily received Idolatry from thoſe Kings whoſe help they deſired. n With pretious Ointments, and particularly with balm, which was of great price, and was a commodity peculiar to thoſe parts, and was ſometimes ſent as a preſent. See Gen. 43. 11. Jer. 8. 22. & 46. 11. o Didſt ſend great quantities thereof to them to procure their aid. p Into Aſſyria, which was far from Judæa. q Thou waſt willing to ſubmit to the baſeſt terms to procure their aid.

10 Thou art wearied in the greatneſs of thy way r; yet ſaidſt thou not, There is no hope s: thou haſt

r Thou haſt not eaſed or relieved, but only tired thy ſelf with all thy tedious journeys, and laborious endeavours. s And yet thou waſt ſo ſtupid under all thy diſcouragements and diſappointments, that thou didſt not perceive that thy labour was loſt, and that thy caſe was not mended, but made worſe and deſperate by theſe practices. t Thou haſt found (i. e. Thou falſly imagineſt that thou haſt found, or ſhalt aſſuredly find by theſe courſes) the life (i. e. the ſtrength and vigour) of thine hand, that thine hand is ſtrengthned by theſe practices: or, life by thine hand, i. e. by theſe endeavours and applications of thy ſelf to others for help. Or, thou haſt ſometimes found ſucceſs in theſe ways. u Therefore thou didſt not repent of thy ſin and folly herein, but didſt perſiſt and applaud thy ſelf in ſuch courſes.

11 And of whom haſt thou been afraid or feared x, that thou haſt lied y, and haſt not remembred me x, nor laid it to thy heart a? have not I held my peace even of old b, and thou feareſt me not c!

x And what or who are they, the fear of whom drives thee to theſe wicked and deſperate courſes? Are they not men, weak and mortal Creatures, ſuch as wholly depend upon me, and can do nothing to thee either againſt me or without me? y That thou haſt dealt thus diſloyally and perfidiouſly with me, and ſought for ſuch foreign aſſiſtances, contrary to my command, and thy ſolemn Covenant. z Haſt thou forgotten all thoſe great things which I have done for thee, and all thoſe Promiſes which I have made to thee, and conſtantly performed, when thou haſt not groſly violated the conditions upon which they were made. a Or thus, nor ſet me upon thine heart, as theſe very words are rendred, Cant. 8. 6. And ſo this is a repetition of what is ſaid in the foregoing clauſe in other words. The ſenſe is, Thou haſt not ſeriouſly and affectionately conſidered what I am, how all-ſufficient, and faithful, and gracious, for then thou wouldeſt not have diſtruſted or diſobeyed me. b Have not I forborn to reprove and puniſh thee for this and for other ſins, from time to time, ever ſince thou waſt my People, that by this goodneſs I might oblige thee to love me, and to cleave unto me? c Or, therefore thou doſt not fear or regard me. Thus thou abuſeſt mine indulgence and long-ſuffering, taking occaſion from thence to deſpiſe me.

12 I will declare d thy righteouſneſs and thy works e, † for they ſhall not profit thee f. † Heb. and.

d I will no longer be ſilent and patient towards thee. e Which may be put for the righteouſneſs of thy works by that known figure, of which ſee the firſt note on v. 8. whereby he means their wickedneſs, which he calleth their righteouſneſs either Ironically, or becauſe it was covered with a pretence of Righteouſneſs, and they alledged that this was a juſt and lawful thing when they were diſtreſſed to ſeek for help from their Neighbours or Allies. The ſenſe is, I will diſcover whether thy works be righteous, as thou pretendeſt they are: my puniſhments ſhall manifeſt the wickedneſs of thy Actions. f Theſe Actions ſhall do thee no good but much hurt.

13 When thou crieſt g, let thy companies deliver thee h: but the wind ſhall carry them all away i; vanity k ſhall take them l; but he that putteth his truſt in me, ſhall poſſeſs the land, and ſhall inherit my holy mountain m.

g To wit, unto me for deliverance. h Expect it not from me whom thou haſt forſaken and deſpiſed, but from thoſe foreign troops to whom thou haſt ſought and truſted for ſuccour. i But they ſhall be ſo far from ſaving thee that they ſhall not be able to deliver themſelves, but ſhall be carried away ſuddenly and violently by the blaſt of mine anger. k A vapour or puff of Breath which quickly vaniſheth away. It is the ſame thing in effect with the wind. l Or, take them away, as this verb ſignified, Hoſ. 11. 15. and elſewhere. m Shall enjoy my favour and preſence in my Temple.

14 And ſhall ſay n, * Caſt ye up, caſt ye up o, prepare the way, take up the ſtumbling block out of the way of my people p. * Ch. 40. 3. & 62. 10.

n Heb. And he ſhall ſay: or, and one ſhall ſay. God will raiſe up a man who ſhall ſay theſe words, and that with authority and efficacy, ſo as the thing ſhall be done. o Make cauſeways, where it is needful, for their ſafe and eaſie paſſage. p Remove all things which may hinder them in their return.

15 For thus ſaith the high and lofty One that inhabiteth eternity, whoſe name is Holy q, I dwell in the high and holy place; * with him alſo that is of a contrite and humble ſpirit r, to revive the ſpirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite ones. * Pſ. 34. 18. & 51. 17. & 138. 6. q Who is omnipotent, everlaſting and unchangeable, holy in all his words and ways, and therefore both can and will deliver his People, as he hath promiſed to do. r With ſuch alſo whoſe Spirits are broken and humbled by Afflictions, and by a ſenſe of their ſins for which they were afflicted; which doubtleſs was the caſe of many of the Jews in the Babyloniſh Captivity: whom therefore he here implies that God would pity and deliver out of their Diſtreſſes.

16 For * I will not contend for ever s, neither will I be always wroth: for the ſpirit ſhould fail before me, and the ſouls * which I have made t. * Pſ. 103. 9. Mic. 7. 18. * Num. 16. Job 34. Heb. 12.

s I will not conſtantly proceed to the utmoſt ſeverity with ſinful men in this Life, and therefore I will put an end to the miſeries of the Jews, and turn their captivity. t For then their Spirits would ſink and die under my ſtroke, and I ſhould do nothing elſe but deſtroy the works of mine own hands. Therefore I conſider their Infirmity, and ſpare them. Compare Pſal. 78. 38, 39. & 103. 13, 14.

17 For the Iniquity of his covetouſneſs u was I wroth, and ſmote him: I hid me x, and was wroth, and he went on † frowardly in the way of his heart y. † Heb. turning away.

u Of which ſin the Jews were eminently guilty, as is expreſly affirmed Jer. 6. 13. & 8. 10. But this is not mentioned excluſively as to other ſins, but Synecdochically ſo as to comprehend all thoſe ſins for which God contended with them. x I withdrew my Favour and help from him, and left him in great calamities. y Yet he was not reformed by corrections, but in his diſtreſſes treſpaſſed more and more, as was ſaid of Ahaz, and obſtinately perſiſted in thoſe ſinful courſes which were choſen by and were moſt pleaſing to the Luſts of his own corrupt Heart.

18 I have ſeen his ways a, and will heal him b: I will lead him alſo, and reſtore comforts unto him, and c to his mourners d.

a I have taken notice of theſe evil ways in which he ſeems reſolved to walk, and that he is neither bettered by Mercies nor Judgments. b Or, yet I will heal him. Although I might juſtly deſtroy him, and leave him to periſh in his own ways, yet of my meer Mercy, and for my own Names ſake, I will pity them, and turn them from their ſins, and bring them out of their troubles. c Or, to wit, the copulative Conjunction being put expoſitively, as it is frequently. d To thoſe who are humbled under God's Hand, that mourn in Sion, Iſa. 61. 2, 3. for their own and others ſins, Ezek. 9. 4. and for the Calamities of God's Church and People, Iſa. 66. 10.

19 I create e * the fruit of the lips; peace f, peace g to him that is far off, and to him that is near h, ſaith the LORD, and I will heal him. * Pro. 15. Heb. 13. 15.

e I will by my Almighty Power, and in a wonderful manner produce. f Either 1. Praiſe or Thankſgiving, which is called the fruit of our lips, Hoſ. 14. 2. Heb. 13. 15. and Peace: Or rather 2. That Peace which is not wrought by Mens hands, but only by God's Lips or Word, Peace with God, and in a mans own Conſcience, which God hath promiſed to his People, and which he hath publiſhed and offered to all ſorts of men by the preaching of the Prophets, and eſpecially of the Apoſtles; as may be gathered both from the Object of this Peace in the following words, and by the excluſion of all wicked Men from the Peace, ver. 20, 21. g The doubling of the word ſignifies the certainty and abundance of this Peace. h To the Gentiles who are far from God, and from Salvation, Acts 2. 38, 39 Eph. 2. 12, &c. as well as to the Jews, who are called a people near unto God, Pſal. 148. 14.

20 But the wicked are like the troubled ſea, when it cannot reſt, whoſe waters caſt up mire and dirt i.

i Their Minds are reſtleſs, being perpetually hurried and tormented with their own Luſts and Paſſions, and with the horrour of their guilt, and the dread of the Divine Vengeance due unto them, and ready to come upon them.

21 * There is no peace, ſaith my God, to the wicked k. * Ch. 48. 22.

k Though they may have as great a ſhare of proſperity as the beſt of Men have, as appears from Pſal. 37. 35. & 73. 3, &c. Eccl. 8. 14. & 9. 1. yet they have no ſhare in this inward, and ſpiritual and everlaſting Peace.

The Jews hypocriſie: in their faſts, 1, —— 5. a true faſt deſcribed, 6, —— 7. promiſes to Godlineſs, 8, 12. to the keeping of the Sabbath, 13, 14.

CRy † aloud a, ſpare not b, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their tranſgreſſion, and the houſe of Jacob their ſins. † Heb. with the throat.

a The Prophet having in the foregoing Chapter noted and cenſured divers groſs miſcarriages of the Jews, proceeds upon the ſame Subject in this Chapter, and in God's name expoſtulates with them for other miſdemeanours. b Forbear not to ſpeak whatſoever I command thee for the conviction of this People.

2 Yet they ſeek me daily c, and delight to know my ways d, as a nation that did righteouſneſs e, and forſook not the † ordinance of their God f: they ask of me the ordinances of juſtice g: they take delight h in approaching to God i. † Heb. judgment. Jer. 5. 4. & 8. 7.

c They cover all their wickedneſs with a profeſſion of Religion, from time to time reſorting to my houſe, pretending to ask Counſel of me, and to deſire and ſeek my Favour and Bleſſing. d Either 1. They ſeem to delight in it: for men are oft ſaid in Scripture to be, or do, that which they ſeem or profeſs to be, or do, as Mat. 13. 12. that which he hath, is thus explained in Luk. 8. 18. that which he ſeemeth to have, and Rom. 7. 9. I was alive, i. e. I falſly thought my ſelf to be alive. See alſo Phil. 3. 9. Or 2. They really delight; for this is evident, that there are many men who take ſome pleaſure in the knowing of God's Will and Word, and yet do not conform their Lives to it. e As if they were a righteous and godly People. f As if they were not guilty of any Apoſtacy from God, or neglect of, or diſobedience to God's precepts. g As if they deſired and reſolved to obſerve them. h Of which ſee the ſecond note upon this verſe. i In coming to my Temple to hear my Word, and to offer Sacrifices.

3 Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not k? wherefore have we afflicted our ſoul l, and thou takeſt no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your faſt m, ye find pleaſure n, and exact all your || † labours o.

k They complain of hard uſage from God, that although they prayed, and faſted, and kept the reſt of God's ordinances, all which are ſynecdochically comprehended under the title of faſting, all their labour was loſt, and God neither regarded nor delivered them. l Defrauded and pinched our Appetites with faſting, of which this Phraſe is uſed, Levit. 16. 29. & 23. 27, 29. m In thoſe ſolemn days of faſting which I have appointed: or, in thoſe times when I have called you by the courſe of my Providence, and counſels of my Prophets, unto faſting, and weeping and mourning, &c. Iſa. 22. 12. n Either 1. You indulge your ſelves in ſenſuality, as they did, Iſa. 22. 13. But this doth not agree with that afflicting of their Souls which they now profeſſed, and which God acknowledgeth, ver. 5. Or rather 2. You purſue and ſatisfie your own Luſts: though you abſtain from bodily food, you do not mortifie your own ſinful concupiſcences, and when you are reſtrained from outward Acts, yet even then your Thoughts and Affections are ſet upon, and working toward thoſe things which gratifie your fleſhly Inclinations and worldly Intereſts. o Your money got by your labour, and lent to others either for their need, or your own advantage: for Labour is oft put for Wealth, as Deut. 28. 33. Iſa. 45. 14. &c. Heb. your griefs, not paſſively, thoſe things which are grievous to you, but actively ſuch as are very grievous and burdenſom to others, either hard Service, above the ſtrength of your Servants, or beyond the time limited by God for their Service, of which ſee an Inſtance, Jer. 34. 13, 14, 15, 16. or debts, which you require either with uſury, or at leaſt with rigour and cruelty, when either the general Law of Charity, or God's particular and poſitive Law, commanded the releaſe or at leaſt the forbearance of them; of which ſee an inſtance, Nehem. 5. 1, 2, &c.

p Your faſting days, wherein you ought in a ſpecial manner to implore the Mercy of God, and to ſhew compaſſion to Men, you imploy in a great meaſure in injuring or quarreling with your Brethren, your Servants or Debtors, or in contriving miſchief againſt them, as if the deſign of your faſting and praying to God, were only to obtain a licence to oppreſs Men. Compare Mat. 23. 14. q Or, with a wicked fiſt, a Genitive of the Adjunct. To deal rigorouſly and injuriouſly with your Servants or Debtors, which Servants, it may be, had ſold themſelves to the year of Redemption, Exod. 21. 2. Lev. 25. 39, 40, 50. In ſtrife and Debate, in which Mens Paſſion ſhew themſelves by loud clamours. Or 2. So as to cauſe the cry of the oppreſſed, by reaſon of your injuries, of what kind ſoever, to enter into the Ears of God, which is a crying ſin, whether it proceed from unmercifulneſs, Exod. 22. 25, 26, 27. which ſometimes encreaſeth to rage, 2 Chr. 28. 9. or from injuſtice, ch. 5. 7. or from fraud and deceit, Jam. 5. 4. * Lev. 16. 29.

s Approve of, accept, or delight in, by a Metonymy, becauſe we delight in what we freely chuſe. t Or, to afflict his Soul for a day, It is an Hypallage, and ſo it may be underſtood, either for a man to take a certain time to afflict his Soul in, and that either from even to even, Lev. 23. 32. or from morning to evening, Judg. 20. 26. 2 Sam. 3. 35. or elſe, to afflict his Soul for a little time. u Or, keep himſelf low, or chaſtiſe the body for want of Food, viz. outwardly without any inward ſorrow, or compunction for ſin, working a true Humiliation in the ſight of God. x Put here Synecdochically for the Body or Perſon, as is uſual in Scripture, Gen. 46. 18, 22, 25. Lev. 2. 2, 4. & 7. 20, 21, 27. & 22. 11. y Here the Prophets ſets down thoſe external geſtures and poſtures in particular, which they did joyn with their hypocritical faſts, as he had mentioned it before in general. To bow down, bowing is the poſture of mourners, Pſal. 35. 14. and here it is either, as if through weakneſs of Body their Heads did hang down; or counterfeitly, to repreſent the poſture of true penitents, moving ſometimes their Heads this way, and that way, as the word ſignifieth, not unlike the ballance of a Clock, as the Bullruſh moved by the Wind boweth it ſelf down, waving to and fro, in a kind of circular, or ſemicircular motion, the contrary motion of lifting up the Head being an Indication of Pride, Ch. 3. 16. It is the guiſe of Hypocrites to put on affected Countenances, Mat. 6. 16. z The Jews to expreſs their ſorrow, made uſe of Sackloth and Aſhes two ways: 1. Sometimes by putting on Sackloth upon their Bodies, as 1 Kin. 21. 27. Pſ. 69. 11. and caſting aſhes upon their Heads, 2 Sam. 13. 19. And 2. Sometimes by ſpreading Sackcloth under them, and lying down upon Aſhes, Eſth. 4. 3. Job 2. 8. The Intent of Sackcloth was to afflict the Body by its unpleaſing harſhneſs, and of Aſhes to repreſent their own vileneſs, as being but Duſt and Aſhes; their putting of them on might note their uneaſineſs under ſin, and laying on them their ſelf-abhorrency, ſhaming themſelves for it. Quer. Are ſuch Rites now convenient on a day of Humiliation to help us in our afflicting of our ſelves? Anſw. Goſpel Services neither require them, or need them, reſpecting more the inward afflicting of the Soul with godly ſorrow, and deep contrition; yet may they carry this inſtruction along with them, that our Ornaments, our beſt and gawdy Apparel, ought to be laid aſide, as not ſuiting either the ground and cauſe, or the end and deſign of days of Humiliation. a i. e. Canſt thou upon a rational account as a meer man call it ſo? Canſt thou think, ſuppoſe, or believe it to be ſo? b It being ſuch an one as has nothing in it, but the lifeleſs Skeleton and dumb ſigns of a Faſt, nothing of deep Humiliation appearing in it, or, real Reformation proceeding from it: Not that the Prophet blames them for theſe external Rites in this outward way of afflicting themſelves. For this he commands, Lev. 23. 27, 31, 32. and appoints certain Rites to be uſed, Lev. 16. 19, 21. And theſe particular Rites were frequent in their ſolemn Humiliations, 1 Kin. 21. 27. Eſth. 4. 3. Dan. 9. 3. uſed alſo by the Heathen, Jon. 3. 5, 6. See Mat. 11. 21. But that which he condemns is their Hypocriſie in ſeparating true Humiliation from them, for bodily exerciſe profiteth little, 1 Tim. 4. 8. c A day that God will approve of, as before. Heb. a day of acceptance, or that will turn to a good account on your behalf.

6 Is not this the faſt that I have choſen d? to looſe the bands of wickedneſs e, to undo † the heavy burdens f, and * to let the † oppreſſed g go free h, and that ye break every yoke i?

d Or, approve, as before, v. 5. or, ought not ſuch a Faſt to be accompanied with ſuch things as theſe, where he is now about to ſhew the concomitants of a true Faſt, with reference to the thing in hand, namely, to exerciſe works of Charity, conſiſting partly in acts of ſelf-denial in this Verſe, and partly in doing good to thoſe in diſtreſs in the next. In this verſe he inſtanceth in ſome particulars, and cloſeth with a general. e viz. The cruel obligations of Uſury and Oppreſſion. f Heb. bundles, a Metaphor, poſſibly pointing at thoſe many bundles of Writings, as Bills, Bonds, Mortgages, and Acknowledgments, which the Uſurers had lying by them. The former may relate to unjuſt and unlawful Obligations extorted by force, or fear, which he would have cancelled; This latter to juſt Debts contracted through proverty and neceſſity, the rigour whereof he would have abated, whether by reaſon of loans upon too hard conditions, called a drawing them into a net, Pſal. 10. 9. and ſo much is implied, Prov. 6. 5. or, under too hard circumſtances, whether they were loans of Food, or money, of which the People ſo bitterly complained, Neh. 5. 1, 2, 3, 4. and is expreſly forbid, Exod. 22. 25. For Debts may be called Burdens, 1. Becauſe they lie as a great load upon the Debtors Spirits, under which who ever can walk up and down eaſily, doth not ſo much excel in fortitude as in folly. 2 Becauſe they uſually introduce Poverty, Slavery, Impriſonment, &c. g Either in a large ſenſe, viz. any ways grieved or vexed, whether by the gripings of Uſury, or the bondage of Slavery accompanied with cruel uſage; or, more peculiarly (according to ſome) relating to their being confined, and ſhut up in Priſons, which latter ſenſe the word free, may poſſibly ſeem to favour, the former being compriſed in that general expreſſion that follows of breaking every yoke. Heb. broken, i. e. like a bruiſed Reed, ſo cruſhed and weakned, that they have no conſiſtency or ability, either to ſatisfie their Creditors, or ſupport themſelves, and we uſually call ſuch inſolvent perſons, broken, that cannot look upon themſelves to be, ſui juris, but wholly at anothers Mercy; you have the ſame kind of oppreſſion, and the ſame words uſed, Amos 4. 1. i Namely, That is grievous, a Metaphor, i. e. free them from all ſorts of Vexation, whatever it is that held them under any Bondage; the LXX refer it to Bonds and Writings: But it ſeems more general: the word properly ſignifies that ſtick or cord that holds both ends of the yoke, that it ſpring not out, or fall off from the neck on which it is laid, Exod. 25. 14. where the ſame word is uſed for ſtaves, and called the bands of the Yoke, Lev. 26. 13. I have broken the bands of your yoke, and made you go upright, the ſame thing that God would have them do here.

7 Is it k not * to † deal l thy bread m to the hungry, and that thou bring n the poor o that are || caſt out p, to thy houſe q? when thou ſeeſt the naked r, that thou cover him s, and that thou hide t not thy ſelf from thine own fleſh u?

k Viz. The Faſt that pleaſeth me, ſupplied from the former verſe; having ſhewed the evil they are to abſtain from in order to an acceptable Faſt, viz. cruelty, he here ſpeaks of the duty that is required, viz. Mercy, as a manifeſtation of Repentance, Dan. 4. 27. Luke 19. 8. For there are two parts of Juſtice, one to do no man wrong, the other to do good to all. Which two ought always to accompany each other, and cannot be parted, eſpecially in acts of Humiliation, and as by thoſe evils mentioned he underſtands all other evil whatſoever, that they are to be abſtained from as the conſequence of a day of Humiliation, ſo under theſe duties mentioned are compriſed all the duties that we are to ſet upon as the effect of true Repentance; and he inſtanceth rather in thoſe of the ſecond Table than thoſe of the firſt, not that they are to be neglected, but becauſe chearful performance of external duties to our Neighbour, is the cleareſt diſcovery and indication of our inward Piety towards God, 1 Joh. 4. 20. l The word properly ſignifies to divide, vide, or break into parts, for the more equal and expeditious doing whereof, they were wont of old to bake their Loaves with cuts or clefts in them, more or fewer according to the bigneſs of the Loaf, not much unlike that which we ordinarily call buns. It implies, that as none is obliged to give away all, ſo none is exempted from giving ſome, but a diſtribution to be made according to the abilities of Rich and Poor: or, the meaning is, what thou ſpareſt on thy faſting day from thine own Belly, thou giveſt it to refreſh the bowels of the hungry: What thou takeſt for thy ſelf give to another, that thy poor Neighbour's Body may be refreſhed by that, from the abſtinence whereof thine own is afflicted. m Bread is taken for all neceſſaries for the Support of humane Life, and here for all kind of Food; and it is here limited by a term of propriety, Thy, Which may ſeem to have ſome Emphaſis in it; ſee my note on Eccleſ. 11. 1. ſpeaking of their grinding and oppreſſing the poor, he would have them be ſure to give of their own, not that which of right is anothers, and thou haſt, it may be, unjuſtly gotten. For to refreſh ſome poor with that which thou haſt gotten by the oppreſſing of others, and thereby poſſibly made them poor, will turn but to a bad account, it will bring a curſe upon thy houſe, or Family, Proverbs 15. 27. or will transfer thy Eſtate over to ſuch ſtrangers, that will manage it as thou ſhouldeſt have done. Prov. 28. 8. n i. e. Voluntarily, without preſſing. Invite, encourage, freely accommodate. o Viz. That are not only needy, and neceſſitous, as to their preſent condition, but helpleſs, and ſhiftleſs as to the means of getting out of it. p And thereby become wanderers, having no abiding place; or rather, ſuffered to abide no where, ſuch are mentioned, Heb. 11. 37, 38. Or, this word coming from a root that ſignifies to rebel, it may be applied to ſuch as have been adjudged, whether wrongfully or no, Rebels, and therefore caſt out, viz. of favour and protection, and ſo become as baniſhed ones, or Pilgrims in another Country; or afflicted, as in the margent, viz. grievouſly oppreſſed by the cruelty of great men, whereby they are caſt out of their poſſeſſions, and ſo become wanderers, ſeeking Relief abroad. q That thou be hoſpitable, and make thy houſe a ſhelter to them that have none of their own left, but, as we uſually ſay, caſt out of houſe and home; ſee Acts 16. 34. r i. e. Either that have no cloaths, or that are ſo meanly cloathed that they have ſcarce enough to cover their nakedneſs, 1 Cor. 4. 11. where naked is to be taken as hunger and thirſt is, not abſolutely ſtarved, ſo neither quite ſtripped: But either in a ragged and undecent condition, as to others ſight, or ſo thinly and inſufficiently cloathed as not to defend him from the injury of weather, as to his own ſenſe of feeling. s i. e. That thou give him raiment ſuited to theſe wants, or that wherewith he may procure it, Jam. 2. 15, 16. moſt of theſe circumſtances we find were the caſes of the Apoſtles, 1 Cor. 4. 11. t That thou not only ſeek no occaſion to excuſe thy ſelf, either by abſence, or diſcountenancing, and diſowning of him; but that out of compaſſion thou apply thy ſelf heartily to his ſpeedy relief; that thou beeſt not like that Prieſt and Levite, Luke 10. 31, 32. but like the good Samaritan, Luke 10. 33, 34, 35. not giving him occaſion to complain as David, Pſal. 142. 4. u Some confine this to our own kindred, and Relations, and Family, and this the LXX ſeem to favour, who render it, Thoſe of thine own Houſe, of thine own ſeed overlook not; agreeable to that of 1 Tim. 5. 8. where the Apoſtle uſeth the ſame word that the LXX doth for Kindred: But this would confine our Charity within too narrow a compaſs, in as much as often, nay moſt commonly, the neceſſities of others are greater than our own; neither is it congruous that the other words ſhould be taken in the greateſt latitude, and this alone confined within ſo narrow a compaſs: 'Tis true the Hebrews by their own fleſh do moſtly underſtand thoſe who are of the ſame Stock, or Lineage, and Tribe, as Gen. 37. 27. & 2 Sam. 19. 12, 13. and thus many underſtand Paul's meaning, Rom. 11. 14. But here it is to be taken more generally, for every man, he being thine own nature; and in this latitude our Saviour interprets the relation of neighbour to that Lawyer, Luk. 10. 29, 30. &c. We can look on no man, but there we contemplate our own fleſh, and therefore it is barbarous, not only to tear, but not to love and ſuccour our own fleſh, Neh. 5. 5. In which ſoever of theſe two ſenſes you take it, there is a note of ſimilitude to be underſtood; ſo that the ſenſe is this, Break thy Bread, &c. to them as unto thine own fleſh; be not more ſevere to them than thou wouldeſt be to thy ſelf; and thus it agrees with that of our Saviour, Mat. 22. 39. and with that of the Apoſtle, Eph. 5. 29. In ſhort, feed him as thou wouldſt feed thy ſelf, or have it fed; ſhelter him as thou wouldeſt ſhelter thy ſelf, or have it ſheltered; cloath him as thou wouldeſt cloath thy ſelf, or be cloathed; if in any of theſe reſpects thou wert in his circumſtances.

8 Then ſhall thy * light x break forth as the morning y, and thine health z ſhall ſpring forth ſpeedily: and thy righteouſneſs a ſhall go before thee b, the * glory c of the LORD † ſhall be thy rereward d.

x It is put in general fot all happineſs and proſperity; as all kind of Adverſity and Calamity is ſet forth and reſembled by darkneſs; but here more particularly for a comfortable and free Eſtate after their dark and calamitous condition in the Babyloniſh Captivity; for the like reaſon Joſephus tells us, lib. 12. cap. 11. that the Jews inſtituted a Feaſt to be obſerved by their poſterity, upon the account of the ſervice of the Temple being re-eſtabliſhed, which they called The Feaſt of Lights, becauſe, ſaith he, ſo great a Happineſs brake forth upon them beyond their hope. y Here is a Metaphorical alluſion in a Metonimical Expreſſion, viz. of the efficient, deſcribing the comfortable effect of humbling themſelves in a right manner, which like the day light, ſhall break forth from the blackneſs of their night of affliction, and bring with it the joy and comfort of all good things; And he doth not only ſay this light ſhall appear, but break forth, dart it ſelf forth, notwithſtanding all difficulties, as the Sun breaks, & pierceth through a cloud, noting how ready God is to help his People when they are rightly humbled, how quickly, and how clearly Salvation ſhall break forth upon them. z Another Metaphor to expreſs the ſame thing, unleſs there may be this difference, the Light with reference to their outward ſtate, and Health with reference to the inward delight of their Minds, in both to deſcribe the compleat ſatisfaction they ſhould have: Deliverances out of great preſſures are often in Scripture repreſented by the recovery of Health, as ch. 57. 18. & Jer. 8. 22. and this Prophet eſpecially delights in this Metaphor; becauſe all affliction is as it were a ſickneſs to the Soul, altering the Heart and Countenance, See Neh. 2. 2, 3. and a recovery out of this eſtate maketh the Heart glad, and the Countenance chearful, Eſth. 8. 16, 17. Jer. 33. 6. compare v. 10, 11. Hence the LXX render it Medicines. a Either 1. Thy uprightneſs and ſincerity; Gen. 30. 33. Or 2. The reward of thy Righteouſneſs, by a Metonymy, ch. 48. 18. Pſal. 24. 5. and here perhaps it may particularly relate to their works of Mercy, and Charity, it being the thing in hand, and often ſo called, Pſal. 112. 9. and applied by the Apoſtle to this purpoſe, 2 Cor. 9. 9. It brings temporal, ſpiritual, and eternal Bleſſings, and all this not of deſert but free grace as a reward, that naturally ſprings forth from the faithfulneſs of his Promiſes, as the Harveſt from the Earth, when the ſeed is ſown, ſee Hoſ. 10. 12. ſo the fruit and reward of our Righteouſneſs ſprings not from our deſerts, but from Gods Righteouſneſs, Heb. 6. 10. Or 3. The witneſs of thy Righteouſneſs, by what thou doeſt thou wilt appear to be righteous, Pſal. 37. 6. For ſuch a notion as this was vulgarly ſucked in, that Adverſity did never befal a perſon or People, but for their ſins, and was ſtrongly urged by way of argument againſt Job's integrity by his Friends, therefore thy being delivered ſhall be as a teſtimony of thy Righteouſneſs. Or 4. The fruit and effect of thy Righteouſneſs, viz. the due, juſt, and right order of thy Government, which, as Calvin ſaith, is a ſign of Gods fatherly kindneſs; things that are now in a confuſion he will bring into right order again, i. e. Juſtice ſhall be duly adminiſtred, and men ſhall carry themſelves juſtly all the Land over, See Iſa. 32. 16, 17, 18. Or 5. Chriſt's Righteouſneſs, Jer. 23. 6. compare with 33. 16. Then the meaning is, He ſhall go in and out before thee. b As it were making way for thy better ſtate, as the break of day, or the morning Star goes before the Sun. c i. e. The glory of his Power and Providence, or his glorious Power ſhall be ſeen in bringing thee up from Captivity, and defending thee free from their purſuit; or, as ſome, a glorious ſtate ſhall ſucceed this thy calamitous condition, and called the Glory of the Lord to expreſs the greatneſs of this glory, as very great mountains are called the mountains of God, and tall Cedars the Cedars of God: The glorious Lord, by a Metonymy of the Adjunct. d Heb. ſhall gather thee, thus the word is uſed concerning Dan, who was appointed to bring up the Rear, or to cloſe up the march of the Iſraelites, when they marched from the Wilderneſs of Sinai, Num. 10. 25. This Office God takes upon himſelf; for it argues great skill and courage, and makes much for the Honour and Glory of a Commander, both to gather up all the ſtragglers, that none be picked up by the Enemy, which relates to the Hebrew word of gathering, and to ſecure and cover the Rear of his Army; Thus the Angel of his preſence ſecured the Iſraelites when they came up out of Egypt, Exod. 14. 19.

9 Then ſhalt thou call e, and the LORD ſhall anſwer f; thou ſhalt cry, and he ſhall ſay, Here I am g: if thou take away from the midſt h of thee, the yoke i, the putting forth of the finger k, and ſpeaking vanity l.

e They made great complaint, v. 3. that God took no notice of their Services, which complaint God ſeems now to ſatisfie, q. d. theſe conditions obſerved, call upon me, and thou ſhalt ſee I will regard, Pſal. 34. 15. See Iſa. 1. 18. f He will give an effectual demonſtration, that he hears thee, by the real anſwer that he will give to thy requeſt, Pſal. 34. 17. & 99. 6. & 118. 5. g A Phraſe that notes a perſon to be ready at hand, for Work, as Iſaiah, ch. 6. 8. or for Help, as God here, and Pſal. 46. 1. or both, Pſal. 145. 18, 19. h Not a Geometrical middle, or center, but having a place among others: the meaning is, from among you. i i. e. All thoſe preſſures and Grievances before mentioned, v. 6. all that barbarous ſlavery they brought their Brethren into; the particulars expreſſed by that one Hebrew word, motah, three times uſed in this Chapter. k There being often an indication of a mans mind by the poſtures of ſeveral parts of the Body, as of Luſt, malice, Scorn, Revenge, &c. Prov. 6. 12, 13, 14. this putting forth of the finger may point at divers things all ſpringing from two roots; either the ſecret malice of the Heart, or juſt and open violence. It is uſed 1. Sometimes by way of ſcoff, reproof, or diſdainful inſulting, as the Phariſee ſeems to point at the Publican, Luke 18, 11. pointing with the Finger, like winking with the Eye, ſeeming to indicate ſomething that may cauſe ſhame in another; and this is reckoned among great afflictions, Hebr. 11. 36. See 2 Chron. 36. 16. Jer. 20. 7. 2. Sometimes for beating, or other injurious treating men, ſeizing either their Perſons or Eſtates; ſuch a putting forth of the Hand you have mentioned, 1 Sam. 22. 17. and this agrees well to the fiſt of wickedneſs, v. 4. and ſo the Finger may be put by a Synecdoche for the hand, and that which before was called the Fiſt, may be here called the Finger. 3. Sometimes as a token of putting Suitors by, and refuſing to hear their Petitions, and requeſts, ſeeking to them for Mercy and Pity. 4 Sometimes to expreſs an angry Mind, ſtirring up it ſelf, either to the imperious commanding of a thing, or to Revenge, whether by the geſture alone, or accompanied with menacing expreſſions, ſignifying thereby a purpoſe to put our power in execution. l Heb. aven, it ſignifies a Lye, or Iniquity as Pſal. 5. 5. and 6. 8. and ſo the ſenſe may be, if thou doſt not proceed to indecent Expreſſions in thy ſtrifes, brawls, and threatnings with thy Finger, which ſeldom is done without ſin; and thus the counſel here may ſuit with our Saviours, Mat. 5. 21, 22. viz. not only not ſtretch out thine hand againſt thy Brother, but not ſo much as be laviſh with thy tongue, ſo ſpeaking vanity may be a Meioſis, for not railing, the LXX render it muttering, which is an incompleat kind of ſpeaking, whereby we reproach another in low, informed, undigeſted Expreſſions: But it ſeems here rather to ſignifie Affliction, not only becauſe the word uſed in this place doth properly ſo ſignifie, but becauſe it is moſt agreeable to the matter diſcourſed of, and the Chaldee render it violence, and then the ſenſe is, ſpeaking words of affliction, or that will vex and grieve, like thoſe words of Nabal to Davids Servants, 1 Sam. 25. 10, 11. Prov. 18. 23. And thus it relates to their harſh and unjuſt Commands, wherewith they were wont to burden their Servants, a Synecdoche of the kind.

10 And if thou draw out m thy ſoul n to the hungry, and ſatisfie o the afflicted ſoul p; then ſhall thy light riſe q in obſcurity, and thy darkneſs be as the noon day r.

m Or, open, as when we break open a Store, or Magazine to ſatisfie the wants of the needy: it implies bounty and Liberality. A Phraſe contrary to that of ſhutting up of the bowels, 1 Joh. 3. 17. n Thy affection, i. e. thy pity and compaſſion, a Metonymy of the Subject, as one that condoles with them in their miſery; affectionately, and with delight, Rom. 12. 8. 2 Cor. 9. 7. God loves a chearful giver, as well as a liberal giver, not grudgingly, not of conſtraint, not becauſe thou muſt, but becauſe thou wilt, not out of neceſſity, but of choice: Compaſſion and Mercy in a work is more than the work of mercy it ſelf; for this is ſomething only without a man, but the other is ſomething from within, and of himſelf: This argues a Sympathy, which the other doth not, all without this being as nothing, 1 Cor. 13. 3. o Here the Prophet notes the work that is to be done, as in the former Expreſſion the affection, wherewith it is to be done, otherwiſe it would be no more than what the Apoſtle James reproves, Jam. 2. 15, 16. and the Pſalmiſt joyns them both together, Pſal. 37. 21. And then further it implies a compleat and proportionable anſwering of his wants, that the ſupply anſwer the neceſſity, that is, be ſuch as may ſatisfie, not barely keep him from ſtarving. p i. e, The perſon afflicted with wants. q This is the ſame promiſe, and expreſſed in the ſame figure, as in ver. 8. See the ſame phraſe opened there. The Hebrews delight to expreſs the ſame things often by a little altering of the Phraſe; only here it ſeems to be carried to an higher degree: There the light ſhall break forth, but here Light ſhall be in obſcurity. r In the very darkneſs of the affliction it ſelf thou ſhalt have comfort, Pſal. 112. 4. There it ſhall be as the morning ſtill increaſing, here as the noon-day in its Zenith, and height of perfection, which ſhall be without ſo much as any ſhadow of affliction.

11 And the LORD ſhall guide thee s continually, and ſatisfie thy ſoul * in † drought t, and ‖ make fat thy bones u: and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden x, and like a ſpring of water, whoſe waters † fail not y.

s Viz. like a Sheperd, Pſal. 23. 1, 2, 3. or, as the Vulgar, ſhall give thee reſt, and ſo it may relate to the reſt that God would give them in Judea, upon their return from Captivity, as anſwering to their complaints in Babylon, Lam. 5. 5. And he adds continually to ſhew that his conduct and bleſſing ſhall not be momentary, or of a ſhort continuance, but all along, as he did to Iſrael in the Wilderneſs, not leaving them, till he brought them into Canaan. t Heb. Droughts, or, drought of droughts; which being in the plural number, notes extremity of drought, Pſ. 78. 72. Skillfulneſſes, that is, great skill: And Prov. 1. 20. Wiſdoms, i. e. excellent wiſdom: and conſequently great ſcarcity and famine: The meaning is, that when thy lot ſhall fall in the extremity of ſuch a condition, either as to time, or place, he will abundantly ſatisfie thy ſoul, i. e. thee, by a Synecdoche; thou ſhalt have plenty, when others are in ſcarcity. u Or, make nimble, and ſo the expreſſion relates to bones full of marrow, which cauſeth agility and nimbleneſs, a ſtate of health and ſtrength; ſee Prov. 15. 30. Or, it notes chearfulneſs, which is often the cauſe of bones well covered with fat, therefore a broken, or a ſorrowful ſpirit is ſaid to dry up the bones, Prov. 17. 22. This may be ſpoken in oppoſition to the ſad effects of Famine, whereby the fleſh is conſumed away, that it cannot be ſeen, and the bones that were not ſeen, ſtick out, Job 33. 21. they cleave to the skin, Pſal. 102. 5. And thus it may have reſpect to their afflicted eſtate in Babylon, where they complain that their bones were broken, Lam. 3. 4. but now in their return their bones ſhould not only be made whole, but ſtrong, and in good condition; ſee Pſal. 51. 8. Our Engliſh Annotations, after divers ſenſes given, chuſe to cloſe with the Vulgar Tranſlation, he will deliver, or ſet free thy bones, and ſo the word doth ſignifie, Prov. 11. 8, 9. Some make each expreſſion of theſe promiſes to anſwer as ſuitable, and conditional rewards of their ſeveral duties, ex. gr. If thou conduct the caſt-outs, and harbourleſs to thy houſe, ver. 7. God will guide and conduct thee continually: If thou draw forth thy ſoul to the hungry, ſo as to ſatisfie them, ver. 10. God will ſatisfie thee in a time of drought, and in famine thou ſhalt have ſufficient, Pſal. 33. 19. If thou let the oppreſſed go free, and break every yoke, ver. 6. & 9. then God will make thy bones to rejoyce, by delivering them from their burdens, i. e. if thou wilt free them, he will free thee. And if thou continue thus to draw forth thy ſoul, that it be ever running to the refreſhing of the needy, thou ſhalt be as a ſpring of waters that ſhall never fail thee, but like the Widdows Oil, ever flowing: If thou relieve the poor, thou ſhalt never be poor, but as a well watered garden, always flouriſhing; ſee Prov. 3. 9, 10. x Like a Garden, for the pleaſure and beauty of it, a Paradiſe; like a garden watered for the continual flouriſhing of thy eſtate, there ſhall be no withering, or decay upon thy proſperous condition, Pſal. 1. 3, 4. contrary to what is ſaid of the Wicked, Pſal. 37. 2, 10, 20. 35, 36. And thus Jeremiah ſpeaks of the return of this ſame People, Jer, 31. 12. y Heb. deceive not, a Metaphor which further notes alſo the continuance of this flouriſhing ſtate, which will not be like a land flood, or brooks, that will ſoon be dried up with drought; ſee Job 6. 15. but will be fed with a ſpring of bleſſing, that will never fail; a very ſignificant Metaphor, it being the nature of ſprings, ſpontaneouſly and freely, as it were to pour out their bowels to all that upon their wants come to receive it; neither is ever ſcanty, but flows ſtill like freſh milk to the Breaſt the more it is drawn; hence God is called a fountain of goodneſs.

12 And they that ſhall be of thee z, * ſhall build the old waſt places a: thou ſhalt raiſe up the foundations of many generations b; and thou ſhalt be called c, The repairer of the breach d, the reſtorer of paths e to dwell in f.

z i. e. Either 1. A remnant of thee among the Captivity, that ſhall be as perſons raiſed from the dead: Or, 2. Thy Poſterity, expreſſed thus, becauſe they ſprang, or proceeded from them. a Heb. waſts of eternity, i. e. which have lain long waſte; for holam doth not always ſignifie what is bounded by no time, but what reſpects a long time, looking either forward, as Gen. 13. 15. Exod. 21. 6. or, backward, as here, viz. the ſpace of ſeventy years, and ſo may truly be rendred the waſts of an Age. By waſt places he means the City and Temple, with Cities and places adjacent, turned as it were all into a waſt, or wilderneſs, void and untilled, and which was done not only by Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon, but by Sennacherib alſo, and the other Kings of Aſſyria. They had lain ſo long deſolate, that the Foxes inhabited them inſtead of men, Lam. 5. 18. And it was turned ſo much into a Deſert, that they were forced to fight with the beaſts that poſſeſſed it, to get their food, Lam. 5. 9. b Either the foundations that were laid many generations ago, as thoſe of Jeruſalem, which was not only built, but was the head of a Kingdom in the days of Melchizedek, who was King thereof in the days of Abraham, as appears, Gen. 14. 18. If that Salem were Jeruſalem, as is generally agreed, and Joſephus writes, lib. 1. antiquit. cap. 10. who was born about the 300th year after the Flood: the ſuperſtructures were now deſtroyed, viz. of Jeruſalem, and divers other Cities; or, that ſhall continue for many generations yet to come. c Thou ſhalt be honoured with this Title, as we uſe to ſay the Father of our Country, i. e. deſervedly ſo called becauſe thou art ſo; the like Phraſe, chap. 48. 8. d Breach is put here collectively for Breaches, which were made by God's Judgement breaking in upon them in ſuffering the walls of their Towns and cities to be demoliſhed, and their State broken, ch. 5. 5. e Such an one was Moſes, Pſal. 106. 23. And this tends to the ſame ſenſe with the former expreſſion, becauſe men were wont to make paths over thoſe breaches, to go the neareſt way; or it may more particularly point at the recovering of the antient paths, and bringing them into their wonted courſe, which were either thoſe chief Streets through the Gates of the Cities, or other Lanes out of thoſe Streets, which were now forgotten and loſt, partly by being covered with rubbiſh, and partly by thoſe ſhorter paths that were trod, and made over the Breaches; ſuch a Reſtorer of paths was Nehemiah, Neh. 6. 1. And we read of the ſeveral Repairers he made uſe of, Neh. 3. Or, thoſe paths that led from City to City, which being now laid deſolate, and uninhabited, were grown over with graſs, and weeds, for want of Travellers, or ſafety of travelling, (of ſomething a like caſe we read in the time of the Judges, Judg. 5. 6, 7.) and ſo loſt as in a wilderneſs, wherein there is no way, and by building up thoſe Cities again, the ſeveral paths leading to them would be reſtored. f Theſe accommodations being all recovered their ancient Cities might be fit to be re-inhabited.

13 If thou turn away thy foot g from the ſabbath h, from doing thy pleaſure i on my holy day k, and call the ſabbath a delight l, the holy of the LORD m, honourable n, aud ſhalt honour him, not doing thine own ways o, nor finding thine own pleaſure, nor ſpeaking thine own words p.

g This is taken, either properly, i. e. if thou take no unneceſſary journeys, or do any ſervile works either of hand or foot that are forbidden on the Sabbath day, the inſtrument being here put for the work; or, Metaphorically, i. e. if thou keep thy mind, and affections clear, and reſtrain thy ſelf from whatever may prophane it, as David did concerning the word, Pſal. 119. 101. Feet are often put for the Affections, Eccl. 5. 1. becauſe the mind is moved by the affections, as the body is by the feet: if we do not let our thoughts be extravagant either upon impertinencies, or unlawful things. The ſum is, if thou be careful not to break the Sabbath. h Or for the Sabbath's ſake, whether we underſtand it more largely of the occaſional Sabbath in ſolemn humiliations or otherwiſe ſet apart for ſacred ſervices, which is called a Sabbath, Lev. 16. 31. and 23. 32. Days of this nature were ſet apart before the captivity, Ch. 22. 12. Jer. 36, 9. and alſo in the Captivity, Zech. 7. 5. And thus it may be pertinent to the occaſion of this diſcourſe, v. 3. And further, though Sabbath be here only mentioned, yet it may take in every inſtitution of God, that they were in a capacity of obſerving during their captivity; Thus I conceive it is underſtood, ch. 56. 1, 2. Or, whether we take it more particularly for the weekly Sabbath, ſuch a carriage doth God expect, as doth become it. i Satisfying thy luſts, and the corruption of thy will. k. i. e. on my Sabbath, which is an holy day. l Full of delights in thy Judgement, not looking on it as a burthen; and Practice, performing the duties of it with chearfulneſs, delighting in the ordinances of it, and ſo the Sabbath by a Metonymy is put for the works of the Sabbath, the time being put for the things that ought to be done in that time; Therefore Calling here is not only a verbal, but affectionate calling, the underſtanding aſſenting, the will conſenting, and the actions conforming thereto; this delight appears in the Saints of God, in their breathings after it, as it did frequently in David, Pſ. 27. 4. & 36. 8. & 42. 1. with many more. m Or to the Lord. i. e. dedicated to him, conſecrated to his ſervice. The Jews had a Law that no man might take from the Sabbath, to add to the prophane days, but he might on the contrary. n viz. the chief of days, worthy of all honour, and therefore honourable, becauſe holy; and ſo ſhall honour, either it, i. e. the day; or, him. i. e. the Lord, whoſe day it is. For to ſanctify God, and to ſanctify his day is all one, compare ch. 8. 13. with Exod. 20. 8. thus eſteem it an honour as well as a pleaſure. o Or works, or courſe of life; a man's whole courſe being deſcribed by a way or walk, Gen. 17. 1. Eph. 5. 8. p Viz. That are properly thine own. i. e. thine own in oppoſition to what God commands, proceeding from the corruption of Nature, and vanity of the mind, or not ſpeaking words. i. e. vainly, impertinently, and not ſuitable to the work of the day, tending neither to thy profit, or pleaſure; or rather injurious, revengeful, or reproachful words, contrary to reſt, quiet, and ſedate compoſedneſs of the Sabbath. And thus it refers to what was their uſual practice upon their ſolemn aſſemblies, or Sabbaths towards their poor brethren, which they are charged with, ver. 3. and is called ſpeaking vanity, ver. 9. See there: and accordingly the LXX render it, if thou ſpeak not a word in anger.

14 Then ſhalt thou delight thy ſelf q in the LORD, and I will cauſe thee to * ride upon the high places of the earth r, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob s thy father; for the mouth of the LORD t hath ſpoken it.

q This hath reference to the foregoing verſe. If thou wilt delight thy ſelf in the Sabbath, then thou ſhalt delight in the God of the Sabbath; or, thou ſhalt have cauſe to delight in the Lord, viz. in his goodneſs, and faithfulneſs to thee, and ſo ſhalt live by faith in him as the fountain of all good, as Pſal. 37. 4. in the aſſurance of his love and favour, Pſal. 33. 21. and that in great abundance, Pſal. 36. 8. Such delights as no wicked man can have, Prov. 14. 10. r Thou ſhalt be above the reach of danger, chap. 33. 16. Or, it may have reſpect to their being brought out of Babylon, which lay very low in reſpect of Judea, called the Earth, as it is elſewhere, Luke 23. 44. and high, both in reſpect of the ſcituation of it, as alſo its mountainouſneſs: Or, the expreſſion may import the ſubduing of their enemies, as it is, Deut. 33. 29. Riding is oft uſed for conquering, Pſal. 45. 4. See the Note there, Rev. 6. 2. The ſenſe is, they ſhall come out of Babylon, not ſneakingly as on foot, but triumphantly and glorioully, riding, as God brought Iſrael out of Egypt harnaſſed, in good order, and with an high hand; or, they ſhall ride to and fro in their Chariots at their pleaſure. s i. e. Thou ſhalt enjoy the good of the land of Canaan, which God had promiſed as an heritage of Jacob, and his ſeed, Gen. 35. 12. and feed on the fruits of it. Queſt. Why doth he ſay of the heritage of Jacob, and not of Abraham, or Iſaac. Anſw. Becauſe the whole Poſterity of Jacob was within the Covenant, but Iſhmael and Eſau, one the ſeed of Iſaac, the other the ſeed of Abraham, were both excluded. t This is to expreſs the certainty, and indubitableneſs of it, being from the mouth of him who cannot lie: ſee of the ſame expreſſion of aſſurance, chap. 1. 20. & 40. 5. And this Calvin refers both to what was ſpoken in the beginning of the Chapter, that it was in vain for thoſe hypocrites to contend with God; and alſo as the confirmation of his promiſe, if they would rightly obſerve thoſe promiſes: the mouth of Lord hath ſpoken it, he ſpeaks of himſelf, as of a man by a Proſopopæia: Or, it may relate to the Prophet, the Lord, whoſe mouth and inſtrument I am.

CHAP. LIX.

Sin ſeparates between God and us, 1, — 2. murther, theft, falſhood, injuſtice, cruelty, 3, — 8. calamity for ſin, 9, — 15. ſalvation only of God, 16, — 19. the Covenant of the Redeemer, 20, — 21.

* Num. 11. 23. Ch. 37. 27. & 50. 2.

BEhold, the LORDS hand is not * ſhortned u, that it cannot ſave: neither his ear heavy x, that it cannot hear.

u He is not grown weaker, than in former times, as omnipotent as ever he was; hand is here by a Synecdoche put for arm, and ſo for ſtrengh, becauſe the ſtrength of a man doth generally put forth it ſelf in his arm, and thus it is applied to God in his bringing Iſrael out of Egypt, Pſal. 136. 12. x Or thick of hearing; he is not like your Idol Gods, that have hands, and cannot help, and ears, and cannot hear. The phraſes are much to the ſame purpoſe, ſave only, that they ſeem to be appropriated to the double cavil, or quarrel, that the Jews might have with God, as 1. Surely if God were not heavy, or hard of hearing, he could not but hear thoſe ſtrong cries that we put up in the days of our faſt, or, 2. If he did hear, certainly he could not help us, and thus it may have reſpect to the beginning of the 58*th chap.* Or, the words may be by way of confirmation, and eſtabliſhment, and ſo may relate to the cloſe of it, to let them know, that if they ſought him as they ought, and was before preſcribed, he was not inexorable, but willing to hear, and able to make good all thoſe promiſes that he had made from ver. 8. to the end. The ſum is, to ſhew that the fault was not in God, that their faſts and cries were not regarded, for his ear was as quick to hear as ever; nor their ſervices rewarded, for his hand was as able to help as ever, but the obſtruction lay in their ſins, which is poſitively aſſerted, ver. 2. and a more particular account given of them in the ſequel.

2 But your iniquities have ſeparated y between you and your God; and your ſins ‖ have hid his face z from you, that he will not hear a.

y Have been as a thick wall between God and you; have ſet him at a great diſtance, Prov. 15. 29. z This may be put Synecdochically for the whole Perſon, and the Prophet ſpeaking of God by an Anthropopathy may underſtand his preſence, and then it is, hath made him hide, or withdraw his preſence, as one that turns away his face from ſome noiſom thing: or rather his favour, that though you cry to be delivered out of Babylon, yet you ſhall not find that favour. a i. e. He will not grant it, thus it is uſed, Pſal. 45. 12. Hoſ. 5. 15. ſee on chap. 1. 15. ſee Judg. 10. 13.

3 For * your hands are defiled with blood b, and your fingers c with iniquity, your lips have ſpoken lies d, your tongue hath uttered e perverſeneſs f.

b Here the Prophet comes from a more general, to a more particular charge againſt them; by blood we are to underſtand either murders, and bloodſhed, properly ſo called; or ways of injuſtice, extortion, oppreſſion, and cruelties, whereby men are deprived of a livelihood; hence hating our Brother, is called murder, 1 Joh. 3. 15. and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem called murderers. See how the Prophet phraſeth their oppreſſion, Mic. 3. 1, 2, 3. c This is not added to protract the diſcourſe, but to aggravate their ſin. q. d. Not only your hands, but your fingers; you are not free from the leaſt part of injuſtice. d Not only properly ſo called, but perjuries, and wronging your Neighbours by ſlanders, and falſe accuſations, wherein he ſhews they did not only offer violence by the hand, but they had ways of circumventing with their lips. e The verb doth properly ſignifie to muſe, or meditate; then the meaning is, that what they mutter, or utter with the tongue, they do it out of premeditated malice from a perverſe ſpirit; you may have a larger comment upon this, Jer. 9. 3, 4, 5, 6. f Perverſe words are ſuch as are contrary to God's Word, and it is put here in the abſtract, to intimate that their words were every way contrary to God's Will.

4 None calleth for juſtice g, nor any pleadeth for * truth: they truſt in vanity h, and ſpeak lies i, * they conceive miſchief, and bring forth iniquity k.

* Jer. 9. 4. * Job. 15. 35. Pſal. 7. 14.

g i. e. None ſeek to redreſs theſe wrongs, and violences; they commit all rapines, and frauds under impunity: Either 1. Becauſe the Judges are corrupt. Or, 2. Becauſe none will warn the Judges of their duty. Or, 3. Becauſe none ſeek to bring offenders to Juſtice. Or, 4. Becauſe none will plead a righteous cauſe, or plead it righteouſly, or countenance goodneſs, and this the next expreſſion favours, and ſo Juſtice ſuffers, which the Hebrew word miſpat being in the paſſive voice, ſeems to intimate; the ſenſe is the ſame, and whereas it is ſaid none, it is as much as to ſay very few, as we ſay few or none; the like, Pſal. 14. 3. Qu. How could this be charged upon them, when in the time of their Captivity they had no Courts? Anſw. It is probable they had Courts among themſelves, to judge between one another by leave of the Babyloniſh Kings. h Either, 1. Relating to their lies, which are words empty, and void of all conſiſtency, and ſo it is the ſame with the next expreſſion, and ſpeak lies. Or, 2. In their Idols, which are ſtocks and ſtones, and ſo oft called vanity and nothing, 1 Cor. 8. 4. For even in Babylon, they worſhipped Idols as appears by Jer. 16. 11, 12, 18. Or, rather, 3. In their power, and craft, and policy, whereby, laying aſide Juſtice, they can oppreſs others, and ſo he calls it vanity by a Metonymy of the Adjunct, becauſe it would prove all vain in the end, and either, 1. Fruſtrate their ends. Or, 2. Not juſtifie them againſt God's proceedings with them. Or, 3. Bring all into emptineſs and confuſion; the word is tohu, whereby the confuſion, and mingling of all things is expreſſed, before the world was brought into order and form, Gen. 1. 2. i It may refer both to the Judges, and to the Lawyers, and falſe Prophets, that tell them they ſhall not go into Captivity; they ſpeak that which they know to be falſe. k Theſe two words of Conceiving, and Bringing forth, note their whole contrivance, and perfecting their wickedneſs; the former notes their plotting, the latter their execution of miſchief; whatever is in the mind only out of ſight, warmed, and formed there by cogitating and meditation, is called Conception, which being ripe, and produced to view, is called a Birth, intimating that the wicked ſin not occaſionally, and accidentally, but premeditatingly, and profeſſedly; they grow big with it. The expreſſion is Allegorical, and in the two next verſes compared to the Cockatrices Eggs for the wickedneſs of it, and to a Spiders Web for the vanity of it.

5 They hatch ‖ cockatrice-eggs l, and weave the ſpiders web m: he that eateth n of their eggs dieth, and ‖ that which is cruſhed, breaketh out into a viper o.

l Or Adder, or Baſilisk; one kind put for any venemous creature, a proverbial ſpeech ſignifying by theſe Eggs miſchievous deſigns, and by hatching them their putting them in practice; this is to ſhew, that miſchief is natural to them, and they can do no otherwiſe, as poiſon is natural to theſe Eggs. m Another Proverbial ſpeech, whereby is taught, both how by their plots they weave nets, lay ſnares induſtriouſly with great pains and artifice, whereby they may entangle, and involve their poor Neighbours, in intricacies, and perplexities, and ſo devour them, as the Spider weaves her web to catch flies, and then to feed on them: And alſo how that they contrive nothing but what will tend to their own ruine, as the iſſue of the Viper is the death of the Mother; and they, and their deſigns will come to nothing, and not anſwer their end, as the Spiders web is ſoon ſwept away, and is ſeen no more, which doth well agree with what follows. n Here is a Catachreſtical alluſion noting, that he who hath commerce with them, and approves their Counſels, which are the Eggs which they hatch, will be poyſoned with them. o If and be copulative here, then the ſenſe is either, if any ſeek to cruſh, and diſappoint their plots, or if they be ſprinkled, or diſperſed abroad (as the margin ſeems to favour) they will ſeek his ruine, will be as a Viper to him: But if and be Cauſal, as it often is, and may be here, then the ſenſe is, q. d. he dieth, becauſe the Eggs being cruſhed, a poyſonous Viper proceeds from it: the more you partake of their counſels, the more you are infected, there lies ſuch a deadly poyſon embodied in them.

6 * Their webs ſhall not become garments p, neither ſhall they cover themſelves with their works:

their works are works of iniquity q, and the act of violence is in their hands r.

p i. e. Their contrivances, and deep deſigns ſhall not advantage them, they being like a thin, and raw garment, either, through which all their wretchedneſs, and malice will appear, as the next words intimate; or, for want of ſolidity, and ſubſtance, ſhall not be able to defend them from their impending evils. q i. e. Works of injuſtice, whereby they grieve and vex their Brethren, which the next words do clear. r i. e. They exerciſe themſelves in all acts of violence, and oppreſſion.

* Prov. 1. 16. Rom. 3. 15. † Heb. breaking.

s This ſeems to be taken from Prov. 1. 16. See the note there. He had ſpoken of their Hands, Lips, and Heart, &c. before, and now of their Feet, to ſhew that they were wholly ſet upon miſchief. t i. e. Their heart, and mind, it ſet upon doing wrong, and injury, they not only do evil, but do it deliberately. You have the wicked deſcribed by this kind of working of their thoughts, Pſal. 64. 6. they meditate on little or nothing elſe. u A Metaphor put for the behaviours and carriages of Men; in what way or work ſoever they are engaged, it all tends to ruine and deſtruction. A Metaphor taken from an overſpreading torrent, or ſweeping Plague, or Beaſts of prey, that tear and devour whatſoever comes in their way.

8 The way of peace they know not x, and there is no ‖ judgment y in their goings z: they have made them crooked a paths: whoſoever goeth therein ſhall not know b peace.

x They are of ſuch turbulent Spirits, living in ſuch continual contentions, and diſcords, that, breaking in pieces the very bonds of Society, they neither know 1. How to make and keep Peace; neither 2. Do they feel or enjoy the ſweet fruits of it: And therefore by conſequence 3. They take not the courſe that leads to Proſperity and Happineſs. They are not friends to Peace. y i. e. No Juſtice, Equity, Faith or Integrity, which are the foundation of Judgment. z As Paths did note their habitual way or manner of living, ſo goings do ſignifie their actual progreſs in that way, or their works, thus Job 14. 16. a They walk by no rule, which ſhould diſcover the crooked from the ſtraight; they are full of unevenneſſes and uncertainties, contrary to what David ſpeaks, Pſal. 26. 12. The LXX render it perverſe: Moſes joins them both together, Deut. 32. 5. and ſo doth Solomon, ſpeaking what Wiſdom ſhall deliver from Prov. 2. 15. and it ſtands in oppoſition to them that walk uprightly, Prov. 28. 18. It may note 1. Their Hypocriſie, that pretend one thing, and do another, that oppreſs under a pretence of Juſtice. Or 2. Their profeſſed and owned irregularities, and deviations from the rule of Juſtice. b i. e. Shall not experience it; Whoſoever do as they do, will be turbulent, and perverſe, as they are, and have as little Peace within, or Happineſs without, as they have ch. 57. 21. They ſhall be poyſoned by having converſe with them, as in v. 5. which the next words do intimate.

9 Therefore is * judgment far from us c, neither doth juſtice d overtake us: we wait for light e, but behold obſcurity; for brightneſs, but we walk in darkneſs f.

c This ſeems to be ſpoken in the perſon of thoſe Jews that did partake of theſe ſins, giving the reaſon by way of complaint of thoſe evils that they groaned under. d Judgment, and ſo Juſtice is here taken for deliverance, Iſa. 1. 27. q. d. God doth not defend our right, nor revenge our wrong, nor deliver us, becauſe of theſe outrages, and acts of violence, injuſtice, and oppreſſion, that are committed among us, ſo that deliverance is called here Judgment and Juſtice by a Metonymy of the efficient. q. d. If we had executed Judgment, and Equity among one another, they would not now have been far from us; as works are ſometimes put for the reward of works, Job 7. 2. Pſal. 109. 20. So Judgment and Juſtice is put for the reward of Judgment and Juſtice; or wicked men are in Power, and ſeats of Judicature, that execute no judgment or juſtice in the behalf of the oppreſſed. e How the Hebrews uſe Light and Darkneſs, ſee before on ch. 58. 8, 10. f Or, miſt, we are in ſuch a thick miſt, that which way ſoever we look, we ſee no way out, no hope of deliverance, we are ſtill in Captivity, and like ſo to be, till we ſee Judgment and Juſtice executed, and then we may expect good days.

* Deut. 28. 28, 29. Job 5. 14. Amos 8. 9.

10 We * grope g for the wall like the blind, and we grope as if we had no eyes h: we ſtumble at noonday i as in the night; we are in deſolate places as dead men k:

g As a blind man, that hath no other Eyes than his Hands, feels for the Wall, from whence he expects either direction, or a reſting place to lean on, ſo they expect Salvation as it were blindfold, not taking direction from the Prophets, but hoping to obtain it by their cries and faſts, though they continued in their ſins, and therefore may well be ſaid to grope after it; See Deut. 28. 28, 29. Job 12. 25. h As if we were ſtark blind, and being here put for yea, thereby aggravating the miſery in repeating the expreſſion. i This notes their exceeding blindneſs, as it muſt needs be with one that can diſcern no more at noon day, than if it were midnight, Job 5. 14. k He compares their Captivity to men dead without hope of recovery: their bonds render them as free among the dead, Pſal. 88. 5. They can ſee the way, or get out of their Captivity no more than dead men can get out of their Graves; Thus a calamitous eſtate is ſet forth, Pſal. 44. 19. great calamity and deſpair oft going together: they are as men caſt out no more to be looked after. Compare Lam. 3. 6. All darkneſs is uncomfortable, but that of the Grave terrible.

11 We roar l all like bears, and * mourn m ſore like doves: we look for Judgment, but there is none; for ſalvation, but it is far from us n:

l This ſignifies the greatneſs of their anguiſh, that forced from them theſe loud outcries. m This notes ſome ſenſe of their condition, that wrought in them theſe ſorrowful Lamentations: Or, it may relate to the condition, that both ſorts of people were in under their oppreſſing Governours. It made the wicked roar like Bears, and the godly mourn like Doves: It is thus expreſſed becauſe theſe properties are peculiar to theſe Creatures. The Bear, when robbed, goes into his den and roars: The Dove, when abſent from her mate, ſits ſolitary, and mourns. n See the Expoſition of this laſt part of the verſe, v. 9.

12 For our tranſgreſſions n are multiplied before thee o, and our ſins teſtifie p againſt us: for our tranſgreſſions are with us q, and as for our iniquities we know them r:

n The word here ſignifies ſins of an high nature, ſuch as wherein there is much of Mans Will againſt Light: Rebellious Sins. o q. d. They admit of no excuſe; for they are acted before thee, and multiplied againſt thee, whereby thou art juſtly provoked to deny us all help. p Every ſin that is charged upon us is like ſo many Witneſſes produced to prove the guilt of our Conſciences; or, as the Hebrew word, do anſwer, and ſo ſome make it an elegant Metaphorical Alluſion to the Eccho, which, as it returns the voice again, ſo thoſe Judgments they cry out of, are but the meritorious Repercuſſion of their ſins: They had been cruel to others, neither had they executed Judgment, and Juſtice, and here they ſuffer all kind of cruelties, and indignities from the Chaldæans, as the true and juſt repreſentation or Eccho of their own works; See a perſonal inſtance in Adoni-bezek, Judg. 1. 6, 7. q i. e. We lie under the guilt of them, they are a burden to us; God hath not yet forgiven them. r We are convinced of them; our guilty Conſciences muſt own and acknowledge them, Pſal. 51. 3. It notes either their Conviction, or Sorrow, or both, See Jer. 14. 7. Or, we know what are thoſe ſins thou art ſo angry with us for: and this is favoured by the ſequel, where they ſeem to particularize thoſe ſins in the following verſes.

13 In tranſgreſſing s and lying t againſt the LORD, and departing u away from our God, ſpeaking x oppreſſion and revolt, conceiving and uttering y from the heart words of falſhood z.

He now enumerates ſome of thoſe particular ſins they profeſs themſelves to be convinced of, whereby he doth not mean the ſins of ſome particular perſons, or ſome ſlight ſins, but a general defection and corruption of the whole body. s Properly we rebel againſt God, ſo the word is, ch. 1, 2. and have perſiſted in our Rebellion. t Being true to none of their Engagements, Vows, and Promiſes; ſome make tranſgreſſing here, and lying to be one and the ſame thing, inaſmuch as in their tranſgreſſing of the Law of God, they did break their ſolemn engagement to God upon Mount Sinai, Exod. 19. 8. & 24. 3. and elſewhere frequently, which is a downright lying againſt God; For wherein do we more lye to God, than in a perfidious withdrawing from him? So that by tranſgreſſing here he doth mean not a breach of one, or another of the Laws of God, but there being as it were fugitives, that would be under no yoke, u i. e. Turning from God to Idols. x As it were talking of little elſe one among another, but how to oppreſs their Neighbours, and apoſtatize from God. y i. e. Firſt contriving and forging in their heart falſe accuſations to the ruine of their Neighbour, and falſe Worſhip to the diſhonour of God; laying the contrivance ſo, that it might be effectual; and then uttering it, or venting themſelves one to another in their diſcourſes, thereby encouraging each other in their perverſe ways, ſee v. 3. and whereas it is ſaid from the heart, it notes a reſoluteneſs in their wickedneſs, being a great deal worſe, than now and then to deal falſly upon ſome occaſion or temptation. z They are called words of falſhood, both with reference to men, and ſo ſignifie ſlanders, and falſe accuſations; as alſo to God, and ſo ſignifie their dealing falſly with God, as an Adultereſs doth with her Husband, hence Idolaters are called the ſeed of falſhood, ch. 57. 3, 4, 5. and it is ſaid from the heart, to ſhew that when they dealt with men in ways of fraud, it was from the heart, but when they ſpake with God it was but from the lip.

14 And judgment is turned away backward a, and juſtice ſtandeth afar off b: for truth is fallen c in the ſtreet d, and equity cannot enter e.

a He ſpeaks here of the Sentences and Decrees in courts of Judicature, which are carried quite contrary to Right and Juſtice: God denies you Juſtice as you have denied help to others. b It notes the ſame thing with the former, to ſhew that Juſtice and Judges are far aſunder. c A Metaphor taken from a feeble perſon, that wants ſupport, without which he falls; thus Truth hath none to ſupport or patronize it: the ſame, only otherwiſe expreſſed, with v. 16. Truth is caſt upon the ground, and Juſtice trampled under foot. d i. e. in publick. e No ſuch thing will be admitted in their Courts; all corrupt, ſo that all Equity and Juſtice is violently kept off by the authority of the great ones.

15 Yea, truth faileth f, and he that departeth from evil g ‖ maketh himſelf a prey h: and the LORD ſaw it i, and † it diſpleaſed him k that there was no judgment.

f q. d. Truth is more than fallen, which he had ſaid in the former verſe; It faileth. For being only fallen it may recover it ſelf again, but failing notes the loſs of its very Vitals: as being every where neglected, in Court, in City, in Country, in inferiour as well as ſuperiour Ranks, in the Streets, in the Gates, in the Markets, in the Fairs, in all publick places of commerce, the condition much like that under the Beaſt coming out of the Earth, Rev. 13, 11, &c. See Pſal. 10. 7, 8, &c. All things are amiſs, neither Judgment or Juſtice, or Truth is to be found among us, but Fraud and Deceit, yet none troubled at it. g That ſeparateth himſelf from evil things, and Perſons; will not be as vile, as others. h Or, is accounted mad, is laughed at that talks of Juſtice, ſo ſome. Joſephus tells us, that immediately before the deſtruction of Jeruſalem it was matter of ſcorn to be religious. Though there be no ſolid ground for, nor need of that marginal reading, yet is it a truth: The Tranſlators reach the meaning by Prey: The wicked, like wild Beaſts, endeavouring to devour ſuch as are not as bad as themſelves; where Wickedneſs rules, Innocency is oppreſſed, in bargaining, as buying, and ſelling. They that are ſimple, and innocent are outwitted by the crafty and fraudulent, as not willing, or rather daring to oppoſe fraud with fraud, but to do all things in ſincerity. i i. e. Took notice of it, 'tis ſpoken of God after the manner of men, as Gen. 11. 5. & 18. 21. and many other places. k q. d. If you would know why God is ſo angry with you, it is for ſuch things as theſe; the Lord takes notice of it, and it is a great evil in his eye.

16 And he ſaw that there was no man l, and won-l Viz. To intercede, which is ſuppoſed from the following words; or no man to help in ſuch a caſe, to ſhew himſelf, and appear in ſuch a corrupt ſtate in the behalf of equity, as ver. 4. the like circumſtances we have Ezek. 22. 29, 30. or none fit to intercede. m Heb. iiſtomen, was amazed, aſtoniſhed, as it were, not knowing what to do: This notes both God's ſollicitouſneſs about their condition, together with their dulneſs, and blockiſhneſs, in not concerning themſelves about it, eſpecially conſidering they had been a people ſo well inſtructed, and yet under the guilt of ſuch groſs ſins, ſhould be no more ſollicitous about pardon, which God would readily have granted, if any ſuch could have been found, Jer. 5. 1. n Or, Yet, as it is uſed, ch. 7. 14. & 51. 21. o This may relate 1. To the parties thus oppreſſed: Or 2. To God, as that either 1. He would do his work without help from any other, ch. 51. 5. Or 2. He would avenge himſelf, his own honour; thus the word is uſed 1 Sam. 25. 26. and this may, and ſeems to be the meaning of the next clauſe: Or 3. He had made proviſion for the maintaining his own righteous cauſe, and peoples intereſt; this ſenſe, that phraſe, ſo like this, favours ch. 63. 5. Salvation unto me. p Viz. His Juſtice, q. d. ſeeing there could be no Juſtice found among them, he would avenge the innocent himſelf, which agrees with ver. 8. and is juſtified by ch. 63. 5. where ſpeaking of the deſtruction of the Idumæans, you have the ſame words, only the word Fury changed for Righteouſneſs, The literal meaning is God's taking vengeance on the Chaldeans for his Peoples ſake: The myſtical is Chriſt's making uſe of his own Righteouſneſs for the redemption of loſt man, being deſtitute of all other.

Eph. 6. 14, 17 * For he put on righteouſneſs as a breaſt-plate q, 1 Theſ. and an helmet r of ſalvation upon his head; and he put
8. on the garments of vengeance s for clothing, and was clad with zeal t as a cloke.

q God, reſolving to appear as a Man of War againſt Babylon, that did now oppreſs his People, puts on his Arms, Heb. Wrapt himſelf, and particularly his Breaſt-plate which he calls Righteouſneſs, to ſhew the juſtneſs of his Cauſe, as alſo his Faithfulneſs in making good his Promiſes to his People. r As the Breaſt-plate is to defend the Heart and vital parts, whereby God doth ſignifie the Innocency and juſtneſs of his Cauſe, as well as his Faithfulneſs; ſo the Helmet is to defend the Brain, the fountain of the animal Spirits, and therefore by this piece of armour would have us know that he is invincible: As by the other, that he defends a juſt Cauſe in his Truth, and Faithfulneſs, ſo by this, that he cannot be diſappointed in it by reaſon of his Power, and Invincibleneſs. s Or Garments made of Vengeance: as God is ſaid to put on the former for their ſakes, whom he would preſerve, ſo he puts on theſe for their ſakes, whom he will deſtroy, viz. his Peoples Enemies, the Chaldeans, and other enemies of the Jews. t Either 1. Zeal to his own honour, which had been given to Idols; or 2. Zeal for his own People, who were now in diſtreſs: Or 3. Zeal, and Indignation againſt the Babylonians, who were ſuch great oppreſſors of his People, which are the materials, that his garment of vengeance, and his cloke of Zeal is made of. It may be trifling to follow the Metaphor of Garments too cloſe; ſee of the Phraſe, Judg. 6. 34. marg. The ſum of all theſe expreſſions is this, to deſcribe both the cauſe, and effect together, the cauſe was Righteouſneſs and zeal in God, the effect Salvation to his People, and vengeance on his enemies, as is evident from the next verſe.

* Ch. 63. 6. 18 * According to their † deeds u, accordingly he him. ‖ Or, put him to flight.

z i. e. Either worſhip the Lord: For the name of God is put for God himſelf, as hath been often ſhewed, and Fear is put for his worſhip. Or, make his name renowned. a Viz. The weſtern part of the world. b Or the glorious God. c Viz. the eaſtern parts of the world: The ſum is the whole world, either a Synecdoche of the part for the whole, or, if you divide the world through the poles, the one half will be Eaſt, and the other Weſt, and ſo compriſeth the whole World. It ſhall fear and worſhip God, and make his Name renowned, laying aſide their Idolatries: whether you refer it to the deliverance of his people out of Babylon, when they ſhall hear how God hath executed vengeance on his Enemies; or, to the Redemption by Chriſt, and his calling of the Gentiles, Mal. 1. 11. d Either againſt the Babylonians, as ſome underſtand it, and ſo it is probably meant of Cyrus, who ſhall come like a violent flood, againſt whom there is no head to be made: Him God would ſtir up againſt the Babylonians for the deliverance of the Jews. Or, againſt his own People, and ſo it may have either 1. A more particular reſpect to Jeruſalem, when Sennacherib came up againſt it, which ſuits well with what God ſaith of him ch. 8. 7, 8. Or, 2. More general, at what time ſoever the Devil, or his Inſtruments ſhall make violent irruptions upon the Church, Rev. 12. 15. for powerful Enemies invading a Country are oft compared to a River. See on ch. 18. 2. It is an alluſion to the overflowing of Euphrates, which by its violent inundations was wont to do much hurt and damage to the Babylonians. e And here again, if it be taken in the firſt ſenſe, viz. againſt the Babylonians, then the meaning is, God himſelf ſhall as it were carry the ſtandard in the midſt of Cyrus his Army, the Medes and Perſians, and that with a great deal of fury, intimated here by the Spirit of the Lord: for Spirit is often uſed among the Hebrews for the paſſions of the Soul, as Anger, Wrath, Fury, &c. Or, as a violent blaſt, or gale of Wind ſhall help forward the violence of the torrent, and if ſo, then him, by an Enallage of the Number, which is frequent, is put for them. But if in either of the other two ſenſes, viz. with particular reſpect to Sennacherib, then the ſpirit of the Lord, as with a blaſt, only ſhall puff him away, which was made good, Iſa. 37. 7, 36, 37. Or, with more general reference to the violence of Enemies againſt the Church; then the meaning is, God ſhall make known himſelf to take their part and defend them, Pſal. 6. 3, 4, 5. and cauſe the Enemies to give back, or put them to flight, as in the margin. Iſa. 17. 12, 13, 14. and that without Power, but by his Spirit alone, as eaſie as by a puff of wind, Zech. 4. 6. Again, if you take this (as ſome learned men do) in a ſpiritual ſenſe, then it notes the ſuddenneſs of the Goſpels ſpreading it ſelf by the Spirit in the Miniſtry of the Apoſtles and Evangeliſts, bearing down like a flood, all that oppoſes it, the Lord Jeſus Chriſt being lifted up in it as a Banner or Enſign; but this ſenſe, though true, ſeems to be more forced, and as it relates to temporal deliverances, more genuine and natural: however the Prophet being about to ſpeak of the ſpiritual deliverances, and ſtate of the Church by Chriſt, he ſeems to ſlide, as it were, into it by ſuch plain Alluſions, and Types, being to ſpeak of it more directly in the following Chapters.

20 And f * the redeemer g ſhall come to Zion h, * Rom. 11.
and unto them that turn from tranſgreſſion in Jacob i 26.
ſaith the LORD k.

f Moreover, or to wit. And being here not ſo much copulative as expoſitive. g The word notes a Redemption with Power, viz. 1. Cyrus, the inſtrument for the efficient, viz. God the Redeemer, ch. 43. 14. & 45. 13. Or, 2. Chriſt of whom the Apoſtle expounds it, Rom. 11. 26. the Prophets uſually concluding their Promiſes of temporal deliverances with the Promiſes of ſpiritual, eſpecially ſuch, of which the temporal were evident Types. h Viz. Jeruſalem, to which though Cyrus came not in perſon, yet his favours, and the good effects of his Conqueſt over Babylon reached it, ſetting free the Citizens of Zion, as Chriſt alſo his Church, which is often called by the name of Zion, and Jacob, and Iſrael, &c. i Viz. Among the Jews, who were the children of Jacob, and he deſcribes to whom of theſe, namely to them, and none elſe, that turn from tranſgreſſion, ſuch only whoſe hearts God touched, and turned to Righteouſneſs; and ſo to come to Sion here by the Prophet, and out of Sion by the Apoſtle, is one and the ſame thing, ſee on Deut. 33. 2. for the Hebrew lamed is not only an Article of the Dative Caſe, but put often for mim, of or from, ſo that letſion is out of Sion: And for Chriſt to be given a Redeemer to Sion is the ſame thing, as his coming to take iniquity from Jacob. And ſo the Apoſtle doth by this expound that, taking an Apoſtolical Liberty not only to quote, but to expound this Text, and ſo by laying them together, and making them one, would teach us, that God muſt do for us what he requireth of us, Acts 3. 26. or elſe, which is in the opinion of ſome, he takes the laſt clauſe from ſome other Text, or Texts as Iſa. 4. 4. I incline to the former, partly becauſe there is no need of ſearching for any other Text, and partly becauſe, as the Apoſtle quoteth it, it is agreeable to the LXX, which he frequently makes uſe of; and this the Apoſtle improves as an allegory to prove that the Jews toward the end of the world ſhall be converted, and ſaved, when the fulneſs of the Gentiles ſhall be brought in. q. d. As this People of old were delivered out of a dark and doleſome eſtate, when they ſeemed as it were extinct, ſo toward the end of the world the remnant of the Jews, that ſeem to be rejected, God will again bring home unto himſelf. k Or, thus it is Decreed, and determined by the Lord; the Prophets are wont to ſet down theſe words as a ſacred ſeal of certainty, ſecurity, or confirmation of ſuch ſignal promiſes as this is of the Redeemer, like to that of the Apoſtle, 1 Tim. 1. 15.

21 And as for me, this is my covenant l with them, ſaith the LORD, My ſpirit that is upon thee m, and my words which I have put in thy mouth n, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeeds ſeed o, ſaith the LORD, from henceforth and for ever p.

l Or what I have promiſed, and ſo am engaged to ſee fulfilled, viz. to them that turn from their iniquity; or rather, the promiſe of his word, and Spirit to abide in his Church, upon which account it is alſo, that the Spirit is promiſed in the next words, by which is underſtood, either the gift of Prophecy, or the Prophecy it ſelf given here to Iſaiah, and ſo to the Church. And being here, as in the foregoing verſe explicative, not copulative; unleſs it note, that in an ordinary way the Spirit, and the Word go together where-ever either of them are effectual, the Spirit impreſſing what the word expreſſes, Joh. 14. 16, 17, 18. and it is the Spirit of Satan, that is different from the word. m See on Num. 11. 17, 25, &c. & 2 Kings 2. 15. n Which thou haſt uttered by vertue of my Spirit, it being the Churches great treaſure, and happineſs to have God preſent with his word. o The ſenſe is either, theſe words, and the fulfilling of them ſhall be always talked of, where-ever the mention of this deliverance ſhall come, as is ſaid of Maries ointment, Mat. 26. 13. Or, rather, he ſeems to promiſe the perpetual preſence of his Word, and Spirit with the Prophets, Apoſtles, and Miniſters, and Teachers of the Church to all ſucceeding ages thereof, and may have a ſpecial reference to the Goſpel, or new Covenant in Chriſt. p i. e. for a long, though yet a definitive ſpace of time, as is it often uſed.

CHAP. LX.

The Glory and Bleſſings of the New Church after a ſhort affliction, 1,—22.

* Mal. 4. 2.

ARiſe q, || ſhine r, for thy light s is come, and * the glory of the LORD t is riſen u upon thee.

q A word of encouragement accommodated to the Jewiſh, or Hebrew ſtile, wherein, as by lying down is deſcribed a ſervile and calamitous condition, chap. 47. 1. So by riſing, and ſtanding up, a recovery out of it into a free, and proſperous one, as may be ſeen frequently; Rouze up, intimating her deliverance to be at hand. And here under a type, or hieroglyphical deſcription of Jeruſalem's reſtauration, is deſplayed the flouriſhing ſtate of the Gentile Church under the Meſſiah, and that in the greatneſs, for quality, and alſo the number of her Proſelytes; in the deſcription whereof, the Evangelical Prophet, whatever he doth in other parts of his Prophecy, doth here moſt briskly ſparkle forth in divine Eloquence. r Diſcover thy ſelf as one breaking forth from a dark night; or look out, as men do at Sea, who uſe to look out ſharp, to ſee what they can diſcover after a dark, and ſtormy ſeaſon; or be enlightned with more knowledge; or, be thou filled with joy, a metaphorical metonymy of the efficient, as thou art about to change thy condition, change thy countenance; be chearful in that light, or ſalvation that is approaching. s Either, 1. Thy flouriſhing and proſperous eſtate, an alluſion to peoples riſing, when after a dark night, the light breaks forth, they begin to riſe; Or, 2. The Cauſer of thy light, the effect for the efficient; viz. Thy God, or Chriſt, becauſe the fountain of all happineſs, as the Sun and Moon are called Lights, becauſe they give light, Gen. 1. 16. Thus Chriſt is called the true Light, Joh. 1. 9. and compare Joh. 8. 12. with Eph. 5. 14. and you'll find theſe words quoted to that purpoſe. t i. e. The greateſt glory, as the Cedars of God, the Mountains of God, &c. comp. Rev. 21. 11. or, the glorious Lord, or the Lord of glory, or Chriſt, who is the glory of the Father, is come unto thee; he is at hand to make himſelf glorious in ſome wonderful work for thy ſalvation: either, in his Doctrine, or Miracles, or work of Redemption, that his glory may reſt upon thee, ſuitable to the Pſalmiſts prayer, Pſal. 85. 6, 7, 9. u Like as when the Sun ſpreads it ſelf into every place, leaving none dark, thus it refers to the glorious Goſpel, called ſuch a glorious Light, 2 Cor. 4. 4.

2 For behold, the darkneſs x ſhall cover the earth y, and groſs z darkneſs the people: but the LORD a ſhall ariſe upon thee, and his glory ſhall be ſeen b upon thee.

x Either Affliction, and Miſery, a known Metaphor; or Ignorance, and Idolatry; as alſo all kinds of Errours, and Immoralities, with which all that are out of the Church are ſmutted, and polluted, compare Epheſ. 4. 18, 19. y Either 1. General, all the Inhabitants of the Earth, ſuch as through ignorance reject the Goſpel. Or, rather, 2. More particular, the Babylonians, by a Synecdoche of the whole for a part, in that diſmal condition being haraſſed by Cyrus, whereby the Jews were delivered; this being alſo a type of the deliverance of God's People by the Meſſiah, which this Text principally intends. z An alluſion to that Egyptian darkneſs, Exod. 10. 21, &c. palpable ignorance, the inlet and nurſery to groſs Idolatry and all prophaneneſs. a i. e. Chriſt, Mal. 4. 2. Luke 1. 77, 78, 79. b Shall be wonderful conſpicuous; as the Lord's ariſing anſwers to the darkneſs covering the Earth, ſo the glory being ſeen, anſwers to that groſs darkneſs. The ſenſe is, that whereas the time was, that the people of God were under great calamities, while their enemies were in eaſe and proſperity, now it ſhall be quite contrary; now theſe ſhall be in Adverſity, and thoſe in proſperity, a great turn of Providence; and withal implies, that this light of grace is a peculiar to his people, in reſpect of which all other proſperity is but darkneſs, and miſery; as Light was peculiar to Goſhen, when darkneſs was in all the Egyptian houſes, Exod. 10. 23.

3 And the * Gentiles ſhall come c to thy light, and d kings e to the brightneſs of thy riſing.

c Either to congratulate thy deliverance; or to note the reſpect that ſhould be ſhewn them by other Nations upon their deliverance; or rather, ſhall be allured by thy light to come to thee; as Travellers in a dark night, and out of their way, when a light diſcovers it ſelf, do make to it; ſo the Doctrine of the Goſpel ſhall ſhine ſo bright, and be made ſo conſpicuous by preaching, and miracles, that they ſhall not only congratulate them, and wiſh them much joy, but rejoyce and participate with them in their happineſs, Rev. 21. 24. A plain Prophecy of the calling of the Gentiles, which promiſe was made to Chriſt, Ch. 49. 6. d Or, yea, or even kings, which was fulfilled under Cyrus, Darius, Alexander, and the Ægyptian Kings. e To add to thy luſtre, thou ſhalt not be honoured only by the converſion of mean perſons, but even of honourable Perſonages, embracing the Chriſtian faith, and ſubmitting themſelves to Chriſts Scepter and Government. See ch. 49. 23. To obſerve thy progreſs, and how thou ſhalt encreaſe by degrees, as the Sun in its aſcending; In Chriſt's time there were 12 Apoſtles, afterwards 120 Diſciples, in a ſhort time many thouſands, then the Church grew into Congregations, and then ſpread to Nations.

4 * Lift up thine eyes round about f and ſee; all they gather themſelves together g, they come to thee, thy ſons h ſhall come from far, and thy daughters ſhall be nurſed at thy ſide.

f Or in a Circle; into all parts of the Earth; it ſeems to relate to the Apoſtles, and Diſciples, with their ſucceſſors, carrying the Goſpel into all parts of the world: And in regard it would be as it were a thing incredible, he bids them lift up their eyes, as if they were to behold it in ſome Viſion, or upon ſome Watch-Tower in Jeruſalem; there is the like expreſſion, chap. 49. 18. g He ſpeaks more particularly either of the Jews flocking from all parts to Jeruſalem, when they ſhall hear of their return from Babylon, which may be true in the type; or eſpecially, of the coming in of ſome of all nations to the Goſpel. h The ſame thing, only for elegancy ſake expreſſed in its parts; the ſenſe reſpects both Perſons, and place; as to perſons, thy Sons and thy Daughters alſo ſhall be brought unto thee tenderly, as it were in arms, Iſa. 49. 22. where by thy ſide by equivalent expreſſions of Arms, Boſoms, and Shoulders, is ſupplied with reference to them both, and may import they ſhall be brought unto the Church of Chriſt as unto their Mother, and it may further be obſerved, that where the Maſculine gender is joined with the Feminine of the ſame ſpecies, it notes multitude, and variety, as, Eccleſ. 2. 8. Men-ſingers, and Women-Singers. i. e. All ſorts and variety of vocal Muſick: and as to place both thy Sons and thy Daughters that are not only near, but alſo afar off, ſhall come to thee as we ſay far and near, Acts 2. 39. or, it is the ſame with what was ſaid before round about in all quarters of the world; from far, noting the Longitude, and ad latus, at, or on thy ſide the Latitude, and even thoſe that perhaps were before at enmity one with another.

|| Or, of the ſea ſhall be ned tow thee.

5 Then ſhalt thou ſee i, and || flow k together, and thine heart ſhall fear l, and be enlarged m, becauſe the abundance of the ſea n ſhall be converted unto thee o, the || forces p of the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee.

o A Metaphor taken from Children ſucking nouriſhment from the breaſt, the ſenſe is that the Church ſhould draw, or drain the wealth of Nations, and the riches, and power of Kings, and whatever is moſt excellent, and that it ſhould come freely, and affectionately, as milk flows from the breaſt of the Mother; the ſame thing intended, Chap. 49. 23. and in the foregoing verſes. p i. e. Experience it; knowing is often put for an experimental knowing. q Styled ſo either with reference to Jacob's Perſon, he being the firſt that gave God this title, Gen. 49. 24. or with reference to Jacob's poſterity, viz. the Jews. Theſe things will certainly be accompliſhed, for he is the mighty God, and ſo able, and the God of Jacob, ſo obliged by Covenant, and Relation.

r Here is the effect of the former promiſe, thy poverty ſhall be turned to riches, all things ſhall be altered for the beſt; an alluſion to the days of Solomon, when Gold was as braſs: thus on the Contrary, when they change for the worſe in the ſtate, it uſeth to be expreſſed by the like Metaphors, Chap. 1. 21, 22, 23. s i. e. Loving, Meek and Peaceable, the Abſtract put for the Concrete, as is uſual, whether you underſtand it of Under-officers, they ſhall be Officers of peace, or, of Governours, thou ſhalt have a peaceable Government, as it was made good to them under Ezra, Nehemiah, Zorobabel, and ſuch like. t Moſt righteous, as before peace for peaceable. The Church is not freed from Taxes, and pyaments, that is given by Chriſt and Peter unto Cæſar, but it ſhall be without oppreſſion, and grinding; no more than is neceſſary, and not exacted rigorouſly; though all theſe were made good in their return out of Babylon, yet doth it more properly relate to the meliorating of the Church under the Goſpel, wherein inſtead of Carnal Ceremonies, ſhe had Spiritual Ordinances, which is the ſcope of the Apoſtle, Heb. 9. and larger meaſures of the holy Spirit; and ſhould have ſuch Officers as would ſpeak peace to the Conſciences, by diſcovering the compleat, and perfect righteouſneſs of him, who fulfilled all righteouſneſs.

u That this, and what follows muſt neceſſarily be underſtood of the Church Triumphant (though there only it will be compleat) I ſee no neceſſity, neither will obtrude my Judgement, but leave it to the judicious as being more proper in a Comment; none to offer violence to this quiet ſtate thou ſhalt attain to, either within thee to oppreſs by Injuſtice, Rapine, or Fraud, or without thee by hoſtile invaſions, and this the Prophet mentions as the effect of good Officers In the former verſe. x No havock made among thy people. y They ſhall be ſafe, and able to defend thee; thou ſhalt be as ſafe, as ſalvation it ſelf can make thee. When a thing is ſaid in Scripture to be called ſo, it often ſignifies as much as to be ſo, Ch. 26. 1. & 47. 1. & 65. 7. and it intimates as much as that God will be ſalvation to his Church: when they ſhall be without Gates, and Walls, he will be their ſafety, and the matter of their praiſe, a ſee Iſa. 26. 1. and God's care of his Church is the matter of that exhortation to praiſe him, Pſal. 147. z A double Metonymy, viz. of the Effect, as ſalvation will cauſe praiſe, and of the Adjunct as it is worthy of praiſe; ſo that within or upon thy Gates and Walls, thou ſhalt ſing praiſes.

i. e. the gift of Prophecy; ſo we are often to underſtand by the Spirit, viz. The gifts, as the Spirit upon Sampſon, viz. The gift of valour, and courage, and ſtrength, ſee, 1 Cor. 12. 4, &c. Though the Prophet may ſpeak this of himſelf in Perſon, yet that it is principally underſtood of Chriſt, is evident, becauſe he applieth this Text unto himſelf, Luke 4. 18. being the firſt text he preached upon after his Baptiſm, at which time the Holy-Ghoſt did deſcend upon him in a viſible ſhape, of which that John, who Baptized him, was an ocular witneſs, John 1. 32, 33. and ſo making good the truth of this Prophecy; and it is ſaid to reſt upon, and dwell in him, according as it is propheſied, ch. 11. 2. & 42. 1. o Set me apart, i. e. both capacitating him with Gifts, and commiſſionating him with Authority; and yet more, as it is applied to Chriſt, a Power to make all effectual, from whence he hath alſo the name of Meſſiah among the Hebrews, and of Chriſt among the Greeks; nay Chriſt alone among the Prophets hath obtained this name, Pſal. 45. 7. and the Prophet ſeems here to deſcribe, firſt, who Chriſt is, and then what are his Offices, this being the uſual Ceremony for the deſigning Perſons to the Offices of Prophets, Prieſts, and Kings, as hath Been divers times ſhewn, in all which reſpects it doth moſt eminently belong to Chriſt, ſo that the Prophet doth hereby intimate both the final cauſe of his unction, viz. that he ſhould execute theſe Offices to which he was anointed; and the effect of it; that unction being upon him as the head, it would flow from thence to his members, and ſo is an unction more peculiar to them, and in a more general way it hath reſpect unto all the faithful, 2 Cor. 1. 21, 22. 1 John 2. 20, 27. p Being meant of Chriſt, this relates to his Prophetical Office. Literally this points at the good news that Iſaiah brought of Cyrus his being raiſed up to bring them out of Babylon, now they are become meek and humble; but if it be thus taken, it muſt be underſtood of his Prophecies left behind him, for he died many years before the Captivity. But they chiefly ſignifie the good tidings of the Goſpel, that diſcovers Chriſt come in the fleſh to redeem poor ſinners from the Captivity of ſin, and Satan, ſuch as are meek, and humble, or afflicted, as the word ſignifies, becauſe ordinary afflictions make men meek, and humble; called alſo the Poor, and our Saviour expreſſeth it by that word, Luke 4. 18. To theſe the Goſpel, theſe good tidings are brought, Mat. 11. 5. Whether by Poor you underſtand, 1. The Gentiles void of all Grace and Salvation, or tenders of it till now. Or, 2. Properly ſo called, indigent and needy Perſons, of which ſort were the greateſt number that followed Chriſt, of which the reaſon might be, becauſe Chriſt preached the contempt of the World, and Riches, which the Poor would therefore ſooner embrace, and the Rich more likely to oppoſe. Or, 3. The Poor in Spirit. q Now follow ſeveral particular expreſſions to deſcribe the ſame thing that he mentioned before more generally; a Metaphor taken from Chirurgians, that carefully and tenderly roll up a broken bone, Hoſ. 6. 1. and this relates to Chriſts Prieſtly Office. r The heart dejected, and broken with ſorrow. I am ſent to eaſe their pains, whoſe Conſciences are wounded with a ſenſe of God's wrath. s Thoſe Captives in Babylon, but principally to Satan, that they ſhall be delivered: and this appertains to Chriſt's Kingly Office, whereby he proclaims liberty from the Dominion, and Bondage of ſin, and from the Fear, and Terrour of Hell. See Ch. 42. 7. t i. e. Suppoſing them to be in chains, and fetters, yet they ſhould be delivered, though in the greateſt bondage: the further explication of theſe things will be found upon Luke 4. 18. Becauſe there are ſome paſſages expreſly mentioned here.

2 To proclaim u the acceptable x year y of the LORD, and the day of vengeance z of our God, to comfort all that mourn a.

u To declare, as it reſpects the Jews, that their liberty is at hand. x Viz. the happy age of God's grace, either which will be grateful, and welcome news to them, or acceptable to God, a time wherein it pleaſeth him to favour them; but this muſt be underſtood of a farther extent than to Babylon, and rather unto Mankind in Jeſus Chriſt, Gal. 4. 4. and Tit. 3. 4. called a time of God's good will in that Angelical Song, Luke 2. 14. On the account of thoſe good tidings which the Angel brought, v. 10, 11. called ſo poſſibly from the arbitrarineſs, and good pleaſure of God, having no reſpect to any ſatisfaction from man. y Not preceſely, as if Chriſt preached but one year, the miſtake of ſome Ancients mentioned, and refuted by Irœneus, lib. 2. ch. 38. But for time indefinitely, and may include the whole time of preaching the Goſpel. See Rom. 10. 15. which I take to be the meaning of that now, 2 Cor. 6. 2. and probably hath a pertinent alluſion to the year of Jubilee, which was a general releaſe proclaimed by ſound of Trumpet, which relates alſo here to the word Proclaiming, Lev. 25. 10. z Viz. on Babylon, it being neceſſary, that where God will deliver his People, he ſhould take vengeance on their enemies; but myſtically, and principally on the enemies of his Church, and the Spiritual ones chiefly, viz. Satan, Sin, and Death. a Either by reaſon of their ſufferings, or of their ſins, Mat. 11. 28. Or, the miſeries of Sion. See on ch. 57. 18.

3 To appoint b unto them that mourn in Zion c to give unto them beauty for aſhes d, the oyl of joy for mourning e, the garment of praiſe for the ſpirit of heavineſs, that they might be called f trees of righteouſneſs g, the planting of the LORD h, that he might be glorified i b Supple it. Viz. Comfort, or Joy, or elſe it may refer to thoſe Accuſative caſes following, Beauty, Oyl, Garments. c Put by a Metonymy for the Jews, q. d. among the Jews; and they for the Church of God, or, according to the Hebrew For Zion. d By aſhes underſtand whatever is moſt proper for days of mourning, as Sackcloth ſprinkled with Aſhes, and theſe aſhes which were ſprinkled on their heads, mixing themſelves with their tears, would render them of a woful Aſpect, which was wont to be the habit of Mourners, as by Beauty whatever may be beautiful, or become times of rejoycing. e The ſenſe is the ſame with the former, he calls it Oyl of joy in alluſion to thoſe anointings they were wont to uſe in times of joy, Pſal. 104. 15. and alſo the ſame with what follows, viz. Gladneſs for heavineſs, gladneſs brings forth Praiſe to God; and it is called a Garment in alluſion to their Feſtival Ornaments, for they had Garments appropriated to their conditions, ſome ſuitable to times of rejoycing, and ſome to times of mourning; or elſe an alluſion to comely garments; and the ſpirit of heavineſs, becauſe heavineſs doth oppreſs, and debaſe the Spirits. It is all but an elegant deſcription of the ſame thing by a threefold Antitheſis. f That is, that they may be ſo, as it is uſually expreſſed, Ch. 58. 12. & 60. 18. they ſhall be acknowledged ſo, v. 9. g He aſcribes Righteouſneſs to Trees, underſtanding thereby Perſons by a Metaphor, by which he means, that they ſhall be firm, ſolid, and well rooted, being by faith engrafted into Chriſt, and bringing forth fruit ſuitable to the Soil wherein they are planted, that had been as dry trees, ſee on Iſa. 56. 3. viz. the Church, the Vineyard of God, and the hand by which they are planted, as in the next words. h Planted by the holy Lord, who being himſelf holy, and righteous, would plant none but ſuch, which notes alſo their ſoundneſs, and ſtability, an alluſion to that paſſage in Moſes his Song, Exod. 15. 17. i Either in that glory which he ſhould confer upon them, or that glory he may expect and receive from them, that ſo it may be evident whoſe handy work it was. See ch. 60. 21.

4 And they ſhall * build the old waſts, they ſhall raiſe up the former deſolations, and they ſhall repair the waſt cities, the deſolations of many generations k.

* Ch. 58. 12.

k See ch. 58. 12. As it is applied to Goſpel times, the meaning may be, that Gentiliſm, which was as a wilderneſs overgrown with Briars, and Thorns, ſhall be cultivated, and thoſe Cities and Provinces of the Gentiles, that lay as it were waſt, void of all true Religion, ſhall now by the Miniſtry of the Word, be edified in the true worſhip of God.

5 And ſtrangers l ſhall ſtand m and feed your flocks n, and the ſons of the alien o ſhall be your plowmen, and your vine-dreſſers p.

l Viz. Gentiles, ſuch as are not of the natural race of the Jews, but Gentile Converts. Or, ſuch as ſhall have no more than an outward profeſſion, ſtrangers to the true work of Grace. m Ready to beat thy ſervice, a like expreſſion, ch. 48. 13. n The Churches with the word of God. o The ſame with ſtrangers, or their ſucceſſours. p As the words deſcribe the proſperous eſtate of the Jews, the meaning of them is, that they ſhould be in ſuch a flouriſhing and proſperous condition, that without their own labour, they ſhould have all inferiour offices executed, either by ſlaves taken in War, or by Perſons hired for reward, which they ſhould have Riches and Wealth enough to accompliſh; But as they principally relate to the ſpiritual State of the Church, ſo probably by Strangers we may underſtand Converted Gentiles with their Succeſſors meant by the Sons of Aliens, which ſhould be ready to diſcharge all Offices for the advantage of the Church, feeding the Flocks, viz. the Churches of Chriſt with the Word of God, and ſhould manage the whole work of God's Spiritual Husbandry therein; ſee 1 Cor. 3. 6, 7, 8, 9. Or, by Strangers may be meant Members of the Church only by an outward Profeſſion, even they ſhall be ſome way ſerviceable to her in ordinary and inferiour matters: The Earth ſhall help the Woman, Rev. 12. 16.

6 But ye ſhall be named the prieſts q * of the LORD: men ſhall call you the miniſters of God: * ye ſhall eat r the riches of the Gentiles, and in their glory ſhall ye boaſt s your ſelves.

q For your part, ye emphatically ſhall be as Prieſts, Either, 1. For Maintenance, as the Prieſts of old were plentifully provided for without their labour, ſo ſhall you by the labour of Strangers: Or, 2. For Countenance, you ſhall be every where as greatly valued as the Prieſts were wont to be; you ſhall be eſteemed as Princes; for ſo the word is often uſed, the word Prieſt being applied not only to the Sacred Function, but to one that was of great note among the People, and was ſupplied with all neceſſaries from others, without any labour of his own. Thus David's Sons were called Prieſts, or Princes: Or rather, 3. For Priviledge, the whole body of them ſhall now be as peculiar, and as near to God as the Prieſts were formerly, and ſhall be a Royal Prieſthood, 1 Pet. 2. 9. This is moſt certainly true of all the faithful under the Goſpel, hence they have alſo their Spiritual Sacrifices, Rom. 12. 1. Heb. 13. 15, 16. 1 Pet. 2. 5. r It relates to the Riches of the Gentiles, which did conſiſt moſt in Flocks, and Herds: Or, what you eat ſhall be purchaſed by the Riches of the Gentiles. s You ſhall exalt your ſelves, or be renowned by others: The LXX render it, you ſhall be wonderful, or to admiration; or grow high by the acceſs of that glory, which they ſhall bring unto you, viz. in Riches, Parts, Learning, Chap. 60. 5. 11.

7 For your ſhame ye ſhall have double t; and for confuſion they ſhall rejoyce in their portion u: therefore x in their Land thy ſhall poſſeſs the double: everlaſting y joy ſhall be unto them.

t See on Chap. 40. 2. Supple honour; though you have been little accompted of among your Enemies, yet now you ſhall be greatly in their eſteem, Zech. 9. 12. you ſhall have double damages. u Viz. of honour, that God will give them, the ſame thing with the former; or, in their Inheritance, which God ſhall reſtore to them; and that either, 1. For worth and value through God's bleſſing upon it: Or, 2. For room and ſpace, and that poſſibly by reaſon of the few that will return to inhabit there, viz. only a tenth part, Chap. 6. 13. Or, that which he ſhall give them out of their Enemies Land. x Or rather, Becauſe, being rendred as a reaſon of their rejoycing, becauſe of the doubling of their portion, in which ſenſe it is taken, Chap. 16. 14. y Of long continuance here, and everlaſting hereafter; or, to be perpetually remembred on their Anniverſary Feſtivals; though this had its accompliſhment in their return from Babylon, yet was it moſt ſignally made good in that great change for the better, which they ſhould find in the Goſpel-ſtate in the enlargement of Chriſt's Kingdom, and encreaſe of his People, with whom they ſhould ever rejoyce together.

* Ch. 1. 13. ‖ Or, recompenſe. Heb. give, Ezek. 7. 3.

8 For I the LORD love judgment z, * I hate robbery a for burnt-offerings, and I will ‖ direct their work in truth b, and I will make an everlaſting covenant c with them.

z q. d. They have ſuffered a great deal of hardſhip under their Enemies, and I will do them Right, for I love Juſtice in my ſelf, and in them that practiſe it: Or, he gives a reaſon why he will recompenſe thoſe Strangers that did ſo freely miniſter to his People. a All things gotten by injuſtice, though it be for Sacrifice: As God will not accept of that which coſt nothing; ſo much leſs of that which is the Effect of Rapin, and Oppreſſion; a foundation, whereon moſt of our Abbies and Monaſteries were built, viz. to expiate ſome great Crimes. And thus by making God a Receiver, they did interpretatively make him a Confederate. b Either I will lead, and guide them ſo, that they ſhall do all things in ſincerity; they ſhall do good works, and to good Ends; they ſhall now love Truth, and walk in Truth, and ſerve him in Spirit and Truth: Or, I will reward them; or, I will make their work ſtable and firm. Truth notes ſtability; ſee the Notes on Ch. 16. 5. (work being here put metonymically for the reward of work) proportionably to their work. c q. d. Though you have broken Covenant with me, and I have ſeemed to forſake you in giving you up to Captivity, yet I will renew my ancient Covenant made with your Fathers, confirmed with the blood of Chriſt, and it ſhall be everlaſting, never to be abrogated, viz. it ſhall be continued in the Gentiles that ſhall come in your rooms, that for breach of Covenant were broken off.

9 And their ſeed ſhall be among the Gentiles d, and their off-ſpring among the People: all that ſee them ſhall acknowledge them, that they are the ſeed which the LORD hath bleſſed e.

d i. e. Eminently, a promiſe of the increaſe of the Church; ſuch ſhall be their proſperity, and multiplying, that they ſhall be known abroad by their great increaſe; or elſe, the meaning is, the Church ſhall have a ſeed of the Gentiles, the borders of the Church ſhall be enlarged, whereas it hath been confined as it were to one corner of the World, now it ſhall remain in one Nation alone no more, but ſhall fill all the Nations of the Earth. e They ſhall be known to be the ſeed of Abraham, partly by their holy converſation, and partly by their exceeding bleſſings, it being the ſeed that the Lord had ſo often promiſed to bleſs: There ſhall be ſuch viſible Characters of God's love to them, and of God's grace in them.

10 I will greatly rejoyce f in the LORD g, my ſoul ſhall be joyful in my God h; for he hath clothed me with the garments of ſalvation i, he hath covered me with the robe of righteouſneſs k, as a bridegroom † decketh himſelf with ornaments, and as a bride adorneth herſelf with her jewels.

f This by a Proſopopœia is ſpoken in the Perſon of the Church, wherein ſhe doth thankfully acknowledge God's kindneſs to her in the forementioned promiſe, expreſſed here in the greatneſs of her affection with reference both to her preſent deliverance from Babylon and to the happineſs of her Goſpel-ſtate. g Or becauſe of the Lord, or of the goodneſs of the Lord towards me, an uſual form of gratulation. 1 Sam. 2. 1. and Hab. 3. 18. and Luke 1. 47. or thus, I will not rejoyce ſo much in my deliverance, as in the Lord. h This clauſe is to the ſame purpoſe, ſave only ſhe varies the expreſſion, q. d. Yea I do it with my whole Soul. i With Salvation, as with a garment, ſo in the next with righteouſneſs, as with a Robe, the meaning is the Salvation that God will work for me, will render me as beautiful, and conſiderable, as they are, that are clothed with the richeſt garments, as Bridegrooms uſually are, and Brides with their Jewels, or as venerable, as Kings in their Princely Robes, my Sack-cloth will now be turned into Robes, or, I ſhall be compaſſed about with glory, as garments do compaſs the body. k i. e. Either with the fruits, and effects of his Love, and many Favours to the Church, in which ſenſe Righteouſneſs is taken, Pſal. 112. 3, 4, 9. compar'd with 2 Cor. 9. 9. and chap. 51. 6, 8. ſhe ſhould ſee the Righteouſneſs of God in fulfilling all theſe promiſes. Or that Righteouſneſs of Chriſt imputed to us, which we are ſaid to put on, Rom. 13. 14. or thoſe graces imparted to us, and acted in an holy life.

* Ch. 45. 8.

11 * For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden cauſeth the things that are ſown in it to ſpring forth l: ſo the Lord GOD will cauſe righteouſneſs m and praiſe n to ſpring forth before all Nations o.

l By this and the other Metaphor he ſhews not only the reviving of the bleſſings of the Church after they had been as it were dead in the winter of affliction, but the great plenty, and abundance of bleſſings that ſhould break forth; that which had been as a wilderneſs, ſhall be as a Paradiſe, pointing at the effects of his grace, and bounty. m i. e. His great work of Salvation ſhall break out and appear. n As the natural product, and fruit of it, his own glory being the Principal end of making his Righteouſneſs to appear and manifeſt it ſelf. o Theſe things will not be done in a Corner, but will be eminently conſpicuous in the ſight of all the world, for which purpoſe thoſe Hymns penned by the godly will ever be famous in the Churches of Chriſt to all ages, as of Moſes, Hannah, Mary, Zechary, Simeon, &c.

CHAP. LXII.

A Prayer of the Watchmen for the Church in confidence of God's Gracious Deſigns and Promiſes to it, 1. —— 12.

FOR Zions p ſake will I not hold my peace, q and for Jeruſalems ſake I will not reſt, until the righteouſneſs r thereof go forth as brightneſs s, and the ſalvation thereof as a lamp that burneth t.

p Viz. The Churches ſake, Sion, and Jeruſalem being both put for the Church, Heb. 12. 22. q Theſe ſeem to be the words of the Prophet ſtrongly reſolving, notwithſtanding all difficulties, to ſolicit God for the Churches happineſs, and conſtantly excite to the belief of it by his Preaching, though it were long ere it came, for Iſaiah lived near 200 years before this was accompliſhed; but his Prophecy lived, and the tenour of it was continued by other Prophets, whom the Lord ſtirred up to be ſtill eſtabliſhing his people till this Salvation was wrought; his meaning might be, as long as he lived, he would never hold his peace; or he might include himſelf among thoſe, who ſhould be then alive, as Paul doth among the other Saints, 1 Theſ. 4. 17. we which are alive. Thus may we alſo include God ſpeaking theſe words as ſome would have it, viz. By the mouth of Iſaiah, and other of his holy Prophets, that never held their Peace, till they ſaw this bleſſed ſtate of the Church appear. r With reference to the Babylonians, underſtand it of the Righteouſneſs of God, who hath promiſed his People deliverance, and he muſt be Righteous, and ſo underſtand Salvation before; or rather, the vindicating of his People's cauſe in the Eyes of the Nations by the ruin of the Babylonians; he will ſhew that his People have a Righteous cauſe: or with reference to the Church, till Chriſt, who is her Righteouſneſs ſhall appear and be manifeſted in the Goſpel. s Clearing up their miſerable, and dark eſtate which the Church might be ſuppoſed to be in before Chriſt's coming, with much joy, and happineſs. t And to that purpoſe is ſet up where it may be ſeen continually, to ſignifie how eminently conſpicuous this proſperous eſtate of the Church ſhould be among the Nations, and as it may particularly relate to revealing of Chriſt unto the World.

2 All the Gentiles ſhall ſee thy righteouſneſs u, and all kings x thy glory: and * thou ſhalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the LORD ſhall name y.

* Ch. 65. 15. ſee ver. 12.

u See what is ſaid in the foregoing verſe, ſome read thy Juſt One, viz. Jeſus Chriſt. x Thoſe that were wont to ſcorn thee, ſhall now be taken with the admiration of thy Glory. y Not the ſeed of Abraham, or the Children of Iſrael, but of God; that whereas they were by nature the Children of Wrath, now by Grace they ſhall be the Children of God: Or, another Name, as it is ſaid of Tongues. Compare Mark 16. 17. with Acts 2. 4. Or, a Name, the honour whereof ſhall make them famous, as Gen. 11. 4. they ſhall be called Chriſtians. Or, The Church ſhall be more renowned than ever, both in reſpect of her condition, and ſo called Hephzibah, and of her Relation, and ſo called Beulah, and this new name the Lord gives them accordingly, ver. 4.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo be a * crown of glory z in the hand of the LORD a, and a royal diadem b in the hand of thy God.

* Zec. [illegible]. 16.

z An expreſſion to ſet forth the dignity of her ſtate. a i. e. Either, as placed upon thee by God's hand, that he will diſpoſe of, or diſpenſe to thee; an uſual form of ſpeech in Scripture, as Hag. 1. 1. by the hand of Haggai, ſo Mal. 1. 1. Or, In the hand of God: He ſhall ſo manage thine honourable eſtate, that thou ſhalt be a Crown, a Credit and Honour to him; and ſo the word Crown may be uſed for any kind of ornament, or matter of Honour: Or, preſerved, and defended by God's Hand; a Phraſe that expreſſeth it to be out of all danger, as to put a Man's Life in his hands is to expoſe it to dangers, Judg. 12. 3. 1 Sam. 19. 5. & 28. 21. b The ſame thing with the former for ſubſtance. Or, the Royal Prieſthood, whereof the Apoſtle ſpeaks, 1 Pet. 2. 9.

4 * Thou ſhalt no more be termed, Forſaken c; * neither ſhall thy land d, any more be termed deſolate e: but thou ſhalt be called f ‖ Hephzi-bah g, and thy land ‖ Beulah h: for the LORD delighteth in thee, and thy land ſhall be married i.

Be*, as you have frequently had ſuch inſtances. g My delight is in her, a new Name agreeing with her new Condition. h Married, agreeing to her new Relation: ſhe ſhall be as one well married, to the great improvement of her ſtate, Jer. 3. 14. Hoſ. 2. 18, 19, 20. i Thou ſhalt ſee the increaſe of thy Children again in thy Land, as the fruit of thy married condition, which by reaſon of thy being forſaken of thy Husband, were in a manner waſted and decayed: And this refers to the great inlargement of the Church in the Goſpel days: Or rather, ſhall be poſſeſſed, as the word baal properly ſignifies, and ſo it anſwers to deſolate, thou ſhalt be no more deſolate, but poſſeſſed, and this helps to ſolve a difficulty in the next verſe, which otherwiſe may ſeem an impropriety, That the Sons would marry the Mother.

5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin k, ſo ſhall thy ſons l marry thee: and † as the bridegroom rejoyceth m over the bride, ſo * ſhall thy God rejoyce over thee.

k This is delivered as a demonſtration of what was ſaid in the cloſe of the 4*th verſe*, and it is ſaid Young, and Virgin to note their ſuitableneſs, not Old, and Young, but ſuch as may delight each in other, ſignifying that mutual content that would be in all parties, thus it was at the firſt preaching of the Goſpel, Acts 2. 41, to 47. l Whereas it is improbable that the Spirit of God ſhould carry on ſo ſacred a Prophecy by a ſimilitude ſo abhorrent to Nature, the Son ſhould marry the Mother, the ſcruple is eaſily ſatisfied by taking the word in its right ſignification to poſſeſs, as in the foregoing verſe, reading it thus, as a young man marrieth or poſſeſſeth a Virgin, ſo ſhall thy Land be inhabited or poſſeſſed by thy Sons; they ſhall dwell with thee as a man dwells with his Wife, and thus the LXX. And it is ſaid Sons to diſtinguiſh them from ſtrangers, by whom ſhe ſhould not any longer be inhabited, but by her own natives; and expreſſed by marrying to ſignifie not only their unity of affection in the evenneſs of their living, but of Faith in their common profeſſion called the Common Faith, Tit. 1. 4. according to which Paul calls Titus his Son. m Taketh delight in her, ſo ſhall thy God, viz. Chriſt, God and Man, in thee; ſee ver. 4. † Heb. ſilence.

r The ſame with the foregoing Verſe, and very acceptable to God, Luke 11. 8, 9, 10. s By ſending the Meſſiah, and thoſe Labourers into his Vineyard, whereby the Church may be eſtabliſhed, and ſetled on ſure foundations, and ſo become matter of Praiſe to God. All the Nations may praiſe him for her, Pſal. 67. 3, 4. Or, that ſhe may be praiſed, and become renowned, and famous in the Eyes the World, ſee ch. 60. 9. & 61. 9. 11.

8 The LORD hath ſworn by his right hand t, and by the arm of his ſtrength, † Surely u, I will no more * give thy corn to be meat for thine enemy, and the ſons x of the ſtranger ſhall not drink thy wine, for the which thou haſt laboured y:

t This, and the next Verſe are much to the ſame purpoſe, wherein the Prophet, to encourage them to their induſtrious endeavours, tells them that the Lord had ſworn to ſee to the proſperity of Jeruſalem; And he names the Hand to ſignifie his faithfulneſs, as the giving of our hand notes our Fidelity, and Arm to ſignifie his Power, the Arm of his ſtrength, i. e. his ſtrong Arm; theſe being eminently to be engaged, and put forth for his People, he ſwears by them. u Or, If. I give, an uſual Apoſiopeſis, an abrupt form of ſwearing, implying ſomething of an imprecation, as great as can be expreſſed, q. d. never account me Faithful, or Almighty, if I accompliſh not this. x See ch. 61. 5. y The meaning is, that Meat, and Drink, and all neceſſaries, that thou haſt laboured for, the Babylonians took away from thee, but now it ſhall be ſo no more, he will not give thee up to the Will of thine Enemies.

9 But they that have gathered it z, ſhall eat it, and praiſe the LORD a; and they that have brought it together, ſhall drink it * in the courts of my holineſs b.

* See Deut. 12. 12. & 14. 26. & 16. 11, 14.

z i. e. The Wine mentioned in the former verſe, that have brought it from their ſeveral Vineyards, and laid it in their Cellars, every one ſhall eat the fruit of his own labours; thou ſhalt not ſow, and another reap, as formerly. a They themſelves ſhall praiſe him, viz. for his Bounty, and Goodneſs; and others alſo, that ſhall be partakers with them; God will be bountiful, and they ſhall be thankful. b As I have commanded, Deut. 14. 23. in my Courts: Holineſs being put for God himſelf by a Metonymy of the Adjunct; alluding to thoſe anniverſary Feaſts, and thank-offering that were to be eaten in thoſe places about the Temple, and perhaps in ſpecial to that part which was appropriated to the Prieſts; implying herein, that they ſhould be all Prieſts, and, for ought I know, here may be an alluſion to the great Goſpel-feaſt, or Thank-offering in the Lord's Supper, theſe Promiſes being not only applicable to, but do point at the Soul-protections, and the Soul-proviſions of the Church of Chriſt.

c It is doubled by way of Emphaſis, q. d. make haſt to your own Land, as if Cyrus ſhould ſay, get you out of Captivity as ſoon as you will, ch. 48. 20. Or, it may intimate an invitation iſſued out from them at Jeruſalem to thoſe that were ſcattered about in the Captivity, therein poſſibly typifying the going of Chriſt's Diſciples into the various parts of the World, to bring thoſe that were ſcattered up and down into the Church. Or, go meet the Gentiles, whom God purpoſeth to bring into the Church, that by pure Doctrine, and your holy Lives they may be the ſooner won. d Let them not have any obſtructions in their way, he ſeems to call upon others to prepare the way for them; Thus John was ſent to prepare the way for Chriſt, as was propheſied, ch. 40. 3. accordingly it is ordered to be caſt up, ſee ch. 57. 14. e That there be no ſtumbling ſtone, or offence in their way: Or, q. d. go to and fro, and remove every ſcandal that they may boggle at, Rom. 14. 13. The former notes the certainty of their deliverance, harbingers ſent before; this the ſpeed of it, no impediment. f An alluſion to Soldiers, that uſually ſet up their Standard that the Army may know whether to repair from all quarters. See ch. 49. 22. and lifting of it up, is that it may be more viſible, ſee ch. 11. 10, 11, 12. and this is Chriſt held forth in the preaching of the Goſpel. g Or, over the People.

11 Behold, the LORD hath proclaimed h unto the end of the world, * ſay ye to the daughter of Zion i, Behold, thy ſalvation k cometh, behold, his * reward is with him, and his ‖ work l before him.

* Zech. 9. 9. Mat. 21. 5. Joh. 12. 15. * Ch. 40. 10. Rev. 22. 12. ‖ Or, recompenſe.

h This may be underſtood of Cyus his Proclamation, being thereunto directed by God, ſee 2 Chr. 36. 22, &c. i i. e. To Jeruſalem, or the Church, the ſum of which Proclamation is in the following words. k Either 1. The time of it is come, ch. 56. 1. & 60. 1. Or rather 2. The Perſon that effects it, thy Saviour, by a Metonymy of the Efficient, Luk. 2. 30. l i. e. the Reward due to the work, the ſame thing with the former; ſee of this on ch. 40. 10. Or, his work is ready cut out for him, which he is to do: Or, he will induſtriouſly ſet himſelf about the work that is before him; Joh. 4. 34. and he is ſaid to bring it with him, viz. the reward, that he will give to his true Worſhippers, Or, he brings eternal Salvation with him, or the Reward of Redemption which is the Subject of the next Chapter.

m Or, they ſhall be called, or they ſhall be a peculiar ſeparate People, ch. 4. 3. n Or, one found that was loſt, ſee Ezek. 34. 16. Or, ſought out, or for, or one in great eſteem, one that the Gentiles ſhould ſeek to join themſelves withal, ſo as to be one Church with her: That reproach ſhould be wiped off from her, that this is Sion whom no man ſeeketh after, Jer. 30. 17. Or, cared for, viz. by God, whom he hath out of infinite Love gathered to himſelf. o See v. 4. The meaning is, that thus they ſhall eſteem the Goſpel Church; ſhe ſhall be accoſted with ſuch ſalutations as theſe are, the Holy People, the Redeemed of the Lord, &c.

CHAP. LXIII.

Chriſt's victory over his Enemies, 1, —— 6. and mercy towards his Church: in judgment remembring mercy, 7, —— 14. the Church's Prayer and Complaint in faith, 15, —— 19.

WHo is this p that cometh from Edom q, * with † died r garments from Bozrah s? this that is † glorious in his apparel t, travelling in the greatneſs of his ſtrength u? I that ſpeak in righteouſneſs x, mighty to ſave y.

* Rev. 19. 13. † Heb. wet. † Heb. decked.

p In theſe two verſes either the Prophet as in ſome viſion or Extaſie is put probably upon enquiry by God himſelf, rather than by Chriſt or Michael, or Judas Maccabæus, as ſome have thought, and the rather, becauſe this place doth thus ſuit beſt with chap. 59. 16, 17. Or, the Church makes enquiry, and that with admiration, who it is that appears in ſuch a habit or poſture, v. 1. and why, v. 2. q That is the Country of Idumæa, where Eſau dwelt, and Eſau himſelf was ſometimes called by this name, Gen. 25. 30. and it is put Synecdochically for all the Enemies of the Church, as Moab is, Iſa. 25. 10. See the Notes. r Or, ſtained: Thus Chriſt is deſcribed, Rev. 19. 13. and ſo alſo ver. 3. LXX. the redneſs of Garments. s The Capital City of Idumæa; ſee further ch. 34. 6. a parallel Text; and Edom and Bozrah here are mentioned, either 1. Not as relating to the places ſo called, but by way of alluſion to the Garments of this Conqueror, Edom ſignifying Red, and Bozrah a Vintage. The one relating to his treading the Winepreſs, and the other to the blood ſprinkled upon his Garments, v. 3. the like manner of ſpeaking you have, Pſal. 120. 5. Or rather, 2. Put Synecdochically for all the Enemies of the Church, among whom, though Antichriſt be not particularly deſigned, yet may be reckoned, being one of the chief of them, thus typifying Chriſt's Victories over all the Enemies of the Church, Rev. 19. 19, 20, 21. and this is uſual; Babylon is put for any deteſtable City, and Moab for all that are vile and abominable, Iſa. 25. 10. ſo Edom here for all Gods Enemies; and he mentions theſe Idumæans rather than the Chaldæans, who were the Jews chief and particular Enemies: 1. partly to ſet forth the greatneſs of the enmity, being of old ſtanding, and an inbred malignity, Gen. 25. 22, 23. and irreconcilable, and perpetual, Amos 1. 11. and particularly put forth, when the Babylonians took Jeruſalem, Pſal. 137. 7. 2. Partly to comfort the Jews, both becauſe God would take particular revenge upon Edom, as he had threatned, and propheſied by Obadiah which is the ſubſtance of that whole Prophecy; And alſo theſe being their near Neighbours, God doth give them ſecurity, that they ſhall not only be delivered from the Chaldæans, thoſe remoter Enemies, but from the Idumæans alſo, whoſe vicinity and neighbourhood might have been troubleſom to them. t Such as Generals are wont to march before their Armies in, or great Conquerors, that walk in ſtate and Gallantry from their Conqueſts. u In, or according to the Majeſty of his Gate, being an indication of the greatneſs of his ſtrength, and intimating that he hath throughly done his work, and fears no purſuing Enemy, as the Lion that keepeth his Majeſtick Gate without the fear of any other Beaſt, Prov. 30. 30. this notes the invincibleneſs of his Power, and that it is his own ſtrength, he needeth not the help of Armies or other inſtruments, and thus he will travel through all the Countries of his Enemies. x Here the Lord Chriſt gives an anſwer, wherein he both aſſerts his Fidelity, that he will faithfully perform what he hath promiſed, and that he will truly execute Juſtice, Rev. 19. 11. and hereby alſo he diſtinguiſheth himſelf from all Idol Gods, Iſa. 45. 19, 20. y I have power to accompliſh Salvation, as powerful as faithful, Iſa. 19. 20.

* Revel. 19. 13. 2 Wherefore z * art thou red in thine apparel, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winefat?

z Having enquired of the Perſon, now he enquires the Reaſon of his habit being thus ſprinkled.

3 I have trodden a the wine-preſs alone b, and of the people there was none with me c: for I will tread them in mine anger, and trample them in my fury d and their blood ſhall be ſprinkled e upon my garments, and I will ſtain f all my raiment.

a i. e. I have deſtroyed the Enemies of my People, I have cruſhed them as Grapes are cruſhed, this being an uſual Metaphor to deſcribe the utter deſtruction of a People, Pſal. 44. 5. Iſa. 25. 10. Rev. 14. 19, 20. and the eaſineſs of doing it, no more than to cruſh a bunch of Grapes. b To note his Good-will, and great Power, the Maſters of Vineyards are not willing to do this drudgery themſelves, neither, if they would, could they be able to manage a whole Vintage by themſelves: But Chriſt was willing to undertake it, and able to go through it without calling in the help of any other. c 1. Not that he excludes the Jews, but the other Nations that dwelt about them, therefore he ſaith of the people there was none with him, but God and his own People may be reckoned as one, Judg. 5. 23. And though this be true of his paſſion in which ſenſe ſome would carry it, yet doth it not ſo well ſuit with the deſign: For Chriſt is deſcribed here not as a Prieſt Sacrificing, or ſhedding of his own blood, but as a King, conquering and ſhedding the blood of his, and his Churches Enemies; hence it is ſaid their blood, not his own; to ſhew that it cannot fairly relate to his Paſſion: Beſides Chriſt could expect no help in that, for he knew none could; but here he looked, and wondred that there was none, v. 5. And though it may be ſaid, that he makes uſe of Inſtruments both in his conquering of temporal Enemies, and alſo ſpiritual, conſider 1. That here he ſpeaks as a General, and therefore the whole Victory is aſcribed to him alone. 2. They do it not only by commiſſion and authority derived from him, but by ſtrength conveyed to them from him, without which they could do no more than a Watch without a Spring, or Tool without the Work-man's ſtrength and skill: And that Chriſt may make it appear they are no Coadjutors that he needs, he makes them bring about ſuch things as they never deſigned, as he ſpeaks of the Aſſyrian, ſee on ch. 10. 6, 7. and this is to be underſtood in like manner of Chriſt's Conqueſt over ſpiritual Enemies, 2 Cor. 4. 7. See Acts 3. 12, 13. d This latter expreſſion is but an aggravating of the former; It implies a kind of inſulting, an alluſion to Conquerours, who were wont to make the conquered to lie down, that others might trample on them, ch. 51. 23. e Or, was ſprinkled. As in treading of Grapes the juice ſparkles upon the cloths, q. d. in his anſwer, thus came my Garments to be ſprinkled. f It ſhall not be, or it was not only ſprinkled, but perfectly ſtained, as it were rolled in blood, ch. 9. 5.

Ch.* 34. 8. & 61. 2. 4 For the * day of vengeance g is in mine heart h, and the year of my redeemed i is come k.

g Deſigned and purpoſed by me to take vengeance on the Enemies of my Church. Or, particularly the poſterity of Eſau; Day and Year is all one, ſave the latter may have ſome reſpect to the length of their Captivity. h Or, was in my heart, a deſire of Execution, Pſal. 40. 8. I have meditated or ſtudied revenge, being long forborn hath wrought in me reſolutions of Revenge, therefore wonder not that I am ſo bloody, noting the ſeverity of his proceedings againſt his Enemies. i The Jews have this title, becauſe he redeemed them out of Egypt, and would alſo out of Babylon. k is at hand; ſee Pſal. 102. 13. ch. 34. 8. The former part of the verſe ſhews that Chriſt is ſtill about his work, though he defer the Execution till the fit time come; he may allude to the year of Jubilee.

Ch.* 59. 16. 5 * And I looked, and there was none to help l; and I wondred that there was none to uphold m: therefore mine own * arm brought ſalvation unto me, and my fury n, it upheld me. Pſ.* 98. 1.

l Not that he needed it, for help implies a defect of power, or wiſdom, or wealth, or opportunity, &c. But to ſee what men would do, in regard his people needed it, therefore the ſtanding, or not ſtanding by his people is the ſame thing with ſtanding, or not ſtanding by him, Judg. 5. 23. Math. 25, 35, 40, 42, 45. m A Metaphor, taken from a ſtaff, that is an help to one that leans on it. n Or zeal, viz. Againſt the Adverſaries of the Church: God's Arm notes his ſtrength, and Power, and his zeal ſets this Power on work, chap. 9. 7. but ſee on chap. 59. 16, 17.

6 And I will tread down the people in mine anger, and make them drunk o in my fury, and I will bring down their ſtrength to the earth p.

o The Hebrew often expreſſeth Calamities by a cup of wine, or ſtrong drink, by which the diſtreſſed Perſons are made drunk, Pſal. 75. 8. chap. 51. 21, 22. they go as it were to and fro, not knowing what to do with themſelves; and in ſpecial drunk with their own blood, chap. 49. 26. Rev. 16. 6. p Whatever it is wherein their ſtrength lies, their ſtrong ones, or, their ſtrong places, or deep Counſels, &c. he will bring to the very duſt, to nothing; like drunken Men they ſhall fall to the ground, not being able to ſtand, the moſt miſerable condition that men can fall into, Pſ. 36. 12.

7 I will mention q the loving kindneſſes of the LORD, and the praiſes of the LORD, according to all that the LORD hath beſtowed on us, and the great goodneſs towards the houſe of Iſrael, which he hath beſtowed on them, according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his loving kindneſſes.

q Whether this ought to be the beginning of a new Chapter, or no, is not material, but certainly here begins a new matter, which contains the Prophet's prayer, either in his own name, or the Church's to the end of chap. 64. wherein he begins with mentioning the great kindneſſes, that God had ſhewn the Jews, and that Emphatically, ſetting it forth with the greateſt advantages; and the more either to aggravate their great unkindneſs, or to give them ſome hope of finding him the like again in their diſtreſſes, or by way of argument with God to ſhew them mercy, becauſe he had been ſo good to them.

8 For he ſaid r, Surely they are my people s, children that will not lie t, ſo he was their Saviour u.

r viz. within himſelf of old, when he made a Covenant with our Fathers, and brought them out of Egypt. s In Covenant, though they are unworthy of me, yet I cannot but look upon them as my people. Their enemies would perſuade themſelves, O they are not God's People, but caſt-outs, that none cared for, or looked after, but God will own them. t That will keep my Covenant; they will not deal falſly with me, that are under ſuch obligations: or, I preſume they will not, though they did go after their Idols, and prove unfaithful to me in ſerving Baal, and Aſhteroth, &c. Now I preſume they will do ſo no more; Thus Parents are apt tenderly to think of thoſe Children, that they have been indulgent to, that they will not offer to abuſe their kindneſs, thus God thinks the beſt of them: or, he intimates here what they are obliged to do, though he knew they would do otherwiſe: or, they will not degenerate after I have renewed them. u viz. On theſe hopes and on theſe Conditions he undertook the charge of them, Exod. 19. 5, 6, Pſal. 81. 8, 9, 10. or, he, ſo he alone was their Saviour: when none to ſave, none to uphold, then he ſaved them, not Cyrus, Zerubbabel, Nehemiah, &c. But Chriſt himſelf.

9 * In all their affliction he was afflicted x, and the angel of his preſence y ſaved them z: * in his love and in his pity a he redeemed them, and he * bore them, and carried b them all the days of old. * Ju. 10. 15 * Deut. 7. 7, 8. * Exod. 19. 4. Deut. 1. 31. Ch. 46. 3.

x Becauſe of all the afflictions they endured in Egypt; this notes the Sympathy that is in Chriſt, he having the ſame Spirit in him, that the Church hath, and her head and Father; or, in all their afflictions no affliction, ſo the words may be read; their afflictions were rather favours than afflictions; all that befell them from the red Sea through the wilderneſs; and then Tzar is taken actively, he afflicted not; this may note his Clemency, their ſting was taken out; either way it may be read according to the different ſpelling of lo, whether by Aleph, or Vau. The firſt ſeems the more genuin, they that liſt to drive this notion further, may conſult the Latine Synopſis, and the Engliſh Annotations. y The ſame that conducted them through the wilderneſs, called an Angel, Exod. 33. 2. and his Preſence, ver. 14. and Jehovah, Exo. 13. 21. ſo that it muſt be the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who appeared to Moſes in the buſh, as Stephen doth interpret it, Act. 7. 35, &c. Other Angels are in his preſence, but they were not always, he was ever ſo, therefore ſo called by way of eminency, hence the LXX expreſs it not a Legate, or Angel, but himſelf. z From the houſe of Bondage; brought them through the red Sea, the wilderneſs, &c. Their rock was Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 4. This ſhews the ground of his kindneſs, they were a ſtubborn, Superſtitious, idolatrous People, yet Chriſt's Love, and pity ſaved them for all that; It was becauſe he loved them. b He left them not to ſhift for themſelves, but bare them as a Father his Child, or an Eagle her young ones; he carried them in the arms of his power, ſee Chap. 46. 4. and on the wings of his Providence; ſee Deut. 32, 10, 11, 12. and the Notes on Deut. 1. 31. And he is ſaid to do it of old, To remember his ancient kindneſs for many Generations paſt; Olam ſignifies an Eternity, or a long time paſt, as well as to come, from the days of Abraham or Moſes, from their Bondage in Egypt, to the time of Iſaiah and it is uſed as an Argument to move him to do ſo ſtill, he will carry her, till he bring her unto his Father.

* Exodus 15. 24. Num. 14. 11 Pſ. 78. 40, 56. & 95. 9. Eph. 4. 30.

10 But they rebelled, c and * vexed his holy ſpirit d; therefore he was turned to be their enemy, e and he fought againſt them.

c Many of their Rebellions we read of in Exodus and Numbers in their Travels. The Lord tells Moſes, that they had tempted him ten times, and therefore ſeverely threatens them, Numb 14. 22, 23. There were three principal Times of their Rebellion; 1. In the Wilderneſs, where they murmured for want of Bread and Water. 2. In Canaan, in not deſtroying, but only making Tributary ſuch Nations as God commanded them to deſtroy. 3. Before the Babylonian Captivity, when they ſet themſelves againſt the Prophets, which Stephen chargeth upon them, Acts 7. 51, 52. Among which alſo we may reckon all their behaviours under their Judges, and their Kings: Or, we may underſtand it of their not anſwering God's End and Expectation. d Spirit of his Holineſs; they vexed him by their obſtinacy againſt his will and mind, and walking contrary unto him; not that there are ſuch Paſſions in God, but it is ſpoken after the manner of men, as they are vexed when their will is croſſed. e overthrew them not only in the Wilderneſs, Pſal. 78. 31, 33, 59, 60, &c. ſending among them fiery Serpents, Numb. 21. 9. but even in Canaan, ſtirring up againſt them Adverſaries, ſometimes the Philiſtines, anon the Midianites, and then the Moabites, &c.

11 Then f he remembred g the days † of old, Moſes and his people h, ſaying, Where is he that * brought them up out of the ſea i, with the ‖ ſhepherd k of his flock? Where is he that * put his holy ſpirit l within him?

f Or yet. g This relates either, 1. To the People, and then He is collectively taken, and ſo it looks like the Language of the People in Babylon, and muſt be read, he ſhall remember. Or, 2. It may look back to their condition in the Wilderneſs, and thus they may properly ſay, Where is he? or that God that delivered his People of old, to do the like for us now? there is a like Phraſe uſed by Eliſha, 2 King. 2. 14. Or rather, 3. To God as it were recollecting himſelf in a pathetical Proſopopœia; q, d. Where is he? Where am I with my former bowels, that moved me to help them of old, that I would now turn to be their Enemy? Or, Is my hand ſhortned that I cannot do it? And ſo in the following verſes he gives a particular deſcription how kind he had been to them formerly, the times mentioned, v. 9. and thus God ſeems to work upon himſelf. h Or, what great things he had done for them by Moſes. i Here God ſpeaks of himſelf, as in the former clauſe, viz. that divided the Sea from them, being one of the greateſt Miracles that ever God wrought for his People; it is therefore frequently mentioned by way of encouragement to them, when they are in ſore troubles. k Or, Shepherds, viz. Moſes, that brought out his People as a Shepherd doth his Flock; He and Aaron are both joyned, Pſal. 77. 20. l i. e. Thoſe Abilities and Gifts, wherewith God furniſhed Moſes, as properly proceeding from the Spirit, he can do the like again, and qualifie Inſtruments for his work.

Or, with as much eaſe and tenderneſs, as an Horſe led by the Bridle; not as men affrighted, but ſoberly, and orderly. s This may be taken Metaphorically, they came to no harm: Or, Properly that, though the Sea were but newly divided, yet it was ſo dried, that the mud, as alſo the unevenneſs of the ground, was not any occaſion of their ſtumbling, or their ſticking in it; probably ſo dried, and ſmoothed by the wind, that God ſent as it were to prepare the way before them. See Chap. 4. 3, 4, 5.

14 As a beaſt goeth down into the valley t, the ſpirit of the LORD u cauſed him to reſt x: ſo didſt thou lead y thy people, to make thy ſelf a glorious name.

t A laden beaſt goeth warily, and gently down the hill: or, as a Beaſt goeth down to the vally for Graſs, that being a Mountainous Country; or, going down for going along, ſo the word is uſed, Iſa. 38. 8. noting the evenneſs of their paſſage; or, alluding to their going down from the ſhore into that great Channel (as the coming out of it is called a going up, ver. 11.) now made through the Sea, orderly, and compoſedly, not like the Gadaren Swine through conſternation, ready to break their necks for haſt. u i. e The Lord himſelf. x Led them eaſily, that they ſhould not be over-travelled, or fall down, or come to any injury through wearineſs; thus Jeremiah expreſſeth it, chap. 31. 2. and thus God gave them reſt from their enemies, drowning of them in the Sea, and in their ſafe conduct, that they could not annoy or diſturb them, leading them till he found them a place for reſting; the word for leading, and reſting being much of a like notion, Zech. 10. 6. pointing at their ſeveral reſts by the way, Num. 10. 33. or it may be read by way of Interrogation, as all the foregoing words, and be the cloſe of that inquiry, and where is the Spirit, that cauſed them to reſt? or he led them to Canaan the place of their reſt, ſo called, Deu. 12. 9. and Pſal. 95. 11. y the Prophet here by an Apoſtrophe doth only repeat the words in the name of the Jews, that he had ſpake before, ver. 1, 2. q. d. as thou didſt then, ſo mayeſt thou do again if thou pleaſeſt.

* Deut. 26 15. ‖ Or, the multitude. * Jer. 31. 20. Hoſ. 11. 8.

z Now they, or the Prophet begin to pray, and expoſtulate with God, and to argue both from the goodneſs of his nature, and from the greatneſs of his works, that he had done. God ſees every-where, and every thing, but he is ſaid to look down from Heaven; becauſe there is his throne whereon he ſits in great Majeſty, and Splendor. Behold is added to note, that he would not only barely ſee, and look on, but that he would behold with regard, and reſpect his poor people in Captivity. a A deſcription of heaven by a Periphraſis frequently uſed and explained, Deut. 26. 15. b What is become of that love, which of old would not let thee ſuffer thy people to be wronged, chap. 37. 32. c That power of thine manifeſted in thoſe valiant Acts, which thou didſt put forth for thy people, Pſa. 145. 11, 12. and 150. 2. ſee Jer. 14. 9. d By the ſounding thereof may be underſtood thoſe Sympathizing ſighs, and compaſſionate groans, that proceed from the bowels, when they are affected, which being thought the ſubject of pity are often by a Metonymy put for compaſſion, and hence proceed thoſe rumblings of the bowels occaſioned by ſtrong paſſions called yernings; it is ſpoken of God after the manner of men? Is all this ſhut up from me? Thou art naturally ſo compaſſionate, doeſt thou lay a reſtraint upon thy ſelf, that thy bowels ſhall not move towards me? e Or canſt thou be thus ſtraitned? Pſal. 77. 7, 8, 9. and chap. 64. 12. an expoſtulation, that agrees very well with the next verſe, doubtleſs, &c. How can this come to paſs?

16 Doubtleſs thou art our Father f, though Abraham g be ignorant of us, and Iſrael h acknowledge us not: thou, O LORD, art our Father, ‖ our Redeemer i thy name is from everlaſting k.

f Thus they urge God with that relation he ſtands in unto them, Mal. 2. 10. therefore we as thy children expect the bowels, and compaſſions of a Father. g He who was our Father after the fleſh, though he be dead, and ſo ignorant of our condition. h Or, Jacob, who was alſo our Father, and therefore a vain thing to call upon them; or if they were not dead, they could not help us out of our ſtreights; or, if they were alive, we are ſo much degenerate, that they would not own us. Some ſay Abraham, and Iſrael are here mentioned, and not Iſaac, 1. Becauſe the Covenant was made more ſolemnly, and the promiſes more frequently renewed with them, then with Iſaac.. 2. Becauſe with Abraham the Covenant was firſt made, and the whole ſeed of Iſrael was taken into it, but not ſo of Iſaac. Or elſe, 3. Abraham and Iſrael being named Iſaac is included; i This is urged as another argument for pity, and the more becauſe their Father was their Redeemer, Deut. 32. 6. k Or, Redeemer is thy name from Everlaſting, thou haſt been our Redeemer of old.

17 O LORD, why haſt thou made us to err from thy ways l, and hardned our heart from thy fear m? Return for thy ſervants ſake n, the tribes of thine inheritance o.

l Commandments: it is the Language of the godly among them being troubled, and therefore complaining that ſo gracious a Father ſhould leave them to ſuch exigences: made us to ſin by withdrawing thy Spirit, and leaving us to our ſelves, Pſa. 81. 12. It is not to be underſtood, as if God did force them to it, but either letting looſe their hearts, or by giving occaſion to their hearts, being naturally too apt to Apoſtatize by their ſevere Afflictions; ſee this more cleared in the Latine Synopſis: or, make us deſperate, by leaving us ſo long under the Oppreſſion of the Adverſary, thereby caſting off thy Worſhip. m Or fear of thee, viz. as the object, Pſal. 5. 7. or that we may not fear thee, as ſeeing, that they may not ſee, Pſa. 69. 23. or thy ſervice, chap. 29. 13. ſo as to go after other gods. n Either our godly Fore-fathers, or particularly to Abraham, Iſaac, &c. viz. For the ſake of thy promiſes made to them: or rather, our ſakes, that little remnant that are thy Servants, be reconciled to us, Pſa. 90. 13. for the next words ſeem to be put by appoſition to the former. o Either, 1. The people themſelves, which were divided into tribes; or rather. 2. The land of Canaan, which God gave them as an inheritance, as appears by the next verſe. q. d. What will thine enemies ſay if thou ſuffer us to periſh, or thine Inheritance to be deſtroyed; or rods, meaning their Rulers, ſee chap. 43. 28. or heads of their tribes.

18 ‖ The people of thy holineſs p have poſſeſſed it but a little while q: * our adverſaries have trodden down thy Sanctuary r.

p Or thy holy people, as being ſet apart for his ſervants; holineſs being to be underſtood for a Covenant-ſeparation from other people.

ple. q i. e. 1. Comparatively to the promiſe which was for ever, though they had poſſeſſed it about 1400 years. Or, 2. It ſeeming to them ſo, as things, eſpecially ſuch as are deſirable, ſeem when they are paſt, Job 9. 25, 26. and Pſa. 90.4. or 3. they enjoyed but ſmall ſpaces of time in quietneſs, ſo they had ſmall enjoyment of it, or 4. It may reſpect the Temple which ſtood but 400 years. r The Temple called the Sanctuary from the holineſs of it; this our Adverſaries the Babylonians have trodden down, 1 Chro. 36. 19. and this alſo implies their ruining of their whole Eccleſiaſtical Policy.

19 We are thine s, thou never bareſt rule over them t; ‖ they were not called by thy name u.

s We continue ſo; we are in Covenant, which they never were; and thus it is an Argument they uſe with God to look upon them. Or, the word thine, being not in the Text, ſome do otherwiſe interpret it; we are even in the ſame condition we were in at firſt, either in Egypt, or Ur of the Caldees, before thou broughteſt us into Covenant, and are accordingly dealt with; we are become even as they, whom thou didſt not bear Rule over. Or, we are as if thou hadſt never ruled over us of old. t Not in that manner, or in that relation to them, that thou didſt over us. u Neither owned thee, nor owned by thee; this phraſe implies a near relation in ſome Circumſtance or other, as Wife, or Servant, or Child, &c. Chap. 4. 1.

CHAP. LXIV.

The Churches Prayer continued: for the illuſtration of God's Glory, 1,—5. with a confeſſion of their Sins: and complaint of their Afflictions, 6,—12.

* Am. 9. 5. Micah 1. 4.

O That thou would'ſt rent the heavens x, that thou wouldeſt come down, that * the mountains might flow down y at thy preſence.

x Either the earneſt deſire of the Prophet, or the Jews ſtrong wiſh for the coming of the Meſſias: Or rather, their cry to God for vengeance upon their Adverſaries, on conſideration of the Enemies unmerciful dealing with them, and their inſolent and opprobrious uſage of God in his Temple; partly expreſſing their haſt and earneſtneſs, and partly intimating, that God would do it with violence and fury, implied in the word Renting them, Pſal. 18. 6, 7, &c. ſpoken after the manner of man, who, if he were ſhut up, muſt have room made for his coming forth: This God is ſaid to do. when he puts forth ſome ſignal manifeſtation of his power, Pſ. 144. 5. a Metaphor taken from men, that when they would reſolutely and effectually help one in diſtreſs, break and fling open doors, and whatever may hinder coming to their relief. y Or, melt, Pſa. 68. 1, 2. & 97. 5. Micah 1. 3, 4. that all impediments might be removed out of the way; poſſibly an alluſion to God's coming down upon Mount Sinai, in thoſe terrible flames of fire, Judg. 5. 4, 5.

2 As when † the melting fire burneth z, the fire cauſeth the waters to boil, to make thy name known a to thine adverſaries, that the Nations b may tremble at thy preſence.

z Come with ſuch Zeal for thy People, that the ſolid Mountains may be no more before thy breath, than Metal that runs, or Water that boils by the force of a vehement fire; and thus, for the moſt part, when God will take vengeance of his Enemies, the Scripture expreſſeth him coming with fire. a Thy Power known, that thine Enemies, and Perſecutors of thy Church may know thy power, and that thy Name may be dreaded among them; his Name put for his Power, Pſal. 106. 8. b Not the Babylonians only, but the Nations round about.

3 When * thou didſt terrible things c which we looked not for d: thou cameſt down, the mountains flowed down e at thy preſence.

c This may relate to what he did among the Egyptians, though it be not recorded, and afterward in the Wilderneſs. d viz. Our Forefathers, of whoſe Race we are: before we expected them; or ſuch things as we could never expect. e q. d. Seeing thou haſt made the Mountains thus to melt, thou canſt do the ſame again: This may allude either, 1. To thoſe ſhowers of Rain that fell with that terrible Thunder and Lightning, and ſo ran violently down thoſe Mountains, and the adjacent, as is uſual in ſuch Tempeſts: Or rather, 2. The running along of the fire upon the ground, Exod. 9. 23, 24. It is poſſible it may allude to thoſe Mountains, that do caſt forth ſulphureous matter, running down into the Valleys and Sea, like melted ſtreams of fire. And Kings, Princes, and Potentates, may alſo metaphorically be underſtood by theſe Mountains.

* Pſ. 31. 19. 1 Cor. 2. 9. ‖ Or, ſeen a God beſides thee, which doth ſo for him, &c.

f Whereas there are but three ways, whereby men ordinarily come to the knowledge of a thing, viz. by the Ear, either our own hearing, or by hear-ſay; and by the Eye, and by Reaſon, which the Apoſtle adds, where he makes uſe of this Text, 1 Cor. 2. 9. two of them are mentioned here. g With reference either to the Gods that do them, never any other God could do like thee: Or, to things done, never any beſides thee could do ſuch things as were never ſeen, or heard of; he refers to thoſe terrible things mentioned in the former verſe. It ſeems to be clear by comparing this with Deut. 4. 31, 32, 33, 34, 35. Not to be reſtrained to theſe, but to be applied to all the wonderful works, that God at all times wrought for his People: And thus they are a Plea with God, that they might well expect ſuch things from him now, that had done ſuch wonderful things for their Fathers of old. h the Apoſtle hath it, that Love him, 1 Cor. 2. 9. To ſhew that none can wait on him, that Love him not; ſo all that Love him will wait on him. This may be taken with reference both to the ſtate of Grace and Glory, thoſe incomprehenſible things that are exhibited through Chriſt in the myſteries of the Goſpel, as well as the good things of this preſent life, which the Prophet may here literally aim at, it being not unuſual for the Prophets in mentioning theſe temporal things to point at ſpiritual, eſpecially being things that do ſo well ſuit with each other.

5 Thou meeteſt i him that rejoyceth, and worketh righteouſneſs k, * thoſe that remember thee in thy ways l: behold, thou art wroth, for we have ſinned m: in thoſe is continuance n, and we ſhall be ſaved o.

i Or, waſt wont to meet: Or, thou preventeſt him, ch. 65. 24. and Pſal. 21. 2, 3. as the Father the Prodigal. k viz. That rejoyce to work Righteouſneſs, the ſame thing expreſſed by two words, by a Figure called Hendiadis. l An amplification of the former words, q. d. To walk in thy ways, whether of Providence, Precept, or Counſel, by vertue of the Covenant they have with thee. m Or, greatly angry, for, or becauſe we have ſinned, and provoked thee to wrath thereby, 1 King. 8. 46. n i. e. to thoſe that work Righteouſneſs: in for to. o Viz. In ſo doing, in working Righteouſneſs. Or as ſome by way of Interrogation; in thoſe, i. e. In our ſins is continuance, and ſhall we be ſaved? Or in thoſe viz. Works of Righteouſneſs, in keeping in them is our continuance, and means to be ſaved; or thou continueſt to ſhew mercy, and or therefore we ſhall be ſaved. The meaning of the place is to comfort the godly, that though they may have provoked God by their ſins, yet looking upon the ways of God's former proceedings (in which he ſtill continues, being unchangeable) they may find hopes of Salvation, and this is that which is amplified in the three following verſes.

6 But we are all as an unclean thing p, and all our righteouſneſſes q are as filthy raggs r, and we all do * fade as a leaf s, and our iniquities, as the wind, have taken us away t.

p He alludes, either to things unclean under the Ceremonial Law, wherein the Leproſy was found, and was to be burnt, Lev. 13. 55. or rather to Perſons unclean. They compare their preſent ſtate with the former. q. d. Formerly there were ſome that feared thee, and walked uprightly before thee, and were in thy favour; but now we are all as one polluted maſs, nothing of good left in us by reaſon of an univerſal degeneracy, Iſa. 1. 4, 6. q this according to the moſt Commentators, refers either to the obſervances of the rites, and Ceremonies of the Law, wherein they thought their Righteouſneſſes did much conſiſt; or to the beſt work, and actions that can be performed by us; or to our natural, univerſal depravities: but the beſt Interpreters, and ſuch as aim at the peculiar ſenſe of the place, refer it to the groſs provocations that this people were guilty of, cauſing God to caſt them out of their habitations; or elſe, to their Perſons. i. e. the moſt righteous among us, and being plural, it raiſeth it up to the higheſt degree, the Scripture frequently putting the Abſtract for the Concrete, as wiſdoms for the greateſt wiſdom, Prov. 9. 1. and many the like inſtances formerly given, ſo that the meaning is, the very beſt of us all are no better than the uncleaneſt things or Perſons, ſee Micah. 7. 2, 3, 4. and the rather becauſe he lived about the time of Iſaiah. r A cloath made up of patches, or ſuch as come from a putrid ſore, or are defiled with the menſtruous blood of a woman, the LXX. as a rag of one that ſits down, poſſibly alluding to Rachel, Gen. 31. 34, 35. or whatever may be moſt filthy. s Blown off the tree, and ſo withers. t Carried us away to Babylon from our habitations, as leaves hurried away by a Boiſterous Wind; our iniquities have been the procuring cauſe.

* Hoſ. 7. 7.

7 And * there is none u that calleth x upon thy name, that ſtirreth up himſelf to take hold of thee y: for z thou haſt hid thy face from us, and haſt † conſumed us a, becauſe of our iniquities b.

u Or yet, there is none. i. e. Few, Pſ. 14. 3. they are not to be diſcerned among the multitude. x Such as call upon thee as they ought, as Jacob, and Moſes, and David, &c. did, which often prevents the ruine of a ſtate, or kingdom: it points out the univerſal Apoſtacy of the laſt times of the Jewiſh ſtate, for which they were cut off. y Either to ſtay thee from departing from us, ſee Luk. 24. 28, 29. or to fetch thee back, when departed, Jer. 12. 7. or it is an Allegorical alluſion to one ſtruck down and ſtill ſmitten, but never ſtirs to lay hold on the arm, that ſmites him, ch. 27. 5. it notes their great ſloathfulneſs, and careleſneſs, and ſome refer it to their lukewarmneſs, and dead heartedneſs, relying upon their priviledges before they went into Captivity, and ſo a great preſage of their approaching Judgments. z Or when; ſo the particle is uſed, Job 5. 21. Pſ. 75. 2. a Or melted; our ſins have kindled ſuch a fire of thy wrath, that we are melted with it. b Heb. in the hands of our iniquities. i. e. Either, in the place of our iniquities, the land wherein they were Committed; or, into the hands of our iniquities to be puniſhed by them, and as it were conſumed, or melted down, or our ſtrength exhauſted by them, as wax before the fire, Lev. 26. 39. Ezek. 33. 10. or, as we tranſlate it, our iniquities being the procuring cauſe of it.

* Ch. 29. 16. & 45. 9. Jer 18. 6. Rom. 9. 20, 21.

c An argument, or pathetical plea for pity; or notwithſtanding all this thou art our Father both by Creation, and by Adoption, therefore pity us thy Children. d A Metonymy of the matter, clay for the veſſels made of clay: Or, we are clay, pointing at our Original matter: Or, it may relate to their ſtate, that God framed them into a Body Civil and Eccleſiaſtical out of a confuſed multitude; they plead at the ſame time their own frailty, why they would be pitied, and God's Covenant intereſt in them, why he ſhould pity them. e Another argument of the ſame nature with the former, Pſal. 138.8. not only as men, but as a Body of men made thy peculiar People.

9 Be not * wroth very ſore, O LORD, neither remember iniquity for ever f: behold, ſee, we beſeech thee, we are all thy people g.

f viz. Thou haſt been angry with us a long time, be not ſo for ever, but deal with us, as may beſt conſiſt with a father's bowels: It hath reference both to Quantity and Time, that it might not be very great, nor of long durance. See on Pſal. 79. 8. g Thy peculiar People, Chap. 63. 19. Another argument to back the former Petition, Pſal. 28. 9. Though we are very bad in our ſelves, and very badly handled by our Enemies, thou ſuffereſt in our ſufferings, for thou haſt no people in Covenant but us, and wilt thou not leave thy ſelf a People in the world?

10 Thy holy cities h are a wilderneſs, Zion is a wilderneſs, Jeruſalem is a deſolation i.

h Either Sion, and Jeruſalem, being the Cities they inſtance in, q. d. Thy holy Cities, viz. Sion, and Jeruſalem: Or rather, other Cities alſo in the Land of Judea, beſides thoſe two, called Holy, Either, 1. Becauſe they were built upon God's Inheritance, Chap. 63.17. Or, 2. Becauſe they were inhabited by the Jews, who were an holy People, Deut. 7. 6. Dan. 12. 7. Or, 3. Becauſe God had his Synagogues in them, Pſal. 74. 8. For all which reaſons alſo they are called Thy Cities. i Utterly waſt, not only the ordinary Cities, but even Jeruſalem, and Sion themſelves, the one called the upper Jeruſalem, or, the City of David, becauſe it was built upon Mount Sion; the other the lower City, becauſe it lay under the Hill of Sion in the Valley; he particularizeth Sion and Jeruſalem, though he had mentioned the other Cities before, becauſe the chiefeſt of the Cities, it being uſual notwithſtanding the mentioning of generals, in which all the particulars, or individuals, are included, to name the particular again; as, and from the hand of Saul, Pſal. 18. title.

11 Our holy and our beautiful houſe k, where our fathers l praiſed thee, is burnt up with fire: and all our pleaſant things are m laid waſt.

k The Temple, Chap. 60. 7. q. d. Not only our Cities, and our Principal Cities, but even our Temple, which we thought ſacred, and inviolable, in which we have gloried, becauſe it was Thine, and our Father's, and Ours, the place where thy holy ſervice was performed, and thy Glory and Preſence was manifeſted. l Not preſuming to mention themſelves, they had been ſo every way abominable, but their Fathers. m The King's Palace, and the houſes of the Nobles, and other pieces of State and Magnificence, 2 King. 25. 9. Lam. 1. 7, 10. Or, their Synagogues: Or, thoſe ſtately pieces about the Temple.

12 Wilt thou refrain thy ſelf for theſe things n, O LORD? Wilt thou hold thy peace o, and afflict us very ſore p?

n viz. That are done by the Babylonians; do none of theſe things move thee to take vengeance on them? o Wilt thou be as one that regards not? Wilt thou be ſtill, and ſuffer them? p See verſe 9. For theſe our ſins, or for theſe our ſufferings; ſhall we feel the ſmart of it, that have done no ſuch things, but have been ſufferers under the Babylonians? to which God anſwers in the next Chapter.

CHAP. LXV.

The calling of the Gentiles, 1. the Jews for their Incredulity, Idolatry, and Hypocriſie, rejected, 1, — 7. a Remnant ſhall be ſaved, 8, — 10. judgments on the Wicked and bleſſings on the Godly, 11, — 16. the flouriſhing and peaceable ſtate of the New Jeruſalem, 17, — 26.

* Rom. 9. 24, 25, 26. & 10.20. Eph. 2. 12, 13.

I * am ſought a of them that asked not for me b: I am found c of them that ſought me not: I ſaid, Behold me, behold me, unto a nation d that was not called by my name.

That in the primary ſenſe of this Text, it is a Prophecy of the Converſion of the Gentiles, upon the rejection of the Jews, for their contempt and crucifying of Chriſt, cannot be doubted by any, who will not arrogate to themſelves a greater ability to interpret the Propheſies of the Old Teſtament, than Paul had, who, Rom. 10. 20. expreſly ſo interpreteth it, and applieth it, which ſheweth the vanity of the Jews in their other interpretations of it.

a The word ſignifies properly a diligent enquiry in things relating to God, 2 Cor. 14. 4. Pſal. 34. 4. Jer. 37. 7. I am diligently enquired of by them. b That in times before made no enquiry after me; (as the Gentiles, who are ſaid to be without God in the World, Eph. 2. 12.) As ſeeking may more ſtrictly relate to Prayer, as the word is uſed, Iſa. 55. 6. ſo this word tranſlated asked, may alſo be ſo taken, and is ſo 1 Sam. 1. 20. 1 Sam. 22. 13. but (poſſibly) it is better interpreted more generally. c Yea, I was found of them before they ſought me, thoſe who formerly did not ſeek me, now ſeek me, but they were found of me before they ſought me, I prevented them by my Grace, ſending my Son to preach peace to thoſe that were afar off, Eph. 2. 17. and my Apoſtles to intreat them to be reconciled to God, 2 Cor. 5. 20. and my Spirit to convince the world of Sin, Righteouſneſs, and Judgment, Joh. 16. 8. d I invited whole Nations by the preaching of my Goſpel to behold me, and I invited them with importunity, doubling my words upon them, and this I did unto a Nation not called by my name, with whom I was not in Covenant, and which did not profeſs any relation to me, which none of the Gentiles could pretend unto. The Prophet ſpeaks of a thing to come many years after, as if it were a thing then done, to ſignifie the certainty of it. God doth the ſame thing yet in every ſoul that is converted. But the Text is manifeſtly to be interpreted of the converſion of the Gentiles.

2 I have ſpread out my hands e all the day long to a rebellious people f, which walketh in a way that was not good g after their own thoughts h:

e Applied to the Jews, Rom. 10.21. I have ſtretched out my hands, that is, I have uſed all probable means to reduce them, I have ſtretched out the hands of a paſſionate Orator to perſuade them, of a tender Mother to protect and defend them, of a liberal Benefactor to load them with my Benefits; this I have done continually in the whole courſe of my Providence with them, yet f They are a rebellious people; Paul expoundeth it by ἀπειθοῦντα ϗ ἀντιλέγοντα, a People not perſuaded, not believing, but contradicting the will of God. g That walketh in a way that is not good, that term, is not good, often ſignifies what is very bad, ſee 1 Sam. 2. 24. Prov. 28.21. & 24. 23. Pſal. 36. 5. Though all ſins be not equal, yet what is not good is bad. h After their own thoughts. What is here called after their own thoughts, is elſewhere called a walking after the imaginations of their hearts, an ordinary Phraſe, by which ſin (eſpecially ſins in the matter of the Worſhip of God) are expreſſed. Eight times in the Prophet Jeremiah ſinning is thus expreſſed, Jer. 3. 17. & 7. 24. & 9. 14. & 11. 8. & 13. 10. & 16. 12. & 18. 12. & 23 17. ſo alſo Deut. 29. 19. Errours in matter of Worſhip are ordinarily thus expreſſed, certainly to let us know, that all Worſhip muſt be according to Gods revealed Will, and of ſuch errours this Text ſeemeth by what followeth, to ſpeak, though indeed, the reaſon of all ſin is mens fondneſs of their own imaginations in oppoſition to Gods revealed Will, whence it is that ſelf-denial is made the Law of a Diſciple-ſhip to Chriſt.

3 A people that provoketh me to anger i continually to my face k, that ſacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incenſe ‖ upon altars of brick l.

i That the Jews are the People here intended is without queſtion; the Prophet ſpeaking of the calling of the Gentiles upon their rejection, reckons up their ſins, which were the cauſes. For though their rejection and crucifying of Chriſt, was that ſin which was the proximate cauſe, yet God did but viſit on that Generation their Iniquities, and the iniquities of their fathers together, they having by that act filled up their meaſure. They had provoked God continually to anger to his face. k Either in his Temple, the place where he uſed to manifeſt himſelf: or (conſidering what followeth) more probably the Phraſe ſignifieth their impudence, not taking notice of Gods Omnipreſence, and Omniſcience. l The particular provocations inſtanced in, are deviations in the matter of divine Worſhip. Sacrificing in gardens is one thing inſtanced in, and burning incenſe on brick, or altars of brick, is another, Deut. 12. 13. there was a particular Altar of Gold appointed for Incenſe, Exod. 40. 5. God commanded, Exod. 20. 24, 25. that his Altars ſhould be made of Earth, or rough ſtone. This people tranſgreſſed both theſe Laws, ſacrificing in gardens, for which the Prophet reflected on them, ch. 1. 29. and again, ch. 66. 17. whether in gardens conſecrated to Idols, or in ſuch Gardens as the Heathens worſhipped Idols in, is not much material for us to know, and burning Incenſe upon altars of brick, directly contrary to the divine Rule. Their Worſhip was doubtleſs Idolatrous, and theſe Phraſes ſignifie committing Idolatry, but the expreſſing that ſin by theſe Phraſes lets us know that the doing contrary to the direction of the Divine Rule in Gods Worſhip is a great part of the ſinfulneſs of Idolatry.

4 Which remain amongſt the graves m, and lodge in the monuments n, which eat ſwines fleſh o, and ‖ broth of abominable things p is in their veſſels.

m They remained amongſt the Graves, either there expecting Revelations by dreams, or there conſulting with Devils, who were thought to delight in ſuch places, or to practiſe Necromancy, all which were forbidden, Deut. 18. 11. ch. 8. 19. n And they lodged in the Monuments, the Hebrew word here uſed gives advantage to Interpreters to vary in their ſenſes. The word ſignifies only places kept, or obſerved, ſome Interpret it of Idol Temples, ſome of Caves and Denns, in which the Heathens uſed to worſhip their Idols, ſome of Tombs or Monuments for dead perſons; beſides the Idolatry of the thing, there was in it a ſinful imitation of the Heathens, and a ſwerving from the Rule which God had given them. o They alſo ate Swines fleſh, contrary to the divine Law, Lev. 11. 7. Deut. 14. 8. and they indured in their veſſels p Broth of abominable things, ſo the word is uſed, Jud. 6. 19, 20. others read it parts or pieces of abominable things, that is, broth, or pieces of ſuch fleſh as was to the Jews unclean by the Law, Levit. 11. Every Creature of God is good, but Gods Prohibition had made the fleſh of divers Creatures an abominable thing to the Jews, they might not touch their fleſh, Lev. 11. 28. but they taking the meaſures of their duty from their Appetite, or from their Reaſon, concluding from natural Principles, made no Conſcience of the poſitive Law of God. This was their iniquity which is further aggravated in the next verſe.

5 Which ſay, Stand by thy ſelf, come not near to me, for I am holier than thou q: Theſe are a ſmoak in ‖ my noſe r, a fire that burneth all the day.

q Though they were ſo exceedingly guilty, yet they pretended to a ſingular Sanctity, ſo as they would not ſuffer others to come near, or touch them. The Samaritans are uſually charged with this uncharitableneſs, and the uſe of this form of Words; but as ſome do more excuſe the Samaritans than the other Jews as to this rigour, ſo it may be queſtioned whether they were not at this time carried into Captivity: and certain it is, that amongſt the Jews there was ſuch a generation from whom the Phariſees in our Saviours time were derived, and this was the reaſon of their not eating, except they waſhed, when they came from the Market, Mark 7.4. leſt peradventure they ſhould there have touched ſome Heathen, or ſome perſon who was legally unclean. r Thus they eſteemed themſelves holier than others, though all their holineſs lay in theſe rituals, and thoſe too ſuch as God never commanded. And indeed thoſe who moſt exceed in ſuch ritual Holineſs (lying meerly in a ſeparation from others, by the uſage of ſome unwritten traditions) come moſt ſhort in moral and true Holineſs: For of theſe God ſaith, Theſe are a ſmoak in my noſtrils, a fire that burneth all the day; that is, a continual provocation to me: as ſmoak is an offence to our Noſes, Prov. 10. 26. which ſeemeth to be the ſenſe rather than what ſome make, who make it a threatning of Gods wrath ſmoaking againſt them, which is ſufficiently expreſſed in the following verſes.

6 Behold, it is written for me s, I will not keep ſilence t; but will recompenſe even recompenſe into their boſom u; s They may think that I take no notice of theſe things, or if I take any notice, I will forget them, or at leaſt not enter into judgment with them for them; but I as certainly know and will remember them, as Princes or great men that record things in writing which they would not forget. And they ſhall know that I know, and take notice of, and will remember them; for t I will not long neglect the puniſhment of them, though for a while I have delayed it like a man who bites in his wrath, for ſome wiſe reaſons which are known unto himſelf beſt. Pſal. 50. 21. u My puniſhment of them ſhall be ſevere, and certain, but yet it ſhall be juſt, but a giving them what is their own, as they are obnoxious to my Juſtice, Jer. 32. 18. Deut. 7. 10. like the payment of an Ox for an Ox, Exod. 21. 36. (where the ſame word is uſed) they have been froward againſt me, and I will ſhew my ſelf froward againſt them, Pſal. 18. 26.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together x (ſaith the Lord) which have burnt incenſe upon the mountains y, and blaſphemed me upon the hills z: therefore will I meaſure their former work into their boſom a.

x Yea, and when I reckon with them, I will puniſh them, not only for their perſonal ſins, but for the ſins of their Parents, which they have teſtified their approbation of, by continuing in them, and ſo made them their own, by an apiſh ſinful imitation. y Their Fathers burnt Incenſe upon the mountains, there performing to Idols that homage which I obliged them to pay unto me, or if any of them pretend it was to me, though before an Image, yet it was in a way which I directed them not, who had appointed them the place where I would be worſhipped. z So as that inſtead of bleſſing, they indeed blaſphemed me upon the hills, inſtead of ſpeaking well they ſpake ill of my name, worſhipping me in a way which I had not appointed, and for which they only took their copy from Idolaters. a Therefore I will puniſh them, and that juſtly, as he that rendreth another his due by meaſure, giving meaſure for meaſure, and weight for weight, only they muſt expect that I ſhould not only puniſh the late ſins that they have committed of this nature, but the former ſins of this kind which thoſe in this nation, that went before this preſent Generation, did commit, and the preſent age hath continued in the guilt of.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord, as the new wine is found in the cluſter, and one ſaith, deſtroy it not b, for a * bleſſing is in it c, ſo will I do for my ſervants ſake d, that I may not deſtroy them all.

b Theſe words muſt be conceived as a gracious anſwer from God to the Prophet, ſaying as Abraham, Gen. 18. 23, 25. or as Moſes, Ex. 32. 11, 12, 13. pleading Gods covenant with Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael. To this God replieth, that he intended no ſuch ſeverity, the unfaithfulneſs of men ſhould not make his promiſe of no effect, Rom. 3. 3. His threatning ſhould be made good upon the generality of this people, whoſe Vine was of Sodom, and of the fields of Gomorrhah, Deut. 32. 32. c But yet, as in a Vineyard, which is generally unfruitful, there may be ſome particular Vine that brings forth fruit, or as in a Vine which is full of luxuriant branches that bring forth no fruit, there may be here and there a branch, that bringeth forth fruit, and hath the hopes of new wine in the cluſter, and as to ſuch, the Gardiner bids his Servant deſtroy it not, or them not; for they are fruitful, there is in them what ſpeaketh Gods bleſſing, or what may be of uſe, and do us good. d So (ſaith God) will I do for my Servants ſake, that I may not deſtroy them all, either for the ſake of my Servants, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, with whom I anciently made a Covenant, or for my Servant Davids ſake, or for the ſake of ſuch as are my Elect, at this time amongſt them, ſee Jer. 30. 11. Amos. 9. 1.

9 And I will bring a ſeed out of Jacob e, and out of Judah f, an inheritor of my mountains g: and mine elect h ſhall inherit it, and my ſervants ſhall dwell there.

e No ſeed beareth a proportion to the tree, or plant that it produceth, but in compariſon with that is very little, yet it is enough through the vertue which the God of nature hath put into it, to preſerve and uphold the ſpecies to which it doth relate. They are but a remnant (ſaith God) that ſhall be ſaved, ſee Rom. 11. 5. but a ſmall number that ſhall come out of the Captivity of Babylon, or (which I rather chuſe) they will be but a few that ſhall believe in my Son, yet they ſhall be enough for my promiſe to live in; this, Paul argueth, Rom. 11. as the plant yet lives in the ſeed, when the root is pluckt up, the leaves dropt off, and the Stalk is burnt up, ſo the promiſe of God lives in a few, when the generality of a people for their ſins are caſt off and deſtroyed. The favour of God to men, and the promiſe of God to good men, lived in one family of Lot, when the five Cities were burned, and in the one family of Noah, when the world was drowned; the favour and promiſe of God to Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and David, lived in the few that returned out of Babylon, and in thoſe few who under the Goſpel received Chriſt, and believed in him, though the generality of them rejected the counſel of God againſt themſelves. f God further promiſeth to bring out of Judah an inheritor of his Mountains, which the moſt, and beſt interpreters do interpret of the Jews return out of the Captivity of Babylon to Hieruſalem, and into their own Country, and particularly to worſhip God in his Temple, upon Mount Sion g the Country of Judea was a Mountainous Country, Ezek. 36. 1, 8. The Mountains were round about Hieruſalem, Pſal. 125. 2. See alſo Ezek. 38. 8. God calls theſe Mountains his Mountains, becauſe he had choſen that Country before all others, and was once truly worſhipped there. h Mine Elect ſignifieth here Gods choſen Ones, as in Pſal. 106. 23. ch. 48. 10. The term doth not always ſignify ſuch as belong to the Election of Grace, but ſuch as are dignified with ſome ſpecial favour. The whole Nation of the Jews are called a choſen people. But poſſibly this promiſe is to be interpreted, with relation to the ſincerer part of that people, after that the others ſhould be waſted by the Captivity.

10 And Sharon ſhall be a fold of flocks i, and the * Valley of Achor k a place for the herds to lie down in, for my people that have ſought me l.

* Hoſ. 2.15.

i Sharon was a place of great fruitfulneſs for paſtures. Davids herds were kept there, 1 Chron. 27. 29. It was become like a wilderneſs, Iſaiah 33. 9. God here promiſeth that it ſhould again be a place for the flocks, So Jer. 31. 27. God promiſed to ſow again the houſe of Judah, with the ſeed of man, and with the ſeed of beaſt. k The Valley of Achor had its name from the ſtoning of Achan there, Joſh. 7. 26. It is thought to have been the firſt place the Jews ſet foot in when they had paſſed Jordan; hence Hoſ. 2. 14. God promiſed to make it a door of hope, and here the text ſaith, the flocks ſhould lie down. l But leſt the wicked idolatrous Jews ſhould apply this promiſe to themſelves, God limiteth it in the laſt words to the people that had ſought him, that is, that had truly worſhipped him, according to his own inſtitution, and that the words have the force of ſuch a limitation, appeareth from what followeth.

11 But ye are they that forſake the Lord m, that forget my holy mountain n, that prepare a table for that ‖ troop o, and that furniſh p the drink offerings unto their ‖ number q.

‖ Or Gad.

m Do not you that are Idolaters, think that theſe promiſes belong to you, ye are they that forſake the Lord, that is, the way of the Lord; it is a phraſe oppoſed to a walking with God. Our walking with God is in the way of his ſtatutes; forſaking of him, ſignifieth a declining, or turning aſide from that way. n To forget Gods holy mountain, ſignifies not to regard the true worſhip of God, or not to mind it. God calleth Zion his holy Mountain, Joel 3. 17. and Jeruſalem is called Gods holy Mountain. The hill of Zion is called the Mountain of Gods holineſs, Pſal. 48. 1. as the Temple is called the beauty of holineſs, Pſal. 29. 2. Pſal 96. 9. their not regarding the worſhip of God there, but worſhiping God or Idols in Gardens, amongſt the graves and monuments, is what is here called, a forgetting his holy Mountain. Iſaiah prophecied in the time of Ahaz, ch. 1. 1. of whom it is ſaid, 2 Chron. 28. 23, 24. that he ſacrificed to the Gods of Damaſcus, that he cut in pieces the veſſels of the Lords houſe, ſhut up the doors of the houſe of the Lord, and made him altars in every corner of Hieruſalem, and in every ſeveral City of Judah he made high places to burn incenſe to other Gods. See alſo more of his practices. v. 2, 3, 4. of that chap. and 2 Kings 16. 3, 10, 11, 12. and there were certainly many of his people that joined with him, in his worſhip, who are all here ſaid to forget Gods holy Mountain, o And to prepare a table for that troop: The Idols of the ten Tribes, 2 Kings 16. 3. and of the Aſſyrians, 2 Chron. 28. 23. which were a troop, whereas the God of Iſrael was one God. And as God had altars, which are ſometimes called a table, as in Ezek. 41. 22. So they prepared altars for the Idols, as may be read in the aforementioned ſtory of Ahaz: though by preparing a table, here ſeems rather to be meant the feaſts they made upon their ſacrifices in their feſtival days, which was in imitation of what the true God had commanded his people, Deut. 16. 14, 15. Idolaters alſo made in honour to their Idols, as appears from Jud. 9. 27. Ezek. 18. 6, 11. Amos 2. 8. 1 Cor. 8. 10. p Nor did they only feaſt in honour to the Idols, but they furniſhed dring offerings unto their Number. God had appointed Drink offerings for his honour, and as a piece of homage to him, Exod. 29. 40, 41. Levit. 23. 18, 37. theſe people had paid this homage to Idols. See Jer. 7. 18. & 19. 13. & 32. 29. q What we tranſlate Number in the Heb. is La Meni to Meni. Avenarius tranſlates it Mercury, an Idol whom Merchants worſhipped for good ſucceſs in trading; others underſtand it of the Hoſt of Heaven; others of the multitude of their idols; our tranſlation reads it their number. The word coming from an Heb. root, which ſignifieth to number, is no where elſe found in Scripture, which makes it hard too poſitively to aſſert the true meaning of it.

12 Therefore will I number you to the ſword r, and you ſhall all bow down to the ſlaughter s, becauſe * when I called t you did not anſwer, when I ſpake, you did not hear, but did evil before mine eyes, and did chuſe u that wherein I delighted not.

r You have offended in number, worſhiping a multitude, a troop of Idols, there ſhall be a great number of you periſh by the ſword; or poſſibly the term number may refer to all in the next phraſe, to let them know that none of them ſhould eſcape. God ſaith he will number them, tell them out one by one to the Sword. s As you have bowed down to Idols, Iſa. 44. 17. (which are mine Enemies) I will make you bow down to your Enemies Swords. t I called you by my Prophets, Zech. 7. 7, 11, 12. you did not anſwer by doing the things which I by them ſpake to you for, but not conſidering that I ſaw you, or if conſidering it, yet not regarding it, you impudently did evil; yea, u You ſinned deliberately, chuſing ſinful courſes, the things which I hated, which are here (as often) expreſſed by a Meioſis, and calling the things in which God delighteh not. In matters of Worſhip we ought to chuſe nothing wherein God delighteth not, and reaſon, as well as Scripture will aſſure us, he can delight in nothing of that nature which himſelf hath not directed. It is obſervable that ruin is here threatned to this People, not for their immoralities, or lewd lives, but for their errors, and ſuperſtitions in Divine Worſhip. Other ſins provoke God to wrath, but thoſe of this nature alone, are enough to ruin Souls and Nations.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold my ſervants ſhall eat, but you ſhall be hungry x: Behold my ſervants ſhall drink, but you ſhall be thirſty: Behold my ſervants ſhall rejoyce, but ye ſhall be aſhamed:

x As there are a party amongſt you, who inſtead of ſerving God, are the Servants of men, in complying with Idolatry, and ſuperſtition; ſo I have ſome Servants amongſt you who have diſtinguiſhed themſelves by keeping cloſe to my Inſtitutions from the reſt of you, I will diſtinguiſh them from you in the diſpenſations of my Providence; thoſe that have eat bread at their Idol Feaſts, ſhall be hungry, my people that would not do ſo, they ſhall have enough; thoſe who have furniſhed a drink-offering to Meni, or that number of Idols, ſhall want that drink by which they have ſo prophaned my name, but my Servants, from whoſe mouths you pull'd the drink, becauſe they would only furniſh a drink-offering to me, they ſhall drink. My Servants whom now you make to mourn, and upon whom you pour ſhame, and contempt, ſhall rejoyce, and you ſhall be aſhamed; you that now rejoyce, and ſhout, while my Servants that cannot comply with you are afflicted, and by you made to mourn, you ſhall cry for ſorrow, and houl through vexation, whiles my Servants who keep cloſe to my inſtitutions ſhall ſing for joy of heart. Thoſe who in an hour of Perſecution for Religion, can have patience under the Enemies Triumphs and Rage, will find that the Rod of the wicked ſhall not always reſt upon the lot of the righteous.

14 Behold my ſervants ſhall ſing for joy of heart, but ye ſhall cry for ſorrow of heart, and ſhall houl for ‖ vexation of Spirit.

‖ Breaking.

15 And ye ſhall leave your name for a curſe unto my choſen y; for the Lord God ſhall ſlay thee z, and * call his ſervants by another name.

y Your name ſhall rot, as Prov. 10. 7. or only be uſed when men would curſe others, ſaying, let them be made like ſuch perſons. As the names of Leah and Rachel, Ruth 4. 11. and others of God's Servants were uſed in bleſſing: ſo your names ſhall only be uſed in curſing, or when men will curſe themſelves, they ſhall uſe your names as examples of the eminent wrath of God upon ſinners. z For you ſhall not periſh by an ordinary hand, but by the hand of the Lord God, and as is the God, ſo is his juſtice, ſo is his ſtrength, yea God himſelf ſhall look upon your name as accurſed, and not ſuffer his people to be called by it, they ſhall not be called Jews, but Chriſtians, Acts 11. 26. The Children of God, John 1. 12. So deteſtable a ſin is Idolatry, that God will not ſuffer himſelf to be called by a name given to Idols, how proper ſoever it be to expreſs his perfection, Hoſ. 2. 16, 17. Nor yet ſuffer his own people to be called by a name by which Idolaters are known.

16 That he who bleſſeth himſelf in the Earth, ſhall bleſs himſelf in the God of truth a, and * he that ſweareth in the Earth, ſhall ſwear by the God of truth b, becauſe the former troubles are forgotten, and becauſe they are hid from mine eyes c.

* Deut. 6. 13. Pſal. 63. 11. Ch. 19. 18. & 45. 23. Zech. 1. 5.

a I will bring it to paſs, that over all the world, if any man bleſs himſelf, or bleſs another it ſhall be in God, Amen. So the Heb. (we tranſlate it the God of truth) Amen is a name given to Chriſt, Rev. 3. 14. Theſe things ſaith the Amen, the faithful and true witneſs, being here applied to God, many think it makes a great proof of the God-head of Chriſt, and judge the ſenſe of this text to be: That under the times of the Goſpel men ſhould not bleſs themſelves (as before) in the names of Abraham, & Iſaac, & Jacob, but in the name of Chriſt, in the God Amen, nor is this an improbable ſenſe. Others taking it more appellatively by Elohim, Amen, here underſtand that God who ſhews himſelf true and faithful in his promiſes. b In like manner it is propheſied, that thoſe that ſwear (by which ſome underſtand worſhip God, others calling God to be a witneſs) ſhould ſwear by the God of truth; or in the God of truth. Either worſhipping God in Chriſt the Amen, or calling the faithful God to atteſt their ſincerity, or ſwearing by that God who hath approved his truth and faithfulneſs by ſaving and delivering his people. c becauſe they ſhall ſee what God promiſed is fulfilled, the troubles of his people are at an end, and they are hid from God's Eyes, that is, they are at an end.

17 For behold c, I create * new heavens, and a new earth d, and the former ſhall not be remembred nor † come into mind e.

* Ch. 66. 22. 2 Pet. 3. 13. Rev. 21. 1. † Heb. ſhall come upon thy heart.

c I will tell you yet a more admirable thing, I am about wholly to alter and change the ſtate not only of my people, who are now afflicted, reſtoring them to a more lightſome ſtate, more free from trouble and afflictions, but d bringing a new face upon the world, ſending my Son to raiſe up a new Church, and to inſtitute a new worſhip, Joh. 4. 21, 24. and giving out my Spirit in a more plentiful manner, Acts 2. 17. which new ſtate ſhall abide until a new Heavens and Earth appear, in which ſhall dwell nothing but righteouſneſs, 2 Pet. 3. 13. Rev. 21. 1. and e That ſtate of things ſhall be ſuch, and ſo glorious, as the former ſtate of my People ſhall not be remembred, nor come into mind: whether this new Heavens and new Earth here promiſed, ſignifies ſuch a ſtate of the Church, wherein Chriſt ſhall perſonally reign upon Earth, over his Saints, the wicked being deſtoyed (as ſome have thought he ſhall for a thouſand years) I very much doubt, and do not ſee how from this, and the parallel texts any ſuch thing can be concluded.

18 But be you glad, and rejoyce for ever f, in that which I create, for behold I create Hieruſalem g, a rejoycing, and her people a joy.

f You that are my people, though you cannot rejoyce with that degree of joy, that attendeth a preſent fruition of good, yet be glad, and rejoyce with the rejoycing of hope, for the thing is certain, what I am already doing, nor let your preſent ſtate, or the diſcouragements you have from ſeeming improbabilities, ſpoil your joy, for it is not a work to be produced in an ordinary courſe, or by an ordinary power, but by the power of me who brings ſomething out of nothing, or out of what hath no fittedneſs to ſuch a production, and I will create g Hieruſalem a rejoycing, and her people a joy; by Hieruſalem, here muſt be meant the Church, as well under the Goſpel, as under the law, (becauſe the Goſpel Church is grafted into that Olive) or elſe this prophecy, muſt be underſtood as fulfilled in the coming of Chriſt, Luke 2. 10. Or elſe it referreth to a more full calling of the Jews, than we have yet ſeen or heard of.

29 And * I will rejoyce in Hieruſalem, and joy in my people i, and the * voice of weeping ſhall be no more heard in her, nor the voice of crying k.

* Ch. 62. 5. * Ch. 35. 10. Rev. 7. 17. & 21.

i The nature of joy lying in the ſatisfaction, and well pleaſedneſs of the Soul in the obtaining of the thing it hath willed; agreeth unto God, and joy and rejoycing are applied to him, ch. 62. 5. and in this text, ſo alſo. Jer. 32. 41. Zeph. 3. 17. k Such kind of promiſes are to be found, ch. 35. 10. & 51. 11. Jer. 31. 12. Rev. 21. 4. which muſt be underſtood either comparatively, they ſhall indure no ſuch miſery as formerly; or (if interpreted to a ſtate in this life) as ſignifying only ſome long, or eminent ſtate of happineſs; if as to another life they may be taken ſtrictly, as ſignifying perpetuity, and perfection of joy and happineſs.

20 There ſhall be no more thence, an infant of days, nor an old man that hath not filled his days l: for the child ſhall die an hundred years old, but the ſinner being an hundred years old ſhall be accurſed m.

l Whereas God hath made many promiſes of long life to the Jews, they ſhould all be fulfilled to Gods people among them, ſo as there ſhould be rare abortions among them, Exod. 23. 26. few infants ſhould be carried out to burial, nor but few that ſhould not have filled up their years; thoſe that were now Children, ſhould die at a great age; m yet none of theſe things ſhould be of any advantage to wicked men, but if any of them ſhould live to be an hundred years old, yet they ſhold die accurſed. This ſeemeth to be the plain ſenſe. If any deſires to read more opinions of theſe words, he may find enough in the Engliſh Annotations.

21 And * they ſhall build houſes and inhabit them, And they ſhall plant Vineyards, and eat of the fruit of them n.

n The quite contrary to what is ſaid of the ſlothful man, and Job 27. 13, 14, 15, 16, 17. Prov. 12. 27.

22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabit, they ſhall not plant, and another eat, for * as the days of a tree are the days of my people, and mine elect † ſhall long enjoy the work of their hands o.

* Pſalm. 92. 12. † Shall make them continue long, or ſhall wear out.

o Duration, and perpetuity are promiſed to them, in their happy eſtate.

23 They ſhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth for trouble, for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their off-ſpring with them p.

p And not only a bleſſing to them, but alſo to their Off-ſprings. But, what is here promiſed which wicked men do not oft-times enjoy, and Gods People oft-times want? Anſw. 1. Wicked men may have them for their good Parents ſake, and good men may ſometimes want them for evil Parents ſake. 2. Bad men may have ſome of theſe things, but they cannot expect them: good men may at preſent want them, but they may expect them from the hand of God, if they be good for them. 3. Bad men may have them in wrath, the bleſſing of God gives them to good men and adds no ſorrow therewith.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs that before they call, I will anſwer q, and whiles they are yet ſpeaking r I will hear.

q God promiſed, ch. 58. 9. to anſwer them, when they called : here he promiſeth to be ſo ready to anſwer, as to anſwer the words aſſoon as they ſhould be formed in their hearts before they ſhould get them out of their lips, Pſal. 32. 5. Dan. 10. 12. r Yea while they were ſpeaking, Dan. 9. 20, 23. Acts 10. 44. nor doth God ſay only, they ſhall have the things they would have (for ſo wicked men may ſometimes have from the bountiful hand of Divine Providence) but they ſhall have them, as an anſwer or return unto their prayers.

 Ch.* 11. 6, 9. 25 The * wolf and the lamb ſhall feed together, and the lion ſhall eat ſtraw like the bullock s, and duſt ſhall be the ſerpents meat t, they ſhall not hurt nor deſtroy in all my holy mountain u, ſaith the Lord.

s This verſe containeth a promiſe much like that, ch. 11. 6, 9. And relates to the ceaſing of perſecution. The People of God for their whiteneſs, and innocency, are often compared to Lambs, and Sheep, wicked men to Wolves and Lions, for their antipathy to the ſeed of the Woman; God here promiſeth to take off the fierceneſs of the Spirits of his Peoples Enemies, ſo that they ſhall live quietly and peaceably together. t Wicked men are compared to Serpents, Micah 7. 17. compared with Pſal. 72. 9. God promiſeth a time of tranquility to his Church under the Metaphor of Serpents eating the duſt, their proper meat, Gen. 3. 14. inſtead of flying upon men: it ſignifies ſuch a time, when wicked men ſhould mind their proper buſineſs, and not make it their work to eat up the people of God like bread. u For the laſt phraſe, ſee ch. 11. 9. what is there noted. But will ſome ſay, When ſhall theſe things be? The Scripture gives us no record of any ſuch period of time yet paſt. And it is very probable that this is a promiſe yet to be fulfilled, and it is not for us to know the times and ſeaſons: but in the mean time to let our faith and patience be ſeen; in the mean time we may learn, That it is Gods work to reſtrain the Wolves and Serpents of the world, who would elſe be always doing what they are ſometimes doing, and it is a ſad ſign that God is not yet at peace with that People, where we ſee Wolves devouring Lambs, and Serpents deſtroying men inſtead of licking up duſt, nor well pleaſed with that part of his holy mountain where there is nothing but hurting and deſtroying, biting and devouring one another. When God ſhall be at peace with a people theſe things ſhall not be found amongſt them.

CHAP. LXVI.

God is ſerved with the Spirit, and not by Ceremonies, 1, — 5. the wonderful Birth and Benefits of the Goſpel-Church, 6, — 14. ſevere judgments againſt the wicked, 15, — 17. the Gentiles ſhall be an Holy Church, 18, —— 23. the Eternal Puniſhment of the wicked, 24.

* 1 Kin. 8. 27. Acts 7. 48, 49. & 17. 24. THus ſaith the LORD *, The heaven is my throne a, and the earth is my footſtool b: where is the houſe that ye build unto me c? and where is the place of my reſt d?

a The Heaven, that is, the higheſt Heavens, are the place where I moſt manifeſt my power and glory, and ſhew my ſelf in my Majeſty. So Pſal. 11. 4. Pſal. 103. 19. Matt. 5. 34. Hence we are taught to pray; Our Father which art in Heaven. b And the Earth is my footſtool, or a place wherein I ſet my feet, Matt. 5. 35. c Can there be an houſe builded, that will contain me, who can encompaſs the Heavens and the Earth with an houſe? d Or, where is the place wherein I can be ſaid to reſt in a proper ſenſe? The Ark is indeed called God's footſtool, and the place of his reſt, in a figurative ſenſe, becauſe there God manifeſted himſelf, though in degrees much beneath the manifeſtations of himſelf in Heaven, but properly, God hath no certain place of Reſt.

* Pſ. 34. 18. & 51. 17. Ch. 57. 15. * Ez. 9. 4. & 10. 3. Pr. 28. 14. & v. 5. 2 For all thoſe things hath my hand made e, and all thoſe things have been f, ſaith the Lord: but to this man will I look, * even to him that is poor and of a contrite ſpirit g, and * trembleth at my word h.

e The Heavens and the Earth are the work of my hands, Gen. 1. 1. Joh. 1. 3. (ſome expound it of the Temple, and the Sacrifices.) f They were not only made by God, but ſubſiſted and were kept in being by him. Theſe things were not therefore valued by him, nor could he have any need of, or reſpect to any houſe which is but a very little part of the Earth; he having made the Heavens and the Earth, had all them at his command, and how could he need a Temple? or, wherein could he be advantaged from it? g But God will look with a reſpect, and with a favourable Eye to him that hath a broken and contrite ſpirit, whoſe heart is ſubdued to the Will of God, and who is poor, and low in his own Eyes, Mat. 5. 3. Luke 6. 20. And h who trembleth when he heareth God's threatning words, nor ever heareth any revelation of the Divine Will without a juſt Reverence.

|| Or, Kid. * Deut. 23. 18. † Hebr. makes a memorial of. 3 He that killeth an ox i, is as if he ſlew a man: he that ſacrificeth a lamb ||, as if he * cut off a dogs neck k: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered ſwines blood: he that † burneth incenſe, as if he bleſſed an idol l: yea, they have choſen their own ways m, and their ſoul delighteth in their abominations n.

i Solomon, Prov. 15. 8. gives us a ſhort, but full commentary on the whole verſe; The Sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord. He that killeth an ox, that is, for Sacrifice, as it is expounded by the next words, He that ſacrificeth a Lamb. k The compariſon ſheweth God's deteſtation of ceremonial performances from men of wicked hearts and lives. l From hence it is plain, that the Prophet is not here reflecting upon Idolatrous Worſhip, but Formal Worſhip : for to ſay, He that burneth Incenſe to an Idol, is as he that bleſſeth an Idoll, is but to ſay, he that bleſſeth an Idol, bleſſeth an Idol; but upon thoſe who in a formality worſhipped the true God, and by acts which he had appointed, ſuch were offering Sacrifices, Oblation, Incenſe. God by the Prophet declares, that theſe mens Services were no more acceptable to him than Murther, Idolatry, or the moſt horrid prophanation of his name. Such would cutting off a dogs neck for Sacrifice, have been, or offering Swines blood; ſo little do ritual performances, though inſtituted by God himſelf, pleaſe God when they are but meer formalities, as they always are, m When thoſe that perform them, live as they liſt, leud, and looſe lives, and think to ſave themſelves by their prayers, like the Whore, Prov. 7. 14, 15. n Not only ſinning by humane frailty, but taking pleaſure in their ſins, Prov. 15. 26. To offer a Sacrifice with an heart reſolved (when it is offered) to go on in ſinful courſes, is to offer it with an evil mind. This is a dreadful text to thoſe perſons who will murder, and ſteal, and ſwear, and curſe, and lie, and commit Adultery, and then come and ſtand before God in his houſe, which is called by his name, that is, come to ſerve him in acts of Worſhip, Levit. 10. 3. See Pſal. 50. 16, 17, 18. Iſaiah 1. 11, 12, 13, 14. Jer. 7. 9, 10. Mat. 7. 21, 22, 23. John 4. 24. 1 Tim. 4. 8.

|| Or, Devices. * Pr. 1. 24. ch. 65. 12. Jer. 7. 13. 4 I alſo will chuſe o their || deluſions p, and bring their fears upon them q, * becauſe when I called none did anſwer r, when I ſpake, they did not hear s, but they did evil before mine Eyes, and choſe that in which I delighted not.

o They had made their choice, they choſe not the ways of God, but their own ways, that which God delighted not in, as in the latter part of this verſe, therefore (ſaith God) I will alſo chuſe. p Their deluſions, or illuſions, or devices, Montanus tranſlates it, adinventionibus, it is a Noun derived from a word which ſignifies to ſpeak childiſhly or corruptly, the word in this form is only uſed in this text, and in 1 Sam. 25. 3. it ſignifies ſtudies, or works, Pſal. 12. 4. Iſa. 3. 4. Hoſ. 4. 9. It is an ordinary thing for God thus generally to declare his juſtice againſt men. That he will deal with ſinners, as they deal with him, ſo Pſal. 18. 25, 26. Lev. 26. 27. Jer. 34. 17. Prov. 1. 24, 28. The meaning is, I will be no kinder to them, then they have been to me, They have choſen to mock and delude me, I will chuſe to ſuffer them to delude themſelves; or they have choſen to work wickedneſs, I will chuſe the effect. q That is (ſay ſome) the things which they feared, and did theſe things to avoid, as Jer. 42. 16. Ezek. 11. 8. Others by their fears chuſe rather to underſtand ſuch terrors and affrightments as are natural to men upon the proſpect of great evils, as Jer. 20. 4. as God in mercy delivereth his people from their fears, Pſal. 34. 4. So in judgment he cauſeth fears as a great judgment to poſſeſs ſinners, Lev. 26. 16. Deut. 28. 66. r Becauſe when by my Prophets, I exhorted you to your duty; very few yielded obedience, ſee Prov. 1. 24. ch. 65. 12. Jer. 7. 13. s Hearing here ſignifieth hearkning, or obeying, not hearing is expounded by doing evil, and chuſing that wherein God delighted not. God accounts that thoſe do not hear, who do not obey his will.

* ver. 2. * Ch. 5. 19. 5 Hear the word of the Lord, you that * tremble at his word s: your brethren t that hated you, that caſt you out u for my names ſake x ſaid, * Let the Lord be glorified y but he ſhall appear to your joy, and they ſhall be aſhamed z.

s The Prophet turneth his diſcourſe from denouncing judgment againſt the Idolaters, and formaliſts amongſt the Jews, to ſuch as feared God, whoſe religion is deſcribed by a trembling at his word, as v. 2. ſuch a turning of the Prophets diſcourſe was, ch. 50. 10. ch. 51. 1, 7. The ſame words belong not to Saints and preſumptuous Sinners. t Your Brethren, by Nation, or by external profeſſion in Religion, tho' falſe brethren, Gal. 2. 4. Thus Paul calls all the rejected Jews Brethren, Rom. 9. 3. u That either ſhut you out of their intimate ſociety, or (which is more probable) excommunicate, and caſt you out of their Synagogues, or caſt you out of their City, and ſome of you out of the world, John 9. 35, 22. John 16. 2. x i. e. For my ſake, for your owning me, and adherence to my law, ſaid. y Either mocking you as the Jews did Chriſt, when hanging upon the croſs, Mat. 27. 43. Luke 23. 35. thus they mocked at David, Pſal. 42. 3. Or, Let the Lord be glorified, thinking they did God good ſervice, John 16. 2. z There will come a day when God ſhall appear and let them know his judgment concerning their violence, and rage, then you ſhall have joy, and they ſhall be aſhamed, 2 Theſ. 4. 16, 17, 18.

6 A voice of noiſe from the city a, a voice from the temple, a voice of the Lord that rendereth recompence to his Enemies b.

a The expreſſion of a Prophetical extaſy, as much as, methinks I already hear a voice of noiſe, rather a ſad and affrighting noiſe, than the noiſe of Triumphers (as ſome think) yea, it comes not from the City only, but from the Temple, wherein theſe formaliſts have ſo much gloried, and repoſed ſo much confidence. There is a noiſe of Soldiers ſlaying, and of the Prieſts or poor people fled thither, ſhrieking or crying out. b A voice of the Lord, not in thunder, which is ſometimes called ſo, Pſal. 29. 3, 4, 5, &c. but that rendreth recompence to his enemies. Thus, the noiſe of Soldiers, the roaring of Guns, the ſound of Drums and Trumpets are the Voice of the Lord. Thus the Prophet ſeemeth to expreſs the deſtruction of the Jews by the Roman Armies, as if a thing at that time doing.

c The whole verſe is expreſſive of a great and ſudden ſalvation, which God would work for his Church, like the delivery of a woman, and that of a man-child, before her travail, and without pain. The only doubt is, whether it referreth to the deliverance of the People out of Babylon, or the worlds ſurprizal with the Meſſiah, and the ſudden and ſtrange propagation of the Goſpel, and it is a queſtion not eaſily determined. The delivery of the Jews out of Babylon, indeed was without ſtruglings or any pain, not like their deliverance from Egypt, after the waſting of their enemies by ten ſucceſſive Plagues, but by the kind Proclamation of Cyrus: but it ſeems not to have been ſuddenly only as to the day, and hour, and manner, for Daniel underſtood by Books that the time was come, Dan. 9. 2. and the people had a proſpect of it 70 years before, Jer. 25. 12. & 29. 10. The Prophecy therefore ſeems rather to refer to the coming of Chriſt, and the ſudden Propagation of the Goſpel. The Popiſh Interpreters applying it to the Virgin Mary bringing forth Chriſt, is like other of their fond dreams.

8 Who hath heard ſuch a thing d? who hath ſeen ſuch things e? ſhall the earth be made to bring forth in one day? or ſhall a Nation be born at once? for as ſoon as Zion travelled, ſhe brought forth children f?

d The Prophet calls either to the whole world, or to ſuch as feared God among the Jews, to admire God in his ſtupendious works of Providence, either in the eaſie manner of the deliverance of the Jews out of the Captivity of Babylon, without any pain, without ſo much as one throw; or elſe in the erecting of his Goſpel Church, into which all the Jews that received Chriſt, were gathered as well as the Gentiles, making both one, Eph. 2. 14. e Which ſeems to be meant by the Earths bringing forth in one day, as great a work of Providence, as if all the women in the world ſhould have brought forth in a day; or as if all the plants of the Earth had brought forth their flowers and fruit in one day. f As ſoon as the Church of the Jews began to move out of the Captivity of Babylon, God put it into the hearts of multitudes to go up, Exod. 1. 5. ch. 2. 1, 2, &c. Or, as ſoon as the voice of the Goſpel put the Church of the Jews into her Travel in John Baptiſts, Chriſt's, and the Apoſtles time, it preſently brought forth. In John Baptiſt's time, the Kingdom of Heaven ſuffered violence, and the violent took it by force, Mat. 11. 12. and it continued ſo, as 3000 were converted at Peters Sermon, Acts 2. The Gentiles were the Children of Zion, being planted into their ſtock; the law of the Goſpel firſt going out of Zion.

9 Shall I bring to the birth, and not ‖ cauſe to bring forth? ſaith the Lord g; ſhall I cauſe to bring forth, and ſhut the womb? ſaith thy God h.

g The work before ſpoken of, ſeemeth not after the manner of men, who do things that are great gradually; nor in an ordinary courſe of nature, whoſe motions alſo bring things by degrees to their perfection, but you muſt conſider who it is that ſpeaketh (ſaith the Lord) now as is the God, ſo is his ſtrength. Again, men may undertake things, and for want of power not bring them to perfection, but ſhall I do ſuch a thing? I have by many prophecies and promiſes ſecured you in the expectation of ſuch a thing, and ſhall I not by my Providence effect it? I, that in the ordinary courſe of my providence uſe to give a birth to Women, to whom I have given a power to conceive, ſhall I not give a birth to Zion, to my people, whom by my prophecies, and promiſes I have made to conceive ſuch hopes, and expectations? h Nor ſhall Zion once only bring forth, but ſhe ſhall go on teeming, her womb ſhall not be ſhut, ſhe ſhall every day bring forth more and more children, my preſence ſhall be with my Church to that end, to the end of the world.

i There is nothing more ordinary amongſt men, than for friends, and neighbours, to meet together with their friends recovered from affliction, or brought into a better ſtate, to rejoice with them, eſpecially ſuch friends as in their afflictions have mourned with them. Thus Mary, Luk. 1. 40. went to rejoice with Elizabeth, and Jobs friends came to rejoice with him, Job 42. 11. The Prophet in like manner calls to all the friends of Hieruſalem, eſpecially ſuch as in the days of her affliction had mourned for her, to come and rejoice and be glad with her, upon the proſpect of her better ſtate after the Babyloniſh Captivity: or at leaſt in the time of the Meſſiah; for though joy and gladneſs be the affection of the Soul that works upon its union with its deſirable object, and the deliverance of the people out of Babylon was not to be for many years after this, nor the Meſſias to come, for many years after that, yet faith being the evidence of things not ſeen, there is a rejoycing of hope, hope giving the Soul an union with its object hoped for, and theſe things were now preſent to believers who by faith called the things that were not as if they were: becauſe they had the ſecurity of a divine Revelation for them, and they were alrerdy exiſtent in their neceſſary cauſes.

11 That you may ſuck and be ſatisfied with the k breaſts of her conſolations l, that you may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory m.

k Hieruſalem is here ſet out as the mother of us all, as indeed ſhe was, for out of Zion went forth the law, and the word of the Lord from Hieruſalem, Iſaiah 2. 3. Chriſt was of the ſeed of Abraham, he was ſent to the loſt Sheep of the houſe of Iſrael, and is called Rom. 15. 8. the Miniſter of the Circumciſion; they were the Olive, the Branches; the Gentiles but a wild Olive, grafted in amongſt them, Rom. 11. 17, we ſucked at their breaſts, Chriſt was firſt preached to them, the 12, the 70. were all of them. l The Goſpel doctrine was their breaſts of conſolation. Chriſt was in the firſt place, m The glory of the people of Iſrael, though he was alſo a light to the Gentiles, Luk. 2. 32. we are required to rejoice with Hieruſalem, That we may ſuck and be Satisfied, &c. Intimating, that our joy ſhould not be a meer act of charity to them, but a proper expreſſion of our ſenſe of Gods goodneſs to our ſelves, who ſhould ſuck and be Satisfied with the glad tidings of the Goſpel firſt publiſhed unto them, and our ſelves be inlightned from what was at firſt the glory of Iſrael.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord, Behold I * will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the Gentiles n like a flowing ſtream o; then ſhall ye * ſuck p; ye ſhall be * born upon her ſides, and be dandled upon her knees q.

n That this promiſe reſpects the times of the Meſſias ſeems plain, not only from the conſideration that no hiſtory gives us any account of any great or long peace or proſperity the Jews had before that time, nor indeed then, if we underſtand it not of a Spiritual Goſpel-peace, which Chriſt preached to them that were nigh, as well as thoſe afar off, Eph. 2. 17. o It alſo appears from the mention of the glory of the Gentiles as a flowing ſtream, which can hardly be underſtood of any thing but Chriſt and the preaching of the Goſpel to the Gentiles. But I leave it to the iſſues of Providence to expound and determine, whether the Prophecy of this text doth not relate to a further converſion and calling of the Jews than hath been yet ſeen. p When Chriſt was revealed to the Jews not thoſe only of the Gentiles, but thoſe of the Jews who belonged to Gods Election ſucked Goſpel doctrine. q The Gentiles were born upon the ſides of Hieruſalem and dandled upon her knees, as firſt hearing from the Apoſtles (who were ſome of the Daughters of Hieruſalem, members of the Jewiſh Church) the glad tidings of Salvation.

13 r As one whom his mother comforteth, ſo will I comfort you, and you ſhall be comforted in Hieruſalem.

r That is, in the moſt tender, and compaſſionate way imaginable. The husband doth not comfort his wife with that tenderneſs, and thoſe bowels that the mother comforteth the Child after it hath received ſome fall, or miſchief. Hieruſalem now mourneth, and you mourn with her, but ſhe ſhall recover from her affliction and from her ſorrows, and ſhall be comforted; and you that mourn for her, ſhall partake of her joys, as you now ſhare with her in her afflictions, God in the day that he wipeth tears from her Eyes, ſhall alſo wipe them from yours: and you ſhall have as great an occaſion of joy from the happy, as now you have of ſorrow from the afflicted, ſtate of Hieruſalem.

u The peace, and tranquility of the Church and the propagation of the Kingdom of Chriſt, is always the cauſe of an heart-rejoycing to ſuch as fear God, Pſal. 105. 3. the reaſon is becauſe it is the greateſt object of their deſires, which are then ſatisfied, and their thoughts are then at reſt, and beſides they are members of the ſame body, ſo as their own bones, which before are dry and withered, Ezek. 37. 1, 2. and the ſinews, and the fleſh, comes again upon them, and the skin covers them above, ſo as they flouriſh like an herb in the ſpring, all whoſe verdure and beauty in the winter was concealed in the root hid in the earth. x And in this the power, protection, and influence of God for, of, and upon, ſuch as truly ſerve and obey him, ſhall be made manifeſt and known. y But the wicked ſhall be under a quite contrary diſpenſation, Pſal. 1. 4. As they have had a day, which hath been to you the power of darkneſs: ſo you ſhall have a day, which ſhall be to them the power of darkneſs; as Gods hand ſhall be upon and toward ſuch as fear me, to cover, and bleſs, and influence them, ſo his indignation ſhall in that day be ſhewed towards thoſe of your nation who have declared themſelves the enemies of the Lord.

z Here the Prophet comes more particularly to expound what indignation ſhould be ſhewed towards his enemies. That is, with terrible Judgments, nothing being more terrible, and waſting than fire; or with fire in a proper ſenſe, underſtanding it of the fire with which enemies uſe to conſume places brought under their power. a With a ſudden ſweeping Judgment that like a whirle-wind ſhall deſtroy this people. b With fury, that is, with fervor; for fury properly taken is not in God, ch. 27. 4. but God ſometimes executes juſtice and judgment more ſmartly and ſeverely. c By rebukes, he means puniſhments, for it is ſaid God, will execute them with flames of fire. They had contemned the rebukes of his law, now God will rebuke them with fire, and ſword.

16 For by fire, and by his ſword, will the Lord plead d with all fleſh e, and the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be many f.

d This kind of rebuking is alſo called a pleading with them, ſo he threatens to plead againſt Gog with Peſtilence, and blood, Ezek. 38. 22. God at firſt pleads with ſinners by words, but if he cannot ſo prevail, he will plead with them in a way by which he will overcome, by fire, peſtilence and blood. e Thus he threatens to do with all ſinners, or with all the wicked Jews. f To the fire he threatens to add the Sword, ſo as the ſlain of the Lord, that is, thoſe whom God ſhould cauſe to be ſlain, ſhould be many.

* Ch. 65. 3, 4.

17 *They that ſanctifie themſelves, and purifie themſelves in the gardens g, ‖ behind one tree in the the midſt h, eating ſwines fleſh i, and the abomination k, and the mouſe, ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the LORD.

g That the Jews might not think that the Judgments threatned, concerned only the Heathen, he tells them they concerned them, the Idol Worſhippers amongſt them, and not Idolaters only, but ſuch as broke his laws about meats, which he had prohibited them to Eat. Thoſe that ſanctified and purified themſelves in gardens, gardens in which they Worſhipped Idols, ch. 1. 29. & 65. 3, 4. Kings 14. 23. & 15. 13. the word tranſlated gardens ſignifieth ſuch as were thick planted with trees, and had groves in them, where they ſet their Idols, 1 King. 15. 13. hence the Idol is called the Grove, 2 Kings 23. 6. they had alſo in theſe Gardens Pools where they waſhed themſelves in a way of preparation for their Idol-Worſhip, as the Prieſt by Gods Ordinance was to bath himſelf, Num. 19. 7. h Behind one of the trees, or one by one behind the Trees. Some think that Achar is here a proper name of an Idol, behind which, or behind whoſe Temple theſe Idolaters were wont to purifie themſelves. Theſe Gardens were places too as well for bruitiſh Luſts as Idol-Worſhip, as may be learned from 1 Kin. 14. 24. 2 Kin. 23. 7. and they by theſe waſhings thought to make themſelves clean. i Eating Swines fleſh, forbidden, Lev. 11. 7. Deut. 14. 8. k And the abomination, either any abominable things, or all thoſe Beaſts forbidden the Jews for meat, Lev. 11. 9, 10, &c. Some think a particular abominable thing is here meant, and think it is the Weaſel which Lev. 11. 29. is joined with the Mouſe, which is here next mentioned. The word which we tranſlate Mouſe being no where found but there, and here, and 1 Sam. 6. 4, 5, 11, 18. ſome think it is not that creature we call a Mouſe, (becauſe a Mouſe is properly no creeping thing; but the word Lev. 11. 29. ſignifyeth a creeping thing.) They therefore think it rather ſignifieth ſome Serpent. It is a matter of no great conſequence. The ſenſe is, that God would not only deſtroy the open and groſs Idolaters and ſuperſtitious perſons, but all thoſe who had made no Conſcience of yielding Obedience to the Law of God in ſuch things as ſeemed to them of a minute nature, and ſuch as they eaſily might have yielded Obedience to; he ſaith that they ſhall all periſh together. In the day of Judgment the Idolatrous Pagan, and Papiſt, and the leud and diobedient Proteſtant ſhall fare alike. It will be an hard thing for a thinking Soul to ſee how Baptiſm, and a memberſhip in the Chriſtian Church, ſhould ſave men from Gods Wrath, without Holineſs, more than Circumciſion and Memberſhip in the Jewiſh Church.

11 For I know their works, and their thoughts l, it ſhall come m that I will gather all nations n, and tongues, and they ſhall ſee my glory o.

l The Hebrew is thus, word for word; And I their works, and their thoughts, coming together all nations, and languages, and they ſhall come and ſee my Glory. So that it is neceſſary for Interpreters to ſupply ſome words to make out the ſenſe. And the ſenſe will differ according to the nature and ſenſe of thoſe ſupplied words. We ſupply the Verb know, as Amos 5. 12. others ſupply I have noted. Others make it a queſtion. And ſhould I endure their thoughts and their works? Others, But as for me O their works, and their thoughts! Some make theſe words, for I know their works and their thoughts, it ſhall come, one ſentence, and to relate to the judgments before threatned, v. 15, 16. and the latter words a new ſentence, and a promiſe of the call of the Gentiles. If we thus divide the words into two ſentences, the former part doth but aſſert the certainty of the Judgment that ſhould come upon this People, and the confirmation or reaſon of it from the Omniſcience and Juſtice of God. They have done theſe things, and I know it, and am of purer eyes than to behold iniquity. I know I have marked their thoughts and works (before-mentioned.) O the vileneſs of them! Should I ſuffer, ſhould I endure them? No. It ſhall come, either the Judgments before threatned ſhall come: or it ſhall come to paſs, that I will caſt them off, and then I will gather all nations, &c. m So as it ſhall come, may either refer to the threatning of Judgments in the former part, or the promiſe of calling the Gentiles in the latter part of the verſe. Others make the verſe one entire ſentence, and the ſenſe thus, ſeeing I know their works, &c. or when the time ſhall come, that I ſhall let them by my vengeance know, that I know their works. I will gather all Nations and Languages. n I will call the Gentiles into my Church, and o My Oracles, my holy Inſtitutions and Ordinances, which hitherto have been locked up in the Church of the Jews, Rom. 3. 2. and been their glory, ſhall be publiſhed to the Gentiles, Pſal. 97. 6. Iſa. 40. 5.

19 And I will ſet a ſign amongſt them, and I will ſend thoſe that eſcape of them unto the nations p, to Tarſhiſh, Pull and Lud that draw the bow, to Tubal and Javan, to the Iſles afar off q, that have not heard my fame, neither have ſeen my glory, and they ſhall declare my glory among the Gentiles r.

p It is on all hands agreed that this Verſe is a Prophecy of the converſion of the Gentiles. By ſign here ſome underſtand an Enſign, as the word ſignifies, Pſal. 74. 4. which is a military ſign to gather people together; by this may be underſtood Chriſt, Luk. 2. 34. See Iſa. 11. 10. or as others the miniſtry of the Word attended with miracles, (often called ſigns) theſe were ſet up amongſt the Jews firſt, then among the Gentiles. Others (but leſs probably) underſtand by ſign a mark of diſtinction, like that mentioned, Ezek. 9. 4. ſo as, ſaith he, ſome ſhall eſcape and not be deſtroyed, and for thoſe that ſhall eſcape, I will ſend them to q Tarſhiſh, Pul, Lud, Tubal, Javan, to Europe, Aſia, and Africa, to all the quarters of the World, (ſee the Latin Synopſis, and the Engliſh Annot. large diſcourſes of theſe particular places,) to all Nations that had never before heard of God, or his true Worſhip, r And they ſhall every where preach the Goſpel, and ſet up my Goſpel-Ordinances and Inſtitutions. This was eminently made good upon the Apoſtles leaving the Jews, and turning to the Gentiles, Act. 13. 46. and more fully after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, when the Believers among the Jews, as well as the Apoſtles, went about publiſhing the Goſpel to all People, which was the declaring of the Lords glory.

20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren s for an offering unto the LORD out of all nations: upon horſes, and ‖ in litters, and upon mules, and upon ſwift beaſts t, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the LORD u, as the children of Iſrael bring an offering in a clean veſſel unto the houſe of the LORD x.

s Thoſe who are the children of Abraham, not conſidered as the Father of the Jewiſh Nation only, but conſidered as the Father of many Nations, and as the Father of the faithful, or who are the Children of God, being believers, and receiving Chriſt; and ſo are your Brethren, (how contemptible ſoever you judge them,) ſhall be brought out of all Nations for an offering to the Lord, God will have no more offerings of Bullocks, and Rams, or Lambs, but of Men, and Women, reaſonable ſervices, Rom. 12. 1. he will have an offering up of the Gentiles, Rom. 15. 16. t And becauſe the Gentiles are many of them far off from Jeruſalem, and as yet further off from God, Eph. 2. 17. God will find out fit means for this end, as Horſes, and Litters, and Mules, and ſwifts Beaſts are to bring Men and Women long Journeys. u And they ſhall be brought into the Church, which began at Jeruſalem, and this you may be aſſured of, for the Lord hath ſaid it, who cannot lye nor repent. x And they ſhall come with as much joy and gladneſs, with as much ſincerity and holineſs, as the Godly Jews uſe and exerciſe when they bring their offerings in clean veſſels.

21 And * I will take of them for prieſts, and for Levites y, ſaith the LORD.

y Leſt the Jews, being aſſured that the Tribe of Levi, which God anciently choſe to miniſter before him, was not among them, ſhould ſay, Alas if the Gentiles ſhould be brought in, where would they have Prieſts or Levites? God here by his Prophet tells them, he would provide Prieſts, he would take of them, of theſe converted Heathens, for Prieſts and Levites, that is for Goſpel-Miniſters, to teach and inſtruct People, which was the Prieſts work of old, Deut. 33. 10. 2 Chron. 17. 7, 9. Mal. 2. 6. (for they are mightily miſtaken, that think the Prieſts amongſt the Jews had nothing to do, but to ſacrifice and burn incenſe, which work is ceaſed,) ſaith the Prophet, God will find amongſt the converted Gentiles thoſe who though they be not of the Tribe of Levi, or Houſe of Aaron, yet ſhall they do the true work of Prieſts and Levites.

This whole verſe is only a promiſe of the perpetuity of the Goſpel-Church, and the not failing of the additions to it of ſuch as ſhall be ſaved, till the World ſhall have an end. z The new ſtate of the Church to to be raiſed up under the Meſſiah. a As I intend that ſhall abide, ſo there ſhall be a daily ſucceſſion of true Believers for the upholding of it; for if Believers could fail from the Earth, the Church made up of them only, as the true Members of it, muſt fail alſo.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs that from one † new moon to another, and from one ſabbath to another b ſhall all fleſh come to worſhip before me, ſaith the LORD.

b In the Goſpel-Church, there ſhall be as conſtant and ſettled a courſe of worſhip (though of another nature) as ever was in the Jewiſh Church: Chriſtians are not bound to keep the Jewiſh Sabbaths or New-moons, Gal. 4. 10, 11. Col. 2. 16. But New Teſtament Worſhip is often expreſſed by Old Teſtament Phraſes. The Jews were only obliged to appear Three times in a year at Jeruſalem, but (ſaith the Prophet) the Goſpel-Church ſhall worſhip God from one Sabbath to another.

24 And they ſhall go forth c, and look upon the carkaſſes of the men that have ſinned againſt me d: for their * worm ſhall not die, neither ſhall their fire be quenched e, and they ſhall be an abhorring unto all fleſh.

c Either the Gentiles, or the ſincerer part of the Jews ſhall go forth from their places, or from, Jeruſalem, or, go out of their graves at the laſt day. d And look upon the vengeance I have taken upon theſe vile Idolaters and Formaliſts, for their ſatisfaction, Pſal. 58. 10. they ſhall ſee none of them alive, but they ſhall ſee their carkaſſes. e For the worms that feed on their ſlain carkaſſes ſhall not ſuddenly dye, and the Enemies fire burning up their Habitations ſhall not go out till they be wholly conſumed: and after this Life, and at the day of Judgment, they ſhall go into eternal torments. See Mark 9. 44, 46, 48. where they will feel a worm of Conſcience that ſhall never die, and a fiery Wrath of God upon their Souls and Bodies, that ſhall never go out.

Annotations on JEREMIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

IT was the great Unhappineſs of this Prophet, to be a Phyſician to, but that could not ſave, a dying State, their Diſeaſe ſtill prevailing againſt the Remedy; and indeed no wonder that all things were ſo much out of order, when the Book of the Law had been wanting above ſixty Years. He was called to be a Teacher in his Youth, in the Days of good Joſiah, being ſanctified and ordained by God to his Prophetical Office from his Mothers Womb, Chap. 1. 5. in a very evil time, though the People afterward proved much worſe upon the Death of that good King. He ſetting himſelf againſt the Torrent of the Corruptions of the Times, was always oppoſed, and unkindly treated by his ungrateful Country-men, as alſo by falſe Prophets, and the Prieſts, Princes, and People, who encouraged all their Impieties and Unrighteouſneſs: At length he threatned their Deſtruction and Captivity by the Chaldeans, which he lived to ſee, but foretells their Return after ſeventy Years: All which accordingly came to paſs: He doth alſo, notwithſtanding his dreadful Threatnings, intermix divers comfortable Promiſes of the Meſſiah, and the Days of the Goſpel; he denounceth alſo heavy Judgments againſt the Heathen Nations, that had afflicted God's People, both ſuch as were near, and alſo more remote, as Egypt, the Philiſtines, Moab, Edomites, Ammonites, Damaſcus, Kedar, Hazor, Elam, but eſpecially Babylon her ſelf, that is made ſo great a Type of the Anti-Chriſtian Babylon in the New Teſtament. Upon the Murder of Gedaliah, whom the Chaldeans had made Governour of Judea, he was forcibly againſt his Will carried into Egypt, where (after he had Propheſied from firſt to laſt between Forty and Fifty Years) probably he died; ſome ſay he was ſtoned.

Whatever elſe we hear mentioned of his Writings, they are either counterfeit as the Prophecies of Baruch, &c. or it is likely we have the Sum of them in this Book, though poſſibly ſome of his Sermons might have had ſome Enlargements in that Roll which, by his Appointment, was written by Baruch, Chap. 36. 2. &c.

a i. e. Sermons, or Prophecies, which he received from God (as being his mouth to declare them unto the People) and compriſed all in the Volume of this Book going under his Name, as the Matter and Subſtance of them. See on Iſa. 2. 1. b As this ſerves to diſtinguiſh him from other Prieſts, ſo his being of Anathoth ranks him among the common Prieſts; not that High Prieſt mentioned 2 Kings 22. 8. under whoſe Progeny Jeremiah is not named, 1 Chron. 6. 13. Who, it is probable, would have been named, being one of ſo much note, and who always lived at Jeruſalem, not at Anathoth, which was a City three Miles from Jeruſalem, lotted out of the Tribe of Benjamin for the Prieſts, Joſh. 21. 18. Of an ordinary Teacher he was made a Prophet, not ſo the reſt. c i. e. That part of Canaan that fell to Benjamin's ſhare.

2 To whom the word of the LORD d came in the days e of Joſiah the ſon of Amon f king of Judah, in the thirteenth year g of his reign.

d Either that Commiſſion from God that did authorize him to his Prophetical Work, as it may probably be taken, John 10. 35. was actually given unto him Verſe 10. or, Command of God, as 'tis uſed, 1 Kings 12. 24. Or rather, the Materials of which his Prophecies were to conſiſt, for the ſpace of 41 Years ſucceſſively in Judea, viz. from the 13th Year of Joſiah to the 11th Year of Zedekiah, beſides the time that he propheſied in Egypt. See Chap. 43. and 44. as Iſa. 2. 1. e i. e. During his Reign, and reformed ſtate of Religion. f Who corrupted again that Religion by thoſe Idolatries that his Father Manaſſes had in the latter part of his Reign ſo well reformed by rooting of them out, 2 Chron. 33. 21, 22, 23. g By which it appears that Jeremiah propheſied the laſt 18 Years of Joſiah's Reign; for he reigned 31 Years, 2 Kings 22. 1.

3 h It came alſo in the days of i Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah k the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem l captive m * in the fifth month n. * 2 Kings 25. 8. ch. 52. 12.

h Viz. The Word of the Lord, as Verſe 2. i Called at firſt by Joſiah Eliakim, 2 Kings 23. 34. Jehoahaz and Jehoiakin, whereof the former reigned before him, 2 Kings 23. 31. the latter ſucceeded, 2 Kings 24. 8. are conceived not to be mentioned, becauſe they reigned but each of them three Months, and therefore not conſiderable, the Scripture often taking little notice of a ſmall time, as of ſix Months, compare 2 Sam. 5. 5. with 1 Kings 2. 11. k See Verſe 2. of whom read 1 Chron. 3. 15, 16. l i. e. The Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, namely under Zedekiah, 2 Kings 25. 11. during all which time, things ſtanding in that ſtate and condition, Jeremy propheſied. m This doth not terminate the time of his Prophecies, for he propheſied alſo both in Judea, and in Egypt afterwards; but only relates to what he propheſied while the City and Temple were ſtanding, the reſt ſeeming rather to be added as a Supplement, than to be reduced unto this general Title of his Prophecies. n Viz. Of that preſent Year; for, though the Year end not at the fifth Month, yet it might end the Year of Zedekiah's Reign, becauſe he might begin his Reign at the fifth Month of the Year.

See the like uſe of the Word Iſa. 13. 3. He ſpeaks thus to Jeremiah, not to the other Prophets, becauſe he ſtood in need of greater, and more direct Encouragement than they, both in reſpect of the Tenderneſs of his Years, and alſo of thoſe inſuperable Difficulties, which in thoſe moſt degenerate and corrupt times he muſt unavoidably encounter with, which might cauſe him to decline the Work, Verſe 6. t Either with reference to place to other Nations beſides the Jews, as appears Chap. 43. and 46. 47. &c. taking the Jews in among them, as Chap. 25. 17, 18. and ſo Unto may be taken for Againſt, as it is often expreſſed in thoſe places and elſewhere; or with reference to Time, to People of all times, who may be inſtructed by this Book, or whoſe Words are made uſe of, both by ſeveral Prophets of the Old Teſtament, as Daniel, Ezekiel, Nehemiah, &c. and by our Saviour in the New, by Matthew, Chap. 2. 17, 18. By ſign here ſome underſtand an Enſign, as the word ſignifies, Pſal. 74. 4. which is a military ſign to gather people together; by this may be underſtood Chriſt, Luk. 2. 34. See Iſa. 11. 10. or as others the miniſtry of the Word attended with miracles, (often called ſigns) theſe were ſet up amongſt the Jews firſt, then among the Gentiles. Others (but leſs probably) underſtand by ſign a mark of diſtinction, like that mentioned, Ezek. 9. 4. ſo as, ſaith he, ſome ſhall eſcape and not be deſtroyed, and for thoſe that ſhall eſcape, I will ſend them to q Tarſhiſh, Pul, Lud, Tubal, Javan, to Europe, Aſia, and Africa, to all the quarters of the World, (ſee the Latin Synopſis, and the Engliſh Annot. large diſcourſes of theſe particular places,) to all Nations that had never before heard of God, or his true Worſhip, r And they ſhall every where preach the Goſpel, and ſet up my Goſpel-Ordinances and Inſtitutions. This was eminently made good upon the Apoſtles leaving the Jews, and turning to the Gentiles, Act. 13. 46. and more fully after the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, when the Believers among the Jews, as well as the Apoſtles, went about publiſhing the Goſpel to all People, which was the declaring of the Lords glory.

20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren s for an offering unto the LORD out of all nations: upon horſes, and ‖ in litters, and upon mules, and upon ſwift beaſts t, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the LORD u, as the children of Iſrael bring an offering in a clean veſſel unto the houſe of the LORD x.

s Thoſe who are the children of Abraham, not conſidered as the Father of the Jewiſh Nation only, but conſidered as the Father of many Nations, and as the Father of the faithful, or who are the Children of God, being believers, and receiving Chriſt; and ſo are your Brethren, (how contemptible ſoever you judge them,) ſhall be brought out of all Nations for an offering to the Lord, God will have no more offerings of Bullocks, and Rams, or Lambs, but of Men, and Women, reaſonable ſervices, Rom. 12. 1. he will have an offering up of the Gentiles, Rom. 15. 16. t And becauſe the Gentiles are many of them far off from Jeruſalem, and as yet further off from God, Eph. 2. 17. God will find out fit means for this end, as Horſes, and Litters, and Mules, and ſwifts Beaſts are to bring Men and Women long Journeys. u And they ſhall be brought into the Church, which began at Jeruſalem, and this you may be aſſured of, for the Lord hath ſaid it, who cannot lye nor repent. x And they ſhall come with as much joy and gladneſs, with as much ſincerity and holineſs, as the Godly Jews uſe and exerciſe when they bring their offerings in clean veſſels.

* Exod. 29. 6. Ch. 61. 1 Pet. 2. Rev. 1.

y Leſt the Jews, being aſſured that the Tribe of Levi, which God anciently choſe to miniſter before him, was not among them, ſhould ſay, Alas if the Gentiles ſhould be brought in, where would they have Prieſts or Levites? God here by his Prophet tells them, he would provide Prieſts, he would take of them, of theſe converted Heathens, for Prieſts and Levites, that is for Goſpel-Miniſters, to teach and inſtruct People, which was the Prieſts work of old, Deut. 33. 10. 2 Chron. 17. 7, 9. Mal. 2. 6. (for they are mightily miſtaken, that think the Prieſts amongſt the Jews had nothing to do, but to ſacrifice and burn incenſe, which work is ceaſed,) ſaith the Prophet, God will find amongſt the converted Gentiles thoſe who though they be not of the Tribe of Levi, or Houſe of Aaron, yet ſhall they do the true work of Prieſts and Levites.

22 For as * the new heavens, and the new earth z which I will make ſhall remain before me (ſaith the Lord) ſo ſhall your ſeed, and your name remain a.

* Ch. 65. 2 Pet. 3. Rev. 21.

This whole verſe is only a promiſe of the perpetuity of the Goſpel-Church, and the not failing of the additions to it of ſuch as ſhall be ſaved, till the World ſhall have an end. z The new ſtate of the Church to to be raiſed up under the Meſſiah. a As I intend that ſhall abide, ſo there ſhall be a daily ſucceſſion of true Believers for the upholding of it; for if Believers could fail from the Earth, the Church made up of them only, as the true Members of it, muſt fail alſo.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs that from one † new moon to another, and from one ſabbath to another b ſhall all fleſh come to worſhip before me, ſaith the LORD.

b In the Goſpel-Church, there ſhall be as conſtant and ſettled a courſe of worſhip (though of another nature) as ever was in the Jewiſh Church: Chriſtians are not bound to keep the Jewiſh Sabbaths or New-moons, Gal. 4. 10, 11. Col. 2. 16. But New Teſtament Worſhip is often expreſſed by Old Teſtament Phraſes. The Jews were only obliged to appear Three times in a year at Jeruſalem, but (ſaith the Prophet) the Goſpel-Church ſhall worſhip God from one Sabbath to another.

24 And they ſhall go forth c, and look upon the carkaſſes of the men that have ſinned againſt me d: for their * worm ſhall not die, neither ſhall their fire be quenched e, and they ſhall be an abhorring unto all fleſh.

c Either the Gentiles, or the ſincerer part of the Jews ſhall go forth from their places, or from, Jeruſalem, or, go out of their graves at the laſt day. d And look upon the vengeance I have taken upon theſe vile Idolaters and Formaliſts, for their ſatisfaction, Pſal. 58. 10. they ſhall ſee none of them alive, but they ſhall ſee their carkaſſes. e For the worms that feed on their ſlain carkaſſes ſhall not ſuddenly dye, and the Enemies fire burning up their Habitations ſhall not go out till they be wholly conſumed: and after this Life, and at the day of Judgment, they ſhall go into eternal torments. See Mark 9. 44, 46, 48. where they will feel a worm of Conſcience that ſhall never die, and a fiery Wrath of God upon their Souls and Bodies, that ſhall never go out.

Annotations on JEREMIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

IT was the great Unhappineſs of this Prophet, to be a Phyſician to, but that could not ſave, a dying State, their Diſeaſe ſtill prevailing againſt the Remedy; and indeed no wonder that all things were ſo much out of order, when the Book of the Law had been wanting above ſixty Years. He was called to be a Teacher in his Youth, in the Days of good Joſiah, being ſanctified and ordained by God to his Prophetical Office from his Mothers Womb, Chap. 1. 5. in a very evil time, though the People afterward proved much worſe upon the Death of that good King. He ſetting himſelf againſt the Torrent of the Corruptions of the Times, was always oppoſed, and unkindly treated by his ungrateful Country-men, as alſo by falſe Prophets, and the Prieſts, Princes, and People, who encouraged all their Impieties and Unrighteouſneſs: At length he threatned their Deſtruction and Captivity by the Chaldeans, which he lived to ſee, but foretells their Return after ſeventy Years: All which accordingly came to paſs: He doth alſo, notwithſtanding his dreadful Threatnings, intermix divers comfortable Promiſes of the Meſſiah, and the Days of the Goſpel; he denounceth alſo heavy Judgments againſt the Heathen Nations, that had afflicted God's People, both ſuch as were near, and alſo more remote, as Egypt, the Philiſtines, Moab, Edomites, Ammonites, Damaſcus, Kedar, Hazor, Elam, but eſpecially Babylon her ſelf, that is made ſo great a Type of the Anti-Chriſtian Babylon in the New Teſtament. Upon the Murder of Gedaliah, whom the Chaldeans had made Governour of Judea, he was forcibly againſt his Will carried into Egypt, where (after he had Propheſied from firſt to laſt between Forty and Fifty Years) probably he died; ſome ſay he was ſtoned.

Whatever elſe we hear mentioned of his Writings, they are either counterfeit as the Prophecies of Baruch, &c. or it is likely we have the Sum of them in this Book, though poſſibly ſome of his Sermons might have had ſome Enlargements in that Roll which, by his Appointment, was written by Baruch, Chap. 36. 2. &c.

THE words a of Jeremiah the ſon of Hilkiah b, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin c.

a i. e. Sermons, or Prophecies, which he received from God (as being his mouth to declare them unto the People) and compriſed all in the Volume of this Book going under his Name, as the Matter and Subſtance of them. See on Iſa. 2. 1. b As this ſerves to diſtinguiſh him from other Prieſts, ſo his being of Anathoth ranks him among the common Prieſts; not that High Prieſt mentioned 2 Kings 22. 8. under whoſe Progeny Jeremiah is not named, 1 Chron. 6. 13. Who, it is probable, would have been named, being one of ſo much note, and who always lived at Jeruſalem, not at Anathoth, which was a City three Miles from Jeruſalem, lotted out of the Tribe of Benjamin for the Prieſts, Joſh. 21. 18. Of an ordinary Teacher he was made a Prophet, not ſo the reſt. c i. e. That part of Canaan that fell to Benjamin's ſhare.

2 To whom the word of the LORD d came in the days e of Joſiah the ſon of Amon f king of Judah, in the thirteenth year g of his reign.

d Either that Commiſſion from God that did authorize him to his Prophetical Work, as it may probably be taken, John 10. 35. was actually given unto him Verſe 10. or, Command of God, as 'tis uſed, 1 Kings 12. 24. Or rather, the Materials of which his Prophecies were to conſiſt, for the ſpace of 41 Years ſucceſſively in Judea, viz. from the 13th Year of Joſiah to the 11th Year of Zedekiah, beſides the time that he propheſied in Egypt. See Chap. 43. and 44. as Iſa. 2. 1. e i. e. During his Reign, and reformed ſtate of Religion. f Who corrupted again that Religion by thoſe Idolatries that his Father Manaſſes had in the latter part of his Reign ſo well reformed by rooting of them out, 2 Chron. 33. 21, 22, 23. g By which it appears that Jeremiah propheſied the laſt 18 Years of Joſiah's Reign; for he reigned 31 Years, 2 Kings 22. 1.

3 h It came alſo in the days of i Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the end of the eleventh year of Zedekiah k the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem l captive m * in the fifth month n.

* 2 Kings 25. 8. ch. 52. 12.

h Viz. The Word of the Lord, as Verſe 2. i Called at firſt by Joſiah Eliakim, 2 Kings 23. 34. Jehoahaz and Jehoiakin, whereof the former reigned before him, 2 Kings 23. 31. the latter ſucceeded, 2 Kings 24. 8. are conceived not to be mentioned, becauſe they reigned but each of them three Months, and therefore not conſiderable, the Scripture often taking little notice of a ſmall time, as of ſix Months, compare 2 Sam. 5. 5. with 1 Kings 2. 11. k See Verſe 2. of whom read 1 Chron. 3. 15, 16. l i. e. The Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, namely under Zedekiah, 2 Kings 25. 11. during all which time, things ſtanding in that ſtate and condition, Jeremy propheſied. m This doth not terminate the time of his Prophecies, for he propheſied alſo both in Judea, and in Egypt afterwards; but only relates to what he propheſied while the City and Temple were ſtanding, the reſt ſeeming rather to be added as a Supplement, than to be reduced unto this general Title of his Prophecies. n Viz. Of that preſent Year; for, though the Year end not at the fifth Month, yet it might end the Year of Zedekiah's Reign, becauſe he might begin his Reign at the fifth Month of the Year.

4 Then o the word of the LORD came unto me p, ſaying, o i. e. When he was firſt called to his Office, or the Lord then began to ſpeak unto me. p A change of the Perſon, a thing very uſual with the Prophets.

5 ¶ Before I * formed thee in the belly q, I knew thee r; and before thou cameſt forth out of the womb, * I ſanctified ſ thee, and I † ordained thee a prophet unto t the Nations.

* Iſa. 49. 1. 5.
* Luke 1. 15. 41. Gal. 1. 15, 16.

q i. e. Womb, Iſa. 46. 3. Having ſpoken before of the time of his Call, Verſe 4. he now ſpeaks of the manner of it. r i. e. Approved, and appointed thee, as a fit Miniſter for this Work. Words of Knowledge among the Hebrews note Affection, as hath been formerly noted. ſ Viz. Not with ſaving Grace, though that need not to be excluded, but accordingly I prepared and ordained thee for this publick Service; and thus with Paul, Gal. 1. 15. where both are expreſſed. See the like uſe of the Word Iſa. 13. 3. He ſpeaks thus to Jeremiah, not to the other Prophets, becauſe he ſtood in need of greater, and more direct Encouragement than they, both in reſpect of the Tenderneſs of his Years, and alſo of thoſe inſuperable Difficulties, which in thoſe moſt degenerate and corrupt times he muſt unavoidably encounter with, which might cauſe him to decline the Work, Verſe 6. t Either with reference to place to other Nations beſides the Jews, as appears Chap. 43. and 46, 47, &c. taking the Jews in among them, as Chap. 25. 17, 18. and ſo Unto may be taken for Againſt, as it is often expreſſed in thoſe places and elſewhere; or with reference to Time, to People of all times, who may be inſtructed by this Book, or whoſe Words are made uſe of, both by ſeveral Prophets of the Old Teſtament, as Daniel, Ezekiel, Nehemiah, &c. and by our Saviour in the New, by Matthew, Chap. 2. 17, 18. By Paul, 2 Cor. 6. 18. And by St John, Rev. 2. 23.

6 Then ſaid I, Ah, x * Lord GOD, Behold, I cannot ſpeak y: for I am a child z.

* Exod. 6. 12.

x An introductory Interjection making way for his Excuſe in a way of Grief and Complaint, endeavouring with all Reverence to clear himſelf of undertaking ſuch a work raſhly, it being properly the Sigh of one that hath too great a weight upon his ſhoulders. y Not dumb as Zachary, Luke 1. 20, 22. nor ſtammering as Moſes, Exod. 4. 10, 14. but not with that becoming Gravity and commanding Majeſty as is ſuitable to a Prophet, he modeſtly excuſeth himſelf, from a Conſideration of the weight of the work, and the tenderneſs of his Age, as in the next Expreſſion. z Either in Years, and ſo not ripe, or apt for the declaring of great things, and that to Princes and Nobles. Or, 2. In Experience, being altogether unskilful in ſuch Affairs, not having been uſed to Propheſie: and therefore in neither reſpect likely to be much regarded.

7 But the LORD ſaid unto me, ſay not I am a child a; for thou ſhalt go b to all c that I ſhall ſend

a Do not plead Excuſes. b This is God's Anſwer to Jeremiah in reſpect of his ſenſe of his own Inability; this may be by way of Command, and then it is a check to his Timorouſneſs; thou ſhalt go, therefore draw not back: or, by way of Promiſe, and then it is a ſatisfactory Anſwer to his Excuſe, as both proceeded from a ſenſe of his own Inſufficiency, q. d. Fear not, I will make thee eloquent and courageous. c This relates, either to Perſons or Things. To all, i. e. to all Perſons to whom I ſhall ſend thee; thou ſhalt baulk none: See Rev. 10. 11. Or upon, ſo is the Hebrew, and then it is, thou ſhalt go upon all Errands and Meſſages that I ſhall ſend thee. See Iſa. 55. 11. and Acts 26. 16.

* Joſ. 1. 5. Heb. 13. 5, 6. 8 Be not afraid of their faces e: for * I am with thee f to deliver thee g, ſaith the LORD.

e Their fierce Looks, Ezek. 3. 9. the Indication of their enraged Minds, Dan. 3. 19. Neither when thou delivereſt my Meſſage to them, nor when thou mayeſt be cited before them, Mat. 10. 18, 19. This is God's Anſwer to Jeremy's Fears in reſpect of the Perſons he was to deal with, as the other was in reſpect of his own Conſciouſneſs of Inſufficiency; and he mentions their Faces, becauſe the majeſtick Countenance of Princes and Magiſtrates is apt to ſtrike a great Awe and Terrour upon Children. f I'll not only ſend thee as other Kings do their Ambaſſadours, but I will go with thee: This God promiſes to Moſes, Exod. 3. 12. and Deut. 31. 6, 8. g Here God promiſes his Protection for Encouragement.

9 Then the LORD put forth his hand h, and touched i my mouth, and the LORD ſaid unto me, * Chap. 5. 14. Behold, I have * put my words in thy mouth.

h God having before excited the Prophet to his work by Command and Promiſe, doth now in a Viſion eſtabliſh and confirm him, either by the hand of an Angel, as Iſa. 6. 6, 7. or rather, by himſelf in ſome viſible ſhape. i Heb. Came upon, as the Word is uſed Judg. 20. 41. hereby enabling him to ſpeak; or thou ſhalt be my mouth to deliver my Words; partly to let Jeremy underſtand, that they were God's Words; and partly to intimate, that they ſhould be effectual; and partly, that he ſhould never be without them, but continually ſupplied. See the like kind of Phraſe Chap. 5. 14. And he adds, Behold, q. d. attend to what I am about to ſay; or, look upon this outward Sign, and let it aſſure thee of the thing ſignified.

* Chap. 18. 7. 2 Cor. 10. 4, 5. 10. See, I have this day ſet thee over the nations, and over the kingdoms l, to * root out, and to pull down m, and to deſtroy, and to throw down, to build and to plant n.

l Having now received his Commiſſion, he is directed to whom he is to go, viz. to the greateſt, not only ſingle Perſons, but whole Nations, as the Babylonians, Perſians, and Egyptians, and exhorted to greatneſs of Mind, as being ſent as an Ambaſſadour from God, to deliver his Meſſages without Flattery or Cowardice; and that he might make that proud People ſenſible of their Folly, that looked upon themſelves as above Reproof, he gives unto his Prophet this large Authority. m i. e. To Propheſie, that I will pull down; which I will as certainly effect, as if thou hadſt done it thy ſelf: for, according to Scripture-uſage, the Prophets are ſaid to do that which they foretell ſhall come to paſs, Gen. 49. 7. Ezek. 43. 3. i. e. to pronounce Deſtruction: hence God is ſaid to ſlay them by the Words of his Mouth, Hoſ. 6. 5. and ſo are all the following Expreſſions to be underſtood. n Metaphors taken from Architects and Gardiners: Either the former Words relate to the Enemies of God, and the latter to his Friends; or rather to both conditionally: If they repent, he will build them up, i. e. he will increaſe their Families, and plant them, viz. ſettle them in the Land, Chap. 24. 6. If they do not, he will root them up, and pull them down, &c. He will do the contrary. Compare this with Chap. 42. 10. and 45. 4. The reaſon why God uſeth ſo many Words to the ſame purpoſe, ſeems to be, partly to ſhew how deeply all kind of Wickedneſs and Contempt of God had taken root; which poſſibly may be one reaſon why he placeth Pulling down and Rooting up, before Building and Planting, to ſhew what a deal of Rubbiſh there was to be removed, before he could reform, and repair his Church and State; or rather, becauſe the Prophet was to begin with theſe in his Prophecy, as appears by his ſecond Viſions, Verſe 11, 13. and partly to quicken the Prophet's Zeal againſt them.

11 ¶ Moreover, the word of the LORD came o unto me, ſaying, Jeremiah, what ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a rod of an almond-tree p.

o This and the boiling Cauldron, Verſe 13. is thought to be at the ſame time, and in the ſame Viſion, when he was firſt appointed to his Work. p Viz. That had Leaves, and poſſibly Bloſſoms, on it, like Aaron's, Numb. 17. 8. for without Leaves at leaſt, 'tis poſſible he had not ſo readily gueſſed of what kind it had been. This is a Tree that bloſſoms early, and ſpeedily, and hence hath its Name in Hebrew Scaked, ſignifying watchful, forward, nimble, or quick; and ſo it may point at either God's Readineſs to ſmite, Verſe 12. which is deſcribed elſewhere by Summer-Fruit, Amos 8. 1, 2. or Iſrael's Ripeneſs to be ſmitten, as we have the like Ezek. 7. 10, 11. or both; this Rod being like a portentous Comet, ſhewing to Jeremiah the Miſeries that were at hand, as the Death of Joſiah, which ſoon followed this Viſion, 2 Kings 23. 29. and the Taxing them by Pharaoh Necho, 2 Kings 23. 35. and preſently after the breaking in of the Chaldees, Syrians, Moabites, and Ammonites, 2 Kings 24. 2. and then the Babylonian Captivity, 2 Kings 24. 10. which happened in the 8th Year of Jehoiakim, 2 Kings 24. 12. when Nebuchadnezzar took him with others, and carried them away about 23 Years from hence; and about the 40th Year Jeruſalem was taken, and the Temple burnt.

12 Then ſaid the LORD unto me, Thou haſt well ſeen q: for I will haſten r my word ſ to perform it.

q Or thou haſt ſeen and judged right; or, as the Hebrew, thou haſt done well to ſee, i. e. in ſeeing ſo. r Word for Word, I will Almond-tree it, i. e. I will be upon them ſpeedily, in a ſhort time, and ſuddenly, ere they are aware; or, I will watch, and be ready to accompliſh this in due time. ſ i. e. My Word of Threatning againſt Judah and its Inhabitants.

13 And the word of the LORD came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying, What ſeeſt thou? and I ſaid, I ſee a ſeething-pot t, and the face u thereof is † towards the north x. † Heb. From the face of the north.

t After the ſmaller Puniſhment from the Lord, follows this of the Boiling-pot, by which underſtand Judea and Jeruſalem, as may appear by the Application that they themſelves make of it in a way of Scorn and Deriſion, Ezek. 11. 3, 7. Some put the face of the pot for the Pot it ſelf; as the face of the cold, the face of his anger for Cold, and Anger it ſelf, q. d. I ſee a Pot coming, meaning the Babylonian Army flowing in upon them, like boiling or ſcalding Water, as ſome interpret it: but this ſeems not to be ſo congruous to the Viſion; but rather thus, the Babylonians ſhould beſiege, as a fire plays round the Furnace, when it is to be made boil, ſo ſhould theſe Chaldeans begirt it, as Ver. 15. and reduce the Inhabitants to moſt miſerable Extremities, with unſpeakable Cruelty, as if they were like fleſh roaſting by the fire, or boiling in a Pot, as their Sufferings are deſcribed, Micah 3. 3. u Or front of the Pot, or Furnace, the place where the fire was put in, or blowed up to make it boil: as a Pot, hanged in the form of a Furnace, ſeems to be all but one and the ſame Pot or Veſſel, the face of which may be eaſily conceived to ſtand toward the North, not the mouth of the Pot; for that looks directly upward, unleſs we conceive it to be repreſented in the Viſion leaning, of which Conceit there is no need. x Indicating from whence their Miſery ſhould come, Verſe 14. viz. from Chaldea, which lay North from Jeruſalem.

14 Then the LORD ſaid y unto me, out of the * north z an evil ſhall † break forth a upon all the inhabitants of the land b. * Chap. 4. 6. and 6. 1. † Heb Be opened.

y Explained this Viſion. z i. e. From Babylon, a Metonymy of the Subject; for though it lie Eaſtward, yet it is North from Jeruſalem, as lying four Degrees more from the Equinoctial. See Verſe 13. a It ſhall be withheld, or reſtrained, no longer in my Treaſure; I will let it out; viz. That evil of puniſhment repreſented by the Fire. b Though God gave almoſt all the then known World to the King of Babylon, yet here he underſtands the Land of Judea, Chap. 25. 9.

15 For lo, I will * call c all the families d of the kingdoms e of the north, ſaith the LORD: and they ſhall come, and they ſhall ſet every one his throne f at the entring of the Gates g of Jeruſalem, and againſt all the walls h thereof round about, and againſt all the cities i of Judah. * Chap. 5. 15.

16 And I will utter my judgments k againſt them touching all their wickedneſs, who have forſaken me l, and have burnt incenſe unto other gods m, and worſhipped the works of their own hands n.

k Cauſe Sentence to be paſſed according to my Threatning. See Chap. 39. 5. Or, I will place my Bounty and their Unworthineſs before them. See on Iſa. 58. 6. h When the Deliverance was freſh, thou didſt put on good Reſolutions, Heb. Serve, i. e. Serve or Worſhip Idols: The Word is of the Fœminine Gender, becauſe God ſpeaks of his People, as of a Woman promiſing Faithfulneſs, but breaking Covenant. Some underſtand Thee, I will not ſerve thee, q. d. which thou madeſt appear, when upon every hill, &c. And thus he accuſeth them of their Ingratitude, who owed themſelves to their Redeemer. But this doth not ſo well agree with their Engagement, Exod. 19. 18. i Or, notwithſtanding all thy Promiſes. k Idolaters were wont to ſacrifice upon the tops of high Hills, becauſe there they thought themſelves nearer Heaven: nay, ſome have eſteemed high Hills to be Gods, as the Indians of Peru at this day. l Under theſe Shades Idolaters thought there lay ſome hidden Deity, with which they converſed. m Viz. Changing thy way to gad after Idols, as one that haſt broken Covenant. See on Iſa. 57. 8. The Word properly ſignifies, to go from ones place, as Harlots uſe to do, inſtigated either by unbridled Luſt, or Covetouſneſs; i. e. making great haſte from one tree to another, or from one Idol to another. See Ver. 23, 24. Others, Thou lieſt down, or thou ſetteſt thy ſelf. n Committing Idolatry, which is a ſpiritual Harlotry, Chap. 3. 1, 2. This is frequent. Some read the former part of the Text otherwiſe, making it the daring boaſt of the People, Thou haſt ſaid I have broken, &c. and ſaidſt, I will not ſerve, i. e. I will not obey. But this will not ſuit well with the reſt of the Text.

21 Yet I had * planted thee a noble vine o, wholly a right ſeed p: how then art thou turned into † the degenerate plant q of a ſtrange r vine unto me.

o An uſual Metaphor for the Church, Pſal. 80. 8, 9, &c. See on Iſa. 5. 1. The Heb. is Sorek, and may refer to the Place, or to the Plant: With reference to the Place it may be taken either for a proper Name, as Carmel for any fruitful Place; ſo here noting, either the Place whence, viz. A Vine of the ſame kind with thoſe that come from Sorek; poſſibly that Country where Sampſon ſaw Dalilah, Judg. 16. 4. Or, the Place where planted, viz. in a fruitful Land, Exod. 15. 17. See on Iſa. 1. 2. If it be referred to the Plant, then it points at the excellency of its kind; and this the next Clauſe ſeems to favour: and thus it notes both God's Care; he had as great a care of it as of the choiceſt Plant: See on Iſa. 27. 2, 3. And alſo his Expectation, that it ſhould prove ſo, Iſa. 5. 4. And the ſenſe is, I planted thee, that thou ſhould'ſt bring forth choice fruit to me. p A right Seed of true Believers, as in the days of the Patriarchs Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob. Or, ſuppoſing With to be underſtood before Right Seed (as it often is in the Heb.) we may underſtand it of the Ordinances of his Church, which are ſaid to be the Plants, or Seed, that God furniſheth it withal, Matth. 13. 24. and theſe are called right, Neh. 9. 13. not falſe, or counterfeit. q Though there be only degenerate or declining in the Heb. Text, yet the Supplement is neceſſary in regard of the Metaphor. r This muſt here be taken in a bad Senſe, as the Word degenerate going before intimates, though it be ſometimes for what is rare, and excellent: here it notes their Apoſtacy and Infidelity, and other Wickedneſſes; where God ſpeaks after the manner of Man, both in a way of Wonder and Reproof.

22 For though thou * waſh thee with nitre, and take thee much ſoap ſ, yet † thine iniquity is marked t before me, ſaith the Lord GOD.

*Job 9 30.

ſ Though Interpreters do greatly vary in deſcribing what is particularly meant here by Nitre and Soap, and would be ſuperfluous to mention here; yet all agree, they are ſome Materials that Artiſts make uſe of for the cleanſing away Spots from the Skin, Cloaths, or other things: and the Senſe is plain, that the blot of his People is by no Art to be taken out; it cannot be covered by Excuſes; though thou wouldſt diſſemble thy Idolatries, thou canſt not deceive me: nor expiated by Sacrifices; it is beyond the Power of all ſuperſtitious or religious Waſhings to cleanſe away, which may be underſtood by theſe natural and artificial ways of cleanſing. t The Meaning ſeems to be, either thy Filthineſs is ſo foul that it leaves a brand behind it that cannot be hid or waſhed out, but will abide: ſee Jer. 17. 1. Or, according to another Acceptation of the Word, It is laid up with God. See the like Deut. 32. 34. and Hoſ. 13. 12. Purge thee, waſh thee, do what thou wilt, thou canſt by no means conceal thy Wickedneſs from me, Job 9. 20. They that would ſee greater Variety of Interpretations, let them conſult the Synopſis.

u With what face canſt thou go about to excuſe thy ſelf, or deny what is ſo evident, and ſo truly charged upon thee, Ver. 20. x The Word is plural, as comprehenſive of all their Idols, Hoſ. 11. 2. and is a Name uſually given to ſeveral of them, as Baalzebub, 2 Kings 1. 16. and Baal-Peor, Numb. 25. 3. and therefore their worſhipping of many. Becauſe they had the Temple, and Sacrifices, &c. they ſtill perſwaded themſelves, that they worſhipped the true God, though they joyned their Idolatries with it, as the Papiſts, though they make uſe of Idols in Worſhip, yet would not be accounted Idolaters. ∴ The Filthineſs thou haſt left behind thee, whereby thou may'ſt be traced, where thou leſteſt, as it were, thy Footſteps, and Monuments of thy frequent Idolatries. y Thy frequent Courſes in the Valleys, whether of Hinnom where they burnt their Childrens bones in Sacrifice, Chap. 7. 31. or, in any Vallies where thou haſt been frequent in thy Idolatries; it ſeems to be thus largely taken. z Look on and conſider thy ways, as Ver. 19. a Or thou art as, &c. or, O Dromedary, a Beaſt much uſed by Carriers in Arabia, being rife there. See on Iſa. 60. 6. b A Metaphor taken from Creatures that are hunted, that keep no direct path, alluding to the Nature of the She Dromedary, which in gendring time runs capering this way, and croſſing that way, making many Vagaries to find out ſometimes one Male, ſometimes another without any Rule or Order, ſetting forth hereby the Diſpoſition of this People, that were ſo mad upon their Idols, that they ran ſometimes after this, and ſometimes after that, called Wandring, Ver. 20. and that with great eagerneſs, fitly termed traverſing, much like the Deſcription of a Whore, Prov. 7. 11, 12. the Word being no where found but here, and being derived from a Word that ſignifies a Shooe-latchet. c Or, O wild Aſs, another Similitude for the more lively Deſcription of the ſame thing; neither need we be ſolicitous about the variety or extravagancies of Conjectures about this Beaſt: or you may conſult as before. It is ſaid to be wild and untamed, as being uſed to the Wilderneſs doth alſo imply; and as to ſatisfying its Luſt, much of the nature of the other. d This ſnuffing properly appertains to the Senſe of Smelling, by which certain Creatures, by a natural Sagacity, find out what they miſs, which Huntſmen expreſs by a proper term of Winding, or having in the Wind: and thus it is underſtood here; for this Creature, by the Wind, ſmells afar off which way her Male is; for there is another Sence of ſnuffing up the Wind, viz. for the Service of Health, as allaying inward Heat and Drought, &c. Chap. 14. 6. e As her Deſire or Luſt ſerves when it runs out after the Male; implying alſo, that no Choice, or Judgment, or Meaſure, is obſerved in theſe Beaſts, when carried out after their Luſts. f i. e. When ſhe is ſet upon it, and hath an Occaſion and Opportunity to run impetuouſly to her Male for the ſatisfying her Pleaſure, ſhe bears down all Oppoſition before her; there is none can ſtop, or put a Bridle upon her raging Luſt. g i. e. Either they need not weary themſelves, (ſpeaking of Jeruſalem, to which all the reſt alſo is to be applied as in an Allegory;) they that have a mind to be filthy with her, may eaſily trace her, Verſe 23. ſhe refuſes none: Or, rather, they will not beſtow their labour in vain, when ſhe is hot upon her Luſt, but let her take her Courſe until ſhe be ſatisfied, and wait their Time and Opportunity: and this agrees with the next Words. h If this relate to the former Sence of not wearying themſelves, it notes her Impudence and Unſatiableneſs; you may have her at any time, even in her Months, or new Moons, a ſeaſon wherein ſuch Acts are abhorrent even to Nature it ſelf. Some underſtand this of the Idolatry they committed every new Moon: but it more properly points at the Month of her Breeding, or growing big and weighty; Month put collectively for Months, ſuch as Job ſpeaks of, Job 39. 1, 2. Or, in her laſt Month, becauſe they grow then unweildy. That this Creature ſleeps one Month in the Year, and that is the Month ſhe may be taken, is generally deemed but a Fancy. The Sence of the Verſe is, That though Jeruſalem be now madly bent upon going after her Idols, and other unclean Courſes, that there is no ſtopping or controuling of her, as in the next Verſe, and Verſe 31. Chap. 22. 21. yet the time may come, in their Afflictions, that they may grow more tame, and willing to receive Counſel, as Verſe 27. and Hoſ. 5. 15.

25 Withhold thy foot from being unſhod i, and thy throat from thirſt: but thou ſaidſt, ‖ There is no hope k. No, for I have loved ſtrangers l, and after them will I go m.

May we not hold on ſtill, and proſper? Muſt we deſiſt from our Ways? No, we will not, but we will go after other Gods, and they ſhall defend us, Iſa. 57. 10. and Chap. 18. 12. or, the Deſperateneſs of their Reſolution upon it, q. d. We care not ſince there is no Remedy; you loſe your labour to go about to reclaim us; which agrees with the next Clauſe. l Viz. Idols, or ſtrange Gods. m Come what will of it.

Have I been like the Wilderneſs of Arabia, have not I accommodated you with all Neceſſaries at all times, Deut. 32. 13, 14. Ezek. 34. 13, 14, 15. nay in the Wilderneſs it ſelf I was not a Wilderneſs unto you; an Account whereof, Nehemiah gives, Neh. 9. 15. to 23. And you have the Story of it Pſal. 78. m Divers Interpreters derive this Word from a different Root, and accordingly, render the Sence variouſly. Some from a Root that ſignifies to fade or fall, as a Land where Fruits fall off before they be ripe, bringing nothing to Perfection; and ſo Tremelius and Junius tranſlate it. Iſa. 28. 1, 4. q. d. Have you found me to fail your Expectations in any thing that I have promiſed you, Joſh. 21. 45. and 23. 14. Others derive it from a Word that ſignifies Late, as a Land that brings forth its Fruit late in the Year, which either ripeneth not, or ripeneth unkindly, q. d. Have you found me backward in any thing to do you good? Have I not fed you to the full? Others from Darkneſs, properly thick Darkneſs, Exod. 10. 22. Joel 2. 2. And it is the more ſignificant, becauſe Jah, the Name of God, is added to it, q. d. the Darkneſs of God, as a Sleep of God, for a deep Sleep, 1 Sam. 26. 12. Flame of God for a vehement Flame, Cant. 8. 6. as if it were a Land uninhabitable, becauſe of the total want of Light, q. d. Have I been a God of no Uſe or Comfort to them, that they thus leave me? Have they had nothing from me but Miſery and Affliction? As this notion of Darkneſs may import, Iſa. 8. 22. Lam. 3. 2. Hence the LXX expreſs it by a Land bringing forth thorns. Or this Expreſſion, a Land of Darkneſs, may be put by Appoſition to the former. n i. e. In their Heart. o Words of Pride and Boaſting: God had endeavoured to make them ſenſible, that all their Happineſs they owed to him, and now q. d. you rule as Lords without us, ſee 1 Cor. 4. 8. Or, like Strumpets, whoſe Love is never fixed, but ſometimes ſet on one, ſometimes on another. h Thou haſt run to Aſſyria, and then to Egypt, and they ſhall both make thee aſhamed by their diſappointing of thee: thou ſhalt be aſhamed of Egypt, as others have been, Iſa. 36. 6. Or rather, Egypt ſhall ſtand thee in no more ſtead than Aſſyria hath done, Iſa. 30. 3, 5. And how Tilgath Pelneſer ſerved them, ſee 2 Chron. 28. 20. Before Hezekiah's time the Jews made a League with the Aſſyrians, againſt the Syrians, and the Iſraelites, and then againſt the Egyptians : neither proſpered. He tells them, they muſt expect no better Succeſs from Egypt.

37 Yea, thou ſhalt go forth from him i, and thine hands upon thine head k: for the LORD hath rejected thy confidences l, and thou ſhalt not proſper in them m.

i Some apply it to the ſad and ineffectual Return of the Ambaſſadours, being diſappointed in their Expectation from the King of Egypt; but rather, all the help thou canſt procure from abroad ſhall not prevent thy Captivity, but from hence thou ſhalt go. k An uſual poſture of Sadneſs and Mourning, 2 Sam. 13. 19. ſuited here to her going into Captivity. l Refuſed to give Succeſs unto them, 2 Chron. 16. 7. CHAP. III.

God's Forbearance with the Idolatry of Judah, who is worſe than Iſrael, 1, — 11. Both called to Repent, with Goſpel-Promiſes, 12, — 19. Miſery by Sin; Salvation only of God, 20, — 25.

† Heb. ſaying. 1 † THey ſay n, If a man put away his o wife, and ſhe go from him, and becomes another man's, ſhall he return unto her again p? Shall not that land be greatly polluted q? But thou haſt play'd the harlot with many r lovers; yet return again to me, ſaith the LORD.

n Or, Men uſe to ſay. If this, with the four following Verſes, belong to the former Chapter, then it ſeems to expreſs God's Condeſcenſion to them, q. d. though, if a Woman forſake her Husband, and be married to another Man, the Law will not permit him to receive her again; yet God would receive thee again upon thy returning to him : but thou chuſeſt rather obſtinately to adhere to thy other Confidences, wherein thou ſhalt not proſper. But, if we look upon them as beginning a new Argument, then here God declares his Readineſs to receive them again upon their Repentance, though it be very unuſual for Husbands ſo to do, when their Wives have proved treacherous unto them, in betaking themſelves to other Husbands: And ſo this Chapter may very well begin with ſuch a proverbial Speech, they ſay, or men uſe to ſay, or it is commonly ſaid. o Or give her a Bill of Divorce, Deut. 24. 1. p q. d. He cannot take her again according to the Law, Deut. 24. 1, 2, 3, 4. Or rather, will a Man do ſuch a thing? If the Law were not againſt it, would any Man be ſo eaſily wrought upon, as to take her again? No certainly, it is an Argument from the leſs to the greater, to ſet forth God's great Lenity towards them, q. d. if an Husband ſhould turn away his Wife meerly becauſe he pleaſed her not, tho ſhe gave him no juſt cauſe, and ſhe ſhould beſtow her ſelf on another, he would not be reconciled to her, neither might he take her again; but you have gone a Whoring from me, and ſufficiently provoked me to reject and turn you off. I will diſpenſe with my own Law for your ſakes, and will act by my Prerogative : I am ready to be reconciled, to follow them that fly from me, as in the cloſe of the Verſe; and Zec. 1. 3. and Mal. 3. 7. God will pardon Sins of Apoſtacy, and falls after Repentance. q Heb. In being profane be profaned. Would not ſo great a Sin greatly pollute a State or Nation, Lev. 18. 27, 28. It muſt needs be polluted by ſuch Marriages to and fro, and promiſcuous Couplings, Deut. 24. 4. r Not with one only, as being ſufficient to make thee an Adultreſs, but a common Strumpet, joining in Fellowſhip with divers Aſſociates and Companions, or many Idols.

* Gen. 38. 14. 2 Lift up thine eyes ſ unto the high places t, and ſee where thou haſt not been lien u with : * In the ways x haſt thou ſat for them, as the Arabian y in the wilderneſs: and thou haſt polluted the land with thy whoredoms, and with thy wickedneſs z.

ſ Do but look, and conſider, whether I do charge thee wrongfully or no. t He directs her to the Places of her Whoredoms and Idolatries, called High Places, being principally upon Hills, 2 Kings 21. 3. and divers other places, though ſometimes in Vallies, Chap. 2. 23. Which notes alſo her Impudence, that, whereas other Whores affected Privacy, ſhe ſhould be filthy in the open view. u Thy Filthineſs has been every where ſo frequent, that thou canſt ſcarce ſhew a Place that hath been free from thy Pollutions, Verſe 6. 13. where there are not the Footſteps of thy Fornications and Idolatries. x Viz. To allure Paſſengers, (ſee Ezek. 16. 24, 25.) and waiting for them, viz. thy Aſſociates; not being drawn by others Allurements, but thine own Laſciviouſneſs. y An Alluſion to the Manner and Cuſtom of that People, either lying in wait by the way for Paſſengers, as Robbers uſe to do, Hoſ. 6. 9. they being noted for Robbers. Or rather, in way of Traffick, that were wont to pitch their Tents by the way-ſides, that they might meet with their Cuſtomers to trade, as they paſſed along, very properly pointing out the Practice of Harlots. See Prov. 7. 11, 12. z Not only thy Idolatries, but all other thy wicked Courſes.

3 Therefore the * ſhowers have been withholden a, and there hath been no latter rain b: and thou hadſt a * whores forehead c, thou refuſedſt to be aſhamed. * Chap. 9. 12. * Chap. 8. 12. Zeph. 3. 5.

a Viz. By me, according to my threatning, Lev. 26. 19. and Deut. 28. 23, 24. i. e. a drought ſent upon thee, either as a Puniſhment of thy Wickedneſs; thus publick Sins bring publick Judgments : or, as an Aggravation of it; and then it muſt be read though, as it often is, q. d. notwithſtanding the great drought; and this the laſt Words of the Verſe ſeem to favour. b This added to Showers before mention'd, ſeems to imply, there had been no former nor latter Rain, the former for the ſpringing of the Corn, the latter for the plumping and ripening it; this coming a little before Harveſt. c For all this, thou didit ſtill remain impudent and obſtinate, as aſhamed of nothing, Chap. 6. 15. thus proverbially expreſſed, becauſe Shame doth firſt and moſtly appear in the Forehead. Thus Antichriſt's Impudence is expreſſed Rev. 17. 5. And ſome ancient Hereticks were called Effrontes.

4 Wilt thou not from this time d cry unto me, My Father e, thou art the guide of my youth f?

d Viz. That I have withholden Showers. Some refer this, 1. To the Time to come: Wilt thou not yet be wiſe? and for the future ſeek to me, having found all thy other ways ſucceſsleſs, Iſa. 9. 13. Chap. 8. 14. 2. To the Time preſent : How canſt thou challenge me for my preſent Severity, and continuing it towards thee, when thou ſtill retaineſt thy Filthineſs, thy Whores Forehead, Verſe 3. Thou ſtill continueſt worſhipping Idols, and yet fanſieſt thy ſelf faithful to me. 3. To the Time paſt, i. e. Haſt thou not all along pretended Kindneſs to me, and as if thou hadſt walked cloſe with me, 2 Kings 17. 32, 33. Ezek. 23. 39. e Wilt thou not as a Child call upon me, whom thou haſt thus greatly provoked, and own me as a Father, Verſe 19. for ſuch have I been to thee, Pſal. 103. 13. Mal. 1. 6. and 3. 17. f Either on whom I have depended, as being brought up by thee, or the ſubmiſſive Expreſſion of a Wiſe ſeeking to be reconciled to her Husband, that God would be to her as he had been in the days of her Youth: ſuch a Caſe as is expreſſed 1 Cor. 7. 11. Words of Flattery uſual with Hypocrites; or rather, being Married to thee in thy Youth; a Periphraſis for Husband, Prov. 2. 17. which argues great Tenderneſs towards her, Verſe 2. Thus the Tenderneſs of this Relation is expreſſed, Mal. 2. 14. and ſo God is ſaid to eſpouſe them to himſelf, Ezek. 16. 8.

5 * Will he reſerve g his anger for ever? will he keep it to the end h? Behold, thou haſt ſpoken and done i evil things as thou couldeſt. * Iſa. 57. 16.

g Here being a Defect of the Noun, the Jews ſupply it with thy Sin, Iſa. 43. 25. but the moſt and beſt, as we do, his Anger. Compare it with Verſe 12. Pſal. 103. 9. Nahum 1. 2. in which Texts there is a Defect of the ſame Word. This may ſeem to be the Words of the Prophet, and ſo the Connexion is eaſie with the foregoing Words, q. d. If thou wouldſt do ſo, try me now, &c. would he reſerve his Anger? Would he not be reconciled? but thou haſt taken quite another Courſe : Or, they may be the Words of God, as it were, teaching his People how they ſhould accoſt him : God is more forward and earneſt for Reconciliation, than Sinners themſelves. h The ſame with the former for ever. i God's Challenge of the People, charging them, either with their reſolved Wickedneſs, that they had made good all their evil Words by their evil Actions, they had even done as they ſaid; or rather, with their Hypocriſie, q. d. Notwithſtanding all thy former Promiſes, yet thou perſiſteſt ſtill in thy Lewdneſs and Obſtinacy, Iſa. 58. 2. Hoſ. 7. 14.

6 ¶ The LORD ſaid alſo k unto me l, in the days of Joſiah the king m, haſt thou ſeen that which backſliding Iſrael hath done n? ſhe is gone up upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and there hath played the harlot.

k Or again, ſhewing that here begins a new Sermon, in which the Prophet, from God, 1. Declares Iſrael's Apoſtacy, and how it fared with them for it. 2. Aggravates Judah's Sin, for not taking warning. 3. Iſſues forth an Invitation of them both to Repentance, with a Promiſe of Acceptation, and re-uniting them under the Meſſiah. 4. Relates the Compliance of the Faithful among them with this Invitation. l Viz. By Revelation; for he ſpeaks of things that Iſrael had done when they were carried away by the King of Aſſyria, 2 Kings 17. 5. to 13. long before Jeremiah was born; therefore he ſaith, Haſt thou not ſeen, i. e. conſidered wherefore God gave her a Bill of Divorce. m When he would have purged the Land, and reſtored the pure Worſhip of God. n Viz. The ten Tribes who fell off from Judah, and ſet up a diſtinct Kingdom of their own under Jeroboam : What they did, viz. in their Idolatries expreſſed in the next Words, and Chap. 2. 20. ſee there, when they openly Apoſtatized from God, and that with one common Conſent; inſomuch, that all their Kings proved wicked and idolatrous, and poſſibly it may look as far back as Solomon's Defection, 1 Kings 11. 4, 5, &c. which may now come in remembrance.

7 And I ſaid, after ſhe had done all theſe things, turn thou unto me o. But ſhe returned not. And her treacherous ſiſter Judah p ſaw it q.

o Viz. By Repentance, Acts 3. 19. Although ſhe had been ſo vile and abominable, yet the Lord waited in expectation of her Return. p Benjamin is alſo here comprized, but Judah being the chief is only named, theſe two abiding together after the other ten revolted to Jeroboam; called Iſrael's Siſter, becauſe they were all deſcended from the Patriarch Jacob, Ezek. 16. 46. Compare Ezek. 23. 2, 4. and treacherous, or the treacherous one, becauſe of her frequent revolts, 2 Chron. 21. 6, &c. and 24. 17, 18. and many other times, and after as frequent renewed Covenants, and Promiſes both in conjunction with the reſt of the Tribes, Deut. 5. 2, 3, 23, &c. and 29. 10, 11, 12, &c. and afterwards, 2 Chron. 13. 9, 10, &c. and 2 Chron. 15. 12, &c. and 23. 16. and 29. 10. q i. e. They were not ſtrangers to it but knew it, as the word is Pſal. 40. 3. They could not but know how I had dealt with Iſrael.

8 And I ſaw r, when for all the cauſes ſ whereby backſliding Iſrael committed adultery, I had put her away and given her a bill of divorce t, yet her treacherous ſiſter Judah feared not u, but went and played the harlot alſo x.

r q. d. That which others diſcern not, I ſaw well enough, viz. Both her Hypocriſie and Diſſimulation, and her incorrigibleneſs notwithſtanding what had been befallen Iſrael, whoſe correction ſhould have been her inſtruction; thus God ſpeaks of the notice he took of both, Chap. 23. 13, 14. Iſrael is ſaid to be backſliding, but Judah treacherous, becauſe ſhe retained the Worſhip of God, though ſhe did often privately, and cloſely embrace Idols, and ſometimes publickly under Manaſſeh and Ahaz, and other wicked Kings. ſ Or notwithſtanding all the ground and reaſon I had to deal ſo with Iſrael in regard of her Adulteries, as to put her way. t Delivered her up into the hands of the Aſſyrian, where God took from her the title of being his Church, 2 King. 17. 5, 6. &c. which he calls here a Bill of Divorce, not ſuch a one as the Jews were allowed to give upon every ſlight ground (for ſuch an one God denies, that ever he gave them, and challengeth them to produce it, Iſa. 50. 1.) but upon juſt, and great occaſion, viz. her playing the Adultereſs againſt him in her Idolatries. u i. e. Was neither afraid of giving me offence, nor of the like puniſhment. x Although ſhe had ſeen the judgment of God executed upon Iſrael before her eyes, which made it the more ſtupendious, that ſhe would take no warning by her Siſters ſufferings, Prov. 28. 14. yet ſhe went on ſtill, Ezek. 23. 11, 12, &c.

9 And it came to paſs through the || lightneſs of her whoredom y, that ſhe defiled the land z, and committed adultery with ſtones and with ſtocks a.

y Whether of Judah's or of Iſrael's is not agreed upon, but the right applying of it doth depend much upon the right acceptation of the word Lightneſs, which comes from an Hebrew word that ſignifies voice, and ſo it may refer, either to the noiſe or fame of it, that would fly abroad, and thus it is applyed to Iſrael, i. e. Though Iſrael's Whoredoms were never ſo much blazed abroad, yet Judah regarded it not. Or, it may be taken for the heinouſneſs of it, a crying voice, as Gen. 4. 10. and ſo by an hypallage, her Whoredoms of fame or notorious Whoredoms; and is not ill expreſſed here by lightneſs of her Whoredom, noting her impudence in it, as we uſe to term a common Harlot a light Woman; and thus it is applyed to Judah, both the foregoing and following words ſeeming to be an aggravation of Judah's refractarineſs. z Brought the whole Land under the imputation of filthineſs. a i. e. With Idols made of Stone and Wood, a Metonymy of the Matter to note the baſeneſs of the Fact.

10 And yet for all this b, her treacherous ſiſter Judah hath not turned unto me with her whole heart, but † feignedly, ſaith the LORD.

b Though God ſaw what ſhe did, and though ſhe ſaw the ſhameful Idolatry of Iſrael, and what ſhe had ſuffered, yet ſhe was not warned, ſee verſe 8. but fell to Idolatry under Manaſſeh, who undid what Hezekiah had done, 2 Chron. 33. 3. though under fair pretences ſhe diſſembled with God in the days of Joſiah, 2 Chron. 34. 32, 33. as appeared by her ſudden revolt, viz. in leſs than three Months after Joſiah's Death, 2 King. 23. 31, 32.

11 And the LORD ſaid unto me; The backſliding Iſrael hath juſtified c her ſelf more than treacherous Judah.

c Was leſs vile, hath more to ſay for her ſelf; Judah's ſin being greatly aggravated compared with Iſrael, Ezek. 16. 51. and 23. 11. See Luk. 18. 14. For, though Iſrael's ſins were more, and their Idolatry continued, yet in Judah it was more heinous. 1. Becauſe of their unruly headſtrongneſs, that broke the Reins and reſtraint, which their external Worſhip ought to have had upon them. 2. Becauſe of their ſtupid ſecurity in not being warned by the judgments, that they had ſeen befal Iſrael for the very ſame things. 3. Becauſe of their intolerable Pride, boaſting that their ſtate was ſtill unſhaken. 4. Becauſe of their groſs perfidiouſneſs in making Promiſes, and breaking them, which Iſrael did not, becauſe ſhe brought not her ſelf under ſuch ſolemn and frequent obligations, ſee Verſe 7. Laſtly, Becauſe they were a great deal more zealous in their Idolatries than Iſrael was, viz. under Manaſſeh, when they ſlew all the Prophets of the Lord.

12 ¶ Go d, and proclaim theſe words toward the north e, and ſay, Return thou backſliding Iſrael, ſaith the LORD; and I will not cauſe mine anger f to fall g upon you: For I am * merciful h, ſaith the LORD, and I will not keep anger for ever.

d It may poſſibly be uſed here as an Adverb of exciting, namely go to, as is uſual, or it notes ſpeed, go quickly, out of hand, not locally, but ſet thy face, Chap. 2. 2. or feet that way, or by thy office addreſs they ſelf to them, viz. by way of Proclamation, crying aloud; poſſibly implying the diſtance of place: This voice may in time reach them, though a great way off. Or rather the deafneſs of Iſrael, or the obdurateneſs of Judah, that they might hear what God ſaith to Iſrael, conceive hope and be reclaimed by their example, and be excited to emulation. e i. e. To Aſſyria and Media and the Regions thereabouts that lay Northward from Judea, whither the Ten Tribes were carried by Tiglath-Pileſer, and Salmanezer, 2 Kings 15. 29. and 17. 6. f Upon condition of returning to their former true Worſhip of God, that thereby Judah might be awakened, he promiſeth that he will not let his anger, or his face, as in the Hebrew, (becauſe anger principally appears in the face) his angry face or countenance to be upon them, ſo it is uſed, Lev. 17. 10. Pſal. 34. 16. and not be inexorable, viz. for ever, which is to be ſupplyed from the next words: For otherwiſe his anger lay heavy upon them at this time. g A metaphor from things on high that drop down to the hurt of whatever is under them, and ſo Chap. 23. 34. compare Gen. 19. 24. h Here is the ground of this conditional promiſe, taken from the nature of God, that ſinners may not deſpair, Pſal. 86. 15. and 103. 8, 9. &c.

13 Only acknowledge i thine iniquity, that thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt the LORD thy God, and haſt ſcattered thy ways to the ſtrangers k under every green tree, and ye have not obeyed my voice l, ſaith the LORD.

i Which will be the evidence of thy Repentance, without which thou canſt not lay claim to any pardon, Prov. 28. 13. Iſa 55. 7. Exhortations to Repentance ſhould always accompany the exhibition of Promiſes. k Viz. To other Nations, or rather to other Gods, or to Idols, running here and there up and down like a light impudent Harlot, ſometimes to one, ſometimes to another, thus ſucking in divers ſuperſtitions, called ſcattering thy ways. Ver. 6. 2 King. 17. 4, 9, 10. and Chap. 2. 23, 25. Feet whereby we go on in ways; a metaphorical Metonymy. l So that your ſin is not a ſin of ignorance, but of obſtinacy, ſhutting your ears againſt my Counſels, which I ſent you by my Prophets for your reclaiming, 2 King. 17. 13, &c.

m I am in Covenant with you, Deut. 29. 1, 10, 11, 12, &c. and this Covenant notwithſtanding all your unfaithfulneſs, I am ready to renew with you, Hoſ. 2. 19, 20. n This word Family is not always to be taken ſtrictly for an houſhold; for then the expreſſion would ſeem to imply more in a Family than in a City; but frequently for a Country or Nation, compare Gen. 12. 3. with 22. 18. See Chap. 1. 15. or for a Tribe; and this may partly reſpect the fewneſs of thoſe that will be found Penitents and return. God will have a ſprinkling in every City, and in every Family, or Tribe, or Country; but chiefly it reſpects God's exact care of them, that being now married to them, there ſhall not be one in a City, or two in a Country or Tribe, but he will find them out, if there be but one or two, he will not overlook them, this ſeems to be intimated, Iſa. 27. 12. a Text that points at the ſame thing. o i. e. To Jeruſalem a Type of the Church, a double Metonymy of the Subject. It is the manner of the Prophets, when they are treating of temporal Deliverances, eſpecially from Babylon, frequently to break out abruptly into the ſpiritual deliverance by Chriſt, and ſo probably he doth here; and therefore bringing them to Zion muſt be underſtood, either of joyning them to his Church, under the Meſſiah, or bringing them again to Worſhip with Judah at Jeruſalem: as may ſeem to be intimated Chap. 31. 6. but the Ten Tribes did never return into their own Land, and therefore that Text muſt be underſtood of a ſpiritual going up to Zion, viz. when all Iſrael ſhall be ſaved. Rom. 11. 26. See Iſa. 56. 7, 8. and 66. 20. and this Chapter Ver. 18. Thus we may look upon this part of the Prophecy to have reſpect, partly to what God was at that time about to do, in this Verſe, and partly what he would hereafter do, when they ſhould be again ſetled in their own Land, under the Meſſiah, Ver. 16, 17, 18, 19.

z Inſtead of the Ark, whereon was the Mercy-ſeat, now the Church typified by Jeruſalem, Gal. 4. 26. and Rev. 21. 2. ſhall be the place of God's Reſidence, where by his Spirit he will rule and act in his Word and Ordinances, and in ſpecial the Meſſias. See Chap. 14. 21. and Ver. 16. a Intimating both their readineſs to come in, and their number, according to that Prophecy of Jacob, Gen. 49. 10. See Iſa. 2. 2. By Nations here underſtand, either the Ten Tribes who are called many People, both Iſrael and Judah united, their diſtance being taken away, ſee Ver. 18. or rather ſome of all Nations, that ſhall flock into the Goſpel Church; for when the Prophets foretel this ſtate, they generally uſher it in with the return of this People, at which time the Church ſhall be greatly enlarged. b i. e. Dwelling in Jeruſalem, or where the Lord placed his Name, viz. of old in Jeruſalem, Pſal. 122. 2, 3, &c. but now in the Church, Rev. 21. 2, 3. without Ark or Temple, Rev. 21. 22. where he will be known as it were by his proper Name, Iſa. 60. 9. or as manifeſt in the fleſh. c Both Jew and Gentile ſhall now conform themſelves to the Will of God, Iſa 2. 3. The word imagination here comes from a root, that ſignifies to ſee, and thus it is ſometimes applied to the judgment, Pſal. 17. 2. and ſometimes to the affection, Pſal. 66. 18. here it may comprehend both, they will follow neither their own judgment, or affection, but wholly the Word of God. The word is thus phraſed, Numb. 15. 39. and Eccl. 11. 9. ſome read it after the hardneſs, Deuteronomy 29. 19.

18 In thoſe days the houſe of Judah ſhall walk ‖ d with the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhall come together out of the land of the north e, to the land f that I have ‖ given for an inheritance unto your fathers.

d Theſe two Kingdoms ſhall become one, that had been ſo long divided, the enmity that was between them ſhall be taken away, and they ſhall walk hand in hand in a friendly manner one with another, which is implyed in this phraſe of walking together, Pſal. 55. 14. Amos 3. 3. and this points at their incorporating into one body united by the ſame Spirit, as members under the ſame body under Chriſt their Head, and that without diſtinction of Nations. See Iſa. 11. 12, 13. and Ezek. 37. 16, 17. Eph. 2. 14, 15, 16. and 3. 6. e Viz. Of their Captivity, ſee the place Verſe 12. f Viz. Canaan both a promiſe of their enjoying again their ancient poſſeſſion at their laſt converſion, and typifying the Church of Chriſt, which they ſhall be of, when brought out of their ſpiritual Captivity.

19 But I ſaid, How ſhall I g put thee among the children h, and give thee a † pleaſant land i, † a goodly heritage k of the hoſts of nations l? and I ſaid, thou ſhalt call me, my father m, and ſhalt not turn away † from me.

† Heb. an heritage of glory, or beauty.

g Words that ſpeak, either firſt God's putting them to their own thoughts, how they could think he ſhould bring ſuch a perfidious people as they were into the Land, which he had promiſed? Elſe, Secondly his conſidering within himſelf, how or what courſe he ſhould take to bring ſuch a thing about, and accompliſh it, they had ſo greatly degenerated from him, and diſobliged him. See Hoſ. 6. 4. both implying that ſuch a thing could not be brought about without Repentance, and true converſion to him, wrought by his free grace, Eph. 1. 5, 6. h Eſteem thee as my Child, till thou give ſome clearer proof, and demonſtration of thy Repentance. i How ſhall I put thee into poſſeſſion of that pleaſant Land of deſire, that I have promiſed thee, Canaan is ſo called, Pſal. 106. 24. Dan. 8. 9. and 11. 16, 41. k Heb. Heritage of glory, or beauty, ſee Iſa. 4. 2. l So called either becauſe poſſeſſed by ſeveral potent Nations, Num. 13. 28. and Deut. 4. 38. or rather it may note the great hoſts and multitudes of Nations, or Gentiles, that ſhould be joyned to them in the Goſpel Church. viz. Of God's Elect, and ſo an heritage of the greateſt delights, or the deſire of Nations; a People to whom all the Nations would deſire to flock. See Ezek. 20. 6. and may be ſpoken alſo of the heavenly Canaan; the LXX render it, the Heritage of God the Omnipotent Governour of the Nations. m God comes now to a reſolution how he would do it. Either it is a direction, q. d. on this condition, that thou wilt own me, and not return any more to Idols, this ſhall be done; or a promiſe, I will cauſe thee to own me, and give thee perſeverance, that thou ſhalt not depart from me: and this is very applicable to the work of Chriſt, ſee Joh. 1. 12. See alſo 2 Cor. 6. 17, 18. and the condition is indeed no more, than God promiſeth to effect in them.

20 ¶ Surely, as a wife treacherouſly departeth from her † huſband n, * ſo have you dealt treacherouſly with me, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the LORD.

* Chap. 5. 11.

n God hereby telling her what ſhe had formerly been, endeavours to engage her to what ſhe ought to be, namely conſidering her former unfaithfulneſs in time paſt, how ſhe ought to carry it for the future. See 1 Pet. 4. 3.

21 A voice was heard o upon the high places p, weeping and ſupplications q of the children of Iſrael r: for they have perverted their way, and they have forgotten the LORD their God ſ?

o Here the Prophet ſeems to expreſs Iſrael's Repentance, and turning to God; and that, which they were at preſent imagining themſelves in, (the word being participial, and in the preſent Tenſe) delivered in a Prophetical ſtile, as that in Chap. 31. 15. and that not only out of a ſenſe of their judgments, that they were under, but chiefly of their ſins they were guilty of, and the pardon of which they were now begging, which is intimated by weeping, and ſupplication. p Viz. That their cry might be the more publick, both open and loud, Chap. 22. 20. and Matth. 10. 27. poſſibly alluding to the uſual practice, of praying on the tops of houſes in great calamities, Iſa. 15. 3. and 22. 1. Jer. 7. 29. q Or rather weeping ſupplications ſhewing the intenſeneſs of it, praying in weeping, and weeping in prayer, Zech. 12. 10: like Peter's weeping, Matth. 26. 75. r The end of which might be to provoke Judah alſo to Repentance, or otherwiſe to charge upon them their ſtupidity, and threaten them with the like judgments, if they would not return upon Iſrael's example. ſ This expreſſeth, rather the matter of their Prayer, than the cauſe of it, Lam. 5. 16. drawn chiefly from their ſins, as alſo from their calamities.

t Viz. Repent for Sin and from Sin; here God calls upon them, and invites them to conſider whither they are going, and to hearken unto the voice of his Miniſters, Hoſ. 14. 1. Act. 3. 19. See Verſe 12. God doth as it were bid them hearken to his Meſſengers, and then he will heal their backſliding.

u i e. Idolatries, whereby you turned from me, and rebelled againſt me, I will take you into that ſtate, as if you had never turned from me, I will make all whole again among you, and reconcile you to my ſelf, Iſa. 57. 18. Chap. 32. 40. See Zech. 10. 6. and 13. 9. I will not only remove your judgments, but your ſins alſo ſhall be forgiven? This is either God's framing their anſwer for them, preſcribing the manner and form of their Repentance by a figure called Mimeſis, Hoſ. 14. 2, 3. or it is their reply to God by way of promiſe, which they performed under Joſiah, 2 King. 22. and 23. which with their confeſſion, reacheth to the end of the Chapter. x Words expreſſing the ſtrongeſt inducements to it imaginable, becauſe God hath right to them, is willing to accept them, and able to ſave them, Iſa. 55. 7. Chap. 14. 22.

23 Truly in vain is ſalvation hoped for from the hills y, and from the multitude of mountains z: * truly in the LORD our God is the ſalvation of Iſrael a.

y i. e. Either from their Idols which were worſhipped upon Hills, a Metonymy of the Subject, Chap. 2. 20. Idols of the hills, or from any other external power whatſoever, either of perſons, or things, as the ſtrength of Hills, or Forts, High places, and ſtrong places, and aſſiſtance from Kings, Hoſ. 14. 3. z Viz. The abundance of them that they have in their Mountains, or the multitude of Sacrifices, which they offer in the Mountains, or to multiply Sacrifices. Queſt. But doth not the Pſalmiſt hope for Salvation from the Hills, Pſal. 121. 1. Anſwer. Yes the Hills of the Land of Promiſe, which were a pledge of God's favour to his People, eſpecially thoſe two of Zion and Moriah, where God did peculiarly manifeſt his preſence, Pſal. 87. a Or our Salvation which we do now acknowledge is only in our God, and not in Idols, of which we have had ample experience, Pſal. 44. 7. and 130. 7, 8. See Iſa. 43. 10, 11. Hoſ. 13. 4, 9.

24 For ſhame b hath devoured the labour of our fathers c from our youth d; their flocks and their herds, their ſons and their daughters e.

b Either in general put for ſin, which cauſeth ſhame, a Metonymy of the Effect; for that brought ſhame firſt into the World, Gen. 2. 25. Or, in particular the Idol Baal called the ſhameful thing, Jer. 11. 13. Hoſ. 9. 10. c q d. This hath been the fruit of our Idolatry, to have all things go to ruine, both in reſpect of expence, that which our Fathers having got for themſelves, and us by their induſtry, they have expended upon Baal, and other Idols, Ezek. 16. 16. to 21. and alſo of the heavy Judgments that God brought upon us for it, Chap. 5. 17. d Either with reference to the Nation, ever ſince they began firſt to be a People unto God, and followed him in the Wilderneſs, Chap. 2. 2. or rather ever ſince we were born, or took notice of any thing, thus it was from time to time: we find from our Childhood, that our Fathers have laboured in vain, and all things have ſucceeded ill with us, becauſe of their departure from God. e All theſe things are mentioned to ſhew, that they did thrive in nothing, but either a Blaſt upon all from God, Hoſ. 9. 11. to the end, Mal. 2. 2, 3. or Idolatrous Sacrifices conſumed all, Amos 4. 4, 5. the Idols not ſparing even their very Children, Pſal. 106. 37. or the Enemy ſpoiled them of all, Chap. 5. 17. and all this as the ſad Effect of their Idolatries.

25 We lie down f in our ſhame, and our confuſion covereth us g: for we have ſinned againſt the LORD our God, we and our fathers h from our youth even unto this day i, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD our God.

f We are perplexed, and confounded within our ſelves; we are ſuch a Reproach both to God and Man, that we cannot but lift up our hands for ſhame, even we, that had once an Whores Forehead, Verſe 3. but muſt lie down in our ſhame: An Expreſſion to ſet forth the greatneſs of their Repentance and Sorrow; as one in great perplexity, not knowing what to do, throws himſelf down upon his Couch or Bed, 1 Kings 21. 4. g A Metaphor, from Perſons muffled up in the Bed-cloaths, as aſhamed to be ſeen: The like Expreſſion Pſal. 44. 15. h This notes the Univerſality of their Sins, the whole Generation of us, like Fathers, like Children. True Confeſſion wraps up our own and others Sins, Ezra 9. 7. Neh. 9. 33, 34. Pſal. 106. 6, 7. Chap. 14. 20. and keeps us from all Excuſe by others Examples, 2 Kings 17. 41. which groſs Guilt of theirs in this kind, is deſcribed Chap. 44. 17. i As the former ſets forth the Univerſality of their Sins, ſo this the Continuance of them, Deut. 9. 7. 2 Kings 17. 34, 41.

CHAP. IV.

An Invitation to true Repentance, by Promiſes, 1,—4. and Judgments coming on them by the Babylonians, contrary to the Predictions of their falſe Prophets, for their Sins, 5,—18. A grievous Lamentation for the Miſeries of Judah, 19.—31.

1 IF thou wilt return, O Iſrael, ſaith the LORD, * return unto me k, and if thou wilt put away thine abominations l out of my ſight m, then ſhalt thou not remove n. * Joel 2. 12.

k This ſeems to be a Continuation of the former Sermon: So that Iſrael having promiſed Repentance, they are here directed how it muſt be qualified; viz. It muſt not be hypocritical and feigned, but real and hearty, Chap. 24. 7. as Joſiah's was 2 Kin. 23. 25. and it muſt be unto the Lord, not to this Idol and that Idol, hither and thither, ſhifting their way, but unto Me, ſee Chap. 2. 36 or to my Worſhip, and as thou haſt promiſed Chap. 3. 22. And this ſence agrees beſt with the Coherence: Or it may be an emphatical, ſhort, peremptory Expreſſion, If thou wilt return, return; make no longer Demur or Delay about it; like that Iſa. 21. 12. The Hebrew read the Words in the Future Tenſe, If thou wilt return thou ſhalt return; and ſo they may be taken partly as a Promiſe, and that with reference either to their returning into their own Land; and ſo they concern Iſrael; thus Deut. 30. 2, 3, 4, 5. ſee Chap. 3. 14. But if the Word be taken in the Notion of Reſting, not Returning, as ſome do, and as it is taken Iſa. 30. 15. then it rather concerns Judah, q. d. thou ſhalt abide quietly where thou art, and ſhalt not wander into Captivity; and this may agree with the laſt Expreſſion in that Verſe, not remove; or elſe with reference to the Aſſiſtance that God would give them to return unto him; partly, and that rather, as a Direction (for in the Hebrew, though the Word Return be in the Future Tenſe, yet it is often uſed Imperatively.) l Viz. Idols; a Metonymy of the Adjunct, which are ſo abominable in God's ſight, Deut. 27. 15 Ezek. 20. 7, 8. called Dung Gods, Deut. 29. 17. See 2 Chron. 15. 8. m Though God's eye be every where; and hence implieth, that Idols are no where to be admitted, either in private or publick; yet it doth particularly relate to the place of his more immediate Preſence, as their Land and Temple, 1 King. 9. 3. and ſpiritually to our Hearts, Hypocrites thinking it enough, if they conceal their Wickedneſs from Man's eye. n If this be read Imperatively, then it is Remove not, as it may be read; and ſo it agrees with Iſrael, Depart not away from me to thy Idols upon the Mountains and Hills: if read in the Future Tenſe, then it agrees with Judah, Thou ſhalt not go out of thine own Land into Exile. See the firſt Clauſe of the Verſe.

2 And thou ſhalt ſwear o, the LORD liveth in truth, in judgment, and in righteouſneſs p, and the nations ſhall bleſs q themſelves in him, and in him ſhall they * glory r. * 2 Cor. 10. 17.

o This is to be underſtood, partly by way of Command, as Deut. 10. 20. and partly by way of Direction if thou ſwear, or when thou ſweareſt: it is put here Synecdochically, for the whole Worſhip of God, hereby acknowledging and owning God as the only God. p Here he preſcribes, 1. the Form of the Oath, viz. the Lord liveth, or by the Life of God, which was that Form which they did uſe in Swearing, 1 Sam. 14. 39, 45. and many other places; ſo Joſeph ſware by the Life of Pharaoh, Gen. 42. 15, 16. and Eliſha very frequently uſeth this Form, 2 Kings 2. 2, 4, 6. and 3. 14. and 5. 16. which is alſo to be underſtood excluſively, q. d. not by any Idol, as Baal, &c. or any Creature, Chap. 5. 7. Matth. 5. 34, 35, 36. James 5. 12. but by God alone, Iſa. 65. 16. See Hoſ. 2. 17. for by this indeed we declare the Godhead of him whom we Worſhip, Iſa. 19. 18. 2. The Qualification of it, in which indeed are comprized all the Requiſites to a Religious Oath and Worſhip of God, both in our general and particular Calling, with reſpect to God, our Selves, our Neighbours.

1. In Truth, that the Matter and Subſtance of it be really true in it ſelf, Rom. 9. 1. that which agrees with the Intent of the Mind, Pſal. 24. 4. and with the Intent of him that adminiſters it, not doubtful, feigned, or deceitful, as they did, Iſa. 48. 1. and Chap. 5. 2. but as true as the Lord lives. 2. In Judgment, i. e. Either in Matter or Places of Judicature, for the Deciſion of Controverſies deliberately, adviſedly, and reverently, well conſidering both of the Form and Matter of the Oath, Lev. 5. 4. that God's Name be neither taken in vain cuſtomarily, or in Matters trivial, Deut. 5. 11. nor abuſed by Oaths that are raſh and precipitant, ſuch as Saul's was 1 Sam. 14. 39. and as Herod's, Matth. 14. 7. and without Neceſſity. 3. In Righteouſneſs, that none be injured by it, that the Things we engage be, 1. Both Lawful and Poſſible. See 1 Sam. 25. 21, 22. and 28. 10. 1 Kings 19. 2. And, 2. That we look to the Performance, Pſal. 15. 4. Matth. 5. 33. the want of either of which Circumſtances make it a Bond of Iniquity, Eccl. 5. 4, 5. q This ſhall be a means to work upon the Heathen Nations, and prevail with them to come into the ſame way of Worſhip, that now ſcorn both you and me, becauſe I am forced to make them the Rod of my Anger againſt you, in regard of your Provocations, Pſal. 47. 8, 9. Chap. 3. 17. They ſhall think themſelves happy to be incorporated with thee, that it may be with them according to that Promiſe Gen. 12. 3. and 22. 17, 18. They ſhall, as it were, bleſs themſelves in ſuch like form, the Lord make me and mine as Iſrael; bleſſed be Iſrael, and the God of Iſrael. Or rather, r Whereas before they gloried in their Idols, now, being taken into the true Church, among God's Iſrael, they ſhall glory in God alone, Pſal. 106. 5. who indeed alone is the Glory of his People, Pſal. 89. 17. and 148. 14.

3 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD to the men ſ of Judah and Jeruſalem t, break up u your fallow ground, and * ſow not among thorns x. * Matth. 13. 7, 22.

ſ Heb. Man, i. e. to each Man; I ſpeak to every individual among you, Ezek. 20. 7, 8. t The Lord having ſpoke what he had to ſay at preſent to Iſrael, turns now his Speech from Iſrael to Judah, and ſo continues it; which conſiſts of ſeveral Subjects, and firſt begins with Repentance. u i. e. Prepare your Hearts by making them ſoft, tender, and pliable, fit to embrace my Word; a Metaphor, taken from Plow-men, that do either prepare the Ground that hath lain ſome time waſte and untilled, by tearing up the Surface of the Earth, making it mellow, and ſoft, to receive the Seed; (for the Hebrew Word Nir ſeems to be of larger Extent than bare Preparation: God uſeth the ſame Word when he ſpeaks to the ſame Purpoſe to Iſrael, Hoſ. 10. 13. and ſo it is uſed Prov. 13. 23.) or it may relate to both, that every thing that may be injurious to the Seed may be ſtubbed up. Or rather, from ſuch as plow the Ground. x Rid your Hearts and Hands of what may hinder you of embracing my Word; grub up all thoſe Briers, and Thorns, and miſchievous Weeds, that will not ſuffer my Counſels to take, or my Graces to thrive with you; ſuch as uſe to over-run the Sluggards Field, Prov. 24. 30, 31. Here the Lord begins to call upon them to Repent: The Phraſe ſeems to intimate, that the Jews had been wont to mix the Truths of God among their own Inventions, as Seed among Thorns, and ſo corrupted it: as alſo, that they retained many ſecret and hidden Sins, like Hypocrites, which he exhorts them to eradicate.

4 * Circumciſe y your ſelves to the LORD z, and take away the fore-skins of your heart a; ye men of Judah, and Inhabitants of Jeruſalem: leſt my fury come forth like fire, and burn that none can quench it b, becauſe of the evil of your doings. * Deut. 30. 6.

y Put away your natural Corruptions; which was ſignified by the Sacrament of Circumciſion, Col. 2. 11. See 1 Pet. 3. 21. the ſame thing with the other, but expreſſed in other Words. z Or to me, viz. ſo as I will approve. a Let it be inward, not outward, viz. in the Fleſh only, (in which you ſo much glory in the ſight of Men) but take away that Brawnineſs and Obſtinacy that (having to do with God, who hath reſpect unto the heart) is upon your hearts, Deut. 10. 16. Ezek. 44. 9. Acts 7. 51. Rom. 2. 29. b Not only fierce and conſuming, like Fire, Deut. 4. 24. but unquenchable, eſpecially when it gets among your Thorns, Verſe 3. which are very apt to kindle, Iſa. 10. 17. leſt you proceed ſo far in your Obſtinacy, that I will not be appeaſed. Chap. 21. 12. Amos 5. 6. there being nothing that ſtirs up God to Anger but Sin, as in the next Clauſe, which is an Explication of thoſe Metaphors of Thorns and Foreskins.

5 Declare ye in Judah, and publiſh in Jeruſalem, and ſay, Blow ye the trumpet c in the land: cry d, gather together e, and ſay, * aſſemble your ſelves, and let us go into the defenced cities f. * Chap. 8. 14.

c The Lord being now about to bring Enemies upon them, he beſpeaks them in martial Language, by ſtirring them to a ſpeedy Proviſion, and warning of them of the nature of their approaching Judgment; not Famine or Plague within them, but a foreign Enemy from without, Chap. 6. 1. viz. the coming of Nebuchadnezzar and the Chaldeans. d That your Voice may be heard afar off, that all may hear. e Either to unite your Forces, or to take Counſel what to do, that you may be in ſafety: the ſame thing with Aſſemble your ſelves; implying, that the Calamity was general. f To ſecure from theſe Invaſions, that are coming upon us.

6 Set up the ſtandard g toward Zion ‖, retire h, ſtay not; for * I will bring evil from the north i, and a great † deſtruction. ‖ Or, ſtrengthen * Chap. 1. 13, 14, 15. and 6. 22. † Heb. breaking.

g i. e. Either for them to reſort to, as is uſual in War, and it is therefore ſaid to be towards Zion or Jeruſalem, as being a Signal to ſhew them whither they ſhould repair: ſee Chap. 50. 5. Jeruſalem being their principal Place of Strength, and Zion the ſtrongeſt part of it, 2 Sam. 5. 6, 7. h Or ſtrengthen, fortifie or ſtrengthen your ſelves for the Fight. Or rather, make haſte away as Men uſe to do in a great Fright, viz. for your Security; ſuch a uſe there is of the Word, Iſa. 10. 31. and Chap. 6. 1. which Sence is confirmed by the next Words Stay not, or as ſome, Stay not your ſelves in Sin, where you promiſe your ſelves Security. i i. e. I am about to bring a great Deſtruction upon you from Chaldea, Chap. 1. 13, 14, 15. ſome take this and the former Verſe to be ſpoken Ironically.

k i. e. Nebuchadnezzar called here a Lion from his fierceneſs, and ſtrength, Prov. 30. 30. A Metaphor; eſpecially in this expedition, (ſee Iſa. 5. 27, 28, 29.) ſhall come up from Babylon where his chief ſeat is, Dan. 4. 30. as Lions are principally among the thickets of the Foreſt, in Coverts; this place being ſo remote, and hid from them that they leaſt expected trouble to ariſe from thence l Another deſcription of the ſame perſon, of whoſe deſtroying Armies the Nations have had woful experience, Iſa. 14. 16, 17. called the hammer of the whole Earth, Chap. 50. 23. q. d. and how ſhall you think to eſcape him? m i. e. As it is expreſſed in the next clauſe, he is gone forth from his place, he is already upon his march. n i. e. With a reſolution ſo to do. o i. e. As places uninhabited, ſoon lie waſt, and are overgrown with graſs, as the notation of the word ſeems to import.

8 For this gird you with ſackcloth p, lament and howl q: for the fierce anger of the LORD is not turned back from us r.

p The uſual habit of mourners, eſpecially in thoſe days, Iſa. 22. 12. Chap. 6. 26. it is a calling upon them to repent. q Probably theſe expreſſions do import the ſeveral ways that Men have to ſet forth their bitter complaints and ſorrows of the mind, both by the geſtures of the body, Chap. 2. 37. Luk. 18. 13. and expreſſions of the Tongue, Pſal. 32. 3. Iſa. 59. 11. r Neither will it, until it have accompliſhed its ends, Chap. 30. 24.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs at that day ſaith the LORD, that the heart of the king ſhall periſh ſ, and the heart of the princes; and the prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed t, and the prophets u ſhall wonder x.

ſ The King, viz. of Judah, and the great Men, that ſhould have encouraged the People in ſuch a calamitous day, and been their great ſupport, ſhall not only be afraid, but their own hearts ſhall melt within them, they ſhall be even at their wits end. See Joſh. 5. 1. They ſhall have no heart at all to do any thing, they ſhall not be able to help their People, either by their Counſel, or Arms; their Courage will utterly fail, and their Counſel periſh. See Pſal. 73. 26. This was fulfilled in Zedekiah. Jeremiah 39. and 52. whoſe flight would not advantage him. t Shall be in ſuch a conſternation, that they ſhall not know what courſe to take. u Viz. Falſe Prophets, that had nothing but viſions of peace for them, Ezek. 13. 16. Zech. 13. 3, 4. Chap. 8. 11. See next Verſe. x Not ſo much at the diſappointment of their Prophecies, for they knew well enough they were falſe, Chap. 23. 26, 27. as that they ſhould be poſſeſſed with the ſame horror, and frights with the reſt, not knowing where to ſhew, or rather to hide their heads for the ſhame that would fall upon them, when their Lyes ſhould be diſcovered, they would be put to ſhame, and periſh with the reſt, and whither ſhall they cauſe their ſhame to go.

10 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord GOD, y ſurely thou haſt greatly deceived z this people, and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall have peace a; whereas the ſword reacheth unto the ſoul b.

y The Heb. aha, is a word both of admiration and lamentation together; they are Jeremiah's words, and complaint breathed out in the great ſorrow and ſighing of Soul, which he expreſſeth more emphatically, Chap. 23. 9. z Either hath ſuffered them to be thus deluded by theſe falſe Prophets, Iſa. 63. 17. Ezek. 14. 9. compare 1 Kings 22. 21, 22, 23. and 2 Theſ. 2. 11. or poſſibly, it may be read better by way of interrogation, q. d. How can it poſſibly be, that thou ſhouldſt ſuffer thy people to be thus deluded by their falſe Prophets, Num 23. 19. thou being a God, that canſt not lye, Titus 1. 2. a Under the word Peace is comprized, and intended all good, intimating all things ſhould go on proſperouſly with them, Gen. 37. 14. and ſeems the rather to be thus expreſſed, becauſe it was the common Language and Phraſe of the falſe Prophets, Chap. 8. 11. and 23. 17. b To perſwade them it ſhould be well with them, when the ſword is at the door, not only ready to take away the comforts of Life, but even Life it ſelf, Soul being put for Life, Verſe 30. Pſal. 69. 1. Mat. 16. 25, 26. It may intimate alſo a great cutting off, and ſlaughter among them, eſpecially their great ones, they being, as it were, the Soul of the People.

11 At that time c ſhall it be ſaid to this people, and to Jeruſalem d, A dry wind e of the high places in the wilderneſs f toward g the daughter of my people, not to fan, nor to cleanſe h.

c There ſhall be tydings brought both to the Country and City, Verſe 5. d Viz. When Nebuchadnezzar is upon this expedition, Verſe 7. e The meaning is a drying wind, ſuch as ſhall blaſt, and ſcorch where it comes, without any Rain or moiſture, or any other way for uſe or refreſhment, as the laſt word in the Verſe intimates, and it may alſo allude unto the Coaſt, from whence this wind comes, viz. from Babylon, or the North which drives away Rain, Prov. 25. 23. for it points at the ſtormy and furious irruption of the Babylonian Army, deſtroying all before them, a Metaphorical Allegory, Chap. 23. 19. and 30. 23, 24. f Or in the Plain, where there is no ſtop or obſtacle in the way to hinder the wind, or to break its fury, Iſa. 21. 1. Chap. 13. 24. 12 Even || a full wind i from thoſe places ſhall come unto me k: now alſo will † I give ſentence l againſt them. || Or, a fuller wind than thoſe. † Heb. utter judgments.

i Heb. Fuller than they. A wind too ſtrong for them. This is a farther deſcription of the former wind, it ſhall be full, even a fuller wind, that ſhall do its work throughly. k Theſe are either God's words, q. d. It ſhall preſently come to me, to receive my Commiſſion, and be at my Beck, and do my Will, Pſal. 148. 8. Or, they relate, as it were, what will be the Language of the People at that time unto me, for againſt me. l q. d. The coming of this terrible wind, ſhall in effect ſpeak the execution of my judgment upon them, which is pointed at by this word now, viz. at the time of the coming of this terrible ſtorm from Chaldæa, Heb. utter judgment, viz. not by word, but by deed, my judgments ſhall ſpeak, as well as my Prophets.

13 Behold, he ſhall come up as clouds m, and * his chariots ſhall be as a whirlwind n: * his horſes are ſwifter then eagles: Wo unto us, for we are ſpoiled o. * Iſa. 5. 28. * Hab. 1. 8.

m Either noting the vaſt number of them, Iſa. 60. 8. Heb. 12. 1. or the ſuddenneſs of them, when not expected, Clouds often riſing on a ſudden, and overſpread the whole face of the Heavens, or rather, the great ſpeed and ſwiftneſs, with which Nebuchadnezzar ſhall march againſt them, Iſa. 19. 1. Hyperbolically deſcribed by the ſwiftneſs of Eagles in this Verſe, Chap. 48. 8. n Which, beſide the ſwiftneſs, notes alſo the confuſion and amazement, that they will cauſe, Iſa. 66. 15. o The dreadful apprehenſions, that the People have of their woful condition, or poſſibly the words of the Prophet lamenting their miſery.

14 O Jeruſalem, waſh thine heart p from wickedneſs q, that thou mayeſt be ſaved r: how long ſhall thy vain thoughts ſ lodge within thee?

p Cleanſe your inward parts, O ye Men of Jeruſalem, not your hands only, as Hypocrites do, but your hearts, James 4. 8. The ſame exhortation with Verſe 3, 4. only in another Metaphor of waſhing, which ſeems to be taken from ſuch Potions, that Phyſicians give to clear the inward parts from noxious humours. See Iſa. 1. 16, 17. q Viz. From all filthineſs of Fleſh and Spirit, 2 Cor. 7. 1. James 1. 21. r This hath reference in this place to Temporal Salvation; it is preſcribed as a means to prevent the judgments that are impending on them, as is plainly expreſſed, Verſe 4. yet not excluſive of Spiritual Salvation, 2 Theſ. 2. 13. Tit. 3. 5. ſ Wicked thoughts, or rather hopes, or expectation from any helps, Chap. 2. 5, 37. pleaſing thy ſelf with vain fancies of ſafety and ſecurity, which thoughts of thine will aſſuredly bring ruine and miſery upon thee, which is inevitably coming, as in the next Verſe.

t i. e. Either the voice of the Prophets, that is ſtill ſounding it in your ears, and declaring it unto you, or rather the rumour and noiſe of this Army is already come through your Land, you have the heavy tydings of this great affliction, Chap. 8. 16. to note the near approach of it. u This is ſaid to come from Dan and Ephraim, becauſe Dan was the firſt place theſe Chaldæans muſt come to, it being the utmoſt boundary of Canaan Northward, and Ephraim the innermoſt border of Iſrael in the North of Judea, intimating the march of the Babylonians through all Iſrael toward Jeruſalem.

16 Make ye mention to the nations x, behold, publiſh y againſt Jeruſalem, that watchers z come a from a far country b, and give out their voice c againſt the cities of Judah.

x Theſe are either the Nations in Judea, or theſe words are a Proclamation, ſummoning in the Nations by the Chaldæans, as it were in purſuance of a Commiſſion from God, to bring great Armies together againſt Jeruſalem, or they are the Prophets turning away from Judah, as deſpairing of doing any good upon them, and calling for the Nations to execute God's Sentence. y Let her be acquainted with what is coming upon her, let her have publick notice before hand, that ſhe may be warned. z Military watchers, i. e. the Chaldæan Soldiers, that ſhall ſo carefully and watchfully encompaſs Jeruſalem, that none ſhall eſcape; poſſibly a Metaphor from Hunters, that in hunting their Prey, lay wait at every paſſage, that the game may not eſcape. See 2 King. 25. 4, 5. Or poſſibly, there may be an alluſion to Nebuchadnezzar's Name, the Heb. word for Watchers being Notſerim, which comes from Natſer, the end of his Name, as if they were termed Nebuchadnezzarians, as the Keepers, or Guards of his Perſon; as they were called Cæſareans from Cæſar. a They are now at hand, you may as it were ſee them. b From Chaldæa. c They will proclaim War againſt them; or a ſhout, either encouraging Soldiers to the Battle, or triumphing after the Victory; or the Outcries that they will make, ſuch as the Turks now make in their Onſets, Chap. 2. 15.

17 As keepers of a field are they againſt her round about d; becauſe ſhe hath been rebellious e againſt me, ſaith the LORD.

d They will ſtrictly beſiege her, as Keepers of a Field will be careful who go in, and who go out, Zech. 12. 2. they will watch that none go in to relieve them, and alſo, that none get out to eſcape: See 2 Chron. 16. 1. e God doth not threaten his Judgments only, but he labours to convince them, that there is a ſufficient reaſon for it, both here, and in the next Verſe.

* Pſal. 107. 17.

18 * Thy way f and thy doings have procured theſe things unto thee g, this is thy wickedneſs, becauſe it is bitter h, becauſe it reacheth unto thine heart.

f Thy manner of Life, and particularly thy Idolatries. g q. d. Thou canſt not lay any blame upon me. h Thy wickedneſs hath been the cauſe of this thy grievous affliction, Iſa. 50. 1. Chap. 2. 17, 19. of this thy bitterneſs of bringing ſuch a bitter Enemy againſt thee, a Metonymy of the efficient, which hath reached unto thy very Heart, as the ſword is ſaid to reach unto the Soul, Verſe 10.

* Iſa. 15. 5. and 16. 11. and 21. 3. and 22. 4. † Heb. the walls of my heart.

19 ¶ * My bowels, my bowels i, I am pained at † my very heart k, my heart maketh a noiſe l in me, I cannot hold my peace m, becauſe thou haſt heard, O my ſoul, the ſound of the trumpet n, the alarm of war.

i Here begins the woful Complaint of, and the great Trouble the Prophet was in, upon the conſideration of theſe things, crying out as one even under great pain and torment, doubling his words for want of vent, thereby expreſſing the exceſs of his ſorrow, which in words was inexpreſſible, the like 2 Sam. 18. 33. which ſorrow of his he expreſſeth, Chap. 9. 1, 10. k Heb. The walls of my heart, or my heart ſtrings, that ſurrounded and encompaſſed my Heart, are ready to break; he may poſſibly allude to their encompaſſing the Walls of Jeruſalem: Or, the proper meaning is, my Heart is ready to break, the LXX rendereth it doth beat or pant. l Is diſturbed within me, I can have no reſt nor quiet within, Job 30. 27. Lam. 1. 20. m I cannot forbear my Complaints, I am ſo troubled and grieved, Job 7. 11. Iſa. 22. 4. n i. e. I have heard in the ſpirit of Prophecy; it is as certain, as if I now heard the Trumpet ſounding, and the alarm of War beating up.

* Pſal. 42. 7.

20 * Deſtruction upon deſtruction o is cryed, for the whole land is ſpoiled p: ſuddenly are my tents q ſpoiled, and my curtains in a moment.

o A farther expreſſion of his bitter Lamentation, redoubling his complaint; the end of one, but the beginning of another, q. d. worſe and worſe, Deut. 32. 23. Ezek. 7. 26. Good Joſiah ſlain, and four of his Succeſſors carried away, or ſlain, or both, 2 Chron. 36. p This is more particularly deſcribed, Verſe 23, 24, 25, 26. q The Enemy makes no more of overthrowing my ſtately Cities, and magnificent Palaces, ſometimes deſcribed by Tents, Iſa. 54. 2. than if he were plundering of a Camp, or overturning of Tents made of Curtains, Chap. 49. 29. either alluding to their ancient way of living, Numb. 24. 2, 5. or their Wilderneſs condition, when they abode in Tents: q. d. We are reduced to as mean a condition as then, and that ſuddenly, ere we are aware, and it is done with as much eaſe as overturning a poor Shepherds Cottage, Lam. 2. 5, 6. Jeremiah poſſibly perſonating a Shepherd, ſpeaks in the Shepherds ſtile, and may here ſignifie the deſtruction of their whole Country, even all thoſe Places and Fields, where Shepherds were wont to pitch their Tents.

21 How long r ſhall I ſee the ſtandard, and hear the ſound of the trumpet?

r He ſeems to have theſe Concomitants of War, both of Judea, preparing for defence, and eſpecially theſe of the Enemy preparing for ruine and deſtruction, always in his Eye and Ear, Verſe 19. and bewailing the countenance of it in taking City after City, with the ſeveral ſackings of Jeruſalem under her three laſt Kings. The LXX read, how long ſhall I ſee them flying? reading nas a Refuge, for nes a Banner, differing only in the Points.

ſ Though God ſhew them here, that the cauſe of all theſe Calamities is their folly, Chap. 2. 17, 19. Pſal. 38. 3, 5. yet he owns them for his People, Chap. 2. 11, 31, 32. t Which is indeed the only true wiſdom; they have not ſtudied my diſpoſition, or mildneſs toward them; they are ſo ſottiſh, that they have neither regarded my Counſels nor Threats, but utterly ſtupid; they know not what is for their own good, have no underſtanding. u i.e. Their knowledge is as bad, or worſe than none, it is very ill employed in doing evil, only witty here, crafty and ſubtile. See 2 Sam. 13. 3. But how to do any good they know not, Chap. 9. 3. Luke 16. 8. this the Apoſtle dehorts from 1 Cor. 14. 20.

23 * I beheld x the earth, and lo, it was without form and void y: and the heavens, and they had no light z.

x Either I Jeremiah ſaw all this in a viſion, or I fanſied and framed ſuch an Idea of it in my mind, it ſeems to be impreſſed upon my thoughts Graphically, as in a Map, in ſuch a rueful manner; for in this, and the three following Verſes, he doth as one tranſported with ſorrow, elegantly, and hyperbolically deſcribe the Phænomenon, face or appearance of it. y The Land was ſo ſquallid, and ſo ruined, that he fanſieth it to be like the firſt Chaos, for which reaſon poſſibly he calls Judea the Earth, in alluſion to Gen. 1. 2. and herein implying that Judah's ſins were ſuch, that they had even overturned the Courſe of Nature, being laid waſte and deſolate, not of Inhabitants only, but of all things that might tend either to ornament or uſe, without Men, without Houſes, without Fruits, without Beaſts or Birds for Food or Service, Verſe 25, 26. z Some ſay being obnubilated, and darkened by the abundance of ſmoke that would aſcend from the deſolating Fires of Towns and Cities, Iſa. 9. 18, 19. of which you may read in the Hiſtory of this breaking in of the Chaldees. But he ſeems to proceed rather in his Metaphor of the Chaos, it being an expreſſion, whereby the Scripture doth ſet forth the ſaddeſt Deſolations, Iſa. 13. 9. &c. Ezek. 32. 7. &c. Joel 2. 10. 30, 31. every thing above and below ſeemed to be in a mournful poſture, wrapt up in diſmal blackneſs.

24 I beheld the mountains, and lo, they trembled a, and all the hills moved lightly b.

a He proceeds in his figurative Elegancies, q. d. Behold how the Mountains of Judea tremble! A like expreſſion, Pſal. 18. 7, 8. Iſa. 5. 25. as if the very ſenſeleſs Creatures were aſtoniſhed at the greatneſs of God's Anger, and he mentions theſe as being the moſt ſtable part of the Earth, yet ſhake before him. b As eaſily as if they were ſome very light matter, or as duſt, or feathers in a Whirlwind. See Pſal. 114. 4, 6. Or theſe may be ſaid hyperbolically to tremble, and move by reaſon of the multitudes of trampling and prancing Horſes and Chariots furiouſly paſſing over them.

25 I beheld, and lo, there was no man c, and all the birds of the heavens were fled d.

c Quite depopulated and laid waſte, all either ſlain, or carried captive, or fled: For after the flight of Men, Women and Children into Egypt, upon the Death of Gedaliah, ſcarce a Jew was left in Judea. d Such Birds as are uſed to inhabited places, that live, feed and build among Men; (others indeed, both Birds and Beaſts would continue, which implies but the greater deſolation, and waſt of the Land, as is threatned againſt Babylon; Iſa. 13. 19, 20, 21, 22.) Fled, either to ſeek Proviſions, here being no food left for them, or frighted with the hideous noiſes and clatterings that do attend Armies; as we have read, that ſuch hath been the concuſſion of the Air by the loud clamours and noiſes of Armies, that Birds have fallen down to the earth, Chap. 9. 10. Zeph. 1. 2, 3.

26 I beheld, and lo, the fruitful place e was a wilderneſs, and all the cities thereof were broken down f at the preſence of the LORD, and by his fierce anger g.

e Heb. Carmel, either properly for that part of the Land ſo called for its fruitfulneſs, or rather Appellatively for, not only their moſt pleaſant, but moſt fruitful Lands, that were kept dreſſed and occupied for food, both for neceſſity and delight, Verſe 27. Iſa. 29. 17. and 33. 9. f No place left for Men to inhabit, Iſa. 1. 7. g That which the Enemy could not have done with all his fury and fierceneſs, had it not been for the Anger of the Lord, which by their great provocation, they had brought upon themſelves, 2 Kings 24. 3. Jer. 9. 12, 13.

27 For thus hath the LORD ſaid, the whole land ſhall be deſolate; * yet will I not make a full end h.

* Chap. 5. 10. 18. & 46. 28.

h Some expound it, neither ſhall this puniſhment ſuffice, nor my fury ſtop here, I will not thus have done with them; and ſo look to what they were further to endure in their long captivity. See Lev. 26. 36, 39. But it ſeems rather to be a word of comfort, that they ſhall not be utterly extinct, he will preſerve a remnant, Chap. 5. 10. Iſa. 1. 9. and 24. 13. q. d. Though I am greatly moved with anger, yet I will not be inexorable, I will remember my Covenant, Chap. 30. 11. in the midſt of judgment he will remember mercy, after 70 years Captivity he brought them back again.

28 For this ſhall the earth mourn, and * the heavens above be black i: becauſe I k have ſpoken it, I have purpoſed it, and will not repent, neither will I turn back from it.

* Iſa. 5. 30. and 50. 3.

i Expreſſions to ſet forth the dreadfulneſs of the judgment, he makes the Elements to perſonate Mourners, a ſad face of things above and below, a Metaphor, and therein to ſhame the ſtupidity of his People. k q. d. You would not believe, either that my Prophet ſpake, or what they ſaid, now I tell you I ſpeak my ſelf, and what I have reſolved upon, I will not revoke. See Ezek. 24. 13, 14. and Chap. 15. 6. for I have purpoſed it, I have not ſpoken in my heat or fury, but upon mature deliberation, an Anthropopathy, or what the Prophets have denounced I will ratifie.

29 The whole city ſhall flee, for the noiſe l of the horſemen and bowmen, they ſhall go into thickets m, and climb up upon the rocks: every city n ſhall be forſaken, and not a man o dwell therein.

l The Inhabitants of all Ranks and Qualities ſhall ſeek to eſcape the fury of this Chaldean Army, Chap. 39. 4. m Either upon the report of their coming, hereby as it were deriding their confidence, or rather at the approach of their vaſt Armies, for they were cloſe beſieged before they fled, as appears 2 Kings 25. 4. n Such a conſternation there ſhall be upon them, that they ſhall run into every hole to hide themſelves; thus Manaſſeh was taken among the thorns, 2 Chron. 33. 11. the Heb. is abim the clouds, poſſibly alluding to dark places on the tops of hills, reaching as it were to the clouds, or among the cloudy ſhades of Trees and Groves that uſually grew there, the LXX render it Caves, and ſo the Rocks for ſhelter, or the clefts, Caves and hiding places in the Rocks. See Iſa. 2. 21. o There ſhall be an utter deſolation, their Cities quite forſaken, not any to inhabit them, Ver. 25, 26.

None godly in Judah, 1. They ſwear falſly, though God be a God of Truth; they are incorrigible and ſenſeleſs, and know not the Law, or elſe wilfully violate it, 1,—6. Their Idolatry, Adultery, 7,—9. Contempt of Gods Word and Prophets, which ſhould be ſadly verified, 10,—18. They forſake, forget, and fear not God, whoſe Power is ſo great, 19,—24. They are rich through Deceit and Violence; their Falſe Prophets, 25,—31.

1 RUn ye a to and fro through the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and ſee now and know, and ſeek in the b broad places thereof, if ye can find a c man, if there be any that executeth d judgment, that ſeeketh the e truth, and I will pardon f it.

a Whether this begins a new Sermon, or be part of the former, is neither certain nor material; but here the Prophet is called upon to go up and down, and ſearch here and there, in every part of the City, and to make a diligent Enquiry in every Street, and Places of Concourſe; a Phraſe frequently uſed for ſearching and enquiring after a thing, Dan. 12. 4. Amos 8. 12. and it is ſpoken in the Plural Number, not reſtrained to Jeremy in particular; q. d. Let who will ſearch, they will find it even ſo: it implies the great Scarcity of good Men, that muſt be thus ſearched for: God gives leave to all the Earth to look into the ſtate of Jeruſalem, by which he vindicates himſelf in the face of the whole World from all ſeverity towards his People, whatever he brings upon them, and ſo ſtops the Mouths of the Jews. b Even there, where uſually is the greateſt Reſort for Merchants and Merchandizes, where Men meet from all Quarters. c It ſeems worſe than Sodom and Gomorrah, for God condeſcends to pardon Jeruſalem, if there be but one righteous Man found in it; there he came no lower than ten. But it will be objected, if it be underſtood thus individually, What muſt we think of Jeremiah himſelf, and Baruch, and Ebedmelech, and other few, who were then, no doubt, in Jeruſalem? Anſwer, Either he ſpeaks of the corrupt Body of the People, Courtiers, Prieſts, Falſe Prophets, not one, or ſcarce one among them to be found, or if any, ſo few as not to be diſcerned: A Man might walk the Streets of Jeruſalem long enough before he could meet with any one truly Religious; which Univerſality of Corruption is thus expreſſed in divers Places, Pſalm 12. 1, 2. and 14. 2, 3. Ezek. 22. 30. Mic. 7. 1, 2. Or it may be underſtood Hyperbolically for a few. d i. e. Among the Magiſtracy that rightly adminiſter Juſtice. e i. e. Among the Commonalty that deal faithfully and uprightly, it ſignifies, That among them all, there are none given to it; ſo far from endeavouring and ſeeking it ſincerely with their whole Heart, that they are not inclined to it, but are given to Oppreſſions, Falſhoods, and Deceits; they do not ſeek the Truth. f Or him, I will not deſtroy it for the ſake of thoſe few: the like he promiſeth with reference to thoſe five Cities, Gen. 18. 24, &c.

g Though when they ſwear, they uſe the form of an Oath, and ſay, the Lord liveth, Chap. 4. 2. or by the living God. By Swearing here we may underſtand all their Service of God, by a Synecdoche; Swearing being a part of God's Worſhip. h Yet, or therefore they ſwear falſly; either they ſwear to that which is falſe; or, if to that which is true, they are ſo perfidious to me, that they do it deceitfully, not in Sincerity, and in Reverence to that Holy Name by which they ſwear: poſſibly they may often ſpeak of God, and not ſwear by Falſe Gods, Verſe 7. but it is all but Hypocriſie and Deceit, Iſa. 48. 1. Chap. 12. 2. and 42. 5, 20. 2 Tim. 3. 5. It is neither in Truth nor Righteouſneſs, two of the principal Qualifications of a lawful Oath: Thus they proſtitute the Name of God, making themſelves guilty, not of Hypocriſie only, but Sacrilege.

3 O LORD, are not thine eyes upon the i truth? thou haſt * ſtricken them, but they have not k grieved; thou haſt l conſumed them, but * they have refuſed to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a m rock, they have refuſed to n return.

i The Prophet, obſerving the Obſtinacy of this People, abruptly turns himſelf to God, yet emphatically inſinuates their Incorrigibleneſs. This may refer either to God's diſcerning and knowing Truth from Falſhood, as being impoſſible that any thing ſhould be hid from him, Pſalm 11. 4. or rather (more agreeable to the Phraſe) to God's approving; and this ſome again refer to Perſons, as, Men of truth for true Men, ſo Man of Wiſdom for a wiſe Man, Micah 6. 9. but others, better, to Truth and Faithfulneſs, as that which God hath a great Reſpect for, and Delight in, Pſalm 51. 6. and was not to be found among theſe People. Though none of theſe Senſes be improper, this ſeems the moſt genuine. k They have been under ſore Grievances that God hath laid them under, yet they ſeem unconcerned, Prov. 23. 35. Iſa. 42. 25. or it is probable they were griev'd at their Sufferings, but they have not repented, thereby to turn away the Cauſes of his juſt Diſpleaſure. See 2 Cor. 7. 9, 10. l God had not only lightly chaſtiſed them, but waſted them by ſeveral Enemies, as the Aſſyrian, Iſa. 10. 5, 6. and 36. 1. and Pharaoh Necho, 2 Kings 23. 33. and the Chaldees, Syrians, Moabites, and the Ammonites, 2 Kings 24. 2. and Nebuchadnezzar, 2 Kings 24. 13, &c. All theſe he made uſe of as the Rod of his Indignation, yet they refuſed to receive Correction. See Chap. 2. 30. a Metonymy of the Effect; they have profited nothing by it, not at all reformed, Iſa. 1. 5, 16. Amos 4. 6, 8, 9, 10, 11. m Noting their Obſtinacy and Impudence, laying aſide all ſenſe of Judgments, as paſt feeling, Prov. 21. 29. Zech. 7. 12. n Wilfully rejected Counſel, and ſlighted Correction, reſolving to perſiſt in their Obſtinacy.

4 Therefore I ſaid o, ſurely theſe are p poor; they are fooliſh: for they know not the way of the LORD, nor the judgment of ∴ their GOD.

o Or perhaps I ſaid with my ſelf, not poſſibly, that he thought ſo, but that he might thus expreſs himſelf, as Men uſe to ſpeak. p Poor, low-ſpirited, or of the meaneſt rank among the Vulgar, underſtand but little, either Men of greater Ignorance, John 7. 49. and therefore ſaid not to know the way of the Lord. See Chap. 8. 7. being better skill'd in Fields and Vineyards, than in the Law; or of leſs Conſcience than the better ſort may be, and therefore ſaid to be fooliſh, or infatuated, or put upon greater Temptation by reaſon of their Poverty, Prov. 30. 9. ∴ The Methods or Ways of his Providence, the uſual manner of his Dealings; ſo Judgment is to be taken here for the ſame with ways, 1 Sam. 2. 13. as it is alſo Chap. 8. 7.

5 I will get me to the q great men, and will ſpeak unto them; for they have r known the way of the LORD, and the judgment of their GOD: but theſe have altogether broken the yoke, and burſt the ſ bonds.

q i. e. To the Nobles, both Prince and Prieſt, that have more time to conſider theſe things, have been better taught and educated, Prov. 4. 4. Not that Jeremiah had any better Thoughts of theſe, but as carrying a great Probability with it. r Had it been only among thoſe in the former Verſe, it might have been more excuſable; but it is in the very Nobles themſelves: the State is wholly corrupt from Head to Foot, who cannot plead Ignorance, therefore the more inexcuſable. ſ Theſe are more refractary than the other, more heady and obſtinate; no Law of God is able to hold them, Pſal. 2. 2, 3. See Luke 19. 14, 27. There is not one better than another among them, whether poor or rich.

t Nebuchadnezzar and the Chaldean Army from Syria and Libanus, woody places, are here pointed at under the Metaphor of Beaſts of Prey of three kinds; the Malignity that is proper to each of theſe Creatures ſhall be put forth in this Babylonian Army, compared, for inſtance, to a Lion, Chap. 4. 7. which notes his great Power, Courage, Pride, and inſulting over his Prey. u For their Greedineſs and Unſatiableneſs; one Wolf will deſtroy abundance of Sheep; and ſaid to be the Wolf of the Evening, or Deſarts, or Plains, they being the uſual Haunts of the Wolf; or Evening, becauſe then they are obſerved to be moſt ravenous, Hab. 1. 8. poſſibly, becauſe lying moſt part of the day in their Dens for fear of the Huntſmen, want of Prey enrageth their Hunger at night, and becauſe of this greedineſs to devour, the Judges among themſelves are ſaid to be Evening Wolves, deſcribed Zeph. 3. 3. They gnaw not the Bones till the morrow, either through Hunger or Rage. x The Chaldæan Army compared to a Leopard, not for its ſpeed only, but eſpecially for its Vigilancy and Subtilty; they will be ſo vigilant, that ſcarce any ſhall eſcape, according to Verſe 16. y Heb. Strong; here is the reaſon why God would bring ſuch a Devaſtation upon them, becauſe they did, as it were, ſtrengthen themſelves in the multitude of their Rebellions againſt him.

7 ¶ How ſhall I z pardon thee for this? thy a children have forſaken me, and ſworn by them that are b no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they c then committed d adultery, and aſſembled themſelves by e troops in the harlots houſes.

z How canſt thou expect that I ſhall bear ſuch Affronts? I ſhall expoſe my ſelf, and ſeem to lay aſide my power, I ſhall be look'd upon as one, that either regard not ſuch Injuries, or cannot avenge them, as Verſe 9. a Thy Inhabitants both in City and Country. b But by Idols; Swearing is here put, not for any part of Worſhip, as ſometimes it is, but for a religious Worſhip and Service of them, Chap. 4. 2. c Here is noted the abuſe of God's Bounty, or the natural Effect of our unſanctified Proſperity, Deut. 32. 15. Chap. 2. 7. Jude 4. That which in good Men doth oft breed Forgetfulneſs, in bad Men generally breeds Filthineſs: riſing up to play the Wanton, was the Effect of Iſrael's Eating and Drinking, Exod. 32. 6. and of Sodom's Sin, Ezek. 16. 49. d Either 1. Metaphorically to be underſtood of their going a Whoring after their Idols; or, 2. Properly for corporal Uncleanneſs, they uſually going both together, Numb. 25. 1, 2. Hoſ. 4. 12, 14. e It may be read in the Nominative Caſe, the Houſe of the Harlot aſſembled themſelves, q. d. the whole Houſe of Iſrael, Jeruſalem, and Judea, are but one Stew; if it refers to their Idolatry, then it alludes to their making the Temple a common Houſe of ſpiritual Harlotry; but rather, as it refers to the corporal Uncleanneſs, it ſeems to intimate that they did not act their Adulteries clandeſtinely or by ſtealth, but laying aſide all Modeſty, they went to Harlots Houſes like brute Beaſts in company, as aſhamed of nothing.

8 They were as f fed horſes in the g morning: every one h neighed after his neighbours wife.

f To note the Greatneſs and Unrulineſs of their Luſt, pampered Horſes being moſt wanton, like that Deut. 32. 15. g It is queſtioned, whether Morning relates to Horſes, or to Men; if to Horſes, then they are compared to Stallions, that having been fed to the full over-night, and lain at eaſe, in the Morning they are moſt luſty: but rather it ſeems to relate to Men, ſhewing that they were very early in going about their Filthineſſes, Zeph. 3. 7. following their Uncleanneſs with as great Eagerneſs as it is ſaid that Drunkards follow ſtrong Drink, Iſa. 5. 11. h i. e. With an impetuous Earneſtneſs and unwearied Hunting, they ſought after the Adultereſſes to ſatisfie their beaſtly luſts. It notes 1. The ſtrength of their Luſt, a thing in Horſes much taken notice of by Authors. 2. The Unbridledneſs and Uncontroulableneſs of it, as is ſeen in the pampered Horſes hunting after the Mare, of which neighing is a Sign, thus expreſſed Chap. 13. 27. Thus the Grecians would expreſs Men extreamly libidinous by the Word ἱππόϐινοι, and ἱπποπόρνοι, and that they do ἱππομανεῖν, ſo the LXX, and thus deſcribed Ezekiel 22. 11.

* Ver. 29. Chap 9. 9. 9 * Shall I not i viſit for theſe things? ſaith the LORD: and ſhall not my k ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

i i. e. Puniſh, Pſal. 89. 32. Should I connive at ſuch things, the wicked would ſay, I did not ſee them, or take notice of them Pſal. 50. 21. much to the ſame purpoſe with Verſe 7. beginn. and Puniſhment may be termed Viſiting, as implying the Equity of God's Procedures, that he firſt ſees and conſiders the caſe, before he inflicts Puniſhment; as in the caſe of Sodom, Gen. 18. 21. ſpoke after the manner of Man. k For I, it ſpeaks the Greatneſs of God's Diſpleaſure, Shall not my very Soul be in this work of Vengeance? Pſal. 11. 5.

10 ¶ Go ye l up upon her walls, and m deſtroy; but make not a full n end: take away her o battlements; for they are not the p LORDS.

l Ye Babylonians, go now execute my Vengeance on them. I give them into your hands; behold, I give you a Commiſſion. m I permit and order you not only to take the City, but make havock of her Inhabitants, Iſa. 10. 6. n Though God give them a large Commiſſion to deſtroy, yet he puts in a Limitation, that he will reſerve a Remnant from Deſtruction; he ſets bounds to the moſt raging Adverſary, beyond which he muſt not paſs. See on Chap. 4. 27. o Lay her and all her Fortifications level with the ground; take away her Counterſcarp, or high Towers, or whatſoever may tend to the Defence of a City; to let Jeruſalem know, that ſhe did but in vain truſt to her high Walls and ſtrong Towers; and Battlements may as well be taken for the foundation of her Walls, which ſpread wider than the Wall it ſelf: The Word the Prophet uſeth, ſignifies things that ſpread; and thus it agrees with the Scope, that is deſcribing the utter Overthrow and eradicating of it: ſo LXX, take away her Supports. p I undertake their Defence no longer; I diſown them; take my Protection from them, and give them up into your hands, O ye Chaldæans, though they make their boaſt that they are ſheltered under my Wing and Protection, becauſe there was the Temple and Altar; but they will find themſelves deceived; for I diſown them.

* Chap. 3. 20. 11 For * the Houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of q Judah have dealt very r treacherouſly againſt me, ſaith the LORD.

q Whether Iſrael be put here for the Ten Tribes, and Judah for the two, as often they are Chap. 2. 4. and ſundry other places; or rather, whether Judah here be only explicative, and the Word meant of the two Tribes only, read thus, the Houſe of Iſrael, even the Houſe of Judah, is not much material. r Have apoſtatized and dealt perfidiouſly beyond meaſure, not only as to the Groſſneſs, but as to the Univerſality of it.

12 They have ſ belyed the LORD, and ſaid, * It is not he, neither ſhall evil come upon us; neither ſhall we ſee t ſword nor famine. * Iſa. 28. 15.

ſ This may ſignifie either a denying, viz. a renouncing, making little or nothing of him, as ſome; or a denying, i. e. not believing, that theſe Words of the Prophet were God's Words, or God did not ſay ſo; he gave not the Prophet, nor any other, any ſuch Commiſſion, and poſſibly their Atheiſm might grow to ſo high a degree as to deny his Providence, Power, and Juſtice, &c. ſo it agrees with the following Words, it is not he, or God did not ſpeak as he meant; but he would only fright us, it ſhall not be thus. t This Siege or Famine, or any other ſuch dreadful Judgments, as Jeremiah ſpeaks of, ſhall not befall us. Seeing is uſed here for Feeling, as it is in Job 7. 7.

13 And the prophets ſhall become u wind, and the word is not in x them, thus ſhall it be done y unto them.

u A proverbial Speech, very frequent, not in common Language only, but Scripture alſo, Job 6. 26. Eccleſ. 5. 16. and elſewhere; i. e. all the Prophet's Threats ſhall come to nothing: and thus they ſcoffed at them, Tuſh, what do they ſignifie? they are but bruta fulmina: ſee 2 Chron. 36. 15, 16. x This, poſſibly, they give as the Reaſon that they apprehend the Prophet's Words to be but as Wind, becauſe they are not from God, they ſpeak but Dreams of their own fanſying. y It ſhall fall upon their own heads that have thus threatned us, not upon us; or, we will kill them with the Sword, for thus vainly threatning us; we will uſe them like Falſe Prophets, as they are; and we ſhall ſee in the Sequel of this Prophecy how they uſed Jeremiah; or it may be an Imprecation, q. d. may it fall upon their own Heads: thus the Heb. So be it unto them.

14 Wherefore z thus ſaith the LORD God of a hoſts, Becauſe ye ſpeak this b word, * behold, I will make my words in thy mouth fire, and this people wood, and it ſhall devour c them. * Chap. 1. 9.

z Theſe vile Wretches having now done ſpeaking, God begins to ſpeak; and becauſe they had thus ſlighted the Prophet, and God ſpeaking by him, (as in the next Words, Becauſe ye ſpeak this Word) here tells them what he will do; or rather, turns himſelf abruptly to the Prophet, as Men uſually do in a paſſion. a He makes his Majeſty and Power known, to cloath his Words with the greater Terror. b Viz. At the rate they diſcourſed in the former Verſe. c i. e. It ſhall take place ſuddenly, and irreſiſtibly, and fiercely, as Fire is wont to take in dry Wood to their utter Ruin and Overthrow, Pſal. 83. 14, 15. Iſa. 9. 18, 19. They ſhall be but Fuel to my Wrath which ſhall be executed by the Chaldæan Army, that ſhall conſume, and eat them up like fire; they ſhall find my Words to be more than Wind.

15 Lo, I will bring a * nation upon you from d far, O houſe of e Iſrael, ſaith the LORD: it is a mighty f nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whoſe language thou knoweſt not, neither underſtandeſt what they g ſay. * Iſa. 5. 26. Chap. 1. 15. and 6. 22.

d Viz. From Chaldæa. e By theſe are meant Judah; for Iſrael properly ſo called, viz. the Ten Tribes, were in Captivity before: ſee on Chap. 4. 1. called the Houſe of Iſrael; not only becauſe they deſcended from Jacob, but becauſe they were the chief of that Stock. f It is both potent, or, as the Word is, rough and harſh, and of great Antiquity, ever ſince the laying the firſt Foundation of Babylon by Nimrod, about 170 Years after the Flood; and hence it is called the Land of Nimrod, Mic. 5. 6. And this doth much add to their Cruelty, that they have had Dominion and Rule in their hands ſo long, and whereby they have not only grown more proud and haughty, but having been brought up ſo long in ways of Blood and Slaughter, they muſt needs by this time become skilful to deſtroy. g Which makes thy caſe much more deſperate. It is a great diſadvantage when Perſons underſtand not one another; they will neither underſtand thy intreaties, nor thou their offers, being both unintelligible, and inexorable, which will render thy condition much more ſad and perplexed; ſpeech being that by which the affection is readily communicated, and is the bond of humane Society: Hence this was part of the Judgment threatned, Deut. 28. 36, 49, 50. the Jews not well underſtanding the Syrian Tongue, which the Chaldæans ſpake, having had no converſe with them before the Captivity. It was this put a ſtop to all converſe at the building of Babel.

16 Their h quiver is an open i ſepulchre, they are all mighty k men.

h Collectively expreſſed for Quivers; a Synecdoche for the whole military preparations, and a Metonymy of the containing for the contained, viz. the Arrows, that will be ſhot out of them, called the ſons of the Quiver, Lam 3. 13. Bow and Arrow being the chief Weapons for War in thoſe Countries, and in thoſe days. i A proverbial ſpeech, Pſal. 5. 9. relating to the dreadful havock, and deſtruction, that will be made devouring the living, as the Grave doth the dead, or making work for the greedy devouring Grave, that never ſaith it hath enough, Prov. 1. 12. Or, they ſhall deſtroy many with one Quiver, as one Grave will ſwallow many dead, which may note their ſkill, and the ſucceſs they ſhall have, few of their Arrows ſhall fail of doing execution. k Theſe Chaldeans are all men of valour fit for Warriours.

17 And they ſhall eat up thine * harveſt, and thy l bread, which thy ſons and thy daughters ſhould m eat, they ſhall eat up thy flocks, and thine herds, they ſhall eat up thy vines and thy n figtrees, they ſhall impoveriſh thy fenced cities wherein thou truſteſt, with the o ſword.

* Lev. 26. 16.

l They ſhall make clean riddance, leave thee no ſupports of life, but bring an utter Famine upon thee, it is thus threatned, Deut. 28. 30, 48, 51. m Or, they ſhall eat up thy Sons and thy Daughters, but this is only a Metonymy of the effect; but properly this aggravates the dreadfulneſs of the Judgment; Parents, out of the tenderneſs of their affection, chuſing rather to die themſelves, than to live to ſee their Children ſtarved before their eyes, and they no ways able to relieve them, Lam. 2. 10, 11. n A particular enumeration of the Deſolation, that would be made, all tending to the greatneſs of the former. o i. e. Beſide the waſte that the Famine would make among Perſons; their Cities alſo ſhould be depopulated by the ſword of the Enemy: or rather, poſſibly the Siege ſhould be ſo ſtreight, and ſtrict, as may be implyed in the word impoveriſh, that they ſhould be forced to eat one another, till they were quite waſted, they ſhould be reduced to ſuch poverty and exigencies; or the ſword may relate to the mentioned miſchiefs, as the cauſe of them all, the ſword ſhall do all this. In all which he doth not ſo much tell them, that the Chaldeans ſhall conquer them, for that is taken as it were for granted, as, what Cruelties they ſhall uſe when they have conquered.

18 Neverthleſs in thoſe days, ſaith the LORD, I will not make a full || end with you.

|| See this Verſe explained, Chap. 4. 27. ſave only, that I think, here it is taken in the firſt ſenſe there mentioned; for it is not ſaid only, or in that Verſe, I will not make a full end, or a full end of you, but a full end with you; q. d. I have not done with you yet. See Lev. 26. 14. ad 40.

19 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs when ye ſhall ſay *, p Wherefore doth the LORD our God all theſe things unto us? then ſhalt thou anſwer them, Like as ye have forſaken me, and ſerved q ſtrange gods in your land, ſo ſhall ye ſerve ſtrangers in a land, that is not r yours.

* Chap. 13. 22. & 16. 10.

p This ſpeaks, either their unparallell'd inſolency, in a manner challenging God, as if they had not deſerved ſuch dealing at his hands, they might have expected better uſage from him; the Jews were good at theſe kinds of challenging of God, Iſa. 58. 3. Or groſs ſtupidity, as being ſuch Sots as not to be ſenſible of what they had done to provoke him; like to that Chap. 16. 10. q Heb. Gods of the ſtranger; he doth not ſay ſtrange Gods, but Gods of the ſtranger, which aggravated their crime, that while they lived in their own land, and the true God among them, they would precariouſly go fetch in Gods from the Heathens. r Here the Prophet 1. oppoſeth ſtrange Lords to rule over them, to thoſe ſtrange Gods, that they had ſerved, which God calls a forſaking of him. 2. He oppoſes a land not theirs, to their own land; ſo that by this the Prophet ſhews what reſentments God had of their ſin; for it implys that their ſin was much greater, that they ſerved ſtrange Gods in their own land, than if they had done it in another, under the Tyrannical impoſition of a ſtranger, and therefore he would accordingly ſuit their puniſhment, that they ſhould ſerve in a ſtrange land, which ſhould be worſe, than to be ſervants in their own. This is a dreadful but a juſt Retaliation.

20 Declare this in the houſe of Jacob, and publiſh it in ſ Judah, ſaying, x Either a convincing Argument to perſwade them to ſubmit unto him; will ye not ſubmit to me, that can rule the Sea? which as unruly a thing as it is, yet quietly yields to my will; or rather, a very angry Challenge and Expoſtulation; do you think, that I, that can tame the boiſterous Sea, cannot tame you? y That ſtand not in need to make Rocks for Walls and Bounds unto it, but can give a check to it by ſo ſmall a matter, as the Sand, that of it ſelf is not only yielding and penetrable, but ſubject to be blown away with every wind. z Either looking backward, that it never could, or forward that it never ſhall. Whether this decree have reſpect to the Creation, or to the Deluge, it is not much material; the former of which times it could not have been contained within its bounds, neither in the latter could it have exceeded them, without God's ſpecial order, as no time ſince. a Though they ſwell, rage, roar, and threaten never ſo much, as if they would ſwallow up all before them; though they foam againſt the Rocks that ſtand in their way, yet, when they come to their bounds appointed, ſhall tamely yield unto the Sand, and retire back. b Not get any ground upon or againſt God's decree and appointment. Either the decree or the ſand, which in regard of their form, ſituation, unrulineſs, and fluxibility would overflow the whole earth, were it not for the limits, and reſtraints that are laid upon it, Job 38. 11. By this inſtance, God may ſhew what he could do with reference to that enraged, and raging Army, that is about to come upon them like a torrent, if his people would repent. Or rather he hereby upbraids the Jews with their unreaſonable ſottiſhneſs, that they are more mad in their Rebellions againſt God, than the raging waters of the Sea, that as boiſterous as they are, yet obey his Will.

23 But this people hath a revolting and a c rebellious heart; they are revolted, and d gone.

c They are not only revolted from me, and gone back, but they continue obſtinate, and will not return, Pſal. 78. 8. as the next clauſe intimates, where God ſhews their obſtinacy by the effect of it. d Viz. From me, they perſiſt in their courſes, no reclaiming of them, for they are not only revolted, but they are gone quite away, and are irreclaimable.

24 Neither ſay they in their e heart, Let us now f fear the LORD our God, that giveth g rain, both the * former and the h latter in his ſeaſon: he reſerveth unto us the appointed weeks of the i harveſt.

e They are ſo careleſs, that they never trouble themſelves about it; or ſo obdurate, and ſtiff, that they never lay it to heart, or conſider that it is God that diſpoſeth of all things according to his own pleaſure, both in the Earth and in the great deep. f Or ſerve and obey, all ſervice to God being both performed in it, and proceeding from it. g Without which nothing could ſubſiſt. By this the true God is diſtinguiſhed from all falſe Idol Gods, Chap. 14. 22. and in this appears not only his power in decreeing, Job 28. 26. and preparing it, Pſal. 147. 8. his Soveraignty in withholding it. Amos 4. 7. but his general goodneſs in beſtowing it, Deut. 28. 12. Matt. 5. 45. and his ſpecial providence in the ſeaſonable diſpoſal of it, according as there is need, and which he gives as a witneſs of it. Acts 14. 17. As in the former inſtance God ſets forth his Peoples inſenſibleneſs of the works of his greatneſs, and power in ſo eaſily taming ſuch an unruly Element; ſo here he doth alſo further manifeſt the ſame by inſtances of his providence and goodneſs, implying, that ſo ſtupid, reſolute and obſtinate they are grown, that they are neither afraid of him for his greatneſs, which poſſibly may be underſtood by the former fear, nor fear him for his goodneſs, which poſſibly may be the ſence of the word in this latter place. h He means not the former and latter part of the year, but according to their ſeaſons of Sowing and Reaping; the former to prepare the ground for Sowing, and the latter to prepare the Corn for plumping, and ripening. See Chap. 3. 3. i He gives ſeaſonable Harveſts according to his appointment, the ſum is, God would let them know by this, what an impudent and fooliſh, as well as wicked thing it is for them to ſet themſelves againſt that God, that keeps the whole order of Nature at his own diſpoſal, which he can govern and order as he ſees Men behave themſelves towards him.

25 Your iniquities have turned away theſe things k, and your ſins have withholden good things from you ∴

k q. d. Do not ſay your ground is parched up with drought, or your fruits are corrupted and rotted by too much, or unſeaſonable Rain; we have nothing now in ſo due a courſe, as we were wont to have it, would you know the reaſon of it? You have inverted the Ordinances and order of Nature, have put Heaven and Earth out of their regular courſes by your iniquities. ∴ That either you have been cut ſhort of theſe good things, or denied a bleſſing upon them; by this God would not have prophane Men think, that unuſual ſeaſons either for better, or worſe, do come by chance, but as he ſees convenient either for the encouragement of the obedient or puniſhing the obſtinate

26 For among my l people are found wicked men: they || * lay m wait as he that ſetteth ſnares; they ſet a trap, they catch n men.

l I need not ſearch for ſuch among the Heathen Nations, for they are found even among them, that are called by my Name, whereas all my People ought to have been holy. m Or contemplate miſchievous deſigns, under deceits, as Fowlers do hide themſelves, when they watch the Birds coming to the Snare or Net, Prov. 1. 11. Mic. 7. 2. and therefore the next expreſſion, he that ſetteth Snares is but a periphraſis for a Fowler, the Heb. word being always ſo taken: Pſal. 91. 3. Prov. 6. 5. and elſewhere, or they pry, i. e. they narrowly look, where they may get an advantage, hence Enemies are called pryers, or obſervers, as you may frequently find in the Pſalms; Pſal. 5. 8. and 27. 11. 56. 2. and 59. 10. and 92. 11. n Intimating the ſucceſs of their wicked Policies in bringing their wicked decrees to paſs, Pſal. 37. 7. as falſe Witneſſes and Trapanners uſe to do, when they go about to enſnare Men that are innocent; ſuch a Trap did Jezabel lay for Naboth, 1 King. 21. 9, 10. Such an one was that Conſpiracy of more than 40 Men againſt Paul, Acts 23. 13, 14, 15.

27 As a || cage is full of birds, ſo are their houſes full of o deceit: therefore they are become great, and waxen p rich.

o i. e. They fill up their Houſes with the Goods and Wealth of thoſe that they deceive, and overreach; ill gotten Goods a Metonymy of the efficient; as the Fowler carries his Cage along with him, wherein he puts the Birds which he catcheth, to keep ſafe that they get not away, when once they are caught, as alſo by their appearance, pearance, and ſinging to entice others. p Shewing how, and in what manner they got their riches, therefore, or by this means; ſuch as are gotten by a lying Tongue, Prov. 21. 6. called the treaſures of wickedneſs, Mich. 6. 10.

* Deut.32. 15. *Job 12.6. Pſal. 73. 12. Chap. 12.1.

28 They are waxen * fat, they q ſhine: yea, they overpaſs the deeds of the r wicked: they judge not the ſ cauſe of the fatherleſs, * yet they t proſper; and the right of the needy do they not judge.

q Or, ſo fat that they ſhine; by reaſon of their wealth and riches they pamper themſelves till their eyes ſtand out with fatneſs, Pſal. 73. 7. their wrinkles are filled up with fat, which makes their faces ſhine. r Either, they go beyond the very Heathens themſelves in wickedneſs, Ezek. 5. 6, 7. or rather, they eſcape the hardſhips and ſufferings that others undergo, Pſal. 73. 5, 6, 7, 8. they 'ſcape better than others; or they ſlightly paſs over judgments threatned. ſ Such whom even the Law of Nature commits to their patronage, they either diſregard them, or wrong and injure them, either by refuſing them a fair hearing, Iſa. 1. 23. or giving wrong ſentence againſt them in Courts of Judicature, Zech. 7. 10. expreſly forbidden, Exod. 22. 22. t Things go well with them, they live happily according to their deſire, proſperum ſcelus, Job 21. 7, &c. Or, that they might proſper, viz. that God might bleſs them.

29 Shall I not viſit for theſe u things? ſaith the LORD: ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

u It is expreſſed as a thing taken for granted, he certainly will. Can I be a God, and wink at ſuch things? It cannot be. See this explained, Verſe 9.

30 || A wonderful and x horrible thing is committed in the y land.

x So prodigious, or ſtupendious a Crime, that it is beyond the thought or apprehenſion of Man to conceive, much more to expreſs, and ſo abominable, that a Man would even loath the thoughts of. What this is, we have in the next Verſe. y Heb. This land aggravating the greatneſs of the wonder, that ſuch a thing ſhould be in ſuch a land: See Iſa. 26. 10.

* Chap. 14. 14. & 23. 25, 26 Ezek. 13. 6. || Or, take into their hands.

31 The prophets propheſie z * falſly, and the prieſts || bare rule by their a means; and my people love to have it b ſo: and what will ye do in the end c thereof?

z Either ſpreading and diſperſing abroad the Lyes of their Idols, particularly Baal, Chap. 2. 8. or venting their Lyes in the Name of the true God, Chap. 4. 10. a By this means it comes to paſs, that the Princes and Prieſts are encouraged to do all their miſchiefs, whether it were in corrupting Judgment by Bribes, or countenancing fraud and oppreſſion, and hardening themſelves againſt God's Threatnings, or whatever elſe, they were encouraged by the Lyes of the falſe Prophets, they and the Prieſts and Princes combining, and ſetting themſelves againſt the true Prophets of God, Chap. 26. 8. and thus the Prieſts in effect take the management of all the affairs into their own hands; ſo the Heb. take into their hands, which intimates the Authority they uſed in their Miniſtry. b They are very well pleaſed with the Flatteries and Lyes of the falſe Prophets, not being able to bear the Truths that were delivered them from God, Mic. 2. 11. c q. d. Whither do you think theſe things will tend? You muſt look for nothing but utter ruine as the fruit and effect of ſuch doings, Mic. 3. 11, 12. when this City, which you look upon to be perpetuated, ſhall be overthrown, and you utterly periſh in its ruine, how miſerably will you find your ſelves to be deluded by your falſe Prophets, and diſappointed in your hopes? A ſad Apoſiopœſis concerning the extirminating of the People by the Chaldæans.

CHAP. VI.

God ſendeth and ſtrengthneth the Babylonians againſt Judah, 1,——5. for her Oppreſſion and Spoils, 6,——8. and Obſtinacy; which provokes God's Wrath and their Deſtruction, 9,——12. Their Covetouſneſs, falſe Confidence, and Impudence; People and Prieſts refuſe to obey God, 13,——17. Their Hypocritical Worſhip ſhall not prevent their ſure Deſtruction, 18,——25. The People called to mourn, 26. The Prophet encouraged under their wickedneſs, and the fruitleſneſs of his Miniſtry among them, 27,——30.

1. O Ye Children of a Benjamin, b gather your ſelves to flee out of the midſt of Jeruſalem, and blow the trumpet in c Tekoa: and ſet up a ſign of d fire in Beth-haccerem: for evil appeareth out of the e North, and great deſtruction.

a He means, either the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, becauſe part of it ſtood in the lot of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 28. or elſe, he means all Judah, becauſe, when the Ten Tribes fell off, the Tribe of Benjamin adhered to Judah, and was incorporated into them; If it be asked why the Prophet rather ſpeaks here to Benjamin than to Judah, the reaſon probably may be, becauſe he being of Anathoth was of that Tribe, and therefore mentions them as his own Country-men. b Spoken, either ironically that they ſhould ſet themſelves in Array, and make head againſt the Enemy, that is now at hand; or rather, that they ſhould flee away together at once, make haſte out of Jeruſalem in Troops, as the next expreſſions intimate, not counſelling them what they ſhould do, viz. for ſuccour, Chap. 4. 5, 6. but rather telling them what they muſt expect, viz. to be forced to flee out of it, if they may eſcape. c q. d. Gather your ſelves together by the ſound of the Trumpet at Tekoa, poſſibly alluding to the Name, which ſignifies Trumpeting; or rather, it being one of thoſe fenced Cities 12 Miles from Jeruſalem that Rehoboam built, and made exceeding ſtrong for, and with his warlike Proviſions, 2 Chron. 11. 6, 11, 12. and being built upon the advantage of a Hill towards the North of Judea in the way that the Babylonians were to come, q. d. there furniſh your ſelves out of that Armory, and ſee if you can make head againſt them. An Irony; a place noted in Scripture, where dwelt that Tekoitiſh Woman, that interceded with David for Abſalom by the ſubornation of Joab, 2 Sam. 14. 2. and alſo for the Herdſmen, of whom Amos was, Amos 1. 1. and (it is probable) a place where in time of danger they were wont, by the ſound of the Trumpet, to ſummon the People together. d The word uſed is of very large extent; maſet is uſed for any thing that is lifted up, neither is there any more in the Text. The LXX alſo render it only a ſign, and the ſign of fire poſſibly is mentioned, rather than any other, by a Metonymy of the Subject, becauſe, partly in time of danger of Invaſion, it is the moſt uſual, and commodious ſign, being ſeen in regard of its lifting, or raiſing up of it ſelf at once afar off, q. d. fire a Beacon, and a ſign, whereby the Benjamites themſelves once found they were ſurprized, Judg. 20. 38, 40. 2. It is a ſign ſooneſt given of any. 3. Poſſibly, as being a more proper ſign, than any other would be to the Vine-dreſſers, that they ſhould ſecure themſelves in ſome ſafe place, which ſeems to be pointed at by the next word Beth-haccerem. It ſignifies the Houſe of the Vineyard, probably ſome high Tower built among the Vineyards for the Keeper, or Keepers of them to watch them, that no damage came to them, this ſeeming to be uſual, Iſa. 5. 2. Or, it may be the Name of a Town, ſuch a one, as ſome report to lie between Jeruſalem and Tekoa, the ſame mentioned, Neh. 3. 14. though that ſeems to be adjoyning to Jeruſalem; whichſoever it be, it is probable, it relates to ſome place noted for Vineyards, which were wont to be planted upon Hills, and lying in the way that the Chaldeans were to come, and by theſe two we are to underſtand all other places that lie in that Coaſt. e That they may know whence their Miſery will come, he doth as it were point it out with the finger: See Chap. 1. 14. & 4. 6.

2 I have likened the daughter of Zion, to a || comely and delicate f woman.

f This Supplement is not in the Text, they that approve it render the Epithete comely variouſly, for one dwelling at home as the Hebrew Nava doth alſo ſignifie, Hab. 2. 5. and ſo the word delicate ſerves to explain it, as ſhewing the reaſon of her tarrying at home, not as a good Houſwife, diſcreetly guiding and governing her affairs at home, as ſhe is deſcribed, Prov. 31. 10, &c. and Tit. 2. 5. but through her delicacy expoſing her ſelf to all wantonneſs, and voluptuouſneſs, tarrying at home to give entertainment to her Paramours, or ſhe through her ſtate and pride, is ſo delicate and nice that ſhe will not ſet her foot out of door, Deut. 28. 56. poſſibly occaſioned by the great Wealth and Riches that God had bleſſed Jeruſalem with; this may alſo point at Judah's effeminacy that will be ſo diſpirited as not to have courage to oppoſe the adverſary, but eaſily taken in her Dwelling and Habitation. Others, as a beautiful Shepherdeſs; ſome there are, that rather chuſe to ſupply the defect by the word Land or Paſture, as being that, which is greatly deſirable by Shepherds, as if ſhe were ſome comely Shepherdeſs, ſolacing her ſelf in her delightful Paſtures: See Ezek. 34. 14. and ſo it may not be without ſome alluſion to the next Verſe, where her Enemies are called by the Names of Shepherds, as being enticed by the pleaſantneſs of her Land.

3 The ſhepherds with their g flocks ſhall come unto her; they ſhall pitch their tents againſt her round about ∴; they ſhall feed every one in his h place.

g The Prophet here proceeds in his Metaphor, and poſſibly the rather, becauſe he chuſeth to ſpeak in the ſtile of his own education, which may alſo give ſome countenance to the Supplement of Paſture, or Land in the former Verſe inſtead of Woman, the meaning is, the Chaldean Princes, with their Armies, as ſo many Flocks, ſhall come into this pleaſant Land: See Chap. 12. 10. in which expreſſion there is ſomething of a Scoff, as Chap. 4. 16, 17. ∴ They ſhall ſo place their warlike Tents, as to form a Siege to begirt her round. Chap. 1. 15. Ezek. 4. 2. h Heb. hand. i. e. near hand, or beſide, or near one another; thus 2 Chron. 21. 16. and Job 1. 14. thus hand is taken for place, i. e. each one in his quarter or ſtation, not a Man, but ſhall do his part, and ſhall be skilful, and powerful to deſtroy whereever he comes: It intimates alſo that every thing ſhall be ſo much at the Enemies own diſpoſal, that they ſhall be able to chuſe their own quarters, they ſhall place their Army in Wings and Troops, and Regiments, as they ſee good, to their beſt advantage, to be helpful one unto another, as ſhepherds are wont to do their Flocks; or, they ſhall fight in ſeveral Parties, and each deſtroy his part aſſigned him through the whole Country, and they ſhall joyn as it were in one body againſt Jeruſalem.

4 Prepare ye i war againſt her; ariſe, and let us go up at k noon. Wo unto us, for the l day goeth away, for the ſhadows of the evening are m ſtretched out.

i The Prophet now paſſeth from his Metaphor to tell them plainly what he means by the Shepherds, viz. Warriours; ſome make theſe the words of the Chaldeans making preparations for their Invaſion, and it may be by ſome of their accuſtomed Rites, that they uſed before War; but they ſeem more probably to be the Words of God inviting them, and calling them into this Work, therefore in the Heb. it is ſanctifie War againſt her, Chap. 22. 7. he ſpeaks unto ſuch, as he had ſanctified, or ſet apart for this work, his ſanctified ones, Iſa. 13. 3. k This ſhews how ready they will be to obey God's Call; the like we read, Iſa. 21. 5. and therefore they are ſaid to go or march up at noon, not only to note their daringneſs, as needing no ſtratagems, or ſtrength, or needing to ſtay for help, but rather to ſhew their forwardneſs to March on without ſtop or ſtay, they would not burn day-light, but be ſpeedy in their work, and they would take the firſt opportunity, whether Morning or Noon, Day or Night, as the next Verſe. The next Words ſeem to ſtrengthen this ſence; Wo unto us, the l day goeth away, &c. q. d. We delay, and tarry too long, and the day ſpends apace, we loſe time, let us make haſte about our Work, expreſſing their Greedineſs after their Prey, as Souldiers uſe to do: or this Wo unto us may be ſome Form of Imprecation, either againſt God or Men, which kind of Speeches are uſual with Soldiers when they are chaſed, and going upon ſome ſudden Onſet or Exploit; though not a few make it the Complaint of the Prophet in the Name of the People, foreſeeing how their Night of Affliction haſted on, their joyful Days being as it were gone, Amos 8. 9, 10. But the former ſeems beſt to agree with the Scope. m They were ſo eagerly ſet upon it, that they watched the very lengthning of the Shadow, which ſhews the Approach of the Evening, Pſal. 109. 23. See Hab. 1. 8.

Ariſe, and let us go by n night, and let us deſtroy her o palaces.

n Or, this Night. They were ſet upon it, they would loſe neither Day nor Night; which ſhews that they were extraordinarily ſtirred up by God in this Expedition. o This was the Bait or Motive that they propounded to themſelves; viz. to have the Spoil of all the ſtately Palaces, and rich Houſes of the Nobles, and great ones.

6 For thus hath the LORD of hoſts ſaid p, Hew ye down q trees, and ‖ caſt a r mount againſt Jeruſalem. This is the city to be ſ viſited; ſhe is wholly t oppreſſion in the midſt of her.

p Viz. To the Chaldæans: Here God declares whence they have their Commiſſion, q. d. they come not up on their own heads, ſee Chap. 5. 14, 15. God would have the Jews to know, that they have not ſo much to do with the Chaldæans as with him; that they are his Rod to ſcourge them for their Sins, Chap. 1. 15, 16. See 2 Kings 18. 25. And thus God is ſaid to hiſs for ſuch whom he will employ in ſuch Work, Iſa. 5. 26. and 7. 18. And he ſtiles himſelf the Lord of Hoſts, to ſhew that it is in vain to contend in Battel with them, whom he ſends forth, and will be, as it were, the Captain of their Hoſts. q Heb. A Tree collectively taken, q. d. cut them down all, as one Tree, not ſparing their very Fruit-Trees, which indeed were to be ſpared in ſuch a caſe, Deut. 20. 19. Either ſuch as lie in the way of your March, or all round about Jeruſalem; or, ſuch as you may have need of there or elſewhere for your Uſe, either to raiſe up Works againſt the ſtrong places, Deut. 20. 20. or to make other Inſtruments of War. r Throw up one continued Trench, as a Mount round about it: ſee on Iſa. 37. 33. Heb. Pour out the Engine, of that ſee 2 Sam. 20. 15. ſ God is ſaid to viſit ſometimes in Mercy, Gen. 50. 24. Zeph. 2. 7. and ſometimes in Judgment, as here and Chap. 5. 9. and 23. 2. They are ripe for it, Ezek. 7. 10, 11, 12. See 1 Theſ. 2. 16. and it is decreed againſt them, and ready to come upon them, Chap. 23. 12. Hoſ. 9. 7. All Attempts have failed, and now there is no remedy. t In the Abſtract ſhe doth nothing but oppreſs: there are found in her all kinds of Oppreſſion and Injuſtice; a Synecdoche for all other Cruelties, 2 Kings 24. 3, 4. Ezek. 7. 23. even in that City, which was once full of Judgment, and Righteouſneſs lodged in it, Iſa. 1. 21. ſwallowed up with Oppreſſion.

7 As a fountain caſteth out her waters, ſo ſhe caſteth out her u wickedneſs: * violence and ſpoil is x heard in her; before me continually is grief and y wounds.

* Pſal. 55. 9, 10, 11.

u In this Verſe God aggravates their Sin of Oppreſſion, mention'd in the former: a Metaphor, to expreſs how natural all manner of Wickedneſs is to her, how full ſhe is of it, and how unceſſant in it, noting her Impudence, a Fountain being not able to retain its Water: and the Expreſſion of Caſting it out, ſeems to imply her Violence in her Filthineſs, as it is ſaid of the Sea, that it caſteth out Mire and Dirt, Iſa. 57. 20. and favoured by the next Clauſe. x q. d. This is all ſhe buſieth her ſelf about, Chap. 20. 8. It is the general Complaint of her Inhabitants. y Viz. That the Poor ſuſtain: where-ever I go or look, I can hear and ſee nothing but the ſad Complaints and Grievances of the Poor, lamenting over Oppreſſion and Cruelties that are uſed againſt them, Pſal. 69. 26. this being ſo expreſly againſt God's Command, Exod. 22. 22, 23, 24, &c. Iſa. 3. 14, 15. Jam. 5. 4. for this refers rather to their Sin, than to their Sufferings from the Enemy, as ſome would carry it.

8 Be thou z inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my ſoul depart a from thee: leſt † I make thee deſolate, a land not b inhabited.

z Heb. Corrected, q. d. By the Correction thou haſt felt, and what is threatned, be perſwaded to Repentance before it be too late, Prov. 29. 15. God doth here in the midſt of Judgment remember Mercy, as it were ſuddenly putting a ſtop to his fury, ſeeking, if by any means it may yet be prevented by their Repentance, q. d. I would yet willingly ſpare them, if it might be. a Heb. be diſjointed, a moſt emphatical Metaphor whereby God would expreſs how great Grief it is to him to withdraw himſelf from them, could it poſſibly be avoided; (his great Affection to them being here expreſſed by Soul which is the Seat of it, Pſal. 42. 1, 2.) even like the ſeparating one Limb from another: hereby is intimated the near Communion that God hath with the Faithful, and how ready he is to return, if they will return. b Leſt he make them not a People.

9 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, They ſhall throughly c glean the remnant of Iſrael as a vine: turn d back thine hand as a grape-gatherer into the e baskets.

c Though Gleaning be a Term proper for all kind of Harveſt, yet the Word uſed here is appropriated to the Vintage, and implies the thorough Riddance that the Chaldæans ſhall make, contrary to the Law for gathering the Vintage, though it may ſeem to allude to it, Lev. 19. 10. Judah ſhall be gleaned over and over, till there be a full End, none left; as the Iſraelites gleaned the Benjamites, Judg. 20. 45. for thus they picked them up at ſeveral times both before, 2 Kings 24. 2. and alſo at the time of Zedekiah's Reign, 2 Kings 25. 6, 7, 11, 18, 19. and this ſeems to be intimated in the next words. See Hab. 1. 9. d As much as to ſay, they ſhould not be content with one ſpoiling, but they ſhould go back a ſecond and a third time, again and again, to carry away both Perſons and Spoil, leaving nothing behind them worth carrying away, Chap. 52. 28, 29, 30. the firſt carrying away being as the Vintage, the ſecond the Gleaning, carrying away firſt the principal, and afterwards the more inferiour ſort. e As the Grape-Gatherers do, filling one Basket after another. Whether theſe be the Words of the Babylonians, calling upon and ſtirring up one another to do it, as ſome; or the Words of God to the Babylonians, as moſt; it comes much to the ſame thing: for what they did was by God's Commiſſion.

10 To whom ſhall I ſpeak and give f warning, that they may hear? Behold, their * ear is g uncircumciſed, and they h cannot hearken: behold, the word of the LORD is unto them a i reproach; they have no delight in it.

* Chap. 7. 26.

f Heb. Make Proteſtation; noting with what Earneſtneſs the Prophet would beſpeak them in his warning of them: See Chap. 11. 7. The Prophet taking notice of their Obſtinacy, ſpeaks as one aſtoniſhed, and highly makes complaint, being greatly grieved, that he can find none that will take warning; the like Chap. 7. 23, 24. he labours to perſwade, but all is in vain; they turn a deaf Ear to him, as the next Expreſſion intimates. g A figurative kind of Speech frequent with the Prophets; an uncircumciſed Ear ſignifying the rejecting of Inſtruction; an uncircumciſed heart, an obſtinate and rebellious Will: Hence Circumciſion was for a Teſtimony of Obedience; and therefore the Prophet doth tacitly inſinuate their Falſeneſs to God, to whom they had promiſed to be obedient, 2 Kings 11. 17. and 23. 3. And the Scripture calls thoſe that are void of the fear of God, and carried out to all manner of Luſts, uncircumciſed; Ezek. 44. 7, 9. for Uncircumciſion was abominable among the Jews: ſo that it notes both their Sin and their Shame, their Ear being ſtopped, unfit for hearing, as if it were with a Foreskin or Film over it, Acts 7. 51. h The Prophet doth not here leſſen their Crimes, by their Inability and want of Power, but rather aggravates it, inaſmuch as they had brought themſelves under that Incapacity by their Obſtinacy and Wilfulneſs: as a drunken Man that hath deprived himſelf of his Reaſon by Exceſs, renders the Want of his Underſtanding the more inexcuſable. i Either they reproach it in the Meſſengers Mouth, Luke 11. 45. or rather they laugh at it, and ſcorn it, they cannot bear Counſel, they look upon reproving them to be reproaching them; they take no Delight in hearing ſuch things: A farther Reaſon of their Impotency and Obſtinacy, all their Admonitions and Inſtructions, ſeemed inſipid, and therefore were they ſo ſtupid, according to the next Words, Prov. 15. 12. See Chap. 5. 31. 2 Tim. 4. 3.

11 k Therefore I am l full of the fury of the LORD; I am weary with m holding in; I will n pour it out upon the children o abroad, and upon the p aſſembly of young men together: for even the husband with the q wife ſhall be taken, the aged with him that is r full of days.

k Heb. And: which ſeems to be a better Connexion; for that which putteth him upon this Work, ſeems rather to be that Spirit of Prophecy that is in him, than any Conſideration drawn from them. l I am, as it were, filled with the Fire of God's Wrath, and Curſes againſt this People, which I am forced to diſcharge my ſelf of; a Metonymy of the Subject. See Ezek. 3. 3. Chap. 4. 19. He doth not only complain of their Stupidity, as in the former Verſe, but ſtirs up his Indignation againſt them. m But he can contain himſelf no longer, which implies his great Unwillingneſs to denounce theſe Curſes, q. d. the Wrath of God, by the Impulſe of his Spirit, acting ſo violently with mine, that it will break out: ſee the like Job 32. 18, 19. Whereby it appears, the Prophet is not carried on by his own private Spirit, but by the Spirit of God: he hath no Delight in it, but is forced to be the Meſſenger himſelf of his Wrath; therefore if he be ſharp againſt them, they muſt not impute it to him, but to the Spirit of God, that conſtrains him thus to ſpeak. n Viz. In propheſying, noting the great plenty of it; a Metaphor from violent Rains, that we ſay do pour down upon the Earth, Chap. 7. 20. Rev. 16. 1. o The Streets being the places where uſually little Children are wont to ſport themſelves, Zech. 8. 5. The ſame Word uſed Pſal. 8. 2. p Their ſecret Meetings, whether in Harlots Houſes, Chap. 5. 7. or for Mirth and Jollity, or to join either their Strength or Counſel together, which Children are not capable of; for the Hebrews do not only call them Youths, that are paſt their Childhood, poſſibly at Fifteen or Sixteen Years of Age, but Men of Twenty or Thirty, grown to their full Strength and Maturity, in the flower of their Years; yet it ſhall advantage them nothing. q Heb. Man with Woman; the Wife ſhall be taken as well as the Husband, one Sex as well as the other, ſhall be a Prey to the Enemy. r Not only Men that may be termed old, as they may be from 50 to 80, which are then ſaid to be waxing old, but ſuch as had upon the point filled up the number of their Days, at the edge of the Grave, Iſa. 65. 20. called very aged, as Barzillai, 2 Sam. 19. 32, 34, 35. The ſence is, that all ſorts, from the Children to the decrepid Old-man, had ſo corrupted their ways, ſee Ver. 13. that their Condition was deſperate, and God would bring an Enemy upon them, ſhould ſpare or pity none, of what Sex or Age ſoever.

12 And their houſes ſhall be turned unto ſ others, with their fields and t wives together: for I will u ſtretch out my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the LORD.

ſ i. e. Their Houſes and their Lands ſhall be devolved, or turned over to Strangers, Chap. 8. 10. even that Land which they thought had been entailed upon them, and they ſo firmly fixed in for ever, Pſal. 132. 13, 14. t Their moſt deſirable Things, howbeit it need not be reſtrained preciſely to Wives, the Heb. ſignifying Women largely, Chap. 7. 18. compriſing Maids, Wives, or Concubines, and this according to the Threatning Deut. 28. 30. and Chap. 8. 10. u Viz. to ſmite, to give you a ſorer Blow, Iſa. 5. 25. a Synecdoche of the kind, ſpoken after the manner of Men. Here the Prophet gives them the reaſon of this their unexpected Calamity, that they might not think it an Impoſſibility; namely, becauſe God was become their Enemy.

13 For from the x leaſt of them even unto the greateſt of them, every one is given to y covetouſneſs *, and from the prophet even unto the prieſt, every one dealeth z falſly.

x Not reſpecting ſo much their Age, as Degree and Quality, Poor and Rich, the Prophet notes the generality of their Corruption as the Reaſon of God's Severity againſt them, as Ver. 6. obſerving alſo, that it was even among the greateſt, who ought to have given better Examples, no Soundneſs from Head to Foot. y In which poſſibly, all their Wickedneſſes, as Cruelty, Oppreſſion, Injuſtice, &c. may be comprized, it being the Root of all Evil, 1 Tim. 6. 10. and may alſo ſpeak the Juſtice of God, in the Chaldæans taking them and all their Subſtance away, that had by Violence and Fraud wreſted it from others, Mic. 2. 2. z Heb. Doing Falſhood, as if that were their whole Work, the proper and peculiar Sin of the Prieſts and Prophets, to deceive the People, and to flatter them by falſe Viſions, as in the next Verſe; not that they were not alſo guilty of the other Sins, Iſa. 56. 11. and the Princes and People of this, Mic 3. 9. Chap. 5. 31. for they were all involved in the ſame Wickedneſs: but the Prophet mentions thoſe Sins that were moſt peculiar to each Party. See the ſame Chap. 8. 10.

14 They have healed alſo the hurt of the daughter of my people a ſlightly, ſaying, b Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

a This refers peculiarly to the Prophets; either ſlighting or making light of theſe Threatnings tending to the Reproach, 1. Either of the Prophets of God bringing their Meſſage into Contempt; or, 2 The People deceiving of them, and rendring their hopes vain, Chap. 8. 11. Or, here the Prophet ſhews wherein their Falſe dealing conſiſts, viz. in dawbing over their Miſery and Danger that was coming on them, by perſwading them, that it ſhould not come, or if it did, it would be eaſily cured; as ſome Phyſicians do with their Patients, that make light of a Wound, and ſo neglect the true Method of Cure; but either by Lenitives give ſome Eaſe for the preſent, by a ſuperficial skinning over a Sore while the Corruption is in it; or Stupefactives, making them ſenſeleſs, not feeling their Pain, Chap. 23. 14. Ezek. 13, 10. 16, 22. and ſo the Prophet makes this the Cauſe of their laſt Deſtruction. b The Chaldæans ſhall not come, all Things ſhall be proſperous with you, all kind of Proſperity being included in the Word Peace: They promiſe you Peace, but you ſhall come ſhort of it, as in the next Words

15 Were c they † d aſhamed when they had committed e abomination? nay, they were not at all aſhamed, neither could they bluſh: therefore they ſhall f fall among them that fall: at the time that I g viſit them, they ſhall be caſt down, ſaith the LORD.

c Viz. The Falſe Prophets d Some read it Actively, as ſometimes it is taken, Did they put the People to Shame? but that is not ſo proper here: it rather notes how bold and confident, or rather impudent, they were in their Flatteries, and deceiving the People, a great Aggravation of their Sin. The Form of the Interrogation chargeth them home with the Guilt, as do alſo the next Words, neither could they bluſh, q. d. they had not the leaſt ſhew of Shame, uſually diſcovered by Bluſhing. e Or, the thing to be abominated (a Metonymy of the Effect) both by encouraging the People, and joining with them in their Idolatries. See Chap. 3. 3. Therefore they ſhall periſh with thoſe whom they have deceived, as in the following Expreſſions. To fall ſignifies to be ſlain, Pſal. 63. 10. Luke 21. 24. g Viz. Puniſh them, inflict Puniſhment on them: See Ver. 6.

* Mal. 4. 4. Luk. 16. 29.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, ſtand ye in the h ways and ſee, and ask for the i * old paths, where is the good way, and walk k therein, and ye ſhall find l reſt for your ſouls. But they ſaid, we m will not walk therein.

h Having told the Falſe Prophets their doom, he now turns his Speech to the People, and gives them Counſel; for he rather propounds than commands, by a Metaphor taken from Travellers, that being in doubt of their way, do ſtand ſtill, pauſe, and conſider, whether the Direction they have received from ſome ignorant Perſon or falſe Guide, be right or not. i Heb. Paths of Antiquity, ſuch as their godly Forefathers of old were wont to walk in, the ancient paths, Chap. 18. 15. Or the Oracles of God, what Directions his Word gives, Iſa. 8. 20. Or the Providence of God. Obſerve what hath been God's Ways and Method in Times paſt, with reference to Sin and Puniſhment, Deut. 4. 3, 4. Judg. 5. 6, 8. Chap. 22. 15, 16. and what have been wont to be the beſt Courſes, called here the good Way, or the beſt way to continue Mercies, and prevent Judgments, Deut. 32. 7, &c. See 1 Theſſ. 5. 21. k When you have found what was beſt, and moſt proſperous, keep it, ſtick to it. l You will find God to ſtand by you, and be a Sanctuary to you, Deut. 33. 12, 29. See Matth. 11. 29. You will find things mend with you; it will be well with you, as it hath been with others; you will be ſatisfied and quiet; you will not doubt any longer which way to follow: See 1 Kings 18. 21. m It notes their great Wilfulneſs and Obſtinacy; that, though the Prophets had directed them in the right way, and though they knew others had experimented it to be ſo yet they would not be perſwaded to walk in it, but deliberately refuſed theſe Favours offered, Iſa. 8. 11, 12, 13. Chap. 18. 11, 12.

17 Alſo I ſet n watchmen over you, ſaying, Hearken to the ſound of the o trumpet. But they ſaid, We will not p hearken.

n Viz. Prophets and Meſſengers, that ſought their Good, and endeavoured to prevent their Miſeries, by foretelling what was coming upon them, Ezek. 3. 17. and 33. 7. A Metaphor from Watchmen, that are uſually ſet upon high places to eſpy out Dangers afar off. o Either the Voice of his Prophets, which is compared to a Trumpet, Iſa. 58. 1. intimating his loud crying upon the account of imminent Danger: for Men do not uſe to ſound the Trumpet till Danger be approaching; or the Trumpet of the Enemy, Chap. 4. 19, 21. p More of their Obſtinacy ſuitable to their Carriage, Verſe 16

q He calls upon the Nations round about to be as ſo many Spectators of his Severity againſt Judah, though they were his own People. 1. Partly to vindicate the Juſtice of his Proceedings, that they may not think him too ſevere. 2. Partly to ſhame them, if thereby he may bring them to Repentance; and therefore he makes them Witneſſes as well of their Sin as of their Puniſhment Verſe 19 Beſides, 3. It is a ſecret upbraiding them, as if the Nations were more ready to underſtand than they. r Either of Iſrael, and then the next Words muſt be which are among them; or rather, of all Nations, as ſuppoſing them gathered all together, Pſal. 7. 7. God is willing, that all the World ſhould be Witneſs of the Equity of his Proceedings. ſ Or, that which is among them, the Relative put for the Antecedent; either the height of their Wickedneſs, or the ſeverity of their Judgments; underſtand it either way, or both ways, and then it is the greatneſs of their Puniſhment, as the effect of the greatneſs of their Sins.

19 * Hear, O t earth: Behold, I will bring u evil upon this people, even the fruit of their x thoughts, becauſe they have not hearkened unto my y words, nor to my Law, but z rejected it.

t The Inhabitants of the Earth, or elſe God having ſpoken to the rational, he now ſpeaks to the very ſenſeleſs Creatures to obſerve his Proceedings, Ezekiel 36. 4. u The Chaldæan Army, with all the direful Effects of it. x q. d. They may thank themſelves for what is come upon them, being the fruit of all theſe Contrivances and wicked Imaginations that their Hearts were full of, Prov. 1. 29, 30, 31. See Iſaiah 59. 7. and Chap. 4. 14. by which Phraſe is alſo intimated, that their Sins were not ſome ſlight Overſights, but meditated and digeſted Wickedneſs; and therefore God will bring upon them the juſt Puniſhment for their Doings. y Thoſe Meſſages that I ſo frequently and earneſtly ſent unto them by my Prophets, Prov. 1. 24, 25. z As it were bidding open Defiance to me, ſcorning to be ruled by me.

* Iſa. 1. 11. and 66. 3. Amos 5. 21. Mich. 6. 6. &c.

20 * To what a purpoſe cometh there to me incenſe from b Sheba, and the ſweet c cane from a far Country? your burnt offerings are not e acceptable, nor your ſacrifices ſweet unto me.

a An Interrogation of Expoſtulation, and Contempt, wherein God by the Prophet meets with their Hypocriſie, who pleaſed themſelves with their outward Oblations and Sacrifices, and thought God would be pleaſed with them too; but he tells them plainly, they are to no purpoſe; as he ſpeaks particularly in the Cloſe of the Verſe, Chap. 7. 21, 22. Ezek. 20. 39. b That this was the Product of Sheba, a Country in Arabia Fœlix, to which Country Frankincenſe was peculiar. See on Iſa. 60. 6. c Or Cane, i. e. good, or the beſt Cane; the Article ה hath the force of a Superlative for Cane that is good; the Hebrews have no Degrees of Compariſon: the ſame that is mentioned as an Ingredient in the holy Oyl, Exod. 30. 23. See Iſa. 43 24. d Not that it was brought from the remoteſt parts of the World, as from India, as ſome; for it was known to the Jews in Moſes's time, Exod. 30. 23. but becauſe it grew not in their own Land, but was fetched or brought to them from Sheba, Iſa. 60. 6. where it did grow, as Diodorus teſtifies, lib. 3. p. 125. and Strabo, lib. 16. 1 Kings 10. 2. compared with Joel 3. 8. who is called the Queen of the South, and to come from the uttermoſt parts of the Earth, Matth. 12. 42. becauſe the South-Sea did bound the Country. To what purpoſe art thou at this Trouble and Charge to fetch theſe Ingredients for thy Incenſe? e Not likely to atone me; they will not be for Acceptance; I cannot take Delight in them, Hoſ. 9. 4. as the next Expreſſion, q. d. away with theſe childiſh Trifles, whereby you think to pacifie me. By theſe Species he underſtands the whole legal Worſhip.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will lay ſtumbling f blocks before this people, and the fathers and the g ſons together ſhall fall upon them: the neighbour and his h friend ſhall periſh.

f God gives this Name to all the Occaſions of the Jews ruin, he expoſeth them, or ſuffereth ſuch things to be laid in their way, as ſhall be the Occaſion of their Deſtruction; ſuch things which they ſhall not get over; or an Hypallage, I will bring Deſtruction upon them; as the Hebrews uſe to ſpeak, they have ſent a City into the Fire, i. e. they have ſent Fire into the City. Or God doth here compare his Judgments to Traps, wherein they ſhall be taken, which they thought eaſily to have evaded: What theſe Stumbling-blocks are, ſeem to be expreſſed in the following Verſes. g As well the Fathers, that have more Prudence and Policy, as the Children that are more inadvertent, or poſſibly may count themſelves leſs guilty, ſhall periſh by theſe Stumbling-blocks; no recovering for themſelves, Iſa. 8. 14, 15. h Men of all ſorts and conditions, the greateſt Intimates and Aſſociates, tho all lay their Heads together for Counſel, yet ſhall they not be able to help one another, but a promiſcuous Deſtruction there ſhall be, Ver. 11. Chap. 13, 14.

22 Thus ſaith the i LORD, Behold, a people cometh from the * north k country, and a great nation ſhall be l raiſed from the m ſides of the earth.

* Chap. 10. 22. & 50. 41, 42, 43.

i Now the Prophet is ſhewing what theſe deſtructive Stumbling-blocks ſhall be, of which he had propheſied 40 Years already, and yet they would not be warned. k See Ver. . l God ſhall ſtir up the Chaldæans like a great Storm or Tempeſt, Chap. 1. 15. and 25. 32. See Ezek. 23. 22. m The remote and uttermoſt parts of the Babylonian Territories, tho at the greateſt diſtance, yet God will bring them; which may note the greatneſs of God's Diſpleaſure againſt Judah, this Circumſtance being noted among the Curſes, Deut. 28. 49. See Iſa. 5. 25, 26, &c. Chap. 5. 15.

23 They ſhall lay hold on bow and n ſpear: they are cruel, and have no o mercy: their voice roareth like the p ſea, and they ride upon q horſes, ſet in r array as men for war, againſt thee, O daughter of ſ Zion.

n Or they ſhall carry; they ſhall not want Military Ammunition of all ſorts for the diſpatch of this great work; Synecdochically expreſſed for all ſorts of Weapons. So Pſal. 35. 2, 3. o See Chap. 50. 42. not be entreated, or have any pity to Sex or Age, Poor or Rich, Chap. 21. 7. See the like Iſa. 13. 17, 18. And this was as duly executed as here propheſied, 2 Chron. 36. 17. p Which as it is very violent, ſo it cauſeth great Conſternation by its noiſe, compared to the roaring of the Devils, James 2. 19. Poſſibly it may intimate, they would not hearken to the Voice of his Prophets, now they ſhall hear the terrifying Noiſe of Armies like the roaring of the Sea. q Which is a Creature in eſpecial manner adapted by God for War, as he is deſcribed, Job 39. 19, 20, &c. implying their Speed, Strength, and Fierceneſs, Chap. 50. 42. r The whole Nation ſet as it were in Battalia againſt them, that they may perceive they have to do with Soldiers. The LXX reading אֵשׁ eſh fire for אִישׁ iſh man, render it as Fire to the War. ſ Or Jeruſalem; for theſe two Titles are promiſcuouſly uſed for the ſame place; and the Term Daughter is often given to Cities and Countries, as Pſal. 45. 12. and 137. 8. Iſa. 23. 12, and 47. 1.

24 We have heard the fame thereof: our hands wax t feeble: * anguiſh hath taken hold of us, and pain, as of a woman in u travail.

* Chap. 4. 31. & 49. 24. & 50. 43.

t The Prophet perſonates the Peoples Affections, q. d. at the very Report of the Approach and Fierceneſs of this People, we are diſmayed, and diſcouraged, our Hearts melt within us; all warlike Courage is taken from us, 2 Sam. 4. 1. or he modeſtly reckons himſelf among the reſt. u A Deſcription of the Exquiſiteneſs of their Sufferings, Chap. 13. 21.

25 Go not forth into the field, nor walk by the x way; for the ſword of the enemy and fear is on y every ſide.

x Expreſſing the great danger that there would be every where, there would be no ſtirring out of their fenced Cities or Houſes, Chap. 8. 14. but great danger to them that go out, and to thoſe that come in, they would find Death every where; now ſeek out ſome by-ways, venture not in common Roads, Judg. 5. 6. y The Language of one ſpeaking to another; it ſeems to be a proverbial Speech, frequently uſed to expreſs unavoidable Dangers, Pſal. 31. 13. Chap. 20. 3, 10. and 49. 29. All places will be full of Soldiers, ſo that all Attempts will be very difficult, Lam. 5. 9.

26 O daughter of my z people, * gird thee with ſackcloth, and a wallow thy ſelf in aſhes: * make thee mourning; as for an only ſon; moſt bitter lamentation: for the b ſpoiler ſhall ſuddenly come upon us.

* Chap. 25. 34. * Zech. 12. 10.

z i. e. O my People, that art beloved as a Daughter. a He calls upon them to Mourning in the deepeſt manner wherein they can expreſs it, girding with Sackcloth, cloſe Mourning, Chap. 4. 8. wallowing in Aſhes, Chap. 25. 34. Mic. 1. 10. lying low in Humiliation, and proſtrating themſelves before him, he farther deſcribes the Nature of it in the following Expreſſion, ſuch as is for the Death of a Child, a Son, an only Son, Amos 8. 10. and then ſeems to ſum it up in this bitter, moſt bitter Lamentation, Heb. Wailing of Bitterneſſes noting the higheſt degrees of Lamentation: he ſeems to want Words to expreſs it. See Chap. 9. 17, 18. And it is likely the Prophet doth not ſo deſignedly exhort them to repent, as rather deſcribe the ſtate of Perſons in a loſt and deſpairing Condition. For here the Prophet takes upon himſelf the Perſon of one denouncing War: and Sackcloth and Aſhes is often mentioned where there is no hope of Converſion or Repentance. b The King of Babylon and his Army, Chap. 4. 8.

27 * I have ſet thee for a tower, and a c fortreſs among my people, that thou mayſt know and try d their way.

* Chap. 1. 18.

c Here God ſpeaks by way of Encouragement to the Prophet, and tells him, he had made him a fortified Tower, that he might both diſcover the Carriages of his People, which is one uſe of an high Tower, Iſa. 21. 5, 8. Hab. 2. 1. and alſo to aſſure him, tho they ſhall make ſeveral Attempts againſt him, yet he ſhall be kept ſafe, as in a Caſtle, or Fortreſs, Chap. 15. 20. d Their Courſes, Actions, and Manners, and which way they ſtand affected, thou mayſt bring all to thy ſtrict Obſervation and Scrutiny, as Goldſmiths or Refiners do Metals; for ſo is the Word Try uſed Pſal. 66. 10. and elſewhere: Hereby he ſhall be encouraged to reprove them more freely, and with Authority, becauſe God doth promiſe to defend him, that they ſhall not hurt him; God will give him Prudence to ſee what is amiſs, and Undauntedneſs to oppoſe it.

28 They are all grievous e revolters, * walking with f ſlanders: they are braſs and g iron; they are all h corrupters.

e Obſtinate, and refractary, Iſa. 31. 6. Chap. 5. 3, 23. f Being their main Buſineſs to detract from thee, and the other Prophets, Chap. 18. 18. and 20. 10. a Sin expreſſly forbidden, Lev. 19. 16. g This to the end of the Chapter is all metaphorical, either they are impudent, as Braſs doth ſometimes ſignifie, or they are obſtinate and inflexible, as Iron notes: ſee both Iſa 48. 4. or it ſignifies their corrupt Eſtate; they are not pure Metal, as Silver or Gold, but baſe and mean, as Braſs and Iron mixed together, Ezek. 22. 18. h This relates to their Manners; they propagate their Corruption, Iſa. 1. 4. They ſtrengthen one another in wickedneſs.

29 The bellows are i burnt, the lead is k conſumed of the fire; the founder melteth in l vain: for the wicked are not plucked m away.

i The Prophet proſecutes his Metaphor taken from Refining of Metals, intimating herein, that the Prophets had ſpent their Lungs to no purpoſe. See the like, Pſal. 22. 15. and 69. 3. and their Strength was conſumed by their ſo much Labour and Pains, q. d. the Terror of the Lord is as a Fire in my Throat. k Some read it, the Lead was entire, viz. their Droſs did ſtill remain in them, the Lead put for their Droſs; but I ſee no reaſon for, nor need of this reading, but rather hereby is underſtood, either that means which was uſed to prevail with them, his Words compared to Lead for the Weight of them, and the Uſe of them; or the Judgments which were heavy, as Lead, that God mixed among them, the more eaſily to prevail with them, it was all upon them, as Lead is uſed in melting Silver, that it may melt the eaſier, it is all waſted, and doth no good. l Let the Artiſt uſe his greateſt Skill and Induſtry, yet is it all in vain; he can make nothing of it: the Prophets did but loſe their labour in all the pains they took, Pſal. 58. 5. after they had wearied themſelves. m Or drawn away, as the Word is, Joſh. 8. 16. and Judg. 20. 32. Their Droſs and Corruption, their Wickedneſs and Filthineſs, is not removed, Iſa. 32. 6. for Wicked may be read Wickedneſs.

30 * || n Reprobate ſilver ſhall men o call them, becauſe the LORD hath p rejected them.

n Or, Refuſe Silver; ſuch as will be rejected in Payments, they are not to be purged or reformed. o Or, be called, i. e. They ſhall be eſteemed ſuch, as will not paſs for currant before God or good Men, Lam. 3. 45. p The Prophet gives the Reaſon of their being accounted ſuch refuſe Stuff, viz. becauſe God, who knew their Hypocriſie in boaſting of themſelves, had rejected them, Lam. 5. 22. therefore every one elſe would.

CHAP. VII.

A Call to true Repentance, 1,—7. and not living in Theft, Murder, Adultery, Perjury, &c. to truſt in the outward Worſhip and Temple of God, by the Example of Shiloh, 8,--15. the Prophet is forbid to pray for them, 16. Their Idolatry, and its Judgment, 17,—20. Their Sacrifices rejected, and Obedience requir'd, 21,--28. They are called to mourn for their Abominations in Tophet, and their Judgments, 29,—34.

1 THE word that came to Jeremiah from the a LORD, ſaying, a See Chap. 1. 2. This is the Title of a new Sermon much of the nature of the former, which reacheth to Chap. 10.

2 Stand in the b gate of the c LORDS houſe, and d proclaim e there f this word, and ſay, Hear the word of the g LORD, all ye of Judah, that enter in at theſe gates to worſhip the LORD.

b Viz. The Eaſt Gate, which was chiefly frequented; this being the publick place of going out and coming in, and where the People were then wont to aſſemble, Jeremiah 26. 2, 10. and he is ſaid to ſtand, becauſe he was to execute the Office of a Preacher, Chap. 26. 2. not of a Judge, where the Poſture would rather have been ſitting. c The Temple, Ver. 4. 10. d e The Place notes the Vanity of their Confidence, who, notwithſtanding all their Provocations, yet placed their Safety much in the Privileges of the Temple, glorying much in that; and the Manner, Proclaiming ſignifies both the Authority by which he ſpake, and the divulging of what he ſpake plainly and boldly, which, as it was in a publick place, viz. the Court of the People, not the Court of the Prieſts, (from which it is diſtinguiſhed, 2 Chron. 4. 9.) and therefore ſaid at theſe Gates, viz. the ſeveral Gates that were in the Wall of the Court, of which there were ſix, three on the South-ſide and three on the North; ſo poſſibly, it might be at ſome publick time of the Peoples reſorting thither from all Quarters, Pſal. 122. 4, 5. when all the Males were to meet; Exod. 23. 17. See Job. 7. 37. and therefore ſaid All ye of Judah. f The Meſſage that I ſend thee with. g See Chap. 2. 4.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael; * Amend your ways, and your h doings; and I will cauſe you to dwell in this i place.

h i.e. Mend your Manners. Amending ſignifies both to turn from our evil Works, and make our good better. i You ſhall not go into Captivity, implying, that otherwiſe they ſhould; he will continue their Habitations to them from Age to Age, as Ver. 7. The doing of a thing in Scripture often implies the continuance of it: Lev. 26. 11. I will ſet my Tabernacle, i. e. I will continue it.

4 Truſt ye not in lying words, ſaying, The k temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD, the temple of the LORD are l theſe.

k Becauſe this was God's Houſe, wherein he had promiſed to dwell, and that for ever, Pſal. 132. 13, 14. they flattered themſelves, that he could dwell no where elſe, and would not depart, and certainly would not ſuffer the Chaldæans to deſtroy this, and therefore, that no evil could befal them, as they promiſed themſelves, Mic. 3. 11. therefore the Prophet cautions them not to deceive themſelves, in truſting to the Temple, and its Buildings, as the two Courts, and Houſe, and Holy of Holies, implyed in the word theſe, which he doth as it were point to with his Finger; (For where the Prophets ſpeak diſtinctly of the form of the Temple, they reckon the Court, where the People did Sacrifice, and the holy place, or Houſe whereinto the Prieſts only did enter, and the Oracle, or Holy of Holies, wherein was the Ark of the Covenant, and into which only the High-Prieſt entred, and that but once a Year) which theſe Hypocrites looked upon themſelves ſecured by, as it were, by a treble Wall, Fort, or Bulwark, that they could not miſcarry; but he would have them to know that neither theſe, nor the Services belonging to them will be able to ſecure them, V. 8. Chap. 4. 14. and it is likely, their falſe Prophets did thus perſwade them, whoſe Prophecies he calls here theſe lying words; but God will have them know, that he doth not chuſe a Nation for the places ſake, but the place for the Nations ſake, the like caution the Apoſtle gives them, 1 Cor. 10. 2. &c. The Emphaſis that may be in this threefold Repetition, ſeems rather to relate to the confident, and often reiterated brags and boaſts of the Temple, that were in their Mouths, than the worth and excellency of it, in regard of God's owning it. l The Prophet, ſtanding in the Gate at which the People entred, doth as it were point at the ſeveral Buildings appertaining to the Temple, viz. the Courts, Houſe, Oracle, &c.

5 For if ye throughly amend your ways, and your m doings; if you throughly execute Judgment between a man and his n neighbour;

m He tells them, it is not their vain Confidence in their priviledges, and boaſting of the Temple, but only their ſerious and through Repentance in turning to God both in point of piety and equity, that can ſecure them. n i.e. Impartially among one another, between Man and Man, without favour or hatred.

6 If ye oppreſs not the ſtranger, the fatherleſs and the o widow, and ſhed not innocent p blood in this q place, neither walk after other r Gods to your hurt.

o Here they are cautioned againſt three ſins, that this people were generally addicted to, Oppreſſion, Blood and Idolatry; and he inſtanceth in the worſt of oppreſſions, viz. of ſuch as God hath more eſpecially taken into his immediate protection, becauſe theſe are moſt void of help, and moſt obnoxious to injuries. The ſtranger, Exod. 22, 21. the fatherleſs and widow; and Ver. 22, 23, 24. ſee them all three together, Deut. 10. 18. and 27. 19. See on Iſa. 10. 1, 2. and where God ſpeaks of right adminiſtring of Juſtice, he uſually makes mention of theſe three to prove the integrity and impartiality of Juſtice; and though this may more properly reſpect the Princes and great Ones, yet I conceive here the Prophet doth not ſo reſtrain it. p Either by Murder, or unrighteous Sentence, being one of thoſe ſins in ſpecial mentioned, for which God expreſſeth his high diſpleaſure, and will ſend the Chaldæans upon them, 2 King. 24. 4. q Either in this City in ſpecial, or the whole Land in general; ſee Ver. 3. and there he would ſhew what a fooliſh thing it is that they ſhould boaſt of their ſecurity in this place, and yet ſhed blood, which pollutes every place, Numb. 35. 31, &c. r Abſtain from your Idolatrous courſes, and depart not from my pure and uncorrupted Worſhip, unto your ſuperſtitious and Hypocritical Service, and he adds to your hurt or your own hurt; to ſhew that they will be the only ſufferers by it, not God, ver. 19. God is neither benefited nor damaged by any thing that we can do, Job 35. 6, 7, 8.

7 ſ Then will I cauſe you to dwell in this place t, in the land that I gave to your fathers, for u ever and ever.

ſ i. e. Upon this condition, that you will return unto me, then, either I will eſtabliſh, and fix you in the land; or, as anciently read Sachanti in Kal, I will dwell, viz. amongſt you in this place, otherwiſe not. t Viz. Judea both in Jeruſalem, and the whole Country, as the next words manifeſt. u i.e. From age to age as your Fathers did before you from the days of Joſhua, until now.

8 x Behold, ye truſt in lying y words that cannot profit.

x Take notice of it, and think of it ſeriouſly. y Either flattering your ſelves with your own conceits, whereby, in your Diſcourſes, you ſtrengthen one another, or depending upon the deluſions of your falſe Prophets, Chap. 5. 31. and 23. 26, 27. or rather, boulſtering your ſelves up upon your Priviledges, or bare Ceremonies which you ſo much boaſt of as ver. 4. all which he tells them, will profit them nothing.

z Here the Prophet mentions divers of thoſe ſins, in which they were notorious, they were Thieves, Murderers, Adulterers, perjured Idolaters, &c. q. d. Can you think, that this can be grateful unto me, or any whit advantageous to your ſelves, to frequent my Houſe, and yet retain theſe odious ſins, as if I were a Companion for Thieves, Murderers, &c. a Such as they had ſet up new, and never had any experience of, and therefore could have no reaſon to ſerve them, therefore called new Gods, Deut. 32. 17. Judg. 5. 8. but of his power, and goodneſs they had had ample proof, in their deliverance from Egypt, and the wonderful Miracles, and Signs that God had ſhewn them in the Wilderneſs, and his Victorious Arm for them in Canaan, of which things theſe Jews could not be ignorant, and therefore the more inexcuſable. Four of theſe ſins reſpect the ſecond Table, theſe two laſt the firſt. The Name of Baal is here put for all Idols.

10 And come and ſtand before me in this b houſe † which is called by my c name, and ſay, we are delivered to do all theſe d abominations?

Or rather priviledged to return to all thoſe wickedneſſes again, hereby noting their impudence. See Iſa. 1. 12, &c. LXX read it, we have abſtained from all theſe Abominations, as if theſe were the lying words in which they truſted.

Do you look upon this Houſe as a Sanctuary and refuge for Robbers and Murderers, do you eſteem it ſo, and is it ſo in your Eyes, ſo the Phraſe is uſed Num. 13. 33, &c. hereby making me an Abetter of all your Lewdneſs, Mat. 21. 13. a Metaphor, taken from wild Beaſts, and miſchievous Perſons, that do both ſecure themſelves, and hide their prey in Holes, and Caves of the Earth, Pſal. 10. 8, 9. f q. d. As crafty as you are, you cannot hide theſe things from me, nor all thoſe workings of your thoughts about them, Pſal. 10. 11, 13, 14. Ezek. 18. 12. 13 And now, becauſe ye have done all theſe l works, ſaith the LORD, and I ſpake unto you, * riſing up m early, and ſpeaking, but ye heard not; and * I called you, but ye anſwered not.

16 Therefore * u pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make interceſſion to me: for I will not hear thee.

u God forbids his Prophets to pray for them in any kind, by any Cry or Interceſſion; or running upon me, which ſhews that God is reſolved to root them out, ſeeing he will admit of no Interceſſion: according as he charged Moſes, Exod. 32. 10. and the like Chap. 11. 14. For God had been wont to ſuffer himſelf to be prevailed with by the Mediation of his Servants, as of Moſes, Exod. 32. 11, 14. Numb. 14. 19, 20. But now he would admit of no Interceſſion. See Ezek. 14. 14, 20. and Chap. 15. 1. and the next words. This charge ſeems to be laid upon the Prophet, partly to take off the envy of the People from him, when they knew he was commanded to do no otherwiſe, partly to imbolden him in this unpleaſing work, laying aſide all Compaſſion. But certainly the Prophet did pray that God would mind his Covenant in ſaving a Remnant, though not that God would revoke his Decree; and to ſave the body of them.

17 Seeſt x thou not what they do in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of y Jeruſalem?

x q. d. How canſt thou paſs along the Streets, but thou muſt needs be an Eye-witneſs of their Abominations to thy no ſmall trouble and ſorrow, as Sodom was to Lot, 2 Pet. 2. 8. therefore how canſt thou plead with me on their behalf? How canſt thou either pray for them or I pity them? y In City and Country. See Chap. 2. 28. and 11. 13.

18 The z children gather a wood, and the fathers kindle the b fire, and the women knead their dough to make c cakes to the || queen of d Heaven, and to pour out e drink-offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to f anger.

z Here God ſhews how buſily they are employed from the youngeſt to the oldeſt, and how induſtrious for their Idolatry, Chap. 44. 17. See Matt. 24. 38. every one in the Family doth ſomewhat towards it. a Or ſticks, for the word is plural, and ſo uſed, Numb. 15. 32, 33. an employment, if we underſtand ſmall Sticks, proper for Children; if greater Wood, ſuitable to Youth, who excel in ſtrength, and may be underſtood by Children and young ones. b They heat the Oven, Hearth or Stone on which they were baked. c Prepare all the Materials, of which to make Cakes; probably they were of ſome particular ſhape, or had ſome peculiar Impreſſion of ſome of their Gods ſtamped upon them, like the Popiſh Wafers, ſome ſay ſtamped with Stars, as being offered up to the Hoſt of Heaven, or with ſome peculiar Star, Amos 5. 26. Acts 7. 43. d Or, frame, or, workmanſhip of Heaven, this is diverſly interpreted; ſome take it for the Sun, which is ſignified by a word of the Feminine gender, Iſa. 24. 23. and of a feminine uſe, Nah. 3. 17. ſome for the Moon; as the Sun was looked upon as King, ſo the Moon as the Queen of Heaven, becauſe of the largeneſs of her Body, in which ſhe appears, and of the Light ſhe gives, but eſpecially by reaſon of the Government ſhe exerciſeth over Inferiour Bodies; others, more probably, for the whole Hoſt of Heaven, Jer. 8. 2. and 19. 13. and ſo the LXX; according to which probably for their ſakes they received divers ſtamps and impreſſions; they that would ſee more, may conſult the Engliſh Annot. and the Synop. e Viz. Wine and other ſtrong Drinks, Exod. 29. 40, 41. Numb. 28. 7. The Devil is God's Ape, and taught Idolaters to uſe the ſame Rites and Ceremonies that were uſed in God's Worſhip; therefore here theſe Idolaters in pouring their Drink-Offerings, which might ſeem to be Blood, or at leaſt Blood mixed with them. See on Pſal. 16. 4. imitated God's Drink-Offerings, as they did his Meat Offerings in their Cakes, as in Lev. 2. by theſe they did furniſh the Table mentioned, Iſa. 65. 11. ſee there. f Noting rather the proper effects and conſequences of their Idolatries, than that they did propound to themſelves ſuch an end in doing it, but it ſeemed to be a kind of bidding open defiance to God, by which it appears they were all mad upon their Idolatries, they were ſet upon it, as David's Heart was ſet upon the Worſhip of God, Pſal. 16. 8.

19 Do they provoke me to anger? ſaith the LORD: do they not provoke themſelves to the confuſion of their own g faces?

g Do they think to grieve me, and trouble my Mind? They are deceived, I am without Paſſion, and can be without their Offerings, will not they themſelves feel the ſmart of it, Verſe 6? Will they not procure anger to themſelves as an Arrow falls on the Head of him that ſhoots, 1 Cor. 10. 22. of the Phraſe, ſee Chap. 3. 25.

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord GOD; behold, my h anger and my i fury ſhall be k poured out upon this place, upon man and upon beaſt, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruit of the l ground; and it ſhall burn, and ſhall not be m quenched.

See Chap. 6. 11. and may in particular allude to thoſe ſhowers of fire that were poured out upon Sodom, Gen. 19. 24. l Theſe particulars are enumerated to expreſs an utter deſolation and ruine. See Chap. 4. 25. and it is threatned againſt theſe Creatures, which are innocent, becauſe they were made for the uſe of Man, partly that it might ſhew, how greatly God is offended, and that it ſhould work upon them not only a greater fear of his Judgments, but a greater ſhame for their ſin, that they ſhould occaſion ſuch ſufferings upon the innocent Creature, Rom. 8. 20, 22. m He follows the threatning with ſhewing the irreſiſtibleneſs of it, his reſolution is not to be revoked, Chap. 4. 4. and this is ſuitable to the Charge he gave the Prophet, Ver. 16.

n The Ironical words of one that ſeems to be in a great rage, take thoſe that are peculiar, and to be all burnt to me, Lev. 1. 9. and put them to your own of what kind ſoever, eat them, and do what you will with them, I will have none of them, take it all and fill your own Bellies, for you ſacrifice not to me, but to your ſelves. See Hoſ. 9. 4. where their Meat-Offerings are called in ſcorn, Meat for their Life to nouriſh their Bodies. o That part of your Sacrifices, which you are allowed to eat, they are but as prophane food, do not you think to be ſanctified by them, becauſe I accept them not.

p Some would argue from hence, that Sacrifices were at firſt an invention of Men, as Papiſts and Socinians, and becauſe they ſhould not be uſed to Idols, God gave way for the introducing them into his Worſhip; but it is evident in Scripture that they have been of Divine Inſtitution ever ſince Adam, Gen. 4. 3, 4. as to the meaning of the words. God doth not condemn them, or deny them, ſave only comparatively in reſpect of obedience, not ſo much theſe, as obeying his Commands, 1 Sam. 15. 22. Hoſ. 6. 6. i. e. Mercy rather than Sacrifice. Negatives are often put for Comparatives, Gen. 45. 8. Exod. 16. 8. Joh. 5. 45. Hence the Heb. is the matter of burnt Offerings, for Sacrifices were not inſtituted for themſelves, but for other uſes, and to be ſigns of Faith in his Promiſes, and obedience to his Commands, as in the next Verſe, where the Condition, Promiſe and end are all ſet down.

* Chap. 11. 8. * Neh. 9. 17. 29. Chap. 16. 12 and 17. 23. and 19. 15. and 25. 3.

26 * Yet they hearkened not unto me, nor enclined their ear, but * hardened their neck; they did z worſe than a their fathers.

z Their Fathers had done bad enough, but they were ſo far from reforming, that they did worſe than their Fathers, Jud. 2. 19. Chap. 9. 3. and whereas he had ſaid before your Fathers, a Now changing the Perſon he ſaith their Fathers, as it were in great diſpleaſure turning away from them to the Prophet, as one ſpeaking, but in vain, to ſuch a ſtupid People.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak b all theſe c words unto them, but they will not d hearken to thee: thou ſhalt alſo call unto them, but they will not e anſwer thee.

b Viz. Revive upon them all that thou haſt been ſpeaking to them from me theſe 40 Years and upwards. c Whereby God ſhews, that there is nothing wanting on his part; for notwithſtanding all their Perverſeneſs, yet he ſtill warns them by his Prophet, which will leave them the more inexcuſable, Ezek. 2. 5. 7. d This muſt needs be a great Trial to the Prophet, that he is aſſured that he ſhall ſpeak to them in vain. But this God acquaints him with before-hand, partly for Jeremiah's ſake, that he ſhould not be diſcouraged, but the more emboldened, though he ſaw no Succeſs, Ezek. 2. 7. and partly for the Peoples ſake, that being foretold of their Obſtinacy, they might bethink themſelves and repent, if yet there might be hope, Lam. 3. 29 e This ſhews their farther Refractarineſs, that were not only deaf to God's Meſſage by his Prophet, but, though he cried loud, followed one Exhortation with another, yet they would make no Return unto it.

28 But thou ſhalt ſay unto them, this is a f nation that obeyeth not the voice of the LORD their

f Spoke in a way of Contempt, q. d. a Nation more than Heatheniſh, though they profeſs themſelves a peculiar People to me, yet to be numbred among the Gentiles g i. e. Anſwer not the Ends of Correction, viz. to be inſtructed, Chap. 5. 3. and ſubmit their Necks to the Yoke, which laid the Foundation of all their Rebellion. h There is no truſting or believing them in any thing they ſay or do; no Veracity or Fidelity, but perfidious both to God and Men, being all filled with Hypocriſie, Lyes, and Deceits.

* Chap. 16. 6. 29 * Cut off thine i hair, O Jeruſalem, and caſt it k away, and take up a lamentation on high l places: for the LORD hath rejected and forſaken the generation of his m wrath.

i It was an uſual Token of Sorrow among the Jews to cut off the hair, Job 1. 20. Iſa. 15. 2. Mic. 1. 16 But here he ſpeaketh either 1. to Jeremiah; for O Jeruſalem is not in the Text: or, to the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem; and ſo ſpeaks to them, as a Woman, whoſe Hair is for an Ornament, 1 Cor. 11. 15. Therefore this muſt needs ſignifie an higher degree of Sorrow. Cutting the Hair among the Ancients did ſignifie, 1. Mourning. 2. Bondage. For the cutting of the Hair in Servants was a Token of Subjection: ſo that this ſpeaks Jeruſalem's mournful Condition in her Captivity. k It is not to be reſerved, as ſometimes Men and Women both do for ſome uſe, but to be caſt away, and as a thing good for nought. And thus it may agree with the Churches Lamentation, Lam. 5. 16. for it is not here exhorted to, as a Token of Repentance, but as a threatning of Judgments. l See Chap. 3. 3. Lift up thy Voice on high in Lamentation, when thou haſt thine Eye or Thoughts upon the high places where thou wenteſt a Whoring from me, for which thou now goeſt into Captivity. m Or of his over-running Anger, as ſome render it, i. e. with whom he is extremely vexed, this preſent Generation, that by their Provocations have brought themſelves under his Wrath, Ver. 18. 20. a Generation deſtin'd to the Wrath of God, called elſewhere the People of his Curſe, Iſa. 34. 5. and ſuch as the Apoſtle calls Veſſels of Wrath, Rom. 9. 22. ſo far as it concerns the Phraſe.

* 2 Kings 21. 4. 2 Chron. 33. 4. Ezek. 8. 5, 6. my o ſight, ſaith the LORD; * they have ſet their abomination in the p houſe which is called by my name, to pollute it.

n Either Judah's Poſterity, Joſh. 14 6. or Judah's Inhabitants, which are often called their Children; ſo Chap. 2. 16. o i. e. Though they will not ſee it, yet I ſee it, and they ſhall know, that it is in my ſight, i. e. that it diſpleaſeth me. p Here he inſtanceth in one Species of their Abominations for all the reſt, whereby it appears they were grown to a great height of Impiety: It was not enough to have their Idols and Superſtitions abroad in the Hills and Groves, nor in private in their own Houſes, Iſa 57. 6, 7, 8. Chap. 19. 13. but they muſt bring them into God's Houſe, as Manaſſes did, 2 Kings 21. 4 God having but one Houſe in the World, as it were, to confront him, 2 Chron. 36. 14. Chap. 32. 34. Ezek. 43. 8.

* 2 Kings 23. 10. Chap. 19. 5. 31 And they have built the * high places of q Tophet, which is in the valley of the ſon of r Hinnom, to burn their ſons and their daughters in the ſ fire;
† Heb. Upon my heart. which I commanded them not, neither came it † into my t heart.

q See on Iſa 30. 33. It comes from Toph that ſignifies a drum, becauſe they did beat Drums to hinder the Noiſe of their Childrens Screeches, when they burnt them in Sacrifice upon the Altars, called here high places, to Moloch, which is alſo called Melchom. r Tophet was ſituate in a pleaſant Valley near Jeruſalem, a place in the poſſeſſion of the Children of one Hinnom, Joſh. 15. 8. watered by the River of Siloe. ſ This moſt inhumane Practice of Burning their Children, even their own Bowels, to Moloch, not their Sons only, but their Daughters, who were moſt tender; they did expreſly againſt the Command and Caution of God: See on Deut. 18. 10. having learned it of the Heathen, Deut. 12. 30, 31. the Devil commanding them ſo to do by his Oracles: They took Pattern from the Samaritans, where thoſe of every Nation make Gods of their own, 2 Kings 17. 29, 30, 31. t Which was always ſo far from my approving, that I never let it come into my Thought or Debate, whether I ſhould or not: Or, which I abhorred from my Heart: he ſpeaks herein after the manner of Men. See Chap. 3. 16. and 32, 35.

32 Therefore behold, the days * come, ſaith the * Chap. 16. 6.
LORD, that it ſhall u no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter: for they ſhall bury in Tophet till there be x no place.

u They were called ſo after this, and are known by thoſe Names to this day; but the Meaning is, they ſhall acquire a Name from another Occaſion, that ſhall ſuit them as well, viz. for the great Slaughter that ſhall be made there, or rather thereabouts, in and about Jeruſalem, and therefore called the Valley of Slaughter, from the effect of Slaughter; as Judas's Field was called Akeldama, Acts 1. 19. being a place for burying of the Slain, as the next Words ſhew. x Either there ſhall be ſo great a Slaughter made upon that Spot by the Chaldæans that they ſhall bury as many as the Place will contain, and the reſt of the Carcaſes they ſhall throw on heaps, to rot above-ground; for to lie unburied, is frequently uſed as a Curſe on ſuch, the Burying of the Dead being accounted as a thing ſacred, and a ſignificant Symbol of the Reſurrection: Or, thoſe that are ſlain in and about Jeruſalem, at the Siege and Taking of it, ſhall be carried thither to be buried, either becauſe there ſhall be no Burying-places left about Jeruſalem, or that Valley ſhall be filled, till there be no Place for more, that hereby it may be ſo polluted, that no Thoughts of Holineſs may remain in it: for a dead Carcaſe under the Law was unclean; and that which before was a Valley of Pleaſure and great Delight, and they had dedicated to God, ſhall now be a Valley of Slaughter.

33 And the * carcaſes of this people ſhall be meat * Pſal. 79. 2.
for the fowls of the y heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth: and none ſhall fray them z away. Chap. 12. 9. and 16. 4. and 34. 20.

CHAP. VIII.

The Calamity of the Jews, both dead and alive, 1, —— 3. Their brutiſh Impenitency, 4, —— 7. Their vain boaſt of Wiſdom: their Covetouſneſs, Security, Impudence, 8, —— 12. Their grievous Judgments, 13, —— 17. Bewailed by the Prophet, 18, —— 22.

1 AT that time, ſaith the LORD, they ſhall bring out the a bones of the kings of Judah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the prieſts, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem out of their graves.

a This Chapter being a Continuation of the former, he proceeds in carrying on the Threatning with higher Aggravations of the Judgment, viz. that when the time ſhall come ſpoken of Chap. 7. 32. the Chaldæans Rage ſhall reach, not only to the Living, but even againſt thoſe that are in their Graves, and that ſparing none of any Degree or Quality; of the Nobles and Princes, as Manaſſeh and others, poſſibly led to it out of Greedineſs, ſuppoſing to find great Treaſure in their Sepulchres; of the Prieſts and Prophets, principally the falſe ones, as a juſt Judgment of God againſt them for deceiving the People; of the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, out of their ſpight and fury kindled againſt them, as Soldiers, or in Contempt and Ignominy; and this notes the utter Deſolation of the City, not only razing the Walls, but turning up the very Sepulchres which were accounted ſacred, and not to be violated.

2 And they ſhall b ſpread them before the ſun, and the moon, and all the hoſt of c heaven, whom they have d loved, and whom they have ſerved, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have ſought, and whom they have worſhipped: they ſhall not be gathered, nor be buried; they ſhall be for dung upon the face of the e earth.

b Not gather them together into Charnel-Houſes, as we uſually do out of Humanity, but ſcatter them about as it were to be turned into Duſt and Dung. c Viz. All the reſt of the Stars, to ſhew that they ſhould not lie out in the day-time only, but night alſo, before the Moon and Stars, Chap. 36. 30. Their Carcaſes ſhall be caſt to their Idols, Lev. 26. 30. 2 Kings 23. 14, 20. A kind of Lex Talionis, that as they had ſerved and worſhipped theſe Creatures, God doth, as it were, appoint them as Spectators and Witneſſes of his Vengeance, and what Contempt he pours upon them, their Carcaſes being brought before their Idols, which will be ſo ſhameful, as if one ſhould draw forth the Adultereſs, with the Adulterer into open view, and expoſe them together, and it alſo inſinuates the inability that is in theſe dumb Idols to help them in their miſery. d This and the following terms ſerve to expreſs the greatneſs and variety of their affection and zeal in their worſhipping of them, Deut. 4. 19. 2 Kings 23. 5. Chap. 7. 18. he multiplies words, as it were implying, that there can hardly be words enough to expreſs their folly and madneſs, the Gentiles worſhipping theſe Creatures, not only for their beauty and luſtre, but according to their ancient Philoſophy apprehending them to have been living Creatures, and that all events were ordered by them. e On the ſuperficies of it, there ſhall be no care taken of them, but they ſhall lie in the open Country in the Air, till they rot into dung, or dry into duſt, as in the beginning of the Verſe. See Pſal. 83. 10. Chap. 9. 22. they ſhall be ignominious even after Death.

3 And death ſhall be choſen rather than f life, by all the reſidue of them that remain of this evil family, which remain in all the places whither I have g driven them, ſaith the LORD of h hoſts.

f A Deſcription of the unexpreſſibleneſs of their miſery, that notwithſtanding all the barbariſm of the Babylonians exerciſed both upon the living, and the dead, yet a ſmall matter in compariſon of what the living would feel, of the greatneſs of which miſery there was a double cauſe; not only their being led into Captivity, but God's diſpleaſure following them, even in their baniſhment, being ſorely oppreſſed, one of thoſe threatnings, Lev. 26. 36, 39. See Job 3. 20, 21. Rev. 9. 6. g Some diſperſed among the Mountains, and hiding places of Judea, others in the Deſart of Moab and Idumea, whither they fled for fear of the Chaldæans, and all other places, where God would ſcatter them, an Hypallage. h He that hath all the Creatures as an Army at his Command, can do this againſt thoſe, with whom he is diſpleaſed.

4 ¶ Moreover, thou ſhalt ſay i unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD, ſhall they fall, and not k ariſe? ſhall he turn away, and not l return?

c Though poſſibly it be all in vain, yet thou ſhalt keep in thy work. k An Interrogation that hath the force of a negative, i. e. ſurely none, or will Men, is there no hope? And are they upon this ground deſperate? Or rather will Men fall and not ariſe? Are they ſuch Fools? that having fallen by their ſins, and been foretold all that is coming, that they will not accept of a remedy, Chap. 7. 27. Hoſ. 14. 1. l A Metaphor taken from one that is out of his way, can any imagine, that if one tell him of it, and direct him aright, that he will not hearken to him, and turn back? It is even againſt Nature it ſelf for a Man not to ſeek his own good.

5 Why then is this people of Jeruſalem ſlidden back, by m a perpetual backſliding? They hold faſt n deceit, they refuſe to return.

m Either an univerſal backſliding. Or, rather obſtinately reſolved to hold on, though they ſee they are out of the way; not out of levity or inconſiderateneſs, the Heb. word ſignifies ſtrength, the ſame uſed, Pſal. 13. 1. and tranſlated for ever, implying a ſtrong, ſtiff, ſtout refuſal. See Iſa. 57. 17. Chap. 5. 3. n Either their injuſtice and cozenages in circumventing one another, which was ſo frequent among them, Chap. 9. 4, 5, 6. Mic. 7. 3, 4. or their Hypocriſie whereby they thought to deceive God, but they did indeed deceive themſelves; the great impediment of their Repentance, Iſa. 44. 20. or rather their ſticking cloſe to their falſe Prophets who did deceive them, thence incouraging themſelves in their wickedneſs, and pleaſing themſelves, that their Miſeries ſhould not come upon them. See on Iſa 30. 10. Chap. 5. 31. and 14. 13, 14, &c.

6 I hearkened and o heard, but they ſpake not p aright, no man repented him of his wickedneſs, ſaying, What have q I done? Every one turned to his r courſe, as the horſe ruſheth into the battle.

o i. e. That I might hear, the words rather of God than of the Prophet, which the continuance of the Speech ſeems to ſhew in the next Verſe, in the cloſe whereof it is plain that God ſpeaks, expreſſing himſelf after the manner of Men, who are wont to liſten diligently after the things they are very deſirous of. See 1 King. 20. 33. Mal. 3. 16. p Or not ſo as the LXX, and the word is thus uſed, Exod. 10. 11. Pſal. 1. 4, not ſo as I would have had them, ſo far from Repentance, that I do not perceive a word from them tending that way. q I ſee no tendency to Repentance, I ſee none of them ſo much as calling themſelves to an account, not recoiling upon themſelves, where Repentance uſually begins, 2 Chron. 6. 37. as Men uſe upon an inconſiderate act to ſmite upon their Breaſt, or Thigh, and ſay what have I done, as 2 Sam. Chap. 3. Verſe 24. r To their accuſtomed way, committing all wickedneſs without reſtraint. See on Iſa. 59. 7. the fury and unbridledneſs of their Luſts, being ſpurred on by their Wills, is deſcribed in the next expreſſion, ſhewing how like a headſtrong Horſe, he runs away with his Rider, or compared to the delight, that an Horſe ſeems to take in running violently, and headſtrongly into the Battle, as it is deſcribed, Job 39. 21, &c. and this word ruſhing, ſignifying properly an inundation of waters, helps to ſhew their uncontroulableneſs in another Metaphor: See this verified of them, Chap. 2. 23, 24. It is ſaid every one by an hyperbole, as Pſal. 14. 3. and frequently elſewhere.

7 Yea, the ſtork in the r heaven knoweth her appointed ſ times; and the turtle, and the crane, and the ſwallow obſerve the time of their t coming; but * my people know u not the x judgment of the LORD.

So the word is uſed, 1 Sam. 2. 13. and 8. 11.

8 How do ye ſay, We are y wiſe, and the law of the LORD is z with us? Lo, certainly a ‖ in vain made he it, the pen of the ſcribes is b in vain.

y q. d. Theſe things conſidered where is your Wiſdom? When you ſee the very Fowls of the Air are not ſo ſtupid, as you are; he ſpeaks either to Princes and Prieſts, or to the whole body of the People. z This may be underſtood either more general of all, or may have a more ſpecial Eye to the Prieſts, with whom it was intruſted, Deut. 33. 10. Mal. 2. 7. They were wont to boaſt much of the Law, as well as of the Temple, Chap. 18. 18. Rom. 2. 17, 23. a q. d. for any uſe they made of it, they had as good have been without it, God needed not to have given them a Law, Hoſ. 8. 12. b Neither need it ever have been copyed out divulged, and conveighed down to them by the Scribe, Deut. 17. 18. or the prevarications, and colluſions theſe Lawyers uſed in the falſe interpretation of the Law, wherein they ſided with the falſe Prophets, ſhould be in vain. l The people at length ſeem to bethink themſelves, and thus to beſpeak each other. m In the ſcattered Villages, there is no ſafety for us, let us retire into places of greater ſecurity, Matth. 24. 16, 17, 18. poſſibly they thought they might be ſecured there, as they had been before in the time of Sennacherib. n Keep cloſe within our walls, ſay or do nothing to provoke the Enemy, but ſit down, and bewail the deſperateneſs of our condition, Lam. 3. 28, 29. or tremblingly expect the iſſue of this ſad War, for there is no poſſibility of making head againſt ſuch an Enemy, that bears down all before them. o They now begin to perceive, that the Hand of God is in all this, and that therefore they have not a word to ſay, as if they were wronged, God hath put them to ſhame; much leſs courage to oppoſe the Babylonians, their heart fails them, they are as Men in a great terror and conſternation, God hath put us to ſilence, let us be ſilent. p Or Poiſon probably the name of ſome poiſonous Herb, with the juice or infuſion whereof they were wont to kill Perſons, as Hemlock, Nightſhade, &c. See Hoſ. 10. 4. it notes thoſe bitter deſtructive Judgments that God was bringing upon them, Chap 9. 15. which did ſpring from that bitter root of their ſinning againſt him, as in the next words.

* Chap. 14. 19. 15 We * looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold, q trouble.

q Viz. Upon the perſwaſion of our Prophets, we expected that theſe Troubles would never come, but all would be well, but we find our ſelves meerly deluded by them, we looked ſo long, till even our Eyes failed us, but we ſee no remedy for us, Lam. 4. 17. A Metaphor: Miſeries are often in Scripture compared to Diſeaſes, and Deliverances to healing, Deut. 32. 39. Pſal. 103. 3. Chap. 33. 6.

16 The r ſnorting of his horſes was heard from ſ Dan: the whole land trembled at the ſound of the neighing of his t ſtrong ones: for they are come and have devoured the land and † all that is u in it; the x city, and thoſe that dwell therein.

r The fury of the Chaldæans March is deſcribed by the ſnorting of their Horſes, which is a noiſe they make through their Noſtrils, when they are chafed, and fretted. ſ i. e. Even to Jeruſalem, q.d. the dreadfulneſs of the noiſe ſhall be heard from far, or rather, tho Jeruſalem ſeem to be ſecure, yet the furtheſt Coaſts of the Land are in great conſternation, viz. the outmoſt boundary of Canaan Northward, through which the Chaldæan Army was to march. See Chap. 4. 15. or it is ſaid to be heard, either the noiſe it ſelf, or the fame of it, Chap. 6. 24. t His choice Horſes or Cavalry, or his ſtout and ſturdy ones, as the word ſignifies, and expreſſed by their briſk frollickſomneſs and courage in the word neighing properly applied to Horſes, underſtanding here the chief of them, and the word for ſtrong ones is applyed to any thing, that excels, as to Man, Job 34. 20. to Angels, Pſal. 78. 25. Angels food, or the bread of the mighty. And for Horſes as here, and Judg. 5. 22. Chap. 47. 3. u Heb. the fulneſs of it, the Trees, and Fruits, and wealth of the Land, they are entered upon their ſpoil, and will leave nothing in the Land, Chap. 4. 20. It is ſpoken in a Prophetical ſtile, who uſe to expreſs the certainty of what ſhall be, as if it actually were already. x viz. Jeruſalem, or rather the Cities with all their Inhabitants, as well as the Country, the ſingular number being put for the plural, as Iſa. 27. 10.

17 For behold, I will ſend ſerpents, cockatrices, among you, which will not be y * charmed, and they ſhall z bite you, ſaith the LORD.

* Pſal. 58 4, 5.

y He proceeds in increaſing of their terrour, q. d. there will be no appeaſing, or allaying of their fury by any art or method, therefore repreſented by the Cockatrice, called in Latine Regulus, or King of Serpents, as putting to flight all other Serpents, but by appoſition to Serpents, ſhewing what kind of Serpent they ſhall be, a ſort that cannot be charmed, viz. ſuch an Enemy as by no intreaty can be made exorable: See on Iſa. 11. 8. LXX, deadly Serpents. z They ſhall afflict you with ſore Puniſhments, not only Stings in their Tails, as Scorpions, but in their Teeth, whereby they ſhall devour you, Verſe 16.

18 When I would comfort my ſelf againſt a ſorrow: my heart is faint † in me.

a The language of the People being long ſhut up in their Cities, and finding no relief, at laſt faint, Lam. 4. 17. But more probably the Prophet now ſeems to ſpeak his own Reſentments, how greatly the Calamity of his People did affect him, the like Iſa 22. 4. when he would ſometimes refreſh himſelf with the comfortable Refreſhments of Nature, the thoughts of his Peoples Miſery do ſo afflict him, that his Heart is ready to faint, to ſink within him.

19 Behold, the voice of the b cry of the c daughter of my people, † becauſe of them that dwell in a far d country: Is not the LORD in e Zion? is not her King in her? why have they provoked me to f anger with their graven images, and with g ſtrange vanities?

b i. e. The greatneſs of their Cry, the bitter Cries and Schreeches and Complaints that methinks I hear: The words are abrupt, becauſe the Prophet is to repreſent ſeveral Perſons ſpeaking; himſelf, the People, and God. c See Chap. 4. 11. poſſibly becauſe Jeremiah loved them, inſtructed them, admoniſhed them as a Daughter. d Viz. Their Enemies the Babylonians, that were to come againſt them from a very far Country, Chap. 6. 22. or the voice of them that were Captives under thoſe of a far Country, now they begin to cry, which would not be perſwaded to it before; the firſt is moſt to be approved of. e Viz. In Jeruſalem, a Metonymy of the Subject. f Or as King in Zion, or have we not a King of the Seed of David, to whom the Kingdom was granted to be perpetual? Either the words of God, q. d. was not I among you to provide for you, and protect you, but you muſt needs repair to Idols? The like kind of Speech is in 2 King. 1. 3. and the cloſe of the Verſe ſeems to favour this, or, as others, an expoſtulatory Lamentation of the People, that the cruel Adverſary ſhould prevail over a People, that had God ſo near them, Pſal. 48. 2, 3. and 76. 1, 2. hath God now left us? and is the promiſe of his continuance here at an end? Pſal. 89. 36, 37, 38. g As if God ſhould ſeem to reply here; Let them not think it ſtrange, ſeeing they have turned their backs upon me, and truſted to Idols, which are but vanity, Chap. 2. 11, 13. called vanity, not only becauſe Idols are as nothing, but becauſe all the Confidence that is put in them is vain, and becauſe Idolaters are vain in their Minds, and want underſtanding. I have not forſaken them, but they me.

20 The harveſt is h paſt, the ſummer is ended, and we are not i ſaved.

h And the Winter no time for War, the Peoples continued complaint, not unlike that Ver. 15. the Year is gone, and we are ſtill fruſtrated in our expectations, the time that we expected help from Egypt, Iſa. 30. 2, 3, 5. i Viz. By the Egyptians, or any other Confederates.

21 For the k hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt; I am l black; m aſtoniſhment hath taken hold on me.

k The Prophet here ſhews how deeply he is affected with the Peoples miſery, he deeply ſympathized with them, it ſignifies breach, I am broken in my Spirit, and ſo it anſwers to the breach that is made upon the People. l I am as thoſe that are clad in deep Mourning, Pſal. 38. 6. Chap. 14. 2. m I am amazed to think that my People ſhould ſin themſelves beyond help, no remedy for them, as the next Verſe, that no threatnings or Counſels ſhould prevail with them.

22 Is there no * balm in n Gilead? Is there no o Phyſician there? why then is not the health of the daughter of my people † p recovered.

* Gen. 37. 25. chap. 46. 11 and 51. 8. || Heb. gone up.

n Gilead was eminent for Balm, Gen. 43. 11. taken for Roſin or Turpentine, which is a kind of more liquid Roſin, and either flows, or drops from certain Trees of its own accord, or their juice flows from ſeveral holes pierced into them, as from the Pine, Cedar, Cypreſs, or Terebinth Tree. Heb. Tſeri. Gr. ῥητίνη from ῥέω to flow, or run. Lat. Reſina. Engl. Roſin. A near affinity of the words in each Language, the nature whereof is to diſſolve hardneſs, to clear, and cloſe up wounds. o Or Chirurgeon, probably in a Country where were ſuch plenty of Remedies, there could not want Artiſts, whereby their Cures might be facilitated, by means of which the Gileadites and Arabians did excel there. p Heb. gone up; the like expreſſion, 2 Chron. 24. 13. the work was perfected, Heb. the healing, went up upon the work, and ſo Neh. 4. 7. the Prophet expreſſeth his grievous complaint by way of admiration, by a Metaphor, implying the inveteracy and obſtinacy of their Hearts, that either would not come to the Phyſician, or that they ſhould be thus incurable, where they wanted not for Prophets and Teachers, or for any ſpiritual means, flowing down daily upon them; can Jeruſalem and Judea be without ſpiritual Phyſicians? Some underſtand it by way of Sarcaſm, q. d. where are your Medicines, your Arms, your Counſels, your Confederacies? And where are your Phyſicians, your Princes and Prieſts that promiſed you Relief? Without God, you ſee, no help in any means; but the former more natural, and agrees beſt with the beginning of the next Chapter.

CHAP. IX.

The Prophet's Lamentation continueth over their Adultery, Deceit, Idolatry, which God would certainly puniſh, and they ſhould be laid waſte, when they ſhould ſufficiently lament, 1,—22. No truſt in our ſelves, but in God, who will puniſh all Nations, 23,—26.

1 OH † * that my head were q waters, and mine eyes a fountain of tears, that I might weep day and night for the r ſlain of the daughter of my people.

† Heb. who will give my head, &c. * Iſa. 22. 4. Chap. 4. 19. and 14. 17.

q Heb. who will give, &c. by way of enquiry, becauſe the Hebrews do want the Imperative Mood; the Prophet in this Chapter principally bewailing his poor Countrey-mens Calamity, whom he therefore calls the Daughter of his People, he expreſſeth the greatneſs and exceſs of his Sorrows, by wiſhing that his Brains were as it were diſſolved into water, (for the word is ſingular) as if he wiſhed it were all one water, ſignifying plenty, and that his eyes might diſtil tears like a fountain; the ſame word in the Heb. for Eye ſignifies a Fountain; noting the continuance of it, as not to be drawn dry, expreſſed by Day and Night, apprehending it a miſery ſo great, as never ſufficiently to be bewailed. See Luk. 19. 41. r Or that are to be ſlain, viz. by the Babylonians, a prophetical ſtile, as ſure to be ſlain, as if they were ſlain already.

2 Oh that I had in the wilderneſs a lodging place of ſ way-faring men: that I might leave my people, and go from them: for * they be all t adulterers, an aſſembly of treacherous u men.

* Chap. 5. 7, 8.

ſ He proceeds in his Lamentation, which in the former Verſe he did by way of Compaſſion, in this in a way of Indignation, wiſhing for ſome retiring place or ſorry ſhed, or night-Cottage: See on Iſa. 24. 20. though it were but ſome mean and ſorry Hutt in the Wilderneſs, as David, Pſal. 55. 6, 7. ſuch as might but ſhelter him from the Injuries of the Weather: LXX. in ſome remoteſt Station or Corner, where he might not be an Eye-witneſs of their Miſeries to grieve him ſo at the heart, Pſal. 119. 136, 158. See 2 Pet. 2. 7, 8. and where he might hope to find better Entertainment from the ſavage Beaſts, than from his own Countrymen. t i. e. For the moſt part, Chap. 5. 8. both Properly and Metaphorically, being full of all idolatrous Practices; or there is no Integrity found among them. u That deal perfidiouſly with God and Man in all the Concerns they are converſant about, Iſa. 1. 4. And though the Word here for Aſſembly is moſt ordinarily uſed for an Holy Aſſembly, Lev. 23. 36. Num. 29. 35. which cauſeth ſome to underſtand it of their being moſt vile when they ſhould be moſt devout; yet here it moſt naturally ſignifies a kind of Combination among them, as ſuch that have conſpired one among another to act all manner of Villainies.

* Iſa. 59. 4, 13, 15. 3 And * they x bend their tongues like their y bow for z lyes: but they are not valiant for the a truth upon the b earth: for they proceed from evil to c evil, and they know not me, ſaith the LORD.

x Heb. Tread, becauſe Bows are uſually kneeled or trod upon when they are bent, Chap. 50. 14. and 51. 3. y Their Tongues are here compared to a Bow, and Lyes to Arrows, becauſe as a Bow ſhoots out Arrows, ſo doth the Tongue Words, Pſal. 64. 3. z i. e. All reproachful, falſe, and noxious Words, to the damage of one another: and ſo bending may be preparing, framing, and contriving, that Miſchief which they purpoſe to vent with their Tongues, Pſal. 52. 2, 3, 4. and 64. 3. as Bending is preparing the Bow to do Execution with the Arrow. a Equity, Juſtice, they are as eager in the ways of Falſhood as Men engaged in War, but ſhew no Valour in maintaining the Truth. b i. e. No Truth in the Earth in them, as we uſe to expreſs our ſelves, or rather more genuinely in the Land wherein they live, they have no Courage in what is good. c Either in kind, or in degree, they go on from bad to worſe, 2 Tim. 3. 13. which ſpeaks little Hopes of their Repentance; the ground of all which is ſaid here to be, their not knowing of God, as in the next Clauſe, Judg. 2. 10, 11. 1 Sam. 2. 12. The heart cannot work ſtrongly after God, where there be but mean Apprehenſions of him.

* Chap. 12. 6. Mic. 7. 5, 6. ‖ Or, Friend. 4 * Take ye heed every one of his ‖ d neighbour, and truſt ye not in any brother: for every brother will utterly e ſupplant, and every neighbour will walk with f ſlanders.

d Better rendred Friend or Companion, as 2 Sam. 16. 17. and in the next Verſe, ſhewing, the general Corruption will be ſo malignant, that one Friend will betray another; no Faith in Friends. e Wholly given to it. Heb. Supplanting will ſupplant, or treading down, treadeth down; trampling them under their Feet, noting their Oppreſſion, which they exerciſe all manner of ways, as in the next Verſe, both by Fraud and Force. Like the Interpretation that Eſau puts upon Jacob, Gen. 27. 36. not only ſuch as are near in Habitation, pretending Neighbourhood and Friendſhip, but near in Relation, even a Brother will circumvent, no reſpect to Blood, arguing them to be monſtrous in Nature, putting off Humanity. The Word is here in Alluſion to Jacob, who had his Name from Supplanting; a Metaphor taken from the Sole of the Foot, Gen. 25. 26. f Carrying Tales and Reports up and down, whether true or falſe, to the Diſturbance of the Peace of Neighbourhood, Chap. 6. 28. and againſt the Law of God, Lev. 19. 16.

‖ Or, mock. 5 And they will g ‖ deceive every one his neighbour, and will not ſpeak the truth: they have h taught their tongues to ſpeak lyes, and i weary themſelves to commit iniquity.

g Heb. mock or deride; they are Scoffers. h They have ſo framed their Tongues to it by Cuſtom, and conſtant Uſe, that Lying is become ſo familiar to them, that they cannot leave it: the ſame Word is apply'd to the wild Aſs, uſed or taught to the Wilderneſs, Chap. 2. 24. and 13. 23. i They uſe a great deal of Induſtry, Diligence, and Contrivance in it, Pſal. 7. 14. Iſa. 5. 18. They ſpare for no Labour, and feel no Wearineſs in it, whereby they are become expert.

6 Thine habitation is in the midſt of k deceit: through deceit they refuſe to l know me, ſaith the LORD.

k This God ſpeaks to the Prophet, either to inform him, that there is no hope of this Peoples Reformation, Chap. 8. 5. therefore he expreſſeth a deceitful People by the Abſtract, Deceit, i. e. nothing among them, but Deceit one to another, and Hypocriſie towards me, as Pſal. 109. 2. and Vanity for vain Men, Job 35. 13. or to caution and adviſe him, how to behave himſelf among ſuch a People, that he be very wary, he be not enſnared by them, Chap. 12. 6. l Either hoping to ſhift well enough by their ſeveral means they think to uſe, Chap. 8. 5. they are careleſs of turning to me, or by hearkening to their falſe Prophets, who have all along deceived them, they obſtinately reject my Ways and Counſels, Pſal. 36. 1, 2, 3, 4. and 82. 5.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; Behold, I will melt them, and m try them: for how ſhall I n do for the daughter of my people?

m The ſame Metaphor uſed Chap. 6. 29. try them by melting them, i. e. Either I will try what leſſer Afflictions will do, before I do utterly deſtroy them; or rather, I will bring Judgment upon them, the Fire and Fury of the Chaldæan War, that ſhall clear away their Droſs from among them, and purge away thoſe Deceits in which they truſt, that the Remnant may be purified, Dan. 11. 35. as when the Droſs is ſeparated from Metals, the reſt remains pure. See on Iſa. 1. 25. n q. d. There is no Remedy, I have tried all other means, and they have been ineffectual, my People will take no warning; they are grown to ſuch an height of Impiety, that I can do no leſs, though they are my People, Hoſ. 6. 4. or God doth expoſtulate with them, How can you expect, that I ſhould treat you otherwiſe, that have ſo provoked me, and whoſe Impieties have redounded ſo much to my Diſhonour?

8 Their tongue is as an o arrow ſhot out; it ſpeaketh p * deceit: one ſpeaketh * peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but † in q heart he layeth ‖ his wait. * Pſal. 12. 2. and 120. 3. * Pſal. 28. 3. † Heb. in the midſt of him. ‖ Or, wait for him.

o Before, Verſe 3. it was compared to a Bow, i. e. ready prepared, and furniſhed with Materials contriving their Wickedneſs, Pſal. 11. 2. and here to an Arrow ſhot out, actually executing what they have deſigned. Some tranſlate it, a murthering Arrow. p Never ſpeaking what they mean, that thereby they may the eaſier deceive the Credulous; a double Tongue, ſpeaking fair when they mean to deſtroy, Pſal. 55. 21. as the next Words explain it, intending to do the greateſt Miſchief when they ſpeak faireſt. q Heb. in midſt of him, i. e. in his very Inwards, with his whole Heart he contrives miſchief.

9 ∴ Shall I not viſit them for theſe things, ſaith the LORD; ſhall not my ſoul be avenged on ſuch a nation as this?

∴ See Chap. 5. 9, 29.

10 For the mountains will I take up a weeping, and r wailing, and * for the ‖ habitations ſ of the wilderneſs a lamentation, becauſe they are ‖ burnt up, ſo that none can paſs t through them, neither can men hear the voice of the u cattel; † both the fowls of the heavens, and the beaſts are fled, they are gone. *Chap. 12. 4. and 23. 10. Hoſ. 4. 3. ‖ Or, paſtures. ‖ Or, deſolate. † Heb. from the fowl even to, &c.

r The Prophet having, Ver. 1. taken up a Lamentation for the Slaughter of the People, he now re-aſſumes it for the Deſolation of the whole Land, every part of it being to be laid waſte: ſee Chap. 4. 23, 26. And it either ſets forth the greatneſs of his Grief, that ſhall reach to the very mountains, as the Words may be read, or rather, the Cauſe of his Mourning, becauſe he preſently adds, for the Habitations of the Wilderneſs. ſ Plain, or Valley, as it often ſignifies; ſo the Word is uſed Iſa. 63. 13, 14. or pleaſant Plains. The Country of Judea being mountainous, theſe Plains and Valleys were their chief places for Paſtorage, which doth greatly aggravate the Devaſtation; theſe ſhall be burnt up, the Herbage ſo burnt, that it ſhall be left utterly barren, like a parched Heath, Verſe 12. The Mountains ſhall not be able to ſecure them, nor the Valleys to feed them. t Either there being no Path; the LXX render it, on the Paths of the Wilderneſs, or none to paſs to and fro, and ſo leave it deſolate; or ſo parched, and waſte, that none can paſs through it, ſo far are they from being inhabited, Chap. 2. 6. u There, where once all ſort of Cattel and Fowls in great plenty were wont to feed and graze, there is not ſo much as the Chirping of a Bird, the Bleating of a Sheep, or Lowing of an Ox to be heard. See Chap. 23. 10, 12, 13. and 50. 3. They are ſaid to be fled and gone; either the Enemy hath ſwept away all, or they have forſaken the Land, becauſe there was no Food, Jer. 12. 4. A Figurative Expreſſion of an Univerſal Deſolation.

11 And I will make Jeruſalem x heaps, and a * den of y Dragons; and I will make the cities of Judah † deſolate, without an inhabitant. * Iſa. 34. 13. Chap. 10. 22. † Heb. deſolation.

x Viz. Of Stones, and Rubbiſh. y Noting a deſolate place, not any longer fit for the Habitation of Mankind, as the next Words do ſpeak; but for hideous Beaſts; as they had made uſe of the Temple for a Den of Thieves, Chap. 7. 11. The ſame alſo he afterwards threatens on Babylon her ſelf, Chap. 51. 37.

12 * Who is the wiſe-man, that may underſtand z this? and who is he to whom the mouth of the LORD hath ſpoken, that he may a declare it, for what the land periſheth, and is burnt up like a wilderneſs, that none paſſeth through. *Pſal. 107. 43.

z Viz. The ground of all theſe Evils, q. d. Is there not a wiſe man among you, that will concern himſelf, and ſearch into the Cauſe of all theſe threatned Judgments, which hath provoked God to ſo great Diſpleaſure? See Hoſ. 14. 9. It is a Queſtion that implies there is none, or very few, that conſider common Calamities in the Cauſes of them; but rather ſay of Judgments, it is a Chance, 1 Sam. 6. 9.

13 And the LORD ſaith, a Becauſe they have forſaken my b law, which I ſet before c them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein;

a Either this, and the next Verſe refers to the former, viz. becauſe there are none can give the Reaſon why the Land periſheth, therefore God will; or elſe they refer to the 15 and 16 Verſes, as ſhewing the Cauſes of thoſe Judgments threatned; for either of the References do not alter the Sence: ſee Chap. 5. 19. this Verſe contains negative Reaſons. b He chargeth them with their Apoſtaſie, and refuſing to obey his Precepts, and conform their Converſation to them. c Leſt they ſhould plead they were obſcure and hard to be underſtood, therefore he tells them, he had made it plain to them, they could not be ignorant of it, except it were out of Wilfulneſs and Obſtinacy: The like Expreſſion, Deut. 11. 32.

d Or Stubbornneſs and Obſtinacy: ſee Chap. 7. 24. e See Ch. 2. 23. The Prophet doth not charge them with new Crimes, but with their tenacious ſticking to their Idolatry. f See Chap. 7. 18.

It ſeems they might partly thank their Education for it, as well as their own natural Perverſeneſs: hence we ſhould learn to follow God's Counſel in the Scriptures, and not blindly follow our Fathers Counſel, Precepts, or Examples, or our own Will, which is the worſt Guide.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will feed them, even this g people, with * h wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink. * Chap. 23. 15.

g This Supplement even ſhews that it is ſpoken emphatically, though they be a People that preſume to be my peculiar. h Worms, Dutch Annot. A Plant to purifie and cleanſe them, ſay ſome; but this doth not ſeem to be ſpoken in favour to them; therefore rather ſome poiſonous Plant, which may agree to any other deſtructive Herb, as well as Wormwood, and this the Heb. word doth intimate, to which purpoſe the Water of Gall is mentioned in the next Words, both joined together, Deut. 29. 18 poſſibly the one pointing at their Drink, the other at their Bread, both metaphorically to be underſtood, of which ſee on Chap. 8. 14.

16 I will i * ſcatter them alſo among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers have k known: and I will ſend a ſword after l them, till I have conſumed them. * Lev. 26. 33. Deut. 28. 64.

i Either you ſhall wander up and down among Strangers, like Cain's Curſe; or rather, you ſhall have no Friend abroad, but be ſold as ſo many Slaves from perſon to perſon. k Part of the Curſe threatned, Deut. 28. 64. l Neither ſhall this ſerve their turn, but I will follow them with the Sword, till they be deſtroyed, probably meant of thoſe that might eſcape out of Jeruſalem, and fly into Egypt, the Chaldæan ſhould purſue them thither, and either take or ſlay them there, i. e. ſuch of them as were appointed for Deſtruction; for otherwiſe, they were not all conſumed a full End was not to be made, as is promiſed Chap. 5. 10.

17 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts; m conſider ye, and call for the mourning n women, that they may come; and ſend for o cunning women that they may come.

m Either in how ſad a Condition you are, what Circumſtances you are under; or rather, bethink your ſelves what Courſe to take: and therefore he puts them upon mourning and bewailing their Condition, intimated by the following Expreſſion. n A ſort of Perſons, and principally Women, as more apt for Paſſions in this kind, which they had among them, 2 Chron. 35. 25. whoſe Work it was, either to compoſe Funeral Elegies, or Panegyricks in praiſe of the Dead, and to act them in ſome mournful manner, as tearing their Hair, and beating their Breaſts, with other mourning poſtures, or to ſing them in ſome doleful Tone, thereby artificially to provoke and excite both Paſſions and Expreſſions of Grief in the Friends of the Deceaſed, rather wringing out Tears than ſhedding them, in which probably they made greater ſeeming Lamentations, than thoſe that did really mourn, as being moſt concerned; not that God calls upon them to do this as approving the Formality, (though this fooliſh Cuſtom had obtained in moſt Ages and Countries) any more, than other Cuſtoms that were made uſe of by way of Illuſtration; as the Olympick Games, and poſſibly that Practice mentioned 1 Cor. 15. 29. but makes uſe of it, as being cuſtomary, either to excite them to, and put them upon true Repentance, or to convince them hereby, that they were not able themſelves ſufficiently to bewail ſo great Calamities as were coming upon them, intimating hereby, that he would give them occaſion for the moſt unfeigned weeping and Lamentation. o Such as are moſt skilful in it, Amos 5. 16. Wiſdom being taken for Skill in any Arts, as Exod. 31. 3. and elſewhere.

18 And let them make p haſte, and take up a wailing q for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eye-lids guſh out with r waters.

p As by the calling for their Artificial Mourners, he did intimate the greatneſs of the Miſery that was coming upon them, that with all their Art they could not ſufficiently bewail it; ſo here, by making haſte, he intimates the near Approach of it, that it was even at the doors. q Pitch upon ſome form of Mourning that may be ſuitable to our Condition. r This and the former are each of them an Hyperbolical Expreſſion, and yet are too little to bewail the greatneſs of the Judgment, which ſuits with the Prophet's Lamentation, Ver. 1. The Prophet would herein intimate, that they that were ſo ſtupid as to hear the Prophets denouncing their Judgments with dry eyes, tho he wiſh'd them to have been Fountains of Tears, ſhall now ſuddenly feel, that they ſhall have cauſe enough to ſend for all the Helps, not only real but artificial, to ſtir up their Mournings.

19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of t Zion, How are we u ſpoiled? We are greatly x confounded, becauſe we have forſaken the land, becauſe our dwellings have caſt us out.

t i. e. Jeruſalem, ſpoken in the Preſent Tenſe, after the Prophetical Stile, being a frequent way of the Prophet's expreſſing the Certainty of a thing. u How great is our Miſery? or how come we to be in ſuch a deſolate Condition? poſſibly Expreſſions of the Artificial Mourners, or rather their real Sence of it, now it is all too late. x Whether this be the Complaint of the Country people forced to fly from their Habitation to Jeruſalem for ſhelter, or of Jeruſalem it ſelf, that could expect no leſs, it filled them with great Conſternation, that they who thought their Houſes ſhould have continued for ever, becauſe of God's Promiſe, Pſal. 132. 10, &c must now forſake them, Lev. 18. 25. Either their Perſons carried out into Captivity, or have them utterly demoliſhed by the Enemy.

20 y Yet hear the word of the z LORD, O ye a women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth, and teach your daughters wailing, and every one her b neighbour lamentation.

y Or therefore, i. e. z Do not think I ſpeak words out of my own Mind or Fancy, but what I ſpeak is from the Lord. a Either thoſe hired Women mentioned before, or rather the Women of the Land, for God would have it not a mercenary, but a real Mourning; and he mentioneth Women, 1. To upbraid the Men with their Stupidity; 2. As being more apt to grieve, thereby to expreſs the Readineſs that he would have the Land to be in for Mourning; 3. Becauſe of the decay and want there would be of Men, as is expreſſed in the next Verſe, by reaſon partly of the Slaughter, and partly of the Captivity; therefore here is mention of Women with reference to Children in the next Verſe, after whom their Bowels would yearn, and Daughters, either the Scholars of the Mourning Women, or rather, with reference to Young-men, unto whom they might be given in Marriage; 4. Becauſe the Female Sex is leaſt able to help themſelves in a common Calamity; or 5. Becauſe they would be leaſt ſolicitous, but would indulge their Delicacies, Pride, Sloth, and Wantonneſs, Iſa. 32. 9, 11. b Heb. A Woman her Friend, namely, that the Grief might ſpread the farther, and become deeper; for Affections and Paſſions, of what kind ſoever, are augmented by Company: it notes how large and univerſal the Mourning ſhould be, Amos 5. 16.

21 For death is come up c into our windows, and is entred into our palaces, to cut off the children from without d, and the young-men from the ſtreets.

c The Unavoidableneſs of the Ruin is expreſſed metaphorically, Ezek 21. 14. Chap. 6. 5 moſt likely alluding to the violent and univerſal ſtorming of a City, Chap. 5. 10. wherein there is no reſpect had to Sex, Youth, or Age. Several other Alluſions. See Engl. Annot. The Chaldæans are here underſtood by death, as bringing Death where-ever they come; a Metonymy of the Effect. d No ſafety within or without; the Enemy ſhall cut off all, not only thoſe at home, but even thoſe that are converſing or playing in the Streets, which moſt commonly Young-men and Children are, Chap. 6. 11.

22 a Speak, thus ſaith the LORD; even the b carcaſes of men ſhall fall as dung upon the open c field, and as the handful after the d harveſt-man, and none ſhall gather e them.

a Leſt they ſhould think theſe Things would never be, ceaſe not to tell them from me, that they ſhall certainly come to paſs, viz. what was ſaid before, and what is ſaid now in this Verſe (theſe Words, ſpeak, thus ſaith the Lord, being beſt read in a Parentheſis.) b Heb. A Carcaſe of a Man, noting here and there a ſcattered Carcaſe. c As Jezabel was, 2 Kings 9. 37. expoſed to all Contempt, ſtrewed up and down on the Superficies of the Earth. Heb. Face of the Field, and be offenſive by their ſtench to all that paſs by, Chap. 44. 12. d Either laid in heaps by death, as the Harveſt-man doth his Cocks of Hay, or Sheaves of Corn, or rather, they ſhall be no more regarded than a few ſcattered Ears that drop out of the Reapers hand, which either lye on the ground and are eaten by Birds, or trod to dirt by Beaſts: thus God would pour Contempt upon them, which muſt needs be grievous to ſo proud a People as the Jews were. e None ſhall have ſo much reſpect to them, or Compaſſion of them, as to afford Burial, Chap. 8. 2.

23 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD; let not the wiſe man glory in his wiſdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, nor let the rich man glory in his f riches.

f The Jews did glory in the Counſel of their Wiſe-men, the ſtrength of the Soldiers, and the Wealth of their Cities; but here God takes them off from their vain Confidences, that neither their Counſels and Policy, Eccl. 9. 11. nor their Forces and Arms, Pſal. 33. 16, 17. nor their Wealth, or Riches, Prov. 11. 4. Ezek 7. 19. ſhould be able to deliver them from being either deſtroyed, or carried Captive by the Chaldæans. In theſe, or ſome of theſe, Men are apt to put their Confidences, and neglect God their only Succour in diſtreſs; and therefore he puts them upon that in the next Verſe.

24 But * let him that glorieth glory in this, that he underſtandeth and g knoweth me, that I am the LORD which exerciſe loving kindneſs, judgment and righteouſneſs in the h earth: for in theſe things I i delight, ſaith the LORD. * 1 Cor. 1. 31. 2 Cor. 10. 17.

g Whether we make any curious Diſtinction between underſtanding God, as if that be more ſpeculative, whereby we rightly apprehend his Nature; and knowing God, as if that be more practical, as directing the Converſation, we need not here enquire; yet certainly both center in this, that we ſo know and underſtand God as to truſt in him, and depend on him alone in all Conditions. h Kindneſs, as it relates to his own people, Pſal. 5. 12. Judgment, with reference to his puniſhing the Wicked; Righteouſneſs, namely, as he deals juſtly and uprightly with both, Pſal. 92. 15. The meaning here, I conceive, is to ſhew God's orderly governing and diſpoſing of Things in the World in his diſtributive Juſtice, that all Things are right and equal. i Both in himſelf and others, Pſal. 11. 7.

25 ¶ Behold the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will k † puniſh all them which are l circumciſed, with the uncircumciſed. † Heb. v ſit upo

k Viz. By the Babylonians. l q. d. Do not think to inſiſt upon your external Privilege of Circumciſion, that you are Abraham's natural Seed, and thereby diſtinguiſhed from other Nations as you ſometimes were wont to do of the Temple, that you had God in the midſt of you. Do not think that ſhall privilege you, for you ſhall ſee, it ſhall not be long ere I bring the Chaldæans upon thoſe other Nations, which either are circumciſed in the Fleſh as well as you, and upon you alſo who are uncircumciſed in heart as well as they, or whether Circumciſion was loſt as being caſt off by them, and ſo they were indeed uncircumciſed: God tells them they ſhall fare alike: hence in the next Verſe he ranks Judah next to Ægypt among the other uncircumciſed Nations: for he looks to the Circumciſion of the Heart, not of the Body; to inward Worſhip not outward only; therefore ſome read it the circumciſed in Uncircumciſion.

26 Egypt, and Judah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all that are in the utmoſt m † corners, that dwell in the wilderneſs: for all theſe nations are uncircumciſed, and all the houſe of Iſrael are n * uncircumciſed in the heart.

* Lev. 26. 41. Rom. 2. 28, 29.

m Some refer this to the place of their Habitation, as in Corners, and remote parts of the Wilderneſs, as it were ſeparated from other Nations, and therefore might think themſelves fartheſt remote from Danger; but ſome rather chuſe to refer it to their Manners, as in cutting the Corners of their Hair, which was forbidden the Jews, Leviticus 19. 27. The like Deſcription in Chap. 25. 23. n See the foregoing Verſe, God regards not the outward Sign, but principally reſpects the Circumciſion of the Heart. Here ends that Sermon that began at Chap. 7.

CHAP. X.

They are forbid to be afraid of the Token of Heaven, and conſult Idols which are vain, 1,——5. and not to be compared with the Majeſty and Power of God, who is Jacob's portion, 6,——16. The Babylonians deſtroy the Temple; the brutiſh Paſtors and the Flocks are ſcattered, 17,——22. The Prophet's humble Supplication, 23,——25.

1 HEar ye the word which the LORD ſpeaketh unto o you, O houſe of p Iſrael.

o Here begins another Sermon, i. e. moſt probably relating to Jechonias and the Jews, that were already in Captivity. p The ten Tribes.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, learn not the way of the q heathen, and be not diſmayed at the ſigns of r heaven, for the heathen are ſ diſmayed at them.

q The Jews being to live among the Chaldæans in their Captivity, where many of them were already, the Prophet in this Sermon admoniſheth them againſt the Superſtitions of the Chaldæan Idolatries, which he underſtands here by Heathen, who were alſo much addicted to Aſtrology, and eſteemed the Original of Sciences: The Cuſtoms and their Manners he calls here their Way, as is frequent in Scripture, Lev. 18. 3. and 20. 23. r This was a Practice and Study ſo common among them, that Judicial Aſtrologers, of what Nation ſoever, were generally termed Chaldæans; a practice ſo hateful to God, that ſometimes he poſitively prohibits it, Deut. 18. 10. 14. and ſometimes in a way of Scorn and Deriſion, Sarcaſtically ſends them to ſuch. Iſa. 47. 13. and often labours to perſwade againſt it: for though Aſtronomy be not only lawful, but uſeful, as being ſubject to Reaſon, and the Rules of Art whereby many Actions of Humane Life are directed and guided, and proportioned, yet Judiciary Aſtrology is indeed originally Diabolical and Heatheniſh; and though God do ſuffer their Predictions ſometimes to fall out right, yet it is to puniſh the Curioſity of the Enquirer. ſ q. d. Leave this to Heathens; it doth not become God's People, who do wholly depend upon him; for indeed the Heathen, as many ignorant Chriſtians do to this day, were more afraid of the Signs of Heaven, and Aſtrological Predictions, than of God, and what is foretold in his Word of Prophecy; as if Things were governed rather by the Influences of the Stars than the Providence of God; not but that we may be affected with ſuch preternatural Appearances in the World, which God doth extraordinarily cauſe to appear, as ſome Tokens of his approaching Judgments, Joel 2. 30, 31. Matth. 24. 7. Luke 21. 11.

3 For the † cuſtoms of the people are t vain: for * one cutteth a tree out of the u foreſt, the work of the hands of the workman, with the axe.

* Iſa. 44. 9, 12, &c.

t i. e. Such Courſes, Inſtitutions, idolatrous Cuſtoms, and Ceremonies as theſe, that many People follow, they are vain, and it is a fooliſh and wicked thing, that any that profeſs the true God, ſhould give heed to ſuch lying Vanities. u Here he annexeth their Idolatry to their Aſtrology, q. d. they cut down Timber to make the Images and Repreſentations of theſe Stars and Planets, that they fear and worſhip as Gods, either in memorial of them, when they could not ſee them, or elſe upon a ſuperſtitious Conceit that the Stars which they worſhipped, did by ſome Magick Art convey ſome Vertue or Spirit into theſe Statues or Images; or rather, he doth ſet forth the Folly of the Heathen, that whereas for the matter of them, they are but a piece of Wood, a Tree out of the Foreſt; and as to the form of them, no other than the Carver, a ſorry Man, is pleaſed to put them into by his Axe, which I ſuppoſe is here put for any cutting Tool of the Artiſt, whereby he ſhapes it; yet they are afraid of theſe, as if they were Gods, Iſa. 40. 20. See on Jer. 8. 2.

4 They deck it with ſilver and with gold; they faſten it with nails and with x hammers, that it move not.

x A farther Deſcription of their Workmanſhip, having no other Comelineſs but what they confer upon it, and they no greater ſecurity or certainty of it, than as they can with Hammer and Nail make it faſt, and fix it to ſome place, the woodden God being not able to preſerve it ſelf from falling; therefore it is rather to be meant of faſtening to ſome Wall, or Pillar, than of faſtening their parts together, becauſe they ſeem to be cut out of one entire piece, and therefore need it not.

5 They are upright as the y palm-tree, * but ſpeak z not: they muſt needs be * born, becauſe they cannot a go: Be not afraid of b them, for they * cannot do evil, neither alſo is it in them to do good.

* Pſal. 115. 5. and 135. 16.
* Iſa. 46. 1. 7.
* Iſa. 41. 23.

y The nature of which is to grow upright and tall, without any Branchings, till it comes to the top, thereby poſſibly repreſenting Majeſty. z Looking as if they were about to ſpeak, ſtanding in a ſpeaking poſture, but have not a word to utter, being only dumb Stocks, woodden Gods. a They move no farther or faſter than you lift them, either when you go to ſet them up, or upon any occaſion of Removal, as ſtiff as ſtakes, being indeed but ſticks. b They can do you no more harm, than the Signs of Heaven could do; they are but dead ſtocks: the Heathens worſhipped ſome Idols that they might do them good, and others that they might do them no harm; but God tells them here, they can do neither good or harm, as in the next words; they can neither puniſh nor reward, they can neither hurt their Enemies, nor help their Friends: by this the true God will be diſtinguiſhed from Idols, that he alone can foretell things to come, and he alone can reward or puniſh, Iſa. 48. 5. and therefore the Prophet endeavours to turn them off from their Idols to the true God.

6 For c as much as * there is none like unto thee, O LORD: thou art great, and thy name is d great in e might.

* Exod. 15. 11. Pſal. 85. 8. 10.

c This Particle מִן Min is to be taken here cauſally, and refers either to what goes before, ſhewing there is no Compariſon between God and Idols, or rather, to what follows, as the Ground and Reaſon of all due Subjection to God, as in the next Verſe. d Or thou art tranſcendently great. e i. e. Though Idols may have ſomething of a Name in the World among the Heathen, yet there was nothing of their real Power or Might ſeen; or if the Devil might act ſomething through them to delude the World, yet nothing to be compared with that Might that hath manifeſted it ſelf in God's Works, Pſal. 106. 8. and 111. 6. All the Works of Idols are either none, or feeble and weak, Ver. 8.

7 * Who would not fear thee, O king of f nations? for ‖ to thee doth it appertain: for as much as among all the wiſe men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms there is none like g unto thee.

f He is called a great King, Mal. . 14. q. d. thou, by whom all Nations are governed, and all Affairs in them diſpoſed, and by none elſe, who would worſhip any but thee, or be afraid of any but thee, ſeeing it is fit for, and therefore can belong to none beſides, as in the next words, it is thy right and due, or who can be ſo ſtupid as not to acknowledge one ſupream Being, and this to be but one, as among the Heathens, Socrates, Plato, Seneca, and divers others did; and therefore is it not a prodigious thing, that any ſhould ſo withhold the truth in Unrighteouſneſs, be ſo groſs as to worſhip many Gods? g q. d. If you ſearch among all their Wiſe-men and Philoſophers, all the Great Men and Rulers in their Kingdoms. For theſe the Heathens were wont to worſhip as Gods after Death, Wiſe-men for their Wiſdom, and Kings for their Power, you'll find none to compare with God either for Wiſdom or Power: their Wiſe-men are but as ſo many Fools.

8 But they are † altogether * h brutiſh and i fooliſh: the k ſtock is a doctrine of l vanities.

h The awe that the Idol doth impreſs upon carnal mens minds, and thereby taking them off from a due Apprehenſion of the Eſſence of God, doth keep them between ſuch Hope and Fear, that they become as ſenſleſs and as inapprehenſive of any true Worſhip, as Brutes. i Not only ſome of them, but even all, both Jews and Gentiles, q. d. I need not ſtand to particularize, but take them all together, they are become ſtupid Idolaters, and have drunk in the moſt groſs Superſtitions of the Gentiles, as Rom. 1. 19, 21. k A Synecdoche put for all ſorts of Idols, of what Materials ſoever; and a Metonymy of the Matter, to render them contemptible, either as deluding the ignorant, or in themſelves conſidered; they are meer vain, fooliſh, helpleſs things. l The Hebrew Word Muſar is taken for bad Inſtruction, Prov. 16. 22. q. d. It is an eaſie Matter to prove them very Fools, and brutiſh, when they look upon a ſtock, a piece of wood, to be their God, which hath neither Knowledge nor Providence, and therefore muſt needs be a Doctrine of Vanity, when they think to be taught Devotion by Images, which is a teacher of Lyes; that ſaith to the dumb ſtone it ſhall teach, Hab. 2. 18, 19. like that Doctrine of Devils firſt broached by Pope Gregory, who firſt commended Serenus Biſhop of Maſſilia for not permitting Images to be worſhipped, but reproved him for throwing them out of the Church, becauſe they ſerve for Ornaments, and Lay-mens Books, which ſince hath been received as a Catholick Doctrine, that Images are Lay-mens Books.

9 m Silver ſpread into plates is brought from n Tarſhiſh, and gold from o Uphaz, the work of the workman, and of the hands of the p founder: blue and purple is their q clothing: they are all the work of r cunning men.

m It was not Wood waſhed with Gold, nor maſſy Silver or Gold, but covered over with Plates of Silver or Gold, Exod. 39. 3. n From ſome remote place, probably from Spain, whence the beſt Gold came; Tarſhiſh is the proper Name of a Sea-Town in Cilicia, Ezek. 27. 12, 25. Jonah 1. 3. and being a noted Port, from whence they had Paſſage to Africa, India, and other remote Countries, it is uſually put for the Ocean, and may as well ſignifie from any Place beyond the Sea; if you take it properly, then poſſibly it is noted as the beſt Silver coming from thence, as Uphaz for the beſt Gold; for though we read alſo of Gold coming from thence, 1 Kin. 10. 22. 2 Chron. 9. 21. yet, where the moſt proper Commodities of it are mentioned, we read of no Gold, Ezek. 27. 12. unleſs what ſeems rather to be brought thither, Ver. 22.

o i. e. Probably the beſt Gold, coming from thence in thoſe days, as the beſt Silver from Tarſhiſh, and that here was the beſt Gold is probable from Dan. 10. 5. there are various conjectures at what place this points at, whether the ſame with Phas, or Fez by an Aphæreſis, or Ophir a place not far from Tarſhiſh, and divers other places are conjectured, and ſome think it refers to no place at all, but to point at the excellency of the Gold only; but it is not the deſign, that this Comment ſhould ſwell with things rather conjectural, than profitable, it is enough to know, that this place intends the pureſt Gold. p Thus ſaith he, the Artificer takes it, and each, according to his Art, ſhapes it, and adorns it; fits the Silver and the Gold for it. q Expoſitors differing about the materials, out of which they were died, do differ alſo in the colours, which here are called Blue and Purple, the diſpute is not worth the while in a vulgar Comment, they that will may conſult the Engl. Annot. Either this relates to the further adorning thoſe rich Idols of Silver and Gold; or it implies other Artiſts, ſuch as ſhape, or ſew Silk or Cloth, Woollen or Linen, made uſe of to make theſe Garments for thoſe Idols of more inferiour materials, as Wood or Stone, the other being ſufficiently beautified without them. r i. e. The choiceſt men in their reſpective Arts were picked out for this work, that there might be nothing wanting as to exactneſs, richneſs and curioſity; all this the Prophet ſpeaks the more to ridicule their Idols, as if all this would put any thing of power, vertue, or excellency in them, ſtill deeſt aliquid intus.

10 But the LORD is the † ſ true GOD, he is the t living GOD, and an † u * everlaſting king: at his wrath the earth ſhall x tremble, and the nations ſhall not be able to abide his y indignation.

ſ q. d. All theſe are but falſe Gods: Jehovah is the alone true God; they are but lyes, and the teachers of lyes; God is Truth it ſelf, and that, both in regard of his Eſſence, as it is aſcribed to Chriſt, 1 Joh. 5. 20. and alſo in regard of his faithfulneſs, Numb. 23. 19. Pſal. 31. 5. t Theſe are all but dead ſtocks and ſtones, Jehovah is the only Living God, having Life in himſelf, and giving Life to all things elſe, John 5. 21, 26. Hence theſe Idols are not only more baſe than any other Creature, but even viler than the matter it ſelf of which they are made. u Theſe though accounted Kings, and countenanced by Kings, yet both they and their Kings do all periſh; time devours them all with worm or ruſt, or by injuries, and violence offered to them as in the next Verſe, but none of theſe or any thing elſe can affect the true God, he is Everlaſting. x He can with his look, or frown make the foundations of the Heaven and the Earth to ſhake, whereas theſe ſtocks can move them no more, than they can themſelves, which is not one hairs breadth from their Stations. y Not able either to ſtop it, or bear it, but muſt ſtoop, and fall under it, Pſal. 76. 7. the wicked will not be able to ſtand in Judgment, Pſal. 1. 5.

11 Thus ſhall ye ſay z unto them, The gods that have not made a the heavens and the b earth, even they ſhall periſh from the earth, and from under theſe heavens.

z Viz. To your great Lords the Babylonians, when they ſhall ſolicite you to Worſhip Idols. a This ſeems to have ſome alluſion to a ſaying common among thoſe Greeks, that held one ſupream Deity, let him that ſaith he is a God, make another World. b Here is noted, both how frail they are, they ſhall periſh, and how weak they are, they could not make the Heaven, or the Earth. This Verſe is writ in the Chaldæan Tongue, and not in the Hebrew, that when they came among them that did worſhip their Idols, they might openly and plainly profeſs the true God in that language which the Enemies underſtood better than they did the Hebrew, and that in ſuch kind of bold Language as this; Let all thoſe Gods periſh from off the Earth, and under the Heavens, that were not able to make either. It is an Imprecation upon their Idols.

* Gen. 1. 6. Chap. 51. 15, &c.
* Job 9. 8. Pſal. 104. 2 Iſa. 40. 22.

In this and the next Verſe, the Prophet enumerates ſome particulars, wherein he is tranſcendently above all Creatures, which he hath made, much more above Idols, which are the works of mans hands. c Acts 14. 15. i. e. This whole Globe conſiſting of Waters, as well as Earth. d It muſt needs ſpeak an Almighty Power to make ſuch a vaſt body; where would the Idols have found Materials, of which to have compoſed ſuch a Body and Bulk, the true God was not at a loſs, he drew them out of nothing, and commanded them into a being by the word of his Power, Gen. 1. 1. e Either he hath made it firm, ſolid and unmoveable, i. e. off from its Baſis, or rather Center, (for it is out of our Sphere and Province here to meddle either with the fixation, or the motion of it, that is left to the old and new Philoſophers to diſpute among themſelves) or elſe by eſtabliſhing we underſtand, he hath appointed it its uſe, or hath prepared it to be every way ſubſervient to the Inhabitants thereof, both as to delight in proſpect, and varieties of Recreation, by its ornamental parts in Mountains, little Hills, Woods, Meadows, Fields, &c. and neceſſity to accommodate Man and Beaſt with all things uſeful, both for Habitation, and Proviſion to ſuſtain the natural Life, and to praiſe, and magnifie the founder of it, Gen. 1. 11, 12. All which cannot chuſe but greatly manifeſt the unſearchable wiſdom of God. f Theſe are ſtretched out, i. e. expanded, and ſpread over our head, through the whole circumference of the Earth with all their glorious furniture, and varieties of motions, moving regularly in their ſeveral Orbs, i. e. not varying the leaſt degree, either in time or ſpace from the Order and Law that God hath ſet them, even in thoſe which are more excentrick and erratick, which muſt needs argue an unparallel'd skill, and underſtanding in God, which the word diſcretion doth here properly ſignifie Exod. 36. 1. Job 12. 13. all which are his handy-work, and do declare his glory, Pſal. 19. 1.

13 When he uttereth his g voice there is a || multitude of waters in the h heavens, and he cauſeth the i vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth: he maketh lightnings || with k rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his l treaſures.

g As in the former Verſe he relates Gods unſpeakable Power and Wiſdom in his creating and fixing the ſtated order of things, ſo here he further ſets it forth in his Providential ordering and diſpoſing their accidents, i. e. either at his command when he is pleaſed to call for the Rain, or rather, when he thundereth in the Heavens, Job 37. 4, 5. Pſal. 77. 18. though it often rains when it thunders not, and thunders when it rains not, yet when it rains and thunders the Rain uſually falls more forcibly from the Clouds, and in more ſudden plenty, as it were a more immediate conſequent of it. h Viz. The loweſt Heaven, the Region of the Air. i Exhalations, whether wet or dry, cauſing Wind or Rain, by the aſcending whereof the Lower Heavens gather them into Clouds, which, when full and burdened, deſcend in ſhowers for the conveniences of the Earth and Springs. k Though Fire and Water be contrary, yet it opens the Clouds to make way for the Rain, and is produced in the midſt of waters, all which is wonderful. l Which partly notes that it is ſecret and hidden, as coming from the Caverns and hollow parts of the earth, no Man knows from whence they come, or whither they go, John 3. 8. and it is wonderful to obſerve how ſuddenly at a calm time the Winds will riſe, how they will whirle about, how various, unconſtant, and contrary in their motions; and partly the plenty both for vehemency and continuance, ſignified alſo by treaſures the plenty of Snow and Hail being thus expreſſed, Job 38. 22. and partly that it is at his diſpoſal to bring out of his Treaſure when he pleaſes. See Pſal. 135. 7.

14 Every man || is * brutiſh in his m knowledge, every founder is n confounded by the graven Image, for his molten Image is o falſhood, and there is no p breath in them.

* Chap. 51. 17, 18.

m Some limit it to the makers of theſe Idols, that can employ their Arts and Wits to no better purpoſe, than to frame ſuch Stocks into Gods; this ſuits the next expreſſion; Men are bewitched, and beſotted by theſe things, ſo as to ſee no more into their Folly, than if they were Brutes, and the reaſon that it hath taken ſuch root may be becauſe of Mens ſo much admiring the Art of Carving and Painting, or rather through their Ignorance, q. d. It is for want of knowledge, and underſtanding that Men are thus brutiſh, Iſa. 44. 18. n Either it ſhall turn to his reproach, or rather, he ſhall ſee his folly and ſhall be aſhamed of it when he ſhall diſcover it, that ever he ſhould make ſuch a thing, and truſt in it, and expoſe it to be adored by others. o It is not that which it pretends to be, but a deceitful thing, a Lye; they turn the truth of God into a lye, Rom. 1. 25. p They have nothing of life in them, nay that very vegetative life, that once was in their Stocks, is now loſt, much leſs are they Spirits ſent down from Heaven.

15 They are vanity and the work of q errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall r periſh.

q Either in their riſe, as ſpringing from Men of corrupt Minds, or the foundation of them: A Metonymy of the effect, Teachers and encouragers of Lyes, Hab. 2. 18. things rather to be ſcoffed at and derided, than adored, and worſhipped, and it is expreſſed in the plural number to note the multiplicity of them. r When God ſhall have a controverſie with them, ſhall come to reckon with Babylon and her Idols, they and their Worſhippers ſhall be deſtroyed, alluding, poſſibly, to the manner of the Pagan Conqueſts, who were wont to carry away both Perſons, and the Idols of the Country, and either break them to pieces, or burn them: Thus were they ſerv'd by the Perſians, ſee on Iſa. 46. 1. This poſſibly may be ſpoken by way of Encouragement to the Jews, that took offence at the Chaldæan Idols, that were ſet up in their ſight, that God may ſtrengthen their Patience he tells them he viſits them in Mercy, and their Enemies in Judgment; he will deſtroy thoſe Idols.

16 * The ſ portion of Jacob is not like them, for he is the t former of all things, and Iſrael is the u rod of his inheritance, the LORD of hoſts is his name.

ſ A Periphraſis for the true God, who vouchſafeth to be the portion of his People, and to be ſo called, Deut. 32. 9. Pſal. 16. 5. and many other places, becauſe he is in Covenant with his People in the Meſſiah, whoſe co-heirs are as dear to him as a Portion is, that deſcends to a Man by Inheritance, and he tells you his Name in the cloſe of the Verſe, Iſa. 47. 44. one who hath the whole Hoſt of Heaven and Earth at his diſpoſal. t Idols are things framed and formed, but God is the former of all things, the maker of Heaven and Earth. u So called, becauſe the Portions and Inheritances of Iſrael were meaſured by a Line, Reed, or Rod, and therefore called the rod of his Inheritance, Deut. 32. 8, 9. Pſal. 74. 2. and becauſe they were his by a continual Line of Succeſſion; beſide Iſrael is, שֵׁבֶט Schebet the Rod, or Scepter of his Inheritance, becauſe God did ſet up his Kingdom in Iſrael.

The Prophet now enters upon another ſubject, and probably begins another Sermon. y i. e. Every thing thou haſt any advantage by, not only thy Domeſtick concerns, but all thy Traffique and Merchandize, where ever thou haſt any concerns in the Land, as Men uſe to do in caſe of Invaſion by an Enemy, to ſecure them. It ſeems to be a Sarcaſm, or kind of Military deriſion. z This is underſtood by ſome, as ſpoken to the Babylonians, that they ſhould make proviſion for their eſcape, their Idols being not able to ſave them, but this ſeems to be remote from the Prophet's meaning; It is rather therefore directed to the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, that being the chief place of ſecurity in Judea, and by a Synecdoche to all other places that they promiſed themſelves ſecurity in; the approaching deſtruction being to paſs through the whole Country.

* 1 Sam. 25. 29. 18 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will a * fling out the inhabitants of the land at this once, and will diſtreſs them, that they may find it ſo b.

a It notes with how much violence and ſpeed, and with eaſe the Chaldæans ſhall hurry away the People into Babylon, as the ſtone doth ſwiftly, and violently paſs, which is thrown out of a Sling, with ſo much eaſe, and therefore it is ſaid at this once, I will not delay, but make one thorough quick work of it, noting not only the time, but implying the clear riddance that he would make of them, 2 Chron. 36. 17, 18, 19. they had been often aſſaulted by Enemies, and ſometimes they redeemed themſelves, ſometimes delivered by God, their Enemies being ſometimes divided; but it ſhould not be ſo now, but all ſwept away. b That they may ſee I am in good earneſt, that I have not only ſaid it, but they ſhall find, that I will execute it, and though they would never believe it, yet they ſhall actually find the truth of my Threatnings. See Chap. 5. 12, 13. Ezek. 6. 10.

19 Wo is me for my hurt; my wound is c grievous: but I ſaid, Truly this is a grief, and I muſt d bear it.

c Here the Prophet doth not ſo much expreſs his own ſorrow, though that be great, as perſonate the Sorrow and Complaint that the Land, i. e. the People of the Land, manifeſt, or at leaſt ought to do; which becauſe they do not, cauſeth no little grief in the Prophet himſelf, who cannot but be affected with their condition, which he calls not only a hurt, but a wound, and both of them very grievous. d Or rather, but I better conſidered it, and ſaid within my ſelf, I were as good be ſilent, it is indeed a grief grievous in it ſelf, and grievous that I muſt ſmother it, and not complain, but it is my duty to bear it patiently. There is in this expreſſion a double neceſſary preparation to Repentance, viz. 1. An acknowledgment, that they had deſervedly brought the Judgment upon themſelves, and that therefore 2. They would patiently bear it, and it doth imply ſomething of their ſtupidity, q. d. we could not have imagined the damage could have been ſo very great, but now we ſee how it is, we will patiently bear the indignation of the Lord becauſe we have ſinned againſt him. If this be not the meaning, then it is a further obſtinate perſiſting in their Rebelling, q. d. ſeeing it muſt be ſo, truly it is very grievous, but I am bound now to bear it, and rub through it as well as I can: A further perſiſting in their pertinacy, but I incline moſt to the former ſence.

20 My tabernacle is ſpoiled, and all my cords are e broken; my children are gone forth of f me and they are g not: there is none to ſtretch forth my tent h any more, and to ſet up my curtains.

e He proceeds in his proſopopœia to bring in the Land, or the Inhabitants thereof enumerating their Calamities, and by a Metaphor ſets out the overthrow of the Land, or Jeruſalem, by the breaking of the Cords of a Tabernacle, the uſe whereof is to faſten it on every ſide to Stakes in the ground, which Cords being broken the Tabernacle falls, implying all the ſupports of City and Country were gone, nothing but deſolation to be expected. See Chap. 4. 20. f Either the Inhabitants of the Land, or the leſſer Cities, being frequently called Daughters, viz. the Chaldæans have ſnatched them away from me, and carried them into Captivity. g Of the phraſe and meaning of it, ſee Chap. 31. 15. h i. e. 'Tis irrevocable, I am without all help either for Defence or Beauty, or any thing to regain my priſtine ſtate, which he chuſeth to deſcribe hereby, continuing this Metaphor rather than any other, of a Shepherds Tent; poſſibly inſinuating the ground of it to ariſe principally from their Paſtors, the neglect both of their Civil and Eccleſiaſtical Governours which the next Verſe favours.

21 For the Paſtors are become brutiſh, and have not ſought i the LORD k; therefore they ſhall not l proſper, and all their flocks ſhall be m ſcattered.

i Not that the Prophet takes off all blame from the People, but that he layeth it chiefly upon the Rulers of Church and State; for ſo is Paſtor taken frequently. See Chap. 23. 1, 2, 3. k Not ſought unto him, and taken him into their Counſels. l The Prophet gives the reaſon why nothing went well with them, namely, becauſe there was no regard had to Godlineſs, without which we cannot expect a bleſſing upon any thing. m i. e. All that have been committed to their care, ſhall be carried unto Babylon, and divers of them diſperſed abroad into ſeveral Countries, for their ſakes.

22 Behold, the noiſe of the bruit is come, and a * Chap. 4. 6. & 6. 23. great commotion n out of the north-country * o, to make the cities of Judah deſolate, and a den of dragons p.

n The Prophet had divers times ſounded this Alarm in their ears, but to very little purpoſe, his words ſeemed but as idle Tales, they believed him not; he ſpeaks of it partly, as one conceiving what dreadful Commotions and Concuſſions would be upon the Land by the clattering of Arms, prancings and neighings of Horſes, ſounding of Trumpets, and rattling of Chariots, making as it were the Earth to ſhake under them, when that vaſt Army of the Chaldæans ſhould furiouſly break in upon them. Partly, inſinuating an Antitheſis oppoſing the voice of God's Prophets, that had ſo often ſpoken of this, but they would not hear, againſt this dreadful noiſe, which they ſhould not but hear and ſee and feel too. So that they that would not learn of God's Prophets, ſhall be ſent to harder Maſters, that ſhall teach them in a manner as Gideon did the Men of Succoth, Judg. 8. 16. o See Chap. 1. 10. and 5. 15. p See on Chap. 9. 11.

23 ¶ O LORD, q I know that the * way of man is not in himſelf: it is not in man that walketh to direct his ſteps r. * Prov. 16. 11. & 20. 24.

q The Prophet finding that all he could ſay prevailed nothing upon this People, but they rather grew worſe, he turns himſelf to God. r How far theſe words concern Pelagianiſm, or Free-will, either one way or other, or whether at all, concerns not this Comment; they ſeem literally to be the words of the Prophet, relating either to himſelf and other Holy Men, q. d. it is not in our power, neither do we preſume to ſtop this Decree of thine againſt Judæa; or elſe to the Enemies in general, or Nebuchadnezzar in particular, q. d. we know all their Marches and Deſigns are of thine appointing, and all their Atchievements of thine ordering, it is thy Providence that directs every ſtep they take againſt this Land, without whom no Counſels ſhall proſper, who alone turneſt Mens Hearts which way thou pleaſeſt, Prov. 21. 1. who canſt bring Men on, or turn them back, as thou ſeeſt good, Iſa. 37. 29. ſo that no Man's way is properly his own, to give them what ſucceſs he will; or to the people, whereby he doth tacitly inſinuate, that all the Counſels and Meaſures they think to take, whether by their own ſtrength at home, or Confederacies and Alliances abroad will avail nothing; however they may think to eſcape by ſome Devices, or Stratagems of their own, it is to no purpoſe, God can overturn all in a moment, when Men think their Counſels are ripe, and they want nothing but execution; or laſtly, as others think, this is by way of petition, q. d. Lord we know it is not in our Power to divert theſe Judgments that are coming upon us by the Chaldæans, but thou canſt moderate, and limit them as thou pleaſeſt, ſeeing all their deſigns are ordered by thy Providence, they cannot do any thing againſt us without thy permiſſion; this the next Verſe ſeems to favour.

24 O LORD, * correct me ſ, but with judgment t, not in thine anger u, leſt thou † bring me to nothing. * Pſal. 6. 1. & 38. 1. † Heb. diminiſh me.

ſ q. d. Seeing thou wilt bring the Chaldæans upon us to puniſh us for our ſins, let it be a Correction only, not a Deſtruction, and utter ruine. t Let it be in meaſure, in judgment, i. e. in wiſdom, proportioning it as a Father toward his Children, Chap. 30. 11. for ſo the Hebrew Miſhpat ſignifies, and thus judgment is taken, Iſa. 30. 18. We refuſe not correction, but we caſt our ſelves upon thee, therefore in the midſt of Judgment remember Mercy. u The reaſon of this he gives in the next clauſe, leſt if thou ſhouldſt let out thy fury upon me, thou would bring me to nothing, i. e. thou wouldſt utterly conſume me, or make me few, as Heb. that I ſhould be no more a People, never lift up the Head again.

25 Pour out thy fury upon the heathen x, that know thee not, and upon the families, that call not on thy name y: for they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and conſumed him, and have made his habitation deſolate z.

x This may imply both Petition, that God would do ſo, and Prediction that God will certainly do ſo, which toward the cloſe of the Prophecy we find was fulfilled, God firſt ſending the King of Babylon to overthrow divers of the Heathen Nations, and then Babylon it ſelf deſtroyed with a great deſtruction. He will make a difference between us and the Heathen, ſuch as know thee not, i. e. Such as do not acknowledge and own thee for their God, the phraſe is frequent, 1 Sam. 2. 12. Job 18. 21. 2 Theſſ. 1. 8. the ſenſe is expreſſed here in the next words, that do not call on thy Name. y A Synecdoche, one part of Worſhip put for the whole, q. d. If thou wilt be pouring out thy fury, the effects of it be to thine Enemies, not unto thine own People, who worſhip thee. z Here he gives a reaſon as a motive to God, why he ſhould do ſo; which words ſee explained on Pſal. 79. 5, 6, 7. whence they are taken, and poſſibly Jeremiah himſelf was the Author of that Pſalm after the City was deſtroyed, and he carried into Ægypt; and for the phraſe of devouring him, ſee Chap. 8. 16.

CHAP. XI.

God's Covenant, 1,—7. Their Diſobedience, 8,—10. Evils to come on them, 11,—17, and on the Men of Anathoth, for Conſpiring to kill Jeremiah, 18,—23.

1 THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying a, a What time, and in what manner this Revelation came from God to the Prophet is not expreſſed, whether it were in the days of Joſiah or Jehojachim.

2 Hear ye, the words of this covenant b, and ſpeak unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

b God ſpeaking in the plural number, not hear thou, but hear ye, makes ſome conjecture that this was a charge given to ſome other Prophets, either Zephaniah (if it were in Joſiah's time, Zeph. 1. 1.) or Uriah (if it were in the time of Jehojachim.) The term this alſo manifeſts, that the Book of the Law was before Jeremiah's time, for all conclude, that the Covenant here ſpoken of, was the Covenant of the Law of God, delivered by Moſes, to which the People more than once promiſed obedience.

3 And ſay thou unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, * Curſed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this covenant d. * Gal. 3. 10.

d In Deuteronomy 27. 26. it is Curſed be he that confirmeth not all the words of this Law to do them, and all the People ſhall ſay, Amen. The Peoples ſaying Amen teſtified their aſſent, and made the Law a Covenant, but they had beſides formally and explicitly covenanted with God, Exod. 24. 3, 7. with religious Rites and Ceremonies uſed in ſtipulations, and afterwards conſented that God ſhould puniſh thoſe that violated that Covenant, Deuter. 27. 26.

* Deut. 4. 10.
1 King. 8. 51.
* Lev. 26. 3, 12.

4 Which I commanded your fathers e in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, from the * iron furnace, f ſaying, * Obey my voice, and do them according to all which I command you g, ſo ſhall ye be my people, and I will be your God h.

e Which Law (that you by your reſtipulation made a formal Covenant) I that am the Lord, and ſo had a ſoveraign power to lay Laws upon my Creatures, commanded your Fathers. f And obliged them to obedience before I laid my Law upon them, by bringing them out of the Land of Ægypt, from the Furnace wherein Iron is melted, which may either be taken literally (probably that was a piece of their work in Ægypt) or metaphorically, ſerving at Iron Furnaces, being a very hard, and ſervile labour. g For which kindneſs I required no more of them but a gentler ſervice to me, in obeying my voice as to the things of this Law which I gave them in charge. h Nor did I only lay my Commands upon them, but I alſo incouraged them to the obedience of it, by my gracious promiſe, that if they would they ſhould be a People, I would bleſs protect and defend, and bear the Name of my People, and I would be their God to own and bleſs them.

† Heb. Amen.

5 That I may perform the * oath, which I have ſworn unto your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk, and honey, as it is this day i. Then anſwered I, and ſaid, † ſo be it O LORD k.

i I required their obedience for their own good, I had ſwore to their Fathers that I would give their Poſterity a Land abounding with plenty of all good things, the beſt and choiceſt things, upon ſuppoſition of their Obedience. I have performed that Oath, I have brought them into ſuch a Land, and ſhewed my ſelf faithful to them. k God having ended his Speech, the Prophet ſaith, Amen, either aſſerting the truth of which God had ſaid, or wiſhing that the People would do according to their Covenant, or aſſenting to the Curſe according as God had commanded, Deut. 27. 26.

6 Then the LORD ſaid unto me, Proclaim all theſe words, in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Hear ye the words of this covenant and do them l.

l Let it be thy work to call upon this People, not only to hear, but to do the words which I have commanded them, and they have ingaged to do.

7 For I earneſtly proteſted unto your fathers, in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Egypt, even unto this day, * riſing early, and proteſting, ſaying, Obey my voice m.

m In proteſting I proteſted, an uſual way in the Hebrew, by which they expreſs the ſerioufneſs, and vehemency of an action, by proteſting he meaneth the ſame with charging, and commanding, with promiſes annexed to obedience, and threatnings denounced in caſe of diſobedience. This God ſaith he had done with a great deal of Patience, and diligence even from the time that this People were brought by him out of the Land of Ægypt.

* Ch. 7. 13.
‖ Or, Stubbornneſs.

8 * Yet they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear, but walked every one in the ‖ imagination of their evil heart n: therefore I will bring upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not o.

n But had not hearkned unto his Counſels, but every one had walked after the imaginations of his own heart. A phraſe by which ſin is often expreſſed in Holy Writ, Deut. 29. 19. Chap. 3. 17. and 7. 24. and 9. 14. and 13. 10. and 16. 12. and 18. 12. and 23. 17. The imaginations of mans heart are only evil, Gen. 6. 5. and 8. 21. Hence holineſs is ſet out by the notion of ſelf-denying, not pleaſing our ſelves, mortifying our Members, &c. o For this God threatneth to bring upon them all his words of threatning, annexed to the Covenant of the Law.

9 And the LORD ſaid unto me, a conſpiracy is found amongſt the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem p.

p All ſorts of People, whether of the City or Country, have done alike, as if they had conſpired together to break my Law, and to provoke me to wrath, they are all alike and act alike. The thing is manifeſt, it is not done ſecretly, nor is it done raſhly but upon a Conſpiracy, upon counſel and deliberation.

10 They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refuſed to hear my words q: and they went after other gods to ſerve them: the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers r.

q They are turned back from me, or they are turned back from their own better courſes in the time of David, to the ſins of their forefathers that worſhipped the golden Calf, or the many Idols which they worſhipped in the time of the Judges. r They are all alike both the Ten Tribes, which were the Houſe of Iſrael, and the Two Tribes which made the Kingdom of Judah, they have all broken the Covenant, which I made with their forefathers.

11 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon them which they ſhall not be able † to eſcape ſ: and * though they ſhall cry unto me I will not hearken unto them t.

So it agreeth with God's anſwer to the People crying to him, Jud. 10. 14. and what this Prophet had before ſaid, Chap. 2. 28. But ſaith the Prophet, they ſhall do them no good, then they ſhall underſtand their vanity in their Superſtition and Idolatry, that they have beſtowed a divine Homage upon Lyes and Vanities, and things able to do them no good, nor at all to profit them.

13 For according to the number of thy * cities were thy gods, O Judah, and according to the number of the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, have ye ſet up altars to that † ſhameful thing u, even altars to burn incenſe unto Baal x.

u Not that they had juſt ſo many Idols as were Cities in Judah, or Altars as were Streets in Hieruſalem, the meaning is, they had very many, and that the People who lived in every City and Street were guilty. What he calls their ſhame, or the ſhameful thing, is afterwards expounded Baal, called a ſhameful thing, becauſe it was what they had reaſon to be aſhamed of, and what would certainly bring them to ſhame and confuſion. x Baal ſignifieth Lord, and was a common Name given to more Idols than one, the Phœnicians uſed the Name Baal, the Chaldæans, Bell. God Hoſ. 2. 16. forbad his People to call him by this Name, becauſe ſo abuſed to Idolatry. Many think that the Sun was what the Phœnicians worſhipped under this Name; ſome ſay Saturn was he, Manaſſes who preceded Joſiah, reared up Altars for Baalim, and made Groves and worſhipped all the Hoſt of Heaven and ſerved them, 2 Chron. 33. 3. Learned Men ſay, that the Aſians called the ſame Idol Baal, whom thoſe of Europe called Jupiter. It is not improbable which learned Men judge, That the Heathens acknowledging one ſupream Being, worſhipped him in ſeveral Creatures; ſome miſtaking the Sun, Moon, and Stars to be he, others other things; theſe they called Baalim, Lords, as they called the principal God Baal. The Heathens Idolatry ſeems to be their Worſhipping God in Creatures, and paying a Divine Homage to Creatures, the Sun, Moon, and Stars, and other far inferiour to them, not believing that thoſe Creatures were the Divine Being, but that the Divine Being was in them, and from them would hear their Supplicants and do them good; which though the Heathens might a little be excuſed in, having no Scriptures ſhewing them the nature of the true God, and how he would be worſhipped; yet in the Jews was inexcuſable, they having the Oracles of God committed to them, which both ſhewed them the true nature of God, and let them know that no Creature could be any ſimilitude or repreſentation of him, and that his Will was, that they ſhould pay their Homage to him without any ſimilitudes, or repreſentations, exciting them to that Homage, fit for nothing but to beget in the Minds of People falſe Conceptions, and apprehenſions of the Divine Being, which is meerly ſpiritual; notwithſtanding which direction from the Divine Law, the Jews after the manner of the Heathens, would pay their Homage to God, before the Sun, Moon and Stars, and before Images made with hands, and make Altars to ſuch Creatures and Images, which was the Idolatry God complains of, and of which he declares a greater abhorrence than almoſt of any other ſin. It is likely that Baal here mentioned was the Sun, becauſe it was near Manaſſes times, who thus highly offended God, and it is probable that though Joſiah had begun a famous Reformation, yet a great deal of this leaven was left in the common People, beſides that the ſins of Manaſſes, 2 King. 23. 26. are reckoned up as the ſpecial proximate cauſe of this Wrath of God againſt Judah.

14 Therefore * pray thou not for this people, neither lift up a cry, or prayer for them, for I will not hear them in the time that they cry unto me, for their † trouble y.

y Once before, and we ſhall find once after this, Chap. 14. 11. God forbiddeth the Prophet to pray for this People, hence ariſeth a Queſtion how the Prophet is excuſed from Sin, in praying for them after this Prohibition, eſpecially when God had aſſured him that he would not hear. Sol. God (ſay ſome) ſometimes forbiddeth Prayers for Perſons and People to ſtir them up to more fervent Prayer. 2. We find the like done by Moſes, Exod. 32. 10. and Samuel, 1 Sam. 15. 35. and 16. 1. Others ſay, 3. That we muſt not underſtand theſe words as an abſolute prohibition to Jeremy, but for the terrifying of the People. 4. God ſpeaks only of a temporal evil, and willeth Jeremiah not to be too poſitive in his Prayers for them, that they might be delivered from that, but he might pray for the pardon of their ſins, and their deliverance from the eternal Vengeance of God. 5. He might not pray for the obſtinate part of this People, but for the Elect of God amongſt them.

† Heb. what is to my beloved in my houſe.
‖ Or, when thy evil is.

15 * † What hath my beloved to do in my houſe, ſeeing ſhe hath wrought lewdneſs with many ? z and the holy fleſh is paſſed from thee a : ‖ when thou doeſt evil, then thou rejoyceſt b.

z Some make theſe words the words of the Prophet, declaring that God (whom they ſuppoſe here called the beloved) was about to forſake the Temple. Others make them the words of God, ſpeaking of his Prophet, whom he calleth his Beloved. Or rather ſpeaking of his People, whom he calleth his Beloved, upon the account of his ancient Union with them, and Marriage to them, this ſeemeth moſt probable, and agreeth both with Chap. 7. 9, 10. and alſo with the uſual confidence of the Jews, becauſe of the Temple of the Lord, and their formal Services of God in it, my People ſaith God, though I was formerly their Husband, yet have wrought lewdneſs with many, that is, committed Idolatry with many Idols and now what have they to do more in my Houſe, than a baſe Strumpet which hath turned a Whore, hath to do in the Houſe of her Husband ? a Some by this phraſe underſtand that God would own them no more as an holy People. Others that their Circumciſion was become Uncircumciſion. Others more probably underſtand it of the Fleſh of the Sacrifices they were wont to offer, either they had been remiſs in offering the Sacrifices God had commanded them. Or (which is more probable) the Fleſh of their Sacrifices, being ſet before Idols, as well as before him who was the only true God, became polluted, and was abomination to the Lord. The learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations. Notes that the words may very fairly be tranſlated, and the holy fleſh they ſhall paſs away from thee, ſo the words import a threatning that becauſe they had polluted, and prophaned the Sacrifices, God would make their Sacrifices to ceaſe. b And this the Lord would rather do againſt them, becauſe they were not only evil, but gloried in their wickedneſs, or at leaſt were as full of mirth and jollity, as if they had done no iniquity.

c That is, the Lord fixed thee when he brought thee firſt into Canaan, in a beautiful flouriſhing ſtate and condition, ſo as thou wert in a capacity both to have done thy ſelf much good, and to have brought him much glory, like a beautiful fair Olive-Tree, fit to bear fair and goodly fruit. d But thou haſt ſo behaved thy ſelf, that the Lord is altering the courſe of his Providence to thee, he that planted thee, is about to pluck thee up. God is about to kindle a fire which will burn thee up, and to break thy branches ; there is nothing more uſual in Prophetical Writings, than to have things, yet to come, expreſſed as if paſt, becauſe of the certainty of them ; they being what ſhall as certainly be, as if already done.

17 For the LORD of hoſts * that planted thee, hath pronounced evil againſt thee, for the evil of the houſe of Iſrael and of the houſe of Judah, which they have done againſt themſelves, to provoke me to anger, in offering incenſe to Baal e.

e This Verſe expounds what was metaphorically expreſſed in the former Verſe, viz. that God had declared his Will to his Prophet. That he would deſtroy his People, the blame of which muſt lie upon themſelves, for they had by Idolatry moſt highly provoked him, and had therein done againſt themſelves, as indeed all ſinning is but an acting againſt our ſelves, God is unvulnerable, we cannot hurt him, though we may provoke his Juſtice to take vengeance upon us for our iniquities. And the Prophet tells them, that the Lord that planted them would do this, thereby hinting to them both his power to do it, and alſo that they had no reaſon to be confident that becauſe God had made them he would not deſtroy them ; or becauſe he had planted them in that good Land, therefore he would not pluck them up and throw them out of it : Vid. Iſa. 27. 11.

18 ¶ And the LORD hath given me knowledge of it, and I know it, then thou ſhewedſt me their doings f.

f This may be underſtood either more generally as relating to all the wicked actions of his Countrymen, to obviate their ſaying, How comeſt thou to know our doings ? Or elſe (which ſeemeth moſt probable) more ſpecially, with relation to that Conſpiracy againſt him, which is mentioned in the following Verſes.

19 But I was like a lamb, or an ox that is brought unto the ſlaughter, and I knew not that * they had deviſed devices againſt me, ſaying, Let us deſtroy † the tree with the fruit thereof, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembred g.

g We have no other mention of this Conſpiracy in Holy Writ, but it is plain both from this Verſe, and what followeth to the end of this Chapter, that the Men of Anathoth (which was Jeremiah's own Town) were offended at his Propheſying ſo ſharp things againſt the Land of Judah, and had threatned to kill him if he would not leave off that ſtile, and had conſpired to that purpoſe, ſome think to mix poiſon with his Meat, others by ſtarving of him, others think by beating of him, into which variety of ſenſe they interpret that phraſe in this Verſe. Let us deſtroy the tree with the fruit thereof ; but the ſenſe is plain, Let us not only put an end to his propheſying, but to his being alſo ; let us cut him off ſome way or other, that his Name may no more be remembred. Of this the Prophet ſaith he was as ignorant, as an Ox or a Lamb that is brought to the Slaughter-houſe, that knoweth nothing what deſign is againſt its life.

20 But, O LORD of hoſts, that judgeſt righteouſly, that * trieſt the reins and the heart, let me ſee thy vengeance on them ; for unto thee have I revealed my cauſe h.

h The Prophet appealeth to God, and appealeth to him as one that knew both the innocency of his heart toward them, and the malice of their hearts, toward him, and uſed to deal out juſtice impartially and committeth his cauſe unto God (as we are commanded, 1 Pet. 2. 23.) and deſires that God would avenge him and that he might ſee the Vengeance, which words ſome learned Interpreters think ſpoken not without ſome paſſion and mixture of humane frailty Others, not as a Prayer ſo much as a Prophecy. Others, not out of a deſire of private Revenge, but out of a pure zeal for the glory of God, whoſe Prophet he was, and Servant in the delivery of thoſe Prophecies that were ſo ingrateful to them.

* Iſa 30. 10. Amos 2. 12. & 7. 13. Mich. 2. 6.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Behold, I will † puniſh them ; the young men ſhall die by the ſword, their ſons and their daughters ſhall die by famine.

23 And there ſhall be no remnant of them, for I will bring evil upon the men of Anathoth, even the year of their viſitation i.

i The Prayers of God's Prophets, though they may ſometimes have too much paſſion and humane infirmity mixed with them, yet are heard of God, and many times anſwered in Righteouſneſs by terrible things, as to thoſe againſt whom they are directed ; the ſame thing they deſigned to do againſt the Prophet, God threateneth to do againſt them, utterly to conſume them, ſo as no remembrance of them ſhould remain.

CHAP. XII.

The Prophet complaineth of the Wicked's Proſperity : By Faith ſeeth their Ruine, 1,—4. God admoniſheth him of his Brethren's Treachery againſt him, and lamenteth his Heritage, 5, —13. A return from Captivity promiſed to the Penitent, 14,—17.

‖ Or, let me reaſon the caſe with thee.
* Job 12. 6. & 21. 13. Mal. 3. 15.

1 Righteous * art thou, O LORD, when I plead with thee a, yet let me ‖ talk with thee of thy judgments b. * Wherefore doth the way of the wicked proſper ! wherefore are all they happy that deal very treacherouſly c ?

a The Prophet begins here with a Recognition of God's unqueſtionable Righteouſneſs and Juſtice, in all his Providential Diſpenſations in the Government of the World. Some read the latter part, ſhould I plead with thee ? But let it be ſhould I plead ? or, although, or, when I plead, that is, argue with thee, yet the Prophet doth it not without a previous reſolution to agree the Lord's Diſpenſations juſt, whatſoever he ſhould ſay. b Yet ſaith he, let me talk with thee, not by way of accuſing thee, but for my own ſatisfaction concerning thy judicial Diſpenſations in the government of the World. c Wherefore doth the way of the wicked proſper ? Wherefore are all they happy that deal treacherouſly ? by all they, he means many of them, and is thought to have ſpoken with a ſpecial relation to the Prieſts at Anathoth, that had conſpired againſt his Life. The Proſperity of the wicked hath in all times been a Riddle, and a ſore Temptation to the beſt of God's People ; to Job, Chap. 21. 7. 13. to David, Pſal. 37. 1. and 73. 2. 12. and 94. 3, 4. Hab. 1. 4, 5. d Here are a People that indeed talk of thee, and one that only obſerveth their Mouths, would judge thou wert near to them, and they had Communion with thee, but he that obſerveth their Lives may eaſily diſcern that thou art far from their inward parts, they have neither fear of thee, nor love for thee, nor deſire after thee, nor delight in thee, nor are they obedient to thee ; yet thou haſt planted them by thy Power, and by thy Providence they thrive, go on, and proſper.

e Here ſeemeth to be ſomething underſtood, viz. But Lord it is otherwiſe with me, I am maligned, and my life is hunted after, yet Lord thou knoweſt the ſincerity of my heart before and towards thee, thou haſt had experience of me in the diſcharge of my Prophetical Office, and knoweſt that I have been faithful in revealing to the People what thou didſt reveal to me, yet for this it is they ſeek my Life and would have my Blood. f Lord, avenge me on this wicked Generation, confirm the words againſt them which I have from thee denounced. * Chap. 4. 25 & 7. 20 & 9. 10

4 How long ſhall the land mourn and the herbs of every field wither, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein g? * The beaſts are conſumed, and the birds, becauſe they ſaid, He ſhall not ſee our laſt end h.

g The Prophet ſeems to give a reaſon of his former Paſſion, and Prayer againſt thoſe wicked Men he before reflected on, becauſe they were the cauſe of the Nations Ruine, which is alſo aſſerted by the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 107. 34. A Land is ſaid to mourn metaphorically when it is brought to an ill complexion, and looketh unpleaſantly, the Graſs and green Herbs in it being deſtroyed by Enemies, or Drought, or Vermine. h Nay the effects of their wicked courſes reached to the very Beaſts and Birds, becauſe they were ſo preſumptuous as to conclude, that they ſhould do well enough, neither the Prophet nor any other ſhould ſee their laſt end.

* Joſh. 3. 15.

5 If thou haſt run with the footmen and they have wearied thee, then how canſt thou contend with horſes i? and if in the land of peace wherein thou truſtedſt they wearied thee, then how wilt thou do in * the ſwelling of Jordan k?

i That theſe are the anſwer of God to the Prophet is reaſonably well agreed by the beſt Interpreters, as alſo that this is a Proverbial expreſſion, but as to the application of it in this place, there is ſome difference: Some make it this. If thou doſt not underſtand what is done by the Men of thine own City, how canſt thou think to fathom my Diſpenſations of Providence in the Government of the World? But this ſenſe ſeemeth not very probable, becauſe the ſenſe of the Proverb ſeemeth to be, If thou beeſt not able to encounter leſſer dangers, how wilt thou be able to overcome greater? I rather agree with thoſe who make the ſenſe this. Jeremy, I have greater dangers for thee to encounter than thoſe thou art expoſed to at Anathoth, if thou beeſt ſo diſturbed with them, who are but as Footmen, how wilt thou be able to grapple with thoſe far greater Enemies which thou art like to meet with at Hieruſalem. k Anathoth alſo ſeemeth to be underſtood by the land of thy peace, that is, the Land of thy Friends wherein thou hadſt a confidence: If thy Enemies thou haſt there met with, tire thee, what wilt thou do in the ſwellings of Jordan? That is in a place in which thou art like to meet with an increaſe of greater Troubles, like the ſwelling of Jordan (which in Harveſt uſed to overflow its Banks.) Many other things are ſaid by Interpreters, both with reference to the ſenſe of this Text, and the explication of theſe proverbial expreſſions, but the ſenſe above-mentioned ſeemeth to me leaſt ſtrained, and beſt agreeing with what went before, and what follows.

* Prov. 26. 25.

6 For even * thy brethren, and the houſe of thy father, even they have dealt treacherouſly with thee l, yea || they have called a multitude after thee m, * believe them not, though they ſpeak † fair words unto thee n.

l The Men of Anathoth, thine own Town and Country, and thoſe of thy own Family have conſpired Evil againſt thee ſecretly. m Either they have expoſed thee to the rage and rudeneſs of a multitude, or they have accuſed thee to a multitude. n Tho' therefore they give thee many fair words, yet repoſe no truſt nor confidence in them, but look to thy ſelf.

o God by his Houſe here underſtandeth the Temple, which God is ſaid here to have forſaken with reſpect to his gracious manifeſtations in it to the People that came thither to worſhip him. p By his heritage he means the whole body of the Iſraelites, called Gods Heritage not in this Chapter only, but Chap. 2. 7. Joel 2. 17. Mic. 7. 14. whom God threateneth to leave with reſpect to his ſpecial Providence, by which he had taken care of them, upon which account Canaan is called the Land which God cared for, Deut. 11. 12. that is ſo cared for, as in compariſon with them, he might ſeem to neglect all other Countreys. q That is, he had given that Nation which was once his dearly beloved into the hands or power of their Enemies.

8 Mine heritage is unto me, as a lion in the foreſt, it || † crieth out againſt me: therefore have I hated it r.

r That is, the reaſon why my heart is alienated from them, is becauſe they are altered, thoſe that were as my Sheep, following me their chief Shepherd, and the guidance of thoſe Prophets and Paſtors which I ſet over them, are become like Lions in the Foreſt roaring againſt me, and rending and tearing the Prophets which I ſent unto them.

|| Or, cauſe them to come.
* Chap. 7. 33.

9 Mine heritage is unto me as a || ſpeckled bird ſ, the birds round about are againſt her t, come ye, aſſemble all the beaſts of the field, || * come to devour u.

ſ The word in the Heb. ſignifies to die, or colour, and Interpreters are here divided, whether to interpret it of a Bird coloured by Nature, (ſo our Tranſlators underſtood it, and therefore have tranſlated it ſpeckled) or by accident, as ravenous Birds are coloured by the blood of other Birds killed by them. Hence ſome interpret the Text as a reflection upon the Jews for their Cruelty, coloured by their oppreſſion and innocent bloodſhed. Others of their tincture by a variety of Superſtition and Idolatry, the latter ſeemeth to me moſt probable, becauſe of what follows, it being what is uſual and natural for other Birds t to flock about a ſtrange coloured Bird, ſuch as they have not been uſed to ſee, but rather to fly from, than to come at a Bird of prey, that hath already ſtained her Feathers with the blood of other Birds. u But it may be underſtood of either, for the Jews were notoriouſly guilty of both, and it is God that cauſeth the Birds to come againſt her, and the Beaſts of the field to devour.

10 Many Paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard w, they have troden my portion under foot, they have made my † pleaſant portion, a deſolate wilderneſs x.

w By Paſtors moſt here think Civil Perſons, not Eccleſiaſtical Officers are meant; but they are divided, ſome interpreting it of the Rulers and Princes of Nebuchadnezzar's Army, who took Jeruſalem, and deſtroyed Judah, called God's Vineyard, Iſa. 5. 1, 2. others underſtanding it of the Rulers of the Jews, who by their wicked Government, and as wicked Example had ruined their Country. x And cauſed God to turn the Country which he had choſen for his portion, and declared ſuch a pleaſure in, into a Wilderneſs, and ſuch a Wilderneſs as was not only thinly inhabited, but wholly deſolate.

11 They have made it deſolate y, and being deſolate it mourneth unto me z, the whole land is made deſolate, becauſe no man layeth it to heart a.

y Heb. He hath made it deſolate, but it cannot be meant of God, for it is God that ſpeaketh, and God is he mentioned in the next words; It muſt therefore either be underſtood of Nebuchadnezzar, the inſtrumental cauſe; or (one number being put for another) of the People or the Rulers as the meritorious cauſe, and in that rueful ſtate into which their ſins had brought it, it cried unto God. a And one great cauſe of this ſore Judgment upon the Land, was the Peoples not laying to heart, not ſeriouſly conſidering what God had done or was doing againſt it, 12 The ſpoilers are come upon all high places through the wilderneſs b: for the ſword of the LORD ſhall devour from the one end of the land, even unto the other end of the land: no fleſh ſhall have peace c.

b The Prophet (as very uſually) ſpeaketh of a thing as already done, which was very ſhortly to be done, he ſaith they were come up becauſe they ſhould come up, and no places ſhould be ſo high but they ſhould climb them; none ſo ſtrong, but they ſhould ſubdue them. c The ſword of the Enemy is called the ſword of the Lord, becauſe he ordereth and ſucceeds it, though the Enemy manageth it, and he ſaith it ſhall be againſt all, of all ranks and orders, no fleſh ſhould have peace; by no fleſh he meaneth no ranks, no orders of Men.

13 * They have ſown wheat, but they ſhall reap thorns d: they have put themſelves to pain, but ſhall not profit e: and || they ſhall be aſhamed of your revenues, becauſe of the fierce anger of the LORD f.

d If theſe words be underſtood literally, they only ſignifie, that God would blaſt the Labours of the Husbandman, and curſe them in the Field. The Earths bringing forth Thorns and Thiſtles was part of the Curſe for the firſt tranſgreſſion of Man: Gen. 3. 18. God's blaſting the Labours of Husbandmen is often threatned as a puniſhment of Sin. Vid. Lev. 26. 16. Deut. 28. 38. if it be taken metaphorically, it is expounded by the next words. e That they ſhould labour in vain, all the Works of their hands, all their Counſels and Deliberations ſhould be of no profit, or avail unto them. f The fierce anger of God againſt them ſhall be ſo ſhewed, that the returns of their Labours or Eſtates, the profits of their Trades, &c. ſhall be ſo ſmall that they ſhall be aſhamed of them.

* Deut. 30. 3. Chap. 32. 37.

14 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD againſt all mine evil neighbours, that touch the inheritance which I have cauſed my people Iſrael to inherit g, Behold, I will * pluck them out of their land, and pluck out the houſe of Judah from amongſt them h?

g God will not be angry for ever with his own People, nor ſuffer the rod of the wicked for ever to reſt upon the back of the righteous, for ſaith he for thoſe that are my evil Neighbours, the Nations bordering upon Judea, which God calls his Inheritance, upon which account he calleth them his Neighbours, who touched his Inheritance, not ſo much by contiguity of Habitation, as by rapacious Fingers, to do them hurt, inſulting over them when the Hand of God was upon them, and contributing to their affliction and miſery, by helping their Enemies againſt them, as did the Edomites, Philiſtines, Moabites, &c. h I will alſo pluck them out of their Land, I will bring the ſword upon them alſo, and they ſhall be led into captivity, and though they may have made ſome Inroads upon my People, and have carried away ſome of them into Captivity, yet I will fetch them out of their Captivity.

15 And it ſhall come to paſs, after that I have plucked them out, I will return and have compaſſion on them, and will bring them again every man to his heritage, and every man to his land i.

i This ſeemeth not to be a Prophecy only of the Jews return into their Land after the fulfilling of the Years of their Captivity, but alſo of the bringing back of theſe Nations after that they ſhould be plucked up, and ſeems to relate to the calling of the Gentiles, but this Prophecy muſt be limited by what followeth in the next Verſe, and not underſtood of all the Inhabitants of thoſe Nations.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, If they will diligently learn the ways of my people to ſwear by my name, the LORD liveth k, (as they taught my people to ſwear by Baal) l then ſhall they be built in the midſt of my people m.

k Tho theſe people be Heathens, yet if they will leave their Idolatries, and ſuperſtitious ways of Worſhip, and learn to worſhip and ſerve me as my People do and ought to worſhip me. l And ſwear by my Name the Lord liveth, that is, pay that Homage which they pay to the Divine Being to me, the living and true God; owning me alone as the fountain of life, and ſearcher of the hearts (for there is a great Homage paid to the true God in ſwearing by his Name only, which ſheweth the great impiety and profaneneſs of other Oaths.) m Then, ſaith God, I will bleſs and proſper them alſo, and they ſhall not only have a portion in the Earth but amongſt my People, which was eminently fulfilled in the Converſion of the Gentiles, Rom. 11. 17. they were originally wild Olives, and grafted in amongſt the Jews, and with them made partakers of the root, and fatneſs of the Olive-tree.

17 But if they will not obey, I will utterly pluck up, and deſtroy that nation, ſaith the LORD n.

n But for thoſe, whether they be Jews or Gentiles, that ſhall continue in their Idolatrous, and Superſtitious courſes; that ſhall refuſe the Meſſias, and continue in unbelief, and go on in courſes of Rebellion and diſobedience (ſaith God) I will utterly deſtroy that People. Thus Iſa. 60. 12. The nation and kingdom, that will not ſerve thee, ſhall periſh, yea thoſe nations ſhall be utterly waſted.

CHAP. XIII.

In the Type of a Linen-Girdle God prefigureth their Deſtruction, 1,——11. Under the Parable of Bottles filled with Wine, is foretold their Drunkenneſs with Miſery, 12,——14. He exhorteth to prevent theſe Judgments by Repentance from their ſins, which are the cauſe thereof, 15,——27.

1 THus ſaith the LORD unto me, Go, and get the a linen girdle, and put it upon thy loins, and put it not in water a.

a God's deſign, by what is recorded in this Chapter, is by two Types, as in two Glaſſes, to let the People underſtand by the Prophet, how he looked upon them, and what they were in his Eyes, and alſo what he would do unto them, and they might expect from him, to this purpoſe he directeth the Prophet to procure himſelf a Girdle, not woollen but linen made of Flax, or the like, and to put it not upon his Clothes, but upon his Loins, to ſignifie (as ſome think) that this people were a people whom God had made near to him. He commands him not to put it in water, to ſoften it, as ſome think; Linen newly made, before it is wetted in water, being rough; and this they conceive the Prophet was forbidden, for a further Type of the ſtiffneſs and roughneſs, and ſtubbornneſs of this People. Others think, to typifie that God was no cauſe of this Peoples rotting, and growing corrupt.

2 So I got a girdle according to the word of the LORD b, and put it on my loins c.

b That is according to God's Command. c And uſed it as God commanded me, never diſputing the reaſon, why God bid me do ſuch a thing.

3 And the word of the LORD came unto me the ſecond time, ſaying,

4 Take the girdle that thou haſt got, which is upon thy loins, and ariſe, go to Euphrates, and hide it there in an hole of the rock d.

d God having commanded the Prophet to procure ſuch a Girdle as was before mentioned, and to tie it upon his Loins, he a ſecond time comes to him and commandeth him to take this Girdle and carry it to Euphrates. This was one of the four great Rivers that the River out of the Garden of Eden divided it ſelf into, Gen. 2. 10, 14. It was the border of the promiſed Land, Gen. 15. 18. Deut. 1. 7. 11. 24. 1 Chron. 5. 9. Reuben's Lot was bounded by it. The Prophet was commanded to hide his Girdle, in the hole of a Rock in that River. But why there? Were there not other places nearer, where the Prophet might have hid it? It is judged by ſome, that this Command was alſo to ſignifie unto them, that they ſhould be carried out of their own Borders into Captivity, or rather that they had corrupted, and were become rotten by doing after the faſhions and manners of the Heathens, who lived on the other ſide of Euphrates always, but having (an hundred years before this) captivated the Ten Tribes, lived alſo on this ſide of it.

5 So I went and hid it by Euphrates as the LORD commanded me e.

e Moſt think that Jeremiah did this but in a Viſion, for it was a very long Journey for the Prophet to take to go from Anathoth, or Hieruſalem as far as Euphrates. Jeremiah was obedient to God's Command, without any diſputing or asking God the meaning of this Injunction to him.

6 And it came to paſs after many days that the LORD ſaid unto me, Ariſe, go to Euphrates, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there f.

f God who had bidden the Prophet go and hide the linen Girdle, after ſome conſiderable time ſpeaks again to him to go and take it away from the place where he had lodged it.

7 Then I went to Euphrates and digged, and took the girdle from the place where I had hid it g, and behold the girdle was marred, it was profitable for nothing h.

g Whether the Prophet really made ſuch a journey; or all this was but a Viſion is very uncertain. h When he came to the place, or in his Viſion, he thought when he came to the place, that he ſaw all the girdle rotted, and good for nothing but to be thrown upon a Dunghil.

8 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

9 Thus ſaith the LORD, After this manner will I mar the pride of Judah, and the great pride of Jeruſalem i.

i By this it appears that God commanded Jeremiah to do this, not only as a repreſentation of the rotten and corrupt ſtate of this People, but of his Vengeance which ſhould ſuddenly be brought upon them, though they were a proud people lifted up and ſwelled in the Opinion of themſelves, from the favour which God had ſhewed them, in making them a People near unto him, and as it were wearing them upon his Loins, yet they having corrupted themſelves by mixing their ſtreams with the ſtreams of Euphrates, corrupting themſelves with the Superſtitions, corruptions and Idolatries of Heathens, God would make uſe of ſome of thoſe Nations to abate their Pride, and pluck their feathers, and they ſhould rot amongſt thoſe People, and in ſome of thoſe Nations with whom, and by whoſe Example they had ſinned againſt the Lord. This ſenſe of theſe words is much confirmed by the following words.

10 This evil people which refuſe to hear my words, which walk in the || imagination of their heart, and walk after other gods to ſerve them, and to worſhip them ſhall even be as this girdle, which is good for nothing k.

k Hitherto the Prophet had yielded a blind obedience to God, doing what he commanded him though he poſſibly knew no other reaſon for it, but becauſe God bade him do ſo (which is an Homage we owe unto God, though to none but him) now God expounds himſelf what he meant to teach the Jews by this, viz. That he did intend that they ſhould be conſumed by the People beyond the River Euphrates, as that Girdle was there marred, and he alſo ſhews them, that their own ſins in diſobeying his word, and following the imaginations of their own hearts, particularly their Idolatry, was what had brought this ſore judgment upon them.

11 For as the girdle cleaveth to the loins of a man, ſo have I cauſed to cleave unto me the whole houſe of Iſrael, and the whole houſe of Judah, ſaith the LORD, that they might be unto me for a people, and for a name, and for a praiſe, and for a glory l: but they would not hear m.

l Here God openeth to the Prophet, why he commanded him to put the Girdle about his Loins, viz. to ſhew that he of his ſingular favour, had uſed the Jews as a Man uſeth his Girdle which he faſteneth about his Loins, and as a Man weareth his Girdle, made up of ſome coſtly Materials for an honour and praiſe to him, ſo God's deſign in honouring this People, wearing them as a Girdle, was, that they might bring him honour and glory, living to his praiſe, in the obedience of his Commands, eſpecially ſuch Commands as related to his Worſhip. m But they would not anſwer God's deſigns, nor hearken to any Counſels of that nature which he gave them, and therefore he was reſolved to pluck them from his Loins, and to ſuffer them to rot, and conſume as that Girdle was rotted. See Pſal. 81. from Verſe 8, to the end, which the Author of the Engliſh Annotations ſaith well, is an excellent Comment on this Text.

12 ¶ Therefore thou ſhalt ſpeak unto them this word, Thus ſaith the LORD the God of Iſrael, Every bottle ſhall be filled with wine, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, Do we not certainly know that every bottle ſhall be filled with wine n?

n God by his Prophet ſheweth them their ruine in another Glaſs, he bids the Prophet tell them, that every bottle ſhould be filled with wine. Wine was what they delighted in, Hoſ. 3. 1. They loved flagons of wine, and were for thoſe Prophets that would propheſie to them of wine and ſtrong drink, Micah 2. 11. God therefore ſendeth them a Prophecy about Wine, bids the Prophet tell them, that every bottle ſhould be filled with wine. (Glad News to the Drunkards among them!) but no very ſtrange thing to them who often enough were wont both to fill, and to empty Bottles of Wine; but they little underſtood the Wine which God and his Prophet intended, God therefore openeth it to them.

13 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings that ſit upon Davids throne, and the prieſts, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem with drunkenneſs o.

o There is a Wine of aſtoniſhment and confuſion, Pſal. 60. 3. A Wine that intoxicateth, and inflameth, and ſtupifieth, as well as a Wine that refreſheth; ſaith God, with that Wine I will fill all Orders of Perſons, Kings, Prieſts, Prophets, and all the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem. Nor ſhall the Throne of David be a protection to your Kings, I will have no regard to them upon that account, nor to the Prieſts though they be Perſons conſecrated to me.

14 And I will daſh them † one againſt another, even the fathers, and the ſons together, ſaith the LORD: I will not pity, nor ſpare, nor have mercy, † but deſtroy them p.

p And I will ſet them one againſt another, raiſing up an evil Spirit of diviſion amongſt them, that they ſhall be like earthen Bottles daſhed one againſt another, which are eaſily broken in pieces. I will have no pity on them, therefore let them not preſume upon my mercy, and pity, and compaſſion, for I am reſolved to ſhew them no mercy, but to bring them to utter ruine, and deſtruction.

q God ordinarily ſubjoineth exhortation and counſel to his reproof, if peradventure people will change their hearts and ways. Having threatned them, therefore the Prophet ſpeaketh to them, that they would yet hear, and that not formally but give ear, not exalting themſelves againſt God, and nouriſhing a vain confidence or preſumptuous hopes, and going on in their rebellious courſes, deſpiſing him, and others who were but the Lord's Prophets and his Meſſengers unto them. The word which we bring is not ours, it is the Lord that hath ſpoken by us.

16 Give glory to the LORD your God r, before he cauſe darkneſs, and before your feet ſtumble upon the dark mountains, and while ye * look for light, he turn it into * the ſhadow of death, and make it groſs darkneſs ſ.

* Iſa 59 9.

r Glorifie God, by an humble confeſſion of your ſins, Joſ. 7. 19, 20. by ſubmitting your ſelves to God, Jam. 4. 7. humbling your ſelves under his Word, Jam. 4. 10. and under his mighty hand, 1 Pet. 5. 6. ſ Before God brings upon you his great and heavy Judgments before threatned; as a ſtate of proſperity is ſet out often in Scripture by the Notion of Light, which is a pleaſant and chearing thing; ſo a ſtate of affliction is often ſet out to us in Scripture under the Notion of Darkneſs, Iſa. 8. 22. Joel 2. 2. Amos 5. 18, &c. and as in the want of light, which is directive to our feet, Men are prone to ſtumble at any thing that lies in their way, ſo as they know not how to direct their feet or take their ſteps, ſo in times of affliction, eſpecially great afflictions, Men are ordinarily perplexed and know not what courſe to take. In the latter part of the Verſe he ſeemeth to threaten God's diſappointment of their expectations. The Jews to the laſt appeared highly confident looking for light, but they met with great diſappointment, even groſs darkneſs.

17 But if ye will not hear it t, my ſoul ſhall weep in ſecret places for your pride u, and * mine eye ſhall weep ſore, and run down with tears, becauſe the Lords flock is carried away captive †.

* Lam. 1. 2. 16. & 2. 18.

t That is, if you will not liſten to what I ſay, take heed to what I ſay, and obey the counſel which I give you. u I ſhall ſeriouſly and ſecretly mourn for your rebellion and obſtinacy which is rooted in your pride, and lifting up your ſelves againſt the Lord's Monitions and Counſels. † And I ſhall alſo mourn for your calamity when it comes upon you, I ſhall have a perſonal and family concern with you, but that will not ſo much trouble me as to conſider that you who are the Church and People of God ſhould be led into Captivity.

18 Say unto the king and to the queen, Humble your ſelves x, ſit down; for your ‖ principalities ſhall come down, even the crown of your glory x.

x The Author of holy Writ is diſcernible by this as by other things, that the Scripture equally ſpeaks to the greateſt Perſons, as to Perſons of meaner rank. God here calls to the King of Judah, whether it was at this time Jehoiakim, or his Son Jehojakin, is uncertain. x. By Principalities he means both their dignity, and their liberty that which he often calleth the Crown of their glory. Some expound it head-tires, becauſe the word deriveth from a word which ſignifies the Head.

19 The cities of the ſouth ſhall be ſhut up, and none ſhall open them y, Judah ſhall be carried away captive all of it, it ſhall be wholly carried away captive.

y Either the Cities of Judah which lay Southward from Chaldæa, and therefore their Enemies in the next Verſe are ſaid to come from the North, and this great evil is ſaid to have come from the North; or (as ſome would have it) the Cities of Egypt, which lay yet more Southward, ſo as the Egyptians ſhould neither come with ſufficient force to raiſe the Siege, nor ſhould there be any Sanctuary or refuge for them in Egypt, but they ſhould certainly be wholly carried into Captivity.

20 Lift up your eyes, and behold them that come from the north z: where is the flock that was given thee, thy beautiful flock a?

z He ſpeaks to them as if their Enemy was even then upon their March, that if they did but look they might ſee him coming. a The Prophet either ſpeaks to the King, or to the Rulers, or chief of the Congregation of Judah, Prov. 14. 28. In the multitude of the people is the king's honour. So in the multitude of Subjects or of Members, lies much of the honour of a Church or State.

21 What wilt thou ſay when he ſhall † puniſh thee? (for thou haſt taught them to be captains, and as chief over thee) ſhall not * ſorrows take thee as a woman in travail b?

† Heb viſit thee.
* Chap. 6. 24.

b That is, thou wilt have nothing to ſay, but be wholly confounded and aſhamed when God ſhall viſit thee with this ſore judgment, or when Nebuchadnezzar's Army ſent by God, ſhall viſit thee; for thou, either by thy commerce and trading with them, or by thy ſo often calling them to thy aſſiſtance, or by thy Idolatry borrowed from them, and other Nations, haſt taught them to be Captains over thee; thy ſorrows and affliction will come upon thee ſuddenly and terribly as pain cometh upon a Woman in Travail; yea, and as certainly alſo.

22 And if thou ſay in thine heart, * Wherefore come theſe things upon me? for the greatneſs of thine iniquity are thy * skirts diſcovered, and thy heels ‖ made bare c.

* Chap. 5. 19 & 16. 10.
* Nahum 3. 5.
‖ Or, ſhall be violently taken away.

c Hypocrites will rarely confeſs their own ſhame and God's righteouſneſs, but are ready to expoſtulate and diſpute with God, and to call him to account why he hath dealt ſo with them, as if God had dealt unjuſtly. But (ſaith God) if thou ſhouldſt have any ſuch thoughts in thine heart, do but remember thine iniquities, how many and how great they have been, thy nakedneſs is diſcovered becauſe of theſe, and for theſe thou art expoſed to contempt and ſhame; probably theſe phraſes are fetched from the uſual practice of Soldiers when they have conquered a place and taken Priſoners, to ſtrip them, and leave thoſe of either Sex, either no Clothes to cover their nakedneſs, or nothing but their own Rags, not ſufficient to cover their nakedneſs. By Skirts is meant the lower part of their Bodies covered with the lower part of their Garments.

d In the Hebrew it is, Can the Cuſhite, &c. from whence it is well concluded, as learned Men judge, that the Ethiopians are of the poſterity of Cuſh the Son of Cham, Brother to Miſraim, the father of the Egyptians, Gen. 10. 6. For theſe were the only People of old noted for their black colour in Scripture, as the Ethiopians are now. e God ſheweth that the Jews by their continued cuſtomary ſinning had ſo inured themſelves to wicked practices, that it was as much labour in vain to endeavour to reclaim them, as to go about to waſh a Blackamore, or to take out the natural ſpots of the Beaſts called Leopards.

24 Therefore will I ſcatter them as the ſtubble that paſſeth away by the wind of the wilderneſs f.

f The words denote a great, and clear diſperſion, like that of the ſcattering of Stubble by a fierce Wind.

25 This is thy lot, the portion of thy meaſures from me, ſaith the LORD; becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and truſted in falſhood g.

g This is what thou ſhalt have at the Lord's Hand, the diſpenſation which thou ſhalt meet with, and thou mayeſt thank thy ſelf for it, for hadſt thou remembred either my former kindneſs to thee, or the Law that I gave thee, this had not come unto thee, but thou haſt forgotten me, and truſted in lyes, or in idle, vain and preſumptuous hopes, therefore I have given thee but a juſt lot, and meaſured to thee a juſt meaſure.

26 Therefore * will I diſcover thy skirts upon thy face that thy ſhame may appear h.

* Lam. 1. 8. Ezek. 16. 37. & 23. 29. Hoſ. 2. 10.

h Therefore I will expoſe thee to all manner of ſhame and contempt, without any regard to thy honour. Thoſe that honour God, God will honour, but thoſe that deſpiſe and diſhonour him, ſhall not be able to maintain their own honour.

27 I have ſeen thy adulteries, and thy * neighings i, the lewdneſs of thy whoredom, and thine abominations * on the hills, in the fields k: woe unto thee, O Jeruſalem, wilt thou not be made clean? † when ſhall it once be l?

† Heb. after when yet?

i Some think the Prophet here reflects upon them for their corporal Adulteries, and their madneſs upon them, which he compareth to the neighings of Horſes, but thoſe words on the hills in the fields in the next clauſe ſeem to inform us, k That he means here only their Idolatries which are in holy Writ often compared to Adulteries, which are the greateſt ſins in their kind, the greateſt violations of the Marriage Covenant, and provocations of Perſons in conjugal Relation, and the only cauſe of lawful divorce. l He concludes with pathetical Interrogations, intimating that yet there was hope if they would reform; and though giving over their caſe almoſt as deſperate, and not knowing what would not be, yet he leaves no means untried, but asks them if it was not yet time, or when ſuch a thing might be hoped for at their hands?

1 THE word of the LORD that came to Jeremiah concerning the † dearth a.

† Heb. the words of the dearths or reſtraints.

a What Dearth we are not told, nor when it happened; ſome think that it was in the time of the Siege of Hieruſalem; others, that it was in the beginning of the Reign of Zedekiah, but they judge moſt probably, that think it was in the time of Jehoiakim, for we read Chap. 36. 9. of an extraordinary Faſt by him proclaimed, which many judge was upon this occaſion: The Heb. Phraſe which is here uſed, ſignifying, The matter of the Reſtraints; gives Interpreters ſome liberty to abound in their ſenſes of this Text, but the following words make it evident, Ver. 4, 5. that the Reſtraints here mentioned were God's reſtraining of water from them, ſo that the Dearth was occaſioned from a great drought, which is elegantly deſcribed in the five next Verſes and deprecated, Ver. 7, 8, 9. which make indeed but a Preface to the Revelation of the Mind and Will of God in this Prophecy.

2 Judah mourneth, and the gates thereof languiſh, they are black unto the ground, and the cry of Jeruſalem is gone up b.

b By Judah is meant the Men and Women in the whole Country of Judah. The Gates is put for their Cities, or the Men of their Cities languiſhed, for want of moiſture for themſelves or their Beaſts. They are all in the Habits of Mourners, or their Faces looked ſwarthy, and ſtarvedly, for want of due and wholeſome Nouriſhment, and the cry of Hieruſalem is gone up, either their cry unto God by their Prayers in his Temple, or their cry by the reaſon of their Miſery and Grief is gone up to Heaven.

3 And their nobles have ſent their little ones to the waters, they came to the pits and found no water, they returned with their veſſels empty: they were aſhamed and confounded, and covered their heads c.

c This ſcarcity of water, afflicted not mean Perſons only, who have not ſo good means to ſupply their neceſſities as others; but their greateſt Perſons; ſo as they ſent their little ones (it were better tranſlated Servants for they are meant) to the places made to receive and retain Water, but finding no Water in the Pits, they came back again with their Veſſels empty like Men aſhamed and confounded, and troubled upon the ſeeing their expectations fruſtrated.

4 Becauſe the ground is chapt d, for there was no rain in the earth, the plowmen were aſhamed, they covered their heads e.

d The Heb. word ſignifieth more largely than chapt, broken, ſpoiled, turn'd into duſt, as is uſual in great Droughts. e The word alſo which we tranſlate Plowmen, doth not ſtrictly ſignifie Plowmen, but Husbandmen, there having been no Rain upon the Earth, it brought forth little or no Graſs for thoſe that imployed themſelves in breeding or feeding Cattel, and it was ſo hard, and ſo much wanted moiſture, that they could not Plow nor Sow, but were like Men aſhamed and confounded, who knew not what to do.

5 Yea, the hind alſo calved in the field and forſook it, becauſe there is no graſs f.

f Hinds uſe not to get their Food in Fields, but upon the Mountains and in Wilderneſſes, but the Drought was ſuch, that theſe wild Creatures came into the lower Grounds, nearer the Habitations of Men, than they were wont, and there brought forth their Young. The Hinds are loving Creatures, and as all Creatures by a natural inſtinct love their Young, ſo the Hinds eſpecially, but their moiſture being dried up, they could not ſuckle them, but were forced to leave them, running about here and there to ſeek Graſs to eat.

6 And the wild aſſes did ſtand in the high places, they ſnuffed up the wind like dragons g: their eyes did fail becauſe there was no graſs h.

g The wild Aſſes wanting water, got upon high places, where was the freeſt and cooleſt air, and ſucked in the Wind, and this it is ſaid they did like Dragons, of whom Ariſtotle and Pliny report, that by reaſon of the great heat of their Bodies, they ordinarily ſtand upon high places ſucking in the cool Air, and they tell us thoſe Creatures will live upon it for ſome time. The Prophet deſcribing this great Drought, tells us, the wild Aſſes did the like. h But for want of Graſs their Eyes were either almoſt ſunk in their Heads, they being almoſt ſtarved, or elſe the Phraſe ſignifies the fruſtration of their expectation, which this Phraſe alſo ſometimes ſignifies in Scripture, Pſal. 69. 3.

7 ¶ O LORD! though our iniquities teſtifie againſt us i, do thou it k for thy names ſake l: for our backſlidings are many, we have ſinned againſt thee m.

i The Prophet having deſcribed their miſery, both in the cauſe of it, the Drought for want of Rain, and the effects of it, he applieth himſelf to that God, who he knew was he who alone could give the former and the latter Rain; confeſſing that their ſins and backſlidings were very many, and teſtified againſt them, that they had deſerved God's ſevere Scourge, and God was Righteous in what of this nature he had done againſt them. But yet ſaith he k do thou it; that is, do thou what we deſire, and what we ſtand in need of; give us Rain. l Though not for our ſake, we deſerve no ſuch kindneſs from thee, yet for thy Names ſake: Thy Word, or Promiſe, or rather hear for thine Honour and Glory ſake. So Iſa. 43. 25. and 48. 11. where God promiſeth them to ſhew them kindneſs for his Names ſake, ſo as Jeremiah's Prayer is but a pleading of God's Promiſes, that he would fulfil his word. m For here ſignifies though, and might have been better ſo interpreted.

8 O the hope of Iſrael n, the Saviour thereof in time of trouble o, why ſhouldſt thou be as a ſtranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man, that turneth aſide to tarry for a night p?

n That is the object of Iſrael's hope, he in whom alone thy People Iſrael have been wont to hope, or he in whom alone Iſrael hath juſt reaſon to hope. o Thou who haſt formerly been their Saviour in the times of their trouble, or who alone canſt ſave them in ſuch times of trouble, as thou haſt now brought them into. See Pſal. 9. 9. and 46. 1. p Why ſhouldſt thou be as one that regardeſt thy ancient People no more than a Stranger, or a Traveller, who taketh no farther care for the place, or the Houſe where he lodgeth, than for the ſhort time that he is to ſtay or abide in it.

9 Why ſhouldſt thou be as a man aſtonied q? as a mighty man that cannot ſave r? yet thou, O LORD, art in the midſt of us ſ, and we are † called by thy name t, leave us not. ∴

q The Hebrew word here uſed being found in no place of Holy Writ but this, hath given Interpreters a liberty to tranſlate it variouſly, ſleepy, weak, aſtoniſhed, frighted, like a Man in ſuch diſorder through ſome great Paſſions, that he is able to do nothing. r Like a Man who in his own nature is ſtrong and mighty enough, but through ſickneſs or paſſion is ſo weakned, that he cannot put forth any ſtrength for the ſuccour and relief of his Friends. ſ Yet (ſaith the Prophet) thou art in the midſt of us, that is, we have thy Temple to which thou haſt promiſed thy ſpecial Preſence, or rather it is to be underſtood of the whole Land, according to what God had declared, Num. 5. 3. and 35. 34. Defile not the Land which ye ſhall inhabit, wherein I dwell: for I the Lord dwell among the Children of Iſrael. t That is, we are called the Lord's People, and that not only by others amongſt whom we have that repute, but by thy ſelf. God often calleth this People in Scripture, his People, his Portion. ∴ Therefore he begs that God would not leave them; he means as to that ſpecial Providence, by which he had formerly watched over them, and cared for them, and been a protection to them; nor as to his Ordinances, and his ſpecial gracious preſence with them in his Temple.

10 Thus ſaith the LORD unto this people, u Thus have they loved to wander w, they have not refrained their feet x, therefore the LORD doth not accept them y, * he will now remember their iniquity, and viſit their ſins z.

* Hoſ. 8. 13. and 9. 9.

u Here beginneth that Divine Revelation mentioned, Ver. 1. as an anſwer to the Prophet's Complaint and Prayer in the nine firſt Verſes. The ſubſtance of which is, that for their manifold ſins, he was reſolved to puniſh them, and therefore would not be any more ſollicited on their behalf. w They have gone aſide out of the way of my Precepts, and that out of a principle of love and delight, they have been fond of their Idols. x And they have perſiſted in thoſe deviations and ſinful courſes, notwithſtanding all Counſels, and Arguments uſed with them to the contrary, nothing could keep their feet to the way of my Teſtimonies. y Therefore though they pray, and cry, and faſt, God will not accept them. z But by his puniſhment of them for their ſins, he will let them know that as he hath ſeen and taken notice of, ſo he hath not forgot what they have done.

11 Then ſaid the LORD unto me *. Pray not for this people for their good a.

b The like threatning we have, Prov. 2. 28. Iſa. 1. 15. Chap. 11. 11. Ezech. 8. 18. Micah 3. 4. c Men may ſo long deſpiſe God's Calls, Exhortations and Counſels as their caſe may be deſperate as to the prevention of temporal Judgments by ſuch Religious applications to God as ordinarily have their effect, to prevent and remove Judgments. See Chap. 15. 1. Ezek. 14. 14, 20. d He threatneth to add to their plague, three ſore Judgments, ordinarily accompanying one another both in Gods Threatnings, and in the execution of them. Chap. 29 17, 18. and 4. 17. &c.

13 Then ſaid I, Ah Lord GOD! Behold the Prophets ſay unto them, Ye ſhall not ſee the ſword, neither ſhall ye have famine, but I will give you † aſſured peace in this place e.

e We have many Complaints of this Prophet againſt falſe Prophets that contradicted his Prophecies, Chap. 4. 10 and 23. 9. and we ſhall hereafter meet with the Names of ſome of them. Corrupt Governments never want Prophets to their humour, though a bolder tranſgreſſion can hardly be imagined, than for Men to intitle God to their own Imaginations and Fancies, and we ſhall Ver. 15. meet with the uſual Wages of ſuch Works.

14 Then the LORD ſaid unto me, The prophets propheſie lyes in my name f, * I ſent them not, neither have I commanded them, neither ſpake unto them: they propheſie to you a falſe viſion and divination, and a thing of nought, and the deceit of their heart.

* Chap. 23. 21 & 27. 15. & 29. 8, 9.

f They did not only propheſie falſhoods, but lyes, what they knew to be falſe; for they pretended, that God had revealed ſuch things unto them; for admit the things they ſpake (as to Men) but future Contingencies, which might be true or falſe, yet it was a lye for them to pretend that God had told them any ſuch things. The things were certainly falſe in themſelves, being contrary to God's Revelation; but ſetting that aſide, for them to pretend God had revealed that to them which he had not revealed, was a formed lye. God denieth that he ever commanded them to ſpeak any ſuch things, or ſent them upon any ſuch Errands, they propheſyed what came in their own fooliſh heads, and the deceits of their own hearts.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, concerning the prophets that propheſie in my name and I ſent them not, yet they ſay, Sword and famine ſhall not be in this land, by ſword and famine ſhall thoſe prophets be conſumed g.

g It is a moſt dangerous thing for Eccleſiaſtical Miniſters to deliver that to People as the Will of God, which is not ſo: God here threatneth that theſe Prophets in teſtimony of the truth of the Word of God delivered by Jeremiah, ſhould die by theſe very Judgments, which they falſely propheſied to this People as from God, an immunity from, Vid. Ch 6 15. and 20. 6. 1 Kings 22. 25.

16 And the people to whom they propheſie, ſhall be caſt out in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, becauſe of the famine, and the ſword, and they ſhall have none to bury them, their wives, nor their ſons, nor their daughters; for I will pour their wickedneſs upon them o.

o The Security promiſed by theſe falſe Prophets, ſhall be no Excuſe to the People for giving credit to them; the Prophets ſhall periſh for propheſying falſly in my Name, and the People that hearken to, and believe what they ſay, and practiſe accordingly, ſhall periſh for their light and vain Credulity. As the ſinful Commands of Superiours in things Civil, will not free thoſe from Guilt that execute their Commands; ſo the Lyes and falſe Teachings of Miniſters, will not excuſe thoſe that run into Error upon the Credit of their Words: both the one and the other owe their firſt Homage and Allegiance to God, by whoſe Word they ought to examine the Precepts of the one, and the Propheſyings of the other

* Ch. 9. 1. and 13. 17. Lam. 1. 16. and 2. 18. them *. Let mine eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not ceaſe, for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach with a very grievous blow.

18 If I go forth into the field, then behold the ſlain with the ſword, and if I enter into the city, then behold them that are ſick with famine, p yea || Or, make merchandize againſt a Land, and Men acknowledge it not. both the prophet and the prieſt || go about into a land that they know not q.

p The Prophet is by God directed to ſpeak ſtill of the Calamities of this People as a thing paſt though yet to come; according to the uſual Stile of Prophetical Writings; and to tell them, that whatſoever their falſe Prophets told them, yet he ſo certainly knew the contrary, that he could even wiſh himſelf melted into Tears for them, and had even already before his eyes the doleful Spectacle of their Miſeries. Some in the Field ſlain by the Enemies Sword, others within the Walls almoſt ſtarved to death. q The Word in the Hebrew סָחֲרוּ which we Tranſlate go about, ſignifies ſo primarily, and in a ſecond Sence to Merchandize, becauſe Merchants go about Countries to trade. This hath made that variety of Senſe which the Margents of our Bible have; but our Tranſlation is true enough, and the Senſe ſeems to be, that Prieſts and Prophets (though accounted ſacred perſons) ſhould be made Captives alſo, and wander in a Land wherein they were Foreigners. This is thought to relate to the firſt Captivity in the time of Jehoiakim, when the People of the beſt Faſhion were carried into Captivity.

19 Haſt thou utterly rejected Judah? hath thy ſoul loathed Zion r? why haſt thou ſmitten us, and
* Ch. 8. 15. there is no healing for us ſ? * we looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of healing, and behold trouble t.

r The Prophet again returns to God expoſtulating with him, and humbly imploring mercy for his People, which lets us know that he did not underſtand God's words to him, Ver. 11. as an abſolute Prohibition of him to pray for this People. Zion was a Place whoſe gates God loved, and Judah was his pleaſant Portion. Lord ſaith the Prophet, is it poſſible thou ſhouldſt loath a Place which thou ſo much lovedſt, or caſt off a People which thou haſt ſo much owned? ſ He acknowledgeth God to be he that had ſmitten them, and their Condition without him to be helpleſs and hopeleſs. t And that all their Hopes and Expectations were fruſtrated.

20 We acknowledge, O LORD, our wickedneſs,
* Pſal. 106. 6. Dan. 9. 8. and the iniquity of our fathers, for * we have ſinned againſt thee u.

u That is, both we and our Fathers have ſinned againſt thee, and have given thee a Right to puniſh and deſtroy us; we deſire not to cover or cloak our Sin, we own and acknowledge it.

21 Do not abhor us, for thy names ſake w, do not diſgrace the throne of thy glory x: remember, break not thy covenant with us y.

w The Thing which the Prophet deprecateth is, the Judgments come already, and farther coming upon this People, the Famine, Sword, and Peſtilence, with the Drought, under the ſad Conſequents of which they at preſent laboured; but he prays for the Removal of theſe Judgments, and the Prevention of ſuch as were yet to come, in this Phraſe, Do not abhor us; noting to us, that the Love of God to a People is the Root of all Good which they can expect; and his Hatred and Diſpleaſure, the Root of all the Evil that can betide them. Here are divers Arguments brought to back this Petition. 1. For thy Name's ſake, that is, thine Honour and Glory ſake, an Argument often made uſe of in Holy Writ, in the Prayers of God's People, Joſ. 7. 9, &c. and upon a very good Foundation, whether we conſider God's Concern for his own Glory, or the Tenure of God's Promiſes, promiſing mercy for his own Name's ſake. x He alſo argueth with God, from his former Love and Kindneſs to this People, which he had made the Throne of his Glory. The Words are either to be underſtood of the Throne of the Houſe of David, called the Lord's Throne, 1 Chron. 29. 23. or elſe the Temple, and the Ark in it, the more ſpecial Symbol of God's Preſence: hence he is ſaid to have dwelt betwixt the Cherubims, Pſal. 80. 1. ſo Chap. 17. 12. the Prophet ſaith, A glorious high Throne from the Beginning is our Sanctuary. Lord (ſaith the Prophet) we have deſerved all the Diſgrace thou canſt throw upon us, but do not thou diſgrace the Throne of thine own Glory. y Remember, break not thy Covenant with us. Did not Jeremy then know that God could not break his Covenant? Anſ. He did know it; but he alſo knew that it is our Duty to pray to God to fulfill it; or poſſibly he would extend it a little farther, and for God's Covenant ſake made with the faithful in Iſrael, he would have obtained mercy for the whole Body of the Nation.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles that can cauſe rain z? or can the heavens give ſhowers? a * Art not thou he, O LORD our God? * Pſal. 135. 7. Iſa. 30. 23. Ch. 10. 13.
b therefore we will wait upon thee, for thou haſt made all theſe things c.

z The preſent Judgment under which they groaned, was a Drought, which he had deſcribed in the ſix firſt Verſes; the Prophet imploring God for the Removal of it, argues, from the Impoſſibility of Help in this caſe from any other way, none of the Idols of the Heathens, which he calls vain things, nothing in themſelves, and of no uſe or profit to thoſe that ran after them, could give Rain. a The Heavens indeed give it; but in the order of ſecond Cauſes, if God ſtoppeth thoſe Bottels they cannot run. b Lord, art not thou able to do it (ſaith the Prophet?) nay, art not thou he who alone is able to do it? (for ſo much the Phraſe doth import.) The Scripture conſtantly giveth God the Honour of giving Rain, Gen. 2. 5. Deut. 28. 12. 1 Kings 8. 36. 2 Chron. 6. 27. Job 5. 10. and 38. 26, 28. Pſal. 147. 8. Ch. 5. 24. and 51. 16. Joel 2. 23. Zech. 10. 1. Matth. 5. 45. Acts 14. 17. c Therefore ſaith the Prophet, we thy People will wait upon thee by Prayer, and the payment of thoſe Homages thou requireſt; for thou haſt made all theſe things, that is (ſay ſome) thou haſt cauſed all theſe Judgments, or afflictive Diſpenſations; or rather, thou haſt made the Rain, laſt mentioned.

a We are (though in another Chapter) yet in the ſame Prophecy, or Diſcourſe betwixt God and this Prophet. Jeremiah having been once denied, ſollicited God again, as we had it in the four laſt Verſes of the former Chapter. God here replieth to that Prayer; and the ſum of what he ſaith is, that he was inexorable in their caſe. Though Moſes who could obtain ſo much of God upon their ſinning, in the caſe of the Golden Calf, Exod. 32. 11, 14. and in the caſe of the Peoples Murmuring, Numb. 14. 19, 20. and Samuel who was ſo prevalent with God, 1 Sam. 7. 9. though theſe two formerly ſo potent and prevalent Mediators for a People with me, ſtood before me, waited (that is) upon me, and ſollicited me on the behalf of this People, yet I could not favour this People. b q. d. I am not able to abide the ſight of them, and therefore let them go forth.

2 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they ſay unto thee, Whither ſhall we go forth? c then thou ſhalt tell them, Thus ſaith the LORD, * Such as are for death, * Chap. 43. 11.

ſword, and ſuch as are for famine, to famine, and Zech. 11. 9.
ſuch as are for captivity, to captivity d.

c If they ask thee what thou meaneſt by going forth; which being a term of Motion, implieth a Term to which the Motion ſhould be. d Saith God in the general, it is to Ruin and Deſtruction, but they ſhall not all be deſtroyed one and the ſame way; ſome ſhall be deſtroyed by the Peſtilence, (for that is here to be underſtood by Death) others ſhall be deſtroyed by the Famine, others by the ſword of Enemies, others ſhall go into Captivity, but one way or other the Land ſhall be quitted of the moſt of you.

3 And I will * appoint over them four † kinds, * Lev. 26. 16.

of the earth to devour and deſtroy f.

e Four kinds of Deſtroyers, the Enemies ſwords ſhall ſlay them and ſo make Meat for the Dogs, who ſhall tear their Carcaſes, and for the Birds of prey, who ſhall prey upon their dead Bodies that ſhall lie unburied. f And I will alſo ſend amongſt them wild Beaſts, who ſhall both tear their living Bodies and their dead Carcaſes.

4 And † I will cauſe them to be * removed into † Heb. give them for a removing.

the ſon of Hezekiah king of Judah, for that which he * 2 King. 24. 3.
did in Hieruſalem h.

g Though the body of the People were removed into Babylon, yet as it is more than probable that many of them fled into other Countries to ſave themſelves, ſo there is no doubt, but the King of Babylon removed them into ſeveral Kingdoms belonging to his large Empire. h What Manaſſeh did, may be read 2 Kin. 21. 11. He did wickedly, above all that the Amorites did that were before him, and made alſo Judah to ſin with his Idols. Verſe 16. Moreover, he ſhed innocent blood very much, till he had filled Jeruſalem from one end to another, beſides his ſin wherewith he made Judah to ſin, &c. Some make a Queſtion whether God means the perſonal Sins of Manaſſeh and his Miniſters, or only the Sins of the ſame kind that the Jews ſtill continued. Manaſſeh lived 55 Years, his Son Joſiah 31 Years, it was now the time of Jehoiakim, the Son of Joſiah, who reigned but eleven Years, and it is probable this was his fifth Year. (for in that Year he proclaimed the Faſt) for the Drought, (as is ſuppoſed) Chap. 36 9. Tho the People were bad enough ſtill, yet it is no way probable, that they were ſo bad as in the time of Manaſſeh. We know all Joſiah's time, the Father of this Prince, was a time of Reformation, though it be certain, much of their old Leaven of Idolatry and Superſtition was yet in them. Whatever therefore ſome think, God undoubtedly meaneth the Guilt that Manaſſeh and his Subjects contracted, forty Years before this time: Nor do I ſee any reaſon why any ſhould queſtion, whether it be conſiſtent with the Juſtice of God, to puniſh the Sins of Parents upon their Poſterity, when it is no more than we ſee done every day in the Puniſhments of Traytors and Felons, by the ſeizing the Eſtates of their Children, and in Wars, upon the Taking of Cities and Fortified Places; and it is no more than God hath threatned in the Second Commandment, Exod. 20. and declared it as a piece of his name, Exod. 34. and done in a multitude of Scriptural Inſtances. Manaſſeh is here named as the Son of Hezekiah for his ſhame, becauſe of his degeneracy from ſo good a Parent; it is expreſly ſaid, 2 Kings 23. 6. that notwithſtanding Joſiah's Reformation, yet the Lord turned not from the fierceneſs of his wrath, kindled againſt Judah for the provocations of Manaſſeh.

* Iſa 51. 19.

† Heb. to ask of thy peace.

5 For * who ſhall have pity upon thee, O Hieruſalem? or who ſhall bemoan thee? or who ſhall go aſide † to ask how thou doeſt i.

i The ſum of this is, That this People ſhould be in a moſt miſerable pitileſs ſtate and condition; none ſhould regard them in the day of their Calamity, nor ſo much as once enquire after them, or how they fared, or what they did.

6 Thou haſt forſaken me, ſaith the LORD, thou art gone backward, therefore will I ſtretch out my hand againſt thee, and deſtroy thee, I am weary with repenting k.

k God here by more Phraſes of the ſame import with many that we have before met with, declareth his ſteady Reſolution to deſtroy them, for their Apoſtacy from him; and ſets out himſelf to them as angry Princes or Parents, that had been often provoked againſt a Subject or a Child, and often reſolved to puniſh the Offender, but out of their own Clemency, or upon the Mediation and Interceſſion of others for them, had altered their Minds, and reſolved to ſpare them, but at laſt met with ſo many freſh Provocations, that they are weary of forgiving them any longer; ſo God declareth himſelf weary of his patient bearing with them, and reſolved to bear no longer.

7 And I will fan them with a fan in the gates of the land l, I will bereave them of || children m, I will deſtroy my people, ſith they return not from their ways n.

l Not a purging Fan by Affliction, to ſeparate their Chaff and Droſs from them, but a ſcattering Fan; ſome Tranſlate it into the gates of the earth: So it is the ſame that God had before ſaid that he would remove them into all Nations, (Gates being put for Cities;) but it is more probable, that this is added in purſuit of the Metaphor of Fanning, Men uſually chuſing Barn-doors to fan at, that they may have the Advantage of the Wind. m Of Children is not in the Hebrew, and is needleſly ſupplied; it may as well be of any, or all their Comforts or good Things. n Their Privilege claimed of being my People ſhall not protect them, ſo long as they go on in their lewd and ſinful Courſes.

|| Or, againſt the mother City, a Young-man ſpoiling, &c. Or, againſt the Mother and the Young-men.

8 Their widows are increaſed to me above the ſand of the ſeas o, I have brought upon them || againſt the mother of the young men, a ſpoiler at noon-day p: I have cauſed him to fall upon it ſuddenly, and terrours upon the city q.

o The Prophet ſpeaking in the Name of that God who calleth Things that are not as if they were, ſtill continueth his Stile. ſpeaking of Things to come as if preſent. In Jehoiakim's time we read of no ſuch plenty of Widows; they were multiplied when the City was beſieged and taken in Zedekiah's time, to a great number, hyperbolically compared to the Sands of the Sea. p There is a great Variety amongſt Interpreters, as to their Sence of this Phraſe, about which, thoſe that are curious may conſult the Engliſh Annotations upon this Verſe. By the Spoiler at Noon-day is meant Nebuchadnezzar, in the Senſe of the beſt Interpreters, who came not like a Thief who cometh by night to rob and to ſpoil, but with an Army in the day time: The Queſtion only is about thoſe Words againſt the Mother of the Young-men. The Hebrew Word, which our Tranſlation renders Young-men, is בָּחֻר, which properly ſignifieth a choice Man, or a Perſon choſen, from the Hebrew Verb which ſignifieth to chuſe; ſo as it may as well be Tranſlated the Mother of the Choſen, as the Mother of the Young-men. Becauſe Young-men are looked upon as the Choice Men, whether for Beauty, or Strength and Ability for any thing, the Word often ſignifies a Young-man, Deut. 32. 25. 2 Sam. 6. 1. Cant. 5. 15. Pſal. 148. 12. Iſa. 23. 4. Ezek. 9 6. and in many other Texts. Some will have the Senſe (as in our Margent) againſt the Mother, a Young-man, meaning by the Young-man Nebuchadnezzar, and by the Mother Jeruſalem: The Jews are in the Canticles called the Daughters of Hieruſalem, and Hieruſalem which is above, is by the Apoſtle called the Mother of us all. The Hebrew Word is in the ſingular Number; how we Tranſlate it Young-men I underſtand not. Pagnine Tranſlates it Electi, the Mother of the choſen. I do think that by the Mother is meant Hieruſalem, and that Populi may be underſtood to Electi. Hieruſalem was the Mother of the Jewiſh People, or Judea at leaſt, againſt whom, Nebuchadnezzar the Spoiler, at Noon-day, was ſent; and we know that the Jews were God's Choſen People. q This laſt Clauſe is yet more obſcure than the other, Word for Word, as it is in the Hebrew; it is, I have cauſed to fall upon it ſuddenly, the City and Terrors. The Word here uſed עִיר commonly ſignifies a City in Scripture, and is very rarely Tranſlated otherwiſe. Were it not for the Adverb ſuddenly coming between it and City, the Sence were plain, and thus, I will cauſe to fall upon that City, Terrors; others read it, I will cauſe him to fall upon it, and Terrors upon the City. The Word ſometimes in Scripture ſignifies Enemies, and is ſo Tranſlated, 1 Sam. 28. 16. Pſal. 139 20. Dan. 4. 19. In this Signification of the Word, the Sence is plain, I will ſend upon it the Enemy and Terrors. The Learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations obſerves it is tranſlated a Watcher, Dan. 4. 13, 23 and thinks the Senſe may be thus, I have cauſed it to fall upon them ſuddenly, a Watcher that bringeth Terrors; to which purpoſe he tells us, the Chaldæan Forces are compared to Watchers, Chap 4. 16, 17. and 5. 6.

9 She that hath born ſeven h languiſheth: ſhe hath given up the ghoſt, * her ſun is gone down while it was yet day i; ſhe hath been aſhamed and confounded k, and the reſidue of them will I deliver to the ſword, before their enemies, ſaith the LORD l.

* Amos 8. 9.

h Seven ſignifies many, 1 Sam. 2. 5. Job 5. 19. The Prophet complains, that Hieruſalem, or the Country of Judah, that had been very numerous in People, now grew feeble, neither able to maintain thoſe ſhe had born, nor yet to bear more. i In the midſt of her Proſperity ſhe became thus miſerable. k A part of them were confounded by the Judgments of God which came upon them before their Captivity. l For the Remainder of them (ſaith God) they ſhall be deſtroyed by the Sword of the Enemy.

10 * Wo is me, my mother, that thou haſt born me a man of ſtrife, and a man of contention to the whole earth m: I have neither lent on uſury, nor men have lent to me on uſury, yet every one of them doth curſe me n.

* Job 3. 1, &c. Chap. 20. 14.

m The Prophet in this Verſe cannot be excuſed from a great meaſure of Paſſion and Humane Infirmity; he almoſt curſeth the day of his Birth, denouncing himſelf a woful, miſerable Man, to be born a Man of Strife and Contention to the whole World, that is, thoſe Nations in it againſt which God ſent him to denounce his Judgments; which Denunciations, how true ſoever, and the truth of which they afterward did effectually find, yet they were not able to bear, and therefore they ſtrove with him, and contended againſt him; yet it was not for his Sin. n Uſury was forbidden the Jews, Deut. 23. 19. and ſo was the more odious; but ſaith the Prophet, I have not followed that trade, I have neither lent nor borrowed upon Uſury, I have done them no wrong, nor given them any occaſion againſt me, yet they will not be reconciled to me, but ſpeak of me all manner of evil: This was the Lot of the old Prophets, the Lot of Samuel, of Chriſt, of his Apoſtles, and of all the faithful Miniſters of the Goſpel ever ſince; let them carry themſelves never ſo innocently and obligingly to People, yet if they will be faithful, and truly reveal unto People the Mind and Will of God, that is enough to anger a People whoſe Wills are not ſubjugated to the Will of God, and they will curſe them.

11 The LORD ſaid, Verily it ſhall be well with thy remnant o, verily I || will cauſe the enemy to entreat thee well in the time of evil, and in the time of affliction p.

|| Or, I will entreat the Enemy for thee.

o The latter Words of the Verſe expound the former; for by Remnant is here meant the Reſidue or Remnant of Days that Jeremiah had yet to live, not the Remnant of the People who ſhould come out of Babylon. p I will, by my Providence, ſo order it, that how cruelly and ſeverely ſoever the Enemy deals with thy Country-men, yet he ſhall uſe thee kindly when he ſhall take the City: See the fulfilling of this Prophecy, Chap. 39. 11. and 40. 3, 4.

12 Shall iron break the northern iron and the ſteel q?

q There is a great Variety among Interpreters as to this Verſe alſo, ſome interpreting this as a Prophecy that none ſhould break the Prophet, whom God would make as the Northern Iron and Steel, which was the hardeſt of all Iron, the Chalybes (from whom Steel had its Name Chalybs) being Northern People, and the moſt famous of any then known in the World, for tempering Iron to make it hard and tough: Others interpreting it, as denying that there ſhould ever be an Agreement betwixt the Jews and the Chaldæans; but to me, the Words of the next Verſe ſeem to give us the Senſe, that the Jews ſhould certainly be over-run, and conquered by the Babylonians; for as the Northern Iron and Steel is the hardeſt, and no Iron could break that, ſo God having edged and hardened their Enemies the Chaldæans, all their Oppoſition to them would ſignifie nothing.

13 Thy ſubſtance and thy treaſures will I give to the * ſpoil without price r, and that for all thy ſins, even in all thy borders ſ.

* Chap. 17. 3.

r All thy Riches and precious Things ſhall be ſpoiled, I will have no regard, ſaith God, to Loſs or Gain in it, or there ſhall be no Price taken for the Redemption of them; for ſ what ſhall be done, ſhall be by me done for all the Sins which thou haſt been guilty of in all the parts of the Country.

14 And I will make thee to paſs with thine enemies, into a land which thou knoweſt not, for a * fire is kindled in mine anger, which ſhall burn upon you t.

* Deut. 32. 22.

t As the former Verſe, ſo this alſo muſt be underſtood not of the Prophet, for he was not carried into Babylon, but of the People, whoſe Captivity is threatned in this place, and the cauſe of it declared, the Wrath of the Lord againſt them for their Sins, the Effects of which are compared to a fire which ſhould burn them.

15 O LORD, thou knoweſt u, remember me and viſit me w, and revenge me of my perſecutors x, take me not away in thy long-ſuffering y: know, that for thy ſake I have ſuffered rebuke z.

u Either thou knoweſt my ſincerity, how faithfully I have revealed thy Will; ſo Pſal. 139. 1, 23. Or thou knoweſt my Sufferings, how wickedly they deal with me; or thou knoweſt what thou haſt to do, what is in thy purpoſe and reſolution to do, I will ſay no more unto thee; only for my own ſake I beg, w That I may not be out of thy Thoughts, nor without the Viſitations of thy Love, while this People is under the Viſitations of thy Wrath, Nehemiah 5. 19. and 13. 14. Chap. 18. 20. x Thou haſt commanded me not to avenge my ſelf, Lord! do thou avenge me upon my Perſecutors: (See the Notes on Chap. 11. 20. and 17. 18. how the Prophet could thus pray againſt his Enemies.) y Confirm thy Word, let not me be taken away into Captivity; though I be a Sinner, yet exerciſe toward me patience and long-ſuffering. z Lord, remember that my Reproach, and all that I ſuffer, is for thy ſake, becauſe I have faithfully publiſhed thy Truth, and maintained and defended thine Honour and Glory.

* Ezek. 3. 1, 3. Rev. 10 9. † Heb. thy name is called upon me.

16 Thy words were found a, and I did * eat them b, and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoycing of my heart m, for † I am called by thy name, O LORD God of hoſts n.

a Either the Words which from time to time thou didſt reveal to me, were by me b greedily digeſted, and m though ſome of them were dreadful and terrible Words, yet becauſe they proceeded from thee, I was glad to hear them, and to be thy Inſtrument to communicate them to thy People, or (which better pleaſeth the Learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations, and poſſibly may be more the ſenſe of the place,) thy Word of Commiſſion, (of which ſee Chap 1.) by which I was made thy Prophet, was at firſt very grateful and pleaſing to me, I was glad at the heart, when thou at any time didſt reveal thy Will to me. n Thou art the Lord of Hoſts, and ſo able to protect thy Meſſengers. Lord, I am called by thy Name, I became a Prophet by thy Authority, therefore do thou own, protect, and defend me.

17 * I ſat not in the aſſembly of the mockers, nor rejoyced o: I ſat alone becauſe of thy hand, for thou haſt filled me with indignation p.

o Some, and thoſe the moſt, interpret theſe Words, as an Argument the Prophet uſeth with God to obtain his favour, becauſe though the Country was full of wicked Men, ſuch as ſcoffed at the Denouncings of God's Judgments, yet he had no ſhare with them, therefore he deſires he might have no ſhare with thoſe wicked Men, in whoſe Company he had had no Delight, and in whoſe profane Contempt of God he had no ſhare: But the Learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations thinks, (and that very probably, if we conſider what follows) that the Words ſhould rather be Tranſlated thus, I ſate not in the Aſſemblies of thoſe that made merry; intimating, that though he rejoyced in his Heart when God gave him Commiſſion to be his Prophet, yet God had all along filled his mouth with ſuch dreadful Meſſages to be delivered to his People, that his whole Prophetical Life had been to him a time of Mourning and Solitude, p a time when he ſate alone, mourning and weeping in ſecret for the Wrath of God revealed to him againſt his People, and by him to be revealed unto the People.

* Chap. 30. 15. * Job 6. 15. &c. † Be not ſure.

18 Why is my * pain perpetual? and my wound incurable which refuſeth to be healed q? wilt thou be altogether to me * as a liar, and as waters † that fail r.

q The Words are judged to be the Words of Jeremiah, and that with relation unto himſelf, complaining of the hard Task which God had put upon him, continually filling his mouth with ſuch bitter Words of evil againſt the People, as expoſed him to their moſt implacable Rage againſt him, and Perſecution of him, ſo as his Miſery ſeemed like a Pain and a Wound, for which was no remedy but Patience. r Jeremiah, though a great Prophet of the Lord, was (as Elijah) a Man ſubject to like Paſſions with other Men; he here chargeth God with Unfaithfulneſs, as if he had deceived his Expectations, and had been to him as a Pit of Waters that promiſed fair, but failed a Man when he had moſt need of them. The Servants of God have ſometimes been ſurprized with ſuch Paſſions and Temptations, 1 Sam. 27. 1. Pſal. 77. 7, 9. It is an hard thing not to ſee, and yet believe.

* Zech. 3. 7. * Ezek. 22. 26. and 44. 23.

19 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, * If thou return, then I will bring thee again ſ, and thou ſhalt ſtand before me t: and if thou * take forth the precious from the vile, thou ſhalt be as my mouth u: let them return unto thee, but return not thou unto them w.

ſ At the firſt reading of theſe Words, one would take them to be a Promiſe of God to reſtore this People to their former ſtate, if they would reform; but upon a more wiſe and diligent Conſideration of what follows both in this and in the following Verſe, they ſeem rather God's Words unto the Prophet, rebuking his Diffidence and Diſtruſt in God, and promiſing him, that if he did return from that his Diffidence and Diſtruſt in God's Promiſe and Providence, t he would reſtore him to the former Favour he had had with him, and he ſhould be his Prophet to reveal his Mind to the People. u And if he would ſeparate the precious Truths of God from the vile Conceits of Men, or rather preach ſo as to diſtinguiſh good and bad Men one from another, then God would continue him as his Prophet, to ſpeak in his Name unto the People. w He chargeth the Prophet to keep his ground, and not to go over unto wicked Men, but to uſe his endeavour to reduce them to that Obedience which he yielded to him.

* Chap. 1. 18. and 6. 27. * Ch. 20. 11, 12.

20 And I will make thee unto this people a fenced brazen * wall x, and they ſhall fight againſt thee, but * they ſhall not prevail againſt thee y, for I am with thee, to ſave thee, and to deliver thee, ſaith the LORD z.

x Theſe Words are expounded by thoſe that follow. y Look as Men may throw Stones or ſtrike at a brazen Wall, but do it no hurt, ſo ſaith God, though thou ſhalt have Enemies that will be offering at thee, yet if thou continueſt ſteady in the doing of thy Duty, they ſhall do thee no harm. z For thou ſhalt have my power engaged for thee, to deliver and ſave thee from their malice.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked a, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the terrible b.

a The wicked Jews. b And the power of the terrible Chaldæans, into whoſe hands thou ſhalt come, but be preſerved from any harm, by the Workings of my Providence for thee.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet is commanded to abſtain from Marriage, from Mourning, or Feſtival Aſſemblies; hereby repreſenting to them their approaching Miſery, 1,—9. Their Sins which cauſed it, 10,—13. Their ſtrange Deliverance from Babylon, 14, 15. After that their Iniquity is recompenſed, 16,--18. The Prophet's Comfort in the calling of the Gentiles, 19,--21.

1 THE word of the LORD came alſo unto me, ſaying,

2 Thou ſhalt not take thee a wife, neither ſhalt thou have ſons nor daughters in this place a.

a It is uncertain whether what we have in this Chapter, be a new Revelation, or a Continuance of his former Prophecy. God commandeth the Prophet in it under certain Types, to foretell their utter Ruin and Deſtruction. Firſt, he commandeth him to marry no Wife, nor have Sons or Daughters. He expoundeth this Command, Verſe 3, 4.

3 For thus ſaith the LORD concerning the ſons, and concerning the daughters that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bare them, and concerning their fathers that begat them in this land.

* Ch. 15. 2. * Ch. 25. 33. * Pſal. 79. 2. Chap. 7. 33. and 15. 3. and 34. 20.

4 They ſhall die of * grievous deaths, they ſhall not be * lamented, neither ſhall they be buried; but they ſhall be as dung upon the face of the earth, and they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by famine, and their * carcaſes ſhall be meat for the fowls of heaven, and for the beaſts of the earth b.

b God in theſe Verſes opens the Reaſon why he would not have the Prophet marry nor multiply Relations. In evil and calamitous times, thoſe who multiply Relations do but multiply Sorrows and Afflictions to themſelves; the Apoſtle in evil times tells the Corinthians that married Perſons ſhould have trouble in the fleſh, 1 Cor. 7. 28. and Chriſt pronounceth a Woe to thoſe that ſhould be with Child, and to thoſe that gave ſuck at the time when Hieruſalem ſhould be beſieged. God tells the Prophet, he was reſolved that the People of this Land, both Young and Old, ſhould die miſerable Deaths, and die ſo faſt, that there ſhould be none to bury them. They ſhould die by the Sword and the Famine, and be devoured by the Fowls and the Beaſts; and therefore it was better for him to abide free from Relations, for whoſe Miſeries he would be as much concerned as for his own Affliction.

5 For thus ſaith the LORD, Enter not into the houſe of ‖ mourning c, neither go to lament, nor bemoan them: for I have taken away my peace from this people, ſaith the LORD, even loving kindneſs and mercies d.

c מַרְזֵחַ. There is ſo great a difference in the Tranſlation of this Word, that Amos 6. 7. the very ſame Word ſignifieth a Banquet, and is ſo tranſlated, yet is there no Contradiction, for Banquets are now (and probably anciently were) in the Houſes of Mourning, as well as in the Houſes of thoſe that rejoyced. It appeareth plainly by the Words that follow, that the Apoſtle was here forbidden to go to Funeral Feaſts, or to lament and bemoan any. d For (ſaith God) I have, that is, I will take away Peace from this People. Poſſibly the meaning of God might be this, Do not go to comfort ſuch as mourn for any Relations dead, (for their Feaſtings upon thoſe Occaſions were upon a conſolatory account; thence ver. 7. you read of a Cup of Conſolation;) for ſaith God, they have no need of it; thoſe that die are moſt happy, for I will take away the Peace of this People, and deprive them of all my Mercy and Loving-kindneſs which I have hitherto ſhewed them.

* Lev. 19. 28. Deut. 14. 1. * Iſa. 22. 12.

6 Both the great and the ſmall ſhall die in this land: they ſhall not be buried, neither ſhall men lament for them e, nor * cut themſelves, nor * make themſelves bald for them f.

e There ſhall ſo many of all ranks and ſizes die in this land, that Men ſhall have no time to bury them, or there ſhall not be enough left living to bury the dead; nor ſhall Men, for their own miſeries have leiſure to lament for the Miſeries of other Men. f Cutting themſelves in their fleſh, and cutting off their Hair, were Pagan Cuſtoms, which God forbad his own People, but yet it ſhould ſeem they practiſed theſe barbarous Cuſtoms, but ſaith God, I will put an end to that practice, Men ſhall die ſo faſt and in ſuch Multitudes, as they ſhall have no leiſure to cut themſelves, for ſuch as are dead, they ſhall not have ſuch ſolemn mournings as they have had.

|| Or, break bread for them, as Ezek. 24. 17.

7 Neither ſhall men || tear themſelves for them in mourning to comfort them for the dead g, neither ſhall men give them the cup of conſolation to drink for their father or for their mother h.

g If we allow our Tranſlation here of the word פרס with the word ſupplied themſelves, it will be hard to give a tolerable ſenſe of theſe words, for then tearing is the ſame with the cutting themſelves mentioned in the former Verſe, which though it might be as a paſſionate expreſſion of the perſons ſorrow that did it, yet how it ſhould comfort the friends of the deceaſed, will be very hard to conceive. But the Truth is, the word hath but two ſignifications, and we have here given it what doth worſt ſute this Text. It ſignifies to Divide, and to Tear or Rend. Both in Kal the firſt conjugation, and in Pihel the third conjugation it is uſed to ſignifie dividing; in the former, Iſa. 58. 7. where we interpret it deal; to deal, that is, divide thy Bread to the hungry; which is the only Text (excepting this) where it is uſed in this conjugation. In the other conjugation it is ſo uſed in many Texts, Lev. 11. 4, 5, &c. Deut. 14. 7. ſo certainly it ought to have been tranſlated here, Neither ſhall men deal out bread for them in mourning to comfort them for the dead, and ſeemeth to hint to us a cuſtom in uſe amongſt them, when they had any Friend, that had loſt his or her Relations, to ſend them ſome Meat or Victuals (for amongſt the Hebrews all things that they ate were called Bread) and then to go and Dine or Sup with them, to have opportunity to ſpeak comfortably to them. This doubtleſs is the ſenſe of the words, and ſo it is plain enough, and this is confirmed by the next Phraſe. h Neither ſhall men drink the cup of conſolation for their father, &c. as in ſuch caſes they were wont to have ſomething to eat, ſo they were alſo wont to ſend Bottles of Wine, or other chearing Liquor to drink, that they might forget their ſorrows; this is called, The cup of conſolation, from the end for which the ſending and drinking of it was intended. God tells them that the time ſhould come that ſo many ſhould die, and ſo faſt, and the reſt ſhould be ſo much upon the brink of the Grave, that they ſhould have no leiſure for, or heart to theſe Ceremonies.

8 Thou ſhalt not alſo go into the houſe of feaſting, to ſit with them to eat and to drink i.

i God did not only forbid his Prophet, to go into houſes of mourning, to eat and to drink according to their Cuſtom, to comfort thoſe who had loſt their friends, but he forbad him alſo to go into Houſes, where they were wont to eat, and to drink upon a more chearful account.

9 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold * I will cauſe to ceaſe out of this place in your eyes, and in your days, the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride k.

* Iſa. 24. 7, 8. Chap. 7. 34. & 25. 10. Ezek. 26. 13.

k And he declares that he laid this injunction upon him as a Type that his Countrymen by ſuch his forbearance, might underſtand, that God in his Providence was about to put an end to all their Civil mirth in their days.

10 ¶ And it ſhall come to paſs when thou ſhalt ſhew this people all theſe words l, and they ſhall ſay unto thee, * Wherefore hath the LORD pronounced all this great evil againſt us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our ſin that we have committed againſt the LORD our God m?

* Chap. 5. 19. & 13. 22.

l Or all theſe things, when thou ſhalt be obſerved by this people to refuſe Marriage, and to go to the Houſes of Mourners, according to the Cuſtom, to eat or to drink with Mourners, to make them to forget their Sorrows, or to go into the Houſe of Feaſting for Jollity and Mirth, and they ſhall ask the reaſon of thy ſingularity in this Behaviour, and thou ſhalt give them the reaſon of it, according as I have inſtructed thee, and they m ſhall pretend to be at a loſs, to know the reaſon why God is ſo ſevere againſt them, for what ſin or iniquity it is, thinking perhaps that Manaſſes or Jehoiakim's commanding them to worſhip Idols would excuſe them, and only leave their Superiours guilty, for otherwiſe, while there was ſuch plain Idolatry amongſt them, they could not be ignorant of cauſe ſufficient that God had, conſidering the multiplied threats in the Law.

11 Then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Becauſe your fathers n, have forſaken me, ſaith the LORD, and have walked after other gods, and ſerved them, and have worſhipped them, and have forſaken me, and have not kept my law.

n The Idolatrous Kings of Judah that were before Manaſſes his time, ſince whoſe time there were hardly forty years yet elapſed.

12 And ye o have done * worſe than your fathers (for behold ye walk every one after the || imagination of his evil heart, that they might not hearken unto me.)

* Ch. 7. 26.

o Ye in latter Ages, in the time of Manaſſes, have done worſe than your Fathers did, and now in the time of Jehoiakim, you run on much in the ſame courſe of Idolatry and Superſtition, which in this is worſe in you, becauſe for thirty Years together you had the better Example of good Joſiah the Father of your preſent King, together with what his Authority could do to reduce you; he hath not been gone now above five years, and you are returned to your old Vomit, and are all of you ſerving me according to your own fancies, ſo ſtubborn are you, and reſolved againſt obedience to me.

13 * Therefore will I caſt you out of this land, into a land that ye know not, neither ye, nor your fathers p, and there ye ſhall ſerve other Gods day and night, where I will ſhew you no favour q.

* Deut. 4. 27. & 28. 36, 64, 65.

p You would not hearken to me to obey my voice in that good Land, which I gave you, and which you have known, and inherited now many Years, therefore I will throw you out into a Land which you know not, and which your Fathers knew not. q You would not ſerve me in this Land, but choſe to ſerve other Gods in my Land; you ſhall ſerve other Gods in a ſtrange Land, you ſhall there have no ſuch opportunities as you have here at Hieruſalem, to worſhip me the true God according to the preſcription and direction of my Word, ye ſhall there have no Gods elſe but Idols to worſhip, and what is now matter of choice to you, ſhall then be forced upon you, the Governours of thoſe Countries into which you ſhall be carried, ſhall force you to fall down, and to worſhip their Idols, which was verified afterward by Nebuchadnezzar, Daniel 3, &c.

14 ¶ Therefore r behold the * days come, ſaith the LORD, that it ſhall no more be ſaid, The LORD liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael out of the land of Egypt.

* Iſa. 43. 18. Chap. 23. 7, 8.

r It were better tranſlated Notwithſtanding, for that is manifeſtly the ſenſe. God ſweetneth the dreadful Threatnings preceding, with a comfortable promiſe of their Reſtauration.

15 But the LORD liveth that brought up the children of Iſrael from the land of the north, and from all the lands whither he had driven them ſ: and I will bring them again into their land that I gave unto their fathers t.

ſ Which he ſaith ſhould be ſo grateful a Mercy to them, that either in regard of the newneſs of this Deliverance, or in regard of the great Miſery they ſhould be in during the Captivity of Babylon, when they ſhould be delivered from it, they ſhould not ſo much remember their Deliverance from the Houſe of Bondage in Egypt, and magnifie God for that Salvation, as this new Deliverance of them out of this Captivity. t For he would certainly bring them again into the Land of Canaan, a Land which he had given unto their Fathers.

16 ¶ Behold I will ſend for many fiſhers, ſaith the LORD, and they ſhall fiſh them; and after I will ſend for many hunters, and they ſhall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks u.

u Though ſome Interpreters make theſe words a Promiſe either of God's Reſtauration of this People (and making uſe of Cyrus who as a Fiſherman or Huntſman, by his Proclamation fetched the Jews out of all parts of his Dominions, to return to Hieruſalem: Or of the Calling of God's Elect by the Apoſtles, who were God's Fiſhermen, and went up and down preaching the Goſpel in all places: yet the next Verſe rather guideth us to interpret it as a Threatning, and by theſe Fiſhermen and Huntſmen, to underſtand all thoſe Enemies whom God made uſe of to deſtroy theſe Jews, hunting them out of all holes and coverts whereſoever they ſhould fly, and take Sanctuary.

17 For mine * eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes w.

* Job 34. 21. Prov. 5. 21. and 15. 3. Chap. 32. 19.

w God is of purer Eyes than that he can behold iniquity in any ſo as to approve it, and therefore though he be long patient, yet he will at laſt puniſh evil doers, for his Eyes behold them, their ſins are open in his ſight, and he particularly obſerveth Men Actions, that he may render unto every one according to his Works.

18 And firſt I will recompenſe their iniquity, and their ſin double x: becauſe they have defiled my land y, they have filled mine inheritance with the carcaſes of their deteſtable and abominable things z.

x Before I will reſtore them, and return in my wonted favour to them, I will puniſh them for their ways which I have ſeen, which are ways of iniquity, and will plentifully puniſh them, (for ſo double here ſignifies, not the double of what their ſins deſerve.) y Becauſe by their Idolatry, Blood and Cruelty, and other ſins, they have defiled the Land which I own, and which I have given them. z And have filled that Country which I have choſen for, and named my Inheritance with their abominable things, that is practices, or unclean Beaſts offered to their Idols in Sacrifices, or innocent perſons ſlain by them.

19 O LORD, my ſtrength and my fortreſs, and * my Refuge in the day of affliction, a the Gentiles ſhall come unto thee from the ends of the earth, and ſhall ſay, Surely our fathers have inherited lyes and vanity, and things wherein there is no profit b.

a The Prophet hearing God's Reſolution, before he ſhewed this People any mercy, to be avenged on them for their ſins, leaves off ſpeaking to him upon that Argument, but applieth himſelf to God for mercy for himſelf, and to confirm his Faith in him, gives him Names ſuted to his hopes in him, and which might declare his Faith in him for the obtaining favour from him in an evil day. b And comforteth himſelf with the thoughts of thoſe good days that were coming, when not only the Jews ſhould be again reſtored to their Country, but the Gentiles alſo from all parts of the World (whom alſo many of the Jews ſhould accompany) ſhould apply themſelves to God, confeſſing that both they and their fathers, in their worſhipping dumb Idols, had but inherited Lyes and Vanity, and things that were unprofitable.

* Chap. 2. 11.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himſelf, and * they are no Gods c?

c It is doubtful whether theſe be to be underſtood as the words of God, ſhewing the unreaſonableneſs of the Sin of Idolatry, or, as others who make them, the continued Speech of the Gentiles, who after their Converſion, ſhould ſee the unreaſonableneſs of worſhipping the Works of their own hands. Whoſo owneth a God, owneth an infinite being, a firſt Cauſe and mover, and Creator of all things. Now can any be ſo ſottiſhly ſtupid as to think that a finite being, ſhould give a being to an Infinite Being; that he who is a Creature, ſhould make his Creator, that he ſhould be a Cauſe to the firſt Cauſe? (things which are all contradictions to the common ſenſe of Men) A Man is no God himſelf, how can he communicate a Divine Nature, which himſelf hath not, to another?

21 Therefore behold, I will this once cauſe them to know, I will cauſe them to know mine hand, and my might d, and they ſhall know that my * name is the LORD e.

d Becauſe all the goodneſs and mercy that I have ſhewed them, will not learn them to know me, my power and might, I will once for all make them to underſtand it, by the dreadful ſtrokes of my Vengeance. e They ſhall know, that my Name is Jehovah; that I am not ſuch a one as their Idols, but one who have my being from my ſelf, and give Life and Being to all other things, and have all might and power in my hand, and can do whatſoever I pleaſe; and one that will make good whatſoever I have ſpoken whether in a way of promiſe or threatning.

CHAP. XVII.

1 THE ſin of Judah is written with * a pen of iron, and with the † point of a diamond a; it is graven upon the table of their heart b, and upon the horns of your altars c:

a There is much arguing amongſt thoſe that are critical about the true ſignification of words, what is here ſignified by שָׁמִיר which we tranſlate a Diamond; moſt agree that it doth not ſignifie a Diamond (not uſed in ingraving) but that by the Pen of Iron, and the point of a Diamond, are meant ſome Tools with which they were wont to ingrave things upon hard ſubſtances, it may be made in a figure reſembling the Claw of a Bird, as the word ſeemeth to import. b It is graven in their hearts they are ſo accuſtomed to ſin, ſo inured to Idolatry, that there is no hope of any reclaiming them. For how can they that are accuſtomed to do evil, do well? c Nor is it a thing done in ſecret, but it is written or painted, or ingraven upon the Horns of their Altars, God's Altar was four-ſquare, and at each corner there was a riſing part made of Braſs ſomething high, theſe were called the Horns of the Altar. See Exod. 27. 2. Ezek. 43 15, 16. Now their ſin is either ſaid to be ingraven, or publiſhed, upon the Horns of the Altar, becauſe the Blood of the Sacrifices which they offered to Idols was ſprinkled there, or becauſe their Altars had ſome Inſcription upon them, declaring to what Idol that Altar was conſecrated, as the Altar of Athens had.

* Jud. 3. 7. Iſa. 1. 29. & 17. 8. Chap. 2. 20

d This ſhewed how inveterate they were in this ſin of Idolatry, that they taught it their Children, and their Children remembred their Idolatrous Altars, and the Groves, where they were wont to worſhip Idols by the green Trees, as they did alſo upon the high Hills, ſo their ſin was derived from one Age to another. Others think that the phraſe rather expreſſeth their fondneſs of their Idols, and think it ſhould be read, as their Children, they remember, &c. that is, they loved their Idols, and their Idolatrous Services, as they loved their Children, which alſo was true, yea, they that made their Children paſs through the fire to Molech, loved them better than their Children.

* Chap. 15. 13.

3 O my mountain in the field e, I * will give thy ſubſtance, and all thy treaſures to the ſpoil, and thy high places for ſin, throughout all thy borders f.

e O Mount Zion, for though Jeruſalem ſtood in a Plain, yet it was at the foot of an Hill, and part of it was built upon the ſide of the Hill, upon the top of which Hills, were many pleaſant Fields. Or, O Judah, which was a Countrey full of Mountains, God calls it his Mountain, becauſe of the particular favour he had to this Countrey. f He threatneth to give all the Riches of the Inhabitants of Judah and Jeruſalem as a ſpoil, and all the High Places where they had committed Idolatry throughout all their Countrey into the Enemies hands.

4 And thou, even † thy ſelf ſhalt diſcontinue from thine heritage which I gave thee g, and I will cauſe thee to ſerve thine enemies, in the land which thou knoweſt not: for * ye have kindled a fire in my anger, which ſhall burn for ever h. * Chap. 15. 14.

g In the word diſcontinue there is a ſecret promiſe, that they ſhould again come and poſſeſs and inherit their Land, they ſhould not loſe their inheritance, but only diſcontinue their poſſeſſion and occupation of it. Some learned Authors conſidering that the ſame word is here uſed, which is uſed, Exod. 23. 11. in the Law concerning the Sabbatical Reſt, when they were to let the Land reſt, and lie ſtill, Lev. 26. 34. think this Text hath a reference to that, and the meaning is, thou ſhalt diſcontinue thy Ploughing and Tilling the Land. h And go into thine Enemies Countrey and ſerve them in a Land of which thou haſt no knowledge, becauſe by thine Idolatry and other ſins thou haſt increaſed my Wrath into ſuch a fire, as ſhall burn for a long time, for ſo the word ever is oft taken, Exod. 21 6. Deut. 15. 17. Pſal. 89. 1. Iſa. 34. 10.

5 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD, Curſed be the man, that truſteth in man, and maketh fleſh his arm, and whoſe heart departeth from the LORD i.

i It was the great ſin of this People, for which they are often taxed in Holy Writ, 2 Chron. 16. 7. and 28. 26, 20. Iſa. 30. 1, 2. and 31. 1, 2. when any danger threatned them for their ſins, to make Leagues with, and flee to foreign idolatrous Nations to help and ſuccour them, and to repoſe a confidence in them, and ſo boulſter up themſelves in their wicked and ſinful courſes promiſing themſelves deliverance from the dangers that threatned them, by the power of their Confederates, and Allies. This ſin the Prophet here reflecteth upon. That while their hearts departed from God, they would yet incourage themſelves, from the hoped for help of Men: The Prophet from God declares that ſuch are and ſhall be curſed, and mentioned Man, under the notion of Fleſh, to ſhew his frailty, and impotency, to help againſt the mighty Power and Wrath of God; withal ſhewing us, That God alone is the true object of our Faith and Confidence, as well for the things of this Life, as thoſe of another Life, and that none whoſe heart departeth from God, can with any ſecurity look for any help from the Creature.

6 For he ſhall be * like the heath in the deſart, and ſhall not ſee when good cometh, but ſhall inhabit the parched places in the wilderneſs, in a ſalt land and not inhabited k. * Chap. 48. 6.

k The ſum is, he ſhall not thrive, nor proſper, but be like the Heath, by which is meant ſome barren Shrub or Tree, about which the various gueſſes of Interpreters (which the Reader that is curious may find in the Engliſh Annotations) are but incertainties, and this planted in the Wilderneſs too which is a barren ſoil, which Tree or Plant is never the better for all the moiſture that comes from Heaven, nor for all the Beams of the Sun; but ſtands in a dry and ſalt place, not inhabited by People. The ſcope is to let us know, that ſinners who depart from God, and do not place their confidence in him in times of danger, but truſt in Creature-aids and aſſiſtances, ſhall miſs of thoſe very good things which they might have had if they had expected them from him, from whom alone they could have been obtained.

7 * Bleſſed is the man that truſteth in the LORD, and whoſe hope the LORD is l. *Pſal. 2. 12 & 34. 10. & 125. 1. Prov. 16. 20. Iſa. 30. 18

l Truſting in the Lord neceſſarily implieth alſo a walking cloſe with him, and not in heart departing from him; for it is naturally impoſſible, that any ſhould repoſe a confidence in another for any good things, which that other hath promiſed under any condition, without ſome ſatisfaction in himſelf, that he hath in ſome meaſure fulfilled the condition upon which the promiſe is made. But that Man that truly truſteth and hopeth in the Lord is, and ſhall be a bleſſed Man.

8 For he ſhall be as a * tree planted by the waters, and that ſpreadeth out her roots by the river, and ſhall not ſee when heat cometh, but her leaf ſhall be green, and ſhall not be careful in the year of ‖ drought, neither ſhall ceaſe from yielding fruit m. *Job 8. 16. Pſal. 1. 3. ‖ Or, reſtraint.

m The ſum is, he ſhall be proſperous and ſucceſsful in his Counſels, and Undertakings; like a Tree planted by the ſide of a River, which is not affected with drought, but in a time when the leaves of Trees ſtanding in dry mountainous places parch and wither, its leaves hold their greenneſs, and its colour is not altered by drought, neither doth it ceaſe from yielding fruit, but bringeth forth much Fruit when other Trees are wholly unfruitful.

9 ¶ The heart is deceitful above all things, and deſperately wicked n, who can know it?

n The words tranſlated deceitful, and deſperately wicked, are very variouſly Tranſlated, fraudulent, perverſe, ſupplanting, he ſpeaks to the Jews, that they might not lean too much to their own Counſels, Fancies or Underſtandings; but it is a propoſition true concerning the Hearts of all the Sons and Daughters of Men; there is nothing ſo falſe and deceitful as the Heart of Man; deceitful in its apprehenſions of things, in the hopes and promiſes which it nouriſheth, in the aſſurances that it gives us, &c. unſearchable by others, deceitful with reference to our ſelves, and abominably wicked, ſo that neither can a Man know his own Heart, neither can any other know our Hearts.

10 I the LORD * ſearch the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings o. * 1 Sam. 16. 7. 1 Chron. 28. 9. Pſal. 7. 9. Ch. 11. 20. & 20. 12. Rom. 8. 27. Rev. 2. 23.

o Leſt theſe Hypocrites ſhould pretend that their Hearts were not departed from God, or ſhould ſay who then can judge us if none knoweth the Heart? Saith God, though no Creature knoweth the Heart of another fellow Creature, yet I know the Hearts of all Creatures, I ſearch the ſecret Thoughts, and Counſels and Deſigns of all my Creatures, for I will judge them according to their Thoughts and the ſecret Motions and Affections of their Souls, according to all their ways, and the fruit of their doings. You cannot therefore mock me, and tell me your hearts are not departed from me.

11 As the partridge || ſitteth on eggs, and hatcheth them not p: ſo he that getteth riches, and not by right * ſhall leave them in the midſt of his days g, and at his end be a fool r.

p It is no wonder if we cannot be certain as to the ſence of theſe words ſo far as they concern natural Hiſtory, when we are not certain what Bird it is to which they relate; we tranſlate the word Partridge. Others will have it the Cuckow; but certain it is that it is the ſame word which we tranſlate Partridge, 1 Sam. 26. 20. and Cuckows uſe not to be much hunted after. How the Partridge is ſaid to ſit on Eggs and hatch them not, is yet a greater queſtion. It may be occaſioned ſo many ways, viz. either ſitting upon Wind-eggs, or being killed before the Eggs are hatched, or having its Eggs deſtroyed by the Male Partridge, or by ſome Dog, or other Vermine; or its Neſt being found having her Eggs taken from her, that it is hard to determine which the Prophet means; of all other I leſt approve of that which Hierome makes the ſence, though the thing be true, (if we may believe Caſſiodorus, and ſeveral natural Hiſtorians, Aldrovandus, &c.) That Partridges have ſuch a love and deſire to hatch young ones, that having loſt their own Eggs, they will ſteal the Eggs of other Partridges and hatch them, which Birds being hatched, the young ones knowing the cry of their proper Dams, hearing them call, leave the Partridge that hatched them; (which is one thing quoted by Aldrovandus to ſhew the ſagacity of that Bird) but if this were the ſence the words would be as the Partridge ſitteth on Eggs, and hatcheth them, but injoyeth them not, whereas they are, hatcheth them not; that is, having loſt them either by ſome Man that hath taken them from her, or by ſome Vermin or wild Beaſt. r So he that getteth an Eſtate by oppreſſion or any cozenage or unrighteous Actions, ſhall loſe it again before he cometh to die, and when he comes to die, ſhall underſtand what a Fool he was to take ſo much pains to no more purpoſe.

12 ¶ A glorious high throne from the beginning, is the place of our ſanctuary ſ.

ſ It is much more hard to give an account of the connexion of theſe words with the former, than of their ſence conſidered abſolutely in themſelves. Some would have them the words of the People, reckoning up another vain ground of their confidence, becauſe they had amongſt them the Temple of the Lord, which we know was what they mightily gloried in. Others would have them the words of the Prophet owning his and the good Jews confidence to be only in God, and themſelves to worſhip God not in Groves or high places, but only in that place which he had choſen to be worſhipped in, even in his Sanctuary or Temple, many other Conjectures there are, but theſe two ſeem to me the moſt probable.

* Pſal. 73. 27. Iſa. 1. 28.
* Chap. 2. 13.

13 O LORD! the hope of Iſrael t, * all they that forſake thee ſhall be aſhamed u, and they that depart from me ſhall be written in the earth w, becauſe they have forſaken the LORD, the * fountain of living waters x.

t That is, he in whom alone the true Iſrael of God can hope. u Thoſe who forſake thy Law, and that rule thou haſt given them whereby to direct their Converſations, firſt or laſt will be aſhamed of ſuch their diſobedience. w And thoſe that depart from what I have, as thy Prophet, revealed to them as thy Will, ſhall have no portion beyond the Earth which they ſeem ſo fond of. Or their Names and Memories ſhall vaniſh, and periſh, and be preſently extinct like words written in Duſt. x Becauſe they have forſaken thee who art the alone certain relief and comfort of any People, the fountain and original of all that good they can hope for.

14 Heal me, O LORD, and I ſhall be healed; ſave me, and I ſhall be ſaved: for thou art my praiſe y.

y Moſt Interpreters here underſtand the Prophet ſpeaking in theſe words to God for himſelf; he repreſents himſelf to God as a Perſon wounded or ſick, either with his ſenſe of God's diſhonour by the ſins of the People, or with their Reproaches or Threatnings, and beggeth of God to heal him, he being he, in whoſe hand or power it was to heal him, and who could certainly do it. The argument is in thoſe words for thou art my praiſe, he whom alone I have reaſon to praiſe for mercies already received, to whom alone I owe all my good things.

15 ¶ Behold, they ſay unto me, Where is the word of the LORD z? let it come now a.

z Scoffing at me as if I had threatned them in thy Name without any order or direction from thee, as the Scoffers mentioned by Peter, ſaid 2 Pet. 3. 4. where is the promiſe of his coming. This hath been the practice of all wicked Men hardned in their ſinful courſes, and reſolved to go on, to put the evil day far from them and to ſcoff at all Denunciations of God's Judgments, Iſa. 5. 19. Amos 5. 18. a Daring the Vengeance of God and challenging God to damn them, or to execute the Vengeance with which he threatneth them.

16 As for me, I have not haſtned from being a paſtor † to follow thee b, neither have I deſired the woful day thou knoweſt c, that which came out of my lips was right before thee d.

b That the words contain the Prophets appeal to God upon ſome reproaches caſt upon him by this wicked people, as if he had thruſt himſelf into the Prophetical Office, is evident, and reaſonably well agreed by Interpreters, but they are divided about the ſence of the word אַצְתִּי, which yet always in Scripture ſignifies to make haſte, or to urge, or preſs, the ſence ſeemeth to be this. Lord! As I did not ſeek the Office of a Prophet, ſo when thou wert pleaſed to call me to it, I did not decline to be a Paſtor after thee. c Neither (ſaith he) have I deſired to be a Prophet of theſe ſad Tidings, thoſe woful Miſeries which thou haſt made me thy Meſſenger to foretel. d I have ſpoken nothing but what was right in thy ſight being what thou commandedſt me to deliver as from thee, and ſo I know was right in thy ſight.

17 Be not a terror unto me e, * thou art my hope in the day of evil f. * Chap. 16. 19.

e Though theſe rebellious wicked Men affright and terrifie me, yet, Lord, be not thou a terrour to me, own and defend me as thy Prophet. f For thou alone art he in whom I place my hope and truſt in a day of trouble.

* Pſal 35. 4. & 40. 14.
† Heb. break them with a double breach.
* Chap. 11. 20.

18 * Let them be confounded that perſecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be diſmayed, but let not me be diſmayed: bring upon them the day of evil, and † * deſtroy them with double deſtruction g.

g That is with abundant deſtruction. Concerning theſe Prayers of the Prophet againſt his Enemies, ſee the Notes on Chap. 11. 20.

19 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD unto me, Go and ſtand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they go out, and in all the gates of Jeruſalem h.

h Moſt think that here begins a new Prophecy, and therefore this Verſe ſhould have began a new Chapter. The Prophets were often commanded to publiſh ſuch Revelations as they had from God, either at the Gates of the City, or the Gates of the Temple, Chap. 7. 2. and 19. 2. It is not agreed what this particular Gate was, at which the Kings of Judah were wont moſt ordinarily to come in, and go out, but the Prophet was alſo commanded to publiſh it in all the Gates of Jeruſalem, that all might take notice of it.

20 And ſay unto them, Here ye the word of the LORD, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, that enter in by theſe gates i.

i The word of the Lord equally concerneth the higheſt, and the loweſt, the greateſt Princes as well as the meaneſt Subjects.

21 Thus ſaith the LORD *, Take heed to your ſelves k, and bear no burden on the ſabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jeruſalem. * Neh. 13 19.

k The Hebrew is, take heed to your Souls, intimating to us, that the Sanctification of the Sabbath is a great thing, wherein the welfare of our Souls is concerned.

22 Neither carry forth a burden out of your houſes on the ſabbath day, neither do ye any work, but hallow ye the ſabbath day, as I commanded your fathers l.

l This Command for the Sanctification of the Sabbath, was given, Exod. 20. 8. repeated Chap. 23. 12. and 31. 14, 15 Levit. 19. 3. and 23. 3. Deut. 5. 12, 15 Ezek 20. 12. the bearing of burdens forbidden, was ſuch as was for profit; for in ſome caſes it was lawful to carry burdens for the ſaving the Lives of Men, or Beaſts, and ſome learned Men juſtifie the poor ſick Man carrying his Bed when he was cured, not only from the Command of Chriſt alone who could authorize him to it, though againſt the Rule of the Law, but becauſe he had no further occaſion himſelf to be there, and was not obliged by the Law of the Sabbath to leave his Bed behind him, himſelf going away; but no unneceſſary Burdens, no trading Burdens might on the Sabbath day, be either carried out of the Gates of the City, or out of the Gates of any of their private Houſes.

23 * But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ears, but made their neck ſtiff that they might not hear, nor receive inſtruction m. * Chap. 11. 10.

m The Jews were a very covetous People, and their Covetouſneſs as well as their other Luſts, were Temptations to them to prophane the Lord's Sabbaths, Neh. 13. 19. Ezek 20. 21.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs, if ye diligently hearken unto me, ſaith the LORD, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the ſabbath day, but hallow the ſabbath day to do no work therein.

25 * Then ſhall there enter into the gates of this city, kings and princes ſitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horſes, they and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and this city ſhall remain for ever. * Chap. 22. 4.

26 And they ſhall come from the cities of Judah, and from * the places about Jeruſalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the ſouth, bringing burnt-offerings, and ſacrifices, and meat-offerings, and incenſe, and bringing ſacrifices of praiſe unto the houſe of the LORD n. * Chap. 32. 44.

n The ſum of all theſe three Verſes is, that if they would ſanctifie the Lord's Sabbath, they ſhould either continue in, or be reſtored unto their Ancient, Civil, and Eccleſiaſtical order, they ſhould have Kings and Princes in their former order and ſplendor, and Men ſhould come from all parts of the Countrey bringing their uſual Sacrifices and Offerings to the Temple, and thoſe of all ſorts. Some think this Promiſe is to be underſtood Synecdochically, one principal part of the Law of God, and ſuch a one as was in their power to obey, being put for the whole Law of God. Thoſe who deſire to be ſatisfied in the niceties as to the terms and places here mentioned may find ſatisfaction in the Engliſh Annotations upon this Verſe. The general ſence is no more, than that both their City and their Temple, their Civil and Eccleſiaſtical State ſhould continue, and flouriſh in that order wherein it was.

27 But if you will not hearken unto me to hallow the ſabbath day, and not to bear a burden, even entring in at the gates of Jeruſalem on the ſabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it ſhall devour the palaces of Jeruſalem, and it ſhall not be quenched o.

o A Threatning quite contrary to the former Promiſe, upon their acting contrary to the Duty to which that Promiſe was annexed. God would deſtroy their City, it ſhould be burned with fire, and the higheſt and nobleſt Structures ſhould be burned, and though the hand of the Enemy ſhould do this, yet God ſhould order them to do it, ſo as it ſhould be a fire of his kindling, and therefore not like to be quenched, till it had effected that thing for which God ſo kindled it.

CHAP. XVIII.

By the Parable of a Potter, God's abſolute Power and Diſpoſal of Nations is ſet forth, 1,—10. Judah's unparallel'd Revolt: and her Judgments, 11,—17. The Prophet prayeth againſt his Conſpirators, 18,—23.

1 THE word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying,

2 Ariſe, and go down to the potters houſe, and there I will cauſe thee to hear my words a.

a It is likely there was but one Potter near the place, or at leaſt that there was one more noted and eminent than the reſt, to whoſe Houſe the Lord here ſendeth the Prophet, intending there further to tell him his mind what he would have him publiſh as his Mind and Will to this People.

3 Then I went down to the potters houſe, and behold, he wrought a work on the ‖ wheels b.

b Jeremy yields a preſent and free Obedience to the Command of God, though he did not know God's meaning in it, and findeth the Potter at work, upon wheels or frames which he formed his Clay upon, to bring it into that form which he deſired. For the true form of thoſe Frames or Inſtruments it is hard to aſſert any thing, ſuch kind of Inſtruments differing not only according to ſeveral Countries, but according to the ſeveral fancies of Workmen, getting Frames or Engines made fitted to their own fancies and purpoſes.

‖ Or, that he made, was marred as clay in the hand of the potter.
† Heb. returned and made.

4 And the veſſel ‖ that he made of clay c, was marred in the hand of the potter, ſo he † made it again another veſſel as ſeemed good to the potter to make it d.

c That which we read of Clay may be read (as our Margent tells us) as Clay; that is, while it was yet Clay, it was ſpoiled in the Potter's Hand, ſo as he did not think fit to go on with his deſign as to the form of the Veſſel, but made it into another form ſuch as he liked beſt.

5 Then the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

* Iſa 64.8.

6 O houſe of Iſrael cannot I do with you as this potter e? ſaith the LORD: behold * as the clay is in the potters hand, ſo are ye in mine hand, O houſe of Iſrael f.

e God now expoundeth to the Prophet his deſign in bidding him go to the Potter's Houſe, it was to inſtruct or confirm him in the power that he had over his Creatures. f For, ſaith he, as is the Clay to the Potter, ſo is the Houſe of Iſrael (and indeed ſo are all the Sons and Daughters of Men) unto God, God hath the ſame power over them, that a Potter hath over the Clay, and a greater right to do what he pleaſeth with them, than any Potter hath relating to the Clay; the Clay is but the Potter's Purchaſe, not his Creature, but Man is God's Creature. God by his Prophet Iſaiah made uſe of the ſame ſimilitude, Iſa. 45. 9. So doth the Apoſtle, Rom. 9. 20. That God hath an abſolute ſoveraign power to do what he pleaſeth with the Work of his Hands, can be denied by no Men of ſenſe, whether God uſeth this his Soveraignty in the eternal puniſhment of ſinners, that is another thing; he hath a ſoveraign power, but he acteth as a juſt Judge, rendring to every Man according to his Works.

7 At what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom to pluck up, and to pull down, and to deſtroy it g.

g God thus ſpeaketh concerning Nations, and Kingdoms more immediately in his word, or more mediately by his Prophets and Miniſters, he told Jeremiah, Chap. 1. 10. that he had ſet him over Nations, to root out, and to pull down.

* Ezek. 18. 21. & 33. 11.

8 * If that nation againſt whom I have pronounced, turn from their evil h, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do unto them i.

h If that Nation leaveth off thoſe ſinful courſes, which I have by my Prophets threatned with Judgments. i I will alſo turn from the methods of my ſevere Providence which I had reſolved in caſe of their impenitency to proceed in againſt them. There is a difference betwixt Repentance in Man, and Repentance as it is attributed to God, Repentance in Man muſt be, not only a change in Action, but a change of Heart; Repentance as attributed to God, never ſignifieth a change of Heart, or Purpoſe, or Counſels, but only a change in action, an alteration of the courſe of his Providence. Hence God in Scripture is ſaid to Repent as in this Text, and Jonah 3. 10. And it is alſo ſaid of him, that he is not as man that he ſhould lye or repent, Num. 23. 19. 1 Sam. 15. 29. God never changeth his Counſels, or Purpoſes, though he often varieth his actions of Providence, according to the Behaviours of his Creatures.

9 And at what inſtant I ſhall ſpeak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom to build, and to plant it.

10 If it do evil in my ſight, that it obey not my voice, then I will repent of the good wherewith I ſaid I would benefit them ∴.

∴ Speaking Verſe 9. and repenting Verſe 10. muſt be underſtood in the ſame ſence as in the two former Verſes. The reaſon of this is, becauſe in all God's Threatnings and Promiſes of this nature there is a condition either expreſſed or underſtood. God's Threatnings of evil muſt be underſtood with this Condition, unleſs Men and Women repent and turn from their evil ways: And his Promiſes of good muſt be underſtood with this condition, if thoſe to whom they are made be a willing and obedient People, and keep in the way of the Lord's Statutes.

11 ¶ Now therefore go to, ſpeak to the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold I frame evil againſt you, and deviſe a device againſt you: * return ye now every one from his evil way, and make your ways, and your doings good k.

* 2 Kings 17. 12, 13. Chap. 7. 3. & 25. 5. & 26. 13. & 35. 15.

k The Lord fixeth a particular application to the more general Doctrine which he had before delivered. God had told this People, that though he had by his Prophet denounced his Wrath, and Anger, and threatned to pluck them up and deſtroy them, yet if they turned from their ſinful Courſes, he would ſhew mercy to them, and alter the courſe of his Providence. Now he tells them, that this was their caſe, God had a Work upon the Wheel againſt them, and was framing evil againſt them, and bringing ruine upon them, therefore it was their wiſdom, now to return from their evil ways, and to make their doings good. Thoſe who think that theſe Exhortations are vain, if Man hath not a power in himſelf to turn from his evil way, ought to conſider, that none denieth, that Man hath a power in himſelf, by vertue of that common Grace of God which he denieth to no Man, to turn from ſuch evil Courſes as were before mentioned, viz not to carry out Burdens upon the Sabbath day, not to bow down to, and worſhip Idols, but to worſhip the true and living God according to the preſcription of his Word. In ſhort, there is no Man but hath a power to do much more than he doth do, and ſo much as may ſerve to avert temporal Judgment, and although no Man without ſpecial Grace, beyond the outward means of Grace, hath a power to do whatſoever God requireth in order to his Salvation, yet he hath a power to do ſo much, as if he doth, no inſtance can be given of any to whom, ſo doing, God denied his ſpecial Grace, inabling him to do whatſoever God requireth of him in order to Eternal Life.

12 And they ſaid *, There is no hope l, but we will walk after our own devices, and we will every one do the imagination of his evil heart m.

* Chap. 2. 25.

l There is no hope of us, thou doſt but labour in vain in talking to us. m For we are reſolved to run on in our former Race. It cannot be imagined that they ſhould call the Imaginations of their own Hearts evil, unleſs it were in deriſion The ſum of what they ſaid was this, Jeremy, thou hadſt as good ſay or do nothing, as talk to us, we are reſolved upon our Courſe, and if thou calleſt our Hearts evil, we cannot help that, according to the Purpoſes, Counſels and Thoughts of thoſe our evil Hearts we are reſolved to ſteer our Courſes, we will not be guided by thee.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, * Ask ye now amongſt the heathen, Who hath heard ſuch things? The virgin of Iſrael, hath done a very horrible thing n.

* 1 Cor. 5. 1.

n God was moved at this deſperate obſtinacy and hardneſs of this Peoples Hearts, he appeals to the World whether ever any Heathens behaved themſelves ſo toward their Idols which were no Gods, as this People had behaved themſelves towards him He calls Iſrael a Virgin, it is a term given to Zidon, Iſaiah 23. 12. and to Babylon, Iſa. 47. 1. The horrible thing which they had done, was their forſaking God, their God, a thing not uſual amongſt the Heathens, as God tells them, Chap. 2. 11.

‖ Or, my fields for a rock: or, for the ſnow of Lebanon: ſhall the running waters be forſaken for the ſtrange cold waters.

14 Will a man leave ‖ the ſnow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rock of the field o? or ſhall the cold flowing waters that come from another place be forſaken p?

o The Margins of our Bibles will let us know, that there is ſome Variety in the Opinions of the moſt Learned Interpreters as to the Sence of theſe Words; the general Sence is plain and obvious, that it is a fooliſh thing for Men to forſake God, who is the Fountain of all Good and Refreſhment, and what Men do not uſe to do with reference to poor Creature Comforts, not to be named with God. But for the Grammatical Sence of the Words, it is not ſo obvious. The vulgar Latin tranſlates them, Shall the Snow of Lebanon fail from the Rock of the Field? The Septuagint, Shall the dugs fail from the Rocks? Or, The Snow from Lebanon. The Syriack Verſion followeth them. The Arabick Verſion tranſlateth it, Should the Snow fail from the Mountain of Breaſts, and from Lebanon. The Chaldee Paraphraſt thus gloſſeth, Behold, as it cannot be, that the Snow-water ſhould fail from Lebanon. Pagnine ſeems to make Lebanon the Nominative Caſe, and renders the Sence thus, Shall Lebanon leave the Snow from the Rock of the Field. Our Tranſlators ſupply theſe Words a Man, and ſo make that the Nominative Caſe, and make Lebanon the Genitive Caſe. Lebanon was a mountainous place in which were Rocks, it had alſo fruitful Valleys; Snow fell upon thoſe Rocks, and upon a Thaw ran down into the lower Places, and was grateful to them as it moiſtned them, and made them more fruitful. p The latter part of the Verſe ſeems as hard. Pagnine tranſlates them, Shall other cold flowing Waters be forſaken? The vulgar Latin, or Can the other cold flowing waters be plucked up? The LXX and the Syriack, or Shall the water fail, violently ſnatched up, or taken away with the wind? The Arabick, or Should the foreign cool waters deſiſt? The Chaldee Paraphraſt gloſſeth, So the rain waters that come down, and the waters of the fountain that ſpring ſhall not fail. In this great variety, it is very hard certainly to aſſert the particular Sence of theſe Phraſes, the knowledge of which depends upon ſome Affections, or Cuſtoms of thoſe Places which we are not ſo well acquainted with. The next Verſe is the beſt Guide we have, where the Sin laid to the Charge of this People, is their forſaking God; which Sin is here aggravated by this Topick, That Reaſon teacheth Men not to forſake a greater Good for a leſſer, though that greater Good were but a poor Creature Comfort, not to be compared with God. This is the general Sence, Scope, and Sum of this Verſe. So as we ſhall not need be very ſollicitous to be able to aſſert the particular Grammatical Senſe.

* Chap. 2. 13, 32. and 3. 21. and 13 25. and 17. 13. * Chap. 6. 16.

15 Becauſe my people hath forgotten * me q, they have burnt incenſe to vanity r, and they have cauſed them to ſtumble in their ways from the * ancient paths, ſ to walk in paths, in a way not caſt up t.

q Forgotten and forſaken are much the ſame thing, differing only as the Cauſe and the Effect; for if Men remembred God as they ought to do, they would not forſake him. r By Vanity he means Idols; which are called Vanity, not only becauſe they are in themſelves nothing of what they are pretended to be, and becauſe the worſhipping of them is an high degree of Sin which is often called Vanity in Scripture, but becauſe the Service of them is of no Uſe nor Profit, or Advantage; and any Expectations from them are idle, and vain, for which there is no ground at all. ſ Whether the Falſe Prophets or the Idols are here ſaid to cauſe them to ſtumble by receding from the ancient paths, is uncertain. The Words may either be tranſlated paths of Eternity, or paths of Antiquity: the moſt and beſt tranſlate it as we do, Quod verum primum, the ways of Truth are the moſt ancient ways. The ways wherein Noah, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and all the ancient Patriarchs did walk. t To walk in Paths, or in a way not caſt up, not fitting for God's People to walk in, Prov. 15. 19. The way of the righteous is ſaid to be a way made plain. Heb. raiſed up as a Cauſey. Wicked Men, in oppoſition to theſe ways, are ſaid to walk in a way not caſt up.

* Chap 19. 8. and 49. 13. and 50. 13.

16 To make their land * deſolate, and a perpetual hiſſing u: every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and wag his head w.

u Not that this was finis operantis, their End which they aimed at, none wiſheth ill, or doth any thing deſignedly to bring Evil upon himſelf; but it was finis operis, the End theſe Courſes would certainly iſſue in, they would bring the land of Judah to Deſolations, and to be a Reproach. w So as Strangers that were wont to admire at the Proſperity of this People above any other People, ſhould ſtand aſtoniſhed, and wag their Heads at them in Scorn and Deriſion.

* Chap. 13. 24.

17 * I will ſcatter them as with an eaſt-wind before the enemy x: I will ſhew them the back and not the face in the day of their calamity y.

x The Eaſt-wind is (or was at leaſt in thoſe parts) the fierceſt wind: As the Eaſt-wind ſcatters the Chaff, ſo ſaith God I will ſcatter them. y And when they ſhall be in great Calamity and Miſery, I will not hearken to them, I will not turn my face to them, or ſhew them my Face, but I will turn my Back upon them, I will not regard them Crying, nor hear their Prayers.

* Chap. 11. 19. * Mal. 2. 7. John 7. 48, 49. ‖ Or, for the Tongue.

18 ¶ Then ſaid they, * Come, let us deviſe devices againſt Jeremiah z: * for the law ſhall not periſh from the prieſt, nor counſel from the wiſe, nor the word from the prophet a: Come, and let us ſmite him ‖ with the tongue b, and let us not give heed to any of his words c.

z This faithful dealing of the Prophet with them, did only enrage them (as is uſual) againſt the Prophet; they plot againſt the Prophet, how to be revenged on him, becauſe he would croſs their Humours, and would not propheſie as they would have had him. a We have the Church on our ſide; the Regular Prieſts and the Prophets, they know God's mind as well as he; for there is a Promiſe that the Law ſhall not periſh from the Prieſt, nor the Word from the Prophet: The Prieſts and Prophets tell us other things than this Jeremy doth. b Let us ſmite him with the Tongue, expoſe him, by railing on him, telling Lyes about concerning him, repreſenting him to be what we know the People hate, abuſing him to his face, informing againſt him; or in the Tongue, let us ſilence him, command him to ſpeak no more; or for his Tongue, for propheſying at this rate; c And for his Words let us not value them at a ruſh, nor at all regard them.

19 Give heed to me, O LORD, and hearken to the voice of them that contend with me d.

d The ſeveral following Verſes, to the end of this Chapter, contain the Prophet's Prayer by way of appeal to God againſt theſe wicked Men; Lord (ſaith he) though they are reſolved to take no heed to my Words, yet do thou give heed to them, and do thou take notice of thoſe Men that contend with me. Take notice of what they ſay, not to confirm, but to croſs their Deſires, and to be revenged on them for them.

20 Shall evil be recompenſed for good e? For they have digged a pit for my ſoul f: Remember that I ſtood before thee to ſpeak good for them g, and to turn away thy wrath from them h.

e To requite Good for Evil is divine; God maketh his Sun to ſhine, and his Rain to fall upon the juſt and unjuſt. To requite evil for evil, or good for good, is but humane, what the Nature of reaſonable Men prompt them to: but to requite evil for good is diabolical, and the Character of thoſe that are the Children of the evil one. f Lord, ſaith the Prophet, theſe Men have done thus, they have laid ſnares for my Life. g Though thou knoweſt, that as a Prophet I ſtood before thee, both preaching and praying for their good. h Their Wrath is kindled to a great height againſt me, and thou knoweſt my Buſineſs was both in my Preachings to them, and Prayers for them, to turn away thy Wrath from them. Lord remember this, both for Good to me, and for Vengeance upon them.

21 Therefore deliver up their children to the famine i, and † pour out their blood by the force of the ſword, and let their wives be bereaved of their children, and be widows, and let their men be put to death, let their young men be ſlain by the ſword in battel k.

i A dreadful Imprecation: we meet with more of the ſame nature, Chap. 11. 20. and 15. 15, 17, 18. We find alſo ſeveral ſuch Imprecations in the Pſalms, Pſal. 35. 4. and 40. 14. and 69. 22, 23, 24, 25, 27, 28. and 109. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, &c. Hence a Queſtion is raiſed, Whether it be lawful for God's Servants to pray for Evil againſt their Enemies. That which makes the Doubt is, Chriſt's Command to us, to pray for them that perſecute us, Matth. 5. 43, 44. his own Example, and Stephen's, Acts 7. 60. See the Notes upon the aforementioned Texts. It is doubtleſs our Duty, to pray for the Converſion, Forgiveneſs, and eternal Salvation of our worſt Enemies: ſo Chriſt prayed, and Stephen, but neither of them prayed for their outward proſperity in their Perſecution and Rage; and without doubt we may pray againſt God's Enemies, that God would tie their hands, weaken their power, confound their devices. k For ſuch other Particulars as are mentioned in this Verſe, and the beginning of the following Verſe, and ſuch as David mentions, Pſal. 69. we muſt know they were both Prophets, and did but pray to God to do that thing which God had revealed to them he would do.

22 Let a cry be heard from their houſes, when thou ſhalt bring a troop ſuddenly upon them, for they have digged a pit to take me, and hid ſnares for my feet l.

l That is, let the Enemy break into their houſes, which are in an ordinary Courſe of Providence, Mens Caſtles and Sanctuaries, and cauſe ſuch Shrieks as uſe to be heard in ſuch caſes, for their malicious ſeeking my life by all ſecret practices.

23 Yet LORD, thou knoweſt all their counſel againſt me to † ſlay me m: forgive not their iniquity, neither blot out their ſin from thy ſight n, but let them be overthrown before thee; deal thus with them in the time of thine anger o.

m Lord, thou knoweſt I do not charge them falſly, though their Counſels have been ſecret againſt my life. n Obj. Will ſome ſay, doth Jeremy here pray for the eternal Damnation of his Adverſaries? Is this lawful? Sol. I do not think this is to be granted lawful, being ſo highly againſt Charity: nor that Jeremy in this is to be excuſed as a Prophet, for even Prophets had no ſuch Revelations; but I take theſe Phraſes to be expounded by the next Words, Let them be overthrown before thee; and that all which the Prophet prayeth for is God's ſhewing ſome temporal Diſpleaſure and Vengeance againſt them. For forgiving, and not forgiving ſin, doth not always in Holy Writ ſignifie the diſcharging or not diſcharging the perſons from the Obligation to eternal Death, under which Sin layeth them; but ſometimes, the diſcharging or not diſcharging of them from the puniſhments in this Life, to which Sin doth expoſe the Sinner; and all Jeremy's meaning is, That however it ſhould pleaſe God to deal with theſe wicked Men as to their eternal State, yet he would ſo far not forgive, not blot out their Sins, as that he would ſet ſome mark of his Vengeance on them in this Life, for their Treachery and Ingratitude to him. Whether we in it conſider Jeremy as an ordinary Suppliant in this Cauſe, praying in Faith, or as a Prophet, foreknowing what God would do, it ought to lay a Law upon all to take heed of being miſchievous, and treacherous to others. It is ſeldom but God, before they die, repays ſuch Men into their own Boſom, eſpecially if it be againſt any who are God's Miniſters or People; and that for their ſpeaking to, or doing before them the Will of God: It is a Sin ſeldom eſcapes without a temporal Vengeance; and if ſuch Men be ſaved at laſt, it will be as through Fire. God will mind them that he hath ſaid, Touch not mine Anointed, and do my Prophets no harm, 1 Chron. 16. 22. Pſal. 105. 15.

CHAP. XIX.

Under the Type of breaking a Potters Veſſel is foreſhewn the Deſolation of the Jews for their Sins committed in the Valley of Hinnom and elſewhere, 1, — 15.

1 THus ſaith the LORD, Go and get a potters earthen bottel a, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the prieſts b.

a Criticks diſpute the Figure and Faſhion of this Bottel, (Vid. the Engliſh Annotations, and Mr. Pool's Latin Synopſis) but that is not much material, for God's Deſign was only to ſhew the fragility of this people, how eaſily he could break them, and how certainly he would break them in pieces. b For the more publick notice of this typical Action, Jeremy is commanded to take for Witneſſes, ſome of the graveſt of the people, and of the Prieſts: Whether they were Members of the Sanhedrim, (which was made up of thoſe two ſorts) or not, the Scripture ſaith not.

2 And go forth unto the valley of the ſon of Hinnom c, which is by the entry of the † eaſt-gate, and proclaim there the words that I ſhall tell thee d.

d We ſhall hereafter hear why God commanded Jeremiah to go thither rather than to another place, to break this earthen pot. This Valley was a place very near unto Hieruſalem, of which one Hinnom was Owner in Joſhua's time, Joſ. 15. 8. and 18. 16. The Valley is in Scripture ſometimes called Ge-hinnom, from whence came the Greek Word Gebenna, uſed by our Saviour for Hell, Matth. 5. 22. εἰς τ̃ γέενναν τȣ̃ πυρὸς, becauſe of the helliſh Torments they there put their Children to when they ſacrificed them, and of the helliſh Cries they made. d In the Hebrew it is the Sun-gate, ſuppoſed to be ſo called, becauſe the Sun riſeth in the Eaſt. This Valley is ſaid to have lien very near to this Gate; thither Jeremy is commanded to go, and there to proclaim the following Words.

3 And ſay, Hear ye the word of the LORD, O kings of Judah, and inhabitants of Jeruſalem, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold I will bring evil upon this place, the which whoſoever heareth, his ears ſhall tingle e.

e That is, a very great Evil; it is an Hebrew way of expreſſion, which we alſo find, 1 Sam. 3. 11. 2 Kings 21. 12. As a very great glaring Light affects our eyes, and blindeth them, ſo a very great Sound affecteth the Ear, and makes it tingle, and for ſome time deaf: This God commandeth the Prophet to proclaim, as particularly directed to all, both high and low, as well the Kings of Judah, as the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

4 Becauſe they have * forſaken me f, and have eſtranged this place g, and have burnt incenſe in it unto other gods h, whom neither they nor their fathers have known, nor the kings of Judah, and have filled this place with the blood of innocents i.

* Iſa. 65. 11. Chap. 2. 13, 17, 19. and 15. 6. and 17. 13.

f The Laws, Statutes, and Ordinances which God had given them, to direct them both in their religious Behaviour towards him, and in their civil Converſations. g Either this City, or this Temple, (which ſtood very nigh to this Valley) or this particular Valley, which they had turned to an uſe quite contrary to the end for which God gave it them; h for in it they had paid a religious Homage to Idols, ſtrange Idols which their Fathers knew not, i and had filled that place with the blood of ſuch as had not deſerved Death, either innocent Men, or Children, that they had there ſacrificed to Idols; of which he afterward ſpeaketh more particularly.

5 They have built alſo the high places of Baal, to burn their ſons with fire for burnt-offerings unto Baal k, which I commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my mind l.

k This, and the following Verſe, contain another great Sin of this People, with the Puniſhment which God proportioneth to it. The Sin in the general was Idolatry, but a moſt barbarous Species of it, mentioned alſo Chap. 7. 31. and 32. 35. where it is ſaid, they made their Sons and their Daughters paſs through the Fire to Molech; the place where they did it is called Tophet, Verſe 6. of which alſo mention is made Iſa. 30. 33. Chap. 7. 31, 32, 33. For the opening of this Text, as alſo of thoſe other Texts that mention this Idolatry, we muſt open what is meant by Baal, Moloch, Tophet, and the Valley of the Son of Hinnom. There is no doubt but Baal, and Molech, or Moloch, ſignifie the ſame thing; Baal ſignifieth a Lord, Molech a King. They ordinarily called their Idols by theſe Names; as alſo Malcham, Zeph. 1. 5. upon which account God would not be called Baal, Hoſ. 2. 16. though he was called Jehovah, Elohim, and Adonai, all which ſignified Lord, as Baal did. Both Baal and Molech ſeem common Names to all Idols. There was more than one Idol in the Houſe of Baal, 2 Kings 10. 26. The Ammonites called their principal Idol Milcom and Molech, as appears from 1 Kings 11. 5. 2 Kings 23. 13. To this Idol they ſacrificed their Children. It was a very ancient Idolatry, as appeareth by the very early Law of God againſt it, Lev. 20. 3, 4, 5. Some ſay it was derived from Saturn, whom they make contemporary with Debora and Barak, who, to appeaſe the Gods in an imminent Danger, ſacrificed his Son. Others ſay it began in the time of Serug the Father of Nahor, of whom we read Gen. 11. 20. and that it had its Original from the Devil, ſpeaking out of the Belly of ſome dead Perſons, commanding this Homage, poſſibly in Imitation of God, who Gen. 22. 2. to try Abraham's Obedience, commanded him to offer up Iſaac upon the Mount Moriah. We muſt know there were other Sacrifices they offered to Baal: they burnt Incenſe to Baal, 2 Kings 23. 5. They offered Sacrifices and Burnt-offerings of Beaſts, 1 Kings 18. 26. 2 Kings 10. 24. only in ſome extraordinary Straits to ſhew their great Obedience to the Devil, they offered their Children. What Creature they worſhipped under this Name is not certain, but very probably it was the Sun, from 2 Kings 23. 5. or ſome ſuperiour Being, which they owned as their ſupreme Lord and King, which they, ſome of them, miſtook the Sun, Moon, and Stars to be; they being glorious Beings removed out of Mens Knowledge, ſo as they had not ſufficient means to underſtand their Natures, might, conſidering their Motions, and vaſt Influence they had upon all other Creatures, miſtake them for animate and ſupreme Beings, to which as they paid other Homages, (ſuch as ſwearing by them, Zeph. 1. 5. burning Incenſe, offering Beaſts, praying to them,) ſo in imitation of the Heathens, and in a pretence of high Devotion, and Homage in ſome ſpecial Caſes and Straits, they offered their Children. Some think they only made them go through the fire, but did not burn them; and indeed, ſo moſt of the Scriptures expreſs this abominable Idolatry; but ſome Scriptures ſpeak it plain enough, that they actually burnt them: the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 106. 37. ſaith, They ſhed innocent blood, even the blood of their ſons and daughters, whom they ſacrificed to the Idols of Canaan, and the land was polluted with blood, which it could not have been by their Childrens merely paſſing through the fire; and it is laid to their Charge, Ezek. 16. 20, 21. Thou haſt taken thy Sons and thy Daughters, whom thou haſt born unto me, and thoſe haſt thou ſacrificed to them to be devoured. 21. That thou haſt ſlain my Children, and delivered them to cauſe them to paſs through the fire for them. We read of the Idolatry of Jeroboam, who worſhipped the true God, but by Calves ſet up at Dan and Bethel. Ahab exceeded this, bringing in the terminative Worſhip of the Creatures, worſhipping the Sun, Moon, and Stars, under the Name of Baal: but the firſt in Judah, of whom we read, that he made his Son to paſs through the fire, was Ahaz, the Father of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 10. 3. He was followed by his Grandchild Manaſſeh, 2 Kings 21. 6. Joſiah, the good Son of a bad Father, defiled the place where this abominable Idolatry was committed, 2 Kings 23. 10. The place where they committed this horrible Abomination, was the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, very near the City, and the particular place was called Tophet. There was an high place built for the Idol, and many think, that the Name Tophet ariſeth from their uſe of a Drum or Tabret, with which while the poor Children were burning, they made great noiſes to drown the ſound of the Childrens Yellings; tho others think, the Word Tophet originally ſignifies Hell, or the place of the Damned, of which this place, both for the torments and roarings in it, was a lively Repreſentation. Now of this barbarous and horrible Idolatry God ſaith, l He commanded them not, neither came it into his mind. It was ſo far from it, that God had moſt ſeverely forbid it, Lev. 20. 2, 3, 4, 5. making it a capital Crime for any to do it, and for any to conceal others that they knew did it: ſo that here is a Meioſis, leſs ſpoken than was true in the caſe; but poſſibly God's expreſſing a thing of this nature, being an Errour in his Worſhip, under theſe ſoft terms, I commanded them not, neither did it come into my mind, giveth no ſmall ground to conſiderate Men to judge, that we muſt have a Command from God, though not for every individual Act of our Worſhip, nor for every Circumſtance of humane Action which we do in his Worſhip, yet for every ſpecifical religious Act, and for any thing whereby we pay an Homage to God; it being indeed the moſt reaſonable thing imaginable, that God ſhould have the ſame Privilege which every Prince or great Man amongſt Men claimeth as his Right, to preſcribe the Acts, Modes, and Methods, for his own Homage.

6 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that this place ſhall no more be called Tophet, nor the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter m.

m For this God, by his Prophet threatneth, that this Place anciently, in Joſhua's time called the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, and more lately Tophet, from the Noiſe of Drums and Tabrets there, whilſt Children were burning, ſhould have a new Name, and be called the Valley of Slaughter, from the multitude of dead bodies which upon the taking of the City ſhould be ſlain and thrown into this Valley. It was expounded Chap. 7. 32, 33. For they ſhall bury in Tophet till there be no place; And the Carcaſes of this people ſhall be meat for the fowls of the Heaven, and for the beaſts of the Earth, and none ſhall fray them away.

7 And I will make void the counſel of Judah and Jeruſalem in this place n, and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hands of them that ſeek their lives: and * their carcaſes will I give to be meat for the fowls of the heavens, and for the beaſts of the earth.

* Chap. 7. 33. and 16. 4. and 34. 20.

n In this place, amongſt others, I will make void all the Counſels that the Men of Judah and the Inhabitants of Hieruſalem, have taken to eſcape my righteous Judgments. I will fruſtrate all their little Arts and Deſigns to avoid the Dint of my Judgments. I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their Enemies, ſo as there ſhall be no way of eſcape for them.

8 And I will make this city * deſolate, and an hiſſing: every one that paſſeth thereby ſhall be aſtoniſhed and hiſs, becauſe of all the plagues thereof o.

* Chap. 18. 16. and 49. 13. and 50. 13.

o This is no more than we met with before, Chap. 18. 16. and ſhall again meet with; Mens Honour and Reputation is ordinarily very dear to them, it was eſpecially to the Jews, who valued themſelves much upon the Reputation their City and their Temple had, and the Security they promiſed themſelves from their right in the Holy City and Land. God tells them, he will make them as much a Scorn and Reproach, as ever they were for an Honour or Praiſe; as great a Wonderment for the Wrath and Vengeance he would execute upon them, as they had been in their flouriſhing ſtate for the Mercies which he beſtowed upon them.

9 And I will cauſe them to eat the fleſh of their ſons, and the fleſh of their daughters, and they ſhall eat every one the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege and ſtraitneſs, wherewith their enemies, and they that ſeek their lives, ſhall ſtraiten them p.

p Theſe were the miſerable effects or conſequents of the Famine, with which God had often before threatned them; the juſt fulfilling of God's Word threatned, Lev. 26. 29. Deut. 28. 43. and the accompliſhment of which our Prophet hath recorded, Lam. 4. 10.

10 Then ſhalt thou break the bottle in the ſight of the men that go with thee q.

q The earthen Bottle, which Verſe 1. he was commanded to carry with him into the Valley of the Son of Hinnom (where he now was) in the ſight of the ancients of the Prieſts, and of the People, the Men who there were appointed to go with the Prophet. This ſymbolical, or ſacramental teaching by ſigns, was much in uſe by the Prophets.

11 And ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts r, Even ſo will I break this people and this city, as one breaketh a potters veſſel, that cannot † be made whole again ſ, and they ſhall * bury them in Tophet, till there be no place to bury t.

† Heb. be healed.
* Chap. 7. 32.

r A Name ordinarily given to God, here very properly, to let them know that he ſaid nothing with his Lips, but what he had power by his Hand to accompliſh, being the Captain General of all the Armies of his Creatures. ſ God by ordering the Prophet to carry no other Veſſel, but one of Earth, had a deſign upon the breaking of it, not only to ſhew them that he would bruiſe, wound, or indamage them greatly, but ſo deſtroy them, as there ſhould be no preſent remedy. If a Veſſel of Braſs, Silver, Gold, &c. be broken, it may be mended, but an earthen Veſſel if broken, cannot be made whole. See the like Iſaiah 30. 14. t He tells them that this Tophet, which they had made a place of barbarous ſlaughter for the Children, kill'd for Idolatrous Sacrifices, ſhould continue for a Slaughter-houſe, but of another nature, even for them that had committed ſuch wickedneſs in it, who ſhould be ſlain there in ſuch plenty, that they ſhould want ground to bury dead Carcaſes in.

12 Thus will I do unto this place, ſaith the LORD, and to the inhabitants thereof, and even make this city as Tophet u.

u That is a place of Slaughter aud Burials, or a baſe, ignominious place, or where the noiſe of Drums and Trumpets, and Cryings and Yellings ſhall be heard, as uſed to be in Tophet.

13 And the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes of the kings of Judah ſhall be defiled as the places of Tophet w, becauſe of all the houſes upon whoſe * roofs they have burnt incenſe unto all the hoſt of heaven, and * have poured out drink-offerings unto other Gods x.

* 2 Kings 23. 12. Chap. 32. 29.
* Chap. 7. 18.

w Under the Judaick Law, perſons and places were defiled by touching dead Bodies, or any unclean filthy thing; God threatneth in this ſenſe to defile Tophet, as it was ſaid before, it ſhould be filled with dead Bodies which ſhould be buried, or lie unburied there. He ſheweth that the aforementioned Judgment of filling places with dead Bodies, ſhould not be reſtrained to Tophet in the Valley of Hinnom, but reach to the dwelling-houſes in Hieruſalem, both their Kings Houſes, and the meaner Subjects. x The provoking cauſe of which ſhould be their Idolatry, which they had alſo brought into their dwelling-houſes, for they having flat Roofs, had upon them, though not burnt Children in Sacrifice to Idols, yet poured out Drink-Offerings to the Sun, Moon and Stars, and to other Idols.

14 Then came Jeremiah from Tophet, whither the LORD had ſent him to propheſie, and he ſtood in the court of the LORD's houſe y, and ſaid to all the people.

y Jeremiah had now diſpatched the Errand upon which God had ſent him to Tophet, coming back by God's direction, he ſtands in the Court, which was common to all people, where the moſt might hear.

15 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring upon this city and upon all her towns, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt it; becauſe * they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words z.

* Chap. 17. 23.

z He aſſureth the people from God, that he would moſt certainly juſtifie all his words, and bring to paſs all his Threats againſt that City, and that they muſt thank themſelves for it, for hardening their heart, ſo as all that he had ſaid made no impreſſion upon them, nor found any place with them.

CHAP. XX.

Paſhur ſmiting Jeremiah for this Prophecy receiveth a new Name, and a fearful Doom, 1,—6. Jeremiah's Impatience under their Treachery and Contempt, 7,—10. Rejoyceth in hope of Vengeance, 11,—13. Curſeth his Birth, 14,—18.

1 NOW Paſhur the ſon of Immer the prieſt a, who was alſo chief governour in the houſe of the LORD b, heard that Jeremiah propheſied theſe words c.

a The courſe of Immer was the ſixteenth courſe of the Prieſts, as we read in 1 Chron. 24. 14. Paſhur was his Son, that is deſcended from him through many Generations. b It is neither much material for us to know, nor very eaſie to determine in what ſenſe he is called the chief Governor of the Temple, whether he was Deputy to the High Prieſt, or the head of his courſe, which at that time waited in the Temple, or had ſome place as Captain of the Temple, to take notice of any Diſorders ſhould be committed there, contrary to the Law. Certain it is he was no High Prieſt, for then he could not have been one of the Courſe of Immer. c Either he heard Jeremiah himſelf (which is moſt probable) or ſome body told him what Jeremiah had propheſied in the Temple which was within his charge, and juriſdiction.

2 Then Paſhur ſmote Jeremiah the prophet d, and put him in the ſtocks e that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the houſe of the LORD f.

d It is not ſaid how he ſtruck him, though ſome think it moſt probable, that it was with his fiſt as the falſe Prophet ſtruck Micaiah, 1 Kings 22. 24. e We are as uncertain what is here meant by Stocks, whether ſuch an Engine as is in uſe amongſt us to puniſh Offenders, which we call by that Name. Or, as others, an Engine like our Pillory, where Malefactors are faſtned by the Necks. Or, as others, with three holes, one for the Neck of the Offender, one for each Hand; or whether meerly a Priſon where he was kept all Night a Priſoner; the Heb. word will not determine us further than that it was a place of reſtraint, and where that will not determine, other Conjectures are as incertain as needleſs. f There is as much uncertainty as to the place, where this Priſon or theſe Stocks were; we are told it was near the Temple, and in the High Gate of Benjamin, but whether this was a Gate belonging to the Temple that opened toward that part of the Country which was the Lot of Benjamin, or a Gate of the City that opened that way, whether in the inner Wall, or outer' Wall, whether called the Higher-gate, becauſe nearer the Temple, or upon ſome other account, are nice and curious Speculations, the determination of which, is of no moment for us to know.

3 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that Paſhur brought forth Jeremiah out of the ſtocks g. Then ſaid Jeremiah unto him, The LORD hath not called thy name Paſhur, but ‖ Magor-miſſabib h.

‖ That is, fear round about.

g Poſſibly by this time the mad brain'd Prieſt, thought he had done more than he could juſtifie by Law, for if he were a falſe Prophet, the Judgment of him belonged not to him but to the Sanhedrim. He had nothing to do to ſmite him, poſſibly he brought him forth in order to his bringing him before the Sanhedrim; but it doth not appear that he did ſo, tho' Jeremiah's following words to him might reaſonably be thought provocative enough if he had deſigned any formal charge againſt him. h He had it ſeemeth no more to ſay to Jeremiah, but Jeremiah (to whom God had appeared in the Priſon that Night, while he was ſeparated from Communion with Men, and revealed to him, what end this hot-headed Prieſt ſhould come to) had ſomething to ſay to him. God's meaning was, not that he ſhould by Men be no longer called Paſkur (for doubtleſs after this he was called by the ſame Name he had before) but his ſtate and condition ſhould not anſwer the Name Paſhur, which ſignifies, as ſome ſay, a noble flouriſhing Prieſt; or, as others, one who by his Authority maketh others to tremble; but Magor miſſabib, that is, fear and terror on all ſides.

4 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will make thee a terror to thy ſelf, and to all thy friends, and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eye ſhall behold it, and I will give all Judah into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall carry them captive into Babylon, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword i.

i God now expoundeth the name of Magor miſſabib threatning to fill this wicked Prieſt with Terrors, that he and all his friends ſhould be affrighted, reflecting upon his moſt miſerable ſtate, and condition; and his Friends from whom he might poſſibly expect ſome relief, ſhould be as miſerable as he, and it ſhould be an addition to his miſery, that his Eyes ſhould ſee it, and ſee his whole Country ruined, ſome being ſlain by the Sword of the King of Babylon, others by him carried into Captivity.

5 Moreover, I will deliver * all the ſtrength of this city k, and all the labours thereof l, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the king of Judah m, will I give into the hand of their enemies, which ſhall ſpoil them, and take them, and carry them to Babylon n.

* 2 Kings 20. 17.

k This is but the repetition of what God had often threatned, viz. The perfect ruine of Hieruſalem, and the Land of Judah. Their Military Men, or rather their Riches. l And all the fruit of their Labours. m And whatſoever was valuable in their eyes, or in the eyes of the greateſt perſons amongſt them. n The Babylonians ſhould make a ſpoil, and a prey of them all.

6 And thou Paſhur, and all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhall go into captivity, and thou ſhalt come to Babylon, and there thou ſhalt die, and ſhalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou haſt propheſied lyes o.

o Thoſe that teach others to diſobey the Commandments of God, ſeldom eſcape that Vengeance which cometh upon them who are ſeduced by them. Paſhur was one whoſe Office it was to have taught others the Fear of the Lord, and obedience to his Will, he teacheth them what was falſe, and is not patient to hear the Will of God. Jeremiah tells him he ſhould feel the Truth of it, for he himſelf ſhould be one of thoſe who ſhould be carried into Captivity, and ſhould die there, out of his own Country, and be buried there, and this alſo ſhould be the portion of all his Friends whom he had ſeduced by his falſe and lying Prophecies.

7 O LORD, thou haſt deceived me, and I was || deceived p: thou art ſtronger than I, and haſt prevailed q: I am in deriſion daily, every one mocketh me r.

p The following part of the Chapter to the end of it, containeth a Complaint or Prayer of the Prophet unto God, made (as ſome think) during his Impriſonment by Paſhur, but the certain time is not known. Our Tranſlators here might have tranſlated the word פִּתִּיתַנִי more favourably than thou haſt deceived me. It might have been thou haſt perſwaded me, or thou haſt allured, or enticed me, as it is tranſlated, Jud. 14. 15. 1 King. 22. 21,22. Exod. 22 16. Prov. 1. 10. and 16. 29. Pſal. 78. 36. The word ſignifies no more than by words to remove a Man from his own Opinion. That is doubtleſs, the ſenſe here, Lord, I was not fond of this employment as a Prophet, by thy words I was removed from my own Opinion of my ſelf, which might be ſpoken by the Prophet without any reflection upon God; it only ſignifieth his undertaking the Office of a Prophet at God's Command, not out of any ambition of his own. q But thou prevailedſt againſt me. Jeremy at firſt excuſed himſelf to God, as we read, Chap. 1. 6. He ſaid, Ah Lord God, behold I am a child and cannot ſpeak; but the Lord prevailed upon him, replying, Ver. 7. Say not, I am a child, for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhall ſend thee, and whatſoever I command thee thou ſhalt ſpeak, Ver. 9. The Lord put forth his hand, and touched his mouth, and ſaid, Behold I have put my words in thy mouth. This is all that is here meant by deceiving, viz. Gods over-ruling of him contrary to his own inclinations. r He complaineth that now he was in this Office, every one mock'd him and derided him, and that for the faithful diſcharge of that Office, to which God had called him.

8 For ſince I ſpake, I cried out ſ, I cried violence, and ſpoil t, becauſe the word of the LORD was made a reproach unto me, and a deriſion daily u.

ſ If the particle be tranſlated ſince, as we tranſlate it, the meaning is, ſince I firſt began to be a Prophet, I have faithfully diſcharged my Prophetical Office, and that with ſome warmth and zeal. t Some underſtand it of the violence which he himſelf experienced; others underſtand it of thoſe Acts of injuſtice and violence which were found amongſt the People, he cryed out againſt them. Others underſtand it as a denunciation of Judgment. He propheſied that violence and ſpoil was coming upon them. u Becauſe of that ſcorn and deriſion with which they treated him. But others think that it were better tranſlated ſurely than becauſe, as it is in many Texts, Iſa. 60. 9. and 63. 16, &c. It is not much material which way we tranſlate it, for it appeareth from 2 Chron. 36. 16. That this Peoples mocking of God's Meſſengers, deſpiſing his words, and miſuſing his Prophets, was one great cauſe of the wrath of God coming upon them; and it is certain that Jeremy was made ſuch a ſcorn and deriſion to them.

9 Then I ſaid, I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeak any more in his name w. But his word was in my heart as a * burning fire ſhut up in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and * I could not ſtay x.

* Pſal. 39. 3.

w This daily ſcorn and reproach which the Prophet ſaw himſelf expoſed unto, for preaching againſt the ſin and wickedneſs of the people, was a ſore Temptation upon him to lay down his Imployment as a Prophet. He did not ſpeak this openly, but he ſpake it in his heart, he had (as he confeſſeth) many ſuch thoughts in his Breaſt. x But he ſaith he was not able to do what he thought to do, he found in his heart a conſtraint to go on, that when a Revelation came at any time from God unto him, it was like a fire in his Bones which he muſt quench, by uttering what God had revealed to him.

10 ¶ For I heard the defaming of many, fear on every ſide y: Report, ſay they, and we will report it z: † * all my familiars watched for my halting a, ſaying, Peradventure he will be enticed, and we ſhall prevail againſt him b, and we ſhall take our revenge on him c.

† Heb. every man of my peace.
* Pſal. 41. 9. & 55. 13, 14.

y The Prophet here rendereth a reaſon why he thought of giving over his work as a Prophet, his ears were continually filled with the Obloquies and Reproaches of ſuch as reproached him, and beſides he was afraid on all hands there were ſo many Traps laid for him, ſo many Devices deviſed againſt him. They did not only take all advantages againſt him, but they ſought advantages and z invited others to raiſe up falſe Stories of him. They ſaid to Men like themſelves, Raiſe but you the Report, we will blow it abroad. a Not onely Strangers, but thoſe that I might have expected the greateſt kindneſs from, thoſe that pretended moſt courteouſly, watched for opportunities to do me miſchief, and lay in wait for my halting. b Deſiring nothing more than that I might be enticed to ſpeak or do ſomething which they might make matter of a colourable Accuſation. c That ſo they might ſatisfie their malice upon me. This hath always been the genius of wicked Men; Job and David both made Complaints much like this, Job 19. 19. Pſal. 31. 13. and 55. 12, 13, 14. Thus it fared with Chriſt himſelf. The ſame Spirit which yet poſſeſſeth wicked Men, was found in wicked Men in all former times. And this ought to be a great relief to the people of God under the like meaſures, to conſider that the Servants are not above their Lord, and wicked Men thus of old perſecuted the Prophets.

11 But the LORD is with me as a mighty terrible one d: therefore my perſecutors ſhall ſtumble, and they ſhall not * prevail e, they ſhall be greatly aſhamed e, for they ſhall not proſper f, * their everlaſting confuſion ſhall never be forgotten g.

* Chap. 15. 20. & 17. 18.

d The Prophet recovering himſelf out of his fit of Paſſion, incourageth himſelf in his God, whom he calls the mighty and terrible one, ſo declaring his Faith in the Power of God, as one able to ſave him, and in the promiſe and good Will of God toward him; therefore he ſaith, The Lord is with me, ſuch was the promiſe of God to this Prophet, when he firſt undertook the Prophetical Office, Chap. 1. 8. Be not afraid of their Faces, for I am with thee to deliver thee ſaith the Lord. e From hence he concludeth, that though he had many that purſued after his life, yet they ſhould ſtumble in their ways of violence, and ſhould not prevail. e That they ſhould either be aſhamed of what they had done, or be brought to ſhame for what they had done. f For proſper they ſhould not, or they acted like Fools, and did not deal prudently for themſelves (ſo this word is tranſlated, Iſa. 52. 13.) g They ſhould come to a reproach and ignominy, and their reproach ſhould not be like his for a time, but it ſhould be a laſting, perpetual reproach that ſhould not be forgotten. This was not only written for that Generation, but for all Generations that are yet to come, and hath been made good in the experience of all Ages paſt. The Perſecuters of God's Miniſters have found that God hath been with his Miniſters according to his Promiſe, Matth. 28. 20. and that they have ſtumbled in their way, and not at laſt prevailed, that they have not acted prudently for their own good, and the good of their Families; that a perpetual ignominy clave to the memory of thoſe who have been employed in this Work. There ſtands to this day a blot upon the memory of them who perſecuted Iſaiah, Jeremy, &c. The Apoſtles, and ſuch faithful Miniſters as have been ſince their time.

12 But, O LORD of hoſts, that trieſt the righteous, and ſeeſt the reins and the heart h, let me ſee thy vengeance on them i: for unto thee have I opened my cauſe k.

h The Prophet had Chap. 17. 10. ſpoken unto God under this notion; here he appealeth to him as ſuch, who therefore muſt needs ſee as well the Prophet's ſincerity, as his Enemies Malice. i For his Prayer againſt his Enemies, it is of the ſame nature with what we met with, Chap. 11. 20. indeed this whole Verſe is the ſame with that David, Pſal. 58. 10. propheſyeth that the righteous ſhould rejoyce when they ſee the vengeance which God brings on his Enemies; but yet the Prophet ſeems in this Petition to have ſhewed himſelf a Man (as the Apoſtle ſpeaks of Elijah) ſubject to like Paſſions with other Men, for although God ſometimes in his Providence, cauſeth Vengeance to come upon his, and his Peoples Enemies in their ſight, yet whether they may abſolutely pray for it is a queſtion. See the notes on Chap. 11. 20.

13 Sing unto the LORD, praiſe ye the LORD, for he hath delivered the ſoul of the poor from the hand of evil doers l.

l The Prophet here riſeth higher, from prayer to praiſe; it is not certain whether this was a rejoycing of faith, or of ſenſe; a Thankſgiving to God, upon his Deliverance out of the hand of Paſhur, or ſome other Enemies, or a rejoycing in the ſure belief that God would deliver his life out of the hands of theſe wicked Men. If we take it in the latter ſenſe, it teacheth us our Duty, to give God the honour of all our Deliverances from the hands of wicked Men. If in the former ſenſe it ſheweth us the power of faith, which being the ſubſtance of things not ſeen, and evidence of things but hoped for, ſheweth us things to come as if already preſent, and teacheth us to rejoyce in the hope of thoſe things of which we have no preſent poſſeſſion.

14 ¶ * Curſed be the day wherein I was born: let not the day wherein my mother bare me be bleſſed m.

* Chap. 15. 10.

m This ſudden change of the Prophet's ſtile, maketh both Mr. Calvin, and ſome other good Interpreters, think that theſe words proceeded from Jeremiah rather as a repetition of a former paſſion into which the Abuſes of his Enemies had put him, than as the immediate product of his Spirit at this time. Whenever they were ſpoken, they ſpeak a very extravagant Paſſion, to ſhew us, that though Jeremiah was a great Man, yet he was but a Man, encompaſſed with infirmities, and ſubject to like Paſſions with other Men. We find Job in the like paſſion, Chap. 3. 3. Theſe great failures of God's people ſtand in Scripture, as Rocks in the Sea appear, to mind Mariners to keep off them, not to run upon them.

15 Curſed be the man who brought tidings to my father, ſaying, A man-child is born unto thee, making him very glad n.

n Parents are uſually rejoyced when a Son is Born to them.

16 And let that man be as the cities which the LORD overthrew and repented not, let him hear the cry in the morning, and the ſhouting at noontide o.

o By the Cities he means thoſe Cities mentioned, Gen. 19. 25. Sodom and Gomorrah; by the cry in the morning and ſhouting at Noon, he means the ſhouts, and noiſes that Enemies make when they break in upon a place, in an hoſtile manner.

17 Becauſe he ſlew me not from the womb: or that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb to be always great with me p.

p Theſe various expreſſions do only let us ſee to what a tide paſſion ſwelled in this good Man's Heart, and teach us how much need we have to pray to be delivered from our own paſſions; Jeremiah's leaving theſe things recorded by himſelf, is one inſtance of what is brought as a rational argument to prove that only Men wrote the Scriptures by inſpiration from God, they would never elſe have recorded their own groſs failings, Men commonly writing for their own honour, not to their own defamation.

*Job 5. 10. 18 * Wherefore came I forth out of the womb to ſee labour and ſorrow, that my days ſhould be conſumed with ſhame? q.

q Theſe words let us know the Prophet's Temptation to theſe extravagant eruptions of paſſion, it was the reproach and ſhame, and affliction which he indured for the faithful diſcharge of his Miniſtry, which both lets us ſee the goodneſs of God towards thoſe whom he ſpareth as to theſe Trials, and what need we have under them to keep a watch upon our own hearts. Theſe Records alſo of Holy Writ are uſeful to us, if at any time we be overtaken with ſuch errors, to comfort us, in that they are not ſuch ſpots, but have been found in the Faces of Gods faireſt ones: and to make us charitable towards ſuch as we may ſee ſometimes overborn with the like Temptations.

CHAP. XXI.

King Zedekiah in the Siege ſendeth to Jeremiah to enquire of the Event, 1, 2. He foretelleth a hard Siege and miſerable Captivity, 3,—7. He counſelleth the People to fall to the Chaldæans, 8,—10. and upbraideth the King's Houſe, 11,—14.

1 THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD a, when king Zedekiah ſent unto him Paſhur the ſon of Melchiah, and Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, ſaying b, a God in ſundry times, and in divers manners, ſpake in times paſt, to the Fathers by the Prophets, Heb. 1. 1. The two principal were viſions and dreams, Numb. 12. 6. How the following word came to Jeremiah is not expreſt, it is enough that he knew it came from the Lord. b It is apparent, ſome Prophecies in this Book are not put in the right order as they were delivered, Chap. 25. we have an account of the word of the Lord which came to Jeremiah in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, who was the ſecond Son of Joſiah made King by Pharaoh-Necho, purſuing his Victory (mentioned 2 Chron. 35 22.) upon the Battle, in which Joſiah was killed, as we read there. The people made Jehoahaz King, but he reigned but three Months, and the Conqueror carrying him away, made Eliakim his Brother King, changing his Name to Jehoiakim, who reigned 11 Years, that is 7 after the word of the Lord mentioned, Chap. 25. came to Jeremiah; after whom Jehojakin his Son reigned three Months and 10 Days: Zedekiah was his Uncle, the Son of Joſiah, he reigned 11 Years. So that it is plain that Jeremiah's Prophecy (mentioned Chap. 25.) was 7 Years and 3 Months before this, beſides the number of Years that Zedekiah had reigned. But ſome think that Jeremiah, Chap. 23. 24, 25. doth but make a repetition to Zedekiah's Meſſengers of what he had before propheſied. This Meſſage was (as appeareth by the next Verſe) when Nebuchadnezzar was come up to make War againſt Hieruſalem, Jer. 39. 1. Jeremy was at liberty, when the Word of the Lord at this time came to him, ſo as it was ſome time before the City was taken. The fatal Siege held about a Year and half, as appears by Chap. 39. 1, 2. The Paſhur mentioned here, was another from him, mentioned Chap. 20. 1. he was the Son of Immer, of the ſixteenth Courſe of the Prieſts; and of a more rugged ill Temper; this was the Son of Malchiah, and ſo of the fifth Courſe, Vid. 1 Chron. 24 9. 14.

2 Enquire I pray thee of the LORD for us c, (for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon maketh war againſt us) if ſo be that the LORD will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up from us d.

c Zedekiah, as he was none of the beſt, ſo he was none of the worſt of the Kings of Judah, he had ſome convictions and impreſſions (poſſibly from his Education) not worn off, and having ſome reverence of God, he ſends to the Prophet to enquire of the Lord. Becauſe the King of Babylon was come up to make war againſt them. It is true, the greateſt Contemners of God and his faithful Miniſters, will ſometimes, in great ſtraits, chuſe to ſend for them rather than thoſe who in their proſperity pleaſed them. Hence we read of Saul when he went to the Witch at Endor, deſiring that Samuel might be raiſed up; but in Zedekiah's whole ſtory we read no ſuch eminent contempt of God, but a diſobedience to the Commands of God, proceeding rather from his eaſineſs to be ruled by his corrupt Court, than from a ſtubbornneſs in himſelf. d By mentioning God's former wondrous Works, poſſibly he may have a reſpect to God's raiſing Senacherib's Seige in the time of his Grandfather Hezekiah. The remembring of God's former wondrous Works, is of uſe to raiſe in us an hope and confidence in God for further Deliverances, ſuppoſing our ſelves under the ſame circumſtances of Obedience to God's Will, otherwiſe not, as we ſhall ſee in the caſe of Judah and its King, at this time; therefore Zedekiah ſaith, if ſo be. Guilt of ſin hinders Confidence, and holy boldneſs in the beſt; but as the guilt is greater, ſo the hope or confidence of any is juſtly leſs.

3 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto them, Thus ſhall ye ſay to Zedekiah,

4 Thus ſaith the Lord GOD of Iſrael e, Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight againſt the king of Babylon, and againſt the Chaldeans, which beſiege you without the walls f, and I will aſſemble them into the midſt of this city g.

e The honour that the King of Judah had put upon the Prophet, in ſending theſe ſpecial Meſſengers to him, is no temptation to this good Prophet to propheſie ſmooth and pleaſing things, for which he had no Warrant from God. The Prophet ſtileth God the God of Iſrael, becauſe the whole Poſterity of Jacob were in covenant with God, notwithſtanding which, ten parts of twelve were at this time carried into a Captivity from which they never returned, yet God was the God of Iſrael, for all were not Iſrael that were deſcended from Iſrael, but thoſe only who were Iſraelites indeed, without guile; ſo that the Prophet by this Name given to God, doth both aſſert God's faithfulneſs to his Covenant, and alſo ſhew the conſiſtency of that faithfulneſs, with thoſe Judgments, which he was now bringing upon that remnant of Iſrael which yet were in their own Land. f The Meſſage which God by the Prophet ſendeth to Zedekiah, is exceeding terrible. The ſum of it is, That as they had not dealt with God according to the Works of Iſrael, and the former Generation that deſcended from him, or thoſe at leaſt who were the true Iſrael of God, ſo they muſt not expect that God ſhould deal with them according to his former wondrous Works, but that as he with the pure had ſhewed himſelf upright, ſo with the froward he ſhould ſhew himſelf froward. For God had determined to turn into their own Bowels, and againſt themſelves, the Weapons they had in their hands taken up againſt the King of Babylon and the Chaldæans that were now Beſieging them, (by which we may learn that this Meſſage was ſent during the time of the Siege, probably about the beginning of it, for it laſted 18 Months) g God threatneth to bring the Chaldæans into the midſt of the Holy City, that their City ſhould be broken up, their Arms taken from them, and they killed with their own Swords. There is a great Emphaſis in the Pronoun I. It is not an Enemy that is to be feared, but God's being our Enemy.

5 And I my ſelf will fight againſt you h with an out-ſtretched hand, and with a ſtrong arm, even in anger, and in fury, and in great wrath i.

h I will fight againſt you, (as a Prince is ſaid to fight againſt a Nation, whoſe Captains fight againſt it, though himſelf ſtirreth not from his Royal Palace; yea more than ſo) animating and influencing the Babylonians and Chaldæans, whom I have ſent to fight againſt you, and diſcouraging and diſpiriting your Armies. i With ſuch an hand and power as I manifeſted for my ancient Iſrael, Exod. 6. 6. God is here ſpoken of in a Dialect which maketh him more intelligible to us. He hath no Hands, no Arms, neither is anger and fury in him conſidered as turbulent Paſſions, as they are in us; but as Men ſtretch out their Hands and Arms when they intend to give ſmart and terrible ſtrokes, and are edged to ſuch Blows from their Paſſions and exceſſive wrath, ſo God is ſet out to us by expreſſions proper to Men, and in him ſignificative only of his juſt Will to be revenged ſeverely upon a ſinful people. The ſence is no more, than that an end was now come, and God was reſolved no longer to bear with ſuch a provoking people, but to bring his utmoſt Wrath upon them, and to deal with them no longer according to his wondrous Works of Mercy, but in wondrous Works of Juſtice, which in Men would look like the effects of Wrath and Fury.

6 And I will ſmite the inhabitants of this city, both man and beaſt: they ſhall die of a great peſtilence k.

k Still God proclaimeth himſelf this people's Enemy. Peſtilences are but the uſual conſequents of long Sieges, through the ſcantneſs, and unwholſomeneſs of Food, but God is the firſt cauſe of ſuch ſore Judgments, though there be other ſecond cauſes. The Murrain of Beaſts bears proportion to the Peſtilence amongſt Men, and the Beaſts are threatned as well as Men, not becauſe of any ſin in them but becauſe Men are puniſhed in them they being part of their Subſtance; and this is a part of that Bondage of Corruption, from which the Creature groaneth to be delivered, of that Vanity to which they are ſubject, which maketh the irrational part of the Creation to be brought in by the Apoſtle, Rom. 8. 20, 21, 22. like as a Woman travailling in pain, and deſiring the Day of Judgment.

7 And afterwards l, ſaith the LORD, I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, and his ſervants and the people, and ſuch as are left in this city, from the peſtilence, from the ſword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their life m, and he ſhall ſmite them with the edge of the ſword: he ſhall not ſpare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy n.

l After that many of the People of this City, ſhall be deſtroyed, ſome by the Enemy aſſaulting, and skirmiſhing with them; others by the Famine that ſhall be amongſt them through a want of Victuals, being all ſpent with the long Siege; others by the Peſtilence. m Zedekiah, who ſhall eſcape theſe three Judgments, together with his Courtiers, and the reſidue of the People, ſhall be delivered into the power of the King of Babylon, and into the power of ſuch as will not be content with the plunder of their Houſes, but thirſt after their blood, and n theſe Enemies (ſet on by Nebuchadnezzar) ſhall ſmite them with the Sword, without ſhewing them any Mercy or Pity. This is not to be underſtood of King Zedekiah himſelf, for God let him know, Chap. 34. 4. that he ſhould not die by the ſword but in peace, as he did afterward in Babylon, though in Priſon; but it was true of his Sons and Courtiers, and a great part of the People, Chap. 39. 6, 8. and 52. 10, Thoſe who went into Captivity, were only ſuch as had revolted during the Siege, and many of thoſe that were of the poor of the Land, for the reſt there was little pity had of them, or mercy ſhewed to them, as may be ſeen Chap 39. and 52. 2 Chron. 36 17.

8 ¶ And unto this people thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I ſet before you, the way of life, and the way of death o.

o I tell you the way that you ſhould take, if you would ſave your lives; and the courſe, which if you take, you will certainly loſe your lives.

* Chap. 38. 2.

* Chap. 39. 18. and 45. 5.

9 He that * abideth in this city, ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Chaldeans that beſiege you, he ſhall live p, and * his life ſhall be unto him for a prey q.

p But certainly, if ever any Man ſpake High Treaſon, this Prophet now did it, when there was an Enemy beſieging them, telling them, That if they would ſave their Lives, they muſt revolt from their King, and join with their Enemies. All that can be ſaid in excuſe for the Prophet is, that this was a Divine Revelation to him, and a Meſſage ſent to the King himſelf. q His life ſhall be given him for a prey, appeareth to have been a proverbial Expreſſion, either ſignifying a Man's poſſeſſion of his life as a Prey, or Booty recovered from Death, or the hand of the Enemy. 2. Or a Man's rejoycing in the ſaving of his life, as if he had got ſome notable Booty.

10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city, for evil, and not for good r, ſaith the LORD; it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire ſ.

r That is, I will ſet my ſelf againſt it, I will be an Enemy to it. See the like Phraſe Lev. 17. 10. and 20. 5. It is a Phraſe ſignifying not only God's Averſion from them, and the taking his Affection off them, but his Determination to bring Ruin upon them, and chuſing Methods of Providence tending and conducive thereunto: and ſo it is opened in the following Words, which are rather to be underſtood of the Structure of the City than of the Inhabitants, for that not the People were burnt with fire, though probably many of the People periſhed in ſo great Burnings.

11 ¶ And touching the houſe of the king of Judah t, ſay, Hear ye the word of the LORD u.

t By the houſe of the King of Judah he means the Houſe of Zedekiah, the Court, or thoſe (as appeareth by the next Verſe) who were the Magiſtrates. u Theſe, how great ſoever, are not excuſed from the common Obligation upon all to liſten to, and to obey the Revelations of the Divine Will.

* Chap. 22. 3.
† Heb. Judge.

12 O houſe of David w, thus ſaith the LORD, * † Execute judgment in the morning x, and deliver him that is ſpoiled, out of the hand of the oppreſſor y, leſt my fury go out like fire, and burn that none can quench it z, becauſe of the evil of your doings a.

w He calls theſe the Houſe of David, either checking them, who were indeed ſo in a lineal Deſcent, or minding them what they ought to be in imitation of their Father David. x The only way they had to keep off thoſe Divine Judgments which now hang'd over their Heads, was to execute Judgment, that is, Juſtice, without partiality; the Prophet's Advice to them to execute Judgment in the morning, either lets them know they muſt do it quickly, or elſe it hath reſpect to the time when the Courts of Juſtice ſate. y One Species of Juſtice, was the Deliverance of the oppreſſed from the hands, that is, from the power and malice of the Oppreſſors; which if it were not done, z God threatneth certain Ruin and Deſtruction to them, which none ſhould be able to hinder, or avoid. a The cauſe of which was, their wicked Doings; for that God who doth People good, and ſheweth them favour, not for their ſake, but for his own names ſake, yet never puniſheth them, but for a cauſe found in them.

13 Behold, I am againſt thee, † O inhabitant of of the valley b, and rock of the plain c, ſaith the LORD; which ſay, Who ſhall come down againſt us? or who ſhall enter into our habitations d?

b The Inhabitants of the City of Hieruſalem are thoſe here intended, Pſal. 125. 2. The Mountains were round about Hieruſalem, yea Hieruſalem it ſelf was builded in part upon the rocky Mountain of Zion, but a great part was in the Valley, and the higher Mountains, about Mount Zion, made that Mountain it ſelf, in compariſon with them, as a Valley. c Though alſo a Rock of the Plain, that is, near to the Plain. Which ſituation of this place, made the Jews think it to be impregnable, and to mock at Dangers, or Threats of Enemies, ſaying, Who ſhall, that is, Who can, or Who will dare to come againſt us? Or, Who will be able to enter into our City? ſaith the Lord, I am againſt you. I will come down againſt you, and I, by ſuch as I ſhall employ, will enter into your Habitations. No natural poſition or ſituation of Places, no artificial Fortifications, are ſufficient againſt an Almighty God.

† Heb. Viſit upon you.
* Prov. 1. 31.

14 But I will † puniſh you e according to the * fruit of your doings, ſaith the LORD f: and I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof g, and it ſhall devour all things round about it h.

e In the Hebrew it is, I will viſit upon you; God's Viſitations are either of Mercy, Pſal. 80. 14. and 106. 4. or of Judgment; therefore the Sence is here rightly given by our Tranſlators, puniſh. f The fruit of Mens Doings is the product of their Actions; God puniſheth the fruit of our Doings. In ſhewing Mercy, he acts from Prerogative; in Puniſhments, he doth but fill Men with their own ways, and give them according to the fruit of their Doings; ſo Verſe 12. g By the Foreſt he either meaneth the Foreſt of Lebanon, or their Houſes made up of Wood cut out of that Foreſt, or their idolatrous Groves. h And this Fire he ſaith ſhould not determine in the Deſtruction only of this City, but in the total Deſtruction of all the Country adjacent to Hieruſalem.

CHAP. XXII.

God ſendeth the Prophet to Court with Promiſes, 1,—4. and Threats againſt the King's houſe and Jeruſalem, 5,—9. The Judgment of Shallum, 10,—12. of Jehoiakim, 13,—19. and of Coniah, 20,—30.

1 THus ſaith the LORD, Go down to the houſe of the king of Judah, and ſpeak there this word a.

a Some by the King of Judah here mentioned, underſtand Jehoahaz, made King upon the death of Joſiah by the People (being the ſecond Son of Joſiah) 2 Kings 23. 30. Others underſtand Jehoiakim whom Pharaoh-Necho made King, carrying his elder Brother Jehoahaz, after a ſhort Reign of three Months, with him into Egypt, 2 Chron. 36. 4.

2 And ſay, Hear the word of the LORD, O king of Judah, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David b, thou, and thy ſervants, and thy people that enter in by theſe gates c; b None is ſo great but he is obliged to hear the Word of the Lord. The Prophets mentioning him under the Notion of him that ſat upon the Throne of David, both minds him of God's Faithfulneſs, who had promiſed that David ſhould not want one to ſit on his Thrones; and his Duty, to walk in the ſteps of him upon whoſe Throne he ſate; and alſo of his Errors, he not walking in David's ſteps, though he ſate upon his Throne. c The Word of the Lord concerned not the King alone, but all his Inſtruments in places of Magiſtracy, and alſo all the People of Jeruſalem and Judea.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD, * Execute ye judgment and righteouſneſs, and deliver the ſpoiled out of the hand of the oppreſſor: and do no wrong, do no violence to the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, nor the widow, neither ſhed innocent blood in this place d.

d That is, Adminiſter Juſtice to all your Subjects. The Stranger, the Fatherleſs, and the Widow, are particularly named, as Perſons who have feweſt Friends, and ſo are moſt expoſed to the Luſts of great Men, who have a Power to oppreſs them. Two things are obſervable; 1. That the Terms upon which God promiſeth Mercy to them, are ſuch as were in their power to perform. 2. They are the due performance of relative Duties, to teach us how much lieth upon Mens juſt performance of the Duties of their Relations, and more particularly, how much God loveth Juſtice and Judgment, without the impartial Execution of which, no Princes, no Magiſtrates, can promiſe themſelves Security from temporal Judgments: which much commendeth the Love of God to humane Society, Injuſtice being the greateſt Enemy to it, and Juſtice the great Foundation and Pillar of it.

4 For if ye do this thing indeed e, * then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this houſe kings ſitting † upon the throne of David, riding in chariots, and on horſes, he, and his ſervants, and his people f.

e If ye will not pretendedly, but really, give to every one their Due, and look that inferiour Magiſtrates acting under you do ſo. f Then, he doth not ſay you ſhall be ſaved: the Promiſe is only of a ſecular, temporal nature, of all Proſperity, and Continuance of the Family of David, with great Honour and Splendour; expreſſed by thoſe Phraſes of riding in Chariots, and on Horſes. Though the Performance of moral Acts of Juſtice and Mercy, which Men may perform without any ſpecial Grace of God, be not enough to intitle them to the Hopes of ſpiritual and eternal good Things; yet they may intitle them to the Hopes of outward Proſperity and Happineſs in this Life, Dan. 4. 27. Which is ſufficient to demonſtrate, That Mens outward Infelicities, and Sufferings under the grievous Judgments of God upon themſelves, is from their ſelves; they might in a great meaſure avoid them, by doing ſuch Acts as are in their power to do.

5 But if ye will not hear theſe words g, I ſwear by my ſelf, ſaith the LORD, that this houſe ſhall become a deſolation h.

g By hearing, the Prophet meaneth hearkning to, and obeying. God accounteth us to hear no more than we practiſe. h If (ſaith the Prophet) you will not execute Judgment, &c. I give you the greateſt Aſſurance imaginable, that this noble Houſe of David ſhall become a Deſolation. The Apoſtle ſaith, that God, becauſe he could ſwear by no greater, ſware by himſelf. The End of an Oath is, the Confirmation of a thing where any doubt of the Truth of it, or any have Strife about it. Sinners finding in themſelves a Difficulty to believe God upon his Word, revealing his Will againſt the Intereſts of their Luſts, the Lord is brought in as ſwearing, not by a greater (that is impoſſible) but by himſelf, that the Houſe of David, or the Houſe of Iſrael, or his own Houſe, the Temple, (though the firſt ſeems moſt probable to be here meant, which ſeemeth to be the Houſe mentioned Verſe 4. through the Gates of which, Kings ſhould enter, riding in Chariots and on Horſes) ſhould be made deſolate.

6 For thus ſaith the LORD unto the kings houſe of Judah, Thou art Gilead unto me i, and the head of Lebanon k: yet ſurely I will make thee a wilderneſs, and cities which are not inhabited l.

i Interpreters are not agreed in what Sence God ſaith, that the Kings Houſe of Judah was unto him as Gilead. k Or the Head of Lebanon. Gilead was a Country fertile for Paſtures; upon which account the Reubenites and Gadites, being Men whoſe Eſtates lay in Cattel, begged it of Moſes for their Portion, Num. 32. 2.

32. 2. and Moſes gave it to the Sons of Manaſſes Verſe 40. It was alſo famous for Spicery, Balm, and Myrrh, Gen. 37. 25. It had in it a famous Mountain. Lebanon alſo was a very pleaſant place, famous for Cedars, and indeed whatſoever could gratifie the Senſes: they both were in the Lot of Gad and Manaſſeh. Some think God compareth the King of Judah's Houſe to theſe places, in regard of the Height and Nobleneſs of the Structure; others, for the Pleaſantneſs and Delightfulneſs of it. Others conſider Gilead as the principal part of the Inheritance of the Ten Tribes, waſted by Tiglath Pilezar, 2 Kings 15. 29. and that God telleth them, by this Compariſon, that he would certainly deſtroy them, and make them as Gilead, which was the Head of Lebanon. Though Jeruſalem were a noble and pleaſant place, yet they might remember ſo was Gilead, which yet for their Sins was waſted, and brought to Ruin. l So alſo Jeruſalem, formerly the Garden of Judea, and Joy of the whole Earth, ſhould be made a Wilderneſs, and the Cities of Judah ſhould not be inhabited

7 And I will prepare deſtroyers againſt thee, every one with his weapons m, and they ſhall cut down thy choice cedars, and caſt them into the fire n.

m They ſhall not only be edged with their own Luſts and Malice, but commiſſionated and influenced by me, and ſhall come ſufficiently prepared for their work. n And they ſhall cut down and burn thy Buildings, which are made of goodly Cedars.

8 And many nations ſhall paſs by this city, and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour, wherefore hath the LORD done thus to this great city o?

o According to God's Threatnings, Deut. 29. 24. 1 Kin. 9. 8. Though the Jews would not underſtand that there was a Cauſe, yet others would underſtand it, and enquire into it.

9 Then they ſhall anſwer, Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the LORD their GOD p, and worſhipped other gods, and ſerved them q.

p Some ſhall anſwer them, or they ſhall anſwer one another. Surely it is becauſe they have broken the divine Law, which the Iſraelites made a Covenant, Exod. 19. 8. Chap. 24. 3, 7. Deut. 5. 27. upon which account their Sinning was an Apoſtacy, and a forſaking their Covenant. q Their Sinning was not of an ordinary nature, but by Idolatry, worſhipping Images and Idols, which indeed were no Gods, but only in the Opinion of thoſe Nations that worſhipped them.

10 ¶ Weep ye not for the dead, neither bemoan him r, but weep ſore for him that goeth away ſ; for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native country t.

r Not for Joſiah your dead Prince, for whom there was a great Mourning, 2 Chron. 35. 25. mentioned Zech. 12. 11. Joſiah is happy, you need not trouble your ſelves for him; but weep for Jehoahaz, who is to go, or is gone into Captivity; Jehoahaz was ſet up upon his Father's Death by the People, 2 Kings 23. 30. 2 Chron. 36. 1. but Verſe 3. put down within three Months, and carried into Egypt, Verſe 4. where he died, 2 Kings 23. 34. t So as he no more returned into Judah. The Participle being in the Preſent Tenſe, inclineth me to think, that this Prophecy was long before that in the former Chapter, ſoon after the Death of Joſiah, upon the Peoples ſetting up of Jehoahaz in his ſtead, or preſently after he was carried away. Some interpret this of the People that were dead, and thoſe that were going into Captivity; but the next Verſe makes it far more probable that it is to be underſtood of Joſiah and Jehoahaz.

11 For thus ſaith the LORD touching Shallum, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah u, who reigned inſtead of Joſiah his father w, which went forth out of this place x, he ſhall not return thither any more.

u Who this Shallum was, is a little doubted: Some think it was Jehoahaz the Son of Joſiah, 1 Chron. 3. 15. called Johanan: there is alſo mentioned one Shallum, but he is there mentioned as the fourth Son of Joſiah. In the Book of Kings we read only of three Sons which Joſiah had, viz. Jehoahaz, Jehoiakim, and Zedekiah. Moſt think that this Shallum was Jehoahaz or Johanan (as he is called 1 Chron. 3. 15.) who was indeed the ſecond Son of Joſiah; for it is plain from 2 Kings 23. 31, 36. that Jehoiakim was two Years older, otherwiſe he could not have been 25 Years old when he began to reign, after Jehoahaz, who began to reign at 23 Years of Age, and reigned but three Months: but 1 Chron. 3. 15. he is called Joſiah's firſt-born, becauſe he was firſt made King; and here he is called Shallum for the ſhortneſs of his Reign, in Deriſion to the Jews, who ſo called him, upon the account of their good hopes of Proſperity under him; and in Alluſion to Shallum the Son of Jabeſh, one of the laſt Kings of the Ten Tribes, mentioned 2 Kings 15. 13. who reigned but a Month; for this, as ſome think, could not be that Shallum mentioned after Zedekiah, as the fourth Son of Joſiah, 1 Chron. 3. 15. for that Shallum, they ſay, never reigned, this, as the Text ſaith, did reign three Months w inſtead of Joſiah his Father; which Phraſe ſeemeth alſo to conclude, that he immediately ſucceeded his Father Joſiah. x He was carried away from Jeruſalem preſently after he was ſet up, 2 Kings 23. 31, 32. impriſoned at Riblah, and Verſe 34, died in Egypt.

12 But he ſhall die in the place whither they have led him captive, and ſhall ſee this land no more y.

y So as he returned no more to ſee his native Country, as is here ſaid. But others think this Shallum was Joſiah's fourth Son, that Johanan died before his Father, and the People made Shallum his youngeſt Son King, calling him Jehoahaz, ſo as he reigned immediately after Joſiah.

* Micah 3. 10. Hab. 2. 9.

13 ¶ Wo unto him that * buildeth his houſe by unrighteouſneſs, and his chambers by wrong; z that uſeth his neighbours ſervice without wages, and giveth him not for his work a.

z We have not here any certain Guidance, to let us know whether the Prophet intended Jehoahaz or Jehoiakim; both of them did evil in the ſight of the Lord, as we read in their Story. The Sin here reflected upon is manifeſtly Injuſtice and Oppreſſion, but poſſibly in the former part of the Verſe, all unjuſt and oppreſſive Acts, by which either of theſe Princes endeavoured to promote their Grandeur, may be underſtood: for we need not take building his houſe in a ſtrict literal Sence, but ſignifying the promotion of his Family, or eſtabliſhing his State and Dignity. a In the latter part, a ſpecial Oppreſſion, withholding Workmens Wages, is the Sin upon which the Woe is denounced, a Sin contrary to the Law, Lev. 19. 13. Deut. 24. 14, 15. and againſt which the Judgment of God is alſo denounced under the New Teſtament, James 5. 4. An evident Demonſtration of God's Love to Mankind, ſecuring by his Law juſt Dealings between Man and Man, and revenging Acts of Injuſtice, and particularly where Men take Advantage of their Greatneſs above, and Superiority over others, to trample them under their feet, and to withhold their juſt Rights from them: Though ſuch Perſons may be out of the reach of humane Juſtice, yet God hath denounced a Woe againſt them.

14 That ſaith, I will build me a wide houſe, and † large chambers, and cutteth him out || windows, and it is cieled with cedar, and painted with vermilion b.

b That is Woe to that Man, who ſuffering Oppreſſion in his Government, or making it his Buſineſs himſelf to oppreſs, yet buildeth himſelf great Houſes and large Chambers, cieling them with Cedar, promiſing himſelf Proſperity and Splendour notwithſtanding his wicked Courſes; for otherwiſe, it is lawful enough for Princes to build themſelves ſtately Houſes, &c. Yet ſome think that Jehoiakim's Pride, and Luxury, and Magnificence, is here blamed, which alſo may be, conſidering what Fate he was under for Judah was reprieved only during Joſiah's Life, 2 Chron. 34. 24, 25, 26, 27, 28. And this Prince had ſeen Shallum or Jehoahaz his Brother carried into Captivity, and he ſtill walked in the ſame wicked Courſes his Brother had done, yet in contempt of the Word of the Lord by Huldah in his Father's time, he promiſeth himſelf all Proſperity and Splendour, and accordingly was building himſelf ſtately Houſes, and adorning them, for this the Woe is here denounced.

15 Shalt thou reign becauſe thou cloſeſt thy ſelf in Cedar c? did not thy father eat and drink, and do judgment and juſtice, and then it was well with him d?

c Art thou ſo vain, as to think that brave Houſes will continue thy Kingdom? Thou art miſtaken; magnificent Buildings are not thoſe things which eſtabliſh a Prince's Throne. d How was it with thy Father? He lived proſperouſly, yet had no ſuch ſtately Edifices; his Throne was eſtabliſhed by Juſtice and Judgment; that were the right way for thee to ſit ſure upon thy Throne.

16 He judged the cauſe of the poor and needy e, then it was well with him: was not this to know me, ſaith the LORD f?

e By himſelf in perſon; for the Kings of Iſrael and Judah often ſate perſonally to judge Cauſes; or by ſetting ſuch Judges as did it, adminiſtring Juſtice impartially, particularly to ſuch as in reſpect of their low Condition, were moſt expoſed to the Power of others: and doing thus he proſpered. f This was for him truly to own and acknowledge me. They only truly know God who obey him; and Men vainly pretend to Piety who are notoriouſly defective in Duties of Juſtice and Charity.

17 But thine eyes and thy heart are not but for thy covetouſneſs g, and for to ſhed innocent blood, and for oppreſſion, and for || violence to do it h.

g All that thou lookeſt after, and that thy Heart is ſet upon, is thy own Grandeur and Riches. h And to make thy ſelf great, thou makeſt no Difficulty to deſtroy thy Subjects that are innocent, and have not deſerved Death, and to oppreſs others, uſing all manner of Violence againſt them. It is not to be thought that Jehoiakim did all this in perſon, but by ſuch corrupt and unjuſt Judges as he ſet up; ſo God accounted that Ahab had killed and taken poſſeſſion, 1 Kings 21. 19. Though the Elders and Nobles were thoſe that did it, Verſe 11, 12, 13. Princes are reſponſible to God for the ſins of their Miniſters and Judges.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah i: They ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah my brother, or ah my ſiſter: they ſhall not lament for him, ſaying, Ah Lord! or, ah his glory k.

i A very bad ſon of a good Father, whoſe Name was Eliakim, by Pharaoh Necho turned to Jehoiakim, 2 Kings 23. 34. and by him ſet up. He reigned wickedly, and infinitely oppreſſed the People for Money for Pharaoh Necho that made him King, Verſe 35. He reigned but eleven Years; but rebelling againſt Nebuchadnezzar King of Babylon, as we read, 2 Kings 24. 1, 2. he was carried by him into Babylon in fetters, 2 Chron. 36. 6. where, for ought we read, he died. Jehojakin, or Jeconiah, his Son, ſucceeded him, Verſe 9. reigning only three Months, and ten Days. k He died not lamented; for, as it is not probable his Enemies would lament him, ſo he had diſobliged his own People by Violence and Oppreſſion to that degree, that it is not likely that thoſe of them that were in Babylon made any great Lamentation for him.

19 * He ſhall be buried with the burial of an aſs l, drawn and caſt forth beyond the gates of Jeruſalem m.

* Chap. 36. 30.

l That is, he ſhall not be buried at all, or he ſhall be buried in an indecent and contemptible manner, none attending him to his Grave, none mourning for him. m The laſt Words of this Verſe incline ſome to think that Jehoiakim was buried near to Jeruſalem; but the Scripture, which mentioneth his being carried into Babylon, ſaith nothing of his being brought back; nor is that very probable which ſome ſay, that the King of Babylon thought to have carried him to Babylon, but upon ſecond Thoughts altered his Purpoſes, and cauſed him to be ſlain at Jeruſalem, and his Body to be ignominiouſly dragged out of the Gates. The Scripture ſaith expreſly, he was carried to Babylon, 2 Kings 24. 15. and if he died there, yet this Text remaineth true, the ſcope of which ſeemeth to be, to ſhew the Vanity of this Prince in his great and ſtately Buildings, which he was not like long to enjoy, nor to be buried nigh to them, nor in any degree of Honour proportionate to the ſplendour of them.

20 Go up to Lebanon n, and cry, and lift up thy voice in Baſhan o, and cry from the paſſages p: for all thy lovers are deſtroyed q.

n The Hebrew Verb being feminine, lets us know, that Jeruſalem was the Place to which this Speech is directed: to the Inhabitants of which the Prophet here calleth to go up to Lebanon. o And to Baſhan. Both Lebanon and Baſhan were Hills or Places that looked towards Aſſyria, from whence the Jews looked for help, and had it ſometimes, as 2 Kings 16. 7. he calls to them ironically to go up to the mountainous parts of them; where ſtanding and crying, they might be ſooneſt and beſt heard. p What we Tranſlate from the paſſages, others Tranſlate from the borders, or from the ſides. Others from Abarim, which is the Name of a Mountain, as well as Lebanon and Baſhan. Vide Numb. 27. 12. and 33. 47. which ſeemeth to me the beſt Interpretation: The Meaning is, Go and cry for Help from all Places, but it will be in vain; for q the Egyptians and Aſſyrians to whom thou wert wont heretofore to fly, chuſing rather to truſt to them than in me, are themſelves in the Power or Danger of the Chaldæans, who ſhall alſo deſtroy them.

* Chap. 7. 23, &c.

21 I ſpake to thee in thy † proſperity r, but thou ſaidſt I will not hear ſ: * this hath been thy manner from thy youth, that thou obeyedſt not my voice t.

r I, by my Prophets, ſpake to thee while all things went well with thee, ſo as thou haſt not ſinned ignorantly or without warning, I have not ſurprized thee with my Judgments, but thou refuſedſt to hearken, and obey my Admonitions and Precepts. t From the time that I brought thee out of the Land of Egypt, thou haſt been thus a rebellious People.

22 The wind ſhall eat up all thy paſtures, u and thy lovers ſhall go into captivity w, ſurely then ſhalt thou be aſhamed, and confounded for all thy wickedneſs x.

u Either a vain Hope and Preſumption ſhall deſtroy thy Rulers and Governours, who flatter thee with Promiſes of Proſperity, or a Judgment ſhall ſeize them, that ſhall be like a violent Wind, which preſently ſcattereth the Clouds and the Smoak; or they ſhall be blaſted by my Judgments, as Plants are blaſted and eaten up by Winds. w And thoſe that have been thy Friends and Allies, Syria and Egypt, in whom thou haſt truſted, ſhall themſelves be made Captive. x Surely when thou ſeeſt this, thou wilt be convinced, and aſhamed of thy wicked Courſes.

23 O † inhabitant of Lebanon y that makeſt thy neſt in the cedars z, how gracious ſhalt thou be a when pangs come upon thee, the pain as of a woman in travail b.

y Hieruſalem, which is called an Inhabitant of Lebanon, either becauſe their Houſes were built of Wood cut down out of the Foreſt of Lebanon, or becauſe they lived in as great Plenty and Delight as if they lived in Lebanon; or, becauſe they thought the Mountain of Lebanon was a certain Refuge to them. z They are ſaid to make their Neſt in the Cedars; either becauſe their Houſes were built of the Cedars of Lebanon, or becauſe of the Security they promiſed themſelves from that Foreſt and Mountain, ſo full of and famous for Cedars. a What Favour wilt thou find b when my Judgments ſhall come upon thee as ſuddenly and as ſmartly as the pains of a Woman in Travail come upon her: a Similitude often made uſe of by this Prophet, to expreſs the Suddenneſs, Unavoidableneſs, and Greatneſs of Judgments, Chap. 4. 31. and 6. 24. and 13. 21. and 30. 6. and 49. 24. and 50. 43. and ſo in other Scriptures, Pſal. 48. 6. Micah 4. 9. 1 Theſſ. 5. 3.

24 As I live ſaith the LORD, though Coniah the ſon of Jehoiakim King of Judah c were the ſignet upon my right hand d, yet would I pluck thee thence.

c By Coniah he meaneth Jehoiakin, 2 Kings 24. 8. whoſe name was Jeconiah, 1 Chron. 3. 16. (for all Joſiah's Sons had two Names, and ſo had his Grandchild Jeconiah) here in contempt called Coniah. d He ſaith, that though this Coniah were as dear to him as his Signet, which every Man keepeth ſafe, yet this ſhould not ſecure him from divine Vengeance.

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that ſeek thy life e, of them whoſe face thou feareſt, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans.

e That is, into the power of the Chaldæans and Babylonian, whom they were afraid of, and juſtly, for they thirſted after their Blood and Ruin.

26 And I will caſt thee out, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country where ye were not born, and there ye ſhall die f.

f Jeconiah's Mother was Nehuſhtan, the Daughter of Elnathan of Hieruſalem, 2 Kings 24. 8. Verſe 12. the fulfilling of this Prophecy is recorded; and it is ſaid, that Jehoiachim the King of Judah went out to the King of Babylon, he and his Mother, and his Servants, &c. ſo Verſe 15. together with eight thouſand Priſoners of the meaner ſort, beſides Princes and Nobles.

† Heb. lift up their mind.

27 But to the land whereunto they † deſire to return, thither they ſhall not return g.

g That is, they ſhall never come again to Jeruſalem, though they be fond of it as their Native Country, and may promiſe themſelves ſuch Favours from the King of Babylon, yet there ſhall no ſuch thing be their portion.

28 Is this man Coniah a deſpiſed broken idol h? is he a veſſel wherein is no pleaſure i? wherefore are they caſt out, he and his ſeed k? and are caſt into a land which they know not?

h The Prophet either ſpeaketh this in the perſon of God, or of the People, who are here brought in, affirming that this Prince who was the Idol of the People, was now through the juſt Judgment of God become like a broken Idol. i Or like a Veſſel which Men care not for, being either ſo crack'd, or ſo tainted, that they can make no uſe of it, and admiring at this Cataſtrophe, and enquiring the Cauſe why it ſo came to paſs. k He, and his ſeed. It is ſaid Ver. 30. that no Man of his Seed ſhould proſper ſitting upon the Throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah; nor is there any mention made of any of his Children where his carrying into Captivity is recorded, 2 Kings 24. 12. which makes ſome think, that by his Seed here is meant the Poſterity of his Grandfather Joſiah; but others think, that he had Children, either before he went into Captivity, or born while he was in Babylon: And Matth. 1. 12. it is ſaid, that after they were brought to Babylon, Jeconiah begat Selathiel.

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the LORD l.

l By Earth he either means the Land of Judah, to which he calls thrice, to ſignifie the Deafneſs of this People, and unwillingneſs to hear, and believe what God ſpake by him; or elſe he calls to the whole Earth, as he calls Heaven and Earth to witneſs, Deuteronomy 30. 19. and 32. 1. Iſaiah 1. 2. and 34. 1. Jer. 6. 19.

30 Thus ſaith the LORD, Write ye this man childleſs m, a man that ſhall not proſper in his days: for no man of his ſeed ſhall proſper, ſitting upon the throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah.

m The Word tranſlated Childleſs is but thrice read in Holy Writ, and by various Interpreters tranſlated barren, not encreaſing, empty, full of ſorrow, wanting Children, &c. It is thought to be interpreted, by the next Words, No Man of his ſeed ſhall proſper ſitting upon the Throne of David, and ruling any more in Judah; for there are ſeven of his Sons named 1 Chron. 3. 17. So that he is ſaid to be Childleſs, either becauſe all his Children died before their Father; or (which is moſt probable) becauſe he had no Child that ſate upon the Throne, or ever had any Rulers place in Judah, but only ſome that lived in a mean condition in Captivity, amongſt whom Salathiel is named, Matth. 1. 12. as a Progenitor of Chriſt.

CHAP. XXIII.

Wo againſt wicked Paſtors, the ſcattered Flock ſhall be gathered, Chriſt ſhall rule and ſave them, 1,—8. Againſt falſe Prophets, 9,—32. and mockers of the true, 33,—40

* Chap. 10. 21.

1 * WO be unto the paſtors that deſtroy and ſcatter the ſheep of my paſture, ſaith the LORD a.

a There is the like Wo againſt the Paſtors denounced, Ezek. 34. 2. Interpreters judge, that by the Paſtors are to be underſtood the Civil Magiſtrates, for Verſe 9. he denounceth the Judgments of God againſt their Eccleſiaſtical Officers: The Civil Magiſtrates at this time in Judah were great Tyrants; and whereas God had committed his People (whom he calls the Sheep of his Paſture) to them in truſt, that they ſhould protect and govern them, and that they might live under them godly and peaceable Lives, in all Proſperity, they had acted quite contrary to their Truſt, and worried the People like Wolves, inſtead of feeding them like Shepherds. God took notice of their Oppreſſions, and by the Prophet denounceth this Woe againſt them, to verifie that of Solomon, Eccleſ. 5. 8.

2 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael againſt the paſtors that feed my people b, Ye have ſcattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not viſited them c; Behold, I will viſit upon you the evil of your doings, ſaith the LORD d.

b God calleth them his People, his Flock, the Sheep of his Paſture, with reſpect to the ancient Covenant which God had made with their Fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob. They are ſaid to have fed this People, becauſe it was their Duty, and the Buſineſs of their Office, ſo to have done, though they had failed in it. c And had done the quite contrary, ſcattering them by their Acts of Violence and Oppreſſion, and driving them from their places to ſeek ſome more ſafe and quiet places of abode; or by their prodigious Wickedneſſes, having been the cauſe of their being carried into Captivity, not viſiting them, that is, taking any due care of their Good and Welfare, ſeeing what they wanted, and ſupplying them, as good Rulers ought to have done. d For which Neglect God threatneth to viſit upon them the Evil of their Doings. The Hebrew Word ſignifieth to viſit with a Viſitation of Care and Love, and alſo with a Viſitation of Juſtice and Severity, and is often ſo uſed in Holy Writ.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all countries whither I have driven them e, and will bring them again to their folds f, and they ſhall be fruitful, and increaſe g.

e God puts a difference betwixt thoſe that were miſled by the examples of others, and the Rulers who ſet them ſuch an ill example; he threatned Jehoiakim and Jehojakin or Jeconiah, that they ſhould return no more, but for the people, he here promiſeth them a return, at leaſt a remnant of them, when he ſhould have puniſhed the Goats as he ſpeaketh, Zech. 10. 3. f By their Folds, he meaneth Jeruſalem, and other Cities the Towns of Judah which they had formerly inhabited. g Where they ſhould once more be in proſperity. He ſpeaks here concerning the return of this people out of the Captivity of Babylon, tho there be ſome that think this Text is primarily to be underſtood, of the gathering together in one, the people of God ſcattered abroad, in and by Chriſt according to the Prophecy of Caiaphas, John 11. 52.

4 And I will ſet up * ſhepherds over them which ſhall feed them h, and they ſhall fear no more, nor be diſmayed i, neither ſhall they be lacking ſaith the LORD k. * Chap. 3. 15. Ezek. 34. 11, &c.

h Some think this Prophecy was fulfilled in Nehemiah and Zorobabel, who were pious and good Governours, and conſulted in their Government the good of the people committed to their truſt, Neh. 2. 10. and 5. 14. Others rather underſtand it of Chriſtian Princes and Governours under the Goſpel. i Under whom they ſhall live peaceably and ſecurely. k And none of them ſhall periſh. The two laſt paſſages of this Verſe incline Interpreters to think, that this promiſe doth not ſo much refer to their coming out of Babylon, as to their ſpiritual deliverance by Chriſt, for after their return out of Babylon they were not ſecure long, but feared Sanballat and Tobiah, the Græcians and Romans and other Enemies; beſides that the laſt words exactly agree with, John 10. 28. when Chriſt ſaith his Sheep ſhould not periſh, and it appears Verſe 6. that the Prophet is ſpeaking of a time, when not Judah only, but Iſrael alſo ſhould be ſaved, and the next Verſe doth manifeſtly refer unto Chriſt.

5 ¶ Behold, * the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will raiſe unto David, a righteous branch l, and a king ſhall reign, and proſper, and ſhall execute juſtice, and judgment in the earth m. * Iſa. 11. 1. & 40. 11. Chap. 33. 14, 15. Dan. 9. 24. Joh. 1. 45.

l Though ſome Interpreters think that Zorobabel may be here intended, who was deſcended from David, and ruled the people when they came out of Babylon, yet, even the Jewiſh Doctors themſelves, as well as the Chriſtian Interpreters, underſtand this as a Prophecy, and promiſe of the Meſſiah; the Prophecies and Promiſes of whom are uſually uſhered in with this Particle Behold, to ſtir up Peoples attention, and who alſo was the Son of David, and who is called the branch, Iſa. 4. 2. and 53. 2. Zech. 3. 8. Iſa. 11. 1. where the reaſon is alſo given, he being there called a rod out of the ſtem of Jeſſe, a branch out of his root, beſides that the application to him of the Name King, ordinarily applyed to Chriſt, never given to Zorobabel, and the term Righteous make it evident. Chap. 33. 15. he is called a branch of Righteouſneſs, which is the ſame with the Righteous Branch, here mentioned. He is called the Righteous Branch, not only becauſe himſelf was Righteous, therefore called the Righteous One, Acts 3. 14. & 13. 35. but becauſe he maketh his people Righteous, Iſa. 53. 11. and 60. 21. m Jeſus Chriſt anſwering the Type of Melchiſedeck the King of Salem, and who is the King of Kings, 1 Tim. 6. 15. ſhall reign ſpiritually and ſhall not be like Jeconiah of whom God ſaid he ſhould not proſper, but he ſhall proſper and ſhall execute Juſtice and Judgment, protecting the innocent, and defending his people throughout the World, judging the Prince of the World, and by his Spirit governing his People. So as the Prophet relieveth the People of God under their Oppreſſions, by theſe latter Kings of Judah, with the promiſe of the Kingdom of Chriſt, an uſual argument made uſe of by the Prophets to comfort the people of God in thoſe days againſt any evils come, or coming upon them.

6 In his days Judah ſhall be * ſaved, and Iſrael ſhall dwell ſafely u: and * this is his name whereby he ſhall be called † THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS w. * Deut 33. 28. * Chap. 33. 16. † Heb. Jehovah-tſidkenu.

u During the Reign and Kingdom of the Meſſias (whoſe Kingdom is an everlaſting Kingdom) the people of God typified by Judah and Iſrael, the true Iſrael of God, thoſe that are Jews indeed, ſhall be ſaved with a ſpiritual Salvation, for he was therefore called Jeſus becauſe he was to ſave his people from their ſins, Matth. 1. 21. and God will be a ſpecial protection to them. w The Name wherewith this branch ſhall be called, ſhall be, The Lord our Righteouſneſs. Some have applied this to the people, as if the people ſhould be ſo called, or ſhould ſay the Lord hath dealt graciouſly with us, or in the Lord we have Righteouſneſs. But this will appear but the new invention of ſome who either cannot, or will not underſtand, how Chriſt ſhould be his peoples Righteouſneſs, thoſe who conſider not, that it is the branch which was before ſpoken of, and that the word people is not to be found going before, there is indeed a mention of Judah and Iſrael, but ſurely they were not to be other Mens Righteouſneſs, and if that had been the Prophet's meaning, he would not have ſaid the Lord Our, but the Lord Their Righteouſneſs. Nor is this the only place where Chriſt is called Our Righteouſneſs, 1 Cor. 1. 30. This place is an eminent proof of the Godhead of Chriſt, he is here called Jehovah, and what is proper to God alone, viz. to juſtifie is here applied to Chriſt. The Prophet, ſaith Chriſt, ſhall be ſo called, that is, by his people, who ſhould believe in him and truſt in him alone for that Righteouſneſs, wherein they ſhould at the laſt day ſtand before God, thus he was to bring in Everlaſting Righteouſneſs, Dan. 9. 24. He who knew no ſin, was made ſin (that is, a Sacrifice for ſin) for us, that we might be made, the Righteouſneſs of God in him.

7 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that they ſhall no more ſay, The LORD liveth, which brought up the children of Iſrael out of Egypt.

8 But the LORD liveth, which brought up, and which led the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael out of the north-country, and from all countreys whether I had driven them, and they ſhall dwell in their own land x.

x See the Notes on Chap. 16. 14, 15. Where much the ſame words are to be found. The Prophet aggravateth the greatneſs of that Salvation, which ſhould be brought by Chriſt to all the true Iſrael of God, by comparing it with the deliverance of the ancient Iſrael of God out of the Land of Egypt; which he ſaith it ſhould ſo far tranſcend and excel, that the Deliverance out of Egypt ſhould not be named, when this Salvation ſhould appear, which ſhould be after their return from Babylon, and when God ſhould gather them from all Countries, which was fulfilled, when by the preaching of the Goſpel, not the Gentiles only were converted, but many of the Jews alſo which were ſcattered abroad, James 1. 1. 1 Pet. 1. 1. Poſſibly part of this promiſe or prophecy remains yet to be accompliſhed, for the Jews are not yet come to dwell in their own Land, unleſs that term be to be expounded of Chriſtians, who during the times of Perſecution in the primitive Church, were ſcattered abroad, but upon the ceaſing of thoſe Perſecutions, when Chriſtian Emperours came to have the Government, returned to their own Countries, where they enjoyed a more ſtill and quiet Habitation.

9 ¶ Mine heart within me is broken, becauſe of the prophets, all my bones ſhake y: I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome; becauſe of the LORD z, and becauſe of the words of his holineſs a.

y The Prophet having denounced the Wrath of God againſt the wicked Rulers of Judah under the Notion of Paſtors, cometh here to diſcharge the like truſt with reference to thoſe orders of perſons amongſt the Jews, whoſe Office it was, or at leaſt who took upon them to reveal the Mind and Will of God to people, and who were upon that account called Prophets, for theſe he declares a great paſſion and trouble; either for their ſake in proſpect of that Vengeance of God which he ſaw was like to be poured out upon them, or for the peoples ſake who had been deceived by their unfaithful Revelations of the Divine Will, and led into wickedneſs by their vile Examples. For this he ſaith his heart was broken, his bones ſhaked. z And he was even aſtoniſhed and ſtupified, and like a drunken Man he knew not what he did; he was ſo ſtricken at the apprehenſions of the Wrath of the Lord ready to be revealed againſt them. a And to conſider what words the holy God had put into his Mouth, to ſpeak againſt them.

10 For * the land is full of Adulterers b, for becauſe of ‖ ſwearing the land mourneth c *: the pleaſant places of the wilderneſs are dried up d, and their ‖ courſe is evil, and their force is not right e. * Chap. 5. 7, 8. & 9. 2. ‖ Or, curſing. * Chap. 9. 10 & 12. 4 ‖ Or, violence.

b Under that term Adulterers, all Species of uncleanneſs are comprehended. c By falſe ſwearing, or by idle and profane ſwearing, the Land is brought to ruine. The word ſignifies alſo a Curſe or curſing. Many good Interpreters judge, that the more genuine ſence and true Tranſlation of this Text were, for becauſe of the Curſe (that is, the Curſe of God) the Land is brought to that Miſery which is coming upon it. d The Paſtures of the Wilderneſs or of the Plain, for ſo the word is rendred, Iſa. 63. 13. Lam. 4. 19. The Wrath of God was extended to all places whether more or leſs inhabited. e The Prophets did not only err in ſingle Acts, but the whole courſe of their actions was naught, and particularly their Power, Rule and Government was not right. If any ſay what were the Prophets concerned in the Peoples wickedneſs? Anſw. They were profane as well as the people, as we ſhall find, Ver. 11. but beſides this, the people were thus vile through their connivance, they did not warn the people of their ſins, but ſoothed them up in their wicked courſes, and ſo were the cauſe of the peoples wickedneſs, who had not been ſo vile but for them.

11 For both * prophet f and prieſt are profane g, yea, * in my houſe have I found their wickedneſs h, ſaith the LORD. * Chap. 6. 13. & 8. 10. Zeph. 3. 4. * Chap. 11. 15. Ezek. 8. 11. & 23. 39.

f Thoſe, whoſe Work was to reveal the Mind of God to the people, and who pretended to that Office. g And thoſe that were employed in offering Sacrifices, and other works which belonged to the Prieſtly Office, according to the Law. The whole Eccleſiaſtical Order, all their Miniſtry were profane, not meerly hypocritical, but lewd, immoral and debauched. h Yea, they were grown to that impudence that they made the Temple, which was the Lord's Houſe, a Den of Thieves; a place where they committed wickedneſs. Thus it was in the time of Ely, 1 Sam. 2. 22. and more generally afterward, 2 Chron. 36. 14. See Chap. 7. 10, 11. and Ver. 14. of this Chapter. There is no more certain ſign of a ruining Nation, than when God ſuffereth in it a lewd and corrupt Miniſtry.

12 Wherefore * their way ſhall be unto them, as ſlippery ways in the darkneſs: they ſhall be driven on and fall therein i: for I will bring evil upon them, even the year of their viſitation, ſaith the LORD p. * Pſal. 35. 6. Chap. 13. 16.

i As their ordinary courſe is wicked and ſinful, ſo they ſhall find that it will in the event be to them pernicious, perillous and full of danger, as a ſlippery path is to them that walk in a dark Night, they ſhall be driven on till they fall therein. Courſes of Sin may look ſmooth, but they always prove ſlippery. p For I am reſolved to puniſh their wicked courſes; and to viſit them with my Judgments.

13 And I have ſeen || † folly in the prophets of Samaria q; they propheſied in Baal, and cauſed my people Iſrael to err r.

q There was a time, when I ſaw folly in the Prophets that belonged to the Ten Tribes, whoſe chief City was Samaria. The word tranſlated folly ſignifies unſavory, or an abſurd thing. Our Saviour compareth wicked Miniſters to unſavory Salt, Matth. 5. 13. Salt that is turned fooliſh (as the Greek word ſignifies.) The Miniſters of God's word are, or ought to be, the Salt of the Earth, to ſeaſon People with ſound Doctrine, and by the good Example of an Holy Life; if they be corrupt in Doctrine, or Manners, they become unſavoury, and the very worſt of Men. Such God ſays the Prophets of the Ten Tribes were, before they were carried away Captive. r They propheſied, pretending they had their Inſtructions and Revelations from Baal, and ſo cauſed the Ten Tribes to err, which after the diviſion of the Kingdom in Jeroboam's time were called Iſrael in contra-diſtinction to the two Tribes and half cleaving to the Houſe of David, which were called Judah after the Name of their principal Tribe.

* Chap. 29. 23.
* Deut. 32. 32.

14 I have ſeen alſo in the prophets of Jeruſalem || an horrible thing ſ: * they commit adultery t, and walk in lyes u: they ſtrengthen alſo the hands of evil doers, that none doth return from his wickedneſs w, they are all of them unto me * as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrha x.

ſ The word ſignifies filthineſs, ſtench, or an abominable thing, things every whit as bad, in ſome kind worſe than what I ſaw in the Prophets of the Ten Tribes. t They commit not Spiritual Adultery only, but Carnal Adultery, they are Whoremongers. u And they make it their buſineſs to inſtill falſhoods into people, and entitle me to them, and this is their Trade; not a ſingle act, but their ordinary practice. w This is the great aggravation of the ſin of thoſe that occupy the place of Spiritual Guides, that they encourage profane Men, either by their falſe Doctrine, extenuating ſin, and putting a fair gloſs upon them; or at leaſt by their mealy Mouths fearing or forbearing to tell Sinners of their wicked Courſes; or by their wicked Examples, the moſt of people thinking they may do what their Teachers do, by which means Sinners, inſtead of being brought to a ſenſe of their ſins and a repentance for them, are hardened in their wicked Courſes. x By this means all of them, either of their Prophets and Prieſts, or all of the People, (the firſt ſeemeth chiefly here intended) are become to me as contemptible, and abominable as the people of Sodom and Gomorrha, though they were the Sons of Aaron, and of the Prieſtly Order, yet living lewd lives, and acting quite contrary to the end of their Holy Calling, God declares himſelf to value them no more than as the vileſt of Men, ſuch were the Sodomites. Or by thoſe words God threatens that he would deſtroy them with as notorious a deſtruction, as he deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrha. Thus the compariſon is uſed, Iſa. 1. 9. and conſonant to this are the words in the next Verſe.

|| Or, Hypocriſie.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts concerning the prophets y, Behold, I will feed them * with wormwood z, and make them drink the water of gall: for from the prophets of Jeruſalem is || profaneneſs gone forth into all the land a.

y Under the term Prophets, he comprehendeth all the Eccleſiaſtical Guides of Jeruſalem at this time, whether Prieſts or Prophets. z He threatens to feed them with wormwood, ſome think the word is better tranſlated Poyſon; by Wormwood, or poyſon, and the water of Gall, he threatens great and fatal Judgments that he would bring upon them. a And he giveth the reaſon why God would deal ſo ſeverely with that Order of Men, who ſeemed by their Office and Imployment to have the neareſt Relation to himſelf, becauſe they were the Fountain of wickedneſs, thoſe from whom wickedneſs flowed out over the whole Land. This was either by their conniving at wicked Mens ſins, for fear of diſpleaſing them; or by teaching them Licentious Doctrine, that gave a liberty to the Fleſh; or by their vile Lives ſetting the people patterns of ſin. And indeed thus it is generally, when Miniſters, and ſuch as are to teach others, are wicked, either in their Doctrine or Practice, they are a fountain of Wickedneſs; Wickedneſs floweth from them to the whole City, Town, Pariſh where they are imployed: And on the contrary it is obſerved, that where God gives a place a good Miniſtry, Goodneſs in one degree or other floweth from them to the whole City, Town or Pariſh. Though all are not Converted, yet the generality are civilized and reſtrained from thoſe groſs and brutiſh Immoralities which other places abound with. Ill Miniſters muſt look for the ſevereſt indignation of God. Others ſin, and ſhall die in their ſins; but they teach others to break God's Commandments, and have the ſins of many to anſwer for, who periſh either by their Flatteries, or looſe Doctrine, or looſer Lives and Examples.

* Chap. 14. 14.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Hearken not unto the words of the prophets, that propheſie unto you b, they make you vain c, * they ſpeak a viſion of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the LORD d.

b People are under no Religious Obligation to hear any thing but the revealed Will of God, and are not to obey thoſe that call to them for what that doth not call to them. c Nor to liſten to them, the Scope of whoſe teaching is but to make them vain, ſinfully vain; or to deceive their Souls, no Man is under an Obligation to deceive himſelf. d They pretend to Viſions, that God hath revealed his Mind to them, in the ſame way as he uſeth to reveal himſelf to true Prophets; but there is no ſuch thing; it is but a fiction of their own; our Lord, Mat. 7. 15. gives us the ſame way to know falſe Prophets, Ver. 20. By their fruits you ſhall know them. Let their external Miſſion be what, and which way it will, if what they teach agree not with the revealed Will of God, they are falſe Prophets. Many of theſe Prieſts were regularly enough deſcended, and the Prophets regularly enough educated and conſtituted, yet by this ſhewed themſelves falſe Prophets, that what they publiſhed was not from God, nor agreed with his revealed Will; therefore the people were under no Religious Obligation to hearken to them.

* Chap. 6. 14 & 8. 11. Ezek. 13. 10. Zech. 10. 2.

17 They ſay ſtill unto them that deſpiſe me, The LORD hath ſaid, * Ye ſhall have peace e; and they ſay unto every one that walketh after the || imagination of his own heart f, No evil ſhall come upon you.

e Lewd and corrupt Miniſters, are an hatred and abomination in the houſe of the Lord, to all ſerious good People, and are therefore obliged to make themſelves a Party of thoſe that are like themſelves, whoſe favour they cannot have without indulging them in their Luſts. Hence they propheſie Peace to the vileſt and worſt of Men, who have no patience of being daily alarm'd with hearing of the Wrath of God due, and like to come upon them for their ſins. f Hence they promiſe evil to thoſe that walk according to the Counſels of their own heart, that is ſinfully, for Gen. 6. 5. Every imagination of the thoughts of mans heart, is only evil, and that continually: Hence a ſinful courſe is very often expreſſed in Scripture, under this Notion of walking after the Imaginations of our own heart; as Deut. 29. 19. but it is moſt in prophecy; Vid. Chap. 3. 17. and 7. 24. and 9. 14. and 13. 10. and 16. 12. and 18. 12. Hence a Religious walking is called a Self-denying. None have a worſe guide of their actions in their lapſed ſtate, before Regeneration, than their own hearts.

* Job 15. 8.

18 For * who hath ſtood in the || counſel of the LORD, and hath perceived and heard his word? who hath marked his word, and heard it g?

g Who beſides us hath known the counſel of the Lord? Arrogating to themſelves a fellowſhip, and acquaintance with the Mind and Will of God. Or (which I ſhould rather judge the ſence) which of thoſe Prophets, that propheſie ſuch terrible things againſt this City is a Privy-Counſellor to God? The words ſeem rather to be the words of the falſe Prophets, either arrogating to themſelves a peculiar acquaintance with God and Fellowſhip with him, from whence they knew his Mind, or mocking at Jeremy, and other true Prophets, as arrogating to themſelves ſuch a knowledge of the Mind and Counſels of God, as indeed they had not, then (as ſome think) the words of Jeremiah denying them to have ſtood in God's Counſels, or to have known his Mind and Will. This in all Ages hath been the practice of corrupt Prophets and Miniſters to charge thoſe Servants of God, who have faithfully publiſhed the Will of God againſt Sinners, as making too bold with God's ſecret Counſels, though they publiſh nothing but God's revealed Will.

* Chap. 25. 32.

19 Behold, * a whirlwind of the LORD is gone forth in fury h, even a grievous whirlwind, it ſhall fall grievouſly upon the head of the wicked i.

h A ſevere Judgment of God, that ſhould reſemble a Whirlwind, for the ſudden and utter deſtruction, that it ſhall bring. See Chap. 30. 23, 24. The ſame word is elſewhere tranſlated a ſtorm, Pſal. 83. 15. Amos 1. 14. Jonah 1. 4. It is called a whirlwind of the Lord; either to denote the greatneſs of it, as Pſal. 36. 6. or to let us know that the Judgment came forth from God and was of his ſending. i And whatever theſe flattering Teachers ſaid, it ſhould fall upon wicked Men, ſo as they ſhould have no peace, but evil ſhould moſt certainly come upon them.

* Chap. 30. 24.

20 The * Anger of the LORD ſhall not return, until he have executed, and till he have performed the thoughts of his heart k: in the latter days ye ſhall conſider it perfectly l.

k It is therefore called a continuing whirlwind, Chap. 30. 23. The Prophet ſpeaks of the judgment as of a Meſſenger, which coming from God, ſhould not return till it had done its Errand, and executed what it came for, even whatever God had reſolved it ſhould effect. Men are ready to flatter themſelves, that they ſhall either out-ride or out-live the ſtorms of Divine Vengeance; no, (ſaith the Prophet) the Anger of the Lord ſhall bring to paſs whatſoever the juſt Will of God is. l And though you will not now believe it, but flatter your ſelves with idle vain hopes, yet hereafter when it ſhall be too late (which is the uſual folly of Sinners) then you ſhall conſider it perfectly.

* Chap. 14. 14. & 27. 15. & 29. 9.

21 * I have not ſent theſe prophets, yet they ran: I have not ſpoken unto them, yet they propheſied.

22 But if they had ſtood in my counſel, and had cauſed my people to hear my words m, then they ſhould have turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings n.

m Theſe falſe Prophets did not propheſie without the Approbation of the Rulers of the Eccleſiaſtical State amongſt the Jews in their corrupt eſtate, but ſo they might, and yet not be ſent of God. The Judgment of a Divine Miſſion for the Revelation of God's Mind unto People, muſt not be meerly from their external Miſſion (which yet they ought to have in a Church that is in order) but from the faithful diſcharge of their Miniſtry. Thoſe whom God ſends, and who are truly acquainted with his Counſels, will cauſe his people to hear, not their own conceits and inventions, but the Word of the Lord. God ſendeth none upon any other Errand, but to reveal his Will, and tell his Mind unto people. n Then, ſaith the Prophet, they ſhould have turned them from their evil way, that is, they would have made this their ſcope, buſineſs and end, to turn Sinners from their ſinful ways, and though poſſibly their labour would not have had ſo good an effect upon all, yet they would have had an effect upon ſome to turn them from their evil doings.

23 Am I a God at hand, ſaith the LORD, and not a God afar off o?

o Atheiſm is generally the foundation of ill Life: Men ſay, God ſees them not, the Almighty doth not regard them. By a God at hand many underſtand Heaven; Do you think that my Eyes are limited like yours, that I cannot ſee their Practices though far off from me? that is, from the place of my glorious Reſidence? Others interpret the Particle with reſpect to time; Am I a God of Yeſterday, like the Idols? Am not I the Ancient of Days? The Eternal God, whoſe Majeſty and Omniſcience you ought to have taken notice of?

*Pſal. 139. 7, &c. Amos 9. 2, 3. * 1 Kings 8. 27. Pſal. 139. 7 p What do theſe Atheiſtical Prieſts, and Prophets, and People, think? Do they think that I, who am a God of purer eyes than to behold Iniquity, ſee and take notice of what Doctrine they preach, and what Lives they live? If they did, ſurely they would not dare to do as they do. Do they think that I do not ſee, or take notice of them? Can any hide themſelves out of my ſight? I fill Heaven and Earth, not only with my Influence, but with my Eſſence; with the Immenſity of my Being; which, as it cannot be circumſcribed by any, ſo it is ſhut out of no place.

24 Can any * hide himſelf in ſecret places that I ſhall not ſee him, ſaith the LORD? * do not I fill heaven and earth, ſaith the LORD p?

25 I have heard what the prophets ſaid, that propheſie lyes in my name, ſaying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed q.

q Viſions and Dreams, were two uſual ways by which under the Law God made himſelf known of old to his Prophets, making them ſometimes, being awake, to hear a Voice; ſometimes attended with, and proceeding upon, ſome viſible Appearance, ſometimes not: at other times cauſing them, being aſleep, to dream; and in their ſleep revealing to them, as in a dream, what his Will was they ſhould declare and publiſh to his People. Theſe falſe Prophets ſpeaking what came into their own Heads, and ſuited their own Luſts, or the Luſts of a debauched People to whom they ſpake, would pretend, that God had revealed to them what they ſo publiſhed, in a Dream; not in the mean time conſidering God took notice of theſe their little Arts by which they cheated the People. But ſaith God, I am a God that know afar off as well as at hand, and I have heard what they ſay, propheſying Lyes as from me, and pretending that I had in Dreams revealed them to them.

26 How long ſhall this be in the heart of the prophets that propheſie lyes? yea, they are prophets of the deceits of their own heart r.

r Will theſe Prophets never have done? Have they not deceived People long enough with their Lyes, and the Deceit of their own hearts; and that not unwarily, and by involuntary Miſtake, but of ſet purpoſe, it being in their Heart, their Purpoſe and Deſign, to do it. Some join it to the following Verſe, and make the Sence this; Do theſe Prophets, that publiſh Lyes, and the Deceits of their Hearts, for my revealed Will, think to cheat my People always, and to cauſe my People to forget my Name? as it followeth in the next Verſe.

27 Which think to cauſe my people to forget my name ſ by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbour t, * as their fathers have forgotten my name for Baal u.

*Judg. 3. 7. and 8. 33, 34.

ſ That is, to forget me, and thoſe things by which I have made my ſelf known unto them, my Word, and my Works. t By their Dreams which they tell abroad every one to his Neighbour, as if they were Revelations which I had in their ſleep made unto them: but they are indeed Lyes, and nothing but the Deceits of their own Hearts. u So that in effect they are Baal's Prieſts; for as Baal's Prophets, by publiſhing their pretended Revelations from Baal, ſeduced the People from the Service and Obedience of the true God; ſo theſe, by telling their pretended Dreams, ſeduced Men from their Obedience to God in what he revealed to them by the true Prophets: they agree'd in the End, the Seducing of the People from God, though they differed in the Mean, the one pretending Revelations from Baal, the other from the true God by their Dreams.

28 The prophet that † hath a dream w, let him tell a dream; and he that hath my word, let him ſpeak my word faithfully x: what is the chaff to the wheat, ſaith the LORD y?

w Not a Divine Dream; a Revelation which I have made to him in his ſleep, (as appeareth by the following Oppoſition, betwixt a Dream, and the Word of the Lord,) but if any Man hath dreamed an ordinary Dream, let him tell it as a Dream; let him not entitle God to it. x And let him to whom I have revealed my Will, publiſh and declare That in all Truth and Faithfulneſs, not adding his own Fancies or Dreams to it, 2 Cor. 2. 17. 1 Pet. 2. 2. not corrupting my Word. y There is as much Difference between my Will and their Dreams, as there is betwixt the Chaff and the Wheat; the one is of value to make Food for the Soul, as Wheat doth for the Body; the other is of no value: the one (viz. my Word) is of a ſolid, abiding Subſtance; the other is light and airy, and eaſily ſcattered by every Wind.

29 Is not my word like a fire z, ſaith the LORD? and like an hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces a?

z Full of Life and Efficacy, John 6. 63. Heb. 4. 12. like a Fire that warmeth, and healeth, and melteth, and conſumeth the Droſs. a And like an Hammer that breaketh the Flints, ſo my Word breaketh hard Hearts. Others think, that the Word is here compared to Fire, and to an Hammer, becauſe of the certain effect that it ſhould have upon thoſe that would not obey it, to burn them up like fire, and break them in pieces like an Hammer, and ſo think this Text well expounded by the Apoſtle, 2 Cor. 2. 16. Certain it is, that God's Word is like fire in both Sences; no Words of Men have an effect and efficacy like God's Words; nothing but that taketh hold upon the Conſcience, and hath ſuch an effect upon the hearts of Men. No Words ſhall ſo certainly and infallibly be juſtified and made good.

30 Therefore behold, * I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the LORD, that ſteal my words, every one from his neighbour ∴

* Deut. 18. 20. Chap 14. 14, 15.

∴ There are various Opinions, as to what the Prophet meaneth here by thoſe Prophets that ſtole the Lord's Words from their Neighbours; ſome, by their Neighbour, underſtanding the true Prophets, from whom they ſtole thoſe forms of Speech, Thus ſaith the Lord, or, the word of the Lord, or, The burden of the Lord. Or ſome of the matter which they propheſied, though they mixed it with their own Lyes and Deceits. Others by Neighbours underſtanding their Aſſociates, think that theſe Falſe Prophets conſpired together what to ſay to deceive the People, and ſo ſtole what they ſaid one from another. Or, the generality of the People from whom they are ſaid to ſteal the Lord's Word, becauſe they withheld it from them injuriouſly. Or by their Arts and Flatteries brought Men out of love with, or fear of the Words of the Lord, which had by the true Prophets been delivered to them.

31 Behold, I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the LORD, that ‖ uſe their tongues b, and ſay, He ſaith c.

b Some think the Heb. Words were more properly tranſlated ſmooth their tongues: Vid. The Engliſh Annotations. c But the next Words ſeem to aſſure us, that the Crime for which God here by the Prophet reflecteth upon the Falſe Prophets, was not ſo much their flattering People, and ſpeaking to them ſuch ſmooth things as pleaſed them, as their entitling of God to their Lyes, ſaying, He, that is, The Lord ſaith. So it may be, though the Word might be tranſlated ſmooth, yet it is here better tranſlated Uſe.

32 Behold, I am againſt them that propheſie falſe dreams d, ſaith the LORD, and do tell them, and cauſe my people to err by their lyes, and by their * lightneſs e, yet I ſent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they ſhall not profit this people at all, ſaith the LORD f.

d That is, Falſe things under the notion of things which I have revealed unto them in their ſleep. e By Lightneſs, here ſome underſtand Volubility, and Smoothneſs of Tongue and Speech: Others, Laſciviouſneſs: Others, Levity and Inconſtancy: The laſt ſeemeth moſt probably the Sence. f I ſent them not (ſaith God) therefore they ſhall not profit: None can expect God's Bleſſing upon their Miniſtry, that are not called and ſent of God into the Miniſtry.

33 ¶ And when this people, or the prophet, or a prieſt ſhall ask thee, ſaying, What is the burden of the LORD g? thou ſhalt then ſay unto them, What burden? I will even forſake you, ſaith the LORD h.

g The true Prophets, to let the People know how little pleaſing it was to them to be the Meſſengers of God's Threatnings, to denounce his Judgments, uſually thus began their Prophecies of that nature, calling them, The burden of the Lord, as may be ſeen Iſa. 13. 1. and 15. 1. and 22. 1. Hab. 1. 1. Zech. 9. 1. Mal. 1. 1. The profane People, and falſe Prophets, and corrupt Prieſts, not loving to hear their doom, would ordinarily mock at the true Prophets; and in deriſion ask them, what was the burden of the Lord? what ill News they had for them next? h God bids the Prophet tell them, That God would forſake them, either as to the Spirit of Prophecy, they ſhould have no more Prophets, or (which is more probable) as to his ſpecial Providence, by which he had watched over, protected, and hitherto defended them; a Burden heavy enough, Hoſ. 9. 12.

34 And as for the prophet, and the prieſt, and the people that ſhall ſay, The burden of the LORD i, I will even † puniſh that man and his houſe k.

† Heb viſit upon.

i That is, That ſhall in deriſion ſay thus, mocking at my Threatnings and Judgments. k I will not only puniſh him, but his whole Family.

35 Thus ſhall ye ſay every one to his neighbour, and every one to his brother, What hath the LORD anſwered? and, What hath the LORD ſpoken l?

l I will have you ſpeak more reverently of me and my Word to my Prophets.

36 And the burden of the LORD ſhall ye mention no more m: for every mans word ſhall be his burden n: for ye have perverted the words of the living God o, of the LORD of hoſts our God p.

m Not in Scorn and Deriſion, as not believing there were any ſuch Judgments as they threaten, nor hardly as if I ſent you no other Meſſages but Burdens. n Theſe falſe and irreverent Speeches which are in every man's mouth, ſhall be burdenſom to them, being ſuch, as ſhall bring down divine Vengeance upon them.

o Becauſe you have derided, or miſinterpreted the words of God, the living God. p The ſin of which is the more aggravated againſt you, becauſe he is the living, mighty God, and becauſe he hath been our God.

37 Thus ſhalt thou ſay to the prophet q, What hath the LORD anſwered thee? and what hath the LORD ſpoken.

q To my true Prophet. You ſhall ſpeak to them reverently, and as becometh you.

38 But ſith ye ſay, The burden of the LORD; therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Becauſe you ſay this word, the burden of the LORD r, and I have ſent unto you, ſaying, ye ſhall not ſay, The burden of the LORD s.

r Becauſe you go on in your ſcoffing, and deriding my Word and my Prophets. ſ And that when I have expreſly forbidden you thoſe profane Speeches, or that deriding form of Speech; adding further contempt to your former profaneneſs.

39 Therefore behold, I, even I, will utterly forget you t, and I will forſake you u, and the city that I gave you and your fathers w, and caſt you out of my preſence x.

t I will forget you as to my Affection, and that is more than if all your friends forgat you. There is a great Emphaſis in the doubling of the Pronoun, I, even I. u I will forſake you as to the preſence of my ſpecial gracious Providence. w And do not flatter your ſelves that I will not do it, becauſe of your Fathers, or becauſe I gave this City to your Fathers, for that very City I will withdraw my ſpecial Providence from, and that Land, which heretofore was called, The land which the Lord thy God careth for, upon which the eyes of the Lord are always from the beginning of the year, even to the end of the year, Deut. 11. 12. x And I will caſt both City and People out of my gracious preſence. So as I will no longer do them good as I have done.

40 And I will bring an everlaſting Reproach upon you y, and a perpetual ſhame which ſhall not be forgotten z.

y And you ſhall be a reproach, and that not for a few days but for ever. ʒ And a penal ſhame, which neither you nor thoſe that ſee or hear of it ſhall forget. See ſuch expreſſions, Chap. 20. 11.

CHAP. XXIV.

Under the Type of good and bad Figs, 1, —— 3. He fore-ſheweth the Return of ſome from Captivity, 4, —— 7. and the Ruine of Zedekiah and the reſt, 8, —— 10.

THE ſum of what God by his Prophet revealeth in this Chapter is, that he would deal more graciouſly with thoſe carried into Captivity, with Jeconiah the Son of Jehoiakim; of which read, 2 Kings 24. 12. 2 Chron. 36. 20. than with thoſe that ſhould afterward be carried into Captivity with Zedekiah. This the Prophet hath revealed to him in a Viſion of two Baskets of Figs, as followeth.

1 The LORD ſhewed me, and behold, two baskets of figs were ſet before the temple of the LORD a, after that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon had carried away captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim the king of Judah, and the princes of Judah, with the carpenters and ſmiths from Jeruſalem, and had brought them to Babylon b.

a Some think theſe two Baskets of Figs were ſuch as the people had brought for their firſt-fruits, becauſe they are mentioned as ſet before the Temple. But this might be no more than a Viſion, or an appearance of two Baskets. b The time of this Viſion was ſometime betwixt the carrying away of Jeconiah, of which we read, 2 Kings 24. 12, &c. and 2 Chron. 36. 10. and the carrying away of Zedekiah his Uncle, which was 11 Years after: In 2 Kings 24. 16. there is a particular mention of the King of Babylon's carrying away the Craftſmen and the Smiths a thouſand.

2 One basket had very good figs, even like the figs that are firſt ripe c: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, † they were ſo bad d.

c God afterwards explaineth to the Prophet, and he to the King's Houſe, the ſignificancy of this Viſion. The Figs firſt ripe are uſually beſt: By theſe good Figs, as will appear by the following Verſes are intended, Jeconiah or Jehojakin, with the 10000 mentioned, 2 Kings 24. 14. and the 7000 mentioned, Ver. 16. which went with him into Captivity. d By the other Figs which were very bad, not to be eaten, are ſignified Zedekiah and the reſidue of the people carried with him into Captivity. Some may object, that Jeconiah, and the people then carried away, were wicked enough, why elſe were they carried away, and being ſo, how are they compared to good Figs? Anſw. Though they were bad, yet they might be comparatively good, this people for the 11 Years they continued in their own Land, after that their Brethren were carried away, not only continuing in their former courſes, but ſtill growing worſe and worſe. 2. They ſeem not to be called good or bad Figs with reſpect to their Manners or Quality, but in reſpect to what God intended to do to them, viz. to uſe them as bad Figs are uſed, not fit to be eaten.

3 Then ſaid the LORD unto me, What ſeeſt thou Jeremiah e? and I ſaid, Figs: the good figs, very good; and the evil, very evil, that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil.

e God having cauſed the Prophet to have ſuch a viſible object appear to him, ask'd him, what he ſaw? as Jer. 1. 11.

4 Again the word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

5 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael g, Like theſe good figs: ſo will I acknowledge || them that are carried captive of Judah h, whom I have ſent out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans for their good i.

g Who have power to do what I pleaſe, and who yet am in Covenant with Iſrael, and have a kindneſs for the Seed of my Servant Jacob. h Look as thou approveſt of one of theſe Baskets of Figs, ſo I do approve of thoſe that were carried away Captive with Jeconiah, repenting of their ſinful Courſes; and accepting of that puniſhment of their iniquity. i Though Nebuchadnezzar carried them away, it was by Commiſſion from me; ſo that though he carried, yet I ſent them. For their good, which words may either refer to the laſt mentioned words, intimating that God in ſending them away aimed at either their Spiritual good, to bring them to Repentance, and an acknowledgment of their ſins: or their temporal good, they being only quietly led away, without the Miſeries of Famine, Fire and Sword, beſides carrying away; which thoſe who remained, and were afterwards carried away with Zedekiah, experienced: Or elſe they may be referred to the former words. I will acknowledge them for their good, that is, I will ſhew them favour, being of the number of thoſe who were not leaders to ſin, but led away by the ill Example of others, and who being carried away grew ſenſible of their ſins by which they provoked me, and ſo accepted of the puniſhment of their Iniquities.

6 For I will ſet mine eyes upon them for good k, and I will bring them again to this land l, and * I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up m.

* Chap. 33. 7. & 42. 10.

k The Soul looking out at the Eye, diſcovereth its Inclinations, and affection, whether of Love, or Wrath. Hence we read of God's ſetting his Eyes upon people for evil, Amos 9. 4. as here of his ſetting his Eyes upon them for good. Or elſe it may ſignifie God's ſetting himſelf to do them good, as a Man when he ſets upon doing a thing, ſets his Eyes upon it in order thereunto. l Some of them probably returned before the end of the Captivity, ſome at the end of the 70 Years. m The meaning of theſe metaphorical expreſſions is, I will proſper them, and provide for them. We read 2 Kings 25. 27. that Evil-merodach, King of Babylon, in the 37th. Year of the Captivity of Jehojakin, lifted his Head up out of Priſon, ſpake kindly to him, &c. but this Prophecy was alſo fulfilled in Daniel, Ezra, Nehemiah, Mordecai, and others, who are thought to be carried away with Jeconiah; or the Prophecy may be underſtood of the Poſterity of thoſe who were at this time carried away.

7 And I will give them an heart * to know me, that I am the LORD n, and they ſhall be * my people, and I will be their God o: for they ſhall return unto me with their whole heart p.

* Deut 30. 6. Chap. 32. 39. Ezek. 11. 19. & 36. 26, 27. * Chap. 30. 22. & 31. 33 & 32. 38.

n Under the term know me, is here (as in many other Texts) comprehended Faith, Love, Obedience, all thoſe motions of the Soul which rationally ſhould follow a right comprehending of God in Mens knowledge. o I will be a God in Covenant with them, as I will fulfil what I have promiſed them, ſo they ſhall do what is their duty to me. p For or when, or after that they ſhall return to me, not feignedly, but with their heart, not partially, but with their whole heart. This is promiſed as an effect of ſpecial grace, not of the meer good inclination of their natural Wills, for ſo the words I will give, in the beginning of the Verſe, muſt be underſtood, otherwiſe God gives ſuch an heart no more to one Man than another.

8 ¶ And as the evil * figs, which cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil: (ſurely thus ſaith the LORD) So will I give Zedekiah the king of Judah, and his princes, and the reſidue of Jeruſalem that remain in this land, and * them that dwell in the land of Egypt q.

* Chap. 29. 17. * Chap. 43. & 44.

q Whither it is probable many of the Jews had fled, upon the coming or noiſe of the coming of the King of Babylon, as they had done before, Iſa. 30. 2. and 31. 1.

9 And I will deliver them † to * be removed into all the kingdoms of the earth, for their hurt. to be a reproach, and a proverb, a taunt, and a curſe in all places whither I ſhall drive them r.

† Heb. for removing, or Vexation. * Deut. 28. 25, 37. 1King. 9. 7. 2 Chron. 7. 20. Chap. 15. 4.

r The Lord by his Prophet expreſſeth thoſe tremendous Judgments which he had deſigned to bring upon this wicked Prince and People in the words of Moſes the Man of God, as well becauſe the Jews had a great Reverence (pretendedly at leaſt) for Moſes, how little ſoever they had for Jeremiah: as to let them ſee, that what the Lord here threatned, and ſuddenly would bring to paſs, was but in a juſt accompliſhment of what he before had threatned in his Law, by which they ought to have taken warning. The ſum is, he would make them a common Scoff, and By-word, that their Miſery ſhould be a common Proverb, and when Men would Curſe one another, they ſhould wiſh them like Zedekiah and the Jews.

10 And I will ſend the ſword, the famine, and the peſtilence amongſt them, till they be conſumed from off the land, that I gave unto them and to their fathers ſ.

ſ Many of them ſhall not live to be carried into Captivity, but ſhall die miſerably in their own Land, it not by the Enemies Sword, yet by the Famine and the Peſtilence, which two things ordinarily attend long Sieges. By one of theſe three ſore Judgments of God they ſhall be conſumed out of the Land, and ſhall not hold it by the Title of God's gift of it to their Fathers. No gifts of God, except thoſe of ſpecial Grace, are perpetuities; but either given, Quam diu bene ſe geſſerint, ſo long as Men behave themſelves well in the uſe of them; or, Durante bene placito, during God's good Will and Pleaſure.

CHAP. XXV.

Their Diſobedience to the Prophets reproved, 1,—7. The Seventy Years of Captivity foretold, 8,—11. and after that the Deſtruction of Babylon, 12,—14. By a Cup of Wine is foreſhewn the Deſtruction of all Nations, 15,—33. The howling of the Shepherds, 34,—38.

1 THE word that came to Jeremiah the Prophet concerning all the people of Judah, in the fourth year of Jehojakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah a, that was the firſt year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon b.

a The fourth Year of Jehojakim, was ſeven Years and odd Months before Jeconiah or Jehojakin his Son was carried into Captivity, as appears from 2 Kings 23. 36. and Chap. 24. 8, 15. and 18 Years before the taking of the City, and the more general Captivity; which argueth that this Prophecy is miſplaced, and ſet after the former, whereas in order of time it was 16 or 17 Years before it. b This is ſaid to be the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar (called by Ptolomy, Nabopollaſſar.) It is ſaid Dan. 1. 1. that this Nebuchadrezzar came up in the third Year of Jehojakim; to which is anſwered. That the firſt Year of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign muſt be underſtood of his abſolute Reign, which concurred partly with the third, partly with the fourth Year of Jehojakim; they ſay he was before a ſharer in the Kingly Government with his Father, but this was the firſt Year, that he had the Name of King intirely given unto him.

2 The which Jeremiah the prophet ſpake to all the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying, c.

c That is the word concerned them all, and he ſpake it to ſo many of them, as he met with in any publick aſſembly at Hieruſalem or elſewhere.

3 From the thirteenth year of Joſiah the ſon of Amon king of Judah, even unto this day, that is the three and twentieth year, d the word of the LORD hath come unto me, and I have ſpoken unto you riſing early, and ſpeaking * but ye have not hearkned e.

* Chap. 11.7,8,10. & 13. 10, 11. & 16. 12. & 17. 23. & 18. 12. & 19. 15. & 22. 21.

d We read Chap. 1. 2. that Jeremiah began to propheſie in the thirteenth Year of Joſiah. Joſiah reigned thirty one Years, 2 Kings 22. 1. ſo that taking in the thirteenth Year, Jeremiah propheſied nineteen Years during the Life of Joſiah, to which adding the four of Jehojakim's Reign it maketh twenty three. e Theſe twenty three Years ſaith the Prophet I have been a Preacher to you, and I have not been negligent in my Work, but like Men, that get up early in the Morning to diſpatch their buſineſs, ſo have I been in the diſcharge of my Prophetical Office.

4 And the LORD hath ſent unto you all his ſervants the prophets, * riſing early, and ſending them, but ye have not hearkned, nor inclined your ear to hear f.

* Chap. 7. 13, 25. & 29. 19.

f Nor am I the only Prophet whom the Lord hath ſent you, and whom you have neglected and deſpiſed, God hath ſent you many more, and you have deſpiſed as many as he hath ſent, though the Lord hath made it his buſineſs to ſend you one after another from time to time. This contempt of the Lord's Meſſengers is made the proximate cauſe of God's Wrath coming upon this people, till there was no remedy, 2 Chron. 36. 16.

5 They ſaid, * Turn ye again now every one, from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land that the LORD hath given unto you and to your fathers, for ever and ever g:

* 2 Kings 17. 13. Chap. 18. 11. & 35. 15. Jonah 3. 8.

g The ſubſtance both of their, and my Sermons hath been to perſwade you to leave off thoſe ſinful courſes wherein you have lived, and which you might have amended by vertue of that common Grace which I did not deny you. We have not differed in our Doctrine, to the practice of which you have alſo been incouraged both by them and me, with an aſſurance from God that if you did it, you ſhould injoy this good Land, which the Lord promiſed, and gave to you and your Fathers, and you have now poſſeſſed from Age to Age.

6 And go not after other gods h to ſerve them, and to worſhip them i, and provoke me not to anger with the works of your hands k, and I will do you no hurt l.

h Idols which indeed are no Gods, but ſo called by Idolaters. i To pay any divine homage unto them. k And provoke me not to anger by Idols, which are the Work of Mens hands, (no uncreated Beings.) Or more generally any Works which are contrary to the Law of God. l If you do this I will by my Providence do you no harm, you ſhall yet enjoy your own Land and proſper.

7 Yet he have not hearkned unto me m, ſaith the LORD, that ye might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands n to your own hurt o.

m Ye heard me, and other the Lord's Prophets thus ſpeaking to you, but you did not obey, and hearken. n As if you had done it on purpoſe to incenſe me againſt you, who am of my ſelf ſlow to wrath, and muſt be provoked to execute vindicative Juſtice by Mens own wicked Works. o Which do not otherwiſe affect or hurt me, but are to their hurt who do them.

8 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Becauſe you have not heard my words p.

p That is becauſe you have not hearkned to, and obeyed my words; for it is manifeſt they had heard Jeremiah and the other Prophets.

9 Behold, I will ſend and take * all the families of the north, ſaith the LORD, and Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant q, and will bring them againſt this land, and againſt the inhabitants thereof r, and againſt all theſe nations round about ſ, and will utterly deſtroy them, and * make them an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and a perpetual deſolation s.

* Chap. 1. 15.

q I will put it into the heart of all thoſe Kings, whoſe Territories lie Northward of Judea, and particularly into the Heart of Nebuchadrezzar the King of Babylon, who in this Work ſhall be my Servant; though you will not be my Servants in obeying my Commands, yet he ſhall ſerve me, Chap. 27. 6. and 43. 10. r I will bring them and their Armies up againſt this people, and I will put you out of hopes from your Alliances with other Nations, for he ſhall firſt bring them under his Command, thus we read, 2 Kings 24. 7. that the King of Babylon had invaded the Egyptian Dominions, and taken from the River of Egypt, unto the River Euphrates, all that pertained to the King of Egypt. ſ And I will make the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, not only a deſolation, but a ſcorn, and reproach, and wonderment to the World. Vid. Chap. 19, 8.

10 Moreover, I will † take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride t, the ſound of the milſtones, and the light of the candle u.

† Heb. I will cauſe to periſh from them

* Chap. 7. 34. & 16. 9. Ezek. 26. 13. Hoſ 2. 11. Rev. 18. 23

t I will take away all your mirth and jollity, whether uſed at Weddings, or at any of your merry Meetings; I will leave you nothing to rejoyce in; your very Wedding times, ſhall be times of mourning and lamentation. u Nay, I will not only deprive you of your mirth, but of thoſe things that are neceſſary for you, as neceſſary as Bread and Light, the Milſtone ſhall not move, you ſhall not have the light ſo much as of a Candle. See the like Expreſſions, Rev. 18. 22. 1. God here threatens not only to take away their Superfluities, and what he had hitherto lent them for their pleaſure and delight, but alſo what they had for their neceſſary ſuſtenance, and to capacitate them to do their ordinary Works.

11 And this whole land ſhall be a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon ſeventy years w.

w This Prophecy is a famous Prophecy in regard of its fixing the particular ſpace of time in which the Jews abode in the Captivity of Babylon, viz. ſeventy Years. When they determined we are plainly enough told, Ezra 1. 1. in the firſt Year of Cyrus the King of Perſia, but when they commenced is more diſputed; for we read of three carryings into that Captivity, the one in the third and fourth Year of Jehojachim, when it ſhould ſeem that Nebuchadrezzar, only carried away ſome few perſons to be bred in his Court, amongſt whom were Daniel and the Three Children, Dan. 1. 1, 2, &c. A ſecond ſeven Years after in Jeconiah's time, 2 Kings 24. 15, 16. The laſt and moſt general eleven Years after, in the 11th. Year of Zedekiah, it ſeemeth moſt probable that the ſeventy Years muſt be reckoned from the ſecond, for Jeremiah, Chap. 29. 1, 2, 3. writing to thoſe then in Captivity, tells them, That when ſeventy Years ſhould be accompliſhed, God would bring them back. This is confirmed by Ezekiel, Chap. 40. 1. where the fourteenth Year after the taking of the City is expreſly ſaid to be the twenty fifth Year of their Captivity.

12 And it ſhall come to paſs * when the ſeventy years are accompliſhed x, that I will † puniſh the king of Babylon, and that nation, ſaith the LORD, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans, and * will make it perpetual deſolations y.

* 2 Chron. 36. 21, 22. Ezr. 1. 1. Chap. 29. 10. Dan. 9. 2.

* Iſa. 13. 19. & 14. 23 & 21. 1 & 47. 1. Ch. 50. 40. & 51. 25.

x Seven Years accounted from the time that the Jews were carried away in the time of Jeconiah or Jehojakin, 2 Kings 24. 15, 16. y This was fulfilled by Darius the King of Perſia, Dan. 4. 31. of theſe 70 Nebuchadnezzar Reigned 36. 2 Kings 25. 27. Evil Merodach 32. and Belſhazzar at leaſt two, Dan. 8. 1. Tho' God, whoſe all the Creation is, and who is the Lord of all the Hoſts of his Creatures, doth often make uſe of Heathens, and other wicked Men to puniſh his own people, yet he will at laſt puniſh them too, and ordinarily when he doth puniſh them, it is with a more ſevere, and grievous deſtruction than that by which he puniſheth his people, Iſa. 27. 7. thus he threatens to make the Chaldæans a perpetual deſolation.

13 And I will bring upon that land z all my words that I have pronounced againſt it, even all that is written in this book, which Jeremiah hath propheſied againſt all the nations.

z The Land of the Babylonians and Chaldæans.

* Chap. 27. 7. 14 For many nations and great kings ſhall * ſerve themſelves of them alſo: and I will recompence them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their own hands a.

a God threatneth the deſtruction of that Monarchy by the Perſians, according to the Prophecy of this Prophet, and declareth that their deſtruction was of themſelves, God did but recompence unto them their own Deeds, and the Works of their hands, which is not to be reſtrained to their exceſſes in executing Divine Vengeance, and the Cruelty they uſed to the Iſraelites, but more generally interpreted of all their wicked Courſes.

15 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael unto me, Take the wine-cup of this fury at my hand b, and cauſe all the nations, to whom I ſend thee, to drink it c.

b God's Judgments are often in Scripture expreſſed under the notion of a Cup of hot and intoxicating Drink, and their Suffering is ſet out under the notion of drinking ſuch a Cup as Pſal. 75. 8. Job 21. 20. Iſa. 51. 17. Pſal. 11. 6. and 60. 3. Lam. 4. 21. Ezek. 23. 32, 34. God made Jeremiah to ſee the appearance of ſuch a Cup in a Viſion. c And bad him to carry it to the Nations to whom he ſent him, to ſignifie to them that his Wrath ſhould be poured out on them, and they ſhould drink of it.

* Ezek. 23. 34. Nah. 3. 11. 16 And * they ſhall drink and be moved, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword that I will ſend among them d.

d Whether they will or no, they ſhall drink it, and be diſturbed, and be mad, and rage like Men overcome with Wine, becauſe of thoſe dreadful Judgments which I ſhall ſend amongſt them.

17 Then took I the Cup at the LORD's hand, and made all the nations to drink, unto whom the LORD had ſent me e.

e That is in the Viſion; for it cannot be thought that the Lord made the Prophet to travel up and down to all the Nations afterward named, with a Cup of Wine in his Hand.

18 To wit Jeruſalem and the cities of Judah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them a deſolation, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing and a curſe, as it is this day f.

f Judgment uſually beginneth at the Houſe of God, 1 Pet. 4. 17. God hath more known them and done them more good than other people, therefore their ſins are higher provocations, and they are leſs excuſable. By the Kings here mentioned are to be underſtood Jehoiakim, Jehojakin and Zedekiah, theſe Princes with their People, God threatens to puniſh to aſtoniſhment, and ſo as Men ſhould mock at them, and curſe them, which expreſſions we have before met with in the ſame cauſe. But here ariſeth a doubt how the Prophet ſaith (as it is this day) whereas this Prophecy, Ver. 1. was in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, but Jeruſalem was not made ſuch a deſolation, till the eleventh Year of Zedekiah, which was 18 Years after. Some think that though the thing were yet to come, yet the Prophet ſpeaketh of it as paſt, becauſe of the certainty of it, which is but what is ordinary in the Prophetical Writings. Others think that theſe words were added after the Captivity of Jeremiah, writing over his former Prophecies. Others from theſe words judge that this part of the Chapter, was a Prophecy at ſome other time following what was in the beginning of this Chapter. Others think that he adds theſe words becauſe the carrying into Captivity was at this time begun, though not compleated until the eleventh Year of Zedekiah.

* Chap. 46. 19 * Pharaoh king of Egypt, and his ſervants, and his princes, and all his people g.

g The Egyptians being that people whom the Jews moſt truſted to for help, are named as the firſt to whom the Prophet was ſent with the Wine-cup of God's Fury, to let the Jews know, that if they truſted to them, their confidence was vain; for they ſhould themſelves be deſtroyed, which was fulfilled within the 12 Years after the Death of Joſiah, unto the time of Jehojakin, as appears from 2 Kings 24. 5. for the King of Egypt made Jehoiakim King, 2 Kings 23. 34.

* Chap. 47. 20 And all the mingled people h, and * all the kings of the land of Uz i, and all the kings of the land of the Philiſtines k, and Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod l.

h It is of no great moment to determine, whether God by the mingled People, here mentioned, intended the various Nations afterwards particularly expreſſed by their Names, or ſome people that were not native Egyptians, but lived mingled with them, or ſome other people of ſeveral Nations, who lived near Judea or the Arabians. i By the Kings of the Land of Uz, it is moſt probably judged are to be underſtood thoſe Kings who ruled over that people who deſcended from Diſhan, Gen. 36. 28. and are judged to have inhabited ſome part of Arabia Petræa, near to Idumæa. k The Cities of the Philiſtines are reckoned afterward. l Azzah, Ekron, Aſhdod, and Aſhkelon, were four of them, the fifth which was Gath is not here named. Vid. 1 Sam. 6. 17. it had a King in former times to whom David fled, 1 Sam. 21. 10. but before this time it was deſtroyed, either by Pſammeticus Father to Pharaoh Necho, or by Tartan Captain General to Sargon King of Aſſyria, of whom read Iſa. 20. 1. that he took Aſhdod, which may be the reaſon that here mention is made of no more than the Remnant of Aſhdod.

21 Edom m, and Moab, and the children of Ammon n.

m The Edomites were the Poſterity of Eſau the Son of Iſaac, to whom God had given a Land which they inherited, and he would not ſuffer the Iſraelites to make their way through them by force, when they denied them a paſſage through their Country; now he threatens their ruine, as alſo Chap. 49. 7. and Obadiah's prophecy was againſt them, where their triumphing in the Captivity of the Jews, is mentioned as one thing that had provoked God againſt them. n The Moabites and Ammonites were deſcended from Lot. Chap. 48. is an entire prophecy againſt Moab, they had lived in long proſperity as appears there, Ver. 12. ſo had the Ammonites againſt whom alſo Jeremiah propheſied particularly. Chap. 49. 1. to the 7th.

22 And all the kings of * Tyrus o, and all the kings of Zidon p, and the kings of the ‖ iſles which are beyond the * ſea q. * Chap. 47. 4. ‖ Or, region by the ſea-ſide. * Chap. 49. 23.

o Tyrus was a ſtrong City upon the Borders of the Tribe of Aſher, Joſh. 19. 29. 2 Sam. 24. 7. a very rich City, and a Kingdom, with the King of which (who was Hyram) Solomon in his time traded much, 2 Chron. 2. 3. Iſaiah propheſied its ruine, Iſa. 23. 1. So did Ezek. Chap. 27. 28, 29. it was deſtroyed by Nebuchadrezzar, Ezek. 29. 18. p Zidon was nigh to it, therefore we ſhall ordinarily find Tyre and Zidon joyned together in Scripture, both Iſaiah and Ezekiel, as well as this Prophet propheſied their ruine. q By the Iſles beyond the Seas, ſome underſtand Greece and Italy, others Rhodes, Cyprus and Creta, but others think Nebuchadnezzar never conquered theſe, and rather underſtand thoſe parts of Syria that coaſted upon the Midland Sea.

23. Dedan, and Tema ſ, and Buz t, and all † that are in the utmoſt corners u. † Heb. or cut off into corners, or, having the corners of the hair polled. Chap 9. 26. Chap. 49. 8, 28. Chap. 49. 31, 34.

r We read of a Dedan the iſſue of Cham, Gen. 10. 7. The other the Poſterity of Abraham by Jokshan, Gen. 25. 3. It ſeemeth to be a City of Idumæa, Chap. 49. 8. ſ Tema deſcended from Iſhmael, Gen. 25. 15. his Poſterity inhabited in Arabia, Iſa. 21. 14. where they are joyned with thoſe of Dedan. t Buz was one of the Poſterity of Nahor, Gen. 22. 21. Theſe were people mixed with the Saracens or Arabians. u That dwell in the corners or furtheſt parts of the World. Some interpret it of the faſhion of their cutting their Beards, as the Saracens did. Vid. Lev. 19. 27. where God forbad his People that Faſhion.

24 And all the kings of Arabia w, and all the kings of the * mingled people that dwell in the deſert x. *Chap 49. 31. See Ver. 20.

w There were ſeveral Kings in Arabia, 2 Chron. 9. 14. x People of ſeveral Nations that were got together in the Deſart, and had made to themſelves ſeveral Kings or Chief Rulers.

25 And all the kings of Zimri y, and all the kings of Elam z, and all the kings of the Medes a.

y Thoſe deſcended from Zimran, Abraham's Son by Keturah, Gen. 25. 2. (the Zamarens as ſome think mentioned by Pliny.) z By the Elamites are meant the Perſians deſcended from Sem, Gen. 10. 22. Elam is alſo mentioned Iſa. 22 6. See alſo Chap. 49. 34. a The Medes came from Madai the Son of Japhet, Gen. 10. 2. they are uſually joyned with the Perſians, Dan. 5. 28.

26 And all the kings of the north, far and near b, one with another, and all the kingdoms of the world, which are upon the face of the earth c, and the king of Sheſhach ſhall drink after them d.

b All under the Government of the Chaldæans, or (as others) all thoſe Princes that have Dominions between the North and Eaſt. c That is, in thoſe parts of the World which were at that time known, with whom there was ordinary commerce. d And the King of Babylon, who was laſt of all to drink of this Cup of the Lord's Fury. That he is here meant is plain from Chap. 51. 41. where Sheſhach is thus interpreted. But why Babylon is called Sheſhach is an harder queſtion and not eaſily reſolved. Thoſe who think the Prophet gives Babylon here another Name to avoid an Odium from the King of Babylon, at this time their Enemy, neither conſider the uſual Courage of this Prophet, nor that he ſpeaks plainly enough, Chap. 51. 14. where he mentioneth both Babylon and Sheſhach, and expoundeth the latter by the former. It is thought that Babylon is called Sheſhach from the Name of an Idol called Shach which they worſhipped, to whoſe honour they yearly kept a Feſtival for five Days together, which they called Shace, and they ſay that during this Feſtival Cyrus took Babylon. But theſe are all incertain gueſſes, it is enough for us to know that by the King of Sheſhach is meant the King of Babel, as the Prophet expounds himſelf, Chap. 51. 41.

27 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael *, Drink ye and be drunken, and ſpue, and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword which I will ſend amongſt you. * Hab. 2. 16.

28 And it ſhall be if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drink, then ſhalt thou ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Ye ſhall certainly drink e.

e The meaning of theſe two Verſes is no more than this; God let Jeremiah in a Viſion know that it was his Will, that he ſhould propheſie a certain, and inavoidable ruine to all theſe Nations, which was brought upon all the reſt by the King of Babylon, whom God made his inſtrument to execute his Vengeance upon them; And laſt of all upon the King of Babylon himſelf by Cyrus the King of Perſia. This judgment which he telleth them ſhould be by the Sword, he expreſſeth by the effects, falling and riſing no more, and commands them to drink it, to comport with the Metaphor of the Wine cup of God's Fury, mentioned Ver. 15. The drinking of Cups of heady intoxicating Wine ordinarily producing ſuch effects, as ſpuing and falling, &c. This Cup of the Lord's Fury he aſſures them, they ſhould not turn by, but ſhould moſt certainly drink it.

* Prov. 11. 31. Chap 49. 12. Ezek. 9 6. Obad 16. Luke 23. 31. † Heb up on which my name is called.

29 For lo, I begin to bring evil * on the city which is † called by my name, and ſhould ye be utterly unpuniſhed f? ye ſhall not be unpuniſhed: for I will call for a ſword upon all the inhabitants of the earth g, ſaith the LORD of hoſts.

f By the City called by his Name, or upon which his Name was called, he means Jeruſalem, elſewhere called the Holy City. The Apoſtle, 1 Pet. 4. 17. Speaketh much to this purpoſe, The time is come that judgment muſt begin at the houſe of God, and if it firſt begin at us, what ſhall the end be of them that obey not the Goſpel of God. If God ſpareth not the green Tree, how ſhall he ſpare thoſe that are dry and withered? Atheiſts, and leud and profane Perſons have little reaſon to promiſe themſelves an eſcape from God's righteous Judgment, when they ſee God not ſparing thoſe that make the higheſt profeſſion of him, and ſtand in ſome relation to him. g It is in vain for you to promiſe your ſelves an eſcape, for God is about to puniſh all your Neighbours.

30 Therefore propheſie thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay unto them h, The LORD ſhall roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation i, he ſhall mightily rore upon his habitation k, he ſhall give a ſhout, as they that tread the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth l.

h Reveal my Will, unto them preſently, to revenge my ſelf upon them, in words to this ſence or purpoſe; tell them, that I who hitherto have been toward them as a Lamb will now be to them as a Lion, ſo Joel 3. 16. Amos 1. 2. and 3. 8. and, as a Lion, will rore from Heaven; for though the Temple be ſometimes ſo called, yet the foregoing words from on high expound this term in this place otherwiſe. k Or in his habitation, which is more likely to be underſtood in Heaven, (as the former) than in Jeruſalem as divers would have it, for God is here revealing his Wrath againſt foreign Nations, upon ſome of which theſe Judgments came after God had done roring in or upon Jeruſalem. l A ſhout, ſuch as Soldiers uſe to give when they ſtorm a City, or aſſault their Enemies to incourage their Fellows, and to diſhearten their Enemies; like the ſhout of thoſe that tread the Grapes, ſinging one to another, or rejoycing and triumphing in the Vintage.

31 A noiſe ſhall come even to the ends of the earth, for the LORD hath a controverſie with the nations m: he will plead with all fleſh n, he will give them that are wicked to the ſword o, ſaith the LORD.

m There ſhall be ſuch Confuſions and Noiſes, as ſhall ring over all the World, for God's Quarrel is not againſt the Jews only, but other Nations alſo. n Nor will he in any thing he doth, act injuſtly, if they will joyn Iſſue with him, he will plead with them, and make it appear to all that he acteth righteouſly. o He will give up many to the Sword, but they ſhall be ſuch only as by their wickedneſs have deſerved it, recompenſing to them their own Works and evil Doings.

32 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Behold, evil ſhall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind ſhall be raiſed up, from the coaſts of the earth p.

p It is much the ſame thing which was ſaid before, only repeated for the greater terror in a variety of expreſſions. He tells them that the Judgment ſhould be like a Contagion, going from one Nation to another, or like a fire catching hold of another Houſe before the firſt is burned down, like a Whirlwind that blows from all ſides, cometh ſuddenly, and devoureth dreadfully.

33 And the ſlain of the LORD ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they ſhall not be * lamented, neither gathered nor buried, they ſhall be dung upon the ground q.

* Chap. 16. 4.

q That thoſe who ſhould be ſlain by Commiſſion from the Lord in this time of his Judgments, ſhould be in all places, and ſo numerous, that there ſhould be none left to lament for, or to bury the Dead, but the dead Bodies ſhould lie and rot upon the ſurface of the Earth, and be as Muck to it. See the like Phraſes, Chap. 16. 4.

* Chap. 4. 8. & 6 26. † Heb. your days for ſlaughter. † Heb. Veſſel of deſire. † Heb. flight ſhall periſh from the ſhepherds and eſcaping from, &c.

34 ¶ * Howl ye ſhepherds and cry, and wallow your ſelves in the aſhes, ye principal of the flock r: for † the days of your ſlaughter, and of your diſperſions are accompliſhed ſ, and ye ſhall fall like † a pleaſant veſſel t.

r Shepherds and the principal of the Flock, are in this place of the ſame ſignificancy, by both he means the civil Rulers; ſo the word is uſed, Chap. 22. 22. and 23. 1. Theſe he calls aforehand to bewail their fate. ſ For the Days were now come, when they ſhould be ſlain and ſcattered. t And he tells them their fall ſhould be like the fall of a Chryſtal Glaſs, or ſome delicate tender Veſſel, which when it falleth breaketh in pieces and cannot again be ſet together.

35 And † the ſhepherds ſhall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to eſcape u.

u In ordinary diſpenſations of Judgment, there is ſome way left to eſcape, and if there be any way of eſcape, great Men are likelieſt to find it, but he telleth them that the greateſt Men ſhould find no way to flee from or eſcape this terrible Diſpenſation of God.

36 A voice of the cry of the ſhepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flock ſhall be eard w: for the LORD hath ſpoiled their paſture x.

w That is, there ſhall be heard a great outcry of the Princes and Rulers. x When they ſhall ſee how the Lord hath ſpoiled the Cities in which, and their people upon which they have lived, and amongſt whom they were wont to feed ſecurely.

37 And the peaceable habitations are cut down becauſe of the fiere anger of the LORD y.

y That is, the places where theſe great Men were wont to live ſplendidly, and dwell peaceably and ſecurely, ſhall be as ſurely deſtroyed through the Lord's Anger, as if it were already done.

38 He hath forſaken * his covert as the lion z: for their land is † deſolate, becauſe of the fierceneſs of the oppreſſor, and becauſe of his fierce anger a.

* Chap. 4. 7. † Heb. a deſolation.

z God had before compared himſelf to a Lion, Ver. 30. here he declares himſelf to be about to move like a Lion, who when he goeth out to ſeek his Prey, leaveth his Covert. Vid. Chap. 50. 44. a The effects of this riſing up of God out of his Covert is the deſolation of the Land through the fierceneſs of the Enemy, cauſed from the fierce anger of God now ready to be poured out upon this People.

CHAP. XXVI.

The Prophet, by God's Command, in the Court of the Temple, threatneth that the Temple ſhall be as Shiloh, and the Land a Curſe: Exhorteth to Repentance, 1,——7. He is apprehended and arraigned, 8, —11. His Apology, 12,——15. The Princes clear him by the Example of Micah, 16,——19. and of Urijah, 20,——23. and by the care of Ahikam, 24.

1 IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word from the LORD, ſaying a, a The Prophecy, Chap. 25. is ſaid to have been revealed in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, this in the beginning of his Reign, which makes learned Men think, it ought to have been placed before that. The affairs of the Jews were then in a very deſperate condition, Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, had overcome Joſiah and killed him in Battle, Jehoahaz or Shallum, being made King in his ſtead, 2 Kings 23 30. he had reigned but three Months, and Pharaoh Necho taketh him and impriſoneth him, and lays a Tribute upon the Land of 300 Talents of Silver, and a Talent of Gold, and makes Eliakim King, changing his Name to Jehoiakim, Ver. 33, 34. Now in the beginning of this King's Reign cometh this Word of God to Jeremiah, the People being ſtill hardened and going on in their ſinful practices.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, Stand in the court of the LORD's houſe, and ſpeak unto all the cities of Judah, which come to worſhip in the LORD's houſe, all the words that I command thee to ſpeak unto them b; diminiſh not a word c.

b In the largeſt Court of the Temple, where the moſt may hear what thou ſayeſt, and there ſpeak to all thoſe that dwell in any of the Cities of Judah, (from whence they were wont to come up, more eſpecially thrice in a Year to the Temple to worſhip, Pſal. 122 4) In the Gate or Court of that Houſe wherein they have ſuch a Confidence, do thou ſtand. (So Chap. 7. 2) and declare unto them what I command thee. c Neither ſmoothing what may appear rough, nor ſuppreſſing what may offend them, intirely delivering my Will unto them, not ſhunning to declare unto them the whole Counſel of God, as Paul, Acts 20 27.

3 If ſo be they will hearken, and turn every man from his evil way d, that I may * repent me of the evil which I purpoſe to do unto them, becauſe of the evil of their doings e.

* Chap. 18. 8.

d Not that God was ignorant of their obſtinacy and the hardening of their hearts, which was the future event; but to let us know that their deſtruction would be of themſelves, he would give them both a time and ſpace, and alſo means for Repentance, and the prevention of the Judgments of God coming on them: He did give them time, for it was after this eleven Years before the Captivity of Jehoiakim, and two and twenty before that of Zedekiah: and for Means, God afforded them the Miniſtry of this Prophet. e Repentance applyed to Man, ſignifieth a change of Heart and Counſels, as well as of his courſe of Actions: In the unchangeable God it only ſignifieth the turning of the courſe of his Providence, not bringing that evil upon them for the evil of their doings, which ſuppoſing their progreſs and obſtinacy in their ſinful courſes, he had fully reſolved to bring upon them.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD, If ye will not hearken to me to walk in my law f, which I have ſet before you g.

f A courſe of Actions in Scripture, is ordinarily call'd a way; in which ſence we often read of the way of the Lord, the way of the wicked, the way of the Righteous, &c. and a motion in this Courſe is uſually called walking, Pſal. 1. 1. Ezek. 18. 9. and applyed both to God and Men. To walk in God's Laws is expounded by hearkening unto them, or (as in other places) by obſerving, keeping and doing them. g God is ſaid to have ſet his Laws before them, both in reſpect of their firſt promulgation to them at Sinai, and writing them in Tables; and the daily Expoſitions and urging of them upon their practice by his Servants the Prophets, as it followeth.

5 To hearken to the words of my ſervants the prophets b, * whom I ſent unto you, both riſing up early, and ſending them i, (but ye have not hearkened.)

* Chap. 7. 13. 25. & 11. 7. & 25. 3.

b Thoſe Prophets who in propheſying were my Servants, revealing my Will unto you. Hearkening here is the ſame with hearkening unto God's Laws mentioned, Ver. 4. i Whom, I have made my buſineſs to ſend unto you; and to whom you ought therefore to have hearkened, as unto me, but you have not done it hitherto, 2 Chron. 36. 12. 16.

6 Then will I make this houſe like * Shiloh k, and will make this city a curſe to all the Nations of the earth l.

* 1 Sam. 4. 12. Pſal. 78. 60. Chap. 7. 12, 14.

k Shiloh was the City where the Tabernacle was pitched, and the Ark, the Symbol of God's preſence, was, Judg. 18. 31. & 21. 19 1 Sam. 1. 3. 9. 24. and 3. 21. Out of it the Ark was carried, 1 Sam. 4. 3. when it was taken by the Philiſtines, and was carried no more thither, but reſted in Kirjath-jearim, 1 Sam. 7. 2. where it reſted 20 Years. David fetched it from thence, 2 Sam. 6. 2. So that as the Pſalmiſt tells us, Pſal. 78. 60, 61. God forſook the Tabernacle of Shiloh; here he threateneth to do the like as to the Temple, becauſe of which they had ſuch a confidence. Jeremiah, Chap. 7. 12. had ſpoken much the ſame thing; it is a threatning that God would deprive them of his Ordinances. l To which he addeth a threatning of deſtruction to the City, to that degree, that when Men ſhould curſe any place, they ſhould ſay, God do unto thee as he did to Jeruſalem. We had the like Phraſe, Chap. 24. 9. and have it again, Chap. 29. 18, 22, &c.

7 So the prieſts, and the prophets and all the people heard Jeremiah ſpeaking theſe words in the houſe of the LORD m.

m All the People preſent at that time heard the Prophet, who according to the Command of God, came into the Court of the Lord's Houſe, and diſcharged his Office, ſpeaking theſe words.

8 ¶ Now it came to paſs, that when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking all that the LORD had commanded him to ſpeak n unto all the people, that the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people took him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt ſurely die o.

n Either they had a reverence for the Prophet, or the terror of God fell upon them, ſo as they did not interrupt him till he had fully diſpatched his Errand. o Then the chief of the Prieſts with the aſſiſtance of the People apprehend him, and tell him he ſhould be put to Death.

9 Why haſt thou propheſied in the name of the LORD p, ſaying, This houſe ſhall be like Shiloh, and this city ſhall be deſolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered againſt Jeremiah in the houſe of the LORD q.

p They charge him with being a falſe Prophet, ſpeaking falſe things in the Name of God; their pretence ſeemeth to have been from the Promiſes of God; ſuch as that, Pſal. 132. 13, 14. For the Lord hath choſen Zion, he hath deſired it for his habitation. This is my reſt for ever, here will I dwell, for I have deſired it. Which they interpreted into ſuch a ſenſe, as if they could not by their ſin drive God away from them, and therefore Jeremiah muſt propheſie falſly againſt the Will of God before revealed. p This cauſed a ſeditious Tumult of the People in the Temple, which alarm'd the Civil Magiſtrates.

10 ¶ When the princes of Judah heard theſe things r, then they came up from the kings houſe, unto the houſe of the LORD ſ, and ſat down ‖ at the entry of the new gate of the LORD's houſe t.

r When the Nobles, and other Civil Magiſtrates, heard of the Tumult, occaſioned by Jeremiah's unpleaſing prophecy. ſ They came from the King's Court, where the Nobles and great Officers in Nations uſually are, to the Temple. t And ſat down at the entry of the new gate in the Lord's Houſe; ſome think it was called the New Gate becauſe repaired by Jotham, 2 King. 15. 35. 2 Chron. 27. 3. Some ſay it was the Eaſtern, others, that it was the Weſtern-Gate. It was certainly the place where their Sanhedrim, who were to judge of falſe Prophets were wont to ſit.

11 Then ſpake the prieſts, and the prophets u unto the princes, and to all the people w, ſaying, † This man is worthy to die, for he hath propheſied againſt this city, as ye have heard with your ears x.

† Heb. the judgment of death is for this man.

u In the corrupt ſtate of all Kingdoms, and Cities, the Eccleſiaſtical Officers always were the greateſt Enemies to the Faithful Miniſters of God, as we ſhall find in the whole ſtory both of the Old and New Teſtament. x They ſpeak to the Members of the great Court who are called Princes, and alſo to the people who were in the Court charging Jeremy with Sedition, by propheſying falſly, which was a capital Crime. It was the charge againſt Stephen, Acts 6. 13. that he ſpake blaſphemous words againſt the holy place; to prove this they appeal to thoſe of the people that had heard him.

12 ¶ Then ſpake Jeremiah unto all the princes, and to all the people, ſaying y, The LORD ſent me to propheſie againſt this houſe, and againſt this city all the words that you have heard z.

y The Prieſts having given Jeremiah his Charge, he makes his Defence. z The ſum of which was, he acknowledgeth that he had propheſied againſt the Temple, and againſt the City, and tacitly acknowledgeth their power to take cognizance of ſeditious Perſons, and falſe Prophets, and doth not deny but ſuch Perſons deſerved to die; but denieth that he was a falſe Prophet, or guilty of any deſign to ſtir up ſedition, for he had ſaid nothing but what God had ſent him to ſpeak; and therefore could not propheſie what was falſe, nor was to be charged with any ſeditious deſign.

13 Therefore now * amend your ways and your doings a, and obey the voice of the LORD your God b, and the LORD will * repent him c of the evil that he hath pronounced againſt you.

* Chap. 7. 3.

a It is not I that have pronounced Evil againſt you, but the Lord who made both you and me: You rage againſt me, who am but God's Inſtrument, by whom he lets you know his Mind and Will; it were more adviſable for you to reform your wicked Lives and Practices. b And that by a full obedience to what the Lord hath commanded you in his Law, and by me ſpeaketh to you. c If you will do this, the Lord will change the courſe of his Providence, and do that which in Men is called a repenting, and not bring thoſe evil things upon you, which he, by me his Servant, hath pronounced againſt you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hand d: do with me † as ſeemeth good and meet unto you e.

† Heb. As it is good and right in your eyes.

d That is, I am in your power (as hands often ſignifieth in Scripture.) Jeremiah doth not by this acknowledge any power they had juſtly, thus to reſtrain, and queſtion him. e Nor doth he dare them, to do what they had a natural power to do, by ſaying, Do with me what ſeemeth good unto you; the phraſe imports no more than that he could not hinder their doing with him what they pleaſed. The hands in which he was, were the hands of Violence, not of Juſtice, for though they had a juſt power againſt falſe Prophets, yet they had no ſuch power againſt any Prophet ſent by God, let the matter of his Prophecy be never ſo threatening and ungrateful to them. Therefore he addeth, 15 But know ye for certain, that if ye put me to death, ye ſhall ſurely bring innocent blood upon your ſelves, and upon this city, and upon the inhabitants thereof ∴: for of a truth the LORD hath ſent me unto you, to ſpeak all theſe words in your ears f.

∴ If you make this Sedition, and put me to Death for it, you have a natural power to do it, but you will get nothing by it, but further bring down the Vengeance of God upon you by ſhedding my Blood without a cauſe, the guilt of which will be added to your other guilt, and lie upon you, and upon your City. f For you may think, and talk what you pleaſe, it is a certain truth, that I ſpake nothing out of any evil deſign, nor of my own head; but only what the Lord ſent me to ſpeak.

16 ¶ Then ſaid the princes, and all the people unto the prieſts, and to the prophets g, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath ſpoken to us in the name of the LORD our God h.

g The Judges in this caſe with the aſſent of the People acquit the Prophet, and vindicate him from the Charge of Sedition given againſt him by the corrupt Prieſts, and falſe Prophets, diſtinguiſhing h betwixt one who of his own Head ſpreadeth falſe News, and threatneth evil to a place, and one who doth it by Authority from God, or by Divine Revelation, which is here meant by in the Name of our Lord God. Thus the Civil Magiſtrates taught the Prieſts and Prophets a point of Divinity, which they ought not to have been ignorant of. Some may enquire how the Princes knew that Jeremy ſpake what he ſpake in the Name of the Lord? To which it may be replyed, That Jeremy had been a Prophet now about 20 Years, for he began in the 13th of Joſiah, Chap. 1. 1, 2. Joſiah reigned 31 Years, 2 Kings 22. 1. Then Shallum or Jehoahaz reigned three Months, this was in the beginning of Jehoiakim's Reign, in which time they had had a large Experience both of his Doctrine, and Converſation; and though the Prieſts and Prophets who had had the like experience, were filled with Malice and Prejudice, yet the Princes, and a part of the People were more equal, and though the People were many of them led away with the Prieſts, yet hearing the Prophet's defence, and the Princes judgment upon it, they concur with them to acquit the Prophet.

17 Then roſe up certain of the elders of the land, and ſpake to all the aſſembly of the people, ſaying i, i Probably theſe Elders were ſome of the Court, or elſe Advocates, for they were wont to riſe up, either to plead or to judge, Iſa. 3. 13. Acts 5. 34. They riſe up and apply themſelves to the People to juſtifie their abſolutory ſentence.

18 Micah the Moraſhite k propheſied in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah, and ſpake to all the people of Judah, ſaying l, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts: Zion ſhall be plowed like a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall become heaps, and the mountain of the houſe, as the high places of the foreſt m.

k This was that Micah, whoſe Prophecies are part of holy Writ as appeareth by Micah 1. 1. and 3. 12. where are the very words of the Prophecy here mentioned. l The ſubſtance of that Prophecy was the ſame with this of Jeremiah, that Zion ſhould be plowed up, and the place where the Temple ſtood, ſhould become ſo deſolate that Trees ſhould grow there, as in a Wood or Foreſt.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah and all Judah put him at all to death m? did he not fear the LORD, and beſought the ‖ LORD n? and the LORD repented him of the evil which he had pronounced againſt them o? Thus might we procure great evil againſt our ſouls p.

m The Interrogation here hath the force of a Negation; that is, Hezekiah, and the Sanhedrim in his time did not go about to call him in queſtion for his Life, nor put him to death. His Prophecy had a quite contrary effect on him. n It begat in him an awe and dread of that God, in whoſe Name the Prophet ſpake, and quickened him to apply himſelf to God by earneſt Prayer, and the courſe he took had a very good iſſue. o The Lord did not do what he threatned to do. p Now, if we ſhould take a quite contrary courſe, and put this Man to death, we ſhould do contrary to what that good Prince did, (and that with good ſucceſs) do our ſelves no good, but procure great evil againſt our Souls; that is againſt our ſelves both Bodies and Souls ſtrictly taken.

20 And there was alſo a Man that propheſied in the name of the LORD, Urijah the ſon of Shemaiah of Kirjath-jearim, who propheſied againſt this city, and againſt this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah q.

q This is a piece of Story which we have recorded in no other part of Scripture. Some judge theſe words were the words of the ſame that ſpake before, but this is not likely, for then they had brought one inſtance for acquitting him, another for the condemning of him. They are therefore rather to be interpreted as the words of ſome others, either of the Court who were Enemies to Jeremiah, or of his Accuſers, or their Council, urging a later preſident, in the time of Jehoiakim the King that at this time reigned, who alſo pretended to ſpeak in the Name of the Lord, and whoſe Prophecy was the ſame in ſubſtance with this of Jeremiah.

21 And when Jehoiakim the king, with all his mighty men, and all the princes heard his words, the king ſought to put him to death; but when Urijah heard it he was afraid and fled, and went into Egypt r.

r When Jehoiakim our preſent King, and all his great Men heard of it, (probably by the information of others) they judged it a capital crime, and uſed means to apprehend him, in order to the putting him to death, upon which the Prophet being advertiſed of it, and fearing the iſſue, fled into Egypt.

22 And Jehoiakim the king ſent men into Egypt ſ, namely Elnathan the ſon of Achbor t, and certain men with him into Egypt.

ſ The innocent Prophet conſidered not the King of Judah's Alliance with the King of Egypt, (obliging him upon demand to deliver up any of his Subjects, who being charged with capital Crimes, ſhould flee into his Country for Sanctuary) and fled thither, but the King t ſent after him one of his great Men (mentioned alſo Chap. 36. 12.) with ſome others to his aſſiſtance.

23 And they ſet forth Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him unto Jehoiakim the king, who ſlew him with the ſword, and caſt his dead body into the graves of the † common people u.

† Heb. Sons of the people.

u Theſe Perſons ſent by Jehoiakim, brought back the Prophet by force, he was tried and caſt, judged worthy to die, and put to death, and ignominiouſly buried, not in the Sepulchers of the Prophets, or any Men of Repute and Faſhion, but amongſt the vulgar People. Which, as alſo his diligence to ſend for Vrijah (fled into a foreign Country to ſave his life) ſhewed the great Malice of this Prince againſt the Lord's true Prophets; though it had but very ill effects. The ſumm is (if we take theſe words as the Speech of Jeremiah's Enemies) what do you tell us of what Hezekiah did, you have a later inſtance of it in our preſent King's time, the caſes of Vrijah and of Jeremiah are fully parallelled. So as the caſe is a judged caſe.

24 Neverthelesſ w, the hand of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, was with Jeremiah, that they ſhould not give him into the hand of the people, to put him to death x.

w Though Jeremiah's Enemies pleaded this inſtance of Vrijah, which had this advantage of the other, becauſe it was matter of fact done lately, and a caſe judged in this very King's Reign; yet the hand, that is, the power and intereſt of one Ahikam, who as appears from 2 Kings 22. 12. was one of Joſiah's Counſellors, and the Father of Gedaliah, Chap. 39 14. who upon the taking of the City was made Governour, Chap. 40. 5. was with Jeremiah. x So as through the good Providence of God, Jeremiah was not delivered into the hands of the People, ſome of whom were mutable, and malicious enough, ready to do any thing the Prieſts put them upon. And the after advancement of the Son of this Ahikam to be Governour of Judah, may juſtly be interpreted a Reward in this Life, which God gave him for his kindneſs to his Prophet.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet ſendeth Yokes to five neighbour Kings, thereby foreſhewing their Subjection to Nebuchadnezzar, 1,—7. He exhorteth them to yield, and not to believe falſe Prophets, 8,—11. The like he doth to Zedekiah, 12,—18. The Remnant of the Veſſels ſhall be carried to Babylon, and continue there till the appointed time, 19,—22.

1 IN the beginning of the reign of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, came this word unto Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying a, a Here is a difficulty ariſeth from this Verſe, which there have been various attempts to reſolve, and whether any hath been fully ſatisfactory I doubt. It is ſaid this word of the Lord came to Jeremiah in the beginning of the Reign of Jehoiakim, and Ver. 3. the Prophet is bid to ſend the Bonds and Yokes, by the hand of the Meſſengers which came to Hieruſalem unto Zedekiah King of Judah, who began not to reign till about 11 Years after the beginning of the Reign of Jehoiachim. To ſolve this difficulty, 1. Some think Jehoiakim was a common Name to all the Sons of Joſiah, and that Zedekiah is here called Jehoiakim, but I ſee no foundation for that conjecture from Holy Writ. 2 Others think it is an error in thoſe that copied out the Prophecies, but it is dangerous to admit that. 3. Others think, that the Prophecy came in the beginning of the Reign of Jehoiakim, but was to be concealed until the Reign of Zedekiah. 4. I had rather agree with thoſe who think that this Command came to the Prophet firſt in the time of Jehoiakim, but was to be repeated by the Prophet often, and accordingly was ſo until, and in the time of Zedekiah; not that he always went about with Bonds and Yokes about his Neck, but that by times, he put them on, and went about with them, as a Type of that Bondage, which the Jews were ſuddenly to indure.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD to me, Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them upon thy neck b;

b God commandeth the Prophet to procure, either by his own labour, or with his Money, ſome Yokes with Bonds to make them more faſt; and to put ſome one of them upon his own Neck, that therein he might be a Type both to his own People, and alſo the People afterward mentioned, that they ſhould be in Bondage to the King of Babylon, and their Yoke ſhould be ſo faſtned with Bonds, that they ſhould not be able to ſlip them, or get them from off their Necks.

3 And ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the meſſengers, which come to Jeruſalem unto Zedekiah king of Judah c.

c It was and is the cuſtom of neighbour Princes, to ſend Ambaſſadors into each others Countries to reſide there, and maintain correſpondence on the behalf of their Maſters. Theſe Nations were Neighbours to the Jews, and their Princes had their Ambaſſadors Reſident at Hieruſalem. Jeremiah is directed to carry each of theſe Ambaſſadors a Yoke with a Bond, as a preſent from God to their Maſters; the meaning he is alſo ordered to tell them in the following words.

4 And command them ‖ to ſay unto their maſters, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael d, Thus ſhall ye ſay unto your maſters.

d The Lord of Hoſts, who hath therefore a power over all the Creatures; who though he be in a ſpecial ſenſe the God of Iſrael, yet his Dominion is extended to your Maſters Countries, as well as unto Iſrael.

5 I have made the earth, the man and the beaſt that are upon the ground by my great power, and by my out-ſtretched arm, and * have given it unto whom it ſeemed meet unto me e.

* Dan. 4. 17,25,32.

e To evince to them that his Dominion extendeth to them, he mindeth them, that he was the firſt efficient cauſe of all the Creatures, and made both all Men, and all Beaſts that are upon the Earth, and therefore had a ſpecial propriety in them, and an univerſal power over them, it being in his power to diſpoſe of what was at firſt the work of his hands, and accordingly in the methods and workings of his Providence he did daily diſpoſe of Kingdoms, and Nations according to his pleaſure without being for ſuch diſpoſal of them accountable unto any Perſon.

6 And now have I given all theſe lands into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon my ſervant f, and the * beaſts of the field have I given him alſo to ſerve him g.

* Chap. 28. 14. Dan. 2. 38.

f By the former words God gave the Prophet Authority to aſſert his Dominion, and right to diſpoſe of all Creatures, by theſe he authorizeth him to reveal his Will, concerning the diſpoſal of the Lands of Edom, Moab, Ammon, Tyre and Sidon, viz. that he had diſpoſed of them to Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babylon, whom he calleth his Servant. Becauſe he did the work which he would have him to do; though as God ſaid of the Aſſyrian, Iſa. 10. 7. he meaned not ſo; he had nothing leſs in his thoughts than to obey any command of God. Wicked Men being God's Servants, as the Hawk is the prudent Faulconers Servant, who maketh uſe of the Ravenous quality of the Hawk to get Game for him. 'Twice more at leaſt we find Nebuchadnezzar thus called, Chap. 25. 9. and 43. 10. g God further adds that the Beaſts ſhould ſerve him, by which he either means that the Cattel which were in the poſſeſſion of the Men of thoſe Nations ſhould alſo come into his power; or that God had alſo given the Horſes and Oxen and other Beaſts which he ſhould uſe in his Wars for Carriages, or conveniency, to him, ſo as they ſhould be really ſerviceable to him in his Conqueſts of thoſe Countries.

* Chap. 25. 12.

7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him b and his ſon and his ſons ſon i, * until the very time of his land come k: and then many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve themſelves of him l.

b That is, all theſe Nations; and ſome think that is expreſſed in the Article uſed here demonſtratively, though not ſo taken notice of by our Tranſlators. i And Evil-Merodach his Son, who ſucceeded him, Chap. 52. 31. and Belſhazzar his Grandchild, Dan. 5. 1, 11. k Until the period of his Kingdom ſhall come, (for Nations have their periods) which was after ſeventy Years, according to Chap. 29. 10. during which Years ſome ſay four Princes ruled in Babylon, the Scripture mentions but three. l After that he ſhall himſelf be Conquered, as it came to paſs in Belſhazzar's time, Dan. 5. 30. Darius the Emperour of the Medes taking his Kingdom.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs, that the nation and kingdom which will not ſerve the ſame Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon m, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, that nation will I puniſh, ſaith the LORD, with the ſword, and with the famine, aud with the peſtilence, until I have conſumed them by his hand n.

m That is, that will not upon Nebuchadnezzar's coming againſt them, freely ſubmit to his power, and yield themſelves to his Subjection. n I will humble them by my ſore Judgments of Sword, Peſtilence, and Famine; and make them yield, and they ſhall not avoid what through their ſtubbornneſs they ſtudy to avoid, but ſhall at laſt be brought under by his Power.

† Heb. Dreams.

9 Therefore hearken not ye to your prophets o, nor to your diviners p, nor to your || dreamers q, nor to your enchanters, nor to your ſorcerers r, which ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon ſ.

o It is uncertain whether theſe words were part of the Meſſage which Jeremiah by Command from God, ſent to the Kings above mentioned, or the Prophets words to the Jews, for as thoſe Pagan Nations, had Diviners, Dreamers, Enchanters and Sorcerers; ſo the Jews had them alſo, Iſa. 47. 12, 13. the meaning is, hearken to none of them that pretend as from God to foretell your eſcape from this Judgment, and not being brought into Servitude to the King of Babylon, for you ſhall ſerve the King of Babylon. By Prophets he means ſuch as pretended to ſome Divine Revelations. p By Diviners, he means Southſayers, of which were ſeveral ſorts. q By Dreamers, ſuch as pretend to Revelations in their ſleep. r By Inchanters and Sorcerers, he means their Aſtrologers, and ſuch as uſed Necromancy, or by any unlawful ways and means, pretended to know the Mind and Will of God.

10 For they propheſie a lye unto you t, to remove you far from your land, and that I ſhould drive you out, and ye ſhould periſh u.

t Let them come by their pretended knowledge which way they will, what they ſay is falſe. u And the iſſue of your belief of what they ſay, will be nothing but your carrying into Captivity out of your own Country, and your ruine and deſtruction.

11 But the nations that bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him, thoſe will I let remain ſtill in their own land, ſaith the LORD, and they ſhall till it, and dwell therein w.

w Thoſe that upon the firſt Summons, or without making any hoſtile oppoſition, ſhall yield themſelves Servants to the King of Babylon, they ſhall remain ſtill, and be left in the Land to till the ground, and ſhall dwell therein. It is the time when God is reſolved to put an end to the Kingdom of Judah for a time, and to the other Nations mentioned for ever: There is therefore no reſiſting of God's Counſels; thoſe that moſt quietly yield will be in the beſt Condition.

12 ¶ I ſpake alſo to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all theſe words, ſaying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him, and his people, and live x.

x Some think this was at another time, but it is moſt probable it was the ſame time.

13 Why will ye die, thou and thy people, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, as the LORD hath ſpoken againſt the nation that will not ſerve the king of Babylon y.

y That is, why wilt thou wilfully not only ruine thy ſelf, but thy innocent People by the Sword, the Famine, and the Peſtilence? the word is ſpoken by the Lord, that all Nations who will not willingly yield to the King of Babylon, ſhall be thus deſtroyed.

* Chap. 14. 14. & 23. 21. & 29. 8.

14 Therefore hearken not unto the words of the prophets that ſpeak unto you, ſaying, Ye ſhall not ſerve the King of Babylon: for they propheſie * a lye unto you z.

z We ſhall find throughout all the Jewiſh Story, that wicked Princes never wanted falſe Prophets, Eccleſiaſtical Miniſters who would entitle God to what they ſpake in humour to their Governours. Such Miniſters they would have, and uſually they proved fatal to them, ſo did Ahab's Prophets, that incouraged him to go up to Ramoth-Gilead, and Zedekiah's Prophets, who perſwaded him not to ſubmit to the King of Babylon; Jeremy perſwades Zedekiah, not to hearken to them; that is, not to believe them, nor follow their advice; and he giveth him a good reaſon, becauſe what they ſaid was falſe.

15 For I have not ſent them ſaith the LORD, yet they propheſie † a lye in my name a, that I might drive you out, and that ye might periſh b, ye, and the prophets that propheſie unto you c.

a They make uſe of my Name, and pretend to ſay what they ſay by Commiſſion from me, ſaith the Lord, but there is no ſuch thing, I never gave them authority to ſpeak any ſuch things. b And though poſſibly they do not deſign your ruine by theſe practices, for none can be thought to deſign their own Ruine, yet that will be the end of it, for by this means your hearts are hardened againſt the Revelations of my Will, by which I ſhall be provoked to give you up to Ruine, nor ſhall they eſcape, for they ſhall be ruined with you.

* Chap. 28. 3.

16 Alſo I ſpake to the prieſts, and to all this people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Hearken not to the words of your Prophets that propheſie unto you, ſaying, Behold the * veſſels of the LORD's houſe ſhall now ſhortly be brought again from Babylon; for they propheſie a lye unto you d.

d The Prophet, like God's faithful Servant, ſpared none, but faithfully gave warning to all ſorts, to take heed of the falſe Prophets, that undertook to foretel that the Veſſels of the Temple carried away in the time of Jehoiakim, and his Son Jehojakin or Jeconiah, of which we read, 2 Chron. 36.7, 10. ſhould be brought back again to Hieruſalem, in a ſhort time.

17 Hearken not unto them, ſerve the king of Babylon and live: wherefore ſhould this city be laid waſte e?

e Believe them not, but ſatisfie your ſelves as to God's Providence with reſpect to you, and be content to be ſubject to the king of Babylon, ſo may you have your lives for a prey; though you be ſtraitned as to your Accommodations and plenteous and ſplendid way of life, if you do not, your City will certainly be laid waſte, and why ſhould you pull ſuch a Judgment upon your own Heads?

18 But if they be prophets, and if the word of the LORD be with them f, let them now make interceſſion to the LORD of hoſts, that the veſſels which are left in the houſe of the LORD, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and at Jeruſalem go not to Babylon g.

f If they be true Prophets, and have any Communion with God, inſtead of foretelling the bringing back of the Veſſels carried away. g Let them apply themſelves to hinder the carrying away of what Veſſels yet remain, and that either in the Houſe of the Lord, or the King's Houſe, or in Hieruſalem, which is to be done no other way, than by pleading with God to turn away his Wrath, and not to bring thoſe ſore Judgments which he is moſt certainly bringing upon you.

19 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts concerning the pillars, and concerning the ſea, and concerning the baſes, and concerning the reſidue of the veſſels that remain in this city h.

h Theſe were all parts of the Temple or Veſſels uſed in it. Vid. 1 Kings 7.

* Chap. 24 1.

20 Which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took not, when he carried away * captive Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, from Jeruſalem to Babylon, and all the nobles of Judah and Jeruſalem i.

i Concerning the perſons and things which the King of Babylon then carried away. See 2 Kings 24. 13, 14, 15.

21 Yea, thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, concerning the veſſels that remain in the houſe of the LORD, and in the houſe of the king of Judah, and of Jeruſalem k.

k The Prophet inlargeth his prophetical Threatning, and makes it extend to all other Veſſels of price, in the Houſes of the King, the Nobles, or more wealthy Citizens.

* 2 Chron. 36. 21. Chap. 29. 10.

32 They ſhall be carried to Babylon, and there ſhall they be l until the day that * I viſit them, ſaith the LORD m, then will I bring them up, and reſtore them to this place n.

l See the fulfilling of this Prophecy, 2 Kings 25. 13, 14, 15. 2 Chron. 36. 18. and that they abode in Babylon till the end of the Captivity, appeareth from Dan. 5. 2. where we read of Belſhazzar's ſending for them to drink Wine in, at his fatal Feaſt. m That is until the expiration of the time of the Jewiſh Captivity, which was 70 Years. n The fulfilling of that part of the Prophecy, we have Ezra 1. 7, 8, 9. in theſe words, Alſo Cyrus the King brought forth the veſſels of the houſe of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Hieruſalem; and had put them in the houſe of his Gods. Even thoſe did Cyrus King of Perſia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the Treaſurer, and numbred them unto Shezbazzar, the Prince of Judah. And this is the number of them, thirty chargers of gold, a thouſand chargers of ſilver, nine and twenty knives, thirty baſons of gold, ſilver baſons of a ſecond ſort four hundred and ten, and other veſſels a thouſand. All the veſſels of gold and of ſilver were five thouſand and four hundred. All theſe did Shezbazzar bring up with them of the captivity, that were brought up from Babylon to Hieruſalem. So punctually was Jeremiah's Prophecy in this place fulfilled, and ſo exactly doth one part of Holy Writ agree with another, which are great Arguments to prove the Divine Authority of the Holy Scriptures.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Hananiah's falſe Prophecy: Jeremiah's Anſwer, 1,——9. Hananiah breaketh Jeremiah's Yoke: He foretelleth an Iron Yoke, and Hananiah's Death, 10.——17.

1 AND it came to paſs the ſame year, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fourth year a, and in the fifth month, that Hananiah the ſon of Azur the prophet, which was of Gibeon b, ſpake unto me, in the houſe of the LORD, in the preſence of the prieſts, and of all the people, ſaying c, a Here is a great appearing difficulty, viz. how the fourth Year, could be called the beginning of Zedekiah's Reign, who reigned in all but 11 Years, which if they be divided into three parts, the fourth Year can hardly be in any propriety called the beginning of his Reign. Many things are ſaid to untie this knot, which by ſuch as are curious, may be read both in the Engliſh Annotations, and in Mr. Pool's Synopſis, I ſhall only repeat what ſeemed to both them, and ſeemeth alſo to me the beſt ſolution. Though it be ſaid in the fourth Year, yet it is not ſaid, in the fourth Year of Zedekiah's Reign; they therefore think, that the fourth Year of the Sabbatical courſe is here intended. The Jews had a kind of Jubilee every ſeventh Year, it was a Year when the Land was to reſt, and not be Tilled, Lev. 25. 1, 2, 3, 4. and in that Year they were to releaſe their Debtors and Servants, Deut. 15. 1. which notion of this fourth Year is very probable, if the Year wherein the City was beſieged, was a Sabbatical Year, or Year of reſt. For if Zedekiah's firſt Year were the fourth of the ſeven that made the Sabbatical Circle, his third Year was another Sabbatical Year, and his tenth another, preſently after which the City was taken. b Of this Hananiah we read no more in Scripture, it is probable from the place where he lived, which was one of the Cities of the Prieſts; that he was a Prieſt, but no more than a pretended Prophet. c He comes to Jeremy in the Temple, where he was wont to deliver his Prophecies, to confront him in the preſence both of the Prieſts and the People, ſaying, d The falſe Prophet counterfeiteth the ſtile of the true Prophets, both in the Names which he gives unto God, and in ſpeaking of what God would do, as if already done.

2 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael, ſaying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon d.

† Heb. two years of days.

3 Within two † full years will I bring again into this place all the veſſels of the LORD's houſe, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon e.

e It appeareth by what we met with, Chap. 27. 16. that this was the conſtant Song of the City Prophets at that time, but we read not of any but this Hananiah, who was ſo confident as to limit a time, nor doth he mention any long time, he ſaith within two full Years, but he ſpake falſly, for it appeareth from Chap. 52. 31. that Jeconiah was there 37 Years.

4 And I will bring again to this place, Jeconiah the ſon of Jehoiakim king of Judah, with all the † captives of Judah, that went into Babylon, ſaith the LORD; for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon f.

f Only it is admirable, that being ſo nigh the King's Court he ſhould mention the return of Jehoiakim, or Jeconiah, which had it been true; muſt have been to the prejudice of Zedikiah, for Jeconiah was the right Heir to the Crown, being the Son of Jehoiakim, Zedekiah his Uncle was put in by the Conquerour, but it is probable, he ſaw Jehoiakim was more acceptable to the People, and that the Faction for the Nephew was greater than for the Uncle. Falſe Teachers are always on the greateſt ſide, either for number, or for power.

5 Then the prophet Jeremiah ſaid unto the prophet Hananiah in the preſence of the prieſts, and in the preſence of all the people that ſtood in the houſe of the LORD.

6 Even the prophet Jeremiah ſaid, Amen g: the LORD do ſo, the LORD perform thy words, which thou haſt propheſied, to bring again the veſſels of the LORD's houſe, and all that is carried away captive from Babylon into this place.

g The true Prophet Jeremiah, ſpeaks to this falſe Prophet with as much boldneſs as he had ſpoke to him with impudence, and in the ſame preſence of the Prieſts, and of the People, but with a preface of great Charity and Modeſty. Amen (ſaith he) which Particle is uſed in Holy Writ, either as a Particle of Aſſertion, as it is moſt ordinarily uſed both in this ſingle form, and doubled by our Saviour in the Goſpel. Or, as a Particle of wiſhing and praying, upon which account it is uſed in the Lord's Prayer, though there it ſignifieth more than here, viz. a Faith or Belief, that God will grant the Petitions, as well as a deſire that he would grant them; here it ſignifieth no more than the latter, and is expounded by the next words: Nor indeed doth it, or can it here ſignifie ſo much as an abſolute hearty deſire, for Jeremiah could not heartily pray for that which God had told him he would not do. Jeremy therefore muſt be underſtood here, either to have ſpoken only as a Man, teſtifying the kindneſs he had for his Country, then the ſence is; If it be the Will of God, or may it be the Will of God; I wiſh what thou haſt ſaid might come to paſs; or elſe in ſenſu compoſito, q. d. The Lord give unto this People an heart to reform and amend their ways, that the words which thou haſt ſpoken may come to paſs.

7 Nevertheleſs, hear thou now this word that I ſpeak in thine ears, and in the ears of all the people h.

h The word which I am now about to ſpeak concerneth thee, and not thee alone, but all the people, therefore do thou mark it well, and let them mark it alſo.

8 The Prophets that have been before me, and before thee of old, propheſied both againſt many countries, and againſt great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of peſtilence i.

i That is, thou and I are not the firſt Prophets that have foretold to Countries and Nations the great Judgments of God coming upon them, War, Evil, Peſtilence, by evil, ſome think is to be underſtood Famine, but it is not much material.

9 The prophet which propheſyeth of peace k, when the word of the prophet ſhall come to paſs, then ſhall the prophet be known that the LORD hath truly ſent him l.

k By Peace is here meant Proſperity, all good, being by the Hebrews uſually underſtood under the notion of Peace. The Prophets either propheſied evil or good, according as God revealed his Will unto them; what way was for them to diſcover whether the Prophets were truly ſent of God, yea, or no? l It was known by the Event, this was the Rule God ſet, Deut. 18. 22. When a Prophet ſpeaketh in the name of the Lord, if the thing follow not, nor come to paſs, that is the thing which the Lord hath not ſpoken. But this was not true on the contrary part, for a Prophet might ſpeak a thing, which thing might come to paſs, and yet he be none of the Lord's Prophets, nor to be hearkned to, as appeareth from Deut. 13. 1, 2. Some have thought, that Prophecies concerning good things always were brought to paſs if the Prophet were a true Prophet, but it appeareth otherwiſe from Chap. 18. 9, 10. Prophecies both concerning good and evil, might not come to paſs, and yet the Prophet be a true Prophet, in caſe the Manners of the People altered; for in all Promiſes or Threatnings of temporal good or evil, there is a Condition to be underſtood; God neither by his Promiſes bindeth himſelf to do good to wicked Men, nor by his Threatnings tieth up his own hands from ſhewing mercy to ſuch as turn good; but ſome obſerve yet this difference, that good things are in Scripture never abſolutely promiſed, but they come certainly to paſs, and are fulfilled, but God for terrour often threatneth evil things, without expreſſing any condition, when notwithſtanding a Condition is underſtood, upon the fulfilling of which, the threatning cometh not to paſs, as it was in the caſe of Niniveh, upon the Prophecy of Jonah. But the greater difficulty is to determine by what rule they could judge one a true or falſe Prophet, if they might not always judge by the event, the coming, or not coming to paſs of what he propheſied. I anſwer, they were to judge from the Word of God, as well as from the Event, Iſa. 8. 20. therefore Deut. 13. 1, 2. the People were commanded not to hearken to that Prophet, which ſhould confirm what he ſaid by a Sign or Wonder, if his ſcope were by it to perſwade People to Idolatry. So that if a Prophet propheſied good, and proſperity to any People, the People were to conſider what his ſcope was, and whether what he propheſied was according to the Law of God, which ſpeaketh no good to a wicked impenitent People; and tho what he ſaid came to paſs, yet he was to be determined no true Prophet, if what he ſaid were contrary to God's revealed Will, or his ſcope in ſpeaking of it was to harden People in ſinful courſes, or to ſeduce them from the right ways of God. Jeremiah here, as to the tryal of the truth of his, and Hananiah's contrary Prophecies appealeth to the Event, telling him, that he as a Man, heartily wiſhed that his words might prove true.

10 Then Hananiah the prophet took the * yoke from off the Prophet Jeremiah's neck, and brake it m. * Chap. 27. 2.

m The Prophet Jeremy's coming into the Temple, with a Yoke upon his Neck, as a Type of the Yoke of the King of Babylon, under which the Jews were to come, gave occaſion to the affront given him by the falſe Prophet; in a further degree of impudence, being thus confronted by Jeremiah, he pulls the Yoke off Jeremiah's Neck, and breaketh it in an high and impudent contempt of God, and his Will revealed by this Prophet, and confirmed by this Yoke as a Sign, adding alſo the following words.

11 And Hananiah ſpake in the preſence of all the people, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Even ſo will I break the yoke of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon * from the neck of all nations within the ſpace of two full years n. And the prophet Jeremiah went his way o. * Chap. 27. 7.

n As God hath his Sacraments to confirm the truth of his Word, of which his Miniſters are the Stewards and Adminiſtrators; ſo the Devil hath his Sacraments, of which his Prophets are the Adminiſtrators. God by his Prophet Jeremy had revealed his Will, as to the King of Babylon's ſucceſs againſt many Nations, and bringing them into his Servitude; as a Sacrament or Sign of this, he had commanded Jeremiah to put on a Yoke with Bonds; Hananiah the falſe Prophet, cometh in the Name of God, and declares the contrary, that within two Years God would break the King of Babylon, and free the Nations in ſubjection to him; and as a Sacrament or Sign to gain credit to this falſhood, he plucks off Jeremiah's Yoke, and breaks it, and expounds himſelf, that God ſhould ſo break the King of Babylon's Yoke from the Neck of all Nations, and pretends he had a Commiſſion from God to ſay this. o Jeremiah not able to indure to hear ſuch Lyes, goeth away in Teſtimony of his diſſent from him, and adherence to what he had ſaid.

12 Then the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah the prophet after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from off the neck of the prophet Jeremiah ſaying p.

p Some time after this, God taking notice of the affront, put upon his Prophet Jeremy, for faithfully diſcharging the Meſſage with which he had entruſted him, revealeth his Mind unto Jeremiah, that he might declare it unto the People, and particularly to this falſe Prophet.

13 Go and tell Hananiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, Thou haſt broken the yokes of wood, but thou ſhalt make for them yokes of iron q.

q Jeremiah ſeeing the impudence of Hananiah, and that his further diſcourſe with him would do no good, but it may be have cauſed more danger to himſelf, propheſying what was more ingrateful to the People, than what the falſe Prophet propheſied, and poſſibly deſirous further to know the Will of God withdrew himſelf. Soon after God ſends him back to the People, and to Hananiah with this Meſſage; That he by his falſe Prophecy had done the People no good, but much hurt, further incenſed God againſt them, and provoked him to make their Judgment heavier, giving them iron yokes, inſtead of thoſe of wood.

14 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, * I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all theſe nations, that they may ſerve Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and they ſhall ſerve him, and * I have given him the beaſts of the field alſo r.

* Deut 28. 48.
* Chap. 27. 6.

r For notwithſtanding all he had ſaid, God was reſolved to juſtifie his word, and to bring them under ſubjection to Nebuchadnezzar, and to give all they had alſo into his power.

15 Then ſaid the prophet Jeremiah unto Hananiah the Prophet, Hear now Hananiah, The Lord hath not ſent thee, but thou makeſt this people to truſt in a lye ſ.

ſ Jeremiah being a ſecond time confirmed in the truth of his Revelation, and having likewiſe a ſpecial Revelation relating to this falſe Prophet, comes now and tells him his doom, viz. that he ſhould die within a year, becauſe he had taught people to believe, and to hope for, and truſt to what was falſe, and they were never like to ſee.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will caſt thee from off the face of the earth: this year ſhalt thou die, becauſe thou haſt taught * ‖ rebellion againſt the LORD t.

* Deut. 13. 5. Chap. 29. 32. ‖ Heb. Revolt.

t And becauſe by this his Doctrine he had made God a Lyar, contradicting his Will revealed by Jeremy, and by it taught People to hold out againſt Nebuchadnezzar, and not quietly to yield to him.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the ſame year, in the ſeventh month u.

u That is, within the compaſs of a year after that Jeremiah had ſpoken theſe words, within two Months after that Jeremy had thus propheſied, as appeareth from Ver. 1. ſo dangerous a thing it is for Miniſters to teach People contrary to the revealed Will of God.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jeremiah's Letter to the Captives in Babylon, to be quiet there, 1,——7. Not to believe falſe Prophets; nor expect to return till after 50 Years, 8,——14. The Deſtruction of thoſe who remained in Judah for their Diſobedience, 15,——19. The fearful end of two Lying Prophets, 20,——23. Shemaiah's Letter againſt Jeremiah, 24,——29. who readeth his Doom, 30,——32.

1 NOW theſe are the words of the letter, that Jeremiah the prophet ſent from Jeruſalem unto the reſidue of the elders, which were carried away captives, and to the prieſts, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jeruſalem to Babylon a.

a There were two carryings into the captivity of Babylon, the latter about 11 or 12 Years after the former, the firſt was in the time of Jehoiakin, of which we read in 2 Kings 24. 14. When the princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even ten thouſand captives, and all the craftſmen and ſmiths were carried away, as we read there, amongſt whom were ſome Prieſts and Prophets.

2 After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and ‖ the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jeruſalem, and the carpenters, and the ſmiths were departed from Jeruſalem b.

* 2 Kings 24. 12. &c.

b After this Captivity.

3 By the hand of Elaſah the ſon of Shaphan, and Gemariah the ſon of Hilkiah, whom Zedekiah king of Judah ſent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, ſaying c, c Zedekiah the King of Judah having ſome occaſion to ſend two Meſſengers, named Elaſa and Gemariah to Babylon, whether to carry his Tribute Money, or upon what other Errand is not expreſſed. Jeremiah knowing that as there were ſome falſe Prophets at Jeruſalem, who fed People with hopes of a ſpeedy return, ſo there were ſome with them in Babylon, who did the like, (two of which he afterwards in this Chapter reflecteth upon) writeth the following Letter, and ſends it by theſe two Meſſengers, to quiet the Peoples Minds, and to help to compoſe their Spirits, diſturb'd by theſe falſe Prophets, and raiſed up to vain and idle hopes for which there was no ground at all.

4 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael, unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have cauſed to be carried away from Jeruſalem to Babylon d, d So as this Letter was not wrote from himſelf adviſing them charitably, but he had commiſſion from God, by whom he mindeth them, as the principal efficient cauſe they were ordered to be carried away by, though their own ſins were the meritorious cauſe, and Nebuchadnezzar with his Captains and Soldiers were the inſtrumental cauſe.

5 * Build ye houſes, and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them. * Ver. 28.

6 Take ye wives, and beget ſons and daughters, and take wives for your ſons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear ſons and daughters, that ye may be increaſed there, and not diminiſhed e.

e That is, be not uneaſie in your minds, not reſolving what to do, through the Prophecies of the falſe Prophets, that tell you the Captivity ſhall be but two Years, or at leaſt very ſhort; but do all things which you would do, if Babylon were to be your fixed habitation, (as it is like to be for ſeventy Years, ſay the Prophets, what they pleaſe) Marry, and give, and take in Marriage, do whatſoever it becometh prudent Men to do, who would accommodate themſelves in a place, where they are like to abide, and preſerve their Families, that they might not be utterly extinguiſhed. The words muſt not be underſtood as a Precept, obliging all in the Captivity to do every of theſe things, which it may be they were not all able to do, but as a counſel and advice not to forbear any thing of this nature, which they would do, if they did fully believe they were to abide in a place ſeventy Years.

7 And ſeek the peace of the city, whither I have cauſed you to be carried away captives f, and pray unto the LORD for it g, for in the peace thereof ſhall ye have peace h.

f That is, ſeek to God for it, or rather live peaceably in it, and by all lawful means ſeek the welfare of it, do not raiſe any Tumults or Seditions, nor take part with thoſe that do. g And while your Captivity laſts do you pray for it, (from whence thoſe who think that Chriſt hath added new Moral Precepts, and reckon this Precept of praying for Enemies, as one may underſtand, that praying for Enemies was but a branch of that Love to our Neighbour, which God required under the Old Teſtament) for it was lawful for them to pray againſt Babylon at other times, Pſal. 137. 8. Jer. 51. 35. but when God hath put a Yoke upon our Necks, we muſt patiently wait until he takes it off. The Lawyers ſay, that Protection requireth Allegiance to Governours; This Text lets us know alſo that it requireth our Prayers for them, though they be Conquerours and Tyrants. h For God having by his Providence, caſt us under their power, our Peace dependeth upon theirs.

8 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Let not your prophets, and your diviners that be in the midſt of you, * deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cauſe to be dreamed i.

* Chap. 14. 14. & 23. 21. & 27. 15.

i The Lord knows that you have a Company of falſe Prophets, that tell you other things, and promiſe you a ſudden return out of your Captivity, pretending to know it by Revelation from God, or by divination, &c. or to have it diſcovered to them in Dreams. It is the Will of God that you ſhould not hearken to them, for they do but deceive you, and ye are acceſſary to your own ruine; they ſee you are pleaſed to hear ſuch Stories, and that cauſeth them to dream, as Chap. 5. 31. The prophets propheſie falſly, and the prieſts bear rule by their means, and my people love to have it ſo, thus Iſa. 30. 10. They ſaid to the ſeers, ſee not, and to the prophets, propheſie not to us right things, ſpeak unto us ſmooth things, propheſie deceits. Falſe Teachers and Guides of Peoples Souls, are the greateſt Plague can befal a Nation, People from them expecting to hear the Mind of God, and for the moſt part, People are acceſſary to their own ruine in them: It can indeed hardly be imagined, what other Temptation, perſons whoſe office it is to reveal the Mind of God, ſhould have to do otherwiſe, but the humouring and pleaſing of a corrupt People, who through their fondneſs of their Luſts are not patient of ſound Doctrine, ſo as though the Church of God hath in all Ages been troubled with Dreamers, yet it is a wicked People that cauſeth them to dream.

† Heb. in a Lye. 9 For they propheſie † falſly unto you in my name; I have not ſent them, ſaith the LORD.

10 For thus ſaith the LORD, that after ſeventy years be accompliſhed at Babylon, I will viſit you, and perform my good word towards you, in cauſing you to return to this place k.

k From this Text appears that the ſeventy Years Captivity were to be accounted from the firſt carrying into Captivity in the time of Jehojakin, ſo that 11 Years of it were elapſed, before Zedekiah was carried away. Whatever, ſaith the Prophet, theſe Dreamers tell you, you muſt abide 70 Years in Babylon accounted from your firſt going thither, it is therefore your Wiſdom to acquieſce in the Will of God, and to compoſe your ſelves, and to incourage you, the Lord by me aſſureth you, that after thoſe 70 Years ſhall be expired, as he hath now viſited you with evil, ſo he will viſit you for good, and fulfil the promiſe he hath made to you, and you ſhall return again to Jeruſalem: we have the fulfilling of this recorded in 2 Chron. 36. 21, 22. Ezra 1. 1. The Promiſe was before, Chap. 25. 12. and 27. 22. Daniel underſtood it from the words of this Prophecy, Dan. 9. 2. which put him upon Prayer, at the expiration of that time.

11 For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, ſaith the LORD, thoughts of peace, and not † Heb. end and expectation. of evil, to give you an † expected end l.

l This Deliverance will not depend upon your Merits, but upon my own Mercy, and kind thoughts and purpoſes I have for the Seed of Abraham my Servant, and I am reſolved in my own thoughts what to do, I intend not the blotting out of the Name of Iſrael from the Earth, but to give ſuch an end to their trouble as themſelves expect and deſire, though not ſo ſoon as they may expect it, being deceived by their Prophets. There ſhall be an end of your Captivity in my time, and that is after you ſhall have fulfilled 70 Years in that Captivity.

* Dan. 9. 3, &c. 12 Then ſhall ye * call upon me, and ye ſhall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you m.

m I will not only give you a temporal Salvation and Deliverance, and bring you into your own Land, but you ſhall go thither with new Hearts, you ſhall worſhip Idols no more, but you ſhall worſhip me, and be ſerious and diligent in your Addreſſes and Applications to me, and I will liſten to you in thoſe Applications.

* Lev. 26. 40. Deut 30. 1 13 And * ye ſhall ſeek me, and find me, when ye ſhall ſearch for me with all your heart n.

n That is, ſincerely; as Pſal. 119. 2.

*Deut 4. 7. Pſal. 32. 6. and 46. 2. Iſa. 55. 6. * Chap. 23. 3. 14 And * I will be found of you, ſaith the LORD, and I will turn away your captivity, and * I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I have driven you, ſaith the LORD, and I will bring you again into the place, whence I cauſed you to be carried away captive w.

w This Verſe containeth no more than was ſaid before, only it is repeated in a little different Phraſe, for the further confirmation of their Faith, and the promiſe is a little inlarged. God ſaith, he will be found of them; that is, he will anſwer them. It is expreſſed in this notion to correſpond with the term ſeeking, by which Prayer is expreſſed, and to let us know, that thoſe that will have God's favour muſt find it; which implyeth a ſeeking, and inquiry after it. The promiſe which before mentioned only their return from Babylon, is inlarged, and made here to extend to all places whither they were driven, for though the Body of the People were carried to Babylon, yet it is more than probable, that many of them ſhifted for themſelves into other Countries, and were in Exile, but not in Captivity. Cyrus his Proclamation, 2 Chron. 36. 22, 23. extended to his whole Empire.

15 ¶ Becauſe ye have ſaid, The LORD hath raiſed us up prophets in Babylon x.

x The Prophet here turneth his Speech to ſome wicked Jews, that were in Babylon, or in Judæa, and more believed ſome falſe Prophets, who told them of a much quicker return, than Jeremy telling them the truth from the Mouth of God.

16 Know, that thus ſaith the LORD, of the king that ſitteth upon the throne of David y, and of all the people that dwell in this city, and of your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivity.

y The word know is, as ſome think, needleſly ſupplied, for the following Particle might be as well tranſlated, for, or becauſe, or therefore. By the King he meaneth Zedekiah, whom he chuſeth to expreſs under the notion of him that ſitteth upon the Throne of David, to take away the vain hopes which the Jews conceived from the promiſes which God had made to David and to his Seed.

* Chap. 24. 10. * Chap. 24. 8. 17 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Behold I will ſend upon them the * ſword, the famine and the peſtilence, and will make them like * vile figs that cannot be eaten, they are ſo evil.

18 And I will perſecute them with the ſword, and with the famine, and with the peſtilence, and * will deliver them to be removed to all the kingdoms of earth, † * to be a curſe, and an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, and a reproach among all the Nations whither I have driven them z. * Deut. 28. 25. Chap. 15. 4 & 34. 17. † Heb for a Curſe. * Chap. 42. 18.

z Theſe Verſes contain no more than the threatning which we have had more than once before. He had compared them to vile Figs, Chap. 24. 8. and Ver. 9. and 10. there threatned them with being made a Reproach, a Proverb, a Taunt, and a Curſe; and conſuming them with the Sword, Famine, and Peſtilence; the ſame thing before delivered by word of Mouth to thoſe in Judæa, is here repeated in a Letter to that part of the Jews in Babylon, to take them off from giving credit to their falſe Prophets whether in Judæa or in Babylon, who deluded them with the Promiſes of a ſpeedy return. Believe it (ſaith the Prophet) you ſhall be ſo far from returning whatever your idle Prophets tell you, that your Brethren that are here ſhall be brought to you, or deſtroyed with the Sword, the Famine, and the Peſtilence, or ſcattered into other Kingdoms, where they ſhall be made, a Curſe and an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing and a reproach.

19 Becauſe they have not hearkned to my words, ſaith the LORD a, which * I ſent unto them by my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early, and ſending them b, but ye would not hear ſaith the LORD c. * Chap. 25. 4. & 35. 33.

a A contempt of the Word of the Lord was the cauſe of this Peoples ruine, and will be the cauſe of ruine to any people. See Chap. 7. 26. and 11. 7, 8. and 17. 23. b Leſt they ſhould ſay that they only diſobeyed the Prophets, God mindeth them, that in not hearkning to them, they did not hearken to him. The ſame thing Chriſt ſaith of the Goſpel Miniſters, Luk. 10. 16. The not believing, or not obeying, what Miniſters teach not in a due diſcharge of their Office of revealing the Will of God, is no contempt of God, but of them who for that cauſe deſerve to be contemned; but ſuppoſing that what Miniſters deliver be the Mind and Will of God revealed in holy Writ, and but a true explication, and application of that, not to hearken to God, and not to hearken to them is the ſame thing. c Ye wilfully refuſed to believe them, ſpeaking the Truth to you in my Name, and to obey thoſe monitions they gave you by my direction. All this was a not hearing God.

20 ¶ Hear ye therefore the word of the LORD, all ye of the captivity whom I have ſent from Jeruſalem to Babylon d.

d Thoſe Phraſes I have ſent, and I have driven, &c. are diligently to be obſerved by us. There is no evil in Cities or Nations, which is an evil of puniſhment, but whoever be the inſtruments to bring it, God is the Author of it. Theſe Phraſes alſo ſignified to thoſe Jews, that God was likelieſt to know beſt how long they ſhould ſtay there, becauſe he ſent them thither.

21 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, of Ahab the ſon of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the ſon of Maaſeiah, which propheſie a lye unto you in my name, Behold I will deliver them into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he ſhall ſlay them before your eyes e.

e Of theſe two Perſons we read no more in Holy Writ; that they pretended to be Prophets, that they abuſed the Name of God, pretending to reveal his Will, when as what they ſaid was not the Will of God, but a falſhood, we learn out of this Verſe, and that they were both of them burnt by the King of Babylon, we find in Ver. 22. what the falſhoods they publiſhed were, is not expreſſed, but it is moſt probable they were ſome of thoſe that pretended that God had revealed to them, that within two Years, or a ſhort time, the Captives carried away with Jehoiakim, ſhould return out of Babylon. God here tells thoſe that were of the Captivity, that thoſe two Wretches ſhould themſelves be ſlain by the King of Babylon.

22 * And of them ſhall be taken up a curſe by all the captivity of Judah, which are in Babylon, ſaying, The LORD make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the king of Babylon roaſted in the fire f. * See Gen. 48. 20.

f As falſe Teachers are of the higheſt ſort of Tranſgreſſors, ſpeaking lyes in the Name and under pretence of the Authority of the God of Truth: So God in his providence ordinarily makes them the greateſt Examples of his Vengeance. God threatneth to bring them to an end that ſhould turn into a Proverb, that when Men had a mind to curſe others, wiſhing them the greateſt evils, they ſhould pray to God to make them like Ahab and Zedekiah, whom the King of Babylon burnt, or roaſted in the fire, the word קלם ſignifieth both, Levit. 2. 14. and roaſting ſignifieth only to burn by degrees, which probably was the ſpecifical puniſhment of theſe two falſe Prophets, for we learn from the inſtance of the three Children, Dan. 3. 19. that the conſuming of Perſons ſlowly in a fiery Furnace, was a kind of puniſhment in uſe amongſt the Chaldæans.

23 Becauſe * they have committed villainy in Iſrael g, and have committed adultery with their neighbours wives h, and have ſpoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them i, even I know, and am a witneſs, ſaith the LORD k. * Chap. 23. 14.

g The reaſon here given muſt not be underſtood as the reaſon of the King of Babylon's puniſhment of them, but why God gave them up into his hands, becauſe they had committed villainy or folly in Iſrael. h Which is expounded by the next words, they had committed adultery with their neighbours wives. All ſin is folly, and ſo called in Scripture, uncleanneſs particularly, Gen. 34. 7. here it is called villainy, to denote the hainouſneſs of it, eſpecially in thoſe whoſe Office it was to teach others that they ought not to do it, Rom. 2. 22. Falſhood in diſcharge of a truſt is ordinarily attended with debauchery of Life, nor indeed can it be reaſonably imagined, that thoſe, who to humour Men, have debauched their Conſciences, and declared things as the Will of God, which they know are not ſo, ſhould be more true and honeſt in their Converſation towards Men. i The ſecond Crime of theſe falſe Prophets was, what gave them their denomination, teaching People what God never bid them ſpeak k Now this, ſaith the Lord, I know, and am a witneſs to, their Adulteries are in ſecret, but I am a Witneſs to them; the poor People do not know that they teach them lyes, but I know it. God will deal with Men not according to what Men like themſelves know of them, and can prove againſt them, but according to what he knows, and can witneſs againſt them.

l We have no guidance from any other Scripture, to teach us who this Shemaiah was, but it is very probable that he was one of thoſe who at this time were in the Captivity of Babylon, and ſo came to the knowledge of Jeremiah's Letter, mentioned in the beginning of the Chapter, and wrote what followeth to Zephaniah, the Son of Maaſeiah the Prieſt, and the reſt of the Prieſts, to have Jeremiah puniſhed; but why he is called the Nehelamite is not ſo evident, for that the word is derived from חולם a Dreamer, is not very probable, we read of no ſuch place in Judæa as Nehelam or Halem, but we cannot imagine that the Names of all the Towns in Judah are to be found in Scripture, he is thrice in this Chapter called the Nehelamite; ſo as it is probable that there was ſuch a place as Nehelam, from whence he was.

25 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael, ſaying, Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name to all the people that are at Jeruſalem, and to Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, and to all the prieſts, ſaying, 26 The LORD hath made thee prieſt m in the ſtead of Jehoiada the prieſt n, that ye ſhould be Officers in the houſe of the LORD, * for every man that is mad, o and maketh himſelf a prophet, that thou ſhouldſt * put him in priſon, and in the ſtocks p.

* 2 Kings 9. 11. Acts 26. 24.

m That is High Prieſt, as ſome have thought, but it appears from 2 Kings 25. 18. that Seraiah was at this time the High Prieſt, and this Zephaniah was the ſecond Prieſt, as he is there ſtiled; as alſo Chap. 52. 24. nor muſt any think, that the Jehoiada here meant, was the immediate Predeceſſor of Zephaniah, for beſides that Jehoiada was High Prieſt, which Zephaniah never was; there were near 200 Years betwixt the Death of Jehoiada, and this time, in the ſtead therefore here ſignifieth, that thou ſhouldſt be like the good High Prieſt Jehoiada, unleſs ſome other Jehoiada was meant, who was turned out, and this Zephaniah put in his room. o That thou mighteſt have a care of Religion, and particularly take care of Perſons, who being mad or phrenetick make themſelves Prophets p The Prieſts had a power to reſtrain ſuch Perſons by impriſoning them, or putting them in the Stocks, by which moſt agree a particular puniſhment is expreſſed, but for the nature and way of it, it is not determined. Thoſe who in ſo incertain a thing, have a mind to read what hath been ſaid, may find it both in Mr. Pool's Synopſis Criticorum, and the Engliſh Annotations upon this Verſe, but the Learned Author of them reciting what Authors have ſaid, concludes it at laſt not with any certainty to be determined.

27 Now therefore, why haſt thou not reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which maketh himſelf a prophet to you q.

q He means it of an active real reproof, as appears by what went before, he would have had Jeremiah impriſoned, or put to that puniſhment which they called the Stocks, the nature of which we cannot determine, concluding him to be but a mad Man, and one who was not made a Prophet by any immediate miſſion from God, but had only made himſelf a Prophet.

28 For therefore he ſent unto us in Babylon, ſaying, This captivity is long, build ye houſes, and dwell in them, and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them r.

r The matter of fact was true, as appeared Ver. 5, 6. but it was falſe that this was the effect of Phrenzy, or that he ſpake this of his own Head, without commiſſion from God; for he wrote nothing of this nature, but by order from God, as appeareth from Ver. 4. where he began his Letter with; Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael.

29 And Zephaniah the prieſt read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah the prophet ſ.

ſ It is incertain whether Zephaniah did this out of kindneſs to Jeremiah, for we read he was ſent to Jeremiah upon Meſſages, Chap. 21. 1 and 37. 3 from the King, or becauſe he would not apprehend him, before he heard him, and let him know that he did nothing againſt him, but upon information, &c.

30 Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, ſaying, 31 Send to all them of the captivity, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite, becauſe that Shemaiah hath propheſied unto you, and I ſent him not, and he cauſed you to truſt in a lye t.

t This is the great miſchief of falſe Teachers, they are the cauſes of Peoples truſting in lyes, and from hence the ſins of falſe Prophets are ordinarily aggravated.

32 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold I will puniſh Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his ſeed u: he ſhall not have a man to dwell among this people w, neither ſhall he behold the good that I will do for my people, ſaith the LORD x, becauſe he hath taught rebellion againſt the LORD y.

u Puniſhments of this life ordinarily are extended to the Children of ſinful Parents, for the Parents ſake, who are puniſhed in their Children, being Res parentum, a conſiderable part of their Parents Goods and Portion. w He and his whole Poſterity ſhall be rooted out; x And neither he nor they ſhall live to the time of my Peoples return from the Captivity of Babylon. y Becauſe by the falſhoods which he hath taught, he hath been an inſtrument to make people diſobey the Commands of God. We had the ſame clauſe, Chap. 28. 16. and ſuch a kind of threatning we find Amos 7. 17. denounced by that Prophet againſt Amaziah the Prieſt of Bethel, forbidding him to propheſie at Bethel, becauſe it was the King's Court and Chapel. To obſtruct the Revelation of God's Will to People, or to publiſh what is contrary to it, to ſeduce People from believing it, or yielding obedience, are both Crimes that have been, and will be of fatal conſequence to them, and their Families, who are ſo hardy as to incur the guilt of them.

CHAP. XXX.

God ſheweth Jeremiah the Deliverance and Return of the Jews, 1,——9. He comforteth Jacob, 10,——17. Their return ſhall be gracious. Wrath on the Wicked, 18,——24.

1 THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying a, a This Title is thought to extend to all we have, both in this and the next Chapter, both which moſtly conſiſt of comfortable Promiſes of the reſtauration of this people, and teacheth us what ought to be the matter of our Sermons; we ought to ſpeak nothing for ſubſtance, but what we can juſtifie to come from the Lord, which all Doctrine doth, that is bottomed on Scripture, though opened, and made more plain and intelligible by words formed in our own minds.

2 Thus ſpeaketh the LORD God of Iſrael, ſaying, Write thee all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee in a book b.

b It is uncertain whether this was a Command from God to Jeremiah, to record all the Revelations which God had made to him, or only the Revelation contained in this, and the following Chapter, which conſiſts chiefly of Promiſes of the Peoples reſtauration, and ſo God might command them to be written, that they might not be forgotten, but be at hand for the People to read during their Captivity, to keep up their faith and hope in God. A Book in the Hebrew Dialect, ſignifieth any Parchment or Roll; God would have them recorded to teſtifie his Truth, and the Truth of the Prophet when they ſhould ſee the things accompliſhed.

3 For lo, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will bring again the captivity of my people Iſrael and Judah c, ſaith the LORD, and I will cauſe them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they ſhall poſſeſs it d.

c The reaſon why God would have the Prophecy written, was for a memorial of God's Truth in his Promiſes. Iſrael never returned as to the Body of the People, but thoſe of the Ten Tribes which were God's People did return; we read Luke 2. 36. of one Anna who was of the Tribe of Aſher, and many more doubtleſs did return according to the Promiſes. Chap. 3. 12. 14. & 23. 6. & 31. 1, 6. Ezek. 37. 21, 22. d It is uncertain whether this promiſe of returning to their own Land, were fulfilled in thoſe few of the Ten Tribes who joined themſelves with thoſe of Judah, after they were returned from Babylon, or remaineth yet in part to be fulfilled. The former is moſt probable, and that there ſhall be no ſuch time when the Jews ſhall return again to Jeruſalem, and poſſeſs their own Land, for it is hard now to give an account where the Poſterity of the Ten Tribes be, by whoſe return, the Promiſe ſhould be juſtified. Beſides that the Phraſe in the beginning of this Verſe, For lo, the days come, ſeem to import a more ſpeedy fulfilling of the Promiſe, than after ſome thouſands of Years, tho it is certain the Jews feed themſelves with ſome ſuch expectations.

4 ¶ And theſe are the words, that the LORD ſpake, concerning Iſrael, and concerning Judah.

5 For thus ſaith the LORD, We have heard a voice of trembling, || of fear, and not of peace e.

|| Or, the is fear, and not peace.

e God here ſpeaketh, but whether perſonating other Nations, or the Jewiſh Nation, is not agreed, nor yet whether this Text refers to the Times of the Meſſiah, when the Nations ſhould tremble, or the time when Darius invaded Babylon, or the times of Gog and Magog (of which read Ezek. 38.) Or the time when the Chaldeans invaded Judah; this laſt ſeemeth moſt probable, and that God by this intended only to rowſe the Jews out of their ſecurity, and put them off from expecting peace according to the flatteries of the falſe Prophets, aſſuring them that the Times that were coming next were not times of Peace, but ſuch as ſhould make them tremble.

† Heb. A Male. * Chap. 4. 31. and 6. 24.

6 Ask ye now, and ſee whether † a man doth travail with child? wherefore do I ſee every man with his hands on his loins, * as a woman in travail f, and all faces are turned into paleneſs g?

f The Voice which I hear, is not the Voice of Women, but of Men, and thoſe the ſtrongeſt and ſtouteſt Men, yet it is a Voice like the Voice of Women in Travail, roaring out through their pains, and the poſture I ſee the generality of Men are in, is like the poſture of Women in Travail, who hold their hands upon their Loins, hoping thereby to abate their pain. Was it ever heard that Males had the pains that uſe to attend Child-bearing Women? g And all Mens Faces look as if they had the Yellow-Jaundize; or are of the colour of blaſted Corn as the word ſignifieth, Deut. 28. 22.

7 * Alas, for that day is great, ſo that none is like it h: It is even the time of Jacob's trouble i, but he ſhall be ſaved out of it k.

h It is no wonder that there is ſuch a trembling upon all hearts, ſuch a conſternation and great complaining; for it will be a Time of no ordinary Calamity, but of great evil and miſery, in the ſame ſence as it is called a great day, Joel 2. 11 great and terrible; and Zeph. 1. 14, &c. i there never was ſuch a Day before. k It will be a day of trouble to thoſe that are the Poſterity of Jacob, both good and bad, they ſhall not be delivered from it, but they ſhall be delivered out of it.

8 For it ſhall come to paſs in that day l, ſaith the LORD of hoſts, that I will break his yoke from off thy neck m, and will burſt thy bonds n, and ſtrangers ſhall no more ſerve themſelves of him o.

l Not in that great day before mentioned, but in the day when God ſhould deliver the Seed of Jacob out of trouble. m God threatens to break the Yoke of the King of Babylon, that is, to break that power of his which for 70 Years he ſhould exerciſe in keeping the Jews under. n And he would break the bonds in which they ſhould be kept. o And foreign Nations ſhould no more ſerve themſelves upon the Jews.

9 But they ſhall ſerve the LORD their God, and David their king p, whom I will raiſe up unto them p.

p Who is here meant by David is not well agreed. Some think this Promiſe was fulfilled in the Rule of Zorobabel, and thoſe after the Captivity of Babylon, of the Family of David, who ruled over the Jews, though not under the ſtile of Kings; others think that Chriſt is intended as in the other Parallel Prophecies, Ezek. 34. 23. and 37. 22. Hoſ. 3. 5. and that the deliverance here promiſed was ſpiritual; and indeed unleſs we ſo underſtand it, it will be hard to aſſign a time when the Promiſe of the former and this Verſe was made good, for upon the return from the Captivity to the coming of Chriſt, and from his time to this day, other Nations have ſerved themſelves upon the Jews, and they have been in perpetual Servitude, firſt to the Perſians, then to the Grecians, then to the Romans, in Servitude to whom they were at the coming of Chriſt, and ſoon after miſerably ſubdued by them, and ſince that time almoſt all Nations have ſerved themſelves of the Jews. Either therefore this Prophecy muſt be underſtood in a ſpiritual ſence of the Kingdom of Chriſt, under which the Jews that received him were made ſpiritually free: Or elſe there is a time yet to come, when this ancient People of God ſhall be reſtored to a further Civil Liberty, than they have enjoyed ever ſince the Captivity of Babylon, and be more fully converted to Chriſt, than they yet are; towards which ſence many Texts of Scripture, beſides this, look; particularly Rom. 11. 25, 26.

* Iſa. 41. 13. & 43. 5. & 44. 2. Chap. 46. 28.

10 ¶ Therefore * fear thou not, O my ſervant Jacob r, ſaith the LORD, neither be diſmayed, O Iſrael; for lo, I will ſave thee from afar, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity ſ, and Jacob ſhall return, and ſhall be in reſt and quiet, and none ſhall make him afraid t.

r You that are my Servants, and the Poſterity of Jacob, tho your Captivity be Threeſcore and Ten Years, yet be not afraid that I have quite forgotten you, or my promiſe made to your Fathers. ſ For I will aſſure you that though I have for your ſins ſent you afar off, yet you are not beyond the reach of my ſaving Arm. t You ſhall return out of the Captivity of Babylon, and be at reſt, as they were for 150 Years during the time of the Perſian Monarchy. A ſhort Hiſtory of which we have in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah.

* Amos 9. 8. * Pſal. 6. 1. Chap. 10. 24. & 46. 28.

11 For I am with thee ſaith the LORD; to ſave thee u: * though I make a full end of all nations whither I have ſcattered thee, yet will I not make a full end of thee w: but I will correct thee * in meaſure x, and will not leave thee altogether unpuniſhed y.

u To ſave thee, with a Temporal Salvation, and deliverance, and thoſe of thee who are Iſraelites indeed with a ſpiritual, and eternal Salvation; but the firſt is what is here principally intended. w God puts a difference betwixt the Chaſtiſements of his People, and the Puniſhment of their Enemies; the latter he deſtroyeth with an utter, and total deſtruction, to make an end of them; but he chaſtens his People like a Father for their profit, and will not bring them to utter ruine. x He corrects them in meaſure; the Hebrew word ſignifieth in judgment; that is, not in Equity only, but in Wiſdom, or with Moderation, whereas he is ſaid to puniſh his Enemies in fury. There are many Texts of Scripture that mention this difference which God puts betwixt his puniſhing his People, and his puniſhing their Enemies, Iſa. 26. 14, 19. & 27. 7, 8. y But yet God will not let his own People go altogether unpuniſhed, that by it they may be reclaimed, and the World may take notice that God is of purer Eyes than that he can, in any Perſons, behold iniquity.

12 For thus ſaith the LORD, Thy * bruiſe is incurable, and thy wound is grievous z.

z Interpreters generally underſtand by bruiſe or wound here, the ſtate that the Jews ſhould be in, in the Captivity of Babylon, which would be miſerable, and ſo miſerable that it would be incurable from any hand, except the Hand of God. But I do not underſtand why it may not as well be interpreted of their ſinful ſtate, with reference to God's purpoſe, and interpreted by 2 Chron. 36. 16. where it is ſaid, The Wrath of God aroſe againſt them till there was no remedy. They had ſinned to that degree that God had reſolved into Captivity they ſhould go, and there ſhould abide till the determination of 70 Years.

† Heb. for binding up or preſſing. * Chap. 8. 22.

13 There is none to plead thy cauſe † that thou mayeſt be bound up: * thou haſt no healing medicines a.

a Concerning the general deſign of the Prophet in theſe words, all Interpreters ſeem agreed that the Prophet's Scope is to bring their uneaſie thoughts to a reſt, and make them reſt ſatisfied with the Providence of God; for there was no reſiſtance of the Will of God, which he metaphorically expreſſeth under the notion of one miſerably and incurably wounded, whom no Phyſician or Chirurgeon could heal, and for whom there was no effectual Plaiſter; but concerning the particular ſence of the Hebrew words, much is critically ſaid, which I conceive not my work to repeat, nor is it of much moment to us to know, whether the word more properly ſignifies healing Medicines, or courſes of cure, or plaiſters; thoſe who are curious may read ſufficiently about it in the Engliſh Annotations upon the Text. It may be more material to conſider whether the Prophet's meaning be, there was none would do it, or there was none could do it, or there was none ſhould do it, that is, whom God would admit at preſent to do it, as he elſewhere ſaith, though Noah, Daniel and Job, and though Moſes and Samuel ſtood before him, they ſhould ſave none but their own Souls: The Prophet's deſign doubtleſs was to ſatisfie this People, that there was no preſent remedy for them but Patience, though ſome would in charity plead for them, and though their falſe Prophets might promiſe a Cure; yet in very deed God would admit now of no Plea for them, and all means that could be uſed for their more ſpeedy reſtauration, would prove no healing Medicines, but like Medicines that make the Patients worſe, and irritate, inſtead of allaying the Diſtemper.

* Job 13. 24. & 16. 9. & 19. 11. * Job 30. 21. * Chap. 5. 6.

14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee b: they ſeek thee not, for I have wounded thee with the wound * of an enemy, with the chaſtiſement of a * cruel one c, for the multitude of thine iniquity, * becauſe thy ſins were increaſed d.

b In the time of thy proſperity thou hadſt many Friends, but now they have forgotten thee. Very probably the Egyptians and Aſſyrians, whoſe help the Jews made often uſe of, are the Lovers here intended, 2 Chron. 28. 21. Hoſ. 12. 1. indeed the Egyptians were before conquered, or very much brought low, by the King of Babylon. c They ſee the miſerable caſe they are in, and now do not covet thee as formerly, they diſcern that I have wounded thee with ſuch a wound, as cruel Men uſe to give their Enemies. d Though it be in me no act of Cruelty, for it is but in a juſt puniſhment of your iniquities, which were increaſed to a very great multitude.

e Why complaineſt thou of my dealings with thee? Or as Chap. 15. 18. The cauſe of thy ſorrow is incurable, or as others, Why complaineſt thou that thy ſorrow is incurable. f Though it be ſo, yet thou haſt no reaſon to complain of my dealings, for thy deſtruction is of thy ſelf; I am juſt in what I have done, for I have but given thee that Death which is the wages of thy work of ſin, nor was I ſuddenly provoked, it is for the multitude of thine iniquities, and in that caſe the living Man hath no juſt reaſon to complain, Lam. 3. 39.

16 Therefore g all they that devour thee * ſhall be devoured, and all thine adverſaries, every one of them ſhall go into captivity, and they that ſpoil thee ſhall be a ſpoil, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey h.

g The Particle לָכֵן is thought here to be ill Tranſlated therefore, for manifeſtly it is not a cauſal or illative, and thoſe who interpret it therefore, refer it to what went before, Verſe 10, 11. It were better Tranſlated nevertheleſs, or notwithſtanding yet, ſo the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations thinks it ſhould be Tranſlated, Iſa. 7. 14 and 30. 18. and in many other Texts. h So this Text is a declaration of God's free mercy, though this People had juſtly provoked the Lord by their iniquities to puniſh them, yet he would at length revenge them of their Enemies, and thoſe that ſpoiled them ſhould feel his juſtice, and be themſelves ſpoiled, ſo Iſa. 10. 12. and 33. 1. God ordinarily puniſheth thoſe that have been Enemies to his People, more ſeverely than his People have been puniſhed by them, the Reaſons are, becauſe though they ſerve God in chaſtiſing his People, yet they do it not deſignedly; Iſa. 10. 7. and commonly they exceed a meaſure in their executing God's Vengeance.

17 For I will reſtore health i unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds, ſaith the LORD, becauſe they called thee an Outcaſt, ſaying, This is Zion, whom no man ſeeketh after k.

i As the miſerable ſtate of this People was by the Prophet, Verſe 12, 13. deſcribed under the ſimilitude of a Man wounded, and bruiſed, and ſick, ſo their more proſperous ſtate is deſcribed under the notion of health, and God's action in reſtoring them, expreſs'd under the notion of healing, both here, and in many other Texts, Iſa 6. 10. and 19. 22. and 57. 18, 19. k The Particle here Tranſlated becauſe may ſo ſignifie here, for often the ſcorn and contempt of God's Peoples Enemies, cauſeth God to make haſte to their Salvation, and Deliverance, but many think that it were better Tranſlated although, as it is, Joſ. 17. 18. though the Heathens call thee one that I have caſt off, as a Man doth his Wife; yet they ſhall ſee the contrary, for I will heal thee of thy wounds. k Though they deriding ſay, this Zion whom none cares for: Some think that in this they alluded to the original ſignification of the word Tzion, which is a dry or waſt place.

18 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will bring again the captivity of Jacob's tents, and have mercy on his dwelling places l, and the city ſhall be builded upon her own || heap, and the palace ſhall remain after the manner thereof m.

l This Verſe manifeſtly is a promiſe of the rebuilding of the City, and was fulfilled in the times of Ezra, and the Term Captivity, which in its proper ſence relates to Perſons, not to Places, being here applyed to places, ſignifies the miſerable ſtate of Jeruſalem, upon the taking it by Nebuchadnezzar, which God promiſeth to change or alter under the notion of bringing again: So we read of the Captivity of Job, who yet ſtrictly was never a Captive, Job 42. 10. m Whether by the term heap be meant the heap of Rubbiſh, into which the City was turned, upon the taking of it by the King of Babylon, or the hill upon which the City was builded, is not much material; by the Palace is meant either the King's Houſe, or the Temple; ſo the Verſe is a Promiſe of the building again of the City, the Temple, and the chief Governours Houſe, all which was fulfilled by Ezra, Nehemiah and Zorobabel, the Hiſtory of which we read in the Books wrote by Ezra and Nehemiah.

19 And * out of them ſhall proceed thankſgiving n, and the voice of them that make merry o, and I will multiply them, and they ſhall not be few p; I will alſo glorifie them, and they ſhall not be ſmall q.

* Iſa. 35. 10. & 51. 11.

n Thankſgiving to God, as Chap. 17. 26. either Thank-Offerings, Lev. 7. 12, 13. or vocal Thankſgivings. o Either in a religious ſence, or in a civil ſence; if it be taken in the former it ſignifieth their Mirth at their Religious Feſtivals, of which we read much in Scripture, Pſal. 42. 4. and 118. 15. &c. if in the latter, it ſignifieth their happy and joyful ſtate after their reſtauration. p Though they be diminiſhed in the Captivity, yet I will return to them in my wonted Providences, and multiply them according to my promiſe to Abraham, ſo as they ſhall be for number many. q And as to their quality it ſhall be honourable; though during thoſe 70 Years they ſhall be a People of mean, or no reputation, yet after that time they ſhall recover their ancient reputation, and again be a People great for Honour and Glory.

20 Their children alſo ſhall be as aforetime r, and their congregation ſhall be eſtabliſhed before me ſ, and I will puniſh all that oppreſs them t.

r Their Poſterity alſo ſhall be as happy, and in as much repute, as they were before this carrying into Babylon. ſ Their Church, or the Body of the People of the Jews, ſhall from Generation to Generation be eſtabliſhed. t And though in thoſe times there will be ſome that will oppreſs them, yet they ſhall not eſcape my Vengeance that do it, for I will protect and defend them.

21 And their nobles ſhall be of themſelves, and their governour ſhall proceed from the midſt of them u, and I will cauſe him to draw near, and he ſhall approach unto me o: for who is this that engaged his heart to approach unto me? ſaith the LORD p.

u This Promiſe was made good in Zorobabel, and other Governours of the Jews after their return out of Captivity, till they came to be ſubdued by the Romans. Some reſtrain this unto Chriſt, and make it a Prophecy of Chriſt, being born of the Jewiſh Nation; it is he they ſay that was meant by David, Verſe 9. and it is not improbable that the ſence of the Text may reach unto Chriſt, but it ſeems literally to be underſtood of Zorobabel, and to be oppoſed to ſtrangers ruling over them, which was no ſmall piece of their Calamity, while they were in Captivity. o That is, he ſhall ſerve me, and I will favour him, or this People ſhall ſerve me, and I will favour them, and not be as one at diſtance, or far off from them. Some underſtand this of the Civil Governour that ſhould be after the Captivity, ſome underſtand it of the People, ſome underſtand it of Chriſt; thoſe that underſtand it of the Governour, make it to ſignifie the ſpecial favour that Governour ſhould be in with God, and his Religion. Thoſe that underſtand it of the People, make it to ſignifie the Religion of the People, and the favour they ſhould be in with God. Thoſe who underſtand it of Chriſt, interpret it of his favour with God, by whom alſo the Saints have their acceſs. p Interpreters are yet more divided about this Phraſe; ſome apply it to Chriſt, either as an admiration of his Excellency, or as denoting that none but he could draw near to God in that manner as he did, nor had any ſuch a Delight in the Sons of Men as he; ſo as for him to be a Mediator betwixt Offenders, and an offended God: None but he durſt look in the Face of an angry God. Others underſtand it of God's People, intimating that in the Day when they ſhould return out of Captivity there would be but few, that with any ſerious purpoſe of heart would apply themſelves unto God, or ſignifying the impotency that is in Man heartily to draw nigh to God, till (as it is before ſaid) God cauſeth him ſo to do; and ſome think the words have a reference to the Covenant mentioned in the next Verſe.

22 And ye ſhall be * my people, and I will be your God q.

* Chap. 24. 7. & 31. 1, 33. & 32. 38.

q God in theſe words declares, That in that Day he would renew his Covenant with Iſrael, (at leaſt the true Iſraelites) and they ſhould be his People to ſerve, and to obey him, and he would be their God, to protect and bleſs them, with all temporal, and all ſpiritual Bleſſings.

23 Behold * the whirlwind of the LORD goeth forth with fury r, a † continuing whirlwind ſ, it ſhall || fall with pain upon the head of the wicked t.

* Chap. 23. 19, 20. & 25. 32. † Heb. cutting. || Or, remain.

r The Vengeance of God compared to a whirlwind, for the ſuddenneſs of it, and becauſe it ſhould incompaſs them to their ruine, a terrible whirlwind. ſ Or, a continuing whirling, not a ſudden blaſt of Wind, that ſhall preſently go over, but a Vengeance that ſhall abide. t The miſerable effects of which, in deſtroying, ſhall be either upon the Heathen, or upon the wicked Jews that ſhall continue in their diſobedience and ſtubbornneſs.

24 The fierce anger of the LORD ſhall not return, until he have done it, and until he have performed the intents of his heart u: in the latter days ye ſhall conſider it w.

u He expoundeth in theſe words the continuing Whirlwind, ſpoken of, Ver. 23. and withal lets them know, that what the falſe Prophets ſaid of a ſpeedy return out of Babylon of thoſe already there, or of the not going of thoſe which as yet were in Judea was all but falſhood; for the Lord was angry, and was reſolved to fulfil the purpoſe of his heart in puniſhing them. w And though at preſent they would not conſider, nor believe it, yet afterward, when they ſhould ſee things come to paſs according as he had ſaid, then they ſhould conſider what he had told them.

CHAP. XXXI.

The Reſtauration of Iſrael publiſhed, 1,——14. Rachel mourning is comforted, 15,——17. Ephraim repenting is brought home, 18,——21. Chriſt promiſed, 22,——26. His Care over the Church, 27,——30. His New Covenant, 31,—34. The Stability and Enlargement of the Church, 35,—40.

1 AT the ſame time, ſaith the LORD, will I be the God of all the families of Iſrael, and they ſhall be my people a.

a When the Lord's Anger ſhall turn, he having performed all the thoughts of his heart upon the wicked Iſraelites, he will declare himſelf not unmindful of the Covenant which he made with Abraham and his Seed, but will be their God, and they ſhall be the People of his Favour whom he will protect and bleſs. It is uncertain whether Iſrael here is to be taken in a more large ſence as it ſignifieth the whole Twelve Tribes, or only Judah, being that part of Iſrael which was before ſpoken of.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, The people which were left of the ſword, found grace in the wilderneſs; even Iſrael, when I went to cauſe him to reſt b.

b God confirmeth the afore-mentioned Promiſes, and his Peoples hope and faith in them, by minding them of what he had anciently done for this very People. Though God did in the Journey which the Iſraelites had from Egypt to Canaan, cut off many of them by the Sword for their Iniquities, ſome by the Amalekites, Exod. 17. 8. ſome by the Swords of their Brethren for the Idolatry they committed about the Golden Calf, Exod. 32. 28. yet, thoſe that ſurvived that, and other Judgments, found favour in God's Eyes, while they were going to Canaan the Land of Reſt, or while God going before them, brought them into Canaan. God paralleleth his future Providences, and gracious Purpoſes with his paſt gracious Providences.

3 The LORD hath appeared † of old unto me, ſaying c, Yea, I have loved thee with an everlaſting love d, therefore with loving kindneſs have || I drawn thee e.

c The word ſaying being not in the original, hath given advantage to ſome to think, that the firſt words, are either the words of ſome of the People owning that the Lord indeed had of old appeared to and for them, but doubting whether the kindneſs of God ſtill held toward them. Or elſe complaining that theſe were old Stories. To which the Prophet replies by aſſuring them that God's Love was not a temporary Love, manifeſted to a ſingle Generation, but it was an everlaſting Love, therefore he had drawn them with loving kindneſs, he had all along dealt graciouſly with them, that way attempting to oblige them to that Duty which they owed to him, this drawing with loving-kindneſs he calleth a drawing with the cords of men, Hoſ. 11. 4. who ordinarily are little wrought upon by force, but won by Love.

4 Again * I will build thee, and thou ſhalt be built f, O virgin of Iſrael g, thou ſhalt again be adorned with thy || tabrets, and ſhalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry h.

* Chap. 33. 7. || Or, Timbrels.

f As upon their being carried into Captivity, both their Civil State and Church, which either of them were as a Building framed together, were broken and pulled down, and they were ſcattered here and there, like the Stones of a Building pulled down: So God's bringing them again together, and cementing them by a Political and Eccleſiaſtical Government, is fitly compared to a Building. g The calling them the Virgin Iſrael, doth not ſignifie that the Body of that People had not been deflowred by Idolatry, but either ſignifies that this Promiſe only concerned ſuch as had kept their Virginity: Or elſe (which it may be is more probable) Iſrael is here called a Virgin with relation to the following words, they being Virgins which were wont to go out with Tabrets, 1 Sam. 18. 6. and to Dance in the time of their mirth and jollity, Exod. 15. 20. Jud. 11. 34. h The Virgins are ſaid to be adorned, with their Tabrets, or Timbrels, either (as ſome think) becauſe they were wont to tie Scarfs, or Ribbons about them, or becauſe they looked comelily with theſe Inſtruments of Muſick in their hands, or ſhould uſe them in a more handſome and comely manner than they had done before, when they uſed them at unſeaſonable times. That which is here propheſied is, a merry, joyful, pleaſant time to this People when their Mirth ſhould become them; or the Reſtauration of their Religious Feſtivals, at which they uſed Inſtruments of Muſick to expreſs their inward ſpiritual joy and gladneſs. The Prophets, 1 Sam. 10. 5. came from the High-place with a Tabret, &c.

* Iſa. 65. 2. 5 * Thou ſhalt yet plant vines upon the mountains † Heb. profane them. of Samaria i, the planters ſhall plant, and ſhall † eat them as common things k.

i Samaria was the Metropolis of the Ten Tribes, called ſo from Shemer who owned the Hill, Omri King of Iſrael bought it, and built Samaria upon it. Mountains in many places are judged the moſt convenient places for Vineyards, being free from Shades and moſt expoſed to the Sun. k God promiſeth them a Liberty to plant, and that they ſhould enjoy their Plantations, eating them as common things, which they could not do till the fifth Year, as appears from Lev. 19. 23. The three firſt Years it was to be accounted by them, as uncircumciſed, that is unclean. In the fourth Year it was to be holy to the Lord. In the fifth Year they might eat the fruit of it, as any common thing that was not unclean, nor yet devoted and conſecrated to the Lord.

6 For there ſhall be a day, that the watchmen upon
* Iſa 2. 3. the mount Ephraim ſhall cry l, Ariſe ye, * and let us Mich. 4. 2. go up to Zion unto the LORD our God m.

l That Mount Ephraim was a part of the Lot of the Ten Tribes is out of queſtion. Whether by Watchmen, be to be underſtood State Centinels ſet to give warning of dangers approaching, or Keepers of Vineyards, ſeemeth not much material. m It is ſaid they ſhould call upon Men to go up to Zion, that is, to the Temple of the Lord at Jeruſalem to worſhip the Lord. The only queſtion is, what time this Prophecy was fulfilled? For though Judah returned from the Captivity of Babylon, yet the Ten Tribes (that we read of) never returned. Some think that it was fulfilled in the time of Ezra and Nehemiah, when though the Body of the Ten Tribes returned not, yet many particular Perſons of thoſe Tribes, did return and joyn themſelves with thoſe who returned out of the Captivity of Babylon, and rebuilt both the City and the Temple. Beſides it appeareth from Joſephus l. 13. cap. 5. 8. That the Demetrii gave Samaria, Galilee and Perea to the Jews. But the beſt Interpreters judge that this Prophecy was fulfilled under the Goſpel; for both Galilee and Samaria received the Goſpel as appeareth from Acts 8. 1. 5. 9. 14. and 9. 31.

7 For thus ſaith the LORD, Sing with gladneſs for Jacob, and ſhout amongſt the chief of the nations, publiſh ye, praiſe ye, and ſay n, O LORD, ſave thy people, the remnant of Iſrael o.

n This grave, authoritative Preface, Thus ſaith the Lord, ſeemeth to be prefixed to put the People of God out of fear of the accompliſhment of the good things he had before promiſed, and propheſied of. The Verſe in it ſelf is either an Exhortation to thoſe amongſt the Jews, who feared God, or to the Heathen, to ſing and rejoyce on the behalf of the Jews, to whom God would certainly ſhew ſuch mercy as they might ſing for, before they had it in their hands, they might both publiſh the thing that it ſhould certainly be, and alſo bleſs God for it. o But withal he minds them, that there would be occaſion for Prayer as well as praiſe, there would be a Remnant of Iſrael, that would have at leaſt no preſent ſhare in theſe Mercies, through their Impenitency, Unbelief, and hardneſs of Heart. Hereby minding us that we ought not ſo to rejoice in our good things, as to forget thoſe who are no ſharers with us: The beſt of God's Peoples Lot, while they are in this Life, is ſuch as will ſhew them a need of Prayer as well as Praiſe.

* Chap. 8 Behold, I will bring them * from the north-13. 8. country p, and gather them from the coaſts of the earth q, and with them, the blind, and the lame, the woman with child, and her that travaileth with child together, a great company ſhall return hither r.

p By the North-Country, is unqueſtionably meant Babylon, and the Land of the Chaldæans, and thoſe places which were Northward of Hieruſalem; and by the Coaſts of the Earth, all other parts into which any of the Jews had been driven. r The meaning of this is, that nothing ſhould hinder ſuch from returning, as had a mind to return; blind Men that could not ſee their way, and lame Perſons, who had no ſtrength to walk in it, though they ſaw it, and Women with Child, in regard of their heavineſs, and Women Travelling, in regard of their pain, are Perſons more unfit to travel long Journeys than any others; but ſaith God, I will make ſuch proviſion, that ſome under thoſe Circumſtances ſhall come. That theſe Phraſes muſt be Interpreted only into this general ſenſe, appears, becauſe ſuch Perſon in a literal ſenſe could not come. And though ſome worthy Interpreters, underſtand it in a ſpiritual ſenſe of ignorant and impotent Perſons, and ſuch as are laden with the burden of their ſins, and of coming to Chriſt, it ſeems not to be the primary ſenſe of the Text.

plications will I lead them ſ: I will cauſe them to walk by the rivers of waters t, in a ſtraight way wherein they ſhall not ſtumble u: for I am a father to Iſrael, and Ephraim is my firſt-born w.

ſ Some think that it had been better Tranſlated, they went weeping, for though the Verb be the future Tenſe in the Hebrew, yet that Tenſe hath often the ſignification of the Preterperfect Tenſe, thus it anſwereth, Pſal. 126. 5, 6. He that goeth forth weeping, bearing precious ſeed, ſhall doubtleſs come again rejoycing, &c. but there is no need of it here, for there is a weeping for Joy, as well as for ſorrow, as we have it in the inſtances both of Jacob and Joſeph, Gen. 29. 11. and 43. 30. and thus the Text correſpondeth with that, Zech. 12. 10. I will pour upon them the ſpirit of grace and ſupplications, and they ſhall look upon him whom they have pierced, and mourn. Weeping alſo here may be underſtood for their paſt ſins. t And they ſhall have no want as they had when they came out of Egypt, through the Wilderneſs, where they often wanted water. u Neither ſhall they have any rough Ways, nor turn backward and forward, as God made them to do in their Paſſage through the Wilderneſs. w For as I have the affection of a Father for all Iſrael, ſo will I ſhew the care and kindneſs of a Father to them, and uſe them as a Man uſeth his firſt-born; ſo God anciently called the Jews, Exod. 4. 22. they being the firſt of all Nations, whom God owned, and took into Covenant, and who owned God, and Worſhipped the true and living God only.

10 ¶ Hear the word of the LORD, O ye nations, and declare it in the iſles afar off, and ſay x, He that ſcattered Iſrael will gather him y, and keep him, as a ſhepherd doth his flock z.

x God willeth his Promiſes of good to his People, to be publiſhed and declared before hand, and that not to them only, but to other People, that the hand of his Providence when he brings them to paſs may be more conſpicuous, and it may be undeniably owned to be the Work of God, being no more than what he had foretold long before. y God is not only the Author of thoſe Judgments which come upon his People, but of their Mercies, and his Power in ſcattering them is enough to confirm us in a belief of his Power to gather them. z He will not only gather them, but keep and protect them when gathered, and thus God ſheweth himſelf their Shepherd; it is the Work of a Shepherd not only to call, and gather his Sheep together, but to watch over them, protect and keep them, when they are ſo gathered together.

11 * For the LORD hath redeemed Jacob a, and * Iſa. 49.
ranſomed him from the hand of him that was ſtronger 24, 25.

a Becauſe of the certainty of Divine Prophecies and Promiſes, things in them are often ſaid to be already done, which are not to be fulfilled of many Years after: The ſenſe is, God will as certainly do it, as if he had already done it; for whether it be underſtood of a Deliverance from Babylon, or of the Salvation of the Goſpel by Chriſt, which by a Metaphor is often alſo called redeeming and ranſoming, it was to be accompliſhed long after this time. b By him that was ſtronger than he, ſome underſtand the Chaldæans, others underſtand the Devil, (interpreting the Text of the Spiritual Redemption of God's People by the Blood of Chriſt, being the Ranſom given for them) but undoubtedly the Text is literally to be underſtood of their Deliverance from Babylon, though (as the Apoſtle ſaith) all theſe things happened to them in a figure. In their Deliverance as well from Babylon as Egypt, they were Types of the Deliverance of God's People from ſpiritual Babylon, and Egypt by Chriſt, as well as in their entring into Canaan, they were (as the Apoſtle proveth, Heb. 3. and 4.) Types of the Saints entring into Heaven, of which Canaan was a Type.

12 Therefore they ſhall come and ſing in the height of Zion c, and ſhall flow together to the goodneſs of the LORD d, for wheat, and for wine, and for oyl, and for the young of the flock, and of the herd e:
and their ſoul ſhall be as a * watered garden f, and * Iſa. 58.
they ſhall not ſorrow any more at all g. 11.

c The particular Phraſes in this Verſe muſt not be ſtrained, nor do they need a particular explication, all ſignifying but one thing, viz. the happy and proſperous State the Jews ſhould be in, after their return from the Captivity, both as to their Religious and Civil State; The height of Zion may either ſignifie Hieruſalem, or the Temple more eſpecially where thoſe that returned, as well thoſe of the Ten Tribes, as thoſe ſtrictly of Judah, ſhould come and ſing Praiſes to God; d And ſhould there come to beg of God good things upon the account of his Goodneſs, owning him as the God of their Mercies, whether of a Spiritual or Temporal Nature. e Such as Corn Wine, Oyl, and an increaſe of their Cattel, both Flocks and Herds. f And they ſhould be a beautiful, flouriſhing, growing People, like a watered Garden that looks chearly, and in which things grow and thrive (for Soul doth not ſeem here to be taken for Mens ſpiritual and immortal part, but for the whole Man.) g And they ſhall be ſorrowful no more in that manner as they have been, and for that Age and Generation were; or many years, vide Iſa. 35. 10. Some think that under theſe Expreſſions, is alſo promiſed the ſpiritual Joy which the true Iſrael of God ſhould have under the Goſpel, and the eternal Joy they ſhall have in Heaven, when, and not before, all Tears ſhall be wiped from their Eyes; for in a ſtrict ſence it was not fulfilled to the Jews, who at the taking of their City by the Romans, ſixty years after Chriſt, met with more Sorrow, than they had ever before met with.

13 Then ſhall the virgin rejoyce in the dance, both young men and old men together: for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them to rejoyce from their ſorrow h.

h This Verſe containeth only a farther variety of Expreſſions, all ſignifying the ſame thing, viz. their happy State, for ſome time after the Captivity. We may underſtand the Dancings here of all ſorts of People, either of their religious rejoicing in their Holy Feſtivals, (for under the Old Teſtament in their religious rejoicing they uſed theſe external Expreſſions of Joy, as appears from Pſal. 150. 4. and from David's dancing before the Ark) or of their civil Joy, where Dancing was more uſual: the laſt words of the Verſe expound all the former.

14 And I will ſatiate the ſoul of the prieſts with fatneſs i, and my people ſhall be ſatisfied with my goodneſs, ſaith the LORD k.

i By Prieſts ſome underſtand the Miniſters of the Goſpel, whom God here promiſeth liberally to provide for; or rather by giving a ſucceſs to their Miniſtery, and letting them ſee the fruit of their labours, make to rejoice: In which metaphorical ſence I ſhould rather interpret it, applying it firſt to the Prieſts of the Jews after the Captivity, of whom it is ſaid, Ezra 6. 16. that they kept the feaſt of the dedication of the ſecond Temple with joy; and verſe 22. the Lord had made the people joyful. k Nor were the people for a ſhort time only ſatisfied with the Lord's goodneſs. In a ſecondary typical ſence it may alſo ſignifie the ſpiritual ſucceſs, and rejoicing of good Miniſters under the Goſpel, and the ſpiritual joy of Believers. This rejoicing is metaphorically expreſſed by fatneſs, with alluſion to the fat of the Sacrifices under the Law. It is an uſual thing for God by his Prophets to expreſs New Teſtament Duties and Privileges, by Phraſes borrowed from the Worſhip of God under the Old Teſtament. Vide Iſa. 66. 22, 23.

15 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD, A voice was heard in Ramah l, lamentation and bitter weeping: * Rachel weeping for her children m, refuſed to be comforted for her children, becauſe they were not n.

* Matth. 2. 17, 18.

l Interpreters are much divided in the ſence of theſe words, whether they ſhould referr to the ſlaughter of the Jews belonging to the ten Tribes, upon their being captivated by the Aſſyrians, or to the ſlaughter of the Jews, upon the Siege and taking of the City by the King of Babylon, or to Herod's killing the Infants in Bethlehem? Certain it is, the Evangeliſt, Mat. 2. 8. applieth them unto the latter; but whether the Evangeliſts application of it be as a literal fulfilling of the Prophecy, or by way of alluſion, or no, is the queſtion. Thoſe that think that it is primarily to be underſtood of the ſlaughter of the Infants, urge, 1. That Matthew, chap. 2. 18. ſo applies it. 2. That womens mourning for children ſeems rather to be for the loſs of infants, (as was there) than expreſſive of the mourning of all ſorts of people, in a general deſolation. 3. That the place of the mourning ſeems to hint it; for Ramah was near to Bethlehem, and contained under the Coaſts about Bethlehem, mentioned by the Evangeliſt. 4. The words becauſe they were not, they think make for them; for by being carried into Captivity, they did not ceaſe to be, though they ceaſed to be in that happy Eſtate they were in before. 5. Becauſe they think that this is here propounded as a Sign of his Coming, upon whoſe Coming theſe Promiſes of Felicity to the Jews ſhould be fulfilled. Theſe Reaſons are not unanſwerable; for Matthew may apply it only by way of alluſion, ſpeaking of ſuch a Providence, when ſuch a thing ſhould happen as happened before: In which Sence particular Texts of Scripture, are in Scripture often ſaid to be fulfilled, though they had their fulfilling before. 2. Rachel here doth not ſignifie a ſingle Perſon, no, nor a particular Sex, but is brought in as a common Parent, lamenting the loſs of her Off-ſpring. 3. Ramah was indeed near Bethlehem, but it was a City in the Tribe of Benjamin, Joſ. 18. 25. 1 Kings 15. 17. Rachel was buried betwixt it and Bethlehem, Gen. 35. 19. 1 Sam. 10. 2. and it was alſo the place where Nebuzaradan, after he had taken Hieruſalem, diſpoſed of his Priſoners, as we read, chap. 40. 1. 4. Though the greater part of the Jews were not ſlain, but carried into Captivity; yet doubtleſs many were ſlain, and thoſe left alive were not as to her, being now carried out of Canaan into a ſtrange Land. 5. Although the Promiſes in this Chapter, made to the Jews, were more eminently and fully made good under the Kingdom of Chriſt; yet it may be doubted whether any of theſe Promiſes were primarily, and ſolely fulfilled to them under the Kingdom of Chriſt, but literally, before that time, though more fully and largely then. In Ramah therefore a Voice was heard, that is in Canaan, and particularly in Ramah, where Nebuzaradan, chap. 40. 1. diſpoſed of the Priſoners he had taken, ſetting ſome at liberty (as Jeremiah in particular) ordering others to Death, and carrying the reſt away to Babylon, which cauſed a bitter weeping and lamentation. m Rachel is here brought in, having been buried near that place, as if ſhe were riſen up from the Grave, and lamented the Jewiſh Nation which came out of her Loins (for ſo Benjamin did, which was one of the two Tribes that made the Kingdom of Judah) all the people of which Tribe are properly enough called her Children. Rachel here ſignifieth all the Benjamitiſh Women who deſcended from Rachel. n And, like a paſſionate Woman ſhe refuſed all Arguments of Comfort, becauſe her Children either were not abſolutely, being ſlain by the Peſtilence, the Famine, and the Sword of the King of Babylon, or were no longer her Children, being tranſplanted and removed into Babylon. So as I take this Text literally and primarily to referr to the lamentation for the Miſeries the People ſuffered, upon the King of Babylon's taking the City: To which Mourning Matthew alludeth, there being a lamentation like this, when Herod cauſed the Infants of two years old to be ſlain in Bethlehem, and in the Coaſts about Bethlehem, of which Ramah was one.

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, Refrain thy voice from weeping, and thine eyes from tears: for thy work ſhall be rewarded, ſaith the LORD o, and they ſhall come again from the land of the enemy.

o The Prophet in this, and the following Verſes, is brought in as one appointed of God to quiet and comfort the Rachel before-mentioned, calling to her to quiet her ſelf, and not to mourn ſo exceſſively, for God would recompenſe her for her Afflictions, which are here underſtood by the Term Work; (as ſome think) but the Heb. Word פעל is hardly found in Scripture taken for Affliction: Others therefore apply it to Rachel, for whoſe Piety-ſake God would ſhew Mercy to her Children, as a Reward of Grace, though not of Debt. The beſt Interpreters think that the Terms of Work and Reward are here uſed only to expreſs the ſucceſſion of a comfortable State, to their miſerable State in Captivity, (as the Wages uſe to follow the Work) which ſhould make them amends for their long time of Affliction; and ſo it is expounded by the laſt Words of the Verſe.

17 And there is hope in thine end, ſaith the LORD, that thy children ſhall come again to their own border p.

p And again here, where, by end, is meant the end of the ſeventy years, and the words are but a repetition of the promiſe of the return of the Jews out of the Captivity of Babylon, of which the Prophet had often before aſſured them, and here only repeats it as an Argument why they ſhould not be immoderately afflicted; for their Affliction was not endleſs, nor their Captivity for ever; they ſhould return again into their own Land.

18 I have ſurely heard Ephraim q bemoaning himſelf thus, r Thou haſt chaſtiſed me, and I was chaſtiſed as a bullock unaccuſtomed to the yoke s: *turn thou me, and I ſhall be turned t, for thou art the LORD my God u.

q The Prophet in this Verſe ſheweth the change that ſhould be wrought in the hearts of the Iſraelites preceding this turn out of their Captivity. God had made an ancient Promiſe to this People in their Enemies hands, Levit. 26. 40, 41. If they ſhall confeſs their Iniquity, and the Iniquity of their Fathers, with their treſpaſs which they treſpaſſed againſt me, and that they alſo have walked contrary unto me. 41. And that alſo I have walked contrary unto them, and have brought them into the land of their Enemies; if then their uncircumciſed hearts be humbled, and they then accept of the puniſhment of their Iniquity. 42. Then will I remember my Covenant with Jacob, and alſo my Covenant with Iſaac, and alſo my Covenant with Abraham, will I remember, and I will remember the land. The Lord to ſhew his Faithfulneſs to his Word, and alſo to mind them of what muſt firſt be done before the aforementioned Promiſes could be fulfilled, and made good to them; and to quicken them to their Duty, ſpeaks of a thing yet to come as of a thing paſt, foretelling that before their Deliverance ſhould come he ſhould hear Ephraim, that is, the Ten Tribes, or rather, thoſe of all the Twelve Tribes that feared the Lord, r bemoaning, or bewailing their miſerable State or Themſelves, both for That and their Sins which had brought them into ſuch a State, and acknowledging not only what God had done unto them, that it was he who had chaſtiſed them, and that juſtly. For s they were as wanton Bullocks not uſed to the Yoke, which ordinarily are very unruly when they are firſt put into it, but by uſe are more quiet under it. t And praying to God, that he would both change their Hearts, and alſo their State; for without him it could never be done, and by him it would be done eaſily. u And to this purpoſe laying a claim to God as their God, and owning him as their God, promiſing him that though other Lords had ruled over them, yet hereafter he alone ſhould be owned, acknowledged, worſhipped, and obeyed by them.

19 Surely after that I was turned I repented w, and after that I was inſtructed, I ſmote upon my thigh x: I was aſhamed, yea, even confounded, becauſe I did bear the reproach of my youth y.

w We muſt conſider that we are not in an Hiſtory or a Narration of things done, but in a Prophecy foretelling what ſhould come to paſs. The Prophet foretelleth, that before this promiſed Deliverance ſhould come, the Iſraelites ſhould be in another Temper, that their uncircumciſed hearts ſhould be humbled, they ſhould accept of the Puniſhment of their Sins, confeſs God's Juſtice, and Righteouſneſs, and their own Wantonneſs and Unrulineſs, pray unto God to change their hearts which would never elſe be changed, and change their conditions, which would depend upon that change of their hearts, laying claim to God as their God, who had promiſed, Deut. 30. 1, 2. That when the Bleſſings and the Curſes ſpoken of chap. 28, and 29 ſhould come upon them, and They ſhould call them to mind among all the Nations, whither the Lord had driven them; if they returned unto the Lord their God, and obeyed his voice, according to all that he commanded them, they and their children, with all their heart, and all their ſoul, That then the Lord their God would turn their Captivity, and have compaſſion on them, &c. Now ſaith Ephraim after I was turned, after God had changed our hearts, we repented and changed our Practices. x After that God had inſtructed us, either by his Prophets, or by Briers and Thorns, by our Afflictions, or by his Holy Spirit, we ſmote upon our Thighs in teſtimony of our Sorrow and Affliction, Ezek. 21. 12. y Then I was aſhamed and confounded for my Sins, underſtanding that I did but bear the juſt Puniſhment of the Sins which I had long ago committed, in the Time of my Wantonneſs, Rebellion, and Diſobedience to God: This is expreſſed by the Term Youth, becauſe ordinarily Men and Women's Youth is their Time of Wantonneſs; Perſons ordinarily growing more conſiderate and ſober as years increaſe upon them. Thus the Prophet foretelleth that God would prepare this people for Mercy: In the next Verſes he ſheweth how ready God's ear would be to hear

20 Is Ephraim my dear ſon? is he a pleaſant child z, for ſince I ſpake againſt him, I do earneſtly remember him ſtill a: * therefore my bowels are † troubled for him, I will ſurely have mercy upon him, ſaith the LORD.

* Deut. 32. 36. Iſai. 63 15. Hoſ. 11. 8. † Heb. ſound.

z Interpreters run into a very great variety in their Explications of this Text, that which ſeemeth to be the cauſe of it, is that amongſt the Hebrews, affirmative Interrogations are notes of the vehement denial of the thing, as to which the queſtion is propounded, which leads ſome to interpret theſe words into a denial, that Ephraim was his dear Son, or a pleaſant Child, and denying the truth of his profeſſed Repentance. But certainly this is quite contrary to the whole ſcope of the Prophet. The Reverend Author of the Engliſh Annotations hath obſerved, that the affirmative Interrogation ſometimes in Scripture doth imply a Negative, or the negative Particle is ſuppreſſed and הֲ is put for הֲלֹא; ſo that is Ephraim my dear Son here, is the ſame with, Is not Ephraim my dear Son? He gives for Inſtances, 1 Sam 2. 27, 28. Where did I? Plainly is the ſame with did I not? So, Job 20. 4. where we have ſupplied Not, Knoweſt thou not? &c. So chap. 3. 6. Where Haſt thou ſeen? Is the ſame with, Haſt thou not ſeen. So, Ezek. 20. 30. Amos 6. 2. So that though the Particle prefixed הֲ, be an affirmative Particle, yet it is often put for הֲלֹ, and ſignifieth Negatively, the Negative being ſuppreſſed and to be underſtood. I have alſo ſometimes thought that even here it may be fairly enough interpreted. Is Ephraim now become my dear Son? Is he a pleaſant Child? Is his heart turned? So is mine. a For ſince I ſpake againſt him or with him, or of him, I do earneſtly remember him, מִדֵּי דַבְּרִי Ar. Montanus tranſlateth it, from the ſufficiency of my ſpeaking with him; the reaſon of the difference is, די ſignifies to ſuffice, and it ſignifies time. I ſee no reaſon to vary from our Tranſlation, ſince or from the time as the ſame Particle ſignifieth, 1 Sam. 18. 30. 1 Kings 14. 28. Iſai. 28. 19. I ſpake againſt him by my Threatnings, I do remember him with the affection and compaſſion of a Father. b My bowels are troubled for him, is as much as I have pitied him; as the Bowels of Parents are turned and troubled for their Children in Calamities; therefore ſaith God. c I will certainly ſhew him Favour.

21 Set thee up way-marks d, make thee high heaps e: ſet thine heart towards the high-way, even the way which thou wenteſt f: turn again, O virgin of Iſrael, turn again to theſe thy cities g.

d The latter part of this Verſe expounds the former. Thou ſhalt (ſaith God) return again to theſe Cities which thou now leaveſt, therefore take good notice of the way thou goeſt, ſet up ſome marks by which thou mayeſt know it again. e Make thee Pillars or ſome high heaps of Stone in the way, which thou mayeſt know again when thou comeſt at them. f Mind well the way that the Aſſyrians and the Babylonians carried thee, for thou ſhalt come back the ſame way. g Farther to aſſure them they ſhould return, he calls to them to turn again, and doubleth his words, for the farther confirmation of the thing.

22 ¶ How long wilt thou go about, O thou backſliding daughter h? for the LORD hath created a new thing in the earth, a woman ſhall compaſs a man i.

h That the Jews are here meant by the backſliding daughter is out of queſtion; but what going about is here intended, is not ſo plain. Some interpret it of their running after Idols; ſome of their ſeeking help from foreign Nations, inſtead of applying themſelves unto God. Others of their wandring up and down in Captivity. i But the greater difficulty is about this new thing, which the Lord ſaith he will create in the new Earth, a Woman compaſſing a Man. Some by Women underſtanding feeble Perſons that ſhould prevail againſt ſtrong Men. But the two Interpretations of this difficult Paſſage, which ſeem moſt reaſonably to contend for preference, are, 1. The Interpretation of thoſe who think it contains a Promiſe both of the Jewiſh Church in its time, and of the Goſpel-Church, after the Jewiſh Church's period, prevailing over all its Enemies, whether Temporal or Spiritual; though, conſidering the paucity of the Church's Members, with the multitude of its Enemies, and their power, it ſeemed as ſtrange a thing, as for a Woman to prevail againſt a ſtrong and mighty Man. This the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations, judgeth the true and genuine ſence of theſe Words. Others interpret this Woman to be the Virgin Mary, who was to incloſe in her Womb the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, to whom the converted Jews were to adhere; which ſence neither Mr. Calvin, nor our learned Engliſh Annotator approve of. But it being the receiv'd ſence of very many Interpreters, it is fit we ſhould hear their Reaſons, which are, 1. They urge the Particle כִּי, for God, they ſay, here gives the Reaſon why the Jews ſhould deſire to return into the Country of Judea, becauſe the Meſſias was to be born there. 2. They urge the Term created, the Body of Chriſt being not begotten by Man, but created by God, though of the Fleſh of the Virgin. 3. They ſay this indeed was a new thing. It was a new thing for a Virgin to become a Mother, ſtill remaining a Virgin, and to be the Mother of him who was God bleſſed forever, though not the Mother of the Divine Nature; for ſo Chriſt anſwered the Type of Melchiſedeck, without Father as Man, without Mother as God. 4. All other incompaſſings of a Man they ſay were as well out of Judea as in it, this was in Judea only. 5. The Word tranſlated Woman in Scripture, they ſay always ſignifies a particular individual Woman, which could be no other than the Virgin. 6. They ſay the whole Context referrs to benefits coming by Chriſt, therefore he muſt certainly be the Man here intended. 7. They urge that this Prophecy follows, ver. 15. which Matth. 2. 8. is applied by the Evangeliſt to Herod's Murder of the Infants upon the Birth of Chriſt. But on the other ſide it is objected that the Verb סבב is never uſed in Scripture to ſignifie ſuch an incompaſſing. 2. That the Word tranſlated a man, ſignifying a ſtrong Man, doth not properly agree to an Infant in the Mother's Belly. But it is again replied, that this is not the only Word in Scripture, that is but once read in the ſame ſence. 2. That the Word ſignifieth any incompaſſing, and may be properly applied to the Virgin's Womb incompaſſing an Infant. And for the Word tranſlated Man they ſay it is applied to a new-born Infant, Job 3. 3. Iſai. 9. 6. That it is applied to God, Deut. 10. 17. and to Chriſt, Zech. 13. 7. compared with Matth. 26. 31. In a Matter wherein ſo many learned Men are divided, it is enough for me to give their Opinions and Reaſons, leaving my Reader to his own Judgment, in a Matter wherein neither his Faith nor Holineſs are much concerned; for the Queſtion is not concerning the thing, whether Chriſt was incompaſſed in the Womb of a Woman, which is plain enough from other Scriptures, but only whether that be the ſence of the Phraſe here

23 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael k, As yet l they ſhall uſe this ſpeech in the land of Judah, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring again their captivity, The LORD bleſs thee, O habitation of juſtice, and mountain of holineſs m.

k Theſe Prophecies of the Reſtauration of the Jews, are very ordinarily prefaced with theſe two Attributes of God, the one of which aſſerts his Power to do the thing promiſed; for what cannot be done by the Lord of Hoſts? The other aſſerting his Goodneſs or Good Will to this People, becauſe he is their God, related to them, in Covenant with them: Ability and Love, or Good Will to us, being the two Pillars of our Faith and Confidence in God, which requireth no more than that we ſhould be aſſured that the Perſon whom we truſt is able and willing to do what we truſt to him for. l. The Particle עוד ſeemeth better tranſlated, ver. 5. yet again they ſhall uſe, &c. m Three things the Prophet here foretelleth. 1. That the Cities which had formerly been the Habitations of bloody, unjuſt, cruel Men, ſhould become the Habitations of Men who ſhould do juſtice to all. 2. That the City which ſtood upon Mount Zion, and had formerly been an Habitation of Idolaters, and other unholy Perſons, ſhould become a Place, in which Men ſhould in a due and holy manner ſerve and worſhip the true God. 3. That they ſhould be ſo famous both for Juſtice and Holineſs, that Men ſhould take notice of it, and wiſh them well under that notion; and upon that account, as they had for their ſins been made a Curſe and a Proverb, ſo upon their Reformation they ſhould be for a Bleſſing. By this we may obſerve that thoſe who would be bleſſed by God and Men, muſt be juſt towards Men, and holy towards God.

24 And there ſhall dwell in Judah it ſelf, and in all the cities thereof together husbandmen, and they that go forth with flocks n.

n This whole Verſe is but an Expreſſion of their peaceable State after their return, they ſhould live innocently and peaceably. So chap. 33. 12.

25 For I have ſatiated the weary ſoul, and I have repleniſhed every ſorrowful ſoul n.

n I have here is of the ſame ſignificancy with I will, as ordinarily in prophetical Promiſes, which are the words of him who calleth the things that are not as if they were, and would have his People look upon the things which he hath promiſed to do as certain as if they were already done. The Words are only a promiſe to the ſame ſence as before, that God would give his people abundance of eaſe and plenty, and wipe all tears from their eyes.

26 Upon this I awaked, and beheld; and my ſleep was ſweet unto me o.

o Either this Revelation was made to Jeremiah in a dream, from whence he awaking, look'd about him, and he was very well pleaſed with his ſleep at that time, becauſe of the gracious Promiſes concerning Judah which the Lord had in that Dream revealed to him. Or elſe in a Viſion, upon the ſight and hearing of which he was as well pleaſed, as a Man that had ſlept quietly, and had had no ill and unpleaſing, but ſweet and delightful Dreams while he ſlept.

27 ¶ Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that * I will ſow the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Judah with the ſeed of man and with the ſeed of beaſt.

* Hoſ. 2. 23.

o That is, I will exceedingly multiply them, both with Men and with Cattel, they are now laid waſte, their Men are deſtroyed, or gone into other lands, their profitable Beaſts are deſtroyed, and kill'd up, but it ſhall not be ſo always. I will again plant them, and there ſhall be as great plenty of either, as if they were ſown: The multiplying both of Men and of Beaſts in Nations is God's Bleſſing.

28 And it ſhall come to paſs, that like as I have watched over them to * pluck up, and to break down and to throw down, and to deſtroy, and to afflict; ſo will I watch over them to build and to plant, ſaith the LORD.

* Chap. 1. 10.

p Nothing can produce in God a change of Counſels, Purpoſes and Decrees, for he is not as Man that he ſhould lye or repent, he is the God that changeth not, but Men's Reformation may produce in him a change of Providential Diſpenſations. God is here ſet out as a Man that is vindicative, and his vindicative Nature prompts him to watch all opportunities of doing hurt to the Perſon againſt whom he is ſet. There is no Fury nor Revenge in God; but what he doth is Juſtice; but here an angry God is ſet out, as taking all opportunities to puniſh ſinners, as if he had watched for them, whereas he never ſlumbreth nor ſleepeth: But the time of their Reformation, and his Favour being come, God promiſeth to be as diligent to do them good, which is here expreſt by the metaphorical notious of planting and building them, as he was before to execute his Juſtice upon them.

29 In thoſe days they ſhall ſay no more; The fathers have eaten a ſowre grape, and the childrens teeth are ſet on edge q.

q That is, we are puniſhed for our Fathers Sins, which yet God may juſtly do; and none queſtioneth the Juſtice of Man in the caſe, depriving Children of their patrimonial Eſtates for their Parents Treaſons, nor more than God threatneth in the Second Commandment. God indeed, Ezek. 18. 2. ſeemeth diſpleaſed at their uſe of this Proverb; but the reaſon is, becauſe they ſo uſed it, as to acquit themſelves, intimating they were guiltleſs, and ſuffered only for the Sins of their Parents, whereas that was falſe, otherwiſe the puniſhment of Children for the Sins of their Parents, was no more than God had threatned, Exod. 20. 5. and 34. 7. Chap. 15. 4. But, ſaith God, your Captivity ſhall, as to you, expiate your Parents Guilt paſt, and you ſhall no more ſay ſo.

30 But every one ſhall dye for his own iniquity, every man that eateth the ſowre grape, his teeth ſhall be ſet on edge r.

r But yet (ſaith God) you muſt not think that Sinners ſhall eſcape my Vengeance, but if Men commit Iniquity they ſhall die, no Man's Teeth ſhall be ſet on edge, but his only, who hath eaten the ſowre Grape.

* Chap. 32. 40. Heb. 10. 16.

31 ¶ Behold, * the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Judah ſ.

ſ The Apoſtle's application of this, Heb. 8. 8, 9, 10. puts us out of doubt, that this Promiſe referred to the Goſpel-times. It was not only made with the Jews, but all thoſe who ſhould be ingraffed into that Olive; but it is ſaid to be made with them, either as thoſe two Terms ſignifie the whole Church, with whom that Covenant was made, (they being the whole Church which God had upon the Earth at that time) or becauſe they were the only people that had broken the firſt Covenant, the Gentiles being Strangers at that time to the Covenant of Promiſe, Eph. 2. 12. Covenants being uſually renewed upon one Parties violation of them, or becauſe it was at firſt made with the Jews, though it concerned alſo thoſe that were afar off, even as many as the Lord ſhould call, Acts 2. 39. Neither is it called the new Covenant, becauſe it was as to the Subſtance new, for it was made with Abraham, Gen. 17. 7. and with the Jews, Deut. 26. 17, 18. And it was then confirmed by the Blood of Chriſt, though not actually ſhed, yet as he was the Lamb ſlain from the beginning of the World, whoſe Blood was typified by the Blood of the Paſchal Lamb, and of all thoſe living Creatures killed for Sacrifice, but upon many other Accounts, thus enumerated by Divines. 1. Becauſe it was new in the Notion of a Teſtament, not confirmed by the actual Death of Chriſt till Goſpel-Times. 2. Becauſe it was revealed and preached after a new manner, more fully and particularly, plainly and clearly. 3. Becauſe it had no ſuch mixture of Promiſes of temporal Bleſſings, as it had when firſt made with the Jews. 4. Nor was the Ceremonial Law any part of it, as it was to the Jews, who were obliged to approve themſelves God's People by a ſtrict obſervance of that. 5. It was in the Publication extended both to Jews and Gentiles, which the former was not. 6. In regard of the efficacy of the Spirit attending the Publication of it, in a much fuller and larger manner, with the diſtribution of its Gifts and Graces, inabling Souls to fulfill it. See more in the Engliſh Annotations upon this Subject.

32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt t, which my covenant they brake u, || although I was an husband to them, ſaith the LORD w.

t Not in ſubſtance differing from it, but in circumſtances vaſtly differing, as was ſhewed before, and is farther declared afterward. The Covenant which God made with the Jews when they came out of the Land of Egypt, was on God's part the Law which he gave them, with the Promiſes annexed to their obſervation of it; on their part (which made it a formal Covenant) their Promiſe of Obedience to it, of which ſee Exod. 24. 7, 8. Deut. 26. 17, 18. This Covenant God ſaith he made with them, when they were an impotent weak People, the care of whom he took upon him, and led them as a Parent leadeth the feeble child by his hand. None muſt imagine that this Covenant did not contain the Promiſe of Pardon, through the Blood of the Meſſiah, upon their application to him, for to what purpoſe elſe was it confirmed by Blood, Exod. 24. 8. u Which Covenant they are ſaid to have broken, not becauſe of every Diſobedience to the Law of God, for ſo every one daily breaketh it, but by their groſs and eminent ſinnings, ſo oft repeated, and continued in without Repentance, and more particularly by their Idolatry, which is compared to Whoredom, which breaketh the Covenant, and Bond of Marriage, and cauſeth God to ſay unto a People, Lo Ammi, you are not my People. w And this Covenant breaking is aggravated from God's Kindneſs to them, and Care of them; who had for them the Love, and declared the Care of an Husband, and gave them no temptation to go a whoring from him.

33 But this ſhall be the covenant that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael w, After thoſe days, ſaith the LORD, * I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts x, and will be their God, and they ſhall be my people y.

* Ezek. 11, 19, 20. & 36. 26, 27. 2 Cor. 3. 3.

w That is, with thoſe Iſraelites indeed who ſhall be without Guile, (as Chriſt ſaith of Nathanael, John 1. 47.) with thoſe who are (as the Apoſtle ſpeaks, Rom. 2. 29.) Jews inwardly, by the Circumciſion of the Heart and Spirit, ſpoken of, and promiſed by God, Deut. 30. 6. x In the Times of the Goſpel, God's Law is not abrogated and made void. Chriſt himſelf came not to deſtroy the Law, but to fulfil it; but it is written in the hearts of God's true Iſrael, by the finger of the Spirit, not in Tables of Stone only; and they become obedient to it, not from compulſion and force, but from their ſecret approbation of it, and acknowledgment of it, as holy, juſt and good, the delight they take in it, after the inward man, Rom. 7. 22. but ſome may object, How was this a New Covenant? Did not God of old write his Law in the Hearts of his People? Did not David, and other the Servants of God, (of whom we read in the Old Teſtament) ſerve God out of a principle of Love, and delight in his Law? Anſw. Undoubtedly David and others did ſo, and the Law of God was wrote in their hearts, but it was by vertue of this New Covenant, from the free and efficacious Grace of God. Mr. Calvin I think judgeth right, that the Prophet's deſign here is to expreſs the difference betwixt the Law and the Goſpel. The firſt ſheweth Duty, the latter bringeth along with it the grace of Regeneration, by which the Heart is changed, fitted, and inabled for, and unto Duty. All under the time of the Law that came to Salvation were ſaved, not from the Law, or by that, but by the Goſpel, and this new Covenant; but this was not evidently exhibited, neither was the regenerating Grace of God ſo common under the time of the Law, as it hath been under the Goſpel, which maketh it look like a new Covenant with Men, though it was the ſame Covenant which God was always in with his People; for what difference is there between the terms of the Covenant as recited here, Chap. 24. 7. and 30. 22. and as made with Abraham, Gen. 17. 7. Deut. 30. 6. It is further obſervable, that God maketh the writing the Law in Peoples Hearts his own Work. There were no need of God's putting his Law into Mens inward parts, if they had ſuch an inward power (as ſome talk of) of themſelves to do it, and could write it there with a Pen of their own making. The Papiſts allow God a ſhare in this Work, only give Man himſelf the greateſt ſhare. Others indeed give God nothing but the Honour of giving Man a reſonable ſoul, furniſhed with ſuch a power, and that he hath done to Heathens, as well as thoſe within the Pale of the Church, and the Preaching of the Goſpel; and to thoſe within the Church, a further aid and aſſiſtance to them than Heathens have, to uſe their natural power well. But let any underſtanding perſon judge whether this be probably the ſenſe of this Text, or comprehenſive of all within the Covenant which God hath made with his People; or ſuppoſing this were true, what that is which differeth, one Man living under the Goſpel from another, but himſelf, and whether by this Doctrine Man be not made a God to himſelf, that is the principal cauſe of all ſpiritual and eternal good, which how it comporteth with the Honour and Glory of God, or with this Text, and many others of like nature, I do not underſtand.

34 And they ſhall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying, Know the LORD z; for * they ſhall all know me, from the leaſt of them unto the greateſt of them, ſaith the LORD a, for * I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their ſin no more b.

* Iſa. 54. 13. John 6. 45. 1 Cor. 2. 10. 1 Joh. 2. 20. * Chap. 33. 8. Micah 7. 18. Acts 10. 43.

z This muſt not be ſo interpreted as if under the Goſpel, there ſhould be no more need of miniſterial teaching, for Chriſt himſelf ſent out his Apoſtles to preach; nor yet as if there ſhould be no more need of Brotherly Teachings, by Inſtruction or Correption; the contrary is commanded, Col. 3. 16. It is only an expreſſion ſignifying the increaſe of knowledge, and of the fear of the Lord, that ſhould be after the pouring out of the Spirit; we have ſuch expreſſions, 1 John 2. 27. The Learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations thinks this Phraſe ſignifies, that under the Goſpel there ſhould be a greater meaſure of means of knowledge, and of knowledge got by that means, and of clearneſs of underſtanding in Perſons, or ability to conceive things revealed, and a greater number of Perſons, that ſhould be enlightned with the ſaving knowledge of God: Others ſay, that by knowing the Lord, is to be underſtood the firſt knowledge of God; Chriſtians ſhould not need be taught the firſt Rudiments; but the Apoſtle ſpeaks otherwiſe, Heb. 5. 12. Others by knowledge underſtand the fear of the Lord. a God ſaith, They ſhould all know him; but it muſt not be underſtood of the ſame degree, and meaſure, but in a degree of ſufficiency for the Duties which God expected from them upon their notion and apprehenſion of God. b God makes the root of all this Grace to be the free pardon, and remiſſion of their ſins.

35 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD, which giveth the ſun * for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the ſtars for a light by night, which divideth the * ſea c when the waves thereof roar, the LORD of hoſts is his Name.

* Gen. 1. 16. * Iſa. 51. 15.

c The Word רגע is here ill tranſlated divide, which hath led ſome Interpreters to think that God here hath a reſpect to his dividing the Red Sea, that the Iſraelites might paſs over, which ſeemeth not at all here to be intended. The word indeed ſignifieth to divide, but it alſo ſignifieth to quiet and bring to reſt, and is ſo interpreted, Chap. 50. 34. Iſa. 34. 14. and in this very Chap. Ver. 2. and doubtleſs were better here tranſlated, which quieteth the Sea when the Waves thereof roar. All the acts mentioned, are acts ſpeaking the Divine Almighty power, of him who is the Lord of all the Regiments in the Hoſts of the Creation.

* Iſa. 54. 9. Chap. 33. 20.

36 * If thoſe ordinances d depart from before me, ſaith the LORD, then the ſeed of Iſrael ſhall alſo ceaſe, from being a nation before me for ever.

d There are Ordinances of Worſhip, which are God's Laws relating to his Worſhip, and Ordinances of Juſtice, which are God's Laws, for the executing civil Juſtice, and Ordinances of Nature, which are God's Eſtabliſhments for the working of natural cauſes in their order; theſe are thoſe here ſpoken of, e Which ſhall hold and continue to the diſſolution of the World, the continuance of which God pawneth as a Pledge of the continuance of Iſrael as a Nation all the days (ſo it is in the Hebrew) that is many days, or all the days they ſhall keep cloſe with him, or which he hath appointed. If we interpret it (as in our Verſion) for ever it muſt be underſtood not of Iſrael according to the fleſh, but, of the Church, the true Iſrael of God, which ſhall never fail.

* Chap. 33. 22.

37 Thus ſaith the LORD *, If heaven above can be meaſured, and the foundations of the earth ſearched out beneath, I will alſo caſt off all the ſeed of Iſrael for all that they have done, ſaith the LORD f.

f That is, I will never caſt off all the Seed of Iſrael, (which promiſe the Apoſtle, Rom. 11. 1, 2. proveth to have been by God made good, notwithſtanding the rejection of the great Body of that People) for none but God can either meaſure the Heavens, or pierce to the center of the Earth.

38 ¶ Behold the days come, ſaith the LORD, that the city ſhall be built to the LORD from the tower of Hananeel, unto the gate of the corner g.

g That is, it ſhall be built round, as largely as ever, we read of this Tower of Hananeel, Neh. 3. 1, and 12. 39. Zech. 14. 10. it was in the South, or rather the Eaſtern part of the City. We read of the Gate of the corner, 2 Kings 14. 13. Zech. 14. 10. moſt agree that it is in the North-Eaſt part of the City.

39 And the meaſuring line ſhall yet go forth, over againſt it, upon the hill Gareb, and ſhall compaſs about to Goah h.

h That is, it ſhall be built round about upon its old foundations, Vid. Neh. 3. We are ignorant of the Ancient Situation of the City, ſo are the Jews themſelves, therefore it is vain to pretend to an exact skill in theſe names of places; ſome ſay, Gareb ſignifies a Scab, and the Hill had its Name from Leprous Perſons lying there.

* Nehem. 3. 28.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies i, and of the aſhes k, and all the fields unto the brook of Kidron, unto the corner of the * horſe-gate towards the eaſt l, ſhall be holy unto the LORD m; it ſhall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more for ever n.

i A Valley ſo called (as ſome think) from the Multitude of Senacherib's Army ſlain there; or, (as others think) from the Bodies of Malefactors put to Death at Golgotha (which was near) caſt, or buried there. k So called (as is thought) from the aſhes of the Sacrifices carried thither. l Some think that the Horſe gate had its Name from the King's Horſes led out at it. The ſum is, the whole City ſhall be built. m All theſe places ſhall be parts of the Holy City, and God's Name ſhall be ſanctified, and he ſhall be worſhipped in them all. n And the City for a long time ſhall abide and not be plucked up, nor thrown down: for we know after many Years it was plucked up by the Romans. If we interpret the word for ever of a perpetuity, the Church of God muſt here be underſtood, againſt which the Gates of Hell ſhall never prevail, as Chriſt hath promiſed.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremiah in the Siege of Jeruſalem being impriſoned by Zedekiah, buyeth a Field, taketh Witneſſes, draweth a Writing, ſealeth and delivereth it to Baruch to preſerve, as Tokens of the Peoples Return, 1,——15. He prayeth with admiration of God's Majeſty and Works; and repreſenteth his own Conflict, 16,——25. God confirmeth the Captivity for their ſins, 26,——35; but promiſeth a gracious Return, 36,——44.

1 THE word that came to Jeremiah from the LORD, in the tenth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, which was the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar a.

a That is ſomething more than a Year before the City was taken, for it was taken in the fourth Month of the eleventh Year of this Kings Reign, Chap. 39. 2. This tenth Year concurred with the eighteenth Year of the King of Babylon's abſolute Reign, who began ſo to Reign in the third and fourth Year of Jehoiakim, Dan. 1. 1. ſo as Jehoiakim's laſt Year was the ſeventh and eighth of Nebuchadrezzar, who is alſo ſometimes called Nebuchadnezzar and Nabuchodonoſor.

2 For then the king of Babylon's army beſieged Jeruſalem b: and Jeremiah the prophet was ſhut up in the * court of the priſon, which was in the King of Judah's houſe c. * Neh. 3. 25.

b The King of Babylon (as appears from 2 Kings 25. 1. and Chap. 39. 1.) beſieged Hieruſalem in the tenth Month of the ninth Year of Zedekiah, ſo as he had beſieged it ſome time before the Revelation of this Prophecy came to Jeremiah. c Jeremiah was at that time a Priſoner, in a Priſon within the King's Houſe. The King could keep him from revealing God's Will to the People, but he could not keep God from revealing himſelf to him. Priſons hinder us from Communion with Men, but often contribute to God's People freer and ſweeter communion with him. In the mean time the deſperate hardneſs of this Prince, and theſe Peoples Hearts appear, in that the fear of an Enemy beſieging them could not awe them from ſuch outrageous acts of Perſecution.

3 For Zedekiah king of Judah, had ſhut him up, ſaying d, Wherefore doſt thou propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the LORd, Behold I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it.

a We no where read that Zedekiah immediately commanded Jeremiah to be impriſoned. He ſeemeth rather to have been favourable to Jeremiah, and judicious Interpreters think his preſent Priſon was a favourable Priſon; but God accounteth Princes to do that which their Miniſters or ſubordinate Magiſtrates do with their connivance, and without their hinderance. Though it be wild Divinity for any to ſay, that inferiour Miniſters or Subjects are excuſed by the command of the ſuperiour, and the guilt lyeth only on them; yet it is as wild to ſay they contract no guilt by the extravagant acts of ſubordinate Magiſtrates whom they put in place, and can puniſh, and remove from their places.

4 And Zedekiah king of Judah ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Chaldeans, but ſhall ſurely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, and ſhall ſpeak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall behold his eyes.

5 And he ſhall lead Zedekiah to Babylon e, and there ſhall he be until I viſit him, ſaith the LORD f, Though ye fight with the Chaldeans, ye ſhall not proſper g.

e Here the cauſe of the Prophet's impriſonment is expreſſed. The things were true which Jeremy propheſied, and fulfilled, Chap. 39. 5, 6, 7. and Jeremy could not forbear ſpeaking them, becauſe he was ſent of God upon the Errand, Chap. 34. 2, 3. yet the King and Court could not bear his words. f Interpreters are divided, whether the viſitation here mentioned were a viſitation of Judgment, and the ſame with until he die; or of mercy; it is certain Zedekiah was not put to Death, only his eyes put out, and he carried into Babylon, Chap. 39. 7. where ſome think he afterward found favour with the King of Babylon; certain it is that he dyed in Babylon, and had an honourable Burial, but whether he met with any other favour, or no, the Scripture ſaith not; Some will have the words read, until I viſit this People, and think that Zedekiah lived in Priſon in Babylon till the Reſtauration; but he was 21 Years old when he began to Reign, and reigned 11 Years, ſo as he was 32 Years old when he was carried to Babylon, 2 Chron. 36. 11. and muſt be then 92 Years old when he died, which is hardly probable, conſidering the delicate Education, and Life of Princes, that he having loſt his Eyes, and ſeen ſo much miſery, ſhould continue 60 Years longer. g Though you make many Sallies out upon the Chaldæans, that are now beſieging you, yet you ſhall be beaten in all, and not be able to drive them from your Walls. Hitherto hath been but the Preface to the Prophetical Type, and Diſcourſe in this Chapter, which now followeth.

6 ¶ And Jeremiah ſaid, The word of the LORD came unto me, ſaying,

7 Behold Hanameel the ſon of Shallum thine uncle, ſhall come unto thee, ſaying, Buy thee my field that is in Anathoth i, for the right of redemption is thine to buy it k.

h From hence may be concluded the certainty of future contingency in God's Eye; the coming of Hanameel, was a future contingency, yet certainly known to God, ſo as he could tell the Prophet he would come. i Anathoth (as appears from Joſh. 21. 18.) was one of the Cities of the Levites; hence ariſeth a queſtion, how it could be ſold to Jeremiah, who by the Law might not poſſeſs it, Numb. 18. 20. being a Levite. Some excuſe it from the Command of God, who might diſpenſe with his own Law, but this ſeemeth not enough, becauſe it is ſaid afterward, The Right of Redemption is thine. 2. Others therefore ſay the Levites might have ſome ſmall Poſſeſſions, though no plowed Land: They might have Houſes and Orchards, and Gardens, in Cities and Suburbs. But that theſe might be ſold ſeemeth contrary to the Law, Levit. 25. 34. It is therefore rather thought to be meant of ſome ſmall Eſtate left to Hanameel from his Anceſtors. k The right of Redemption belonged to the next of Kin, Lev. 25. 25. Ruth 4. 4.

8 So Hanameel my uncles ſon came to me in the court of the priſon, according to the word of the LORD l, and ſaid unto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin, for the right of inheritance is thine, and the redemption is thine, buy it for thy ſelf: then I knew that this was the word of the LORD m.

l Hanameel came freely, none drave, or forced him, yet he came neceſſarily as to the event, he could not but go, elſe God had not told the Prophet truth. m When I ſaw it came to paſs, knowing that God alone knew what was in Mens hearts, and what they would do, I knew my former mentioned Revelation was from God.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncles ſon, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the money, even || ſeventeen ſhekels of ſilver n.

n That is, about 2 l. 2 s. 6 d. a ſmall Purchaſe, which argues the Field here mentioned to be but ſome Orchard or Garden; tho we muſt allow the price of Land ſtrangely fallen at this time, when the Enemy was beſieging the chief City of the Country. It ſhould ſeem they were wont there to make their Payments, more by Weight than by Tale.

10 And I † ſubſcribed the evidence, and ſealed it, and took witneſſes, and weighed him the money in the balances o.

† Heb. wrote in the book.

o I went through with the Purchaſe, ſetting my hand to, and ſealing the Deed, and taking Witneſſes to it, (as is uſual.)

11 So I took the evidence of the purchaſe, both that which was ſealed according to the law and cuſtom, and that which was open p.

p It is moſt probable, that upon ſuch Bargains and Sales amongſt the Jews, two inſtruments were made, the one ſealed up, to be kept by the Purchaſer, the other open, to be ſhewed to the Judges, and by them ratified, and that this was the Law and Cuſtom ordinarily amongſt the Jews upon Purchaſes; both which Jeremy kept, the one for his uſe, the other to produce in Court for Ratification. There is no certainty in the gueſſes that ſome others make, why there were two Copies: Nothing appeareth but that the Prophet bought this little Purchaſe with the ſame Rites and Circumſtances that Men ordinarily in that Country made Purchaſes in times of Peace, and civil order.

12 And I gave the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, the ſon of Maaſeiah q, in the ſight of Hanameel my uncles ſon, and in the preſence of the * witneſſes, that ſubſcribed the book of the purchaſe, before all the Jews that ſate in the court of the priſon r.

* See Iſa. 8. 2.

q This Baruch (as appeareth from Chap. 36. 4. 26.) was a Scribe, and an attendant upon Jeremiah, and one who wrote things for him, and from his Mouth. r He made this Purchaſe with all the uſual Formalities; to make it publick, he ſigned and ſealed it before Witneſſes, and delivered it to Baruch, to keep in the preſence of them all, and in the preſence of the Jews, who caſually were in the place when the thing was done.

13 ¶ And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying,

14 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Take theſe evidences, this evidence of the purchaſe, both which is ſealed, and this evidence which is open, and put them in an earthen veſſel, that they may continue many days.

15 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Houſes and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed again in this land ſ.

ſ Here is nothing of any ſeeming difficulty in theſe Verſes, but only why the Prophet commandeth Baruch to put the Evidences in an Earthen Veſſel, which himſelf alſo expounds, that they might continue many days, that is, not defaced; had they been hid many days in the Earth, they would have been rotten; had they been above ground in a Box or Cheſt, they might have been loſt, or taken away by the Soldier's plundering houſes, or at leaſt burnt with fire. Verſe 15. The Prophet expounds God's Meaning in this Command to him, and his own Deſign, in ſo formal a buying of ſo ſmall a Purchaſe, eſpecially conſidering, that, very probably, Jeremiah was no great Purchaſer, nor very greedy of Purchaſes: He lets them know that all this was for a ſign of the Truth of what God had revealed to him concerning the People's Return, though after many days (ſixty years from this time) and alſo of the firm aſſent he gave to that divine Revelation, That Purchaſes ſhould one day be enjoyed again in Judea, and Houſes, Fields, and Vine yards in it, ſhould be again poſſeſſed.

16 ¶ Now when I had delivered the evidence of the purchaſe unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, I prayed unto the LORD, ſaying t, t What he prayed for, the Matter of his Prayer in the following Verſes will inform us; but it ſhould ſeem by it, that he was not without his perplexities; though he yielded an abſolute Obedience to God's Command, yet he prayeth for a clearer Revelation of his meaning in this thing.

17 Ah Lord GOD, behold, thou haſt made the heaven and the earth by thy great power and ſtretched out arm, and there is * nothing || too hard for thee u.

* Gen. 18. 14. ver. 27. Luk 1 37.

u He beginneth his Prayer with a Recognition of God's Omnipotency, and the infiniteneſs of his Power, which was ſhewed in his firſt making the Heaven and the Earth, as we read, Gen. 1. Pſal. 146. 6. God himſelf uſed this inſtance to confirm his Peoples Faith in his ability to do what he pleaſed, Chap. 27 5. It is obſervable that the Servants of God in Holy Writ, uſed in their Prayers to give God ſuch Names, as might help to confirm their Faith as to what they asked. Nothing can further be neceſſary to confirm our Faith that we ſhall have what we ask, than for us to be perſwaded that the Perſon is able to do it, and alſo willing. The Prophet beginneth with a Declaration of his Faith in God as to the firſt, then goes on to the ſecond.

18 Thou ſheweſt loving kindneſs unto thouſands, and recompenſeſt the iniquity of the fathers into the boſom of their children after them w, the great, the mighty God, the LORD of hoſts is his name.

w This is the Name which God gave himſelf, Exod. 34. 7. Deut. 5. 9, 10. and of this latter clauſe declarative of the Vengeance of God in puniſhing Children for their Parents ſins, are many inſtances in Scripture, Joſ. 7. 24. 1 Sam. 2. 33, 34. 1 Kings 14. 10, 11. and 21. 24.

19 Great in counſel x, and mighty in work y, (for thine * eyes are open upon all the ways of the ſons of men *, to give every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings z.)

* Job 34. 21. Pſal. 33. 13 Prov 5 21. Ch 16 17.
* Chap. 17. 10.

x Who doſt nothing but in infinite Wiſdom, as if thou hadſt taken counſel upon it, and art mighty in thy Works of Providence, by which thou governeſt the World. z Whoſe Eyes run to and fro the Earth, beholding the evil and the good; ſo that all things are naked before thee, and thou art not a meer curious and idle ſpectator of Mens Actions, but lookeſt upon them for that end, that thou mighteſt reward or puniſh them, according as thou ſeeſt their actions good or bad in thy ſight.

20 Which haſt ſet ſigns and wonders in the land of Egypt, even unto this day a, and in Iſrael b, and amongſt other men c, and haſt made thee a name as at this day.

a Who didſt Wonders of Juſtice in the Land of Egypt, ſuch as are remembred and made matters of aſtoniſhing Diſcourſe even to this day, b and wroughteſt Wonders of Mercy in Iſrael, bringing them out of Egypt through the Red Sea, raining them down Manna and Quails from Heaven, and fetching Water out of the Rock for them, &c. c And haſt done alſo many wondrous Works in other places, by which thou haſt made thy ſelf a Glorious Name.

21 And haſt brought forth thy people Iſrael, * out of the land of Egypt with ſigns, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and with a ſtretched out arm, and with great terror d.

* Exod. 6. 6. 2 Sam. 7. 23. 1 Chron. 17. 21.

d The Hiſtory of this we have in the 11 or 12 firſt Chapters of Exodus. God ſent 10 Plagues upon Egypt one after another, before Pharaoh would let them go, and when he purſued after them, divided the Red Sea for them, that they might paſs through, and then brought the Waters back upon the Egyptians, purſuing after them through the Sea.

22 And haſt given them this land which thou didſt ſwear unto their Fathers to give them l a land flowing with milk and honey m.

l God owneth this Oath, Exod. 6. 8. m That is, abounding with all neceſſary things, and all pleaſant things. Canaan is often thus deſcribed, Exod. 3. 8, 17. and 13. 5 and 33 3. Lev. 20. 24. Numb. 14. 8. and 16. 13, 14. Deut. 6. 3. and 11. 9, &c.

23 And they came in and poſſeſſed it n, but they obeyed not thy voice, neither walked in thy law o, they have done nothing at all that thou commandeſt them to do p: therefore thou haſt cauſed all this evil to come upon them q.

n In the former paſſage he acknowledged God's Goodneſs, here he owns his Truth and Faithfulneſs, in ſo conducting this People by his Providence, that they came into the promiſed Land and poſſeſſed it. o Having acknowledged God's Power, Omniſcience, Goodneſs, Truth and Faithfulneſs, he comes to own his Juſtice, confeſſing that this People for whom God had done ſo much, had very ill requited him, not obeying his voice, which he expounds by not walking in his Law; for the Law was God's Voice to them. p This he aggravateth by ſaying they had done nothing of what he had commanded, not breaking ſome particular Law, but the whole Law of God. q Therefore God was righteous in bringing this Sword, Peſtilence and Famine upon them.

24 Behold the || mounts r, they are come unto the city to take it s, and the city is given into the hand of the Chaldeans, that fight againſt it t, becauſe of the ſword, and of the famine, and of the peſtilence u, and what thou haſt ſpoken is come to paſs w, and behold, thou ſeeſt it.

r The word ſignifies Ramparts, or rather Battering Rams, Engines of War which thoſe Nations uſed to batter Walls, or to ſhoot great Stones into places beſieged. s They are already Beſieging Hieruſalem, and have been for ſome time. t And the City is even ready to be taken and cannot hold out. u So many daily are killed, either with the Sword of the Enemy, or by Famine for want of Proviſion, or by the Peſtilence. w Thou art juſt, and righteous in all this, and haſt done but according to what thou threatnedſt to do, to a ſinful People that would not obey thy Voice.

25 And thou haſt ſaid unto me, O Lord GOD, Buy thee the field for money, and take witneſſes: || for the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans x.

x In this Verſe again the Particle is ill tranſlated And and For in the latter Clauſe. The Learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations judgeth well, that it had been better tranſlated when as in the ſecond place, as Gen. 4. 11. Pſal. 102. 5. or albeit, or tho' as it is tranſlated, Joſ. 17. 18. Pſal. 23. 4. and Yet inſtead of And in the beginning, as it is Chap. 23. 21. Lord! ſaith the Prophet, expound thy meaning to me, why, when the City is upon the matter ready to be yielded up to the Chaldæans, and cannot poſſibly hold out long, thou ſhouldſt ſet me to make Purchaſes for thine Enemies to poſſeſs.

26 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, ſaying, 27 Behold, I am the LORD, the * God of all fleſh: Is there any thing too hard for me y?

* Ver. 17.

y The Lord beginneth this Revelation for the Prophet's ſatisfaction, with the Preface expreſſive of his power, and univerſal dominion, from which Jeremiah might underſtand that he could do whatſoever he pleaſed, and Man that was but fleſh, Gen. 6. 3. could not hinder his effecting what he deſigned to do. God is alſo the God of the Spirits of all fleſh, Numb. 16, 22. but he expreſſeth Man here only under the notion of fleſh, as Gen. 6. 3. to denote his vileneſs and inconſiderableneſs as to any grapling with God, and incountring his Purpoſes.

28 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Chaldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it.

29 And the Chaldeans that fight againſt this city, ſhall come and * ſet fire on this city and burn it with the houſes z, * upon whoſe roofs they have offered incenſe unto Baal, and poured out drink-offerings unto other Gods to provoke me to anger a.

* Chap. 21. 10.
* Chap. 19. 13.

z Thou judgeſt right, this City ſhall be taken, and that by this very Army of Chaldæans which now beſiegeth it, they ſhall ſet fire on it, and burn the Houſes; I have made all fleſh, and I have power to diſpoſe of it, I will give this City into their hands. c But in this execution of my Vengeance I ſhall not act by Prerogative, but as a juſt and righteous Judge, vindicating the violation of my Laws, they have polluted their Houſes, by Idolatry upon the Roofs of them, they have offered incenſe, paid a Divine Homage to the Idol Baal, and in them they have worſhipped other Gods, therefore I will watch over, and protect them no longer, but ſend the Chaldæans by their Fires to purge them.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Judah have only done evil before me from their youth: for the children of Iſrael, have only provoked me to anger with the works of their hands, ſaith the LORD b.

b If they had offended me only by ſome particular ſingle acts, or by ſome few Omiſſions, or but for a ſmall time; I might have been judged too ſevere upon them, but from the time they firſt began to be a Nation, they have made it their Buſineſs, Courſe, and Trade, paſſing from one Idolatry to another, &c.

31 For this city hath been to me as † a provocation of mine anger, and of my fury, from the day that they built it, even to this day c, that I ſhould remove it from before my face d.

† Heb. for anger:

c Solomon finiſhed the Building of Hieruſalem, and he at leaſt ſuffered Idolatry in it, 1 King. 11. 4. 8. People have always been ſo fond of worſhipping God according to their own Fancies and Inventions, that even in Judah (except in David's time) the Worſhip of God could hardly be preſerved pure, during the entire Reign of one King. d As if they had done it on purpoſe to provoke me to deſtroy the City, and caſt the People of it out. Nothing more eaſie than for People to keep cloſe to the Divine Rule, as to External Acts in Worſhip; nothing is more provocative of God than their doing the contrary. Yet nothing hath been more rarely done in any Nation, as if Men had ſet themſelves to dare a Jealous God.

32 Becauſe of all the evil of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Judah which they have done, to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their prieſts, and their prophets, and the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem e.

e Still God maketh their deſtruction to be of themſelves, as the meritorious cauſe, provoking him to that Wrath he executed upon them. The whole Head was ſick, the whole Heart faint. All orders of Men were corrupted, ſo as there was no hope of their Reformation, or growing better.

33 And they have turned unto me the † * back, and not the face, f though I taught them, riſing up early, and teaching them, yet they have not hearkned to receive inſtruction g.

* Chap. 2. 27. and 7. 24.

f They have behaved themſelves againſt me contemptuouſly, like Men, who when they are ſpoken to, admoniſhed, or inſtructed inſtead of looking towards thoſe who inſtruct, or admoniſh them, turn their back upon them. g Yet their ſin had not been ſo great and hainous, if I by my Prophets had not diligently inſtructed them, and they as ſtubbornly refuſed to be taught, or amended by their inſtruction.

34 But they * ſet their abominations h in the houſe which is called by my name to defile it i.

* Chap. 7. 30. and 23. 11. Ezek. 8. 5, 16.

h Their Idols, which above all things the Jealous God abhorreth, and therefore he calleth them abominations in the abſtract for abominable things, Deut. 32. 16. 1 Kings 11. 5. 2 Kings 23. 13. i That is, in the Temple, which was ordinarily called the Houſe of the Lord, and the Temple of the Lord.

35 And they built the high places of Baal which are in the valley of the ſon of Hinnom, to * cauſe their ſons and their daughters to paſs through the fire unto * Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my mind that they ſhould do this abomination to cauſe Judah to ſin k.

36 ¶ And now therefore thus ſaith the LORD the God of Iſrael, concerning this city, whereof ye ſay, It ſhall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon, by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence n.

n The Jews now began to ſee that the Chaldæans would take the City, and to be as dead hearted as before they were full of courage, and to give over themſelves for ever as loſt.

37 Behold, I will * gather them out of all countreys, whither I have driven them in mine anger, and in my fury, and in great wrath: and I will bring them again unto this place, and I will cauſe them to dwell ſafely o.

* Deut. 30. 3. Chap. 23. 3. and 29 14. and 31. 10.

o Though the City ſhall be taken, and you ſhall go into Captivity, yet you ſhall not be utterly loſt, I will gather you again, and you ſhall have as quiet an habitation as ever.

38 And they ſhall be * my people, and I will be their God p.

* Chap. 24. 7. and 30. 22. and 31. 33.

p I will renew my Covenant with them, and keep my Covenant towards them, they ſhall ſerve me more faithfully, and I will own them, and take care of them, and bleſs them.

39 And I will give them * one heart q, and one way r, that they may fear me for † ever ſ, for the good of them, and of their children after them t.

* Ezek. 11. 19.

q I will give them union and concord, or an oneneſs of mind and judgment; as to the things of God, they ſhall not be ſome for ſuperſtitious and idolatrous Worſhip, and ſome for my true Worſhip. r They ſhall all Worſhip me according to the rule I have given them. ſ That they may worſhip me in Truth, as a People that have a dread of me upon their hearts. t This will be for the profit both of them, and their Poſterity, many days, even ſo long as they ſhall continue ſo to do.

40 And * I will make an everlaſting covenant with them, that I will not turn away † from them to do them good u, but I will put my fear into their hearts, that they ſhall not depart from me w.

u This Promiſe manifeſtly relateth to thoſe Jews that ſhould receive the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, or that were Iſraelites indeed; for as to others, God did turn away from doing them good, when their City was taken by Titus; unleſs it be to be underſtood of a national Converſion of the Jews, not yet effected. w My ſpirit which ſhall beget in them a dread of me, ſo as they ſhall not depart from me: Hence ſome conclude well, that when once the Body of the Jews ſhall be converted, they ſhall never again apoſtatize from God. It may well from hence be concluded, that both Converſion unto God, and perſeverance in the ways of God are the gifts of God, we are kept by the power of God, through faith unto Salvation.

41 Yea, * I will rejoice over them, to do them good x, and * I will plant them in this land † aſſuredly, with my whole heart and with my whole ſoul y.

* Zeph. 3. 12.
* Chap. 24. 6. Amos 9. 15.
† Heb in truth or ſtability.

x I will not only do them good, but I will take pleaſure, and delight in doing them good, and I will y certainly bring them to this Land, and conſtantly and freely do them good when they ſhall be there.

42 For Thus ſaith the LORD, Like as I have brought all this great evil upon this people, ſo will I bring upon them all the good that I have promiſed them z.

z You ſhall find me as true to my Promiſes, as you have found me to my Threatnings.

43 And fields ſhall be bought in this land, whereof ye ſay, It is deſolate without man and beaſt.

44 Men ſhall buy fields for money, and ſubſcribe evidences and ſeal them, and take witneſſes * in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah, and in the cities of the mountains, and in the cities of the valley, and in the cities of the ſouth, for * I will cauſe their captivity to return, ſaith the LORD a.

* Chap. 17. 26.
* Chap. 33. 7. 11. 26.

a Now, Jeremiah, thou underſtandeſt wherefore I commanded thee to buy the Field offered thee by Hanameel in Anathoth in the Lot of Benjamin; it was to aſſure thee, that though at preſent the Chaldæans ſhall prevail againſt Jeruſalem, and the Jews ſhall be carried into Captivity, and the Jews ſhall neither buy nor ſell here at preſent, yet Fields ſhall here be bought again; Men ſhall buy and ſell, and ſeal Evidences in all parts of Judæa, as they were wont to do in former times, for they ſhall return again out of the Captivity of Babylon into their own Land, and have Commerce one with another as formerly.

The taking of Jeruſalem, carrying away the People, their Return, 1,——8. Joyful State and ſetled Government, 9.——14 Chriſt the Branch of Righteouſneſs: His everlaſting Kingdom and Prieſthood: And Bleſſed Seed, 15,——26.

* Chap. 32. 2, 3.

1 MOreover the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah the ſecond time (while he was yet * ſhut up in the court of the priſon) ſaying a.

a See the Notes on Chap. 32. 2. Jeremiah was forced out of the Temple, God followeth him to the Priſon, and there revealeth his mind to him once and again. The wickedneſs of the Jews in perſecuting the Prophet, could not make God's Promiſes of no effect for mercy to be ſhewed to the People, after the Captivity, which though made before, are again confirmed a ſecond time, for this Chapter for ſubſtance contains no more than Promiſes of the like nature with thoſe in the foregoing Chapters.

* Iſa 37. 26.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD the * maker thereof, the LORD that formed it, to eſtabliſh it, the LORD is his name b.

b The maker thereof, that is ſay ſome of Jeruſalem (ſo Mr. Calvin) or the maker of theſe Promiſes (ſo others interpret it) his Name is Jehovah, ſo as he hath a ſufficiency in himſelf to make good his word to eſtabliſh Jeruſalem. or to eſtabliſh the word ſpoken by him for the eſtabliſhment of it.

3 Call unto me, and I will anſwer thee, and ſhew thee, great and || mighty things which thou knoweſt not c.

c God either ſpeaketh to the People to pray unto him, or to the Prophet on the behalf of the People to pray, promiſing him he would ſhew him great things. Object. But how doth God ſay that Jeremiah did not know them, when God before this time had revealed them to the Prophet, and the Prophet had revealed them. Sol. He did not know them before God had revealed them, and though God had revealed them, yet by his Prayer in the former Chapter it appears, he did not fully underſtand them, or firmly believe them as he ought to have done.

4 For thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, concerning the houſes of this city, and concerning the houſes of the kings of Judah, which are thrown down by the mounts, and by the ſword d.

d That is which in part are thrown down, and ſhall yet further be thrown down, by the Engines of War which the Chaldæans uſe to batter down the City. See before Chap. 32. 24. ſome read for the mounts, as if they were thrown down by the Citizens to make room for the Citizens to caſt up defenſive Mounts, the word tranſlated Sword may be as well tranſlated Hammers or Mattocks, as it is 2 Chron. 34. 6. It is tranſlated Axes, Ezek. 26. 9.

5 They come to fight with the Chaldeans e, but it is to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have ſlain in my anger, and in my fury f, and for all whoſe wickedneſs I have hid my face from this city g.

e It is very difficult to determine whether theſe words contain an entire ſenſe in themſelves, or what connexion they have with the foregoing words; not to repeat Mens diverſe apprehenſions, of which a large account is given by the Author of the Engliſh Annotations, I think they judge beſt who think they have an entire ſenſe in themſelves, and judge that the They here mentioned, are the Jews of whom the Prophet ſaith they come, becauſe he knew they would ſally out and fight with their Enemies, but to no purpoſe, but to fill their Houſes with their own dead Bodies, whom he would cauſe in his anger to be ſlain. g For their wickedneſs which they had provoked God by, and cauſed him to hide his face from that City which had ſo much of his countenance formerly.

6 Behold, I will bring it health, and cure, and I will cure them h, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth i.

h The latter part of this Verſe expoundeth the former, for by health and cure, the Prophet meaneth peace, and truth; we met with the like metaphorical expreſſion, Chap. 30. 17. See the notes on that place. The miſerable diſturbed ſtate of a Nation being compared to Wounds, and Sickneſs, the reſtoring of it to a peaceable proſperouſs ſtate is fitly called its Health and Cure. i By truth here ſeems to be meant faithfulneſs, or ſtability, not truth of propoſitions; q. d. I will after this great wound which I have given this People, bring them again into a quiet and peaceable ſtate in which they ſhall abide many days.

* Chap. 24. 6. and 31. 4. and 42. 10.

7 And I will cauſe the captivity of Judah, and the captivity of Iſrael to return, * and will build them as at the firſt k.

k In this Verſe the latter part is expounded by the former: the reſtoring of them is called building them, in oppoſition to the throwing them down, by the Mounts mentioned, Ver. 4. unleſs by building be to be underſtood not laying the foundation of their new State, but the further proſpering of them in that State.

* Chap. 31. 34. Micah 7. 18.

8 And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, whereby they have ſinned againſt me, and I will * pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have ſinned, and whereby they have tranſgreſſed againſt me m.

m Here is but one thing expreſſed by two Phraſes; the word by us tranſlated cleanſe ſignifies to expiate or puriſie with alluſion to the legal purifications, ſo as cleanſing muſt not be underſtood of Regeneration, but of that pardon which is mentioned in the latter part of the Verſe.

9 ¶ And it ſhall be to me a name of joy, a praiſe and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which ſhall hear all the good that I do unto them: n and they ſhall fear, and tremble, for all the goodneſs, and for all the proſperity that I procure unto it o.

n I will do ſo well by this People, that other Nations ſhall honour and praiſe me for my goodneſs to them. o And not only ſo, but ſhall fear to ingage againſt a Nation ſo beloved and favoured by me, Exod. 15. 14, 16. others interpret it of a Religious fear, and trembling to which God's Mercy to the Iſraelites ſhould invite thoſe People that ſhould ſee, and hear of it; but I think the former is the moſt probable ſenſe of the Prophet here.

10 Thus ſaith the LORD, Again there ſhall be heard in this place, which ye ſay p ſhall be deſolate without man, and without beaſt, even in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, that are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt.

p Thoſe of you who though you find no great difficulty to believe what I have propheſied concerning the Chaldæans taking this City, ſeeing it upon the matter already taken, yet find a difficulty to believe what I tell you about the Peoples returning, and the rebuilding of it. The Lord ſpeaketh the one as well as the other, there ſhall be heard again in it, &c.

* Chap 7. 34. & 16. 9.
* 2 Chron. 7. 3.

11 The * voice of joy, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay *, Praiſe the LORD of hoſts, for the LORD is good, for his mercy endureth for ever, and of them that ſhall bring the ſacrifices of praiſe into the houſe of the LORD; for I will cauſe to return the captivity of the Land, as at the firſt ſaith the LORD q.

q The ſum of this Verſe is, that thoſe that ſhould be carried into captivity ſhould return, and upon their return they ſhould be in their former States, both as to Civil Tranſactions, they ſhould again Marry, and give in Marriage, and as to Civil and Spiritual Joy, they ſhould publickly praiſe the Lord as they were wont to do in the words of David, Pſal. 106. 1. and 107. 1. and 118. 1. and 136. 1. (we have a Record in Holy Writ of the fulfilling of this Prophecy upon the laying the foundations of the ſecond Temple, Ezra 3. 11.) and offer ſacrifices of Thankſgiving. See Nehem. 12. 27.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, Again in this place which is deſolate r without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof, ſhall be an habitation of ſhepherds, cauſing their flocks to lie down.

r That is a great part of which is, and the other part ſhall ſoon be deſolate. In all theſe places there ſhall be Flocks and Herds of Sheep, and Goats, which the Shepherd ſhall take care of as in former times.

* Chap. 17. 26. & 32. 44.

13 * In the cities of the mountains, in the cities of the vale, and in the cities of the ſouth, and in the land of Benjamin, and in the places about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Judah, ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hands of ſ him that telleth them, ſaith the LORD.

ſ So as to keep tale of them, as it is ſaid they were wont to do both Morning and Evening in thoſe Countries.

14 Behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will perform that good thing which I have promiſed unto the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Judah t.

t The Lord is not yea, and nay, he cannot lye nor repent. I ſpeak not of the preſent time, but there ſhall be a time when God will juſtifie every good word of this nature, which he hath ſpoken to his ancient People.

15 ¶ In thoſe days, and at that time will I cauſe the Branch of righteouſneſs to grow up unto David u, and he ſhall execute judgment and righteouſneſs in the land.

u Whatſoever the Jews and ſome others ſay, the Branch of Righteouſneſs here ſpoken of, can be meant of no other but Chriſt, who is called a Branch out of the Stem of Jeſſe, Iſa. 11. 1. The Branch of the Lord, Iſa. 4. 2. A Righteous Branch, Chap. 23. 5. (See the Notes on thoſe places) Zorobabel though deſcended from David cannot be meant here, but the ſame who is thus called in all thoſe parallel Texts, of whom yet Zorobabel (being a good Man, and deſcended from the Family of David) may be allowed to have been a Type, but this Text far more concerneth Chriſt, as he in whom all the Promiſes are founded, and in whom they are all Yea, and Amen. The Kings they had hitherto had of the line of David, were moſt of them unrighteous Men, but God promiſeth that after the Captivity, they ſhould have a Branch of David that ſhould execute Judgment and Righteouſneſs in the Land, for the protection and government of thoſe that feared him.

16 In thoſe days, ſhall Judah be ſaved, and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſafely w: and this is the name wherewith ſhe ſhall be called †, The LORD our righteouſneſs x.

w It is the Opinion of ſome that a ſpiritual Salvation and ſecurity is promiſed under theſe expreſſions, but the moſt and beſt Interpreters rather underſtand it of a temporal Salvation as primarily intended though typical of that Spiritual and Eternal Salvation which is often promiſed to the true Iſrael of God; as their reſt in Canaan typified that Reſt which remaineth for the People of God x Our Tranſlation of this Phraſe is ſomething ſtrange, the words in the Hebrew are וְזֶה־אֲשֶׁר־יִקְרָא־לָהּ יְהוָה צִדְקֵנוּ Pagnine Tranſlateth them, And he who ſhall call it the Lord our Righteouſneſs, ſupplying the Verb ſubſtantive, is. He who ſhall call it is the Lord our Righteouſneſs. We Tranſlate it, This is the name wherewith it ſhall be called, &c. that which cauſes the difficulty is, that the Pronoun זֶה which ſignifieth he, is applied both to perſons and things, and tranſlated he or it, and the relative אֲשֶׁר is of all caſes, ſo may be tranſlated who, or which, or with which, thoſe words which our Tranſlators have ſupplied, is the name, are not in the Hebrew. This hath made a great doubt amongſt Interpreters whether, The Lord our Righteouſneſs be the name of Chriſt, or the name of the City. I do incline to their opinion, who think that it is here mentioned as the name of Chriſt. In that ſence there is nothing to be underſtood but the Verb ſubſtantive, is, which is ordinarily underſtood; ſo the words are thus. And he who ſhall call it, is, the Lord our Righteouſneſs. The context ſeemeth to favour this, Chriſt being that Ruler mentioned, v. 15. as he who ſhall execute Juſtice, and Judgment in the Land, beſides that there is no ſuch Name any where given, either to the Jewiſh or Chriſtian Church, as the Lord our Righteouſneſs, but the full import of that Name is ſpoken of Chriſt, Iſaiah 45. 23. which Text is applied to Chriſt, Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 10. he is called the Juſt King, Zech. 9. 9. and our Righteouſneſs, 1 Cor. 1. 30.

* 2 Sam. 7. 16. 1 Kings 2. 4.

17 ¶ For thus ſaith the LORD, † David ſhall never * want a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael y.

y This is apparently a promiſe relating to Chriſt, for David's Line had failed long ſince, had it not been continued in Chriſt, whoſe Kingdom is and ſhall be an everlaſting Kingdom. So long as Iſrael remained a Kingdom, thoſe of the Line of David ruled over it, when that failed; Chriſt came in the fleſh, who ruleth, and ſhall rule over the Iſrael of God for ever.

18 Neither ſhall the prieſts the Levites want a man before me, to offer burnt-offerings, and to kindle meat-offerings, and to do ſacrifice continually z.

z The beſt Interpreters underſtand this of a Miniſtry to abide in the Church to the end of the World, according to Matth. 28. 20. nor is it unuſual for God in the Old Teſtament to expreſs Promiſes relating to, and to be fulfilled under the Goſpel by expreſſions, and terms proper to the Old Teſtament, as Iſa. 66. 23. and in this ſence it muſt be expounded, or reſtrained to the times immediately following the Captivity, but it is generally underſtood, as a Promiſe for a Goſpel Miniſtry to ſucceed the Miniſtry in the Jewiſh Church, and to abide to the end of the World.

19 And the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

* Iſa. 54. 9.

20 Thus ſaith the LORD, * If you can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night a, and that there ſhould not be day, and night in their ſeaſon.

a By the Covenant of Day and Night here is meant the ſame with the Ordinances mentioned, Chap. 31. 35. God's Law eſtabliſhed in the courſe of natural cauſes, by vertue of which the Day and Night orderly ſucceed one another. Theſe Verſes are but a further confirmation of what was ſaid before, and the ſence of them no more than this. That the ſucceſſion of the Goſpel Miniſtry in the Church of God to abide for ever, ſhould be as certain as the ſucceſſion of darkneſs and light, God had eſtabliſhed the latter in a neceſſary courſe of natural cauſes, and he would by his Providence take care for the other, that the effect ſhould be every whit as certain. Though the ſecond cauſes are widely different, yet God who is the firſt cauſe of both is the ſame, and would as certainly bring the one to paſs as the other.

21 Then may alſo my covenant be broken with David my ſervant, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his throne, and with the Levites the prieſts, my miniſters.

* Gen. 13. 16 & 15. 5. & 22. 17. Chap. 31. 37.

22 As the * hoſt of heaven cannot be numbred, neither the ſand of the ſea meaſured, ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites that miniſter unto me b.

b The former promiſe was for the ſtability, this for the multiplication of the Church, which is here expreſſed under the notion of the Seed of David, that is the Members of Chriſt, the Jews were ordinarily called the Seed of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, but I do not remember they are any where called the Seed of David; unleſs it be 1 Kings 11. 39. where it ſeems alſo to be underſtood only of the Princes that came from David, nor indeed could they be ſo called in any proper ſence; David being no common Head to the whole Jewiſh Nation, as both Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob were, but Chriſt is often called the Seed of David, John 7. 42. Acts 13. 23. Rom. 1. 3. 2 Tim. 2. 8. and Chriſt is himſelf called David, whoſe Seed and whoſe Levites are multiplied in the multiplying of Chriſtians and of faithful Miniſters under the Goſpel, which certainly are the things here promiſed.

23 Moreover the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah, ſaying, 24 Conſidereſt thou not what this people have ſpoken, ſaying c, The two families which the LORD hath choſen, he hath even caſt them off d? thus they have deſpiſed my people, that they ſhould be no more a nation before them e.

c This People, that is (ſay ſome) the Enemies of the Jews, but it may as well be interpreted either of the wicked Jews, wicked Men being always full of groundleſs preſumptuous hopes, or ſunk in deſpair. Or of ſuch amongſt them as were better, but weak in Faith, that knew not how to give any firm aſſent to Promiſes, the fulfilling of which ſeemed to the Eyes of ſenſe and reaſon ſo improbable. d By the two Families here mentioned, the Prophet either meaneth the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah, or, which ſeemeth to me much more probable, the Families of David and Aaron, mentioned before. e Thus ſaith God they have ſpoken ſcornfully of my People, as if they ſhould never be a Nation more having Rulers of themſelves, and a Miniſtry.

25 Thus ſaith the LORD, If my covenant be not with day, and night, and if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth.

* Verſe 7, 11.

26 Then will I caſt away the ſeed of Jacob f, and David my ſervant g, ſo that I will not take any of his ſeed to be rulers over the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob; for * I will cauſe their captivity to return and have mercy on them.

f By the Seed of Jacob, and of Abraham and Iſaac are meant the Body of the Jews, to whom theſe three Patriarchs were common heads. g By the Seed of David Perſons lineally deſcended from David, who ſhould rule over the Iſrael of God. The ſum of theſe two Verſes is plainly no more than God had ſaid before, that a reſtauration of them to their own Land ſhould as certainly ſucceed their Captivity, as the Night ſucceedeth the Day, or the Day ſucceedeth the Night. God had as certainly eſtabliſhed, and ordained the one as the other, though not as yet ſo eſtabliſhed the one in the order of natural cauſes as the other, God would certainly have mercy on them, and in ſhewing his mercy would take care that one of the Seed of David ſhould be their Ruler which was fulfilled in the Meſſiah.

1 THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD a, * when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth † of his dominion, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities thereof) ſaying, a The Revelation of the Will of God to Jeremiah to be publiſhed to the People, during the time of the Siege. The ſeven firſt Verſes are plainly a diſtinct Prophecy from that in the latter part of the Chapter. It was (as ſome think) for this Sermon that the Prophet was impriſoned (for in this Prophecy the Sermons are much diſordered in the placing of them) ſo as this ſhewing the cauſe for which the King impriſoned him, is ſet after others, Chap. 32. which were during the time of his impriſonment.

* Chap. 32. 29.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, Go, and ſpeak to Zedekiah king of Judah, and tell him, Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and * he ſhall burn it with fire.

† Heb. his mouth ſhall ſpeak to thy mouth.

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hands, but ſhalt ſurely be taken, and delivered into his hand, and thine eyes ſhall behold the eyes of the king of Babylon, † and he ſhall ſpeak with thee mouth to mouth, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon b.

b We had all this Chap. 32. 3, 4. See the Notes there.

4 Yet hear the word of the LORD, O Zedekiah king of Judah, Thus ſaith the LORD of thee, Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword;

5 But thou ſhalt die in peace c, and with the burnings of thy fathers the former kings which were before thee: ſo ſhall they burn odours for thee, and they will lament thee, ſaying, Ah Lord! for I have pronounced the word, ſaith the LORD d.

c This only place informeth us concerning the manner of Zedekiah's Death, and that both negatively and poſitively. Negatively, That he did not die by the Sword, the King of Babylon took him, killed his Sons before his Eyes, then put out his Eyes, and bound him in Chains, Chap. 39. 7. but killed him not, as we learn from this Text, but he died a natural Death, which is here meant by dying in peace, d and had an honourable Burial, which the King of Babylon would not allow Jehoiachim, as we read Chap. 22. 18. he was buried with the Burial of an Aſs, and his Body was caſt out of the gates of Jeruſalem, and no Man lamented for him; but as to Zedekiah they burned ſweet odours for him, (after the manner of the Burial of Kings, 2 Chron. 16. 14) and made ſolemn Lamentation for him. The Jews in their Chronology, called by them Seder Olam, give us the form of their Lamentation thus. Alas! Zedekiah is dead, who drank the dregs of all Ages: That is, who was puniſhed for the ſins of all former Ages.

6 Then Jeremiah the prophet ſpake all theſe words unto Zedekiah king of Judah in Jeruſalem.

7 When the king of Babylons army fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Judah that were left, againſt Lachiſh, and againſt Azekah; for theſe defenced cities remained of the cities of Judah e.

e The Prophet was not afraid to go and do the Meſſage God had intruſted him with to the King, upon which he was impriſoned as we read before, Chap. 32. 3. the time it ſhould ſeem was after that the King of Babylon had invaded the Country, and taken the greateſt part of it; only three fortified places remained, which he was Beſieging, viz. Jeruſalem, which was the chief City of that Country, and Lachiſh, of the Conqueſt of which we read, Joſ. 10. 31. diſpoſed of to the Tribe of Judah, Joſh. 15. 39. and Azekah, which was a City of Judah, of which we read in the ſame Chapters.

8 ¶ This is the word that came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, after that the king Zedekiah, had made a covenant with all the people which were at Jeruſalem to proclaim liberty unto them f.

f This Verſe plainly beginneth a new Prophecy, but at what particular time, this Revelation, or the publication of it was, we are not told, only the occaſion of it is recorded. God had made a particular Law reſpecting the Jewiſh Nation. That if any had bought an Hebrew ſervant, he ſhould ſerve but ſix years, and in the ſeventh ſhould go out free, Exod. 21. 2. Deut. 15. 12. It came into Zedekiah's Mind to make a Proclamation for the execution of this Law; what moved him to it we have not recorded. The learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations, obſerveth well that it was their uſual courſe when they were in ſome great ſtraits to make ſome partial Reformation, Jud. 10. 15, 16. Pſal. 78. 34, 35. Hoſ. 6. 1.

9 * That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant being an Hebrew, or an Hebreweſs go free, that none ſhould ſerve himſelf of them, to wit, of a Jew his brother g.

g This was the tenour of God's Law mentioned in the above-named Texts; and it ſeemeth Zedekiah taking notice of the common violation of this Law, and the Jews ordinary oppreſſing thoſe of their own Nation this way; judging that this might be one of thoſe ſins for which the Wrath of God was at this time kindled againſt them, he cauſed the People to make a Covenant, that they would give that liberty to their Servants of either Sex, which the Law of God required, of which he made Proclamation.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had entred into the covenant heard that every one ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every one his maid-ſervant go free, that none ſhould ſerve themſelves of them any more, then they obeyed and let them go h.

h The Princes and the People, having firſt with the King agreed to the thing, upon the iſſuing out of his Proclamation, they at firſt yielded obedience to it.

11 But afterwards they turned, and cauſed the ſervants, and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into ſubjection for ſervants and for hand-maids i.

i Like a company of wretched Hypocrites, they reformed this abuſe, only to ſerve a turn, which when it was ſerved, they returned again to their old oppreſſion, and in this thing not the People alone, but the Government was to be blamed for their Judges in their Courts of Juſtice, ought to have executed the Law of the Lord, and to have reſtrained the covetous and oppreſſive humour of the People. The learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations thinketh that that which altered their minds, was a little alteration of their State, during the Siege; for Chap. 37. 5. we read that the Babylonians and Chaldæans hearing of an Army coming out of Egypt, to relieve the City, left the Siege for a time, and that the Prophet, Ver. 21. of this Chapter relates to that, when he propheſied, That the King of Babylon's Army ſhould return. But theſe wretched Men, ſeeing the Babylonian Army raiſed from the Siege, concluded they were now out of God's hands, and repented of their Repentance in this particular, and would make all their Servants return into their former Servitude.

12 ¶ Therefore the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying, 13 Thus ſaith the LORD the God of Iſrael, I made a covenant k with your fathers, in the day that I brought them fourth out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondmen l, ſaying, k The Law of God is called often a Covenant, becauſe it containeth the Will of God which he would have them do, to which (whether they expreſs their conſent or no) they are bound to conſent, and agree. But to the Jews all Gods Laws given on Mount Sinai were a formal explicit Covenant, God explicitly telling them what he would have them to do, and they as explicitly promiſing they would do it, Exod 24. 3. l Here was a double aggravation of their ſin, in breaking this Covenant made between God and them, 1. From the conſideration of God's kindneſs, in bringing them out of Egypt. 2 From the conſideration of their having been Bondmen in Egypt, which ſhould have taught them to know the Hearts of Bondmen, ſo as to have compaſſionated them whom they kept in the like diſtreſs in which they had been themſelves, and from which God had delivered them. We ſtand concerned to remember the Vows we make to God in our diſtreſs, for God will not forget them, Gen. 35. 1. as alſo to compaſſionate them, who fall into the ſame Diſtreſſes that we have been in, and out of which God hath ſaved us. God expecteth that we ſhould ſhew the ſame compaſſion to others, Matth. 18. 33.

14 At the end of ſeven years, let ye go every man his brother an Hebrew, which hath been ſold || unto thee; and when he hath ſerved thee ſix years, thou ſhalt let him go free from thee m: but your fathers hearkned not unto me, neither inclined their ear n.

m This is but a Repetition of the Law, Exod. 21. 2. Deut. 15. 12. which concerned ſuch Perſons as were ſold by others, or had ſold themſelves. God would not have his People take advantage of the ſudden and raſh acts of their Brethren, which were the effects of Paſſion. n Notwithſtanding this Law the Jews who were always a very covetous griping People, did otherwiſe.

15 And ye were † now turned o, and had done right in my ſight, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbour p, and ye had made a covenant before me in the houſe † which is called by my name q.

† Heb. whereupon my name is called.

o That is, reformed in this particular, in which you had done the thing which I commanded you, p proclaiming a liberty to your Servants. q And you made a Covenant in my Preſence to that purpoſe, and that in the Temple, where it ſeemeth this Covenant was made.

16 But ye turned, and polluted my name r, and cauſed every man his ſervant and every man his handmaid, whom he had ſet at liberty at their pleaſure to return, and brought them into ſubjection, to be unto you for ſervants and for handmaids s.

r You again licked up your Vomit, and profaned my Name, ſwearing by it to do that which you have not done, and ſ forced your Servants, though diſmiſſed, to return again unto their former Bondage and ſubjection to you.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Ye have not hearkened unto me in proclaiming liberty every one to his brother, and every man to his neighbour t: behold, I proclaim a liberty for you, ſaith the LORD, to the ſword, and to the peſtilence, and to the famine, and I will make you † to be * removed, into all the kingdoms of the earth u.

t They had turned and given a liberty, Ver. 20. how doth God ſay here they had not? So God accounteth none to have done thoſe good acts, which they do in a fit, or meerly to ſerve themſelves of God; he ſaith, they had not done it, becauſe they did not perſiſt to do it, in ſuch a caſe Mens Righteouſneſs ſhall by God never be remembred, but they ſhall die in the ſins they have committed. u Seeing you have refuſed to manumiſe your Servants at my command, I will manumiſe you, and ſet you free from my protection and Care. You ſhall periſh by the Sword, Famine and peſtilence, and thoſe of you who eſcape them, ſhall ſee how pleaſant a thing it is to be Slaves, and in Servitude, for you ſhall be diſperſed in many Nations; and be Servants to the Rulers of them.

18 And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, which have not performed the words of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twain, and paſſed between the parts thereof w.

w This was a Ceremony which they uſed in making of Covenants, not without ſomething of a Warrant from a Divine Preſident, Gen. 15. 9, 10. it is ſaid Ver. 19. That ſame Day the Lord made a Covenant with Abraham (that Covenant was a Promiſe that Abraham's Seed ſhould poſſeſs the Land of Canaan) Ver. 8. Abraham ſaid unto God, Whereby ſhall I know that I ſhall inherit it, Ver. 9. God bids him take an heifer of three years old, and a ſhe goat of three years old, and a ram of three years old, &c. Ver. 10. it is ſaid, that he took them, and divided them in the midſt, and laid each piece one againſt another. Indeed we read nothing there of the Parties covenanting, paſſing betwixt the parts of the Beaſts ſo divided, but this was afterwards uſed in making Covenants betwixt Men, which had in it a ſecret imprecation or wiſhing that they might be cut in pieces like thoſe Beaſts, if they did not keep the Covenants which they made. It ſhould ſeem that theſe Jews in the making of their ſolemn Promiſe or Covenant with God about releaſing their Servants uſed this Rite; they cauſed a Calf, or Heifer to be cut in pieces, and the parts to be laid in the Temple right over-againſt one another, then they recited this Covenant, and in the way of a ſolemn Promiſe, or confirmation of their Reſolution to make their promiſe good, they paſſed betwixt the parts of the Calf, or Heifer ſo cut; ſilently agreeing that God ſhould cut them in pieces like that Beaſt if they did not make their words good. Hence is the Hebrew phraſe of cutting a Covenant, for making it. This was a Ceremony ordinarily uſed alſo amongſt the Heathens, as we are informed by Cicero, Livy, and others.

19 The princes of Judah, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the eunuchs, and the Prieſts, and all the people of the land, which paſſed betwixt the parts of the calf.

20 I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and their * dead bodies ſhall be for meat unto the fowls of the heaven, and to the beaſts of the earth x.

* Chap. 7. 33. and 16. 4.

x God doth not threaten all the Jews, but thoſe only, who had made this Covenant, and formally confirmed it, by killing a Beaſt, and paſſing through the parts of it thus divided, and laid oppoſite one to another. Of theſe he ſpareth none but threatens both the King and Nobles and great Courtiers, as well as the People. That he would give them into the hand of their Enemies that thirſted after their Blood, they ſhould be ſlain, and their dead Bodies ſhould not be buried. Herein the Righteouſneſs of God appeared, by doing to them as they deſired (by paſſing betwixt the Calf) that God would do in caſe they did not keep to the promiſe they had made, and called God to witneſs, and challenging him to deſtroy them if they did not fulfil what they covenanted for.

21 And Zedekiah king of Judah, and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life; and into the hand of the king of Babylon's army * which are gone up from you y.

* Chap. 37. 11.

y Here is nothing in this Verſe, but what was ſaid before, ſave only in the laſt clauſe, where mention is made of the King of Babylon's Army which was gone up from them, the occaſion of which we ſhall meet with Chap. 37. 5. becauſe there was an Army came out of Egypt to aſſiſt the Jews.

22 Behold, I will command, ſaith the LORD, and cauſe them to return to this city z, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire, and I will make the cities of Judah a deſolation without an inhabitant.

z I will put it into their hearts to return ſaith the Lord, and they ſhall come back again to the Siege, and ſhall riſe up no more till they have taken the City and burned it with fire, and made the whole Country deſolate. The motions of Armies are under the Government of Divine Providence, they are at God's Command; when he bids them come they come, what he bids them do they do, and ſhall certainly effect what God hath determined. When we come to Chap. 39. we ſhall read of the fulfilling of this Prophecy.

CHAP. XXXV.

By the Obedience of the Rechabites, 1,——11. God condemneth the Jews Obedience, 12,——17. The Rechabites are bleſſed, 18, 19.

1 THE word which came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, in the days of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying a, a This is another evidence that the Prophecies of this Book are not left us in that order wherein they were delivered, for thoſe which we had in the two or three foregoing Chapters being in the time of Zedekiah muſt needs be ten or eleven Years after this.

2 Go unto the houſe of the Rechabites, and ſpeak unto them, and bring them into the houſe of the LORD, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink b.

b Theſe Rechabites had their Name from Rechab their Father, who as appears from 1 Chron. 2. 55. deſcended from Hemath, who was a Kenite, who is alſo called Hobab, Jud. 4. 11. (unleſs it may be Hameth who was the Son of Hobab.) This Hobab was Jethro the Father-in-Law of Moſes, as appears from Jud. 4. 11. we read Jud. 1. 16. That his children went up out of the City of Palm-trees, with the children of Judah, which lieth in the South of Arad, and they went, and dwelt among the people. The Rechabites here mentioned deſcended from this Stock. Jehonadab mentioned, 2 King. 10. 15. was of this Family, a Man of ſome note, as appeareth by Jehu his taking him there into his Chariot. God commandeth the Prophet to bring ſome of this Family into the Temple, into ſome of the Chambers (for in and about the Temple were ſeveral Chambers, for the Prieſts, and where they diſpoſed of the Holy Garments and ſeveral Oblations, 1 King. 6. 5, 6, 10. 1 Chron. 28. 11, 12) God commands Jeremiah to bring theſe Rechabites into ſome of theſe Chambers and to ſet wine before them. This was either for the more publickneſs of the thing, or it may be for the reproof of the Prieſts who drank too much Wine.

3 Then I took Jaazaniah, the ſon of Jeremiah, the ſon of Habaziniah, and his brethren, and all his ſons, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the houſe of the LORD, into the chamber of the ſons of Hanan, the ſon of Igdaliah a man of God c, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maaſeiah the ſon of Shallum, the keeper of the † door d.

c This term, the man of God, doth in Scripture ſignifie a Prophet ſometimes, but whether it ſo ſignifieth here, and if it doth, whether it relateth to Igdaliah or Hanan is a queſtion. d Probably by the Chamber of the Princes is meant ſome Chamber where the Princes were wont to meet in a Court, or for Counſel. Thither Jeremiah brings theſe Rechabites, and ſets Veſſels of Wine before them, not commanding them to drink it, but only inviting them.

5 And I ſet before the ſons of the houſe of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and I ſaid unto them, Drink ye wine.

6 But they ſaid, We will drink no wine: for Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father e commanded us, ſaying, Ye ſhall drink no wine, neither ye, nor your ſons for ever f.

e It is uncertain whether Father here ſignifies their immediate Parent, or (which is more probable) their Progenitor; it is moſt likely it referreth to that Jonadab of whom we read 2 King. 10. 15. who was the Father (that is the Progenitor of this Family of the Rechabites, at 300 Years diſtance.) f The reaſon why he left his Poſterity this charge is uncertain, probably to warn them againſt the Luxury which he ſaw began to abound in Iſrael, and being deſirous, that they ſhould inure themſelves to a more hardy and laborious Life; being originally Kenites, and uſed to Husbandry, and keeping of Sheep and other Cattel, he deſired they ſhould live according to their Quality.

7 Neither ſhall ye build houſe, nor ſow ſeed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any: but all your days ye ſhall dwell in tents, that ye may live many days in the land where ye be ſtrangers g.

g The laſt words of the Verſe probably give us a reaſon of the former, they were no Native Jews, but Strangers amongſt them, who commonly are envied, when they are obſerved to thrive too much, or to live ſplendidly; and that envy of the Natives of the place where they ſojourn, expoſeth them to their Hatred and Malice, ſo as their Lives are made uneaſie to them, Jonadab therefore cautions his Sons to avoid theſe inconveniencies by a thrifty, ſober, laborious life, to which they had been bred, in keeping Flocks, and to avoid any thing might expoſe them to Envy or Hatred or Malice of the People amongſt whom they were come to ſojourn.

8 Thus have we obeyed the voice of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, nor our ſons, nor our daughters.

9 Nor to build houſes for us to dwell in: neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor ſeed.

10 But we have dwelt in tents h, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

h Moveable Habitations, which they could with little labour remove from place to place, as they had convenience to feed their Flocks, this was their ordinary way of living until neceſſity compelled them to come and live in Jeruſalem.

11 But it came to paſs when Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, came up into the land i, that we ſaid, Come, and let us go to Jeruſalem, for fear of the army of the Chaldeans, and for fear of the army of the Syrians; So we dwell at Jeruſalem.

i When the Chaldæan Army came into the Land, they ſaw there would be no quiet abode for them any where but in ſome fortified place. The Syrians joyned with the Chaldæans in this War, as we read 2 King. 24. 2. This they tell the Prophet was the reaſon why they who never uſed to dwell in Cities, nor fixed Houſes, came to dwell at Jeruſalem, to prevent being deſtroyed by the Foragers for theſe Armies.

12 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD unto Jeremiah, ſaying,

13 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Go, and tell the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, Will ye not receive inſtruction to hearken to my words? ſaith the LORD.

14 The words of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab, that he commanded his ſons not to drink wine, are performed; for unto this day they drink none, but obey their fathers commandment: notwithſtanding I have ſpoken unto you, * riſing early, and ſpeaking, but ye hearkned not unto me.

* Chap. 7. 13. 25.

15 I have ſent alſo unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing up early and ſending them, ſaying, * Return ye now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and go not after other gods to ſerve them, and ye ſhall dwell in the land, which I have

have given to you, and to your fathers: but ye have not inclined your ear, nor hearkned to me k.

k God in this Revelation of his Mind to the Prophet expoundeth to him, why he had ſet him to bring the Rechabites into the Temple, and commanded him to ſet Wine before them, and invite them to drink of it, viz. that by their refuſal of doing according to the invitation, in obedience to their Father Jonadab; he might convince the Jews of their Diſobedience to his Commands, though God's Commands were more advantaged, than the Commands of Jonadab in that. 1. Jonadab was but an earthly Parent, and ſo had no abſolute univerſal Soveraignty over his Children, but God was the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael. 2. Jonadab's Command was not for the performance of a moral Duty, but the doing of a thing which they might do, or leave undone. God required of them what was but their moral Duty, and for which was the higheſt reaſon. 3. Jonadab's Command had no promiſe annexed, God's Precept had a promiſe annexed, yet they had not yielded him that obedience which the Sons of Jonadab had yielded him: He was their Father, but where was his Honour?

16 Becauſe the ſons of Jonadab the ſon of Rechab have performed the commandment of their Father, which he commanded them, but this people hath not hearkned unto me;

17 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt them: becauſe I have ſpoken unto them, and they have not heard, I have called unto them, and they have not anſwered l.

l This is but the ſame Threatning confirmed, which we have often met with before, concerning the ruine of this People, only the meritorious cauſe of it is further amplified, their not paying that Homage to God which theſe Rechabites paid to an Earthly Parent, and had been ſteady in the Payment of, now for three hundred Years together.

18 And Jeremiah ſaid to the houſe of the Rechabites, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Becauſe you have obeyed the command of Jonadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he hath commanded you.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, † Jonadab the ſon of Rechab ſhall not want a man to ſtand before me for ever m.

† Heb. There ſhall not a man be cut off from Jonadab the ſon of Rechab to ſtand, &c.

m For ever here ſignifies the ever of the Jewiſh State, or Church; whether the Promiſe relates to the abiding of Jonadab's Family, when many Families of the Jews were quite rooted out, cut off, and extinct, or to ſome ſpecial favour that God would ſhew them, or to ſome place of Office, they ſhould have in, or about the Temple (as ſome judge becauſe, 1 Chron. 2. 55. it appears they were Scribes) is uncertain: But it is a queſtion of more moment, How God promiſeth a Reward to theſe Sons of Jonadab for obeying the Command of their Father, and whether they had ſinned if they had not obeyed this Command of Jonadab, which brings in another Queſtion: Whether Parents have a power to oblige their children in matters which God hath left at liberty. To which, I anſwer, 1. God might reward theſe Rechabites, for their Reverence and Obedience to Jonadab their Father, though they were not ſtrictly by the Divine Law, obliged thus far to have obeyed him: as he rewarded David for his thoughts in his heart to build him an Houſe, though it was not God's Will that he ſhould do it, ſo as God's Promiſe of the Reward doth not prove their Obedience in this particular to have been their Duty. Admit that it remained ſtill a matter of Liberty, yet the General Honour, and Reverence they teſtified might be rewarded by God. 2. Unqueſtionably Parents have not a power to determine Children in all things as to which God hath left them a liberty, for then they have a power to make their Children Slaves, and to take away all their natural Liberty. To Marry or not, and to this, or that Perſon, is matter of Liberty. Parents cannot in this caſe determine their Children, Bethuel Gen. 24. 58. asketh Rebeccah if ſhe would go with Abraham's Servant before he would ſend her. 3. In matters of civil concernment they have a far greater power than in matters of Religion. All Souls are God's, and Conſcience can be under no other Dominion than that of God. 4. In civil things Parents have a great power, during the Nonage of Children, and after alſo in matters which concern their Parents good, as to command them to aſſiſt them, to help to ſupply their Neceſſities, &c. 5. Parents being ſet over Children, and inſtead of God to them, as it is their Duty to adviſe their Children to the beſt of their ability for their good: So it is the Duty of Children to receive their advice, and not to depart from it, unleſs they ſee circumſtances ſo miſtaken by Parents, or ſo altered by the Providence of God, as they may reaſonably judge, their Parents, had they known or foreſeen it, would not have ſo adviſed. But that Parents have an abſolute power to determine Children in all things as to which God hath not forbidden them, and that Children by the Law of God are obliged to an Obedience to all ſuch Commands, however, they may ſee their Parents miſtaken, or God by his Providence may have altered Circumſtances, I ſee no reaſon to conclude. Jonadab had prudently adviſed his Sons as before mentioned; they were things they might do, and which by experience they found not hurtful to them, but of great profit and advantage, and that with reference to all the ends of Man's Life: Herein they yield Obedience, and pay a Reverence to their Parent; this pleaſeth God, he promiſeth to reward them with the continuance of their Family, according to what he had ſaid, Exod. 20. 12. in the Fifth Commandment, which the Apoſtle calleth the Firſt Commandment with Promiſe.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Jeremiah cauſeth Baruch to write his Prophecy; and publickly to read it, 1,——10. The Princes ſend to fetch the Roll and read it, 11,——18. They adviſe Baruch and Jeremiah to hide themſelves, 19 The King Jehoiakim teareth part of the Roll, and burneth it, 20,——26 Jeremiah denounceth his Judgment, 27,——31. Baruch writeth a new Copy, 32.

1 AND it came to paſs in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, that this word came unto Jeremiah from the LORD, ſaying a, a Jehoiakim was three Years a Tributary to Nebuchadnezzar, as we read, 2 Kings 24 1. then he rebelled, which three Years are judged to be the 6, 7, and 8th Years of his Reign, for Pharaoh Necho ſet him up, to whom he was firſt a Tributary as we read, 2 King. 23. 35. Pharaoh Necho having conquered him, Jehoiakim became Servant to the Conquerour three Years, then rebelled; upon which the Armies of the Chaldæans with the Syrians, &c. came up againſt him; and carried him away. This word of the Lord came to Jeremiah the firſt Year that he was Tributary to the King of Babylon, which was the fourth Year of his Reign.

2 Take thee a * roll of a book b and * write therein all the words that I have ſpoken unto thee, againſt Iſrael, and againſt Judah, and againſt all the nations from the day I ſpake unto thee, from the days of * Joſiah even unto this day c.

* Iſa. 8. 1.
* Chap. 30. 2.

b By a Roll of a Book is to be underſtood Parchments, which anciently were their Books, the Art of binding Books being not then known. c The Precept is for recording all the Revelations he had from God for 22 Years laſt paſt; for he began to propheſie in the thirteenth Year of Joſiah, who reigned one and thirty Years, ſo as he propheſied 18 Years, during Joſiah's Life, and this was the fourth Year of the Reign of Jehoiakim. God would have them recorded, that there might be a Memorial of them, that ſo the truth of them might appear, when God ſhould bring them to paſs, the time of which now drew very near.

3 It may be that the houſe of Judah will hear all the evil d which I purpoſe to do unto them, that they may return every man from his evil way, that I may forgive their iniquity, and their ſin e.

d What we tranſlate it may be אוּלַי others tranſlate if perhaps, which better expreſſeth the ſence. God knew what would be, but yet he would not be wanting in means by which they might be informed in his Will, and ſo believe the thing, for believing and reforming are here meant by hearing, as the next words in part expound this term here. e Forgiveneſs of ſin in Scripture ſometimes ſignifieth the acquitting of a ſinner from the obligation ſin layeth the ſinner under to Eternal Death, ſometimes the remiſſion of a temporal puniſhment; it may here well be underſtood as comprehending both, though I think the latter to be what is here principally intended.

4 Then Jeremiah called Baruch the ſon of Neriah, and * Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah, all the words of the LORD, which he had ſpoken unto him, upon a roll of a book f.

* Chap. 45. 1.

f We ſhall find this Baruch, being one of Jeremiah's Diſciples, more than once thus imployed as Jeremiah's Secretary or Amanuenſis. None ſhall need ask how Jeremiah could remember all the Prophecies he had propheſied for 22 Years before paſt, that conſidereth who it was that commanded him to do this. God undoubtedly revived the Prophet's Memory, or he could not have called all to mind.

5 And Jeremiah commanded Baruch, ſaying, I am ſhut up, I cannot go into the houſe of the LORD.

6 Therefore go thou and read in the roll which thou haſt written from my mouth, the words of the LORD in the ears of the people in the LORD's houſe upon the faſting day g: and alſo thou ſhalt read them in the ears of all Judah, that come out of their Cities.

g We do not read that Jeremiah was a Priſoner in the fourth Year of Jehoiakim, and therefore it is very uncertainly gueſſed in what ſence he here ſaith he was ſhut up. Some think Jehoiakim had impriſoned him, or at leaſt reſtrained him to his Houſe, tho' we do not read of it. Others think he reſtrained himſelf, but in what ſence he was ſhut up, is not certain; that he was ſo, is certain; he knew that God had not commanded his Prophecies to be written for any other end, but that the People might have them recalled to their Memories; he being not in a capacity himſelf at preſent to ſpeak any thing to the People in ſo publick a place, ſendeth Baruch to do it in his ſtead, chuſing for it a Day of publick Faſt, not the Day of the Yearly Faſt mentioned Levit. 23. 27. but on a Faſt Day (of which we ſhall read more, Ver. 9.) proclaimed by Jehoiakim, probably to avert the Vengeance hanging over them from the Chaldæans, or rather from the drought. It was undoubtedly, becauſe of the Concourſe of People which the Prophet knew would that Day be in the Temple, that he choſe that Day, when ſome would be preſent from all parts of Judah.

7 It may be † they will preſent their ſupplication before the LORD, and will return every one from his evil way, for great is the anger, and the fury, that the LORD hath pronounced againſt this people h.

h We had an expreſſion like this, Ver. 3. it teacheth us that the only means to turn away God's fierce anger ready to fall upon People, is Prayer and Reformation.

8 And Baruch the ſon of Neriah, did according to all that Jeremiah the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of the LORD, in the LORD's houſe.

9 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of Jehoiachim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt before the LORD to all the people in Jeruſalem, and to all the people that came from the Cities of Judah unto Jeruſalem.

i This Faſt was appointed upon a particular emergency, whether it was for a Famine which was then in the Land, or to avert the ruine which they juſtly feared from the king of Babylon, who had lately brought them under his Servitude, is not certain; the yearly Faſt, Levit. 23. 27. was to be kept in the ſeventh Month, nor did God ever ordain any Faſt to be kept in the ninth Month.

10 Then read Baruch in the book the words of Jeremiah in the houſe of the LORD, in the chamber of Gemariah, the ſon of Shaphan the ſcribe, in the higher court, at the * || entry of the new gate, of the LORD's houſe in the ears of all the people k.

* Chap. 26. 10.

k This Verſe only atteſteth Baruch's Obedience to the Command of the Prophet Jeremy, not only as to the thing, his reading it in the Temple, but as to the circumſtance in as publick a manner as he could in the Chamber of Gemariah, &c. moſt likely out of ſome Window, or in ſome Balcony, the People being below, and hearing it.

11 When Micaiah the ſon of Gemariah, the ſon of Shaphan had heard out of the book all the words of the LORD.

12 Then he went down into the king's houſe, into the ſcribes chamber, and lo all the princes ſate there, even Eliſhama the ſcribe, and Delaiah the ſon of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the ſon of Achbor, and Gemariah the ſon of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the ſon of Hananiah, and all the princes l.

l It is uncertain whether this Micaiah went to make this Relation to the Princes who ſate in the Secretaries Chamber, as a piece of News only, or out of a malicious deſign to accuſe the Prophet, and Baruch for what was done as a ſeditious practice.

13 Then Micaiah declared unto them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read the book in the ears of the people m.

m That is, the ſubſtance of all the words, for none can imagine that an hearer could remember every word, which ſhews the vanity of thoſe who overſtrain ſuch univerſal Particles to ſignifie every particular word or perſon.

14 Therefore all the princes n ſent Jehudi the ſon of Nethaniah, the ſon of Shelemiah the ſon of Cuſhi unto Baruch, ſaying, Take in thy hand the roll, wherein thou haſt read in the ears of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſon of Neriah, took the roll in his hand, and came unto them.

n That is, all the Princes that at that time ſate there in Council, ſent a Meſſenger with a Command to Baruch to appear before them, and to bring the Roll which he had read in the Ears of the People.

15 And they ſaid unto him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears, So Baruch read it in their ears p.

p The courage of Baruch is admirable, he was now before the Council, in the King's Houſe, the ſubſtance of the Prophecies, were threatning both to the King, and Court, and to all the People. The King as appears by all Hiſtory, was of no good Temper, we read Chap. 26. Ver. 23. of his ſending for Urijah the Prophet out of Egypt, when he had fled thither for fear of the King, and ſlaying him, and we ſhall find that at this time, the Princes adviſed both Jeremy and Baruch to hide themſelves, yet Baruch is not afraid, but reads the Prophecy in their Ears.

16 Now it came to paſs, when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other q, and ſaid to Baruch, we will ſurely tell the king of all theſe words r.

q It is hardly to be imagined that all theſe Counſellors ſhould ſit ſtill till they had heard all Jeremiah's Prophecies for 22 Years read, but all ſignifies many, or the ſence and ſubſtance of all the Prophecies. r They were all of them afraid, Jeremiah had now been above twenty Years a Prophet to this People, and doubtleſs in great eſteem for 18 Years of it, while Joſiah was alive, and one whoſe Prophecies they could not but obſerve had been oft accompliſhed, therefore they could not but be afraid that they ſhould ſee theſe words alſo fulfilled, and took themſelves bound in Duty to acquaint the King with them. Some, if not all of theſe, probably had been great Men in Joſiah's time, which was but four or five Years before, and from him ſucked in ſome good and Religious Principles, which begat ſome awe of God in them.

17 And they asked Baruch, ſaying, Tell us now, How didſt thou write all theſe words at his mouth s?

s This now ſeemed but a reaſonable Queſtion, conſidering they were the ſubſtance of what he had been propheſying for ſo many Years. The thing ſeemed ſtrange to the Princes, Prophets being not uſed to ſtudy and pen their Diſcourſes, but to ſpeak them extempore.

18 Then Baruch anſwered them, He pronounced all theſe words unto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book t.

t This could not but add to the Princes fear and amazement. They muſt needs conceive that the thing was done from God, for without a ſpecial influence of God, it had been a thing impoſſible, that Jeremiah ſhould have called to mind all that he had ſpoken at ſeveral times in ſo many Years; and proceeding from the God of Truth, they muſt needs fear, that they would have their certain and juſt accompliſhment in their ſeaſon.

19 Then ſaid the Princes unto Baruch, Go, hide thee, thou, and Jeremiah, and let no man know where ye be u.

u This ſpeaketh theſe Princes to have been Men of a much gentler Temper, and better Diſpoſition, than thoſe who ſucceeded them in Zedekiah's time; they were not willing that any harm ſhould come to the Prophet, nor to Baruch, and knew the fierce Temper of Jehoiachim, and therefore adviſed Baruch, that both he, and the Prophet ſhould hide themſelves.

20 And they went in to the king, into the court, but they laid up the roll in the chamber of Eliſhama the ſcribe, and told all the words in the ears of the king w.

w They were obliged by their Office as Councellors to the King, to acquaint him with what they heard, which might be prejudicial to him, and his Nation; and indeed this was the very end, why God had commanded the enrolling of theſe Prophecies, that both the King, and Princes, and People might take notice of them, but they did not carry the Book with them, but laid it up in the Secretaries Chamber.

21 So the king ſent Jehudi to fet the roll, And he took it out of Eliſhama the ſcribes chamber, And Jehudi read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes which ſtood beſide the king x.

x It appeareth by V. 14. that this Jehudi was a Meſſenger commonly imployed by the King and Council; him the King ſends to fetch the Roll (before called a Book) then he imployeth him to read it.

22 Now the king ſate in the winter-houſe in the ninth month, and there was a fire on the hearth burning before him y.

y The ninth Month with them, anſwered part of our November and December, which was a time of the Year called for Fires.

23 And it came to paſs that when Jehudi had read three or four leaves, he z cut it with the pen-knife, and caſt it into the fire, that was on the hearth, until all the roll was conſumed in the fire that was on the hearth.

z That is, the King not having patience to hear above three or four Columns, or Periods, or Titles, took the Pen knife, that (it is like) Jehudi had, and cut it in pieces, and burned it in the fire that was before him, not conſidering that it was the Revelation of the Will of God, but exalting himſelf above all that was called God. This ſhewed both the wickedneſs, and paſſionate Temper of this Prince, and his high contempt of God and his Prophets.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor * rent their garments, neither the king nor any of his ſervants that heard all theſe words a.

* 2 Kings 22. 11.

a So hardned were this Peoples Hearts, that though they knew that Jeremiah was a Prophet of the Lord, upon the experience now of more than 20 Years, and the whole ſcope of his Prophecies had been to denounce the juſt Judgments of God that now were coming upon this People, and they could not but underſtand, that God muſt be greatly aſſiſtant to Jeremiah in writing this Roll, all the matter of which he could not otherwiſe have kept in mind ſo many Years, yet they had no ſerious fear of God upon their hearts, working upon the hearing the dreadful matter of theſe Prophecies, nor ſhewed any ſign of remorſe, or ſence of their ſins, or God's Judgments coming upon them as indications of his Wrath.

25 Neverthelcſs Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah, had made interceſſion to the king, that he would not burn the roll, but he would not hear them b.

b Theſe three Princes ſeemed to have had a greater dread of God upon their hearts than the reſt, for ſo far as they durſt, they interpoſed, and beſought the King not to burn the Roll; but he would not hearken to their advice.

26 But the king commanded Jerameel the ſon of || Hammelech and Seraiah the ſon of Azriel, and Shelemiah

lemiah the ſon of Abdeel, to take Baruch the ſcribe, and Jeremiah the prophet c: But the LORD hid them d.

c The King was not ſatisfied with burning the Roll, but gives order to apprehend both Jeremiah and Baruch, and commandeth the three Perſons named in this Verſe to do it: d But God by his Providence kept them both out of their hands; how the Lord hid them we are not told, the Princes (as we read before) adviſed Baruch that they ſhould both hide themſelves. This Phraſe (probably) imports no more, than that God directed them to find ſuch a place of receſs as the Kings Meſſengers could by no means find out, nor underſtand where they were, till the King's Paſſion was a little over.

27 Then the word of the LORD came to Jeremiah after that the king had burnt the roll, and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiah, ſaying, 28 Take thee again another roll, and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt roll which Jehoiakim the king of Judah hath burnt.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Jehoiakim, king of Judah, Thus ſaith the LORD, Thou haſt burnt this roll, ſaying, Why haſt thou written therein, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall certainly come, and deſtroy this land, and ſhall cauſe to ceaſe from thence man and beaſt o?

e It ſpeaketh nothing but the Impotency, and Paſſion, and debauchery of humane Nature, to ſwell againſt any Revelations of the Divine Will, the Counſels of the Lord ſhall ſtand, and Men only further entangle themſelves by ſtrugling in the Lord's Net. Jehoiakim burns one Roll, God will have the ſame thing wrote in another. f We learn here both what was the matter of Jeremiah's Prophecy, and the cauſe of the King's anger; he had propheſied that the King of Babylon, ſhould come, take Jeruſalem, and lay the Country waſte, which as to Jehoiakim's part, was fulfilled within ſix Years after this, more fully in 18 Years, but corrupt Princes can indure nothing that ſhall make their Lives uneaſie.

30 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of Jehoiakim the king of Judah, He ſhall have none to ſit upon the throne of David f, and his dead body ſhall be * caſt out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the froſt g.

* Chap. 22. 19.

f That is, none that ſhall be King any conſiderable time, Jeconiah, or Jehoiachin his Son was ſet up, but kept his Throne but three Months, 2 Kings 24. 8, 9, 10. g We no where read of the time, or manner of this King's Death, but that he had an ignominious Burial, Ch. 22. 19. like the Burial of an Aſs; none accompanying his Corps, none mourning for him, and it appears from this Text, that whereever he dyed, his Body lay for a time unburied.

31 And I will † puniſh him, and his ſeed, and his ſervants, for their iniquity, and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and upon the men of Judah, all the evil that I have pronounced againſt them, but they hearkned not h.

† Heb. viſit upon.

h As to the People God threatneth, they ſhould feel, what they were not willing to hear, even all the evil which God by his Prophet had pronounced againſt them.

32 Then took Jeremiah another roll, and gave it to Baruch, the ſcribe, the ſon of Neriah, who wrote therein from the mouth of Jeremiah all the words of the book, which Jehoiakim the king of Judah, had burnt in the fire, and there were added beſides unto them many † like words i.

i Wicked Men get nothing by oppoſing themſelves to the revealed Will of God, how ungrateful ſoever it be to them, but the addition of guilt to their Souls, and the increaſe of Divine Wrath, God's Counſels ſhall ſtand, and what he ſpeaks ſhall moſt certainly be accompliſhed. Here is another Roll written with additional Threatnings confirmative of what God had before ſaid.

CHAP. XXXVII.

The Egyptians raiſe the Siege of the Chaldeans: And King Zedekiah ſendeth to Jeremiah, to pray and enquire of the Lord for them, 1——5. He propheſieth the Chaldeans Return and Victory, 6——10. He is apprehended for a Fugitive, beaten, and put into Priſon, 11——15. He aſſureth Zedekiah of the Captivity; and, intreating for Liberty, obtaineth ſome Favour, 16——21.

1 AND king Zedekiah the ſon of Joſiah a, reigned in ſtead of Coniah b the ſon of Jehojakim, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon made king in the land of Judah c.

a The Hiſtory of this Succeſſion we have, 2 Kings 24. 17. 2 Chron. 36. 10. Zedekiah's Name was Mattaniah, the King of Babylon changed his Name to Zedekiah. b He reigned in ſtead of Jehojachin, the ſon of Jehoiachim who reigned but three months, 2 Kings 24. 8. his Name was Jeconiah, 1 Chron. 3. 16. and in a way of deriſion or contempt, is here called Coniah. c The King of Babylon made this Zedekiah King. who is here called the Son of Joſiah, and 2 Kings 24. 17. Jehoiakim's Father's Brother, to diſtinguiſh him from another Zedekiah Son of Jehoiakim, as appears from 1 Chron. 3. 16.

2 But neither he, nor his ſervants, nor the people of the land, did hearken to the words of the LORD which he ſpake by † the prophet Jeremiah d.

† Heb. by the hand of the Prophet.

d This Zedekiah was little better than Jehoiakim, he ſeemeth by his Story to be of a little better Temper, not ſo cruel, and bloody; but he no more regarded God's word by his Prophet than Jehoiachim had done.

3 And Zedekiah the king ſent Jehucal, the ſon of Shelemiah, and * Zephaniah the ſon of Maaſeiah the prieſt, to the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying, Pray now unto the LORD our God for us e.

* Chap. 29. 25. and 52. 24.

e This was apparently in the time of the Siege; for v 5. we read of Pharaoh's Army being come to relieve the Beſieged, whether it was before the Babylonians were departed, or no, is uncertain; but it is plain, if they were departed, the King was afraid they would come back again. That which is moſt obſervable for us from hence, is this, That wicked Men of all ranks are deſirous of the Prayers of thoſe Miniſters in their Diſtreſſes, whoſe Counſels and Admonitions they never regard, while they are in a time of Proſperity; which is an Evidence of their acting contrary to the convictions of their Conſciences, in obedience to their Luſts, in their contempt of their Inſtructions and Admonitions. When Affliction hath cooled their Luſts, then their Conſciences can be heard in dictating their Duty to them.

4 Now Jeremiah came in, and went out amongſt the people, for they had not put him into priſon f.

f We ſhall read afterward, ver. 15. that he was impriſoned; and we have heard, chap. 32. of two Revelations he had while he was in Priſon, but as yet he walked at liberty.

5 Then Pharaoh's army was come forth out of Egypt, and * when the Chaldeans that beſieged Jeruſalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Jeruſalem g.

* Chap. 34. 21.

g Zedekiah was ſet up by the King of Babylon, inſtead of Jehojakin, whom the King of Babylon had carried into Babylon, Zedekiah (as is uſual in thoſe caſes, and as is appeareth, Ezek. 17. 16.) had taken an Oath of Allegiance to the King of Babylon, but brake it, and the Covenant which he made with him, ver. 16. and ver. 15. rebelled againſt him, and ſent his Ambaſſador into Egypt for Horſes, and much people. Now the King of Egypt came in Perſon no more after the great Overthrow given him, in Carchemiſh, by the River Euphrates, of which we read, chap. 46. 2. which was thirteen or fourteen years before this; yet he ſent an Army at Zedekiah's requeſt to relieve him, at this time beſieged by the Armies of the King of Babylon. The Chaldeans that were in the Siege of Jeruſalem hearing of it, raiſed the Siege for a time, during which time (probably) it was that Zedekiah ſent to the Prophet to pray for them.

6 Then came the word of the LORD to the prophet Jeremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay to the king of Judah that ſent you unto me, to enquire of me h, Behold Pharaoh's army which is come forth to help you, ſhall return to Egypt, into their own land i.

h The Word Enquire let us know that Zedekiah did not ſend to the Prophet only to pray for him, but to enquire of God what the iſſue would be of this future contingency; it may be more deſirous to know that, than that Jeremiah ſhould intercede with God for them. i The Prophet tells them from God that the King of Egypt's Army ſhould do them no ſervice, it is expounded, Ezek. 17. 17. He ſhould not make for him in the war, by caſting up mounts, and building forts, to cut off many perſons. Probably the Egyptian Army upon the ſight of the ſtrength of the Chaldeans, and the weak and impotent ſtate of the Jews, were diſcouraged, and would not adventure to fight them, but by and bye returned to their own Land.

8 And the Chaldeans ſhall come again, and fight againſt this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.

9 Thus ſaith the LORD, Deceive not your † ſelves, ſaying The Chaldeans ſhall ſurely depart from us, for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole army of the Chaldeans, that fight againſt you, and there remained † but wounded men among them: yet ſhould they riſe up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire k.

k The ſubſtance of the Anſwer returned by the Prophet to the King is this. That whereas they pleaſed themſelves with Fancies that the Babylonian Army now withdrawn to meet with the Army of the Egyptians would return no more to the Siege, it was a Dream: He aſſures them from God they ſhould return, beſiege the City, and take it, and burn it, and therefore they did but deceive themſelves to think otherwiſe; though they were gone, yet it was but for a very ſhort time. He farther aſſures them, that the potency or impotency of the Chaldeans was inconſiderable; for if their whole Army were made up of wounded men, or if they could prevail ſo far as to wound all their Soldiers, or thruſt them through, (as the Word is tranſlated, chap. 51. 4.) yet they ſhould do the work. When God is reſolved upon an Effect, the Inſtruments are very little to be regarded. It is not the Arm of Fleſh, but the Power of God which is in that caſe alone to be conſidered.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs, that when the army of the Chaldeans was † broken up from Jeruſalem for fear of Pharaoh's army.

† Heb. made to aſcend.

12 Then Jeremiah went forth out of Jeruſalem to go into the land of Benjamin, ‖ to ſeparate himſelf thence in the midſt of the people l.

‖ Or, to ſlip away from thence in the midſt of the people.

l חַלֵּק The Word we tranſlate ſeparate ſignifieth to divide, ſoften, or make ſlippery, which hath made Interpreters vary in the Expoſition of it. But the general uſe of it, eſpecially in Pihel, (the conjugation in which it is here uſed) being to ſignifie a dividing or ſeparating; and the latter ſignification being ſecondary, it ſeemeth moſt reaſonably here tranſlated to ſeparate, or to withdraw: Jeremiah had no farther Revelation from God, which he has under an obligation to communicate; and knowing the City would ſuddenly be taken, and that he could be no farther uſeful to the People, taking advantage of the withdrawing of the Chaldean Army, reſolves to provide for himſelf, deſigning to go to his own Country, to Anathoth, which was in the Land of Benjamin; and becauſe he was a noted Perſon, who might probably be ſtopt (as he was) if known, he attempts to ſlip out in the crowd of People that were going out: This ſeemeth to me the moſt probable ſence.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin m, a captain of the ward was there, whoſe name was Irijah, the ſon of Shelemiah, the ſon of Hananiah n, and he took Jeremiah the prophet, ſaying, Thou falleſt away to the Chaldeans.

m The Gate of Benjamin was ſome Gate that looked toward the Inheritance of that Tribe: Or where thoſe uſed to go out who went that way, we read of it, chap. 38. 7. n This Man was a Captain of the Guard that was ſet to watch at the Gates, to keep People from going out, or at leaſt ſome Perſons; for it ſhould ſeem by Jeremiah's endeavour to go out in the crowd; they ſuffered many to go out, as is uſual in Sieges, when Victuals grow ſcarce; and though the Chaldeans were at preſent gone, yet they were not out of fear of their coming back. This Captain apprehends Jeremiah, as one who was about to deſert the City, and fall off to the Chaldeans. That Hananiah the Grandfather of this Irijah, was the falſe Prophet we read of, chap. 28. who died according to Jeremiah's Prophecy, and this his Grandchild apprehended Jeremiah in ſome revenge of his Grandfather, is but uncertainly gueſſed. But Jeremiah's ſo frequent propheſying that the Chaldeans ſhould take the City, expoſed him to this ſuſpicion probably.

14 Then ſaid Jeremiah, It is † falſe, I fall not away to the Chaldeans o: But he hearkned not unto him, ſo Irijah took Jeremiah, and brought him to the princes.

† Heb. falſhood or a lye.

o Though Jeremiah, as the Lord's Prophet, faithfully revealed the Will of God, that the Chaldeans ſhould take the City, to warn the people (if poſſible) to prevent it by ſolemn Addreſſes unto God, or at leaſt to prevent what miſchief might be prevented by a timely Surrender to the King of Babylon, yet he had no deſign to fly to them; he was ſo far from delighting in their company, that when the City was taken, and the Captain of the Guard offered him either to go along with him to Babylon, promiſing to look well to him, Chap. 40. 4, 5. or to go back to Gedaliah, whom the King of Babylon had left as Deputy Governor in Judea, he choſe rather to go and dwell under Gedaliah's Government in a poor condition, than to mend his Commons in an Idolatrous Country, but the Captain would not believe him but carrieth him before the Princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were wroth with Jeremiah, and ſmote him, and put him in priſon, in the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe; for they had made that the priſon p.

p Theſe Princes ſeem more fierce againſt the Prophet than thoſe that were in the time of Jehoiachim, for they proceed here upon the Captain's Information, cauſe the Prophet to be beaten, and ſend him to Priſon, a Priſon within the compaſs of the Court, bad enough, as appeareth by Jeremiah's Complaint of his Condition there to the King, Ver. 20. and by what followeth in the next Verſe.

16 ¶ When Jeremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the ‖ cabins, and Jeremiah had remained there many days q.

q The Hebrew words which we Tranſlate Dungeon, ſignifie the houſe of the lake; they certainly ſignifie ſome Pit, or deep hole, or place in the Priſon, where were ſome Cells or Apartments, in which they were wont to keep thoſe whom they judged great Malefactors, or againſt whom they had ſome ſpecial anger, how many days the Prophet was forced to abide in this miſerable place it is not ſaid, but it ſhould ſeem by Verſe 19. that it was until the Chaldean Army was returned to the Siege.

17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took him out, and the king asked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the LORD r, and Jeremiah ſaid, There is: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babylon ſ.

r That is, hath God revealed any thing to thee, concerning what will be the iſſue of the return of the Chaldean Army to the Siege of the City? What needed Zedekiah to have asked this, to whom God by this Prophet had ſo often revealed his Will in this caſe? wicked Men are always more curious to know, than careful to believe, obſerve, and obey the Will of God. ſ But God ſeldom or never ſpeaketh good unto them; Jeremiah tells him there was, but it was a ſad word, viz. That God would certainly deliver him into the hand or power of the King of Babylon.

18 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid unto king Zedekiah, What have I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſervants, or againſt this people, that ye have put me in priſon t?

t That is, what have I done worthy of Bonds? I have faithfully heretofore revealed to you the Mind and Will of God, if this hath offended you, I am not to be blamed, I could not but execute God's Commands.

19 Where are now your prophets, which propheſied unto you, ſaying, The king of Babylon ſhall not come againſt you, nor againſt this land u?

u You now ſee what kind of Prophets they are, who fed you with hopes, that the King of Babylon's Army ſhould return no more to the Siege of the City. I told you they would return, you had other Prophets that told you they ſhould not, judge, now who were the true Prophets. The Devil in all Ages had ſome that contradicted the true Prophets of the Lord: Three hundred falſe Prophets contradicted one Micaiah, as to Ahab's going up to Ramoth Gilead, and proſpering in that Expedition. There were many that contradicted Iſaiah and Jeremiah, and other true Prophets, as to the King of Babylon's coming to beſiege Hieruſalem, and his return again to the Siege when he had riſen up from it, to meet the Egyptian Army; and as to the length of time in which the Jews ſhould be in Captivity; yet, (to let us ſee Mens madneſs upon their Luſts) as there ſtill have riſen up in other Generations, falſe Teachers, and Flatterers, ſo they have always found more favour than thoſe that have dealt more faithfully in revealing God's Will.

20 Therefore hear now I pray thee, O my lord the king w, † let my ſupplication, I pray thee be accepted before thee; that thou cauſe me not to return to the houſe of Jonathan the ſcribe, leſt I die there x.

w Though Jeremiah had dealt very faithfully with the King and Princes, and they had dealt very hardly and cruelly with him, caſting him for no juſt cauſe into a naſty Priſon, and Jeremiah knew well enough, that Zedekiah was very ſoon to be diſarmed of his power, yet (to learn us our duty) he ſpeaks with all due reſpect and reverence to his Soveraign, though a very bad Man, and one who had dealt very ill with him. x This Petition of Jeremiah, ſpeaks the Priſon he was in, was in a very inconvenient place, where he was in danger of his life.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they ſhould commit Jeremiah into * the court of the priſon y, and that they ſhould give him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers ſtreet, until all the bread in the city were ſpent z. Thus Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon a.

* Chap. 32. 2.

y So as he was a Priſoner ſtill, but in a freer Air, where he did not ſuffer thoſe inconveniencies which he indured in the Hole or Dungeon. z It is of no great moment to know whether the portion of Bread allowed the Prophet by the King, were a Loaf (as ſome think) or a piece of a Loaf; it was ſuch a proportion as could be allowed according to the proportion which others had, and the ſtraits which the City was in, and ſo much as ſerved to keep him alive. a Jeremiah remained here till upon the ſuggeſtion of the Princes, he was removed to a worſe place, as we ſhall read in the ſixth Verſe of the next Chapter; where he ſtaid not long, but was again removed to the Court of the Priſon, as we ſhall read there, Verſe 13. where (as it followeth there Verſe 28.) he continued until the City was taken.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Jeremiah Propheſyeth; is by the Princes, with the King's Permiſſion; caſt into a Dungeon; but is by Ebed-melech, with the King's Conſent, taken out again, 1,—13. He hath a ſecret Conference with the King, in which he counſelleth him by yielding to ſave his Life, 14,—23. By the King's Command he concealeth the Conference from the Princes, 24,—27. He abideth in Priſon till Jeruſalem is taken, 28.

1 THen Shephatiah the ſon of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſon of Paſhur, and Jucal the ſon of Shelemiah, and Paſhur the ſon of Malchiah, heard the words that Jeremiah had ſpoken to all the people, ſaying a, a Here are four of the great Men, Councellors, or great Officers to Zedekiah named, of whom we have no further mention in holy Writ, nor are they worthy of much inquiry after; Jeremiah being now removed into a little freer Air, where his Friends, or ſuch as had a deſire to ſee him, came to him, and it is very likely were inquiſitive to know what God would do with the City, he could not but tell them what he knew of the Mind of God in the caſe, and adviſe them the beſt he could. Some of them go to theſe Princes, and inform them of what they had heard from the Prophet.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, He that remaineth in this City ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, but he that goeth forth to the Chaldeans ſhall live: for he ſhall have his life for a prey, and ſhall live [b].

[b] As to what is Verſe 3. it is no more than had for ſome time been the conſtant tenour of this Prophet's Prophecies. The Crime ſeemeth to lie in this, that in ſuch a time of extream danger, he ſhould repeat this Prophecy, and alſo adviſe the People to leave the City, and ſhift for themſelves, by going out to the Chaldæans, telling them that if they did ſo, though the City would be loſt, and their Eſtates in it loſt, yet they ſhould ſave their Lives, which words might incourage many of low and cowardly Spirits to deſert their Poſts; which indeed had been Crime ſufficient in an ordinary time, and under ordinary Circumſtances, but was no Crime now that God had revealed his Will to the King, Princes and People, that the City ſhould be loſt; there lay now no further Duty upon any to contribute to its defence, but they were obliged to make as good proviſions for themſelves as they could; but theſe wicked Princes believed no ſuch thing, therefore they make this a great Charge.

3 Thus ſaith the LORD, This city ſhall ſurely be given into the hand of the king of Babylon's army, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the princes ſaid unto the king, We beſeech thee let this man be put to death: for thus he weakneth the hands of the men of war that remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch words unto them: for this man ſeeketh not the † welfare of this people, but the hurt [c].

[c] The Prophet now ſeemeth under ſad Circumſtances, the Princes ſeek his Life, though for delivering no other Doctrine than he had been preaching for 20 Years; their pretence was, his diſcouraging and weakening the military part of the City, letting them know that they laboured in vain, for the City was not defenſible. This they interpret a ſeeking not the welfare of the People, but their hurt, though indeed their welfare was that alone which he ſought, knowing that there was no other way for any of them to ſave their Lives, but by ſubmitting to the Chaldæans; though the great Men (being Perſons God had determined to ruine) would not believe it, and would have the welfare and hurt of the place determined by their Opinions.

5 Then Zedekiah the king ſaid, Behold, he is in your hand [d], for the king is not he that can do any thing againſt you [e].

[d] That is in your power, either by the Eſtabliſhed Law againſt falſe Prophets, or elſe I yield up my power to you, I ſurrender him into your hands. But neither of theſe ſeemeth very probable, for here is no mention of the ſitting of the Sanhedrim to judge him as a falſe Prophet, nor of any judicial proceedings of that Nature: And it ſhould ſeem by Zedekiah's relieving of him ſoon after from the Dungeon, into which they threw him, that he had not ſurrendred Jeremiah ſo into their hands, but he reſerved to himſelf a ſuperintendency upon them to correct their too ſevere dealings with him. The meaning ſeems rather to be, if you will do any ſuch thing, I ſhall not oppoſe you, but I will not be the Author of it. [e] I ſee I am as it were no King, I can do nothing againſt you, you will do what you pleaſe. I incline to this ſence from the conſideration of the favour ſhewed him by Zedekiah, both before, and after this.

6 Then took they Jeremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of ‖ Hammelech that was in the court of the priſon [d]: and they let down Jeremiah with cords [e]. And in the dungeon there was no water but mire, ſo Jeremiah ſank in the mire [f].

‖ Or, of the king.

[d] A place much of the ſame nature with that of which we read, Chap. 37. 16. but in another Priſon. [e] It ſhould ſeem there was no paſſage into it by Stairs, ſo as they were forced to let him down with Cords. [f] And in the bottom was nothing but Mire, into which the Prophet ſank, in reſpect of which circumſtances, it was a much worſe place than the Dungeon in the Priſon, in Jonathan's Houſe appeared to be, though Jeremiah feared that he ſhould die there. It is probable theſe Princes thruſt him into this place, deſigning he ſhould die in this hole a miſerable Death, but God otherwiſe provided for him.

7 ¶ Now when * Ebed-melech the Ethiopian [g], one of the eunuchs which was in the kings houſe [h], heard that they had put Jeremiah in the dungeon [i], (the king then ſitting in the gate of Benjamin) [k].

* Chap. 39. 16.

[g] Ebedmelech was unqueſtionably the Name of the Perſon, though ſome interpret it appellatively a Servant of the King. It is particularly noted that he was an Ethiopian or a Cuſhite, to let us know that this Prophet of the Lord found more kindneſs from a ſtranger, that was a Native Heathen, than from his own Countrymen. [h] Princes were wont to keep Eunuchs in their Houſes in thoſe Countries, 2 Kings 9. 32. Dan. 1. 9. Acts 8. 27. it ſhould ſeem the Princes had privately put Jeremiah into this miſerable place, but yet the noiſe of it came to Ebedmelech's Ear, who was attending in the Court. [k] The Gates of the City were places where Princes were wont to ſit to execute Juſtice, and to receive Petitions, and give anſwers, 2 Sam. 19. 8. Prov. 31. 23, &c.

8 Ebed-melech went forth out of the king's houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying, 9 My lord the king, theſe men have done evil in all that they have done to Jeremiah the prophet, whom they caſt into the dungeon, and † he is like to die for hunger in the place where he is, for there is no more bread in the city [l].

† Heb. he will die.

[l] The courage of this good Eunuch was very remarkable, he did not ſtay till the King came in, but went to the King, as he was ſitting in the gate of Benjamin, adminiſtring Juſtice, or receiving and anſwering Petitions, where doubtleſs he was not alone, and probably was attended there, by ſome of thoſe Princes, who had thrown Jeremiah into this miſerable place: Ebedmelech was not afraid of them, but openly complains of their Cruelty to the King, and tells him that Jeremiah would be ſtarved to death, thoſe who were alive in the City could not long ſubſiſt, for the Stores were almoſt all ſpent, and though the King had appointed the Prophet an allowance, yet being in ſuch an hole, and there being ſo little Bread left in the City, it was not likely there would be much care taken of him.

10 Then the king commanded Ebed-melech the Ethiopian, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men † with thee, and take up Jeremiah the prophet out of the dungeon before he die [m].

[m] There are ſeveral gueſſes why the King commandeth Ebedmelech to take thirty men for the doing of that for which three or four were ſufficient. I think they judge beſt, who think it was to guard him againſt any oppoſition. Things were now in a great diſorder, the City being upon the matter taken, and the King himſelf was much in the Government of his Princes, and, as may eaſily be judged by what went before, and what we ſhall hereafter meet with, could not rule them, but was in ſome fear of them, and he did not know but ſome of the moſt boiſterous of them, might oppoſe the execution of this Command of his. This King in his whole Story ſeemeth to have been of a much better humour than his Predeceſſors, and to have had a kindneſs for the Prophet, though he ſuffered himſelf to be miſerably over-ruled by his Courtiers, who were of a much fiercer temper, and worſe affected to the Prophet.

11 So Ebed-melech took the men with him, and went into the houſe of the king under the treaſury, and took thence old caſt clouts, and old rotten rags, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Jeremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the Ethiopian ſaid unto Jeremiah, Put now theſe old caſt clouts, and rotten rags under thine arm holes, under the cords. And Jeremiah did ſo.

13 So they drew up Jeremiah with cords, and took him up out of the dungeon, And Jeremiah remained in the court of the priſon [n].

[n] The ſence of theſe Verſes is obvious. Ebedmelech having received a Commiſſion from the King preſently puts it in execution, only becauſe the Dungeon was deep, and full of mire, and the Prophet poſſibly not over well cloathed, he prudently takes ſome old Clouts, and Rags, and lets them down with Cords, that Jeremiah to prevent the galling and macerating his fleſh, might put them under the Cords, by which they drew him up: Thus he was reſtored to the Court of the Priſon, where he was before this ſuggeſtion of the Princes, and where he did abide until the City was taken. The reſt of the Chapter is ſpent in a private Conference betwixt King Zedekiah and the Prophet, after he was reſtored to the Court of the Priſon.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and took Jeremiah the prophet unto him into the ‖ third entry that is in the houſe of the LORD [o]; And the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I will aſk thee a thing: hide nothing from me [p].

‖ Or, principal.

[o] Some think that this were better Tranſlated, that is, near the houſe of the Lord, and that this third entry or principal entry, was that aſcent out of the King's houſe into the Temple, mentioned 1 King. 10. 5. which was one of the things the Queen of Sheba admired, for it is hardly probable, that Jeremiah being in a Priſon within the compaſs of the King's Houſe, the King ſhould, eſpecially at ſuch a time, go out of his Houſe to ſo publick a place as the Temple, for a private Conference with the Prophet. [p] The King deſires him faithfully to tell him what he knew in a buſineſs he ſhould inquire of him.

15 Then Jeremiah ſaid unto Zedekiah, If I declare it unto thee, wilt thou not ſurely put me to death [q]? and if I give thee counſel, wilt thou not hearken unto me [r]?

[q] Jeremiah had reaſon to caution with the King for his Life, conſidering the eaſie anſwer of the King to the Princes, moving for his Death, Verſe 4, 5. We muſt imagine Jeremiah at this time under no Divine Command, to reveal God s Will in this caſe unto the King. [r] Wilt thou not, is here, as much as thou wilt not hearken unto me. Zedekiah had often been adviſed by the Prophet, but would never take his advice, and the Prophet knew it would be the ſame caſe ſtill, that the King would be over-ruled by a corrupt Court, and his own averſion, to change his ſtate, as a King, for the ſtate of a Priſoner.

16 So Zedekiah the king ſware ſecretly unto Jeremiah, ſaying, As the LORD liveth, * that made us this ſoul, I will not put thee to death, neither will I give thee into the hand of theſe men that ſeek thy life ſ.

ſ Zedekiah ſaith nothing to the latter part of Jeremiah's Speech, promiſing nothing as to his hearing and obeying his Counſel: As to the former he gives him the ſecurity of his Oath, that he would neither himſelf ſlay him, by giving any immediate command from himſelf, nor ſurrender him up into the hands of thoſe malicious Princes, who he perceived ſought his Life. The form of his Oath is what was uſual, as the Lord liveth, with an addition, the Lord that gave me my life, if I put thee to death, and if I deliver thee, which form carrieth with it a concealed imprecation, Let the Lord do ſo to me, and more alſo, or let the Lord that gave me this Soul take it from me, if I do either of theſe things. Thus he ſecures Jeremiah, as to any hard meaſure for his telling him the truth, though it ſhould be what might be interpreted a capital crime to publiſh.

17 Then ſaid Jeremiah unto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, if thou wilt aſſuredly go forth unto the king of Babylons princes, then thy ſoul ſhall live t, and this city ſhall not be burnt with fire, and thou ſhalt live, and thine houſe u.

t That is, thou ſhalt live. u And thou ſhalt ſave the City from being burned with fire, and thy Wives and Children from Death. God did certainly know that Zedekiah would not do this, though it was in his power to do it, yet he doth not judge it vain for him to exhort him to do it, and to annex ſuch a promiſe; for thereby he was left inexcuſable, in his not ſaving the City, and his Relations lives.

18 But if thou wilt not go forth to the king of Babylon's princes, then ſhall this city be given into the hand of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hand w.

w As he before had uſed Exhortations and Promiſes, ſo here he uſeth Threatnings to perſwade him to that which indeed was in his power to do, but God infallibly knew that he would not do. The end of God in which could be no other than to leave him without excuſe, in not obeying what God commanded.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſaid unto Jeremiah, I am afraid of the Jews, that are fallen to the Chaldeans, leſt they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me x.

x But if Zedekiah went out according to the Prophet's advice, and delivered himſelf, what needed he to fear his Subjects, (that had deſerted the City) delivering of him? It ſeems rather therefore to be the ſence, leſt the Chaldæans when I have yielded my ſelf to them, ſhould deliver me into the hands of thoſe Jews which have fallen to them, and they ſhould mock me, ſo as he ſeems to be more concerned for his Honour than for his own Life, and his Families, and the whole City; thus often great Perſons are more patient of Death, than of Reproach and Diſhonour.

20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliver thee y: Obey, I beſeech thee, the voice of the LORD, which I ſpeak unto thee: ſo it ſhall be well unto thee, and thy ſoul ſhall live.

y The Chaldæans ſhall not do ſo baſe an act, but deal with thee as with a Prince. z Let not this therefore be a Temptation to thee, to diſobey the Command of God, which if thou doeſt thou ſhalt live, though not in that ſplendor in which thou now liveſt, yet in a much more comfortable ſtate, than thou wilt do if they take the City by ſtorming.

21 But if thou refuſe to go forth, this is the word that the LORD hath ſhewed me:

22 And behold all the women that are left in the king of Judah's houſe, ſhall be brought forth to the king of Babylon's princes z, and thoſe women ſhall ſay, † Thy friends have ſet thee on, and have prevailed againſt thee, thy feet are ſunk in the mire a, and they are turned away back b.

z Thou that art afraid of the Inſultings of Men that are thy Subjects, ſhalt fall under the Inſultings and Taunts of the Women; either the Court Ladies who were left when Jehojakin was carried away, or the Women belonging to thine own Court ſhall be taken and brought forth to the King of Babylon's Princes, to be diſpoſed of at their pleaſure, and theſe Women ſhall deride thee, a And tell thee, for this thou maiſt thank thy hearkening to thy Prieſts, and falſe Prophets called in the Hebrew, the Men of thy peace, becauſe they ſoothed up the King with the Promiſes of Peace. a Now they have left thee in evils out of which thou canſt not eſcape. b And as for them whom thou believedſt and truſtedſt to, and by whoſe words thou art brought into theſe Snares, they have forſaken thee, every one ſhifting for himſelf.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wives and thy children to the Chaldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and † thou ſhalt cauſe this city, to be burnt with fire c.

† Heb. thou ſhalt burn, &c.

c This is no more than what was ſaid before, only here repeated, as an Argument to perſwade his Obedience in ſurrendring himſelf, if not for the Cities ſake, yet for his own ſake, and for his Childrens ſake, for he aſſures the King that not himſelf only, but his Wives and Children alſo would otherwiſe fall into the hands of the Babylonians, and their Reflections upon him for the Miſery he had brought upon them, would be no ſmall aggravation of his Affliction.

24 ¶ Then ſaid Zedekiah unto Jeremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die d.

d Theſe words ſufficiently let us know that Zedekiah ſtood in awe of his Courtiers, and we might probably think, that had it not been for them, he would have done better. This is the righteous Judgment of God, thoſe that will not ſanctifie the Lord of Hoſts, and make him their fear, ſhall fear Men whom to fear is much more baſe and ignoble.

25 But if the princes hear that I have talked with thee, and they come unto thee, and ſay unto thee, Declare unto us now what thou haſt ſaid unto the king, hide it not from us, and we will not put thee to death; alſo what the king ſaid unto thee e.

e It could hardly be imagined that Zedekiah ſhould have this private Diſcourſe with Jeremiah, but ſome or other of his Courtiers would take notice of it, but yet it argues that this poor Prince was in a miſerable ſubjection to them, that he could diſcourſe with no body, but they muſt come and inquire what he ſaid.

26 Then thou ſhalt ſay unto them, I preſented my ſupplication before the king, that he would not cauſe me to return to Jonathan's houſe to die there f.

f The King inſtructs the Prophet in caſe the Princes ſhould be inquiſitive to know what diſcourſe paſſed betwixt the King and him, to tell them, that he petitioned him that he might be ſent no more to the Priſon in the Houſe of Jonathan, of which he complained, and petitioned the King to be freed from it, Chap. 37. 20.

27 Then came all the princes to Jeremiah g, and asked him h, and he told them according to all theſe words that the king had commanded i: So they left † off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceived k.

† Heb. They were ſilent from him.

g As the King ſuſpected ſo it came to paſs; the King's private Diſcourſe with the Prophet took wind, h and all the Princes then at Court came and inquired of Jeremiah what was the ſubſtance of his Diſcourſe. i Jeremiah anſwered them according as the King had directed. A Man is not bound in all caſes to ſpeak the whole truth, much leſs to thoſe who have nothing to do to inquire of us which theſe Princes had not. k By this means the Princes never knew the matter of this Diſcourſe.

20 So Jeremiah abode in the court of the priſon, until the day that Jeruſalem was taken, and he was there when Jeruſalem was taken l.

l Thus God hath ſeveral ways to hide his People in an evil day; he hid Joſiah from it in the Grave, he hid Noah in an Ark, Lot in Zoar, Jeremy in a Priſon, which in probability was a ſafer place for him, than the Land of Benjamin, whither he would have gone, had not Irijah ſtopt him, Chap. 37. 12, 13. Conquerours have commonly the greateſt kindneſs, for thoſe whom they find under the frowns of the conquered, eſpecially when that which hath made them ſo hath been ſomething ſpoken, or done in the favour of the Conquerors.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Jeruſalem is taken: Zedekiah's Sons are ſlain: His Eyes put out: He is ſent to Babylon: All the Nobles of Judah are ſlain: The City is burnt, and the Chief of the People carried Captive, 1,——10. Nebuchadrezzar's Charge concerning Jeremiah, 11,——14. God's Promiſe to Ebed-melech, 15,——18.

1 IN the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon a, and all his army, againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it.

a This exactly agreeth with the Hiſtorical part of Scripture, 2 King. 25. 1. and with the repetition of it, Chap. 52. 4. This Month was called Tebeth, Eſther 2. 16. and anſwers to part of our December and January. Princes are ſaid to do that which is done by their great Officers by their Order, yet ſome think Nebuchadrezzar came firſt in Perſon, though he quickly left his Army, and was not there at the taking of the City.

2 And in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, the city was broken up b.

b The Siege laſted a year and half, for it was the fourth Month of Zedekiah's eleventh year before it was taken, it is ſaid here to be broken up, becauſe their way of taking fortified places then, was by beating down the Walls of the Beſieged with Iron Rams and Engines, as we now do with great Guns. This Kingdom had now held 380 Years, from Rehoboam their firſt King, in which they had had twenty Kings (beſides Athaliah.) The Ten Tribes, had been now in Captivity 130 Years, ſo as the Kingdom of Iſrael ſtood but 250 years after the diviſion, in which time they had had 18 Princes, but of ſeveral Families; all the Kings of Judah were of the Houſe of David, lineally deſcended from him.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and ſate in the middle gate c, even Nergal-ſharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sar-ſechim; Rab-ſaris, Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, with all the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babylon d.

c All the great Men of Babylon, that were imployed in the conduct of the Babylonian Army (the City being taken by Storm, or ſurprize) entred into it, but reſted at the middle Gate. The City they ſay was incompaſſed with two Walls, before they came to the Wall of the Temple; the Gate in the inner Wall, is ſuppoſed to have been that which is called the middle Gate, they would not at firſt adventure in further, the City being large and well fortified, there might have been ſome Traps laid for them, they would therefore have their Soldiers firſt clear the Streets, and ſearch all places, that they might enter further into the City without hazarding their Perſons. d Some Interpreters have examined the ſignification of the Names of theſe Princes, but I know of no uſe it can be to us whether they were the Names of the Perſons, or ſignificative of the Offices they bare.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs, that when Zedekiah the king of Judah ſaw them, and all the men of war e, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night f, by the way of the king's garden, by the gate betwixt the two walls, and he went out the way of the plain g.

e It ſhould ſeem that the City was taken by a Surprize, the Chaldeans battering the Walls inceſſantly with their Rams and Engines of War, on a ſudden made ſuch a breach as gave them a liberty to enter in. f The King either heard of it, or poſſibly might be in ſome place where he might ſee it, then he begins to think of eſcaping, but for greater privacy ſtayeth till he had the covert of the Night, g and then goeth out towards the plains of Jericho, for there the Chaldeans overtook him, as we read in the next Verſe) he is ſaid here to have gone by the way of the King's Garden by the Gate betwixt the two Walls. It is very hard for us at this diſtance of time to pretend to any certainty in determining the way by which he made his eſcape. They ſeem to judge moſt probably, that think that the King had prepared for himſelf a private paſſage out of his Garden betwixt two Walls, leading to the Wall of the City, which they had before ſo weakned, as on a ſudden they might dig it thorough: poſſibly, theſe particulars are the rather ſet down, to ſhew us how God verified what he had revealed in this matter to the Prophet, Ezek. 12. where God ſet the Prophet, Ver. 3. To prepare ſtuff for removing, and to remove by day, in the ſight of the People from his own place to another place, and Ver. 4. To go out at even in their ſight, as they that go out into Captivity. To dig through the wall in their ſight, and carry out thereby: In their ſight to bear it on his ſhoulders, and carry it forth in the twilight; to cover his face, ſo as not to ſee the ground, and Ver. 6. he told him, that in all this he was to be a ſign; and Ver. 10. tells him, This burden concerneth the Prince in Jeruſalem (who was that Zedekiah) Ver. 12. And the Prince that is among them, ſhall bear upon his ſhoulder, in the twilight, and ſhall go forth, they ſhall dig through the Wall, to go out thereby he ſhall cover his face, that he ſee not the ground with his eyes.

5 But the Chaldeans army purſued after them, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he † gave judgment upon him h.

h Thus God by his Providence fulfilled his Threatning by his Prophet Ezekiel, Chap. 17. 12. Riblah was upon the Borders of Canaan as appeareth from Numb. 34. 11. it was in the Land of Hamah of which we read, 2 King. 17. 24. being one of thoſe Provinces in the Dominion of the King of Aſſyria, from whence he brought Men to place them in the Land of Iſrael after that he had conquered the Ten Tribes. It is not uſual for Princes upon Conqueſts to ſit in Judgment upon Princes conquered, but the reaſon of it in this caſe was becauſe Zedekiah, was a Tributary to the King of Babylon, and ſo ſubject to his power, having made a Covenant with him, and ſecured his Allegiance by his Oath to him, and then rebelled againſt him, as we read, Ezek. 17. 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18.

6 Then the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: alſo the king of Babylon ſlew all the nobles of Judah i.

i Thus the ſtubbornneſs of this Prince, and his Nobles, proved the Ruine of his Family, and of themſelves, and of the whole People. The Nobles were great Authors of this miſchief and brought Zedekiah into that obſtinacy which he ſhewed to the Prophets Admonitions and Exhortations upon them, therefore a more exemplary Puniſhment is taken. The Hebrew calls the Nobles white Men, either from their white Garments, or from that Candor of Spirit which ſhould be found in Perſons of their Quality.

7 Moreover he put out Zedekiah's eyes, and bound him † with chains to carry him to Babylon k.

† Heb. with two brazen chains or fetters.

k Thus the two Prophecies were fulfilled, that of this Prophet, Chap. 34. 4. that Zedekiah ſhould not die by the Sword: and that of Ezekiel, that he ſhould not ſee Babylon, though he ſhould die there, Ezek. 12. 13 Riblah was at a great diſtance from Babylon, where the King was at this time probably to be nearer his Army, while the Siege laſted at Jeruſalem, and to give orders about it, and to divert himſelf, the place being a pleaſant place, and the King not willing to trouble himſelf about the Siege to go thither in Perſon, but the Siege being over, he now removeth to Babylon, and carrieth Zedekiah and the reſt of the Priſoners along with him.

8 ¶ And the Chaldeans burnt the king's houſe, and the houſes of the people with fire, and brake down the walls of Jeruſalem l.

l Still it is obſervable, how punctual the Holy Ghoſt is in recording the fulfillings of the words of the Lord. This Prophet, had at leaſt four times foretold, that this would be one conſequent of the Kings and Nobles ſtubbornneſs, in not ſubmitting to the King of Babylon. See Chap. 37. 8. and 38. 18 23.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, carried away captive into Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to him, with the reſt of the people that remained m.

m This Nebuzaradan was in that place, which we call the Provoſt-Marſhal, with them it was call'd the Captain of the Guard, and here are two ſorts of Priſoners reckoned up, whom he carried away. 1. Such as after the Armies were come into Judea had yielded themſelves. 2. Such as when they took the City, remained in it not being before conſumed by the Sword, Famine, and Peſtilence; and ſo were taken upon the ſtorming or ſurprizal of the City. Both ſorts were carried away Priſoners although it is probable that the Conquerour treated the former much more gently than he treated the latter, as is uſual in thoſe caſes.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, left of the poor of the people which had nothing, in the land of Judah, and gave them vineyards, and fields † at the ſame time n.

n This is uſual with Conquerors, for whoſe profit it is not that the Countries conquered by them, ſhould lie waſte, like Wilderneſſes, but be peopled, and manured that they may render ſome Tribute to them; withal the Juſtice of God is often ſeen in this, thus reſtoring to them oft-times with advantage by the hands of Enemies that prove Conquerors, thoſe Eſtates which in corrupt times their proper Magiſtrates by violence and oppreſſion took from them, or at leaſt more than compenſating their loſſes by acts of Violence and Injuſtice.

11 Now Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, gave charge concerning Jeremiah † to Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard, ſaying, † Heb. by the hand of.

12 Take him, and † look well to him, and do him no harm, but do unto him even as he ſhall ſay unto thee o.

† Heb. Set thine eyes upon him.

o It is more than probable, that Nebuchadnezzar had been informed by ſome of the chief Commanders of his Army, who had it from ſome of the Jews, that had eſcaped out of the City to the Chaldean Army, that Jeremiah had conſtantly told the King, and the Nobles, that the Chaldeans ſhould take the City, and as ſtedily perſwaded both the King and Princes and People to ſurrender it to them, and prevent the effuſion of Blood, and that he was impriſoned for this, and had been a great ſufferer that way, and that this made this Heathen Prince ſo kind to the Prophet, as to give this order. In the mean time the Hand of God is to be taken notice of, who undoubtedly put this into the Heart of this Pagan Prince; and we may learn, that none ſhall loſe any thing at laſt by being faithful to the Commands of God, though they may be for the preſent loſers. What we tranſlate, look well to him, is in the Hebrew, ſet thine eyes upon him; and expounded by the following words, commanded him to do him no harm, and to give or grant to him, whatever he deſired.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard ſent, and Nebuſhasban, Rab-ſaris and Nergal-ſharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babylon's princes, 14 Even they ſent, and took Jeremiah out of the court of the priſon, and committed him unto Gedaliah, the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, that he ſhould carry him home: So he dwelt among the people p.

p The King of Babylon's Officers were very Religious to their Princes order, and take the Prophet out of Priſon; for the latter part of the 14th Verſe it ſeems by an anticipation of what we ſhall find related more fully, and particularly Chap. 40. or elſe ſo ought to be tranſlated yet, as appeareth from the firſt Verſe of the next Chapter, from whence it is plain that the Prophet was alſo bound in chains, amongſt them that were carried away captive; and not diſcharged until he came at Ramah, which probably might be in that hurry of Affairs, though the Princes at firſt freed him from Priſon, the under Officers not ſo diligently obſerving their ſpecial charge relating to Jeremiah, the neglect of which the Captain of the Guard obſerving when he came as far as Ramah, himſelf took care in it, as we ſhall find Chap. 40. after which, upon his choice, he was committed to Gedaliah the Son of Ahikam, whom the King of Babylon made Governour over the Country.

15 ¶ Now the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying q, q Theſe words let us know that theſe four Verſes (which contain moſtly a Promiſe to Ebedmelech for his kindneſs to Jeremiah while he was in the Dungeon of Malchiah, of which we read, Chap. 38. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11) mentions a matter that happened before the things mentioned in the foregoing Verſes.

16 Go and ſpeak to Ebed-melech the Ethiopian r, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my words upon this city for evil and not for good, and they ſhall be accompliſhed in that day before thee ſ.

r Ebedmelech is here again called the Ethiopian to the reproach of the Jews, that a ſtranger ſhould ſhew more kindneſs to a Prophet of the Lord than any of that Nation to whom he was ſpecially ſent; which was a Type of the calling of the Gentiles, and rejection of the Jews. ſ God aſſures Ebedmelech, the City ſhould be taken and burnt, and the People carried into Captivity.

17 But I will deliver thee in that day, ſaith the LORD, and thou ſhalt not be given into the hand of the men of whom thou art afraid t.

t But promiſeth Ebedmelech he ſhould be delivered in that evil day, and, whether he feared the Chaldeans, that he ſhould loſe his Life by them when they ſhould break up the City, or the Princes whom he had anger'd by complaining to the King of their hard uſage of the Prophet, he ſhould come into none of their Power.

18 For I will ſurely deliver thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword u, but * thy life ſhall be for a prey unto thee w, becauſe thou haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the LORD x. * Chap. 21. 9. and 45. 5.

u For God would deliver him, ſo as he ſhould not die by the Sword. w But how little elſe ſoever he ſaved, he ſhould ſave his Life, x becauſe he had put his truſt in God, not fearing the wrath of Men in the doing of what was his Duty. We read no more in Holy Writ of this Man, and ſo cannot tell how otherwiſe God dealt with him; only may be aſſured that he was not ſlain by the Chaldeans. And from this we may obſerve, 1. How kind God hath always declared himſelf to thoſe who have ſhewed the leaſt kindneſs, to thoſe that have been his true and faithful Miniſters. 2. That the root of ſuch good Works as God rewardeth muſt be Faith, a truſting in the Lord. 3. That thoſe who do good Works out of a principle of Faith, may yet be incumbred with ſlaviſh fears.

CHAP. XL.

Jeremiah being ſet free by Nebuchadnezzar, goeth to Gedaliah, 1,——6. to whom the remaining Jews repair, 7,——12. Johanan revealing Iſhmael's Conſpiracy, is not believed, 13,——16.

1 THE word which came to Jeremiah from the LORD a, after that Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah b, when he had taken him being bound in ‖ chains among all that were carried away captive of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were carried away captive into Babylon c. ‖ Or, Manicles.

a Theſe words refer to the forty ſecond Chapter, where begins the Revelation which Jeremiah had from God, for all this Chapter, and the next are no Prophecy, but only an Hiſtorical Narration of ſome Paſſages after the taking of the City, and ſo cannot be called a Prophecy, but are a piece of Hiſtory previous to that Prophecy. b Rama was a City in the Tribe of Benjamin near Gibeon. Vide Chap. 31. 15. c Jeremiah was by miſtake and expreſly contrary to the King's Orders, Chap. 39. 11. manacled and carried away amongſt the other Priſoners; probably the Captain of the Guard at that place call'd over his Priſoners, and amongſt them he found the Prophet contrary to his Expectation.

2 And the captain of the guard took Jeremiah, and ſaid unto him, The LORD thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place.

3 Now the LORD hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid, becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the LORD, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come upon you d.

d This Pagan Commander could ſee that which the blind Jews would not underſtand; they ſaid, wherefore is this great evil come upon us? Nebuzar-adan knew wherefore and gives God the glory of his Maſter's Victory, as alſo of his own faithfulneſs, ſaying God had but done what he ſaid, brought the evil which he had pronounced againſt that City, he alſo acknowledgeth God's Juſtice, that this evil was come upon them, becauſe of their ſins. Thus, the Men of Tyre and Sidon, and of Nineveh (and according to our Saviour's words) ſhall riſe up in Judgment, againſt the Jews that lived in our Saviour's time; and Nebuzar-adan another day ſhall riſe up in Judgment againſt thoſe Jews that lived in Jeremiah's time, and ſhall condemn them.

4 And now behold I looſe thee this day from the chains which ‖ were upon thine hand: if it ſeemeth good unto thee, to come with me into Babylon, come, and † I will look well unto thee: but if it ſeem ill unto thee to come with me into Babylon, forbear: behold, all the land is before thee: whither it ſeemeth good and convenient for thee to go, thither go e. ‖ Or, are upon thine hands. † Heb. I will ſet mine eyes upon thee.

e Nebuzar-adan, like a faithful Servant, remembers his Maſters orders to him about the Prophet, Chap. 39. 11. and offers Jeremiah greater favour than to any others of his Priſoners; he determined others by his right of Conqueſt to what they ſhould do, but he giveth the Prophet a liberty to chuſe whether he would go to Babylon, or ſtay at Jeruſalem in his own Country, he promiſed him that if he would go to Babylon, he would take a particular care of him.

5 Now while he was not yet gone back f, he ſaid, Go back alſo to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan g, whom the king of Babylon hath made governour over the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people: or go whereſoever it ſeemeth convenient for thee to go. So the captain of the guard gave him Victuals and a reward, and let him go h.

f It is not much material whether we interpret the He here mentioned of Jeremiah or Gedaliah: if we interpret it of Jeremiah the ſence is, That before Jeremiah was gone out of the preſence of Nebuzar-adan, he either by his ſilence or by ſome declaration of his Mind that is not here recorded, declaring that he was more inclined to ſtay in his own Country, Nebuzar-adan bid him, Go back, &c. If we underſtand it of Gedaliah, the ſence muſt be, Becauſe Gedaliah is not to come back any more to me, Go thou to him, &c. g We read that the King of Babylon left Gedaliah as his Vice-Roy or Deputy in Judah. What he was more than the ſon of Ahikam, and Grandchild of Shaphan, the Scripture tells us not, only that he was left by the King of Babylon as Ruler over the People he thought fit to leave, 2 King. 25. 22. probably he was one of them, who, during the Siege, had gone out to the King of Babylon, to him the Captain of the Guard directeth the Prophet, but gives him liberty, to dwell where he pleaſeth. h So ſends him away with Victuals and a Reward. It is more than probable that the King of Babylon had heard from ſome of the Jews, who, during the Siege had made an eſcape to his Army, that the Scope of the Prophet's Prophecies were for the delivery of the City, and the Jews ſubmiſſion to him as was before ſaid.

6 Then went Jeremiah unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, to Mizpah i, and dwelt with him among the people that were left in the land.

i Mizpah was built by Aſa, 1 King. 15. 22. or rather enlarged or further built, for we read of it as a City belonging to the Tribe of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 26.

7 * Now when all the captains of the forces which were in the fields, even they and their men heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam governour in the land, and had committed unto him, men, women and children, and of the poor of the land, of them that were not carried away captive to Babylon. * 2 Kings 25. 23.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the ſons of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſon of Tanhumeth, and the ſons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the ſon of a Maachathite, they and their men k.

k It is moſt likely that theſe Captains with their Forces, were no newly raiſed and formed Companies, for to what purpoſe ſhould that be when their City and whole Country was loſt? But ſome Commanders of Parties, which either were within the City till it was taken, and then eſcaped out, or were about before ſomewhere in the Country, and were not ſo much regarded by the Chaldeans, who were more intent upon the Conqueſt of the City, than purſuing theſe little Parties, who they knew could do them no hurt. Theſe hearing that the buſineſs was over, and a Deputy Governour ſet up, who was of their own Country, and a Man of a good ingenuous Temper, out of the love they had to their Native Country come unto him. Of theſe Captains we read little ſave Iſhmael, (of whom we ſhall afterwards read more) nor are we at all concerned to ſeek their Genealogy.

9 And Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, ſware unto them and to their men, ſaying l, Fear not to ſerve the Chaldeans, dwell in the land, and ſerve the king of Babylon, and it ſhall be well with you m.

l They might reaſonably ſuſpect that the Chaldeans would have a jealous Eye upon any conflux of People to Jeruſalem eſpecially Military Men, and therefore be ſomething ſuſpicious of him who was the Chaldean Deputy Governour, the ſecuring of them from fears on this account was the cauſe of this Voluntary Oath taken by Gedaliah. m He incourageth them to be Servants to the Chaldeans, and to dwell in the Land, aſſuring them that if they would, they ſhould fare well, he was well enough aſſured of the Chaldeans favour, that if they would live peaceably in their own Land, they ſhould, they would not come any more to carry them away Captive.

10 As for me, Behold I will dwell at Mizpah, † to ſerve the Chaldeans, which will come unto us n: but ye, gather ye wine and ſummer-fruits, and oyl, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities that ye have taken o. † Heb. To ſtand before.

n That is, I have made choice of Mizpah, a City upon the Frontiers, where I intend to make my reſidence, it being a Convenient place for me to receive orders from the King of Babylon, and to manage State matters. o But do ye live in the Country, and gather ſuch Fruits as the Country affordeth, do not fear being ſtript or ſpoiled of them, but do as you uſe to do in the times of greateſt Peace, and Security.

11 Likewiſe when all the Jews that were in Moab, and amongſt the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant of Judah, and that he had ſet over them Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan.

12 Even all the Jews returned out of all places whither they were driven, and came to the land of Judah, to Gedaliah unto Mizpah, and gathered wine, and ſummer-fruits very much p.

p Probably upon the King of Babylon's firſt invading Judah, many fled, and more as he went on in his Conqueſts, over-running the Country, and it is likely at the taking of the City many eſcaped, and fled into ſeveral Countries as they had opportunity, or judged this or that Country would be ſafeſt, ſome fled to Moab, ſome to Ammon ſome to Edom, ſome one way, ſome another: But when they heard that the King of Babylon had ſet a Governour of their own Religion and Country over them they came back to him, and there being few People left in the Land, which was of it ſelf wonderfully fruitful, they gathered a great plenty of Grapes, and other Summer-fruits which the Country produced.

13 ¶ Moreover, Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah q.

q They had been with him before, Ver. 8, 9. but now they come to diſcover a Conſpiracy againſt his Life.

14 And ſaid unto him, Doſt thou certainly know r that Baalis the king of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah || to ſlay thee? ſ But Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam believed them not t.

† Heb. to ſtrike thee in ſoul.

r Doſt thou for doeſt thou not, for not is plainly underſtood as the ſence makes evident. ſ Whether this Baalis be a proper name of the King of the Ammonites, or as ſome think an appellative Name, ſignifying the Lady or the Queen Regent, is incertain. What made the Prince of the Ammonites do this, can be but gueſſed, probably the old hatred they had to Iſrael, or hopes that they ſhould have the better fiſhing in theſe Waters when they were troubled. t Gedaliah ſeems a Man of a good Humour, not too credulous, and believes not the Information.

15 Then Johanan the ſon of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it: wherefore ſhould he ſlay thee, that all the Jews which are gathered unto thee ſhould be ſcattered, and the remnant of Judah periſh u.

u Diſcerning that Gedaliah took no great notice of his words ſpoken to him in the preſence of the other Captains, he goeth to him ſecretly, offereth him his Service to prevent the ſtroke, if he might have Commiſſion from him; mindeth him that if he did not value his own Life, yet he ought to conſider, in what a condition the People would be in, in caſe he were cut off, they were now but a ſmall Remnant, and then that Remnant alſo would periſh.

16 But Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, ſaid unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah, Thou ſhalt not do this thing, for thou ſpeakeſt falſly of Iſhmael u.

w Thus God dementates thoſe whom he deſigneth to deſtroy. Gedaliah in this ſheweth an excellent Temper, not to be over credulous and ſuſpicious, Charity thinks no ill, but not that Prudence which became a chief Magiſtrate. He ought to have been watchful againſt one, againſt whom he had received ſuch an information, which we ſhall in the next Chapter find he was not, but was ſlain by him.

CHAP. XLI.

Iſhmael, under a colour of friendſhip killeth Gedaliah and others, both Jews and Chaldeans, 1,——9. He purpoſeth to carry the Reſidue Captive to the Ammonites, but they are reſcued from him by Johanan, who intendeth to flee into Egypt, 10, ——18.

* Kings 25. 25.

1 *NOW it came to paſs in the ſeventh month a, that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah the ſon of Eliſhama of the ſeed royal b, and the princes of the king, even ten men with him c, came unto Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eat bread together in Mizpah d.

a That is three Months after the City was taken, Chap. 39. 2 b The ſame Iſhmael that came to Gedaliah, Verſ. 8, 9. to whom he ſware Protection; only here we are told that he was of the Royal Blood, which might both raiſe his Spirits, as having a more legal pretence to the Government, and rendred him a fitter inſtrument, for Baalis the King or Queen of the Ammonites to make uſe of. c Some of the Princes, who had eſcaped the Army of the King of Babylon, they and their Retinue came in pretended Complement to Gedaliah. d Who treated them kindly, they Dined or Supped with him

2 Then aroſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and the ten men that were with him, and ſmote Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan, with the ſword, and ſlew him e, whom the king of Babylon had made governour over the land f.

e Theſe ten Men with their retinue fall upon Gedaliah and barbarouſly murder him. f Their Quarrel againſt him was, that he was Deputy-Governour to the King of Babylon; ſo deſperately hardned were theſe Jews, that they would not yet ſee that God had given their Countrey into the hand of the king of Babylon, who having now a right of Conqueſt over them, had authority to ſet whom he pleaſed as his Vice-Roy or Deputy Governour over them, to whom they ought to have yielded all ſubjection and obedience.

3 Iſhmael alſo ſlew all the Jews that were with him g, even with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of war.

g It appeareth from Ver. 10. that by all the Jews here muſt be underſtood only all thoſe who were about the Court of Gedaliah, for it is there ſaid that he carried away many that were with him.

4 And it came to paſs the ſecond day after he had ſlain Gedaliah, and no man knew it h, h That is, no Man who lived at any great diſtance from Mizpah, for Iſhmael was concerned what in him lay to keep this ſlaughter private for fear the News of it ſhould have reached the ears of the King of Babylon, or the Commanders of ſome of his Forces, ſo as he ſhould not have had time to make his eſcape.

5 That there came certain from Shechem, from Shilo, and from Samaria i, even fourſcore men, having their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent, and having cut themſelves k, with offerings and incenſe in their hands to bring them to the houſe of the LORD l.

i Samaria was the Name both of a City and a Province, Shechem was a City within that Province, within the limits of the Tribe of Ephraim, Joſ. 20. 7. Theſe places were now inhabited by a mixt People, partly Jews, partly ſuch as the King of Aſſyria had upon his Conqueſt of the Ten Tribes brought to inhabit there; from thence came 80 Men, k who poſſibly had not heard of the Temple being burnt, at leaſt when they came out, or if they had heard of it, yet thought, hearing ſome Jews were left, that they might have erected ſome Altar for Sacrifices, or it may be they brought no Beaſts. l For the Text ſpeaks only of incenſe and Offerings, they came with all indications of mourning uſed in thoſe Countries, ſhaven Beards, Cloths rent, and having cut themſelves in a barbarous faſhion uſed by the Heathens, and forbidden the Jews, but yet practiſed by many of them.

6 And Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, went forth from Mizpah to meet them, † weeping all along as he went: and it came to paſs as he met them, he ſaid unto them, come to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam m.

m He cometh out weeping, the better to deceive them into his Trap, that they might believe he was as they equally affected with God's Diſpenſations, and inviteth them to the new Governour for Protection; as if he had been one of his Courtiers, and Friends; by thoſe Arts he concealeth his bloody deſign againſt them.

7 And it was ſo when they came into the midſt of the city that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah ſlew them, and caſt them into the midſt of the pit, he, and the men that were with him n.

n When he had thus enticed them into Mizpah, he, and his followers ſlay them, and throw their dead Bodies into a Pit, with the aſſiſtance of thoſe bloody Men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found amongſt them, that ſaid unto Iſhmael, Slay us not, for we have treaſures in the field, of wheat, and of barly, and of oyl, and of honey: So he forbare, and ſlew them not amongſt their brethren o.

o He ſlew 70 of them, but ten of them pleading for their Lives, urged that they had Eſtates in the Country, both of Corn, Oyl and Honey. His Covetouſneſs prevailed over his Cruelty, he ſpared their Lives to become Maſter of what they had.

9 Now the pit wherein Iſhmael had caſt all the dead bodies of the men (whom he had ſlain || † becauſe of Gedaliah p) was it which Aſa the king had made for fear of Baaſha king of Iſrael, and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, filled it with them that were ſlain q.

|| Or, near Gedaliah. † Heb. by the hand, or by the ſide of Gedaliah.

p The word which we tranſlate becauſe of בְּיַד ſignifieth in the hand of Gedaliah, which hath given Criticks a ſcope to vary in their notion of it, and to tranſlate it, in the power of. By occaſion of, &c. But the learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations, ſaith the ſence of the place is plain enough, Chap. 38. 10. we have the ſame term twice, where we have tranſlated it, with thee, ſo here it doubtleſs ſignifies thoſe who were with Gedaliah under his power or charge. q What Pit this was is not ſo well agreed, that is upon what occaſion made, the Text telleth us it was digged by Aſa King of Judah, and that it was made for fear of Baaſha the King of Iſrael, but whether it was to receive water, or to hinder Baaſha's coming near ſome weak part of the City, we are not told, and it is but in vain to gueſs. We read 1 Kings 15. 22. of Aſa's fortifying Mizpah with the Stones of Ramah, but of this Pit we read nothing.

10 Then Iſhmael carried away captive all the reſidue of the people, that were in Mizpah, even the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard, had committed to Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, and Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the Ammonites h.

h By this Verſe appeareth that All the Jews, Ver. 3. muſt be underſtood in a reſtrained ſence concerning all thoſe about Gedaliah. For he carried many away as Priſoners, as alſo Zedekiah's Daughters, who either had concealed themſelves at the taking of the City, or were left behind by the Conquerors, as not like much to hurt them, and having done this, he knew there was no abiding for him long there, ſo he haſtneth away to the Ammonites, who (as we had it before) imployed him in this Murder.

11 ¶ But when Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, heard of all the evil that Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had done.

12 Then they took all the men, and went to fight with Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon i.

i Theſe great Waters are ſuppoſed to be a Lake, or ſome great Pool in Gibeon, the very ſame that is mentioned, 2 Sam. 2. 13. where Joab and the Servants of David met, the one keeping on one ſide of the Pool, the other on the other ſide.

13 Now it came to paſs, that when all the people which were with Iſhmael ſaw Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, then they were glad k.

k To ſee a probability of their eſcape out of the hands of this bloody Man, who had ſlain ſo many of their Brethren.

14 So all the people that Iſhmael had carried away captive from Mizpah, caſt about and returned, and went unto Johanan the ſon of Kareah.

15 But Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah eſcaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites l.

l When the People whom Iſhmael had carried away Priſoners, ſaw Johanan coming with greater Forces, they contrived and wheeled about and went to him, only Iſhmael and eight Men eſcaped and went to the Land of Ammon.

16 Then took Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces that were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, from Mizpah, (after that he had ſlain Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam) even mighty men of war, and the women and the children, and the eunuchs whom he had brought again from Gibeon.

17 And they departed, and dwelt in the habitation of Chimham, which is by Bethlehem, to go to enter into Egypt m.

m When Johanan had (as was before expreſſed) recovered the Jews whom Iſhmael had carried away as Priſoners, he came and dwelt with them in the Habitation of Chimham. Concerning this Chimham all that we read in Scripture is, 2 Sam. 19. 37, 38, 40. he was the Son of Barzillai, whom David would have had to have gone along with him to his Court, but he being 80 Years old excuſed himſelf, and deſired that his ſon Chimham might be accepted in his ſtead, Ver. 38. David agreeth it, and promiſeth to do for him whatſoever his Father ſhould deſire on his behalf; poſſibly David having an Eſtate near thereabouts might give a portion of it to him, which though it returned to the Family of David in the Year of Jubilee, yet from Chimham's Houſe there, might retain the Name of the Habitation of Chimham; into thoſe parts Johanan retired with a further deſign to go into Egypt.

18 Becauſe of the Chaldeans; for they were afraid of them, becauſe Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah had ſlain Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, whom the king of Babylon made governour in the land n.

n Here was one ſlain whom the Conquerour Nebuchadnezzar had made Governour in the Land of Judah, and it was but reaſonable for them to think that Nebuchadnezzar would take the Affront done to himſelf, he being conſtituted Governour by him; and though Johanan had nothing to do in that Murder, yet he did not know but that the King of Babylon being ignorant of any Parties amongſt the Jews, might look upon them all as guilty who were Jews, and revenge Gedaliah's Blood upon all the remainder of that Nation; he therefore chuſeth them an Habitation for the preſent, from whence they might in a ſhort time go down into Egypt, which was Johanan's deſign, as we ſhall read in the next Chapter.

CHAP. XLII.

Johanan and the People deſire Jeremiah to enquire of God, promiſing Obedience to his Will, 1,—6. Jeremiah aſſureth them of Safety in Judea, 7,—12. and Deſtruction in Egypt, 13,—18. Reproveth their Hypocriſie and Obſtinacy, 19,—22.

THE three following Chapters give us an account of what happened to Johanan the Son of Kareah, and the reſt, after the ſlaughter of Iſhmael, and their going to dwell in the Habitation of Chimham, in order to their going into the Land of Egypt. Their coming to Jeremiah to go and enquire of the Lord for them, his Enquiry of God, with the Revelation of the Divine Will unto him; that they ſhould not go into Egypt, promiſing God's Protection of them, if they did not go, threatning their Deſtruction if they did go. Their proud anſwer to Jeremiah, and reſolution to go, which they accordingly did, and there fell in with the Idolatry of the Egyptians, for which God by his Prophet threatneth them with an utter ruine.

1 Then all the captains of the forces, and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and Jezaniah the ſon of Hoſhaiah, and all the people from the leaſt even to the greateſt came near a.

a After that this Captain Johanan (who now had made himſelf head of the Jews) had fixed their abode in the Habitation of Chimham in the way to Egypt, with thoughts of going down to inhabit there for fear of the Chaldeans, coming to revenge the Death of Gedaliah upon all the remainder of the Jews; both theſe Captains and many of the People, or ſome of all ſorts of the People, (for it cannot be imagined that every particular Perſon came) made their Addreſs to the Prophet Jeremiah, who probably was with them, carried away by Iſhmael and reſcued by this Captain.

2 And ſaid unto Jeremiah the prophet, || Let we beſeech thee our ſupplication be accepted before thee b, and pray for us, unto the LORD thy God, even for all this remnant, (for we are left but a few of many as thine eyes do behold us c.) || Or, let our ſupplication fall.

b Theſe Men (though wretched Hypocrites) yet come to the Prophet with great reſpect, and reverence, firſt deſiring that he would allow them to make their requeſt to him; probably the evidence they had had ſo lately of his being a Prophet of the Lord, by the fulfilling of all that he had foretold againſt both the City and the Temple, might in ſome meaſure occaſion this. c Their requeſt was, that he would put up his Prayer to God for the Remnant, for now there was but a ſmall Remnant of Jews left, a few of many.

3 That the LORD thy God may ſhew us the way wherein we may walk, and the thing that we may do d.

d The thing they would have him pray to God for, was Direction, what they ſhould do in this deſolate ſtate into which God had brought them. What could be more Pious? A Practice founded upon a Divine Precept, and encouraged by a Promiſe, Prov. 3. 6. Acknowledge him in all thy ways, and he ſhall direct thy ſteps. But we may well apply here what God had ſaid to their forefathers, Deut. 5. 29. when they had ſo freely promiſed their obedience to the Law of God. O that there were ſuch an heart in them, &c.

4 Then Jeremiah the Prophet ſaid unto them, I have heard you d, behold, I will pray unto the LORD your God, according to your words, and it ſhall come to paſs that whatſoever thing the LORD ſhall anſwer you, I will declare it unto you, I will * keep nothing back from you e. * 1 Sam 3. 18. Act. 20. 20.

d That is I will do for you according as you deſire. e And I will be faithful in giving you an account of what God ſhall reveal to me to be his Will on your behalf. They called God Jeremiah's God, here Jeremiah calls him their God, both to mind them of God's relation to them, and their Duty towards him.

5 Then they ſaid to Jeremiah, The LORD be a true and faithful witneſs between us, if we do not according to all things, for the which the LORD thy God ſhall ſend thee to us.

6 Whether it be good, or whether it be evil f, we will obey the voice of the LORD our God to whom we ſend thee; * that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of the LORD our God g. * Chap. 7. 23.

g The preceding words are a perfect Oath, the form of which lies in a calling of God to witneſs the ſincerity of the heart of thoſe that ſwear, for a ſecurity to thoſe to whom the Oath is given, which alſo includeth a ſecret challenging God, to take Vengeance upon the Perſons that give that ſecurity, if they ſhould not do accordingly as they promiſe; which ſpeaketh the Atheiſm of the heart of the falſe Swearer, for did a Man believe that there is a God, and that the Divine Being is infinite in power, and a true and faithful Witneſs, it were impoſſible that he ſhould challenge him to be revenged on him for not doing what he never ſeriouſly intends to do, which was the caſe of theſe wicked Men. The thing they promiſe is a perfect Obedience to God's Will, whether grateful or ingrateful to them, and they further declare a Conviction, that if they did it, it ſhould be well with them according to that, Deut. 5. 29. which ſheweth the mighty power of Luſts in unregenerate Hearts, and the mighty operations of the evil Spirit in the Children of Diſobedience, Eph. 2. 2. That although they be convinced that if they did obey the voice of God, it would be well with them; yet they will not do it in things which they have a power to do.

7 ¶ And it came to paſs after ten days, that the word of the LORD came unto Jeremiah h.

h The word mentioned, Chap. 40. 1. To which all that we have met with from the beginning of Chap. 40. is but an Hiſtorical Preface.

8 Then called he Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces which were with him, and all the people from the leaſt even to the greateſt.

9 And ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael, unto whom ye ſent me to preſent your ſupplication before him i.

i The Prophet after ten days, all which time ſome (but upon what ground I know not) think he ſpent in Prayer, receiveth an anſwer from God, which he preſently communicates to the Princes and People, with a Preface that containeth in it many arguments to have induced this compliance with it. 1. Becauſe it came from the Lord. 2. From that God who as he was in Covenant with Iſrael, ſo in all the courſe of his Providence had ſo carried himſelf to them, as they had no juſt reaſon to ſuſpect either his kindneſs or his power. 3. From their imploying of him to ſeek God upon their behalf.

10 If ye will ſtill abide in this land k, then will I build you and not pull you down, and I will plant you, and not pluck you up l: for I repent me of the evil that I have done unto you m.

k That is if you will not go into the Land of Egypt, as you are thinking, but abide where you are, or in any part of Judah, under ſubjection to the King of Babylon, into whoſe power I have given you. l Then I will ſee to your ſecurity, and proſperity, and make you an happy People. The Happineſs and Proſperity of People is in Scripture often ſet out under the notion of building, and planting, as on the contrary their miſery or deſtruction is expreſſed under the metaphorical notions of pulling down and plucking up. m For I am ſatisfied with the Puniſhment your Nation hath undergone, and as to the remainder, if they do not deſtroy themſelves by new diſobedience, I will change the courſe of my Providence.

11 Be not afraid of the king of Babylon, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, ſaith the LORD n: for I am with you to ſave you, and to deliver you from his hand o.

n I know whom you are afraid of; you fear that the King of Babylon will come and utterly root you out, becauſe one of your Nation hath murdered his Vice-Roy Gedaliah, ſuffer not your paſſion of fear to riſe too high in this caſe, and to make you fly into Egypt. o For you ſhall have my preſence with you, to preſerve and deliver you from his power; it ſhall not be in his power to do you any harm.

* Pſal. 106. 46.

12 And I will * ſhew mercies unto you, that he may have mercy upon you p, and cauſe you to return to your own land q.

p We are beholden to God for all the pity, and compaſſion which we meet with from Men, God inclineth their Hearts, tho' we receive the kindneſs from their hands. q The mercy which God here promiſeth theſe Men, is that the King of Babylon ſhould give them a liberty to go every one of them to their own Inheritances, for at preſent they were baniſhed by their own fear, from their own Houſes, though not from their own Countrey.

13 But if ye ſay, we will not dwell in this land, neither obey the Voice of the LORD your God r; r Our Tranſlation a little darkens the ſence, tranſlating the Heb. Particle בלתי neither, which ſignifies no more than not, or by no means, Numb. 14. 16. 1 Sam. 2. 2. and 20. 26. Hoſ. 13. 4. and it is certain here is but one thing ſpoken of, for the thing wherein they diſobeyed the Voice of the Lord, was not continuing in their own Land, but going into the Land of Egypt.

14 Saying, No, but we will go into the land of Egypt, where we ſhall ſee no war, nor hear the ſound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread, and there will we dwell ſ.

ſ The ſence of the words is obvious, they thought that their Life in the Land of Judah, would be at beſt an uneaſie Life, where they ſhould be continually alarm'd, with the noiſe of War, and tho' they could not fear the want of Bread in a Land that flowed with Milk and Honey, yet they alſo conſidered, that Egypt was a very fruitful Country, by the overflowing of Nilus, and the proſpect of this made them quit that uſual fondneſs which People have of their Native Country. From whence appears that their great ſin was unbelief, they would not take the Promiſe of God for a ſecurity to them for a quiet, and peaceable abode in Judah, but would fancy noiſes of Drums, and Trumpets, and fear where no fear was; the Prophet ſaw, they were reſolved, into Egypt they would go, to live a more certain eaſie Life (as they fanſied) he therefore tells them, that if after their ſending him to God to inquire for them, and promiſing a compliance with his Will, and hearing now what that will was, this were their reſolution, he had another word from God to them.

* Deut. 17. 16.

15 (And now therefore hear the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Judah, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, if ye * wholly ſet your faces to enter into Egypt, and go to ſojourn there t.)

t This Verſe is wholly prefatory to what followeth. If, ſaith God, all your mind be upon Egypt, and you be reſolved thither you will go, 16 Then it ſhall come to paſs, that the ſword which ye feared ſhall overtake you there, in the land of Egypt, and the famine whereof ye were afraid † ſhall follow cloſe after you there in Egypt, and there ye ſhall die u.

u In the general the Prophet threatneth them, that in Egypt they ſhould meet with the very ſame evils, the fear of which made them flee out of their own Countrey, the Sword and Famine. The Sword of Nebuchadnezzar, who, after this, fully conquered Egypt; and a Famine through want of Bread; for although Egypt was a fruitful Countrey, yet we know there was a Famine there, againſt which Joſeph provided, beſides that ſcarcity of Victuals commonly followeth great Armies. Thoſe who ſhun dangers or think to ſhun them by acts of Diſobedience to God, ordinarily are ſuffered by God to take ſuch courſes as they fall into the ſame or worſe dangers than what they labour to avoid.

17 † So ſhall it be with all the men that ſet their faces to go into Egypt to ſojourn there, they ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, and * none of them ſhall remain, or eſcape from the evil, that I will bring upon them w.

w Thoſe words that ſet their faces to go may reaſonably be interpreted as a limitation of the univerſal Particle all; for as eventually we can hardly conceive that every individual perſon that went into Egypt did thus periſh, ſo it can hardly be thought that the juſt God ſhould order an equal puniſhment to thoſe who were the Ring-leaders in this deſign, and thoſe who were forced or over ruled by them, or perhaps knew not how to live when the reſt were gone; but, ſaith God, for thoſe who drive on this deſign, and go with their whole heart reſolvedly againſt the contrary Revelation of my Will, there ſhall none of them eſcape, one or other of my ſore Judgments, Sword, Peſtilence or Famine. They ſhall not be the lot of one or two, but of all ſuch Perſons.

18 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, As mine anger and my fury hath been poured forth upon the inhabitants of Jeruſalem; ſo ſhall my fury be * poured forth upon you, when ye ſhall enter into Egypt: and * ye ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach, and ye ſhall ſee this place no more x.

* Chap. 7. 20.
* Zech. 8. 13.

x If you would ſee your Doom in a Glaſs, look upon Jeruſalem, which according to my word I have dealt ſo ſeverely with, that amongſt Men it would be called fury, though in me it was but deliberate Juſtice, that my wrath declared againſt it, (like liquid things melted) diffuſed it ſelf into all the parts of it: I will deal ſo with you ſoon after you ſhall have entred into that Land, where you promiſe your ſelves ſo much eaſe, reſt, and proſperity, and as I threatned to make Jeruſalem a Curſe, an Aſtoniſhment, and a Reproach, Chap. 24. 9. and 29. 18. ſo I will deal with you, and in this I will (ſaith God) deal worſe with you, that whereas thoſe of your Brethren, that were carried from Jeruſalem to Babylon, ſhall ſome of them come back again after 60 Years, you ſhall ſee this place no more. There was this aggravation of the Jews ſin, to whom God was now by his Prophet ſpeaking they had lately ſeen the words of the Lord ſpoken by the ſame Prophet verified, and yet would take no warning, but ran into the ſame ſin of Unbelief.

19 ¶ The LORD hath ſaid concerning you, O ye remnant of Judah, Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly that I have † admoniſhed you this day y.

† Heb. teſtified againſt you.

y The good Prophet knowing how much it concerned this People to liſten unto him, and to believe and obey what he ſaid, repeats again the ſame thing which he had ſaid before, aſſuring them that it was the Lord commanded him to ſay this to them. Criticks note that the word which we tranſlate admoniſh, in this form, ſignifieth to admoniſh before Witneſſes.

20 For ‖ ye diſſembled in your hearts z, when ye ſent me unto the LORD your God, ſaying, Pray for us unto the LORD our God, and according to all that the LORD our God ſhall ſay, ſo declare unto us, and we will do it a.

z Or you have uſed deceit, either towards God, dealing falſly with him, calling him to be a witneſs to your ſincerity in what you never intended any ſincerity in; or towards me, ſending me to enquire of God for you, and promiſing to do according to what I ſhould reveal to you from God as his Will, when as you never intended it; or towards your own Souls, as every ſinner doth but deceive his own Soul. You made a pretence of what was not in your hearts. a When you ſent me to pray God's direction for you, and made me ſuch a firm promiſe to do whatſoever I ſhould reveal to you from God as his Will in this caſe.

21 And now I have this day declared it to you b, But ye have not obeyed the voice of the LORD your God, nor any thing for the which he hath ſent me unto you c.

b I have been faithful to you, I went according to your deſire to enquire of God for you, I had his Will revealed to me in your caſe, and now I have as faithfully told you what it is. c But ye have not obeyed. How did Jeremiah know this, for they had not yet declared their Minds to him? He had either learned it from their Diſcourſes, during the ten Days which God had made him to wait for the Revelation, or he had learned it from ſome contemptuous Behaviour of them, when he delivered it, or (which is moſt probable) God had aforehand told it to him.

22 Now therefore know certainly, that ye ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence, in the place whither ye deſire || to go, and to ſojourn d.

d The Prophet aſcertaineth that doom unto them, which Ver. 14, 15, 16. he had threatned them with, in caſe they were reſolved to go into Egypt; we muſt expect nothing but utmoſt diſappointments upon actions done in diſobedience to the revealed Will of God: You think to avoid Death by going thither for a little time to ſojourn, but you ſhall die there, and that by thoſe very Deaths which by going thither you ſeek to avoid.

C H A P. XLIII.

Johanan and the Commanders diſcredit Jeremiah's Propbecy, 1,—3, and with the People, carry him and Baruch into Egypt, 4,—7. He propheſyeth by a Type, the Conqueſt of Egypt by the Babylonians, 8,—13.

1 AND it came to paſs, that when Jeremiah had made an end of ſpeaking to all the people all the words of the LORD their God a, for which the LORD their God had ſent him to them even all theſe words.

a The Hebrew word, which we tranſlate words, ſignifieth alſo things. The Prophet is very exact in letting us know that he had from the Lord what he delivered to them, he therefore twice repeats it, the words of the Lord their God, and for which the Lord had ſent him to them, not that the Prophets always limited themſelves to thoſe ſyllabical words they had revealed to them, but to the matter only of the Revelation; which every Miniſter of the Goſpel is ſtill bound to do, delivering to the people only what they have received from the Lord, as 1 Cor. 11. 23. as to the matter and ſubſtance of what they deliver, though they clothe it with words, and phraſes of their own.

2 Then ſpake Azariah the ſon of Hoſhaiah, and Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the proud men b, ſaying unto Jeremiah, Thou ſpeakeſt falſely: the LORD our God hath not ſent thee to ſay, Go not into Egypt to ſojourn there c.

b Of Johanan we have before heard, but not of Azariah, unleſs under the Name of Jezaniah, Chap. 42. 1. but that is incertain, Theſe Men are called proud Men, either becauſe they were the great men, or becauſe their conceit of themſelves led them into this fatal errour. Pride is nothing elſe but a Man's Mind ſwelling in an Opinion of himſelf, and always takes its riſe from ſome higher ground the perſon poſſeſſed of it thinks he ſtands upon, and a very little hillock will ſerve the turn, thoſe who have nothing elſe of pretence will make a ſilk Coat, or a piece of ſilver Lace ſerve their turn. One Man's Spirit ſwells upon account of his Deſcent, another upon account of his Riches, a third upon the account of his Learning, Parts, and Wit, a fourth upon the account of his or her Beauty; theſe Men are called proud Men, poſſibly upon account of their greatneſs, they were Captains, and the chief of the Jews now left; but chiefly upon account of the good Opinion they had of their own Reaſon and Wit, by which they judged they knew better how to guide themſelves for their own ſecurity, than Jeremiah could teach them; which Pride or good Opinion Men have of themſelves, is a great root of Diſobedience, all Men ſin either through Paſſion or Pride, or both, either to gratifie their ſenſitive appetite, or their rational appetite, as it is in Man ſince the Fall. c Becauſe it had been down right Atheiſm, and a diſclaiming of God, to have ſaid, They knew better what to do, than God could tell them, they only tell the Prophet God had not ſent him. As in theſe times Hypocrites, whoſe Luſts will not allow them to do the Will of God, think to ſecure themſelves by denying that to be the Will of God, and finding out other ſenſes to put upon Scripture than are according to truth.

3 But Baruch the ſon of Neriah ſetteth thee on againſt us, for to deliver us into the hand of the Chaldeans, that they might put us to death, and carry us away captives into Babylon d.

d Baruch was but a Clerk or Secretary to Jeremiah, ſo not very probable to over-rule the Prophet to a falſifying of his truſt, and a betraying of his Countreymen into the hands of their Enemies; but ſo fond are wicked Men of their Luſts, that they will ſay any thing in juſtification of them, rather than deny themſelves in them, and become obedient to the Will of God.

4 So Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the LORD, to dwell in the land of Judah e.

e That is, they reſolved not to obey the Meſſage God had ſent them by Jeremiah.

5 But Johanan the ſon of Kareah, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Judah that were returned from all nations whither they had been driven, to dwell in the land of Judah f:

f This reſolution they preſently put in practice. Though it is certain that Jeremiah and Baruch were not willing to go along with them, and probably that many of the People were not willing, yet theſe rebellious Captains forced them all along with them, ſo as many of them were now a kind of Priſoners to their own Countreymen.

6 Even men, and women, and children, and the kings daughters g, and every perſon that Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard had left with Gedaliah the ſon of Ahikam, the ſon of Shaphan; and Jeremiah the Prophet, and Baruch the ſon of Neriah.

g Of the King's Daughters here mentioned, ſee Chap. 41. 10.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt h, for they obeyed not the voice of the LORD, thus came they even to * Tahpanhes i.

* Iſa. 30. 4. called Hanes.

h Egypt at this time, though it was humbled by the King of Babylon, by an inroad he had made into it, of which we read, 2 Kings 24. 7. yet it was a diſtinct Kingdom, and being near to Canaan, the Jews often fled thither for Sanctuary, and borrowed aſſiſtance againſt their Enemies from them. Of this City we read little but in Holy Writ, 1 Kings 11. 19. we read of a Queen of Egypt called Tahpenes, in honour to whom probably this City was builded, after whoſe name this City was called, of which the Scripture ſaith nothing, but in this Prophet, Chap. 2. 16. in this Chapter, and Chap. 44. and 46. 14. it appears by Ver. 9, that it was at this time the place where the King of Egypt made his Reſidence, or at leaſt had a Palace. Thither theſe Captains and the Jews came, forcing Jeremiah and Baruch along with them.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the LORD to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, ſaying, 9 Take great ſtones in thy hand, and hide them in the clay in the brick-kiln, which is at the entry of Pharaoh's houſe, in Tahpanhes, in the ſight of the men of Judah k.

k God commandeth the Prophet to take theſe Stones, and to place them in the Clay, &c. for a ſign of what we ſhall meet with expounded in the next Verſe; it is plain from hence that the King of Egypt, called Pharaoh, either reſided, or at leaſt had a Royal Palace in Tahpanhes, Jeremiah is directed to fix theſe Stones at the entrance into this Palace. This hath made Interpreters divided about the true ſence of the word, which is here tranſlated a Brick-kiln. That the word ſo ſignifies is out of doubt, and is ſo tranſlated, 2 Sam. 12. 31. All that troubleth ſome, is, that they fancy there ſhould not be a Brick kiln ſo near the King's Palace; but poſſibly thoſe Learned Men do not enough conſider the difference of times and Places. Great Princes Sons and Daughters, do not uſe in our Age to keep Sheep, which yet we know Jacob's Sons and Laban's Daughters did; the Grandeur of Princes was not ſo great, but it might admit of as plain a thing as this. Others ſay the Palaces of their Princes were very vaſt, ſo that the Brick-kiln might be at a diſtance from the entry into the Dwelling-Houſe, though it was at the entry of the place called by the Name of the Palace. Others think it might be an Houſe uſed not for making, but poliſhing Earthen Ware. But the greateſt offenſiveneſs of ſuch Kilns with us, is from the Smoke, of which they had none, drying their Bricks in the Sun. But it is a nicety not worth ſo many gueſſes.

10 And ſay unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will ſend and take Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon * my ſervant l, and will ſet his throne upon theſe ſtones that I have hid m, and he ſhall ſpread his royal pavilion over them.

* See Ezek 29. 18.

l Now God expounds his meaning in his former Command, he ordered Jeremiah to take Stones and hide them in a place near the King of Egypt's Palace; now he tells them, that this was for a ſign that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould ſet his Throne, and ſpread his Pavillion in that place. This Nebuchadnezzar God calls his Servant, becauſe he was to obey him in what he ſhould do, though he intended not ſo. Thus Aſſyria is called, the Rod of his anger, Iſa. 10. 5. and Nebuchadnezzar is ſo called, Chap. 25. 9. and 27. 6. m God owneth the Stones to be laid by himſelf, becauſe they were laid at his Command.

11 And when he cometh, he ſhall ſmite the land of Egypt, and deliver * ſuch as are for death to death, ſuch as are for captivity to captivity, and ſuch as are for the ſword to the ſword n.

* Zech. 11, 7, 9.

n He propheſieth the certain ruine of the Egyptians by the King of Babylon, ſome of whom the King of Babylon ſhould ſlay, others of them he ſhould lead away into Captivity as Priſoners of War. See the like Phraſes, Chap. 15. 2.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houſes of the gods of Egypt o, and he ſhall burn them, and carry them away captives p, and he ſhall array himſelf with the land of Egypt q, as a ſhepherd putteth on his garments r, and he ſhall go forth from thence in peace s.

o God by his Prophet declares a particular hatred to the Idols of Egypt, that he would burn up their Temples. i. e. by the hands of Nebuchadnezzar. p He ſhall carry away both the Idols, and the Inhabitants of Egypt Captives. q That is with the Spoils and Plunder of the Land of Egypt, the King of Babylon ſhall clothe his Army. r Our unacquaintedneſs with the Faſhions of Shepherds cauſeth divers gueſſes at the ſence of this Phraſe; that which the beſt Interpreters fix in as the beſt is, That as a Shepherd that while he hath been attending his Flocks, goes in any Rags, and is careleſs of his Clothes, but when he goes home at Night he puts on his Coat; ſo the Babyloniſh Soldiers, when they have finiſhed their Work in the Conqueſt of Egypt, ſhall go home clothed in the better Habits of the Egyptians. ſ And the Armies ſhall go home in Peace, as Conquerors not foiled in their undertaking.

13 He ſhall break alſo † the images of ‖ Bethſhemeſh, that is in the land of Egypt t; and the houſes of the gods of the Egyptians ſhall he burn with fire u.

† Heb. Statues, or ſtanding images.
‖ Or, the houſe of the Sun.

t Beth-ſhemeſh ſignifies the houſe of the Sun, and it is alſo the Name of a City in Egypt, ſo moſt take it here, as the Name of a City, which had its Name from a famous Temple builded in it to the honour of the Sun. This Idol is called On, Gen. 41. 45. By this it appears that the Egyptians, as well as other Pagans, paid Divine Adoration to the Creature. u God threatens not only the deſtruction of the Idolatrous Temples, but the Houſes of the Inhabitants of Egypt, by the King of Babylon; from whence theſe Jews, would they have believed might have underſtood, that they would not have the ſecurity which they promiſed themſelves in the Land of Egypt.

CHAP. XLIV.

Jeremiah repreſenteth to the People in Egypt, the former Sins and Puniſhment of Judah, 1,——10. He Propheſyeth their Deſtruction in Egypt, 11,——14. Their Obſtinacy, 15,——19. Threatned, 20,——28. For a Sign, the Deſtruction of Egypt is foretold, 29, 30.

1 THE word which came to Jeremiah concerning all the Jews, which dwell in the land of Egypt a, which dwell at Migdol, and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the country of Pathros, ſaying b, a The Patience and Goodneſs of God to this Remnant of his ancient People is very remarkable; he leaveth them not even in their Rebellion, but ſendeth Jeremiah, whom he had before ſent to prevent their going into this Idolatrous Country, to try if in Egypt they would be brought to a better mind. b It ſhould ſeem that the generality of the Jews that went into Egypt had planted themſelves at theſe four places. Of Migdol we read Exod. 14. 2. and Numb. 33. 7. from which places we may learn, it was a City or Town upon the Borders of the Red-Sea. We ſhall read of it again, Chap. 46. 14. It was a place which might have minded them better of their Duty and Obligations to God, for upon their removal from thence, God divided the Red-Sea for their fore-fathers. Noph was another City in Egypt, of which we read, Iſa. 19. 13. Chap. 2. 16. and 46. 14. Ezek. 30. 13, 16. The Greeks and Latines call it Memphis; it is thought to be that City, which is now called Cairo. Pathros was a Region or Province, ſome think it derived its Name from Pathruſim the Son of Mizraim, Gen. 10. 14. It is the ſame (as ſome think) which is ſince called Thebais.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Ye have ſeen all the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, and upon all the cities of Judah; and behold, this day, they are a deſolation, and no man dwelleth therein c.

c He referreth to the late deſtruction of it by the King of Babylon; this Remnant of the People, was a Brand pluck'd out of that fire, and their Eyes had been Witneſſes, to the Deſolations that God had wrought.

3 Becauſe of their wickedneſs which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incenſe, and to ſerve other Gods d, whom they knew not, neither they, you, nor your fathers e.

d As they were eye-witneſſes to the effect, ſo it was nothing but their unbelief made them ſtrangers to the cauſe; for God by his Prophets had told them that the great moving cauſe was their paying a Divine Homage to Idols. e The ſin of which is aggravated from this, that they were as much Strangers to the Idols, as to the People with whom they joyned in the Worſhip of them, neither they nor any of their Fathers having had any experimental knowledge of what they had done, or could do for ſuch as adored them.

4 Howbeit * I ſent unto you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing early and ſending them, ſaying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

* 2 Chron. 36. 15.

5 But they hearkned not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedneſs, to burn no incenſe unto other gods f.

f Theſe two Verſes contain another aggravation of this Peoples ſin, viz. That they did this againſt light, and admonitions to the contrary. God had by his Prophets let them know that this was an abominable thing, a thing which he hated, and that not with an ordinary degree of hatred, yet they would not hear, ſo as to yield Obedience to God, but went on in their Idolatries.

6 Wherefore * my fury and my anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, and they are waſted and deſolate as at this day g.

* Chap. 42. 18.

g For theſe very Reaſons, their Idolatry, and contempt of my Word by my Prophets, the very ſins you are now committing, I have given Judah and Jeruſalem into the hand of the King of Babylon, and it is (as you at this Day ſee it) waſte and deſolate.

7 Therefore now thus ſaith the LORD, the God of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wherefore commit ye this great evil againſt your ſouls? to cut off from you man and woman, child and ſuckling † out of Judah, to leave you none to remain h.

h What prudence can guide you to do ſuch actions as theſe, by which you cannot hurt God, but your ſelves only? You are now but a few of many, what love have you for your Country, in taking courſes which will certainly tend to the utter extirpation of thoſe few, ſo as there ſhall be neither Man, nor Woman, nor Child, nor Suckling remaining of all the Jews.

8 In that ye provoke me unto wrath, with the works of your hands i, burning incenſe unto other gods in the land of Egypt, whither ye be gone to dwell, that ye might cut your ſelves off, and that ye might be a curſe, and a reproach amongſt all the nations of the earth k.

i Idols are uſually thus defamed, and indeed nothing can argue a greater ſtupidity than for any to pay an Homage (confeſſedly due to the Supreme Being) to what is the Work of Mens hands, and therefore muſt be made by one Superiour to that order of Beings in which Idols are. But how doth the Prophet ſay, that they worſhipped the Works of Mens hands? For it is apparent from Ver. 17. that they paid this Homage to the Queen of Heaven, which is not the Work of Mens Hands. Sol. It was before Images which are but the Works of Mens Hands. And this certainly was the Idolatry of the generality of the Heathens, they worſhipped an unknown Divine Being before a Creature, either as repreſenting it, or rather putting them in mind of it. k The term that doth not denote the Idolaters end of intention, for none ever did any act intentionally to ruine themſelves, it only ſignifies the end of their Work, that their utter ruine would be the certain conſequent of their Work.

9 Have ye forgotten the † wickedneſs of your fathers, and the wickedneſs of the kings of Judah, and the wickedneſs of their wives, and your own wickedneſs, and the wickedneſs of your wives, which they have committed in the land of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem l?

l God accounteth Men and Women to have forgotten that, the ſight and reflection upon which hath made no ſuch impreſſion upon them, as to produce a practice ſuitable to thoſe notices, according to the conduct of a reaſonable Soul, which teacheth every Man, having notice of a great evil brought upon a Man by ſuch or ſuch practices, to avoid running into the like danger. It was the aggravation of this Peoples ſins, that they were committed in the Holy Land, and in a City which God had more favoured than any other place, to have done theſe things in any place had been guilt enough, but more to do it in the Land of Judah, and in the Streets of Jeruſalem.

10 They are not † humbled even to this day, neither have they feared m, nor walked in my law, nor in my ſtatutes that I ſet before you, and before your fathers.

m Neither they nor you are humbled; for the Prophets paſſing from the ſecond Perſon to the third, and by and by from the third Perſon again to the ſecond, lets us know, that he intendeth what he ſpake as well of them to whom he ſpake, as of them concerning whom he ſpeaks; from n whence we alſo learn, that Reformation and Obedience is the firſt-fruits of Contrition, or true Humiliation. God accounteth thoſe not humbled, but hardned who are not reformed, and become obedient to his Will let their pretended Attrition, Contrition, or Humiliation be in outward appearance what it will.

11 ¶ Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts the God of Iſrael o, Behold * I will ſet my face againſt you for evil, and to cut off all Judah p.

* Lev. 17. 10 Chap. 21. 10.

o Theſe Names are frequently given to God, in threatning Prophecies, partly to let this People know that God is able to make good his Word, and to bring the threatned Evils upon them; and partly to let them know that the dealing thus with them would not make him quit his relation to Iſrael, but he was and ſtill would approve himſelf the God of thoſe who were his true Iſrael. p The meaning is, my full deſign againſt you is to bring Evil upon you; this is expreſſed under the notion of ſetting his face, and Amos 9. 4. ſetting his eyes againſt them.

12 And I will take the remnant of Judah, that have ſet their faces to go into the land of Egypt, to ſojourn there, and they ſhall all be conſumed, and fall in the land of Egypt, they ſhall even be conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine; they ſhall die from the leaſt even unto the greateſt, by the ſword, and by the famine: and they ſhall be an execration, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, and a reproach q.

q This is no more than the Prophet had told theſe very Perſons before they went unto Egypt, Chap. 42. 16, 17. here he doubleth his words for the confirmation of the truth of them to them now that they were there.

13 For I will puniſh them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have puniſhed Jeruſalem, by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Judah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there, ſhall eſcape or remain, that they ſhould return into the land of Judah, to the which they † have a deſire to return, to dwell there: for none ſhall return but ſuch as ſhall eſcape r.

r There is a great variety in the reading of the words, Ver. 14. ſome reading beſides ſuch as have a deſire to return. Others, Although they have a deſire to return. Others, For they have a deſire to return. The words ſeem to hint that theſe Jews went into the Land of Egypt, not with a deſign to live there always, but to ſtay for a while till the heat of the Chaldeans in enquiring after the Blood of Gedaliah ſhould be over, then thinking to return into their own Country; which one would think were true, conſidering it not only as their Native Soil, but alſo a place where was now room enough, and they might live in much greater plenty than they could in Egypt. The only difficulty is in the laſt words, compared with what in the ſame Verſe went before; it is ſaid in the beginning of the Verſe that none of them ſhould eſcape, and in the cloſe, none ſhall return but ſuch as ſhall eſcape. But reaſon will guide us to interpret the firſt none in a reſtrained ſence, i.e. none of thoſe who have been the Authors of this Counſel and Rebellion againſt God, and who went into Egypt willingly; for none can think that God involved Jeremiah and Baruch who were in Egypt (at leaſt the firſt of them) in the ſame puniſhment with which he puniſhed the Rebellious Jews. Or none of thoſe who in Egypt have burnt incenſe to Idols, and defiled themſelves with the Idolatry of Egypt, but there ſhall ſome eſcape, ſuch as have been forced into Egypt againſt their Wills; and ſuch as being ſo forced when they came here did not fall in with the Idolatry of the Egyptians (for we may gather from the next Verſe, that all of them did not) theſe Men ſhall again return into the Land of Judah. This to me ſeemeth the faireſt and moſt probable ſence of the words.

15 ¶ Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incenſe to other Gods ſ, and all the women that ſtood by, a great multitude, even all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, anſwered Jeremiah, ſaying t, ſ The burning of Incenſe was a Religious Rite, which God had appointed the Jews as a piece of Divine Homage to be paid to him alone, and by an ordinary figure is put for Worſhip So as burning Incenſe to other Gods, is the ſame with worſhipping other Gods t It ſhould ſeem that all the Jews had not been thus far guilty, and thoſe that did it were moſtly Women, or at leaſt they were the Leaders in this Idolatry, and one would think the Phraſe implyeth, that thoſe who were thus culpable did it with ſome privacy, ſo as all their Husbands did not know of it, but thoſe that did were as bad as their Wives, conniving at them, and juſtifying them in their Idolatry, and joyning with them in the following peremptory anſwer to, and contempt of the Prophet.

16 As for the word which thou haſt ſpoken unto us in the name of the LORD, we will not hearken unto thee u.

u We read Chap. 43. 5. Johanan and the reſt only denied that God had ſpoken ſuch things, and told Jeremiah, he had ſpoken falſely; but now theſe Women and Men riſe higher, they acknowledge Jeremiah had ſpoken to them in the Name of the Lord, but tell him in plain and direct terms they would not obey it. And indeed this is in the hearts of all ſinners that are ruled by their Luſts, though they will ſometimes pretend, that what they hear is not the Will of God, but ſpoken out of Malice and prejudice; yet they are pre-reſolved they will not do it, let their underſtandings be never ſo well informed.

17 But we will certainly do * whatſoever thing goeth forth out of our own mouth w, to burn incenſe unto the ‖ * queen of heaven x, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, as we have done y, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem z: for then had we plenty of † victuals, and were well, and ſaw no evil a.

*Num. 30. 12. See Ver. 25.
‖ Or, frame of heaven.
* Chap. 7. 18.
† Heb. bread.

w Here is the root of all ſinners diſobedience, their reſolution to pleaſe and humour themſelves, not knowing how in any thing to deny themſelves; hence it is that denying our ſelves is by Chriſt made the firſt Law or Condition of his Diſciples. x By the Queen of Heaven ſome here underſtand the Sun, which notion is favoured from the words being of the Feminine Gender, which ſignifieth the Sun in Heb. others reading it not the Queen, but the frame of heaven, by it underſtanding the Sun, Moon and Stars. y Drink-offerings were a Divine Homage which God had commanded to be paid to him, Lev. 23. 13. Num. 6. 17. z Their Arguments for it were, 1. Cuſtom and Antiquity, they and their Fathers had uſed to do it. 2. The Example of their Kings and Princes. a 3. The Plenty and Proſperity they had while they did ſo, as if their Idolatry had been the cauſe of it.

18 But ſince we left off to burn incenſe to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her, we have wanted all things, and have been conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine b.

19 * And when we burnt incenſe to the queen of heaven, and poured out drink-offerings unto her, did we make her cakes to worſhip her, and pour out drink-offerings unto her without our ‖ men?

* Chap. 7. 18.
‖ Or, Husbands.

b Their laſt Argument is drawn from the evils that had befallen them ſince they had left worſhipping the Sun, Moon and Stars; thus ſtrangely making their omiſſion of that, the cauſe of their ſufferings, their former doing of which was indeed the true cauſe; they had loſt their Husbands in the Siege, and in Battels, and had ſuffered Famine and Hunger: and all becauſe they had burnt Incenſe to other Gods, they interpret theſe Providences as a puniſhment of them for not doing it as they had formerly uſed to do. So bad Interpreters are thoſe of God's Providences, who indulge their Luſts in oppoſition to God's Law.

20 ¶ Then Jeremiah ſaid unto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that anſwer, ſaying, 21 The incenſe that ye burnt in the cities of Judah, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, ye and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, did not the LORD remember them, and came it not into his mind?

22 So that the LORD could no longer bear, becauſe of the evil of your doings, and becauſe of the abominations which ye have committed: therefore is your land a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe without an inhabitant as at this day.

23 Becauſe you have burnt incenſe, and becauſe ye have ſinned againſt the LORD, and have not obeyed the voice of the LORD, nor walked in his law, nor in his ſtatutes, nor in his teſtimonies, therefore this evil is happened unto you, as at this day c?

c There is in theſe Verſes nothing of difficulty, nor any new Phraſes to be opened. That which is obſervable is, that though the Prophet was but one againſt many, yet he feareth not their Faces: The ſubſtance of what he ſaith is this; That they interpreted God's Voice in his Providences toward their Country directly contrary to the true ſence of it. They concluded that their omiſſion of late to burn Incenſe to the Sun, Moon and Stars was the cauſe why it was ſo ill with them: as if theſe were animate Beings, and the ſupreme Being, whereas they were but Creatures. Or as if it were the Will of the ſupreme Being to be adored and worſhipped in them, or before Statues and Images repreſented by them, whereas the Will of God was directly contrary, and as he in the ſecond Commandment had forbidden any ſuch Worſhip, becauſe he was a jealous God; ſo he had for the breach of that Commandment by their burning Incenſe to theſe Creatures, burned up their Houſes and Temple, and brought their Nation into that miſery into which they were come: From whence may be obſerved how ill an Argument for any Religious Worſhip Antiquity is, unleſs we by it mean what is moſt ancient; as alſo, that Preſcription in that which is falſe, in the Worſhip of God juſtifieth none. Nor is it a good concluſion that thoſe who lived neareſt to the primitive Inſtitution are moſt likely to have done beſt, as having the beſt means to know what is truly Primitive. Idolatry was as old as Laban, and the worſt of Idolatry (offering Children to Molech) was older than the Levitical Law, if not as old as Serug. In matters of Worſhip the Word of God is a ſufficient rule, we need not plead antiquity nor the practice of our fathers. Error is not capable of being juſtified by Tradition or Preſcription.

24 Moreover, Jeremiah ſaid to all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of the LORD, all Judah that are in the land of Egypt d.

d That is, all you Men and Women that belong to Judah, and are now come to inhabit in the Land of Egypt.

25 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, ſaying, * Ye and your wives have both ſpoken with your mouths, and fulfilled with your hands, ſaying, We will ſurely perform our vows e that we have vowed, to burn incenſe to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings unto her: ye will ſurely accompliſh your vows, and ſurely perform your vows f.

* Ver. 15, &c.

e Thoſe words have ſpoken are in the Hebrew of the Feminine Gender which giveth good reaſon to ſome Interpreters to conclude the Women were firſt and principal in this Idolatry, and the Mens guilt lay in conniving at them, and ſuffering themſelves to be ſeduced by them. Ye, ſaith the Prophet, have ſpoken it, and ye have been as big as your words, and for a cover you pretend the Religion of a Vow, as if a Vow could be a bond of iniquity, and it were poſſible by a Vow to oblige your ſelves to a forſaking of the true God, and a committing of Idolatry. f The latter words ſeem Ironical, ſo as to have this ſence, you are reſolved upon it, and there is no moving you from your reſolution, God hath reſolved too.

26 Therefore hear ye the word of the LORD, all Judah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold I have ſworn by my great name, ſaith the LORD g, that my name ſhall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Judah, in all the land of Egypt, ſaying, the LORD God liveth h.

g Seeing you are ſo fixed and peremptory, God is as reſolved as you are, and as you think you muſt be Religious to your wicked Vows, ſo be aſſured God will be as Religious to his Oath, becauſe he can ſwear by no greater, he hath ſworn by himſelf, Heb. 6. 13, 16. (for ſo Name ſignifieth here.) h There ſhall not any be left of the Jews that are in Egypt, to ſwear The Lord God liveth. (for it ſhould ſeem, that the Jews yet retained ſomething of the Religion of their Country, and ſware by the Name of the living God, according to the Precept, Deut. 6. 13. and 10. 20.) God threatneth there ſhould be none of them left alive to do it; he would not have his holy Name polluted by thoſe Mouths that had been uſed to bleſs Idols.

* Chap. 1. 12. 27 Behold, *I will watch over them for evil, and not for good i, and all the men of Judah that are in the land of Egypt, ſhall be conſumed by the ſword, and by the famine, until there be an end of them k.

i God here either ſets out himſelf as one who would be induſtrious and ſolicitous to bring evil upon them, as Men who are ſo in any buſineſs, watch opportunities to do it; or elſe he derides their vain confidence as to his protection of them, and care for them (ſaith God) I will watch over them, but not to build and to plant, as Chap. 31. 28. but as it is in the former part of that Verſe, to pluck up, and to throw down, and to deſtroy, and to afflict. k For ſo it follows, they ſhall be conſumed by the ſword and by the famine.

* Ver. 14. 28 Yet * a ſmall number that eſcape the ſword, ſhall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Judah l; and all the remnant of Judah that are gone into the land of Egypt to ſojourn there, ſhall know whoſe word ſhall ſtand, † mine or theirs m. † Heb. from me, or from them.

l This juſtifieth the reſtrained interpretation of none of the remnant, Ver. 14. for here it is plainly ſaid, that ſome ſhould eſcape and return. m But for the reſt they ſhould there periſh, and by that it would appear whether God's Word or theirs ſhould ſtand, and have its accompliſhment; they promiſing themſelves ſecurity, God threatning them with utter ruine and deſtruction.

29 ¶ And this ſhall be a ſign n unto you, ſaith the LORD, that I will puniſh you in this place, that ye may know that my words ſhall ſurely ſtand againſt you for evil.

n Signs are uſually antecedent to the thing ſignified, but the word is taken in a larger notion in this place for that which ſhould attend the thing ſignified by it, as Exod. 3. 12. beſides though their deſtruction, and the deſtruction of Pharaoh Hophra were things immediately following one another, yet the latter was in order before the other.

30 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will give Pharaoh-hophra king of Egypt o into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon his enemy that ſought his life p.

o Pharaoh was a Name common to all the Egyptian Kings, as may be learned from Gen. 12. 15. and 41. 1. Exod. 1. 8. 11. but they had beſides that Name another peculiar to them. Whether this Hophra was Vaphres or Apries, is not much material, nor is there any certainty when this Prophecy was fulfilled. Whether Pharaoh Hophra were (as Herodotus ſaith) ſlain by Amaſis, one of his Subjects who rebelled againſt him and ſlew him (as the aforementioned Author tells us) or Nebuchadnezzar who Joſephus ſaith came about five Years after he had taken Jeruſalem, and over-ran Egypt, and ſlew this Pharaoh Hophra, whoſe overthrow was a certain ſign of the Jews Deſtruction, it being not like that the King of Babylon ſhould ſpare theſe Jews who had fled to this King of Egypt for ſhelter; conſidering alſo that the Jews had ſlain Gedaliah his Deputy Governour in Judea. p How God delivered Zedekiah into the hand of the King of Babylon, we read Chap. 9. Here now ends the Story of theſe Jews that had fled into Egypt.

CHAP. XLV.

Jeremiah instructeth and comforteth Baruch, 1,—5.

* Chap. 36. 1, 4. 1 THE word that Jeremiah the prophet ſpake unto Baruch the ſon of Neriah, * when he had written theſe words in a book at the mouth of Jeremiah a, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah, ſaying b, a This Chapter ought to to have been annexed to the 36 Chap. or immediately to have followed it, for the writing of Jeremiah's Prophecies we read of there, b it was 18 Years before this time that the Prophet thus ſpake to Baruch upon the writing of thoſe Prophecies which as we read there brought both Jeremiah and Baruch into a great deal of danger, which probably gave Baruch the occaſion of the Complaint we ſhall read of, Ver. 3.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of Iſrael unto thee, O Baruch c.

c Jeremiah had in his former Diſcourſes revealed the Will of God, concerning Nations, here he revealeth it as to Baruch his Secretary or Clerk, upon which account ſome compare him to Paul writing to Philemon as well as to Churches.

3 Thou didſt ſay, Wo is me now, for the LORD hath added grief to my ſorrow, I fainted in my ſighing, and I find no reſt d.

d Upon Baruch's reading the Prophecies after he had wrote them from the Mouth of Jeremiah, both he and Jeremiah were ſent for before the Princes, and adviſed to hide themſelves, as we read Chap. 36. 15, 19. This probably diſturb'd Baruch, and made him lament his Condition in ſuch like expreſſions, of which the Prophet had heard, probably by Revelation from God.

4 ¶ Thus ſhalt thou ſay unto him, The LORD ſaith thus, Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted I will pluck up, even this whole land.

5 And ſeekeſt thou great things for thy ſelf? ſeek them not e: for behold, I will bring evil upon all fleſh, ſaith the LORD f: but thy life will I give unto thee * for a prey, in all places, whither thou goeſt g. * Chap 21. 9. and 38. 2 and 39. 18.

e What great things Baruch was ſeeking is not expreſſed, and impoſſible to be determined with any certainty; they could not be Honour, or Riches; the time of Jehoiakim's Reign was no time for any Pious Rational Man, to expect any thing of that nature: He might expect to have been a Prophet, as Eliſha was, who firſt was but a Servant to Elijah. Or at leaſt he might expect reſt and protection, when others met with diſturbance, but it may be the meaning is no more than, Doſt thou expect what none meeteth with, or is like to meet with who feareth God? Never think of it. f I am bringing Calamities, and Miſery upon the whole Nation wherein thou liveſt. g I will preſerve thy Life, that is all thou art to expect, and thou ſhalt live to ſee the time, that thou wilt judge that a great Booty, that thou ſhalt have lent thee, whitherſoever the Wind of my Providence ſhall happen to drive thee. This Meſſage of God to Baruch teacheth us that God expects from his People a Spirit ſuted to his Diſpenſations, and that they ſhould keep their Spirits low in a time of publick Judgments, not making to themſelves any great promiſes of freedom from their ſhare in the publick Calamities of that Nation or Kingdom in which they are; but contenting themſelves with ſuch allowances as God proportioneth to them at ſuch a time without diſcontent or murmuring, and bleſſing God, for any marks of gracious Providence which he in ſuch times will pleaſe to ſet upon them, being thankful for them and ſatisfied with them.

CHAP. XLVI.

The Overthrow of Pharaoh's Army, 1,——12. The Conqueſt of Egypt by Nebuchadnezzar, 13,——26. God's People comforted, 27, 28.

1 THE word of the LORD which came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt the Gentiles a.

a This Verſe contains the Title to all the enſuing Diſcourſes of this Prophet, for, though there be ſome particular Verſes in theſe Chapters that relate to the Jews, yet they are all concerning their Reſtauration. The Prophecies of Judgments from the beginning of this Chapter to the 52d. Chapter are all againſt foreign Nations, which are called Gentiles. As to whom God revealed his Will for the puniſhment of them, for the relief and ſatisfaction of his People to whom the moſt of them had been bitter Enemies The 52d. Chapter is by moſt concluded not to have been wrote by Jeremiah, who, it is not probable, would have repeated what he had related before Chap. 39. but it was wrote (as it is ſuppoſed) by ſome of the Captives in Babylon, as a Preface to the Book of Lamentations. This particular Chapter containeth the Revelation of the Will of God, concerning Egypt whither ſome of the Jews fled for refuge after this time, and which had been a great occaſion of ſin to the Jews before, not only through the Jews too many Leagues with them, and confidence in them, but from their communicating in their Idolatry with them, Jer. 2. 16. The children of Noph and Tahpanhes, brake the crown of their head.

2 Againſt Egypt, againſt the army of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Carchemiſh, which Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon ſmote in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the ſon of Joſiah king of Judah b.

b Pharaoh Necho was King of Egypt in Joſiah's time; it was by his Army that Joſiah was killed at Megiddo, 2 Kings 23. 29. it was he that made Jehoiakim King of Judah taking away Jehoahaz, Ver. 34. but though he prevailed at that time, and that was one time when he came out againſt Carchemiſh, 2 Chron. 35. 20. yet he was overthrown by Nebuchadnezzar in a Battel with him afterwards as appears from 2 Kings 24. 7. and Jehoiakim was made Tributary to Nebuchadnezzar as we read 2 Kings 24. 1. and the King of Egypt was brought ſo low by that Victory that he ſtirred no more out of Egypt, for the King of Babylon had taken from him all from Nilus, the great River of Egypt to Euphrates, and this, ſaith this Verſe was in the 4th. Year of Jehoiakim. This Prophecy muſt be before that time. Carchemiſh appeareth from Iſa. 10. 9. to have been a place in Syria where the Egyptian Army had been in Joſiah's time, and then went away Conquerers as appears from 2 Chron. 35. 20, &c.

3 Order ye the buckler, and the ſhield, and draw near to battel.

4 Harneſs the horſes, and get up ye horſemen, and ſtand forth with your helmets, furbiſh the ſpears, and put on the brigandines c.

c Art hath ſo much improved all things, in later Ages, that it is very hard to determine of what form the ſeveral Weapons, and pieces of Armour, whether offenſive or defenſive in uſe at this time were; the moſt here mentioned ſeem to have been defenſive, and the whole Speech of the Prophet directed to the Egyptians, ſeems to be Ironical, calling to this Army of Pharaoh Necho to get ready to defend themſelves, for they were to encounter with an Enemy would put them very hard to it, ſo as they had need to have their Helmets and Bucklers, and Shields, and Brigandines, all in a readineſs, and know the uſe of them well, the Horſes for War had need be Harneſſed, the Spears furbiſhed, and the Riders got up.

5 Wherefore have I ſeen them diſmayed, and turned away back? and their mighty ones † are beaten down, and are † fled apace, and look not back for fear was round about, ſaith the LORD d.

d God had either in a Viſion ſhewed Jeremiah this Army of the Egyptians flying, or elſe had revealed to him that they ſhould be put to flight, which the Prophet here publiſheth. God made a fear to fall upon the Egyptians, ſo as when the King of Babylon came to joyn Battel with them, they were not able at all to ſtand, but turned their Backs, and their greateſt Commanders were either kill'd, or fled away as faſt as they could.

6 Let not the ſwift flee away, nor the mighty man eſcape, they ſhall ſtumble and fall toward the north by the river Euphrates e.

e That is, it is in vain for the ſwift to flee away, the mighty Men ſhall not eſcape, but they ſhall ſtumble, and fall at Carchemiſh, which was near the River Euphrates, and Northward from Egypt.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood, whoſe waters are moved as the rivers f.

f The next Verſe expoundeth this.

8 Egypt riſeth up like a flood, and his waters are moved like the rivers, and he ſaith I will go up, and will cover the earth, I will deſtroy the city and the inhabitants thereof g.

g The Prophet compareth the Egyptians fleſhed with their former Victory obtained againſt Joſiah at Megiddo, and now preparing to another Expedition, to a Flood (with alluſion probably to the River Nilus, whoſe Waters uſed to riſe to a great height) both for the multitude of their Soldiers, and for their rage; they were reſolved to carry ſuch numbers as ſhould cover the Earth, and to take Carchemiſh, or ſome other City which their deſign was againſt. It ſhould ſeem both by this Text, and that Exod. 15.9,10. That the Egyptians were a People much given to vaunt and boaſt of the great things they would do, boaſting when they were putting on their Harneſs, as if they were putting it off, not conſidering how uncertain the events of War were, nor yet that wherein they talked proudly there was one that could be above them.

9 Come up ye horſes, and rage ye chariots, and let the mighty men come forth h, † the Ethiopians, and the † Libyans that handle the ſhield i, and the Lydians * that handle and bend the bow k.

* Iſa. 66. 19.

h Their ancient way of fighting was with Chariots, and Bows, the Prophet calls in the Name of the Commanders of the Egyptian Armies, to the Horſes and Chariots to come on, and ingage in the Fight. i The Ethiopians were the Cuſhites, who were Neighbours to the Egyptians, ſo were the Lybians both of them it ſhould ſeem were famous for handling the Shield, the Lybians were deſcended from Put, both the Cuſhites and the Putites or Lybians were deſcended from Ham, Gen. 10. 6. k The Lydians were as famous for the uſe of the Bow in War, they were deſcended from Miſraim or Shem, Gen. 10. 13. 22. the Lydians here meant are thought to be thoſe deſcended from Miſraim, and ſome think theſe were Ethiopians. They were all Auxiliaries to the Egyptians in this Expedition.

10 For this is the day of the Lord GOD of hoſts, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adverſaries l: and the ſword ſhall devour, and it ſhall be ſatiate, and made drunk with their blood m: for the Lord GOD of hoſts * hath a ſacrifice in the north countrey, by the river Euphrates n.

* Zeph. 1. 7. See Ezek. 39. 17.

l Or, But this is the day of the Lord, &c. Pharaoh is miſtaken in accounting this day his own, becauſe of the multitude of his Forces, this is the day of the Lord, who as he is the Lord of all the hoſts of his Creatures, ſo hath a particular rule and government over hoſts of Men; this is further explained by the next words, a day of vengeance, which God hath ſet apart, in it to be avenged upon his Enemies. m Theſe Phraſes only metaphorically ſignifie, the great ſlaughter God would make that day amongſt the Egyptians. n This the Prophet declares that God would do for his honour and glory, therefore he calls it a ſacrifice, by which alſo he declareth his Juſtice in this puniſhment of the Egyptians, and for the further repute and credit of his Prophecy, telleth them to whom he ſpake of the place it ſhould be in, viz. near the River Euphrates, where Joſiah was ſlain by him, 2 Kings 23. 29.

11 Go up into Gilead and take * balm, O virgin, the daughter of Egypt o: in vain ſhalt thou uſe many medicines: for † thou ſhalt not be cured p.

* Chap. 8. 22.

o Great States are ordinarily in Scripture called Virgins for their Beauty, and pleaſant State; Gilead was a moſt famous place for Balm: The Prophet ironically calls to the Egyptians to go to Gilead for Balm. p But tells them it would be to no purpoſe, God was about to wound them beyond all help of Medicines.

12 The nations have heard of thy ſhame q, and thy cry hath filled the land, for the mighty man hath ſtumbled againſt the mighty, and they are fallen both together r.

q The Prophet keepeth to his old Prophetick Stile, ſpeaking of things that were to come to paſs ſome Years after, as if they were already paſt, becauſe of the certainty of them; in this ſence he ſaith other Nations had ſeen, becauſe they ſhould ſee the ſhame and confuſion of the Egyptians upon their overthrow, and the cry of their ſlain and wounded Men would fill other Lands. r For the Egyptians ſhould certainly be overthrown, either by the Chaldeans ſtumbling upon the Babylonians, or the Babylonians on them, or they (flying) for haſt ſtumbling one upon another, ſo as both thoſe that went before, and thoſe who followed after, ſhould both fall together.

13 ¶ The word that the LORD ſpake to Jeremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon ſhould come and * ſmite the land of Egypt ſ.

ſ A Revelation different from the former in this, that the former only foretold the overthrow of the King of Egypt in a particular Battel in Carchemiſh near Euphrates, of which we read that the thing was done, 2 Kings 24 7. This foretells the King of Babylon's overrunning all the Land of Egypt, and was not fulfilled till ſome Years after Zedekiah was carried away Captive, but propheſied of Chap. 43. 10. and 44. 30. to come to paſs in the time of Pharaoh Hophra as we heard before, and more largely foretold by the Prophet Ezekiel, Ezek 29. and 30, and 32. to happen after the overthrow of Tyrus, Ezek. 29. 18, 19.

14 Declare ye in Egypt, and publiſh in Migdol, and publiſh in Noph, and in Tahpanhes t ſay ye, Stand faſt, and prepare ye, for the ſword ſhall devour round about thee u.

t Concerning theſe three Cities of Egypt, ſee the Notes on Chap. 44. 1. the meaning is, publiſh this Prophecy over all the Land of Egypt, or perhaps theſe three were the chief places whither the Jews that went with Johanan the Son of Kareah, &c. went, and where they fixed themſelves; many more places in Egypt are named by Ezekiel, Chap. 30. 14, &c. u Look to your ſelves and prepare your ſelves for Battel, for the Nations are deſtroyed round about you, (ſo it is in the Hebrew) and you have reaſon to expect that the Sword ſhould come next into your Countries.

15 Why are try valiant men ſwept away? they ſtood not, becauſe the LORD did drive them t.

t The Prophet firſt propoundeth a Queſtion, then returneth anſwer to himſelf. Egypt was full of valiant Men, yet ſaith the Prophet they ſhall be ſwept away, or broken down as fruit, or graſs is beaten down with a violent Storm of Hail, (ſo the word is uſed, Prov. 28. 3.) how comes this to paſs? (ſaith the Prophet) He anſwereth himſelf, becauſe it was of God to deſtroy Egypt, who worketh and none can let him, when he ſtrikes none can ſtand before him; none can ſtand up againſt him.

16 He † made many to fall, yea, one fell upon another u, and they ſaid, Ariſe, let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our nativity from the oppreſſing ſword w.

u The Prophet had before ſpoken of Nebuchadnezzar, as an inſtrument in the hand of God, who being armed with his Commiſſion and Power, made many to fall, yea God cauſed ſuch a fear to fall upon them, that in their Flight they fell upon one another. w And though they had many Soldiers that came to help them from Cuſh, and Put, and Lybia, yet all was too little, the Prophet foretells they ſhould all be glad to go home again, and ſhould ſpeak to one another to that purpoſe, for the ſucceſs of the King of Babylon's Sword ſhould be ſuch, as they ſhould quickly ſee there would be no ſtanding before it.

17 They did cry there, Pharaoh king of Egypt is but a noiſe x, he hath paſſed the time appointed y.

x That is, the Ethiopians and Lubims that ſhould come to help the King of Egypt ſhould cry, or the Chaldeans, or the Egyptians themſelves ſhould cry, Pharaoh is but a noiſe, that is, hath made a great noiſe, but it cometh to nothing; others make the ſence Pharaoh is a Man of noiſe, or tumult, that hath made a great deal of diſturbance to himſelf and us. y That is, ſay the moſt, he hath paſſed the time himſelf fixed whereat he would come, and fight the Chaldeans. But theſe words compared with the next Verſe, incline others to think, that either Pharaoh's Soldiers, or his Allies are here brought in mocking at Pharoah, promiſing himſelf that the King of Babylon would not come, and laughing at Jeremiah's Prophecy, ſaying, the time appointed was paſt, that is, the time of his coming mentioned by Jeremiah was paſt. Jeremiah foretells that Pharaoh's Army and Confederates would ſee reaſon to cry out, Pharaoh, in ſaying ſo, was but a noiſe.

18 As I live, ſaith the king, whoſe name is the LORD of hoſts, ſurely as Tabor is amongſt the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come z.

z That is, he ſhall as certainly come and incompaſs you with his Armies, as Tabor is encompaſſed with Mountains, and as Carmel is by the Sea, or as Barak going down from Mount Tabor deſtroyed Siſera's Army, or as ſurely as the Rain came which Elijah firſt diſcovered from Mount Carmel, 1 Kings 18. 41, 42. there are other gueſſes at the ſence of this compariſon, but the ſence is undoubtedly no more than that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould certainly come againſt Egypt, how vainly ſoever the Egyptians flattered themſelves to the contrary, ſuppoſing the time paſt which the Prophet ſpake of.

19 Oh thou daughter dwelling in Egypt a, † furniſh thy ſelf to go into captivity b: for Noph ſhall be waſte and deſolate without an inhabitant c.

† Heb. make thee inſtruments of captivity.

a That is, O you Inhabitants in the Land of Egypt. b Make ready to go into another Country as Priſoners of War, for your Cities ſhall be deſtroyed. Noph particularly ſhall be wholly depopulated, and laid waſte and have none to dwell in it.

20 Egypt is like a very fair heifer; but deſtruction cometh: it cometh out of the north d.

d That is, Egypt is now in a thriving proſperous condition, having not uſed to be under any Yoke like an Heifer, that is fair, and fat, but ſhe will not be ſo long, ſhe is but as a Beaſt fatted for the Slaughter, and there are Slaughter-men, coming out of Chaldea that will kill this fair Heifer, and make her a Sacrifice to the Juſtice of God.

21 Alſo her hired men are in the midſt of her, like † fatted bullocks e, for they alſo are turned back, and are fled away together; they did not ſtand f becauſe the day of their calamity was come upon them, and the time of their viſitation g.

e The mercenary Soldiers alſo which the Egyptians have hired from Cuſh and Put, and other parts are at preſent in a flouriſhing proſperous ſtate. f We have tranſlated כי here ill, it had been better tranſlated but, for that is manifeſtly the ſence. Though they at preſent lying in Garriſons be fat and flouriſhing, like Bullocks in the Stalls, yet when it cometh to it they ſhall not ſtand but turn back, and flee as well as the reſt. g Becauſe the time is come when God reſolveth to puniſh them, and bring calamity upon them. When the time is come which God hath ſet in his Counſels, wherein he will puniſh Perſons or Nations; no probabilities to the contrary are much conſiderable.

22 The voice thereof ſhall go like a ſerpent h, for they ſhall march with an army, and come againſt her with axes, as hewers of wood i.

h Egypt is now like an Heifer that makes a great bellowing, but the time ſhall come when ſhe ſhall make a leſſer noiſe like the hiſſing of a Serpent, when it ſeeth it ſelf ſet upon. i For the Chaldeans ſhall come with a great Army, armed with Battle-Axes, as if they came to fell down ſome Wood in a Foreſt, or Wood.

23 They ſhall cut down her foreſt, ſaith the LORD, though it cannot be ſearched k, becauſe they are more than the graſhoppers, and are innumerable l.

k Egypt is compared to a Foreſt either for the multitude of Cities, or of People in that Country, and to a thick Foreſt, becauſe as it is an hard thing to make ones way through a Foreſt, ſo it was judged as hard for an Enemy to make his way into that Country; in humane probability Egypt could not be ſearched, yet (ſaith God) the Chaldeans ſhall cut down this Foreſt, and it ſhall be no more to them than for Hewers of Wood, with Tools fitted for the purpoſe, to make their way through a Foreſt. l For the Army of the Chaldeans ſhall be as numerous as the Inhabitants of Egypt, more than the Graſhoppers which come in ſuch Troops, as in a ſhort time they devour every green Herb in a place.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded, ſhe ſhall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north m.

m That is, into the hand or power of the Chaldeans, it is the ſame thing which the Prophet had before ſaid again and again, and repeats it ſo often only for the further confirmation of the truth of the Prediction, notwithſtanding the appearing improbability of any ſuch thing.

25 The LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael ſaith n, Behold, I will puniſh the ‖ † multitude of No o, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, * with their gods, and their kings, even Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him p.

† Heb. Amon.
* Chap. 43. 12, 13. Ezek. 30. 13.

n Theſe Names are often in conjunction given unto God, the firſt ſignifying his Power, or ability to do what he either promiſeth or threatneth, the other ſpeaking his kindneſs and near relation to the Jews. o There are great critical Diſputes about this Phraſe, whether the word tranſlated multitude, ſignifies ſo (as it doth, Chap. 52. 15.) and if ſo whether it ſhould not be the multitude from No. Or whether it ſignifies the nouriſher, (as ſome would have it) becauſe No (which moſt think is the ſame City with that at this time called Alexandria, being a great place of Merchandiſe) nouriſhed all the adjacent parts; but it is no eaſie thing to reſolve the Queſtion, nor is the reſolution of it of much moment to us. p By thoſe that truſted in Pharaoh the Jews are moſt probably meant, who all along in their proſperity put too much confidence in Egypt, and after that Hieruſalem was taken, ſome of them (as we before heard) fled into Egypt for Sanctuary.

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of thoſe that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon, and into the hand of his ſervants: And afterwards it ſhall be inhabited, as in the days of old, ſaith the LORD q.

q The former part of this Verſe is but the ſame which the Prophet hath often before ſaid. The latter part is a Promiſe for the Reſtauration of Egypt to ſome degrees of its former proſperity, and Liberty. The determinate time for the fulfilling of this Prophecy is told us, Ezek 29 13, 14. viz. at the end of forty Years; this we are told by Civil Hiſtorians fell out in the time of Amaſis a King of Egypt coævous with Cyrus, who was overcome by Cyrus his Son Cambyſes, who brought Egypt to be a Province belonging to the Medes and Perſians, by the fulfilling of which Prophecy the truth both of Jeremiah's and Ezekiel's Prophecies are juſtified.

27 ¶ * But fear not thou, O my ſervant Jacob, and be not diſmayed, O Iſrael; for behold, I will ſave thee from a far off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity, and Jacob ſhall return, and be in reſt and at eaſe, and none ſhall make him afraid.

* Iſa. 41. 13. & 43. 5 & 44. 2.

28 Fear thou not, O Jacob my ſervant, ſaith the LORD, for I am with thee, for I will make a full end of all the nations whither I have driven thee, but I will not make * a full end of thee, but correct thee in meaſure, yet will I ‖ not leave thee wholly unpuniſhed r.

* Chap. 10. 24.
‖ Or, not utterly cut thee off. Or, in making thee empty I will not make thee empty.

r See the Notes on Chap. 30. 10, 11. where is the ſubſtance of what is ſaid in theſe two Verſes, and almoſt the very words are repeated: the great thing to be obſerved by us, is the difference which the juſt and righteous God maketh betwixt his Puniſhments of his Church and own People, and his Puniſhments of wicked Men who are their Enemies; as there is a great difference in the root of ſuch Diſpenſations, God dealing them out to his People out of Love, that they might not be condemned with the wicked; ſo there is a great deal of difference in the meaſure and duration of their Puniſhments, the Rod of the wicked ſhall not always lie upon the backs of the righteous, and they are corrected in meaſure.

CHAP. XLVII.

The Deſtruction of the Philiſtines, Tyrians, Zidonians, and others by the Sea-ſide, 1,——7.

1 THE word of the LORD, that came to Jeremiah the prophet * againſt the Philiſtines, before that Pharaoh ſmote † Gaza a.

* Chap. 25. 20.

a In the former Chapter the Prophet foretold the Judgments of God upon the Egyptians, who were the Jews ſeeming Friends, but their real Enemies, as they were occaſions to them of Idolatry, and of a ſinful confidence in them. He comes in this Chapter to foretell the Judgments of God upon the Philiſtines who were inveterate Enemies to the Jews, againſt whom alſo Iſaiah, Chap. 14. 29. of his Prophecy, and Ezekiel and Amos propheſied, Ezek. 25. 15. Amos 1. 6. and alſo Zephaniah in Chap. 2. 4, 5. of his Prophecy. When the King of Babylon took Gaza, one of the five Cities of the Philiſtines the Scripture doth not tell us. Some think it was either in his way to Carchemiſh, or as he came back a Conquerour from the Battel at Megiddo where Joſiah was ſlain. The time when Jeremiah had this Revelation is ſet down to let us know, that it was in the time of the Philiſtines Proſperity, when the Prophet could ſee no ſuch effect exiſtent, or probable in its cauſes.

2 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, * waters riſe up * out of the north b, and ſhall be an overflowing flood, and ſhall overflow the land † and all that is therein, the city, and them that dwell therein c, then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howl d.

* Iſa. 8. 7.
* Chap. 1. 14.
† Heb the fulneſs thereof.

b Calamities and Afflictions are often in Scripture ſet out under the notion of Waters; and as the Miſeries of Egypt were ſet out by the overflowings of their great River Nilus, ſo the Calamities of the Philiſtines are expreſſed by the overflowings of the great River Euphrates, theſe Miſeries coming upon them by the Chaldeans, which were a Northern People, their Waters are ſaid to riſe up out of the North. c It is ſaid to be an overflowing Flood that ſhould overflow the Land, becauſe it was to be a ſweeping Judgment, which like a Flood ſhould carry all before it, d which ſhould produce amongſt the Inhabitants of Gaza a great howling, and lamentation.

e This is all but a deſcription of the march of an Army, ſo terrible as ſhould make Parents forget their natural affection, and flee away to ſave themſelves looking upon themſelves as loſt, and unable to protect their Children.

4 Becauſe of the day that cometh to ſpoil all the Philiſtines f, and to cut off from Tyrus and Zidon every helper that remaineth g: for the LORD will ſpoil the Philiſtines, the remnant of † the countrey of Caphtor. ∴

f The day which God hath ſet, and appointed for the ruine of the Philiſtines. g Tyre and Sidon were neighbouring to the Philiſtines, as appears from Gen. 10. 14, 15. Joel 3. 4. and ſo were often called to their help. God threatneth both to deſtroy them, and alſo thoſe that helped them; ∴ it appeareth from Gen. 10. 14. that the Philiſtines and Caphtorims were related, for their firſt Progenitors Philiſtim and Caphtorim, were both the Sons of Mizraim the Son of Ham one of the Sons of Noah. It appears from Deut. 2. 23 that they expelled the Avites, and dwelt in Hazerim to Azzah, whether their Country be what was afterwards called Cappadocia or Damiata is not much material for us to know, they were a People confederate with the Philiſtines, whom God here threatneth to deſtroy with them.

*Mic. 1. 16.
* Chap. 25. 20.
* Chap. 16. 6. and 48. 37.

5 * Baldneſs is come upon Gaza, * Askelon is cut off with the remnant of their valley g: how long wilt thou * cut thy ſelf h?

g Both Gaza and Askelon were two principal Cities belonging to the Philiſtines taken by Judah, Jud. 1. 18. we read of them, 1 Sam. 6. 17. both Amos, Zephaniah and Zechariah propheſied their ruine, Amos 1. 8. Zephaniah 2. 4, 7. Zech. 9. 5. as well as this Prophet, by the remnant of the Valley, moſt underſtand thoſe who lived in the Vallies near about Askelon. h Concerning the laſt clauſe in this Verſe there is ſome difference, whether the words ſhould be joyned with the next Verſe, and read how long wilt thou cut thy ſelf, O thou Sword of the Lord, or as they lie in our Bibles, and then the ſence is, why will you in ſo deſperate a caſe afflict your ſelves, when all your mourning will do you no good.

6 O thou ſword of the LORD, how long will it be ere thou be quiet, † put up thy ſelf into thy ſcabbard, reſt, and be ſtill i.

i Some make the words of the 6th. Verſe, to be the words of the Philiſtines in their mourning and cutting themſelves, crying to God to ſtop the Sword drawn againſt them, and to return it again into its Scabbard: Others make them the words of the Prophet, lamenting the havock which he by the eye of the Prophecy ſaw was like to be made amongſt the Philiſtines by the Chaldeans, (for good Men are affected with the Miſeries even of the worſt of Men.)

7 † How can it be quiet, ſeeing the LORD hath given it a charge againſt Aſhkelon, and againſt the ſea-ſhore? there hath he appointed it k.

k The latter Verſe muſt be expounded according to the former; for if the words of the former Verſe be underſtood as the words of the Philiſtines, thoſe of this Verſe muſt be underſtood as the words of the Prophet putting them out of hopes of the Swords ſtopping, becauſe what it did was by Commiſſion from God, which it muſt execute. If the words of the former Verſe be to be underſtood as the Prophet's words, the words of this Verſe are either the Prophet's words correcting himſelf, and concluding that this Sword could not be quiet, becauſe it was edged by God himſelf, who had given it his Commiſſion which it muſt execute: Or the words of God, letting the Prophet know that he had given this Sword its Commiſſion, and therefore it could not ſtop till Askelon and the People on the Sea-ſhore were deſtroyed by it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The Judgment of Moab, 1,—6. for their Pride, 7,—10. for their ſecurity and humane Confidence, 11,—25. eſpecially for their Contempt of God, and Inſolence towards his People, 26,—46. Their Reſtauration, 47.

THE Prophet having Chapter 46 denounced God's Judgment againſt Egypt, and againſt the Philiſtines, Chap. 47. in this Chapter he cometh to do the like againſt the Moabites. Moab the Father of theſe Moabites was the Son of Lot, Gen. 19. 37. The Moabites Countrey lay in the way the Iſraelites went to Canaan, Numb. 21. 11, 13. near the Countrey of the Ammonites. Balak was King of it when the Iſraelites paſſed by it, who ſent for the Sorcerer Balaam to curſe them, Numb. 22. 4. who Chap. 24. 5, &c. bleſſed them. They ſeduced the Iſraelites to Adultery and Idolatry, Chap. 25. 1.

* Iſa. 15. and 16. chap. 25. 21. and 27. 3. Ezek. 25. 9. Amos 2. 1.

1 Againſt * Moab, thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wo unto Nebo a, for it is ſpoiled: Kiriathaim is confounded, and taken, || Miſgab is confounded and diſmayed.

a Moab was a large Countrey and had many Cities; we ſhall have divers of them named in this Chapter; the firſt that we read of Nebo in Holy Writ is, Numb. 32. 3, 38. Reuben built both that and Kiriathaim as may be read there, Ver. 38, 39. It was alſo the Name of a Mountain, Deut. 34. 1. It ſhould ſeem that in Jeremiah's time, the Moabites had got both the poſſeſſion of Nebo, and Kiriathaim and Miſgab, of which we read no more in Scripture. It ſeems to be a City built upon ſome Hill or High place. The Prophet threatneth ruine to all theſe three Cities.

† Heb. go after thee.

2 There ſhall be no more praiſe of Moab: In Heſhbon they have deviſed evil againſt it b; Come, and let us cut it off from being a nation c; Alſo thou || ſhalt be cut down, O Madmen, the ſword ſhall † purſue thee d.

b Heſhbon was formerly the City of Sihon, Numb. 21. 26. it became afterward one of the principal Cities of the Moabites, as appeareth from Iſa. 15. 4. which maketh the learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations, think our Tranſlation not ſo good, for why ſhould they deviſe evil in Heſhbon againſt Moab, unleſs the Enemies ſate there in Counſel, when they had taken it, againſt the other parts of the Country? But poſſibly the ſence is, they ſhall no more in Heſhbon magnifie Moab, or Moab ſhall no more Glory of Heſhbon, for the Enemies had contrived the ruine of it. d Madmen was another City in the Country of Moab. Some think the ſame with Ptolomy's Madiama. To that City alſo the Prophet threatneth ruine, and deſtruction by the Sword.

3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim e, ſpoiling and great deſtruction.

e Another City of Moab, mentioned only in this place, and in Iſa. 15. 5. Some think it the ſame with Horon, where Sanballat was born, Neh. 2. 10. and 13. 28. The Prophet threatens alſo ruine and deſtruction to this City.

4 Moab is deſtroyed, her little ones have cauſed a cry to be heard f.

f Moab was both the Name of the whole Country, and of a principal City in it. Some by it here underſtand the City; by her little ones, ſome underſtand little Children; others, inferior Magiſtrates, or the common People.

5 For in the going up of Luhith, † continual weeping ſhall go up; for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies have heard a cry of deſtruction g.

g Of Luhith we read only in this place, and Iſa. 15. 5. It was a City of Moab, and ſituated upon an Hill, as appears both here and where it is mentioned in Iſaiah; ſome think that to this City the Moabites fled for Sanctuary from the Chaldeans, and flying made ſo great an out-cry that their Enemies who purſued them heard their cry.

|| Or, a naked tree.
* Chap. 17. 6.

6 Flee, ſave your lives, and be like || the * heath in the wilderneſs h.

h It is of no great moment whether we underſtand theſe as the words of the Moabites, calling one to another to flee, and ſave their Lives, though they loſt all they had, and left themſelves as bare as a naked Tree, or as the words of the Prophets ſpeaking to the Moabites to the ſame ſence.

* Chap. 49. 3.

7 ¶ For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy works and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken i, and Chemoſh ſhall go forth into captivity with his * prieſts and his princes together k.

i Whether by works in this place be meant their Riches got by the labour of their hands; or their Idols which often are called by way of Defamation, the Works of their own hands, or their fortifications, is not much conſiderable; a confidence in Creatures, oppoſed to a confidence in God is doubtleſs the ſin here intended, whatever the ground of it was, whether their Idols, or Riches or fortified places. k Chemoſh was their principal Idol as appears by Numb. 21. 29. Jud. 11. 24. 1 King. 11. 7. 33. 2 Kings 23. 13. God ſheweth them the vanity of this Idolatry, by telling them, that this Idol ſhould go into Captivity, and be ſo far from being able to protect them, that he ſhould not be able to protect himſelf or his own Prieſts, or the Princes that favoured him.

8 And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and no city ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plain ſhall be deſtroyed, as the LORD hath ſpoken l.

l That is, all the parts of the Country of Moab, and all the Cities, as well thoſe that ſtood upon Hills, and mountainous places, as thoſe that ſtood in Valleys; becauſe or for the Lord had ſaid it, (for ſo the Particle we tranſlate as is better tranſlated.)

9 Give wings unto Moab, that it may flee, and get away m: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, without any to dwell therein n.

m That is, the Moabites had need of Wings like a Bird to eſcape that ruine which is coming upon them. n Yea, if they had wings they ſhould not eſcape, for the Lord is reſolved that the Cities of Moab ſhall be all brought to deſolation, ſo as no Inhabitants ſhall be left in them.

* See Judg. 5. 23.

10 * Curſed be he that doth the work of the LORD || deceitfully o, and curſed be he that keepeth back his ſword from blood p.

o Theſe words ſeem like the words of the Prophet to the Chaldeans, inciting them to go on valiantly againſt the Moabites, calling it the work of the Lord, which he would have done, and to which he had called them. p There is a time to withhold our hands from ſhedding Blood, and that is always when we have not a ſpecial Authority, and call from God to it; and there is a time when God will curſe thoſe that do ſo withhold their hands, that time is, when God doth require the ſhedding of it.

* Zeph. 1, 12.

11 ¶ Moab hath been at eaſe from his youth q, and he hath * ſettled on his lees r, and hath not been emptied from veſſel to veſſel, neither hath he gone into captivity s: therefore his taſte † remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed t.

q The Moabites ever ſince they began to be a People, have been a quiet People, not exerciſed with Wars, and Enemies making Inroads upon them. r Like to a Cask of Wine, that hath not been Rack'd, but hath continued in the ſame ſtate. s He follows the Metaphor of Wine which is drawn out from Veſſel to Veſſel, when it is drawn off the Lees. It is expounded by the next words, Neither hath he gone into Captivity. t And this is the reaſon why they retain their old ſins, Pride, Preſumption, Luxury, and old wickedneſſes, as Wine while it remaineth in the Lees retains more its nature, ſtrength, and colour, than when it is once rackt.

12 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will ſend unto him wanderers, that ſhall cauſe him to wander n, and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break his bottles o.

n By the wanderers here mentioned, the Chaldeans are moſt certainly underſtood, who wandered from their own Country to conquer other People, the word is variouſly tranſlated, Vagrants, Travellers, Removers, &c. who ſhall conquer the Moabites, and carry them into captivity. o He had before compared the Moabites, to Wine ſettled upon the Lees, here he ſaith, that God would ſend thoſe that ſhould not only diſturb and rowl them, but ruine and deſtroy them.

13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh p, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of * Bethel their confidence q. * 1 Kings 12.29.

p It is a natural, and a penal ſhame which is here ſpoken of, we are naturally aſhamed when we have repoſed a great confidence in, and made great boaſts of a thing, which when it comes to be tried, proveth of no uſe, but miſchievous to us. Chemoſh was their great Idol, in which the Moabites had great confidence, and of which they boaſted, the Prophet tells them they ſhould be aſhamed of this Idol, or for this Idol; q as the Iſraelites, that is the Ten Tribes were aſhamed of, or for the golden Calves, which Jeroboam ſet up at Dan and Bethel, which were the cauſe of ruine to thoſe Tribes. Confidences in any thing but in God alone in a time of danger will bring both natural and penal ſhame.

* Iſa.15.6. 14 ¶ How ſay ye, * We are mighty and ſtrong men for the war r.

r How can ye juſtifie what you ſay, or why ſay you ſo, or to what purpoſe do you brag of your valour.

15 Moab is ſpoiled s, and gone up out of her cities t, and † his choſen young men are gone down to the ſlaughter u, ſaith the king whoſe name is the LORD of hoſts w. † Heb. the choice of.

ſ Your Country will be waſted, and ſpoiled. t The Inhabitants of it ſhall be all driven out of their Cities. The Heb. is and her cities, it or he is gone up. So the ſence may be Moab and her Cities are all ſpoiled, and he (that is) the Enemy is gone up. u And the ſtrong, and mighty Men ſhe boaſted of, and gloried in, are gone to the Battel, as Oxen or Sheep to a Slaughter-houſe. w I do not ſpeak this of my ſelf, I cannot of my ſelf tell things that ſhall come to paſs hereafter, but the words I ſay are the words of him who is the Lord of all the Armies of Heaven and Earth, who both knoweth what ſhall be, and is able to effect what he ſaith.

16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt x.

x Joſephus tells us this deſtruction came upon the Moabites five Years after the Siege of Jeruſalem; but if it were longer we muſt conſider that he who ſpeaketh is that God to whom a thouſand Years is but as one day.

y The Prophet having ſpoken of Moab's Calamity, as already come upon him, or at leaſt very near, calls to his Friends to come and condole with him, as is uſually done in caſe of ſome Calamity befallen to a Friend. z All ye that know how terrible Moab hath been to others, and how famous for mighty and ſtrong Men. Say, how is this potent Nation, and this People that hath been ſuch a Rod againſt others, or hath ruled over ſo many others, broken; for both a Staff and a Rod are as well Enſigns of Power and Government, as inſtruments to puniſh Offenders.

18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory a, and ſit in thirſt b: for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee c, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

a Of this Dibon we read, Numb. 21. 30. It was a Land for Cattle, Numb. 32. 3. both Dibon and Aroer, and Ataroh were built by the Children of Gad, to whoſe Lot it fell, Ver. 34. as alſo to the Reubenites in part, Joſh. 13, 17. It ſhould ſeem that the Moabites were now come into the poſſeſſion of it, either by conqueſt, or upon the Aſſyrians taking the Ten Tribes. b It was a place well watered otherwiſe it had not been fit for Cattel) God threatneth that ſhe ſhould be in thirſt, that is driven into ſome dry, barren Countries. c For the King of Babylon whom God had appointed to ſpoil all Moab, and ſhall deſtroy thee alſo, and thy ſtrong holds ſhall not ſecure thee.

19 O † inhabitant of Aroer d, ſtand by the way and eſpy, ask him that fleeth, and her that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done e? † Heb. inhabitreſs.

d Aroer was a City in the Lot of Gad and Reuben, Numb. 32. 34. In David's time it was in the hand of the Jews, 1 Sam. 30.28. but in Iſaiah's time, it belonged to Syria, Iſa. 17. 2. and here it is reckoned to the Moabites. e The Inhabitants of it, are call'd to ſtand by the way, and ſeeing the Moabites flying, to ask what News? Others think that Aroer was at this time a City of the Ammonites; and here called unto to ſee their Neighbours the Moabites fleeing before their Enemies.

20 Moab is confounded, for it is broken down: * howl and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is ſpoiled f. * Iſa.16.7.

f Arnon was the Name of a River, Numb. 21. 14. Deut. 2 36. Joſ. 12.1. It was the border of Moab whither Balak went to meet Balaam, Numb. 22. 36. probably the adjacent Country or City might take its Name from the River.

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath.

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Beth-diblathaim.

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon.

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near g.

g God threatneth Vengeance to come upon all Moab, which had great Plains, Numb. 31. 12. and 33. 48. For the Names of theſe Cities, and thoſe mentioned, Ver. 22, 23, 24. Some of them we read of in other places of Holy Writ. Others we read not of, neither is it material for us to know their ſituation, they are not at this day to be known by their old Names, they are all here mentioned as Cities at this time belonging to the Moabites, to whom this Vengeance is threatned, and not to them only, but to all other Cities of the Land of Moab where-ever ſituate.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the LORD h.

h That is the beauty and the ſtrength of Moab. So theſe two terms often ſignifie in Holy Writ, the Horn being much the Beauty of ſome Beaſts, and that part of their Bodies by which they both do injury to others, and defend themſelves from the aſſaults of others God here declares that Moab ſhould both loſe its Glory and Beauty, and alſo all the power it formerly had to defend it ſelf, or offend others.

26 * Make ye him drunken i: for he magnified himſelf againſt the LORD k: Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion l. * Chap. 25. 27.

i Either make ye him to ſtagger like a Drunken Man (the cauſe being put for the effect) or fill him with the intoxicating Wine Cup of God's Vengeance, with the effects of God's Wrath. k Becauſe of his Pride, and exalting himſelf againſt the Lord, as if he had been ſtronger than he, and ſo out of the reach of God's Power. l As drunken Men vomit, and ſtagger, and fall, and wallow in their Vomit, ſo let the Moabites fall by the Sword, wallow in their Blood, and like drunken Men be mockt at, and had in deriſion by all thoſe who ſee what their Vaunts come to, and what Vengeance they have pulled upon themſelves.

27 For * was not Iſrael a deriſion to thee m? was he found among thieves n? for ſince thou ſpeakeſt of him, || thou skippedſt for joy o. * Zeph. 2. 8. || Or, thou movedſt thyſelf.

m It is an ill thing to mock at the Miſeries of others, eſpecially ſuch as we have ſome relation to; the Moabites were deſcended from Lot who was nearly related to Abraham the Father of the Jews, and ought not to have mocked at them, but to have pitied their Neighbours and Kindred; they either mocked at the Ten Tribes when they were carried into Captivity by Salmanaſar or at Judah captivated by the King of Babylon. God threatneth the Ammonites, Ezek. 25. 6. and the Edomites by Obadiah for the ſame miſdemeanour. n Why didſt thou deal by Iſrael as Men deal by Thieves, when they are brought to ſhame? Ought not he to have been by thee accounted in a better rank than that of Thieves? o Inſtead of compaſſionating the Jews in their Calamity, thou never ſpeakeſt of them but with joy and triumph. Others make a quite other ſence, viz. For thoſe words againſt him, thou thy ſelf ſhalt wander. But the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations obſerves well, that the word in the form here uſed will not ſo well bear it, though the Verb doth in its primary ſence ſignifie to wander.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock p, and be like the dove that maketh her neſts in the ſides of the holes mouth q.

p Still the Prophet ſpeaks of the Moabites, as a People whoſe Armies were routed, and calls to them to leave their Houſes in Cities, not promiſing themſelves any ſecurity, either to or from their Houſes, or from the Walls of their Cities, but to get them to Rocks, which are naturally fortified, and from whence (if from any place) ſecurity might be promiſed. q And he commends to them the natural ſagacity of a Dove, which being a feeble Creature, and not able to incounter an Hawk or Eagle, makes her ſelf a Neſt in the ſides of ſome Rock where ſhe may be at ſafety.

29 We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftineſs and his arrogancy, and his Pride, and the hanghtineſs of his heart r.

r There is a Paſſage, Iſa. 16. 6, &c. concerning Moab, very little differing from this; Iſaiah lived ſome Years before this Prophet, who yet complaineth of them for the ſame ſins, ſo as they were not at all reformed. God ſaith he had heard of their Pride and Arrogancy; a Vice which commonly attendeth eaſe and proſperity, and is exceeding odious in the ſight of God, ſo as a wicked Man is often in Scripture ſet out under the notion of a proud Man.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the LORD s, but it ſhall not be ſo t, || his lies ſhall not ſo effect it u. || Or, those on whom he ſtays. (Heb. his bars) do not right.

ſ I know his Rage, either againſt Iſrael, or other People, t but he ſhall never execute it, or bring to paſs what he thinks to do. u There is no truſting to what he ſaith, his Boaſtings and his Confidence are but Lyes, and ſhall never effect his deſigns.

31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab, mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kir-herez w.

w Though wicked Men rejoyce, and triumph in the ruine of good Men, yet their Charity ſuffereth them not to do the like, but ingageth them to mourn for them in the day of their Affliction. Jeremy declareth his compaſſion toward theſe Moabites, tho they derided the Jews when they were carried into Captivity: Nay, he mourns upon the proſpect of their Miſery at ſome diſtance, when the ſight of the Jews preſent Calamity would not affect the Moabites with any compaſſion at all. We find the like compaſſion in another Prophet, Iſaiah, Chap. 16. 11. Ver. 7. there it is called Kir-haraſeth, which was a City of Moab, as we read, 2 Kings 3 25.

32 O vine of Sibmah x, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer y; thy plants are gone over the ſea z, they reach even to the ſea of Jazer a, the ſpoiler is faln upon thy ſummer fruits, and upon thy vintage.

x We read of this Vine of Sibmah alſo, Iſa. 16. 8, 9. both Sibmah, and Jahaza were places in the portion of Reuben, Joſ. 13. 18, 19, Sibmah was doubtleſs a place famous in thoſe days for Vines, and Vineyards. y This Jahaza or Jazer was as it ſhould ſeem firſt taken, and carried into captivity, which cauſed a great Lamentation. The Prophet foretells ſuch a weeping for Sibmah, as was for Jazer. z By plants he means the Inhabitants of Sibmah, which he propheſieth ſhould be carried into Captivity over the dead Sea. a As an Aggravation of the Judgment that ſhould come upon them, God by his Prophets tells them that the ſpoiler ſhould come upon them in their Vintage and Harveſt time.

* Iſa. 16. 10.

33 And * joy and gladneſs, is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes, none ſhall tread with ſhouting, their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting b.

b The time of Harveſt and Vintage being times when the Husbandmen were wont to reap the fruit of all their labours the preceeding Year, were times of great joy ordinarily, but the Prophet foretells them of a Year when there ſhould be no ſuch rejoycing, for they ſhould have no Wine from the Wine-preſſes, there ſhould be no ſhouting as uſed to be in the time of Harveſt and of Vintage.

* Iſa. 15. 4, 5, 6.

34 From the cry of Heſhbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz have they uttered their voice, * from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old c: for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be † deſolate d.

c Vid. Iſa. 13. 5. d Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Jahaz, and Zoar, and Horonaim; were all Cities of Moab who are here all threatned with ruine; with the Country about Nimrim, which Nimrim is mentioned no where in Scripture, but here, and in Iſa. 15. 6. nor are Interpreters well agreed, whether in this place it be the Name of a River, or a Lake, or a City. The ſence is, the whole Country of Moab ſhall be deſtroyed, the Cry ſhall reach from one part of the Country to another, either the Cry of the Inhabitants, or of their Enemies purſuing them with a great noiſe.

* Iſa. 15. 2. & 16. 12.

35 Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the LORD, * him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods e.

e That is every one, or ſome of all orders, for the Moabites generally were Idolaters) though the expreſſing it under this notion may hint to us alſo one great cauſe of this Judgments coming upon them, viz. their Idolatry.

* Iſa. 16. 11.
* Iſa. 15. 7.

36 Therefore * mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: becauſe the * riches that he hath gotten are periſhed g.

g The Prophet means ſuch Pipes as they were wont to uſe at Funerals, and other ſad occaſions, to play doleful Leſſons upon. See Iſa. 15. 5. becauſe of the great change in the ſtate of this poor People, which had got together a great deal of Wealth which is all periſhed.

* Iſa. 15. 2, 3. Chap. 47. 5

37 * For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard † clipt: upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loyns ſackcloth h.

h Theſe Phraſes are expounded in the beginning of the following Verſe, There ſhall be Lamentations generally upon all the houſe tops of Moab. Shaving of the Hair, and clipping the Beards, and cutting themſelves, were Rites and Ceremonies of Mourning uſed by theſe Heathens.

38 There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe-tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſel, wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the LORD i.

i We met with the ſame Phraſe applied to Coniah, Chap. 22. 27. The meaning is, I have broken Moab all pieces, as People uſe to do Veſſels they care not for, they never go about to mend ſuch a Veſſel, but daſh it in pieces againſt ſome Stones or Walls.

39 They ſhall howl, ſaying, How is it broken down? how hath Moab turned the back † with ſhame k? ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion, and a diſmaying to all them about him l.

k Thoſe that formerly lived in Moab, when it was in its Glory, ſhall lament to ſee how the caſe is altered with it, that all its Glory is broken down, and they that were wont to conquer their Enemies, turn their backs with ſhame upon their Enemies. l And Moab that was wont to be the praiſe and admiration of all People, was become an aſtoniſhment, and an object of deriſion and ſcoffing to them.

* Deut. 28. 49. Chap. 49. 22. Dan. 7. 4. Hoſ. 8. 1. Hab. 1. 8.

40 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, * he m ſhall fly as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab m.

m Nebuchadnezzar ſhall come upon Moab ſwiftly, and as an Eagle covereth the Prey which he hath taken with his Wings, ſo Nebuchadnezzar, ſhall ſpread himſelf over Moab.

|| Or, the cities.
* Chap. 49. 22.

41 || Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurpriſed n, and the * mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs o.

n Whether Kerioth here be the proper Name of a City, as it is Ver. 24. Or an appellative Noun ſignifying Cities, is doubtful. The latter ſeems beſt to agree to this place, The Cities and the ſtrong holds are all taken, and o though Moab hath in it many mighty and valiant Men, yet their Hearts will be full of fear, or ready to fail them, like a Womans who is in her Travail and hath great and ſore pains.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people p, becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the LORD q.

p That is for a time; ſee Ver. 47. Or being ſuch a People as it hath been, ſo full of ſplendor and glory. q The reaſon given is the ſame with that Ver. 26.

* Iſa. 24. 17, 18.

43 * Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare r, ſhall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the LORD.

r Theſe three words, Fear, Pit, Snare, ſignifie no more than a variety of dangers that ſhould be on all ſides of them, ſo as if any eſcaped one danger, he ſhould preſently meet with another, for this was the time when the Lord was reſolved to puniſh all the Inhabitants of the Land of Moab.

44 He that fleeth from the fear, ſhall fall into the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the LORD.

s Heſhbon was a great City, and as it ſhould ſeem, a place of ſome force, the War being in the Country, they made Heſhbon the place of their Sanctuary. t But the Prophet applying to the Chaldeans what was ſaid in Moſes his time, Num. 21. 28. propheſieth, That Heſhbon alſo ſhould be deſtroyed and the fire ſhould devour the crown of the head, that is the glory of the brave rebelling Gallants, called in the Hebrew the Children of Noiſe.

46 * Wo be unto thee, O Moab, the people of Chemoſh periſheth, for thy ſons are taken † captives; and thy daughters captives u.

u The Prophet cloſing the threatning part of his Prophecy againſt Moab, repeateth the ſame thing, which he had often ſaid, that the Moabites ſhould be carried into Captivity by the King of Babylon, and denounceth a woe unto them upon that account.

47 ¶ Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, ſaith the LORD w. Thus far is the judgment of Moab x.

w Some think this Prophecy was fulfilled upon the return of the Jews out of Babylon, when the Jews inhabited the Land of Moab, Zeph. 2. 9. but this doth not ſeem to be the bringing again the Captivity of Moab, but of Judah; beſides in that place it is ſaid that Moab ſhould be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of Nettles and Salt pits, and a perpetual deſolation. It is therefore rather to be underſtood of a ſpiritual reduction of them, by calling ſome of them under the Kingdom of the Meſſiah as the Jewiſh Doctors themſelves interpret it. Some think this a promiſe rather reſpecting the Jews than the Moabites, it is ſaid Ver. 2. 9. That the remnant of the Lords People ſhould poſſeſs Moab, and Ver. 11. that all the Iſles of the heathen ſhould worſhip God. a Theſe laſt words are doubtleſs to be interpreted rather as a concluſion of this Prophecy againſt Moab, than (as ſome would have it) as a limitation of the time how long this Judgment on Moab ſhould indure, as if thus far, were as much as thus long.

a The Ammonites were the Poſterity of Ben-Ammi, Lot's inceſtuous Child, by his younger Daughter, Gen. 19. 38. Their Country was near the Jews Country, the Jews in their Journey from Egypt to Canaan to poſſeſs it, paſſed by their Country, but were by God forbidden to meddle with it becauſe he had given it to the Children of Lot, Deut. 2. 19. but they proved bad Neighbours p It is a natural, and a penal ſhame which is here ſpoken of, we are naturally aſhamed when we have repoſed a great confidence in, and made great boaſts of a thing, which when it comes to be tried, proveth of no uſe, but miſchievous to us. Chemoſh was their great Idol, in which the Moabites had great confidence, and of which they boaſted, the Prophet tells them they ſhould be aſhamed of this Idol, or for this Idol; q as the Iſraelites, that is the Ten Tribes were aſhamed of, or for the golden Calves, which Jeroboam ſet up at Dan and Bethel, which were the cauſe of ruine to thoſe Tribes. Confidences in any thing but in God alone in a time of danger will bring both natural and penal ſhame.

13 And Moab ſhall be aſhamed of Chemoſh p, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of * Bethel their confidence q.

* 1 Kings 12. 29.

* Iſa. 16. 6.

14 ¶ How ſay ye, * We are mighty and ſtrong men for the war r.

r How can ye juſtifie what you ſay, or why ſay you ſo, or to what purpoſe do you brag of your valour.

ſ Your Country will be waſted, and ſpoiled. t The Inhabitants of it ſhall be all driven out of their Cities. The Heb. is and her cities, it or he is gone up. So the ſence may be Moab and her Cities are all ſpoiled, and he (that is) the Enemy is gone up. u And the ſtrong, and mighty Men ſhe boaſted of, and gloried in, are gone to the Battel, as Oxen or Sheep to a Slaughter-houſe. w I do not ſpeak this of my ſelf, I cannot of my ſelf tell things that ſhall come to paſs hereafter, but the words I ſay are the words of him who is the Lord of all the Armies of Heaven and Earth, who both knoweth what ſhall be, and is able to effect what he ſaith.

16 The calamity of Moab is near to come, and his affliction haſteth faſt x.

x Joſephus tells us this deſtruction came upon the Moabites five Years after the Siege of Jeruſalem; but if it were longer we muſt conſider that he who ſpeaketh is that God to whom a thouſand Years is but as one day.

y The Prophet having ſpoken of Moab's Calamity, as already come upon him, or at leaſt very near, calls to his Friends to come and condole with him, as is uſually done in caſe of ſome Calamity befallen to a Friend. z All ye that know how terrible Moab hath been to others, and how famous for mighty and ſtrong Men. Say, how is this potent Nation, and this People that hath been ſuch a Rod againſt others, or hath ruled over ſo many others, broken; for both a Staff and a Rod are as well Enſigns of Power and Government, as inſtruments to puniſh Offenders.

18 Thou daughter that doſt inhabit Dibon, come down from thy glory a, and ſit in thirſt b: for the ſpoiler of Moab ſhall come upon thee c, and he ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong holds.

a Of this Dibon we read, Numb. 21. 30. It was a Land for Cattle, Numb. 32. 3. both Dibon and Aroer, and Ataroh were built by the Children of Gad, to whoſe Lot it fell, Ver. 34. as alſo to the Reubenites in part, Joſh. 13, 17. It ſhould ſeem that the Moabites were now come into the poſſeſſion of it, either by conqueſt, or upon the Aſſyrians taking the Ten Tribes. b It was a place well watered otherwiſe it had not been fit for Cattel) God threatneth that ſhe ſhould be in thirſt, that is driven into ſome dry, barren Countries. c For the King of Babylon whom God had appointed to ſpoil all Moab, and ſhall deſtroy thee alſo, and thy ſtrong holds ſhall not ſecure thee.

19 O † inhabitant of Aroer d, ſtand by the way and eſpy, ask him that fleeth, and her that eſcapeth, and ſay, What is done e?

d Aroer was a City in the Lot of Gad and Reuben, Numb. 32. 34. In David's time it was in the hand of the Jews, 1 Sam. 30. 28. but in Iſaiah's time, it belonged to Syria, Iſa. 17. 2. and here it is reckoned to the Moabites. e The Inhabitants of it, are call'd to ſtand by the way, and ſeeing the Moabites flying, to ask what News? Others think that Aroer was at this time a City of the Ammonites; and here called unto to ſee their Neighbours the Moabites fleeing before their Enemies.

* Iſa. 16. 7.

20 Moab is confounded, for it is broken down: * howl and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is ſpoiled f.

f Arnon was the Name of a River, Numb. 21. 14. Deut. 2. 36. Joſ. 12. 1. It was the border of Moab whither Balak went to meet Balaam, Numb. 22. 36. probably the adjacent Country or City might take its Name from the River.

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country; upon Holon, and upon Jahazah, and upon Mephaath.

22 And upon Dibon, and upon Nebo, and upon Beth-diblathaim.

23 And upon Kiriathaim, and upon Beth-gamul, and upon Beth-meon.

24 And upon Kerioth, and upon Bozrah, and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far or near g.

g God threatneth Vengeance to come upon all Moab, which had great Plains, Numb. 31. 12. and 33. 48. For the Names of theſe Cities, and thoſe mentioned, Ver. 22, 23, 24. Some of them we read of in other places of Holy Writ. Others we read not of, neither is it material for us to know their ſituation, they are not at this day to be known by their old Names, they are all here mentioned as Cities at this time belonging to the Moabites, to whom this Vengeance is threatned, and not to them only, but to all other Cities of the Land of Moab where-ever ſituate.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, ſaith the LORD h.

h That is the beauty and the ſtrength of Moab. So theſe two terms often ſignifie in Holy Writ, the Horn being much the Beauty of ſome Beaſts, and that part of their Bodies by which they both do injury to others, and defend themſelves from the aſſaults of others. God here declares that Moab ſhould both loſe its Glory and Beauty, and alſo all the power it formerly had to defend it ſelf, or offend others.

26 * Make ye him drunken i: for he magnified himſelf againſt the LORD k: Moab alſo ſhall wallow in his vomit, and he alſo ſhall be in deriſion l.

* Chap. 25. 27.

i Either make ye him to ſtagger like a Drunken Man (the cauſe being put for the effect) or fill him with the intoxicating Wine Cup of God's Vengeance, with the effects of God's Wrath. k Becauſe of his Pride, and exalting himſelf againſt the Lord, as if he had been ſtronger than he, and ſo out of the reach of God's Power. l As drunken Men vomit, and ſtagger, and fall, and wallow in their Vomit, ſo let the Moabites fall by the Sword, wallow in their Blood, and like drunken Men be mockt at, and had in deriſion by all thoſe who ſee what their Vaunts come to, and what Vengeance they have pulled upon themſelves.

27 For * was not Iſrael a deriſion to thee m? was he found among thieves n? for ſince thou ſpeakeſt of him, || thou ſkippedſt for joy o.

* Zeph. 2. 8.

m It is an ill thing to mock at the Miſeries of others, eſpecially ſuch as we have ſome relation to; the Moabites were deſcended from Lot who was nearly related to Abraham the Father of the Jews, and ought not to have mocked at them, but to have pitied their Neighbours and Kindred; they either mocked at the Ten Tribes when they were carried into Captivity by Salmanaſar or at Judah captivated by the King of Babylon. God threatneth the Ammonites, Ezek. 25. 6. and the Edomites by Obadiah for the ſame miſdemeanour. n Why didſt thou deal by Iſrael as Men deal by Thieves, when they are brought to ſhame? Ought not he to have been by thee accounted in a better rank than that of Thieves? o Inſtead of compaſſionating the Jews in their Calamity, thou never ſpeakeſt of them but with joy and triumph. Others make a quite other ſence, viz. For thoſe words againſt him, thou thy ſelf ſhalt wander. But the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations obſerves well, that the word in the form here uſed will not ſo well bear it, though the Verb doth in its primary ſence ſignifie to wander.

p Still the Prophet ſpeaks of the Moabites, as a People whoſe Armies were routed, and calls to them to leave their Houſes in Cities, not promiſing themſelves any ſecurity, either to or from their Houſes, or from the Walls of their Cities, but to get them to Rocks, which are naturally fortified, and from whence (if from any place) ſecurity might be promiſed. q And he commends to them the natural ſagacity of a Dove, which being a feeble Creature, and not able to incounter an Hawk or Eagle, makes her ſelf a Neſt in the ſides of ſome Rock where ſhe may be at ſafety.

29 We have heard the pride of Moab, (he is exceeding proud) his loftineſs and his arrogancy, and his Pride, and the haughtineſs of his heart r.

r There is a Paſſage, Iſa. 16. 6, &c. concerning Moab, very little differing from this; Iſaiah lived ſome Years before this Prophet, who yet complaineth of them for the ſame ſins, ſo as they were not at all reformed. God ſaith he had heard of their Pride and Arrogancy; a Vice which commonly attendeth eaſe and proſperity, and is exceeding odious in the ſight of God, ſo as a wicked Man is often in Scripture ſet out under the notion of a proud Man.

30 I know his wrath, ſaith the LORD s, but it ſhall not be ſo t, || his lies ſhall not ſo effect it u.

ſ I know his Rage, either againſt Iſrael, or other People, t but he ſhall never execute it, or bring to paſs what he thinks to do. u There is no truſting to what he ſaith, his Boaſtings and his Confidence are but Lyes, and ſhall never effect his deſigns.

31 Therefore will I howl for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab, mine heart ſhall mourn for the men of Kir-herez w.

w Though wicked Men rejoyce, and triumph in the ruine of good Men, yet their Charity ſuffereth them not to do the like, but ingageth them to mourn for them in the day of their Affliction. Jeremy declareth his compaſſion toward theſe Moabites, tho they derided the Jews when they were carried into Captivity: Nay, he mourns upon the proſpect of their Miſery at ſome diſtance, when the ſight of the Jews preſent Calamity would not affect the Moabites with any compaſſion at all. We find the like compaſſion in another Prophet, Iſaiah, Chap. 16. 11. Ver. 7. there it is called Kir-haraſeth, which was a City of Moab, as we read, 2 Kings 3 25.

32 O vine of Sibmah x, I will weep for thee with the weeping of Jazer y; thy plants are gone over the ſea z, they reach even to the ſea of Jazer a, the ſpoiler is faln upon thy ſummer fruits, and upon thy vintage.

x We read of this Vine of Sibmah alſo, Iſa. 16. 8, 9. both Sibmah, and Jahaza were places in the portion of Reuben, Joſ. 13. 18, 19, Sibmah was doubtleſs a place famous in thoſe days for Vines, and Vineyards. y This Jahaza or Jazer was as it ſhould ſeem firſt taken, and carried into captivity, which cauſed a great Lamentation. The Prophet foretells ſuch a weeping for Sibmah, as was for Jazer. z By plants he means the Inhabitants of Sibmah, which he propheſieth ſhould be carried into Captivity over the dead Sea. a As an Aggravation of the Judgment that ſhould come upon them, God by his Prophets tells them that the ſpoiler ſhould come upon them in their Vintage and Harveſt time.

* Iſa. 16. 10.

33 And * joy and gladneſs, is taken from the plentiful field, and from the land of Moab, and I have cauſed wine to fail from the wine-preſſes, none ſhall tread with ſhouting, their ſhouting ſhall be no ſhouting b.

b The time of Harveſt and Vintage being times when the Husbandmen were wont to reap the fruit of all their labours the preceeding Year, were times of great joy ordinarily, but the Prophet foretells them of a Year when there ſhould be no ſuch rejoycing, for they ſhould have no Wine from the Wine-preſſes, there ſhould be no ſhouting as uſed to be in the time of Harveſt and of Vintage.

* Iſa. 15. 4, 5, 6. † Heb. deſolations

34 From the cry of Heſhbon even unto Elealeh, and even unto Jahaz have they uttered their voice, * from Zoar even unto Horonaim, as an heifer of three years old c: for the waters alſo of Nimrim ſhall be † deſolate d.

c Vid. Iſa. 13. 5. d Heſhbon, and Elealeh, and Jahaz, and Zoar, and Horonaim; were all Cities of Moab who are here all threatned with ruine; with the Country about Nimrim, which Nimrim is mentioned no where in Scripture, but here, and in Iſa. 15. 6. nor are Interpreters well agreed, whether in this place it be the Name of a River, or a Lake, or a City. The ſence is, the whole Country of Moab ſhall be deſtroyed, the Cry ſhall reach from one part of the Country to another, either the Cry of the Inhabitants, or of their Enemies purſuing them with a great noiſe.

* Iſa. 15 2. & 16. 12.

35 Moreover, I will cauſe to ceaſe in Moab, ſaith the LORD, * him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incenſe to his gods e.

e That is every one, or ſome of all orders, for the Moabites generally were Idolaters) though the expreſſing it under this notion may hint to us alſo one great cauſe of this Judgments coming upon them, viz. their Idolatry.

* Iſa. 16. 11. * Iſa. 15. 7.

36 Therefore * mine heart ſhall ſound for Moab like pipes, and mine heart ſhall ſound like pipes for the men of Kir-heres: becauſe the * riches that he hath gotten are periſhed g.

g The Prophet means ſuch Pipes as they were wont to uſe at Funerals, and other ſad occaſions, to play doleful Leſſons upon. See Iſa. 15. 5. becauſe of the great change in the ſtate of this poor People, which had got together a great deal of Wealth which is all periſhed.

* Iſa. 15. 2, 3. Chap. 47. 5 † Heb. diminiſhed.

37 * For every head ſhall be bald, and every beard † clipt: upon all the hands ſhall be cuttings, and upon the loyns ſackcloth h.

h Theſe Phraſes are expounded in the beginning of the following Verſe, There ſhall be Lamentations generally upon all the houſe tops of Moab. Shaving of the Hair, and clipping the Beards, and cutting themſelves, were Rites and Ceremonies of Mourning uſed by theſe Heathens.

38 There ſhall be lamentation generally upon all the houſe-tops of Moab, and in the ſtreets thereof: for I have broken Moab like a veſſel, wherein is no pleaſure, ſaith the LORD i.

i We met with the ſame Phraſe applied to Coniah, Chap. 22. 27. The meaning is, I have broken Moab all pieces, as People uſe to do Veſſels they care not for, they never go about to mend ſuch a Veſſel, but daſh it in pieces againſt ſome Stones or Walls.

39 They ſhall howl, ſaying, How is it broken down? how hath Moab turned the back † with ſhame k? ſo ſhall Moab be a deriſion, and a diſmaying to all them about him l.

k Thoſe that formerly lived in Moab, when it was in its Glory, ſhall lament to ſee how the caſe is altered with it, that all its Glory is broken down, and they that were wont to conquer their Enemies, turn their backs with ſhame upon their Enemies. l And Moab that was wont to be the praiſe and admiration of all People, was become an aſtoniſhment, and an object of deriſion and ſcoffing to them.

* Deut 28. 49. Chap. 49. 22. Dan. 7. 4. Hoſ. 8. 1. Hab. 1. 8.

40 For thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, * he m ſhall fly as an eagle, and ſhall ſpread his wings over Moab m.

m Nebuchadnezzar ſhall come upon Moab ſwiftly, and as an Eagle covereth the Prey which he hath taken with his Wings, ſo Nebuchadnezzar, ſhall ſpread himſelf over Moab.

|| Or, the cities. * Chap. 49. 22.

41 || Kerioth is taken, and the ſtrong holds are ſurpriſed n, and the * mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day ſhall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs o.

n Whether Kerioth here be the proper Name of a City, as it is Ver. 24. Or an appellative Noun ſignifying Cities, is doubtful. The latter ſeems beſt to agree to this place, The Cities and the ſtrong holds are all taken, and o though Moab hath in it many mighty and valiant Men, yet their Hearts will be full of fear, or ready to fail them, like a Womans who is in her Travail and hath great and ſore pains.

42 And Moab ſhall be deſtroyed from being a people p, becauſe he hath magnified himſelf againſt the LORD q.

p That is for a time; ſee Ver. 47. Or being ſuch a People as it hath been, ſo full of ſplendor and glory. q The reaſon given is the ſame with that Ver. 26.

* Iſa. 24. 17, 18.

43 * Fear, and the pit, and the ſnare r, ſhall be upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, ſaith the LORD.

r Theſe three words, Fear, Pit, Snare, ſignifie no more than a variety of dangers that ſhould be on all ſides of them, ſo as if any eſcaped one danger, he ſhould preſently meet with another, for this was the time when the Lord was reſolved to puniſh all the Inhabitants of the Land of Moab.

44 He that fleeth from the fear, ſhall fall into the pit, and he that getteth up out of the pit, ſhall be taken in the ſnare: for I will bring upon it, even upon Moab, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the LORD.

45 They that fled ſtood under the ſhadow of Heſhbon, becauſe of the force s: but a fire ſhall come forth out of Heſhbon, and a flame from the midſt of Sihon, and ſhall devour the corner of Moab, and the crown of the head of the † tumultuous ones t.

s Heſhbon was a great City, and as it ſhould ſeem, a place of ſome force, the War being in the Country, they made Heſhbon the place of their Sanctuary. t But the Prophet applying to the Chaldeans what was ſaid in Moſes his time, Num 21. 28. propheſieth, That Heſhbon alſo ſhould be deſtroyed and the fire ſhould devour the crown of the head, that is the glory of the brave rebelling Gallants, called in the Hebrew the Children of Noiſe.

* Numb. 21. 29. † Heb in captivity.

46 * Wo be unto thee, O Moab, the people of Chemoſh periſheth, for thy ſons are taken † captives; and thy daughters captives u.

u The Prophet cloſing the threatning part of his Prophecy againſt Moab, repeateth the ſame thing, which he had often ſaid, that the Moabites ſhould be carried into Captivity by the King of Babylon, and denounceth a woe unto them upon that account.

47 ¶ Yet will I bring again the captivity of Moab in the latter days, ſaith the LORD w. Thus far is the judgment of Moab x.

w Some think this Prophecy was fulfilled upon the return of the Jews out of Babylon, when the Jews inhabited the Land of Moab, Zeph. 2. 9. but this doth not ſeem to be the bringing again the Captivity of Moab, but of Judah; beſides in that place it is ſaid that Moab ſhould be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorrah, even the breeding of Nettles and Salt pits, and a perpetual deſolation. It is therefore rather to be underſtood of a ſpiritual reduction of them, by calling ſome of them under the Kingdom of the Meſſiah as the Jewiſh Doctors themſelves interpret it. Some think this a promiſe rather reſpecting the Jews than the Moabites, it is ſaid Ver 2. 9. CHAP. XLIX.

The Judgment of the Ammonites, 1,——5. Their Reſtauration, 6. The Judgment of Edom, 7,——22. Of Damaſcus, 23,——27. Of Kedar, and Hazor, 28,——33. Of Elam and its Reſtauration, 34——39.

|| Or, againſt. * [illegible] 2. [illegible] and 25. 2 Zeph. 2. 8. 9. || Or, Malcom.

1 || CONcerning the * Ammonites a, thus ſaith the LORD, Hath Iſrael no ſons? hath he no heir b? why then doth || their king inherit * Gad c, and his people dwell in their cities d.

a The Ammonites were the Poſterity of Ben-Ammi, Lot's inceſtuous Child, by his younger Daughter, Gen. 19. 38. Their Country was near the Jews Country, the Jews in their Journey from Egypt to Canaan to poſſeſs it, paſſed by their Country, but were by God forbidden to meddle with it becauſe he had given it to the Children of Lot, Deut. 2. 19. but they proved bad Neighbours to the Iſraelites when in Canaan. They aſſiſted the King of Moab againſt them, Jud. 3. 13. and made War againſt them Judg. 10. 9. and 11, 4. Nahaſh their King made an inroad upon them, 1 Sam. 12. 12. David fought with them in his time, 2 Sam. 8. 12. and deſtroyed them, 2 Sam. 11. 1. Jehoſaphat alſo, and Jotham fought with them, 2 Chron. 20. 1. and 27. 5. During the long tract of time that there were Wars betwixt the Jews and Ammonites, the Land of Gad and Reuben which lay beyond Jordan, fell into the hands of the Syrians, Moabites and Ammonites (whence it is that in the former Chapter we read of many Cities of Moab, which were upon the diviſion of Canaan, in the Lot of Gad and Reuben.) This Prophecy cannot be well underſtood without a previous underſtanding this. b Hence it is that the Prophet ſaith, Hath Iſrael no Sons? God had given that Country of Gilead to Manaſſes and Reuben and Gad, Num. 32. 39. Joſ. 13. 29, 30. c and as Mens Eſtates ought to deſcend to their Heirs, ſo this Land ſhould have continued and deſcended to the Poſterity of theſe Tribes, but the Ammonites had by force taken away a part, and Melcom poſſeſſed it. Melcom is their King, or the Name of their Idol to whom they gave the Name of King, as other Heathens called their Idol Baal, that is Lord. d And the People of the King of the Ammonites, or of Melcom the Idol of the Ammonites, dwelt in the Cities belonging to Gad, which was one of the Tribes of Iſrael.

2 Therefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will cauſe an alarm of war to be heard in Rabbah e of the Ammonites, and it ſhall be a deſolate heap, and her daughters ſhall be burnt with fire: then ſhall Iſrael be heirs unto them that were his heirs, ſaith the LORD f.

e Becauſe the Ammonites had violently ſeized upon ſome part of the Jews Land, and (as we have it Amos 1. 13, 14.) cruelly ript up the women with child in Gilead, that they might enlarge their border. God threatens a War to Rabbah, Amos 1. 14. calls it a fire which ſhould make Rabbah an heap. Of this Rabbah, as the head City of the Ammonites, we read, Deut. 3. 11. Joſ. 13. 25. and 15. 60 It was there, where in David's time, Uriah was ſlain, 2 Sam. 11. 1, 17. Chap. 12. 26. It is threatned by Jeremiah in this Chapter, and Ezek. 25. 5. and Amos 1. 13, 14. we read not, how or when this Prophecy was fulfilled, whether by the Maccabees, 1 Mac. 5. 6. or rather after the coming of Chriſt, when moſt of theſe Nations were deſtroyed. f God threatens not only their metropolis which was Rabbah their Mother City, but all the other Cities belonging to the Ammonites which were as it were Daughters to Rabbah. But how the laſt clauſe of this Prophecy was ever fulfilled if it were not in the time of the Maccabees I cannot underſtand; for though they were ſwallowed up afterward by the Roman Empire, yet Iſrael being alſo ſubdued by them, and ſcattered into all parts, it is not likely that many of them were ſuffered to abide in any conſiderable numbers in a Country ſo near their own.

3 Howl, O Heſhbon, for Ai is ſpoiled g, cry ye daughters of Rabbah h, * gird ye with ſackcloth: lament, and run to and fro by the hedges i, for their || king ſhall go into captivity, and * his prieſts and his princes together k.

* Iſa. 32. 11. chap. 4. 8. and 6. 26.
* Chap. 48. 7. Amos 1. 15.

g Heſhbon was formerly a City of the Amorites of whom Sihon was King who reſided here (but it appears by Ver. 26. that it was taken from Moab) it is probable that was at this time a City of Moab; the Prophet calls to them to howl for Ai a City of the Ammonites, not the ſame mentioned, Joſ. 7. 2. for that was on the other ſide of Jordan. h It is uncertain whether by the daughters of Rabbah be to be underſtood other leſſer Cities, or the younger Women that inhabited Rabbah, he calls to them all to mourn. i And for all the indications or ſigns of mourning, ſuch as girding with ſackcloth, running up and down like Perſons diſtracted, by the Hedges, where they might be hidden, and not ſo eaſily ſeen. k For they ſhall all go together in captivity, their Melcom which may ſignifie their Idol to whom they gave that Name or their King, or elſe their ſupream Magiſtrate, with their Prieſts and Nobles, all orders of Perſons.

4 Wherefore glorieſt thou in the vallies, || thy flowing valley l, O backſliding daughter m? that truſted in her treaſures, * ſaying, Who ſhall come unto me n?

|| Or, thy valley floweth away.
* Chap. 21. 13.

l It ſhould ſeem that this Countrey was full of very fruitful Valleys, which we know are always the moſt fertile places, lying lower and at a greater diſtance from the Sun than Mountains, and alſo receiving at ſecond hand the moiſture that falls upon the Hills, and being uſually watered with Rivers, from whence they may be called flowing Vallies either as flowing with receptacles of Water, or plenty of Corn, and Graſs, though ſome read it (and it ſeems rather more agreeable to the Hebrew) thy Valley floweth, either with the blood of Men ſlain, or floweth away, the fertility of it ceaſeth or decayeth. Or, Floods of waters ſhall deſtroy the fruit of thy rich Vallies, &c. m Ammon having never been in Covenant with God, the word in the Heb. (though it comes from שׁוּב which ſignifies to return) ſeemeth ill tranſlated back ſliding, thou that haſt turned thy ſelf away from God. n Thou that truſtedſt in thy Riches, or in thy Valleys full of Riches, and promiſedſt thy ſelf ſecurity from the ſituation of thy rich Countrey thinking none could come at thee.

5 Behold, I will bring a fear upon thee, ſaith the Lord GOD of hoſts, from all thoſe that be about thee w, and ye ſhall be driven out every man right forth x, and none ſhall gather up him that wandereth y.

w As ſecure as you think your ſelves, I will cauſe you to be afraid, and your Enemies ſhall be all thoſe that are round about you. x And you ſhall be driven out every Man, either right forth into ſome Country oppoſite to you, or apart one from another, or ſo that you ſhall be glad to flee right forth, and never look back, but only forward, for any place of ſafety that appeareth next before you. y And when you are wandering, being driven by your Enemies you ſhall find none who will be willing to receive or entertain you.

6 And afterward * I will bring again the captivity of the children of Ammon, ſaith the LORD z.

* Chap. 49. 39.

z Such a promiſe we read of Chap. 48. 47. concerning Moab, but when this was fulfilled the Scripture ſaith not: Joſephus tells us ſomething, but it is rather thought to refer to the Converſion of ſome of the Ammonites as well as other Heathens unto Chriſt.

7 ¶ Concerning Edom, thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts a, Is wiſdom no more in Teman b? is counſel periſhed from the prudent? is their wiſdom vaniſhed *?

* Obad. V. 8.

a The Edomites were the Poſterity of Eſau the eldeſt Son of Iſaac, but diſinherited, the Bleſſing being given to his younger Brother Jacob who was the head of the twelve Tribes of the Iſraelites, Gen. 27. 29. God there Ver. 39. promiſed him that he ſhould have a fat, and plentiful Country, though his Brother ſhould be his Lord, and foretold, that he ſhould break his Brother's Yoke from off his Neck; the Land of Seir was his Countrey, Gen. 32 3. The Edomites coaſted ſouthward upon Canaan, the Iſraelites paſſed by their Coaſts to go into Canaan, their way lay through Edom, but their King refuſing to ſuffer them to go through, God ordered them to go another way. Balaam propheſied their ruine, Numb. 24. 18. they were Enemies to the Iſraelites in Saul's time, 1 Sam. 14. 47. and in David's time, 2 Sam. 8. 14. and in Amaziah's time, 2 Kings 14. 7. who ſlew of them ten thouſand, and took Selah calling it Jokteel, many of the Prophets foretold their ruine, Jeremiah in this place, Ezek. 25. 12, 13, 14. Joel 3. 19. Amos 9. 12. Obadiah 1. 8. Mal. 1. 4. b Teman was a City of Edom mentioned alſo Ezek. 25. 13. Amos 1. 12. Obad. 9. Eliphaz, Job's Friend was of this place, Job 2. 11. It was a place famous for wiſe and prudent Men, of which Eliphaz was not the meaneſt. c The Prophet asks what was become of all their Counſel and Wiſdom, for which the Arabians, the Temanites in particular, were ſo famous? Now they were at their wits end.

8 Flee ye ||, turn back, dwell deep, O inhabitants of Dedan, for I will bring the calamity of Eſau upon him, the time that I will viſit him e.

d Dedan was the Son of Jokſhan, 1 Chron. 1. 32. from which it is probable that the City Dedan had its Name, it is reckoned Chapter 25. 23. with Tema and Buz, and is mentioned Ezekiel 27. 15. 20. and 38. 13. It was a City of Arabia joyning on Idumæa, Iſa. 21. 13. they being Neighbours to the Edomites are called to flee, and to get into Caves and holes of the Earth, where they might dwell deep in the Earth and be in ſome ſecurity, which they would not be in their own City ſo near to the Edomites Countrey, for God was reſolved to bring miſery upon the Edomites, a time of calamity in which he would viſit them with his Judgments. There are other critical readings of theſe words, but this ſeemeth to be the plain ſence of them.

9 If grape-gatherers come to thee, would they not leave ſome gleaning grapes? if thieves by night, they will deſtroy † till they have enough f.

f We have much the ſame Obadiah 5. the ſcope of the Prophet in this place is only to ſhew that Edom ſhould be totally deſtroyed, their deſtruction ſhould not be like the gleaning of Grapes, where the gatherers content themſelves with taking the principal Cluſters, but for ſingle Grapes, or ſome Cluſters they leave them ſmall: Nor yet like the robbings of Thieves, who take for their hunger, and when they have got enough leave the reſt.

10 But I have made Eſau bare g, I have uncovered his ſecret places h, and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf i: his ſeed is ſpoiled k, and his brethren and his neighbours, and he is not l.

g But the Edomites ſhould be left bare. h And though they ſought to hide themſelves in ſecret places, yet God would there find them out. i And there ſhould be no places ſufficient to hide them. k All their Children ſhould be deſtroyed l and the Moabites their Kinſmen, and the Philiſtines their Neighbours ſhould be ruined as well as they.

11 Leave thy fatherleſs children, I will preſerve them alive; and let thy widows truſt in me m.

m The only queſtion upon this Verſe is whether in the whole of it, it be a promiſe, or a threatning; if it be a promiſe the ſence is that though this great deſtruction ſhould come upon the Body of the Edomites, yet God would take care of ſome of their fatherleſs Children, whoſe Parents being carried into captivity they had none to provide for them: if it be taken as an ironical threatning it ſoundeth ruine to thoſe as well as the reſt, and I will is as much as I will not; but others think that theſe are rather to be underſtood with the ſupply of ſome other words, There is not, or there ſhall be none to ſay, leave thy fatherleſs Children, &c. and whoſo conſidereth thoſe words in the tenth Verſe, his Seed ſhall be ſpoiled, will ſee reaſon to judge it rather a threatning (whether by way of Irony or no) than a promiſe.

* Chap. 25. 20. Obad. 16.

12 For thus ſaith the LORD, * Behold, they whoſe judgment was not to drink of the cup n, have aſſuredly drunken, and art thou he that ſhalt altogether go unpuniſhed, thou ſhalt not go unpuniſhed, but thou ſhalt ſurely drink of it.

n That by the Cup is meant the Wine Cup of the Lord's Wrath, and that by thoſe whoſe Judgment was not to drink of it, are meant the Jews is not to be doubted; but the Queſtion is how the Prophet ſaith, that it was not the Judgment of the Jews to drink of this Cup? The word here uſed is of ſo various ſignifications as makes the fixing the ſence of it here difficult, it cannot here ſignifie Juſtice, for in that ſence it was the Jews Judgment to drink of it, nor can it here (as it often doth) ſignifie the effect of Juſtice, God's judicial diſpenſation; for they had drank of it, ſo it was their judgment. It muſt be taken in the favourableſt ſence imaginable. Either they who in regard of their relation to God, and God's relation to them might have looked upon it as none of their portion, yet have drank of it: Or they who in compariſon with others did not deſerve to drink of the Cup, yet have drank of it, and can you think to eſcape, no thou ſhalt not eſcape, but moſt ſurely drink of it, 1 Pet. 4. 17. The time is come, that judgment is begun at the houſe of God, and if it firſt begin with that where ſhall the end of others be? When an Iſraelite hath not eſcaped the Juſtice of God, an Edomite muſt not expect it.

13 For I have ſworn by my ſelf, ſaith the LORD, that Bozrah ſhall become a deſolation, a reproach, a waſte, and a curſe, and all the cities thereof ſhall be perpetual waſtes o.

o As Men when they would confirm their promiſe or threatning to do any thing, add an Oath to it, ſo doth God, who, having no greater to ſwear by, ſwears by himſelf, Chap. 44. 26. that which God would here confirm was his threatning againſt Edom, expreſt under the notion of Bozrah, (a part for the whole) Bozrah being its principal City, Iſa. 63. 1. as well as a City of Moab, (as we found in the foregoing Chapter) and that which he threatens it with was not being a reproach, a waſte, and a Curſe for a time, but for ever.

* Obad. Ver. 1.

14 * I have heard a rumour from the LORD p, and an Ambaſſador is ſent unto the heathen q, ſaying, Gather ye together, and come againſt her, and riſe to the battel r.

p Obadiah beginneth his Prophecy much with ſuch words. God hath revealed his Will to me in a Viſion, or a Dream. q He ſpeaks after the manner of earthly Princes, who uſe to ſend their Ambaſſadors to other Princes to declare their minds to them. The meaning is, God hath made ſuch impreſſions upon other Nations, he hath inclined them, or ſet them on work, to get together in Armies to come againſt Edom in Battel.

15 For lo, I will make thee ſmall amongſt the heathen, and deſpiſed among men ſ.

ſ Obadiah in his Prophecy againſt Edom, Ver. 2. hath much the ſame words importing that God would bring the Edomites very low, and make them very contemptible.

16 Thy terribleneſs hath deceived thee, and the pride of thy heart t, O thou that dwelleſt in the clefts of the rock u, that holdeſt the height of the hill; though thou ſhouldeſt make thy neſt as high as the eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, ſaith the LORD w.

t Obadiah in his Prophecy againſt Edom uſeth much the ſame expreſſions, Ver. 3, 4. The word that is here uſed being of the number of thoſe which are but once found in Scripture hath given Interpreters liberty to abound in their ſences of it; ſome tranſlating it Arrogance, ſome, thine Idol, but the beſt Interpreters underſtand by it their terribleneſs to others, their being ſo potent that others were all afraid of them, this deceived them, making them to conclude themſelves ſecure, and out of danger; to which is alſo added the pride of the heart. u The Countrey of Edom being mountainous they are ſaid to dwell in the clefts of the Rocks, that is, in places impregnable, and inacceſſible as they thought in the heights of the Hill. w But the Lord lets them know no place was to his power inacceſſible or impregnable, for if they dwell as high as the Eagle, which the Scripture tells us, Job 39. 27, 28. Maketh her neſt on high, and dwelleth and abideth upon the rock, upon the crag of the rock, yet he would bring them down.

17 Alſo Edom ſhall be a deſolation: every one that goeth by it, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and ſhall hiſs at all the plagues thereof x.

x The like is ſaid of Babylon, Chap. 50. 13. it appears from 1 Kings 9. 8. that it was a kind of Proverbial expreſſion, when they would expreſs a great deſolation, or great Plagues, that thoſe who paſſed by ſuch a place, ſhould be aſtoniſhed, and hiſs at it.

* Gen. 19. 25. Deut. 29. 23. Amos 4. 11.

18 * As in the overthrow of Sodom and Gomorrah and the neighbour cities thereof, ſaith the LORD: no man ſhall abide there, neither ſhall a ſon of man dwell in it y.

y Sodom and Gomorrah, and the Neighbour Cities were utterly deſtroyed, and therefore are ſet down both here and Chap. 50. 40. as patterns of an utter ruine and deſolation.

* Chap. 50. 44. * Chap. 12. 5.

* Exod. 15. 11. Job 41. 10. || Or, convent me in judgment.

19 * Behold, he ſhall come up like a lion from the * ſwelling of Jordan, againſt the habitation of the ſtrong z: but I will ſuddenly make him run away from her a, and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her b? for * who is like me c? and who will || appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me d?

z This Verſe is very variouſly interpreted, ſome by he underſtand the Jews, ſome underſtand Nebuchadnezzar, ſome underſtand the Edomites, I think the laſt is moſt probable to be here meant, becauſe of the next words. The Edomites ſhall come out againſt the Chaldeans, like a Lion, as Lions lurking about Jordon when it overfloweth, come out to take their prey. a Theſe words are variouſly underſtood, thoſe who by he in the former part of the Verſe underſtand Nebuchadnezzar, interpret the running here mentioned, of his running over the whole Country of Edom; to me it appeareth a much more probable ſence to interpret it of the Edomites running away from Nebuchadnezzar out of their own Country, which ſeems to be underſtood by her; all that makes a difficulty is the particle from, which yet makes the ſence good enough, if by her we underſtand the Edomites own Land. In the Hebrew it is, I will break them, or I will quiet them, and make them to run. b Whom ſhall I ſet over Edom? Into whoſe hands ſhall I give that Countrey that he may rule over it? b For I can do whatſoever I pleaſe. c And who will appoint me a time to plead with Men, ſo Job 9. 19 or a time to fight. d What is that King or Potentate of the Earth that will ſtand before me?

20 Therefore hear the counſel of the LORD, that he hath taken againſt Edom, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the inhabitants of Teman e: Surely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out f, ſurely, he ſhall make their habitations deſolate with them g.

e Edom and Teman in this Verſe ſignifie both the ſame thing, God calls to men to hear the reſolutions he had taken up againſt the Edomites, Reſolutions as wiſe and ſteady as if they had been taken upon the wiſeſt counſels, and deliberation. f God is reſolved to drive out the Edomites, and the leaſt of Nebuchadnezzar's Forces ſhall drag them out of their lurking places, and God will make the place where they dwell a deſolation.

† Heb. weedy Sea.

21 The earth is moved at the noiſe of their fall: at the cry, the noiſe thereof was heard in the † Red-ſea h.

h That is, the ruine of the Edomites ſhall be ſo great, that all Nations round about it ſhall be affected at the noiſe of their fall, and though the Red-Sea, or the weedy Sea be at a great diſtance from them, yet their noiſe ſhall reach thither.

* Chap. 4. 13.

22 Behold, * he ſhall come up and flie as the eagle, and ſpread his wings over Bozrah: and at that day ſhall the heart of the mighty men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in her pangs i:

i See the Notes on Chap. 48. 40, 41. where the very ſame thing, and under the ſame Phraſes, was ſpoken againſt Moab. That which is threatned is the Enemies coming ſwiftly upon the Edomites and preying upon them, and the fear that ſhould ſurprize them which ſhould make their hearts faint as the heart of a Woman that hath an hard labour.

* Zech. 9. 1, 2. † Heb. melted. || Or, as on the Sea.

23 ¶ * Concerning Damaſcus k. Hamath is confounded, and Arpad l: for they have heard evil tidings, they are † faint-hearted, there is ſorrow || on the ſea, it cannot be quiet m.

k The Prophet comes to denounce the Judgments of God againſt Syria, another Nation of the Gentiles, Damaſcus was the head City of Syria, Iſa. 7. 8. and 17. 3. or Aram (as in the Heb.) becauſe it was a Country inhabited by the poſterity of Aram one of the Sons of Sem, part of it lay betwixt Babylon and Arabia, and was called Meſopotamia, lying betwixt the two Rivers of Tigris and Euphrates. Laban and Naaman were of this Countrey, David had War with them, 2 Sam 8. 5. and 10. 18. So had Ahab, 1 King. 20. 20. and Joram 2 Kings 8. 28. And Ahaz Iſa. 7. 2. after God's long patience with them he threatens them with ruine, as by Jeremiah in this place, ſo by Amos 1. 5. Damaſcus being the head of this Country, is ſometimes put (as here) for the whole Countrey. l Hamath and Arpad were two Cities alſo of Syria, 2 Kings 18. 34. m The Prophet foretels that they alſo ſhould hear of ill News, an Enemy that is coming againſt them, and that they ſhould be melted through fear, and their courage ſhould fail them, they ſhould be as troubled as the Sea is in a Storm, or their Inhabitants that lived near to the Sea ſhould be troubled.

* Chap. 4. 31. and 30. 6.

24 n Damaſcus is waxed feeble, and turneth her ſelf to flee o, and fear hath ſeized on her p: * anguiſh and ſorrows have taken her, as a woman in travail q.

n Syria whoſe head is Damaſcus, hath loſt her old courage and valour; it was wont to be a formidable Country to its Neighbours. o But now they flee before their Enemies. p They are ſeized, and overpowred by their own fears. q Great ſorrows are ordinarily in Scripture expreſſed by the ſimilitude of the pains of a Woman in Travail, we have met with it often in this Prophecy, Chap. 6. 24. and 22. 23. ſo Pſal. 48. 6. Micah 4. 9.

25 How is the city of praiſe not left, the city of my joy r?

r It is called the City of praiſe, becauſe it was a City ſo much praiſed, a City of great renown, which the Prophet ſeeing like to be deſtroyed, lamenteth either in the Perſon of the King of Syria, or of the Syrian Inhabitants, wondering that the Conquerours ſhould not ſpare ſo famous and renowned a City in which ſo many did rejoyce.

* Chap. 50. 30.

26 * Therefore her young men ſhall fall in her ſtreets, and all the men of war ſhall be cut off in that day, ſaith the LORD of hoſts ſ.

ſ The Hebrew Particles are not always well rendred in our Tranſlation, and our Learned Engliſh Annotator hath rightly obſerved this place, as one inſtance, for לכן cannot be here an illative, but is much better tranſlated ſurely as a note of aſſertion. God threatneth the Syrians with a certain ruine, and deſolation.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damaſcus t, and it ſhall conſume the palaces of Benhadad u.

t I will bring a Judgment that ſhall burn in Damaſcus like a conſuming Fire, u and it ſhall reach to the Royal Seat of Benhadad, either that which was the Royal Seat of Benhadad, 2 Kings 8. 7. or elſe Ben-hadad, (ſignifying the Son of Hadad) (which was their Idol) was the common Name of all the Kings of Syria, as Pharaoh was to the Kings of Egypt, Amos 1. 4.

28 ¶ Concerning Kedar w, and concerning the kingdoms of Hazor x, which Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon ſhall ſmite, thus ſaith the LORD y, Ariſe ye, go up to Kedar, and ſpoil the men of the eaſt z.

w Kedar, Gen. 25. 13. was one of the Sons of Iſhmael, whoſe Poſterity inhabited part of Arabia Petræa. See Iſa. 21. 13,17. We read of it, Pſal. 120. 5. Cant. 1. 5. Ezek. 27. 21. x We read of Hazor, Joſh. 11. 1. Verſe 10. it was the head City to ſeveral Kingdoms in Joſhua's time, Jabin was King of it in the times of Deborah, Judg. 4. 2. y The Prophet foretels that Nebuchadnezzar ſhould alſo conquer theſe Kingdoms. z And ſaith he heard the Lord call to Nebuchadnezzar to go up againſt them.

29 Their tents and their flocks ſhall they take away a, they ſhall take to themſelves their curtains and all their veſſels, and their camels b, and they ſhall cry unto them, Fear is an every ſide c.

a That is, the Chaldeans ſhall take away the Kedarens Tents, for they being a People whoſe Cattel were their livelyhood, had no fixed Houſes but Tents, which were moveable Habitations, covered with Skins of Beaſts. b And the Curtains which they uſed to draw before thoſe Tents, and ſerved them as ſides, as gable ends of Houſes ſerve us, and all the Furniture of their Tents or Tabernacles, and their Cattel, and either their Enemies ſhould fright them with terrible noiſes and outcries, or they ſhould themſelves cry out that they were ſurrounded with objects of fear.

30 ¶ Flee, † get you far off, dwell deep, O ye inhabitants of Hazor, ſaith the LORD d; for Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath taken counſel againſt you, and hath conceived a purpoſe againſt you e.

d The words ſeem to be the Prophet's words of advice to this People, to make all the haſte they could away, and to ſecure themſelves as well as they could; becauſe the King of Babylon had certainly been taking counſel againſt them, and was reſolved to diſturb them. See Ver. 8. where the like counſel is given to the Edomites.

|| Or, the nation that is at eaſe.

31 Ariſe, get you up to the || wealthy notion that dwelleth without care, ſaith the LORD, which have neither gates nor bars, which dwell alone f.

f The ſuppoſed reſult of Nebuchadnezzar's Counſels, giving charge to his Armies to march againſt the Kedarens, which lived at eaſe and quiet, and took no care. That had no Cities, nor Gates, nor Bars to keep their Enemies out, nor were near any Neighbours that could aſſiſt them, nor very near to one another living in Tents, ſo might eaſily be over-run, and conquered, and made a prey to Enemies.

* Chap. 9 26. and 25. 23.
† Heb. cut off into corners, or, that have the corners of their hair polled.

32 And their Camels ſhall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattel a ſpoil g, and I will ſcatter into all winds * them that are † in the utmoſt corners, and I will bring their calamity, from all ſides thereof, ſaith the LORD h.

g Theſe words ſound like a part of the King of Babylon's ſuppoſed Speech incouraging his Soldiers from the Booty they ſhould get, which ſhould be a great multitude of Camels and other Cattel. h The latter words are the words of the Prophet, in the Name of the Lord, threatning ruine to theſe Kedarens and Hazorites, tho they lived in corners, and might upon that account think themſelves ſecure; God ſaith, he would fetch them out of their utmoſt corners, and bring calamity from all parts upon them.

* Chap. 10. 22.

33 And Hazor * ſhall be a dwelling for dragons, and a deſolation for ever; there ſhall no man abide there, nor any ſon of man dwell in it i.

i That is, the whole Countrey ſubject to the King of Hazor ſhall be deſolate. See Iſa. 34. 13. Chap. 9. 11.

* Chap. 25. 25.

34 ¶ The word of the LORD, that came to Jeremiah the prophet againſt * Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Judah, ſaying, k.

k Elam was the Son of Sem, Gen. 10 22. his poſterity were called Elamites, theſe were the Perſians as is moſt probable, tho' ſome judge that the Perſians were at too great a diſtance from the Jews to be the People meant here, but we read of no other Elam in Scripture but in Perſia, Dan. 8. 2. and though they were indeed at a great diſtance, yet it is probable that Nebuchadnezzar having conquered the Aſſyrians, might alſo make ſome inroads into Perſia, the Emperour of which afterward conquered Babylon. This Prophecy being in the firſt Year of Zedekiah muſt needs be long before the thing was done, for it was ten Years before the King of Babylon took Hieruſalem.

35 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, Behold, I will break the bow of Elam, the chief of their might b.

b All thoſe Eaſtern People were famous for the uſe of the Bow, the Elamites in ſpecial, Iſaiah 22. 6. thoſe Bows were the chief of their offenſive Armour, tho by the chief of their might may alſo be meant their moſt mighty and ſtrong Warriours. This Prophecy is probably judged to be fulfilled when the Perſians made a defection from the King of the Medes, who was Son-in-Law to Nebuchadnezzar. Others think that this Prophecy was accompliſhed by Alexander the Emperour of Greece, or rather by his Succeſſors.

36 And upon Elam will I bring the four winds, from the four quarters of heaven, and will ſcatter them towards all thoſe winds; and there ſhall be no nation whither the outcaſts of Elam ſhall not come c.

c The Prophet threatneth the deſtruction of the Perſians, by a Confederacy of Enemies, ſuppoſe Babylonians, Medes, &c. which ſhould aſſault them on all ſides, as when the Wind blows at the ſame time from all Quarters, which cauſeth a Whirlwind which driveth the Duſt every way hither, and thither, ſo he ſaith the Perſians ſhould be ſcattered into all Nations.

37 For I will cauſe Elam to be diſmayed before their enemies, and before them that ſeek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, even my fierce anger, ſaith the LORD, and I will ſend the ſword after them, till I have conſumed them d.

d We met with the like threatnings, Ver. 5, 24, 29. as to fear and as to their deſtruction we have often met with the like threatnings.

38 And I will ſet my throne in Elam e, and will deſtroy from thence the king and the princes, ſaith the LORD f.

e God here calls the Throne of Nebuchadnezzar, or Cyrus, or Alexander (whoever he was that conquered the Perſians) his Throne. 1. Becauſe God gave it the Conquerour. 2. Or, becauſe God ſhewed himſelf the Lord of hoſts, or the Lord of the whole Earth, by diſpoſing the Kingdom of Perſia at his pleaſure. f He doth not threaten the deſtruction of the whole Nation, but the making of it all Tributary, ſo as it ſhould have no Kings nor Princes of its own.

39 ¶ But it ſhall come to paſs in the latter days, that I will bring again the captivity of Elam, ſaith the LORD g.

g We had the like promiſe as to Moab, Chap. 48. 47. and as to Ammon, Ver. 6. the ſame latter days either ſignifie after many days, or in the time of the Meſſias. In the former ſence it may refer to Cyrus, who conquered Perſia. In the latter ſence it is referred to the ſpiritual liberty which ſome of theſe poor Heathens were brought into by the Goſpel. We read Act. 2. 9. that ſome of theſe Elamites were at Hieruſalem at Pentecoſt, and were ſome of thoſe converted to Chriſt.

CHAP. L.

The Judgment of Babel, and the Land of Chaldea, for their Idolatry, Tyranny and Pride; with gracious Promiſes of the Redemption of Iſrael intermixed, Verſe 4, 5, 19, 20, 34.

1 THE word that the LORD ſpake * againſt Babylon, and againſt the land of the Chaldeans † by Jeremiah the prophet a.

* Iſa. 13. 1. and 21. 1. and 47. 1.
† Heb. by the hand of Jeremiah.

a The Prophet having from the 46th. Chapter been denouncing the Judgments of God againſt the other Gentiles, the Egyptians, Moabites, Philiſtines, Ammonites, Edomites, Syrians, Kedarens, Hazorites, Elamites, or Perſians (the moſt of which had been Enemies to the Jews) in theſe two Chapters he denounceth God's Judgments againſt the Chaldeans and Babylonians. Theſe were to execute God's Vengeance on all the reſt, and therefore are themſelves threatned in the laſt place to be deſtroyed by the Medes; the Prophecy againſt them, is mixed with many gracious promiſes to the Jews.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publiſh, and † ſet up a ſtandard, publiſh, and conceal not b: ſay, Babylon is taken, * Bel is confounded c, Merodach is broken in pieces, her idols are confounded, her images are broken in pieces d.

† Heb. lift up.

b The Prophet calls to Men to publiſh it amongſt other Nations, and to ſet up a Standard to make ſome ſignal, to gather all People together to hear what he had to ſay from God againſt Babylon, which had been an inſtrument of great miſchief unto moſt People that lived about them, to whom it would therefore be glad and joyful News to hear that Babylon their common Enemy was ruined. c That by Bel and Merodach are meant two principal Idols of the Babylonians, moſt think; but what, is not ſo well agreed. Some think that Bel is Baal by contradiction, but they judge moſt probably, who think it was the image of one Belus, who was formerly a King of Babylon, and they judge the like of Merodach; we find in Scripture that Merodach was ſome of their Kings Names, Iſa. 39. 1. Chap. 52. 31. thoſe who deſire to be further ſatisfied about theſe Idols, may read the Engliſh Annotations upon Iſa. 46. 1. and our Annotations upon that Verſe. It was an ordinary practice amongſt the Heathens when they had any Princes died, that had been famous in their Government, to pay a Divine Homage to their Images and Statues. Theſe Idols are ſaid to be confounded, d Either becauſe they ſhould not be able at this pinch to help their Suppliants, or becauſe they ſhould be deſtroyed together with the ſilly People that adored them.

3 For out of the north there cometh up a nation againſt her e, which ſhall make her land deſolate, and none ſhall dwell therein: they ſhall remove, they ſhall depart both man and beaſt f.

e From Media which lay Northward to Babylon and Aſſyria through which Cyrus his way to Babylon lay. f This Prophecy ſeemeth not to relate only to Cyrus his firſt taking of Babylon, who dealt very gently with it, but to a ſecond taking of it by Darius the King of the Medes, who upon their defection from the Perſian Monarchy, came and made an horrible devaſtation amongſt them, hanging up (as ſome tell us) four thouſand of their Nobles and ſlaying multitudes of the common People; or of the miſchief done them afterward by Seleucus Nicanor, who is ſaid to have built a City, which he called Seleucia, within fourſcore, and Ten Miles of Babylon, by which means he brought Babylon to an utter deſolation.

4 ¶ In thoſe days, and in that time, ſaith the LORD, the children of Iſrael ſhall come, they and the children of Judah together, going and weeping g: they ſhall go and ſeek the LORD their God h.

g In the days wherein God ſhall begin to execute judgment upon Babylon, (which was in the time of Cyrus Emperour of the Medes) the Children of Judah ſhall come out of Captivity, and ſome of the Children of Iſrael (viz. thoſe of the Ten Tribes) hearing that their Brethren were gone out of the Captivity of Babylon, ſhall go up alſo from the ſeveral places into which they were diſpoſed by the Aſſyrians: Weeping either for ſorrow in the ſence of their ſins which had brought the miſeries of Captivity upon them, or for joy that God ever ſhould ſhew them ſuch a Mercy as to bring them home again into their own Country. h And thoſe that feared God, whether of the Ten Tribes, or of the Kingdom of Judah, worſhipped God at Jeruſalem, after their old accuſtomed manner.

5 They ſhall ask the way to Zion with their faces thitherward, ſaying i, Come and let us joyn our ſelves to the LORD in a perpetual covenant, that ſhall never be forgotten k.

i That is, thoſe of Judah and Iſrael that fear the Lord ſhall ſeriouſly and ſteadily ſeek the true God, and the true way of his Worſhip. k And, being ſenſible that they had broken the Covenant which their Fathers had formerly made with God, with a deſire to renew their Covenant, and that not for a time, but for ever. See Chap. 31. 31. The only queſtion is, Whether this promiſe be yet accompliſhed or no, or when it was, or ſhall be fulfilled? Anſw. it was without doubt in a great meaſure fulfilled upon the Jews coming out of the Captivity of Babylon, when thoſe of the Kingdom of Judah returned to Jeruſalem, and were very zealous for reſtoring the true Worſhip of God, and renewed their Covenant with God, (as we read in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah) but Mr. Calvin thinks it was more eminently fulfilled under the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, when though many believed not, yet many others did believe, and were added to the Church, and whether a further fulfilling of it be not yet to come, time muſt ſhew.

6 My people hath been loſt ſheep l, their ſhepherds have cauſed them to go aſtray m, they have turned them away on the mountains n: they have gone from mountain to hill o, they have forgotten their † reſting place p.

† Heb. place to lie down in.

l All Men are compared to Sheep that go aſtray, Iſa. 53. 6. here it is applied to the Jews who are called the Lord's People by reaſon of the ancient Covenant God made with their Fathers: They are ſaid to be loſt, either with reſpect to their Captivity being caſt out of the Land which God gave them for Paſtures, or in reſpect of their Idolatry. m Their Civil and Eccleſiaſtical Governours have been a cauſe of it. The former by their wicked Commands forcing them to Idolatry and Superſtition, or at leaſt by their wicked Example ſetting them an Example, and by their ill government conniving at them in their Idolatrous Practices, for which they are gone into Captivity. Their Prieſts, and Eccleſiaſtical Governors, teaching them ſuch practices and incouraging them by their own Examples, and promiſing them impunity, and ſecurity in them. n Either they have been a cauſe of their offering Sacrifices to Idols upon the Mountains, or of their being carried into Captivity over the Mountains. o Either wandring up and down in a ſtrange Land, or in their way thither, or running from one ſpecies of Idolatry to another. p They have forgotten the Land of Canaan which I gave them for a reſting place after their toilſom Travel in the Wilderneſs, or (as ſome would have it) they have forgotten we who am their reſt.

7 All that found them have devoured them q, and their adverſaries ſaid, We offend not, becauſe they have ſinned againſt the LORD r, the habitation of juſtice s, even the LORD, the hope of their fathers t.

q As they be in the condition of loſt Sheep, ſo they have been under the fate of loſt Sheep, which every Dog, Fox, Wolf devours. r And thoſe that are their Enemies have pretended that in deſtroying them they have done no ill, becauſe they had ſinned, ſo as the ſins of the Jews did both expoſe them to the Wrath of God, and alſo emboldned their Enemies, and encouraged them to think that they did God Service in deſtroying them. s The habitation of Juſtice. Some think this is a Name here given to God, who indeed is the habitation of Juſtice, but whether the Chaldeans would call him ſo may be a queſtion. Others therefore think the prepoſition in is underſtood, making this the aggravation of the Jews ſins, that they were committed in a Land which ought to have been an habitation of Juſtice, as Iſa. 26. 10. it is ſaid that the wicked Man in a land of uprightneſs will deal unjuſtly. Mr. Calvin hath another notion, viz. That the Prophet here incourageth himſelf againſt what the Adverſaries had promiſed themſelves becauſe the People had offended God: viz. that notwithſtanding this, God was a righteous God, in whom Juſtice dwelt, and who would be faithful to his Promiſes. t And he was their hope, and had been he in whom their Fathers before them had hoped, and that not in vain.

8 Remove out of the midſt of Babylon u, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans, and be as the he-goats before the flocks.

u Theſe words immediately following the other, confirm Mr. Calvin's notion. God by his Prophet commanding his People to remove out of Babylon, and to go forth chearfully and skipping like the He-goats of the Flock leading the way, and ſetting an Example unto others. We find much ſuch a Call, Iſa. 48. 20. Chap. 51. 6. which is applied to Spiritual Babylon, Rev. 18. 4. where the coming out is to be underſtood of a ſeparation from them as to any Religious Communion, which alſo was their Duty as to old Babylon, but that is not the coming out here ſpoken of.

9 ¶ For lo, I will raiſe and cauſe to come up againſt Babylon, an aſſembly of great nations from the north-country, and they ſhall ſet themſelves in array againſt her w, from thence ſhe ſhall be taken: their arrows ſhall be as of a mighty || expert man: none ſhall return in vain ∵

w He means the Medes and Perſians (as it is expounded afterward) ∵ I will ſo direct their Arrows, that every Arrow they ſhoot ſhall pierce one or other. Or, (as ſome rather chuſe to interpret it) no Soldier of that aſſembly of great Nations, that ſhall come up againſt Babylon ſhall return without ſome Booty or other. The reaſon of the different reading noted in the Margent, is the difference of a point in the Heb. which if ſet on the right ſide of the Letter, the word ſignifieth a deſtroyer: if on the left ſide, an expert man as we tranſlate it.

10 And Chaldea ſhall be a ſpoil: all that ſpoil her ſhall be ſatisfied, ſaith the LORD x.

x Satisfied with ſpoil and plunder, for Babylon and Chaldea was at that time one of the richeſt places in thoſe parts of the World. She was abundant in treaſure, Chap. 51. 13.

11 Becauſe ye were glad, becauſe ye rejoyced x, O ye deſtroyers of mine heritage y, becauſe ye are grown † fat, as the heifer at graſs, and || bellow as bulls z.

† Heb. big; or corpulent.

x They rejoyced at the ruine of the Jews, the ſame thing is laid to the charge of the Edomites, Obadiah 12. The Chaldeans were God's Rod to ſcourge the Jews; but when Men are made uſe of by God, as his Rod and Scourge, they ought not to put off Humanity, but to behave themſelves decently, and as Perſons that are ſenſible of the miſeries which their Brethren ſuffer. y God calls them his Heritage, becauſe they formerly were a People whom he owned above all other People. z There is ſome difference amongſt critical Interpreters, whether the Heifer here mentioned be to be underſtood of a Heifer at Graſs (as we tranſlate it) or an Heifer uſed to tread out the Corn; or whether the laſt words be to be underſtood of a Horſe neighing, (as the words may be interpreted) or a Bull bellowing. But theſe are things of very ſmall moment. The cauſe for which Babylon is threatned, was doubtleſs their Luxury of all ſorts commonly attending great Wealth, and Proſperity meeting with hearts unſanctified.

12 Your mother ſhall be ſore confounded, ſhe that bare you ſhall be aſhamed a: behold, the hindermoſt of the nations b ſhall be a wilderneſs, a dry land, and a deſart.

a Your chief City Babylon, or your Country, which is the common Mother of all the Chaldeans ſhall be deſtroyed, or ſhall be aſhamed of you, who are not able to defend her. b The ſence here ſeems a little difficult, becauſe it appears no ſuch ſtrange thing that the hindermoſt of the Nations ſhould be a Wilderneſs. It is therefore probable that the words ſhall be, are to be underſtood before the hindermoſt of the Nations, our Tranſlation ſupplieth them after, ſo the reading will be, it ſhall be the hindermoſt of the nations, a wilderneſs, &c. That is, Babylon, that hath been ſo famous, and accounted the head of the Nations, ſhall become the meaneſt of all Nations, a meer Wilderneſs, and a dry Land, and a Deſart.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the LORD, it ſhall not be inhabited, but it ſhall be wholly deſolate c: every one that goeth by Babylon, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and hiſs at all her plagues d.

c The ſame thing was threatned againſt Babylon, Iſa. 13. 20. It ſhall never be inhabited, neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation. d It ſeemeth to be a proverbial Speech made uſe of to expreſs the miſerable ſtate of a place; we had it before, Chap. 49. 17. applyed to Edom. It is according to the threatning, Deut. 28. 37. See Chap. 25. 9, 11. and 29. 18. and 42. 18. Ezek 5. 15.

14 Put your ſelves in array againſt Babylon round about e: all ye that bend the bow, ſhoot at her, ſpare no arrows f: for ſhe hath ſinned againſt the LORD g.

e The Prophet calls to the Medes and Perſians, with thoſe who ſhould come with them to their aſſiſtance, to put themſelves in Military order ready to come up againſt Babylon. f The Perſians (as was noted before) were very famous for the Bow, therefore he ſpeaketh unto them as an Army of Archers, to ſhoot at the Babylonians, and to ſpare no Arrows. g Becauſe Babylon had ſinned againſt the Lord exceedingly, as Gen. 13. 13. by their Idolatry, Luxury, and cruel uſage of the Jews, &c.

15 Shout againſt her round about h: ſhe hath given her hand i: her foundations are faln, her walls are thrown down k: * for it is the vengeance of the LORD l: take vengeance upon her; as ſhe hath done, do unto her m.

* Chap. 51.6.11. Rev.18.6.

h Either as Soldiers uſe to ſhout when they fall upon their Enemy, or as they uſe to ſhout and triumph when they are entred a City, or when their Enemies fly. i Either acknowledging themſelves overcome, and yielding themſelves to the power of their Enemies, or as ſome think confederating with the Lydians, but the former is more probable. k That is, ſhe is wholly ſubdued and conquered, as if her Walls were thrown down, for literally her Walls were not beaten down by Cyrus, for he took the City by ſurprize l God is he who brings this Vengeance upon Babylon, though it be by your hands. m It is very obſervable, that there is hardly any ſins which the Lord ſo ordinarily puniſheth in the like kind, as thoſe which are offences againſt the Laws of Juſtice and Charity. The common fate of cruel and uncharitable Men, is to meet with others to do to them, as they have done to others, unmerciful Men find no mercy. See Pſal. 137. 8, 9. Judg. 1. 6, 7. Adoni Bezek acknowledged God s Juſtice in it.

16 Cut off the ſower from Babylon, and him that handleth the || ſickle in the time of harveſt n: for fear of the oppreſſing ſword, they ſhall turn every one to his people, and they ſhall flee every one to his own land o.

n We are told that Babylon was ſo large a City, that within the Walls of it there was much plowed ground: or elſe the threatning imports that God would deal more ſeverely with Babylon, than Conquerors uſe to do with places which they Conquer, who uſe to ſpare and leave behind them, Plowmen, and ſuch as uſe to Till the ground, but in the deſtruction of Babylon, it ſhould not be ſo. o He ſpeaks either of ſuch Strangers as for Commerce had their Abodes in Babylon, or ſuch Aſſiſtants as the Babylonians had gotten againſt their Enemies, who upon the coming in of the Enemies ſhould make as much haſte home as they could.

17 ¶ Iſrael is a ſcattered ſheep p, the lions have driven him away q, firſt the king of Aſſyria hath devoured him r, and laſt this Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

p By Iſrael is here meant the whole Twelve Tribes (tho ſome times it ſignifieth the Ten Tribes in oppoſition to Judah) they were all wandering Sheep, they became penally ſcattered Sheep. q Enemies as fierce and cruel as Lions, had ſeized them, and carried them into Captivity. r Firſt the King of Aſſyria devoured the Ten Tribes which were ſtrictly call'd Iſrael, 2 Kings 17. 6. Then Nebuchadnezzar the King of Babylon took Jeruſalem as we heard Chap. 39. and carried away the People, and burnt the Temple, which the Prophet here calls a breaking of his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will puniſh the king of Babylon, and his land r, as I have puniſhed the king of Aſſyria s.

r God may juſtly puniſh thoſe who do the things which he hath commanded them to do, if they do it not in that manner which he directeth, or, if what they do, be not done in obedience to his Command, but in ſatisfaction to their own Luſts, which was the caſe of the Aſſyrians, Iſa. 10. 7. ſ Some refer this to the puniſhment of the Aſſyrians in the deſtruction of Senacherib and his Army in the time of Hezekiah, but the Prophet ſeemeth here to ſpeak of a deſtruction of Aſſyria, which followed after his devouring of the Ten Tribes, from whence we may conclude, that Aſſyria was deſtroyed before the time of this Revelation.

19 And I will bring Iſrael again to his habitation t, and he ſhall feed on Carmel and Baſhan, and his ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied upon mount Ephraim and Gilead u.

t This muſt be underſtood of Judah, which was part of that People who were called Iſrael, for to this day we have neither read nor heard of the Ten Tribes being brought back again to their habitation. u The only difficulty is how it is ſaid that the Jews upon their return ſhould feed upon Carmel and Baſhan, and Mount Ephraim and Gilead, which were places that belong'd not to the Tribes of Judah and Benjamin: to which it is anſwered, that theſe places were granted to the Jews by Demetrius the Father and the Son, as we are told by Joſephus, l. 13 c. 5. 8. Theſe places were rich Grounds for feeding Cattel, therefore it is ſaid they ſhall feed on Carmel and Baſhan, &c.

20 In thoſe days, and in that time, ſaith the LORD, the iniquity of Iſrael ſhall be ſought for, and there ſhall be none: and the ſins of Judah, and they ſhall not be found w, for I will pardon them whom I reſerve x.

w Some here reſtrain the term iniquity to the idolatry of the Jews, which indeed was their great ſin, which God did more eſpecially puniſh them for, and after the Captivity of Babylon, we do not read of their offending in that kind, which was according to the Prophecy of Iſaiah, Iſa. 27. 9. that when God ſhould make the Stones of the Altar as Chalk-ſtones that are beaten aſunder, the Groves and the Images ſhould not ſtand up. x But the laſt words ſeem to guide us to a larger ſence of the term iniquity, and to point us to another ſence of the whole former phraſe, viz. That God would no longer puniſh the ſins of the Jews, they ſhould be ſought for as to puniſhment, and not found. And thoſe words and none muſt be underſtood as if none, they ſhall be puniſhed no more than if they had none. x For as to thoſe whom I ſave from the Captivity of Babylon, I will pardon them, not that they were all excuſed from the obligation their ſins laid them under as to Eternal Death, but that their Temporal puniſhment was remitted to the whole Body of the Jews; and thoſe that were truly penitent alſo, ſhould be diſcharged from their obligation to Eternal Death. The obligation that ſin layeth the ſinner under to Eternal Death may be remitted, and yet the temporal puniſhment due to them may remain, 2 Sam. 12. 13, 14, &c. And on the other ſide the puniſhment in this Life, may be ſuſpended or remitted, and the obligation, ſin layeth the ſinner under to Eternal death, may remain.

21 ¶ Go up againſt the land of || Merathaim y, even againſt it, and againſt the inhabitants of || Pekod y, waſte and utterly deſtroy after them, ſaith the LORD, and do according to all that I have commanded thee z.

|| Or, of the Rulers, or Rebels.

y There is ſome Diſputes amongſt Interpreters, Whether the words here Merathaim and Pekod be to be taken as common Nouns, the one ſignifying Rebels or Rulers, the other Viſitation, becauſe the Chaldeans were Rebels againſt the Lord, and were great Rulers over all the contiguous Nations: Or whether they be proper Names of ſome Places which Cyrus paſſed by, or, it may be, took in, and conquered in his way to Babylon. z The latter are God's Words by his Prophet, like the former commanding him with his Armies to go up, and deſtroy them flying away, or them that ſhould ſucceed after them, their whole Poſterity; intimating God's deſign utterly to deſtroy them, which deſtruction was gently begun by Cyrus, and perfected by Darius.

22 A ſound of battel is in the land, and of great deſtruction a.

a That is in the Land of Chaldea.

23 How is the * hammer of the whole earth cut aſunder and broken? how is Babylon become a deſolation among the nations b?

* Chap. 51. 20.

b The latter part of the Verſe expounds the former, God had made the Babylonians his Hammer, to break other Nations in pieces, now it was it ſelf broken; the Particle how may be underſtood either as expreſſing triumph and rejoycing, or admiration, or as inquiring how ſuch a thing could be in the laſt ſence. The next Verſe is an anſwer to this.

24 I have laid a ſnare for thee, and thou art alſo taken, O Babylon, and thou waſt not aware, thou art found, and alſo caught c, becauſe thou haſt ſtriven againſt the LORD d.

c We are told that Cyrus with his great Army diverted the River Euphrates, ſo as his Army paſſed over and ſurprized the City ſo ſuddenly that thoſe in the midſt of it, did not know it when part of the City was already taken. God directed Cyrus to this Stratagem for the taking of the City, which the Prophet calls a ſnare, wherein the Babylonians were taken. d The reaſon of this unexpected ruine to this great People was their ſinning againſt the Lord, Verſe 14. which is here call'd a ſtriving againſt him, as indeed all ſin is.

25 The LORD hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons of his indignation: for this is the work of the LORD God of hoſts, in the land of the Chaldeans e.

e Babylon was ſo rich, and potent a Nation, and had been ſo great a Conquerour, that People looking only with the eye of ſenſe, and judging according to probabilities in the Eyes of Men, might well ask how theſe things could poſſibly be? To which the Prophet here anſwereth, That the hand of God was to be eyed in the caſe, this was the Lord's Work upon the Chaldeans; God had opened his Armoury, and the Medes were to make uſe of the Weapons of his indignation. He who threatned this deſtruction was able to carry it through, and it was no great matter what Weapons either the Babylonians had to defend themſelves, or the Medes to offend them, God s power and ſtrength was only to be regarded.

f The Prophet in the Name of God calleth to the Enemies of Babylon, the Medes, to come up, from the furtheſt parts of their Dominions, or from all parts, to fight againſt Babylon. g To open the Granaries, or Store-houſes, or Treaſuries of the Babylonians. h And to caſt up the Cities as heaps of Rubbiſh, and utterly to deſtroy the City, with ſuch a total deſtruction that nothing of it ſhould be left.

27 Slay all her bullocks: let them go down to the ſlaughter g: wo unto them, for their day is come, the time of their viſitation.

g By Bullocks in this place Interpreters generally underſtand the great and rich Men of Babylon.

* Chap. 51.10,11. 28 The voice of them that flee and eſcape out of the land of Babylon * to declare in Zion the vengeance of the LORD our God, the vengeance of his temple h.

h The Prophet here, brings in the poor Jews that had been Captives in Babylon going back upon Cyrus his Proclamation of Liberty, towards Zion there joyfully to declare the Revenge which their God had taken for them, and for his Holy Temple, which the Chaldeans had burnt and deſtroyed.

29 Call together the archers againſt Babylon i: all ye that bend the bow, camp againſt it round about; let none thereof eſcape, recompenſe her according to her work; according to all that ſhe hath done, do unto her: for ſhe hath been proud againſt the LORD, againſt the holy One of Iſrael k.

i The word tranſlated Archers, ſignifieth alſo many, and is by divers ſo tranſlated, but the following words more juſtifie our Tranſlation. k The cauſe of God's calling for Babylon's Enemies againſt her, is aſſigned to be her Pride againſt the Lord.

30 Therefore ſhall her young men fall in the ſtreets, and all her men of war ſhall be cut off in that day l, ſaith the LORD.

l See Chap. 49. 26. where we met with the ſame words.

† Heb. Pride. 31 Behold, I am againſt thee, O thou † moſt proud, ſaith the LORD God of hoſts, for thy day is come, the time that I will viſit thee m.

m Babylon is particularly branded for Pride, which is the ſwelling of a Man's Heart in a ſelf-opinion, cauſed from ſome thing wherein he excelleth, or thinks that he excelleth another. We have a large account of the Pride of Babylon, Iſa. 14. 12, 13, 14. and particularly of one of their Kings, Dan. 5. 20, 21. The ſinner exalteth himſelf againſt God, and either judgeth himſelf wiſer, or more mighty than he.

† Heb. Pride. 32 And the † moſt proud ſhall ſtumble and fall, and none ſhall raiſe him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it ſhall devour all round about him n.

n Babylon before called the moſt Proud, here Pride in the abſtract (which ſpeaketh this People exceſſively faulty in this thing) ſhall fall, and ſo fall, as never more to be recovered and raiſed up.

33 ¶ Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, The children of Iſrael and the children of Judah were oppreſſed together o, and all that took them captives held them faſt, they refuſed to let them go p.

o Not together in reſpect of times, for there was 150 years difference betwixt the time of Iſrael's and Judah's Captivity; nor by the ſame Enemy, Iſrael was carried away Captive by the Aſſyrians, Judah, by the Chaldeans. Together in this place ſignifies no more than that they were both oppreſſed, or alike oppreſſed. p And ſome may think that my Prophecies are but Flatteries, and vain words, for thoſe who have them in their hands are able to keep them, and will not be willing to let them go.

34 Their redeemer is ſtrong, the LORD of hoſts is his name q, he ſhall throughly plead their cauſe r, that he may give reſt to the land, and diſquiet the inhabitants of Babylon ſ.

q The Lord whoſe Name is the Lord of Hoſts, is he that is their Avenger: (for ſo the word ſignifies) and he is as ſtrong as any of thoſe that hold them faſt, and will not let them go. r He will plead their cauſe, not like a Lawyer, but actually, and really effect it, as pleading is often taken, as Chap. 25. 31. Ezek. 17. 20. Joel 3. 2. ſ Theſe are the two ends which God aimeth at, to give his People reſt, and to puniſh Babylon.

35 ¶ A ſword is t upon the Chaldeans, ſaith the LORD, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wiſe men.

t That is, there ſhall come a Sword, the Sword of the Medes, upon Babylon, and all the Land of the Chaldeans, and all Orders of Perſons in it.

‖ Or, chief ſtays. † Heb. bars. 36 A ſword is upon the ‖ † liars, and they ſhall dote u: a ſword is upon her mighty men, and they ſhall be diſmayed w.

u The word here tranſlated Liars, is by ſome tranſlated barrs, by ſome liars; and in the Hebrew it hath both ſignifications; which makes ſome think it is to be underſtood of the chief Men who are the Props, Stays and Bars of a place whoſe Wiſdom God threatens ſhould fail them, ſo as they ſhould do, and ſhew themſelves Fools. Others Tranſlating it liars as we do, underſtand it of their Southſayers and Wizzards whom he calls liars, becauſe they divined falſe, and ſaith they ſhould dote, not foreſeeing what ſhould be. w And though they were full of valiant mighty Men, yet, their hearts ſhould fail them when this day came, and all be deſtroyed amongſt the reſt.

37 A ſword is upon their horſes, and upon their chariots x, and upon all the mingled people that are in the midſt of her y, and they ſhall become * as women y, a ſword is upon her treaſures, and they ſhall be robbed z. * Nah. 3. 13. Iſa. 13 15. Chap. 46. 21.

x Though they be full of Chariots and Horſes, the Enemy ſhall deſtroy them. y By the mingled People ſome underſtand thoſe whom the Babylonians had hired to their Aſſiſtance from other Nations, others, ſuch ſtrangers as lived amongſt them; others a People under the power of the Chaldeans, made up of People of ſeveral Countries. See Chap. 25. 20, 24. Ezek. 30. 5. they ſeem to ſignifie a People that were not Native Chaldeans, but under their Dominion. y That is, faint hearted. z And though Babylon hath great Treaſures, yet thoſe ſhall not ſecure her, ſhe ſhall be robbed of them.

38 * A drought is upon her waters, and they ſhall be dried up a, for it is the land of graven images, and they are mad upon their idols b. * Chap. 51. 32, 36.

a Some think that this Phraſe hath a ſpecial reference to Cyrus his Stratagem uſed in the ſurprize of Babylon; one part of it was fortified by the great River Euphrates, running on one ſide, which Cyrus diverted by cutting ſeveral Channels, till he had drained it ſo low, that it became paſſible for his Army to go over: Others think that a want of Rain is here threatned. b God gives the reaſon of this Judgment which was their Idolatry, and exceeding zeal for it.

39 Therefore * the wild beaſts of the deſerts with the wild beaſts of the iſlands ſhall dwell there, and the owls ſhall dwell therein: and it ſhall be no more inhabited for ever: neither ſhall it be dwelt in from generation to generation. * Iſa. 13. 22 & 34. 14. Chap. 51. 37. Rev. 18. 2.

40 * As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and the neighbour cities thereof, ſaith the LORD: ſo ſhall no man abide there c, neither ſhall any ſon of man dwell therein. * Gen. 19. 25. Iſa. 13. 19. Chap. 49. 18.

c The ſubſtance of both theſe Verſes is, that Babylon ſhould be totally ruined, as Sodom and Gomorrah, ſo as there ſhould be no Habitations for Men, but wild Beaſts only of all ſorts ſhould inhabit and lodge in it. The fulfilling of this we have not in holy Writ, only the beginning of its accompliſhment, it being taken by Cyrus who only made them Tributaries, and took away their Government. But they rebelling againſt the Emperour of the Medes, Darius Hyſtaſpis a ſucceeding Emperour pulled down their Walls. And about 250 Years after Seleucus Nicanor, a Grecian Prince, the Medes being before conquered by Alexander the Great, utterly deſtroyed Babylon, ſo as in the time of Hadrian the Roman Emperour, there was nothing left ſtanding of that great City but ſome pieces of Walls.

41 * Behold, a people ſhall come from the north, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall be raiſed up from the coaſts of the earth d. * Chap. 6. 22.

d The Medes and Perſians with their Armies, who ſhall alſo have many other Kings, who from the ſeveral parts of the earth ſhall joyn with them and help them.

42 They ſhall hold the bow and the lance e: they are cruel and will not ſhew mercy f: * their voice ſhall roar like the ſeas, and they ſhall ride upon horſes, every one put in array like a man to the battel, againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon g. * Iſa. 5. 30.

e Theſe were the two uſual weapons of Soldiers in thoſe Countries, Chap. 6. 23. f The Perſians were a cruel bloody People. g Theſe Phraſes ſignifie no more, than that the Enemies ſhould come upon Babylon in a terrible manner, and prepared to deſtroy them.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: * anguiſh took hold on him, and pangs as of a woman in travail h. * Chap. 49. 24.

h The Medes ſhall not be more prepared to deſtroy the Babylonians, than they ſhall be unprepared to make any reſiſtance; as God will animate their Enemies, ſo he will diſpirit them, ſo as they ſhall faint upon the report of their coming, and be like a Woman upon whom ſtrong pangs of Travail are.

44 Behold, he ſhall come up * like a lion from the ſwelling of Jordan, unto the habitation of the ſtrong: but I will make them ſuddenly run away from her: and who is a choſen man that I may appoint over her? for who is like me? and who will ‖ appoint me the time? and who is that ſhepherd that will ſtand before me? * Job 41. 10. ‖ Or, convent me to plead.

45 Therefore hear ye the counſel of the LORD, that he hath taken againſt Babylon, and his purpoſes that he hath purpoſed againſt the land of the Chaldeans: ſurely the leaſt of the flock ſhall draw them out: ſurely he ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them i.

i See the Notes on Chap. 49. 19. where we have applied unto Edom all that is here ſpoken againſt Babylon.

46 At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard among the nations k.

k We have much the ſame ſpoken with reference to Edom, 49 20. The words are only expreſſive of the greatneſs of the deſtruction of Babylon, which ſhould be ſuch as ſhould make all that part of the World ſhake, and the noiſe of it would ring throughout all the Nations in that part of the Earth.

CHAP. LI.

The ſevere Judgment of God againſt Voluptuous, Covetous, Tyrannical and Idolatrous Babel, in the Revenge, and for the Redemption of Iſrael, 1.—58. Jeremiah delivereth the Book of this Prophecy to Seraiah, to be caſt into Euphrates, in token of the perpetual ſinking of Babylon, 59,—64.

1 THus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will raiſe up againſt Babylon, and againſt them that dwell in † the midſt of them that riſe up againſt me, a deſtroying wind a.

† Heb. in the heart.

a In this Chapter the Prophecy of the deſtruction of Babylon is continued under new Metaphors; he begins with that of a Wind, a deſtroying Wind, (as northerly Winds are ordinarily very pernicious,) but the Hebrew Idiom ſo ill ſuiteth that of other Languages, that it is no eaſie matter poſitively to aſſert the ſenſe of the words uſed. In the Hebrew they are and to, or againſt thoſe that inhabit the heart of thoſe that riſe up. Some would have it thoſe that are wiſe in their own opinion, and are therefore ſaid to dwell in their heart. Others, thoſe that are ſecure; but the beſt Interpreters judge our Tranſlation to have beſt hit the ſence, ——them that dwell in the heart, i. e. that is in the midſt of the Chaldeans who are here ſaid to have riſen up againſt God, to ſtrive againſt God, Chap. 50. 24.

2 And will ſend unto Babylon * fanners, that ſhall fan her, and empty her land b: for in the day of trouble they ſhall be againſt her round about c.

* Chap. 15. 7.

b Wicked Men are compared to chaff, Pſal. 2. 4. Such as execute judgment on them are called Fanners, Jer. 15. 7. So Matth. 3. 12. becauſe as the Fanner keepeth what is in the Fan unquiet in a continual motion and agitation, by which (advantaged by the Wind) he emptieth it of the Chaff: ſo the Executioners of God's Vengeance, by a ſucceſſion of Judgments keeps a People from quiet, till all their Chaff be winnowed out, and the Fan be emptied of all but the more ſolid Grain. c For (he ſaith) as the Fanner firſt ridleth what he hath in his Fan one way, then another, firſt throweth it up, then lets it fall into the Fan, ſo the Enemies ſhould be round about Babylon, and God would be on every ſide and every way deſtroying them.

3 Againſt him that bendeth, let the archer bend his bow, and againſt him that lifteth up himſelf in his Brigandine d? and ſpare ye not her young men, deſtroy ye utterly all her hoſt e.

d What ever Arms the Babylonians ſhall be armed with, they ſhall meet with their Matches, thoſe that are Archers, ſhall meet with Archers to bend the Bow againſt them, and thoſe who are otherwiſe armed ſhall meet with Perſons prepared to incounter them at their own Weapons. e Their whole Hoſt ſhall be deſtroyed both young and old Men.

4 Thus the ſlain ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and they that are thruſt through * in her ſtreets f.

* Chap. 49. 26.

f Thus all of them ſhall be deſtroyed, ſome in the Fields, ſome in the Streets of their Cities.

5 For Iſrael hath not been forſaken, nor Judah of his God, of the LORD of hoſts g, though their land was filled with ſin againſt the holy one of Iſrael h.

g That is, not utterly forſaken, for in a ſence they were forſaken as to ſome gradual manifeſtations of God's Love to them, but Judah and Iſrael were not left as a Widow, or were not divorced from God. h The word tranſlated ſin, ſignifies a moſt heinous ſinning, or deſolation, and the beſt Interpreters judge that ſin here ſignifieth the puniſhment of ſin. God hath not forſaken the Jews utterly, though as they were formerly filled with grievous ſins, ſo they be now filled with grievous Judgments becauſe of their ſins.

6 * Flee out of the midſt of Babylon, and deliver every man his own ſoul: be not cut off in her iniquity i: for * this is the time of the LORD's vengeance, he will render unto her a recompence k.

* Rev. 18. 4.
* Chap. 50. 15, 28.

i It is a matter of no great moment whether we underſtand theſe words as ſpoken to the Jews in the Captivity of Babylon, as Chap. 50. 8. or to thoſe whom the Chaldeans had hired to help them. Or to ſuch ſtrangers as for their ſecular advantages lived in Babylon. By Soul here ſeemeth to be meant Life, and by Iniquity the puniſhment of the Babylonians iniquity (as the Heb. word oft ſignifies) though in the New Teſtament theſe words be uſed as a monition to People to ſeparate from the Idolatries of myſtical Babylon, yet they ſeem here to be only a warning to others to remove out of the reach of Babylon's fall k For the time is come when God hath determined to take vengeance on Babylon, and to recompence to her all her ſin, and that cruelty which ſhe ſhewed to the Jews in particular.

7 Babylon hath been * a golden cup in the LORD's hand, that made all the earth drunken l: the nations have drunken of her wine, therefore the nations are mad m.

* Rev. 14. 8. & 17. 4.

l A golden Cup, becauſe of her great Riches and Plenty, God hitherto had made uſe of Babylon, as a Rod in his Hand, and had given her Riches and Power, and proſperity proportioned to the Service he hed for her to do; what ſhe did ſhe did by commiſſion from God, therefore this Golden Cup is ſaid to have been in the Lord's Hand, ſhe had made all the Nations about her drunken with the Lord's Fury. m Conquering them all, and making them mad through the miſery and ſmart they felt from her. Babylon in Daniel is compared to an head of Gold, and Rev. 17. 4. She is ſaid to have had a Golden Cup in her hand, but the meaning is no more than this. That God had raiſed up Babylon to great degrees of dignity and ſplendour intending to make uſe of her to execute his Vengeance upon many other People, and he did accordingly ſo uſe her, to give the Cup of his Fury to many Nations to the enraging of divers People, but now the courſe of his Providence toward her was altering, &c.

8 Babylon is ſuddenly * fallen and deſtroyed n: howl for her, * take balm for her pain, if ſo be ſhe may be healed n.

* Iſa. 21. 9. Rev. 14. 8. and 18. 2.
* Chap. 46. 11.

n That is, ſhe ſhall ſuddenly fall and be deſtroyed, you may try all the probable ways for her Cure, but they will all be uſed to no purpoſe.

9 We would have healed Babylon, but ſhe is not healed ∴, forſake her, and let us go every one to his own Countrey o, for her judgment reacheth unto heaven, and is lifted up even to the ſky p.

∴ The Prophet here ſeemeth to perſonate the mercenary Soldiers that ſhould come to help the Chaldeans, as if they ſhould ſay this, they would have helped Babylon, but there was no healing for her. o And therefore they call one to another to leave her to her ſelf, and return each Man to his own Countrey. p For her puniſhment was very great, her caſe too ſad for them to help. The reaching of things to the Heavens, and lifting them up to the Skies are Phraſes uſed to ſignifie high and great meaſures, and degrees of things ſo expreſſed Gen. 11. 4. and 28. 12. Deut. 1. 28. 1 Sam. 5. 12. 2 Chron. 28. 9. Pſal. 107. 26.

10 The LORD hath brought forth our righteouſneſs, come and let * us declare in Zion the work of the LORD our God q.

* Chap. 50. 28.

q Theſe words are ſpoken as in the perſon of the Jews owning the deſtruction of Babylon, 1. To be the mighty Work of God. 2. An act of Juſtice, and Judgment pleading the Cauſe and revenging the Wrongs of his People; and owning the Jewiſh Religion, and calling one to another to go to the Temple to declare what God had done for them, and to give thanks unto him for it.

11 * Make † bright the arrows r, gather the ſhields ſ, the LORD hath * raiſed up the ſpirit of the kings of the Medes t, for his device is againſt Babylon to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the * vengeance of the LORD, the vengeance of his temple u.

* Iſa. 13. 17.
* Chap. 50. 28.

r Prepare the Arrows for fighting, whether by feathering, ſharpning, or poliſhing and cleanſing of them, is not much material. ſ You that are Chaldeans gather all the Shields you have together, you will have need of them all: or you that are the Enemies of the Chaldeans, gather you together your Shields. t For God hath put a Spirit into Cyrus and Darius, &c. and his deſign is againſt Babylon to deſtroy it. u It is a day in which God is reſolved to take vengeance on Babylon, to take vengeance for the indignities they have offered to, and the horrible profanation of his Temple.

12 Set up the ſtandard upon the walls of Babylon, make the watch ſtrong, ſet up the watchmen, prepare the † amouſhes w: for the LORD hath both deviſed and done that which he ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babylon.

w Some judge theſe words ſpoken to the Medes, declaring the Will of God, that they ſhould uſe all probable means to conquer Babylon, or (as ſome would have it) diſplay their Banners upon the Walls of it, as ſigns of its being already conquered: But certainly is is more reaſonable to conclude them the Prophet's words to the Babylonians, either rouſing them out of their ſecurity (for it appears they were ſtrangely ſecure from Dan. 5. Hiſtorians tell us that the City was fortified by Walls fifty Cubits high, and two hundred Cubits broad, and by a very deep and large Ditch, beſides that on one ſide it had the River Euphrates) or at leaſt quickening them to make all the preparation they could, though all would be to very little purpoſe, for God had reſolved upon what he would do upon Babylon, and it was already as good as done.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters x, abundant in treaſures y, thine end is come, and the meaſure of thy covetouſneſs z.

x Babylon is ſaid to dwell upon many Waters, becauſe upon the great River Euphrates, which they ſay did not only run by it, but almoſt incompaſs it, branching it ſelf into many ſmaller Rivers, which made ſeveral parts of the City, Iſlands. y It is a City much noted in Scripture for Wealth, and made much more wealthy than it was by Traffick, by the Conqueſt of many Nations. z The Prophet tells them that now their gathering time was over, there was now a boundary ſet to their covetouſneſs; in the Hebrew it is the Cubit of thy covetouſneſs, which is by our Tranſlators well tranſlated a meaſure, becauſe it was amongſt the Jews the common meaſure of height and depth. The word by us tranſlated covetouſneſs, as Exod. 18. 21. may either ſignifie Riches the object of their covetouſneſs, or proſperity, or that unlawful deſire of having more, which is properly called Covetouſneſs, either becauſe they ſhould be deſtroyed utterly, or becauſe they ſhould proſper no more, there was no end put to the Babylonians Luſts, but there was an end put to the ſatisfaction of their Luſts.

14 The LORD of hoſts hath ſworn by † himſelf, ſaying, a Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars b; and they ſhall † lift up a ſhout againſt thee c.

a The Lord that is able to bring to paſs what he ſaith, hath ſworn by his Life, or by himſelf, ſee the like phraſe Chap. 22. 5. and 44. 26. and 49. 13. Amos 4. 2. and 6. 8. Iſa. 45. 23. that is the thing next mentioned ſhall come to paſs as certainly as that there is a God in Heaven, or that God liveth. b I will bring againſt thee a great Army, that ſhall be like a ſwarm of Caterpillars, and ſhall come againſt thee in ſuch numbers as Caterpillars uſe to come, and for the ſame end, to eat thee up, and deſtroy thee, and as Soldiers uſe to do when they go on to fight their Enemies, or to aſſault Cities, they ſhall make a great ſhout againſt thee.

* Gen. 1. 1, 6. Chap. 10. 12, 13, 14, 15. * Job 9. 8. Pſal 104. 2. Iſa. 40. 22.

15 * He hath made the earth by his power, he hath eſtabliſhed the world by his wiſdom, and hath * ſtretched out the heaven by his underſtanding.

‖ Or, noiſe. * Pſal. 135. 7.

16 When he uttereth his voice there is a ‖ multitude of waters in the heavens, and he * cauſeth the vapours to aſcend from the ends of the earth, he maketh lightnings with the rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

* Chap. 10. 14. ‖ Or, is more brutiſh than to know.

17 * Every man ‖ is brutiſh by his knowledge, every founder is confounded by the graven image: for his molten image is falſhood, and there is no breath in them.

18 They are vanity, the work of errors: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

* Chap. 10. 16.

19 * The portion of Jacob is not like them, for he is the former of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the LORD of hoſts is his name d.

d We had theſe five Verſes all in the tenth Chapter, Verſe 12, 13, 14, 15, 16. See there the explication of the ſeveral paſſages in them, the ſcope of which is only to convince thoſe to whom the Prophet ſpoke, that notwithſtanding all the Power, and Riches, and Greatneſs, and Alliances of the Chaldeans, yet that God who had threatned this ruine to them was able to bring it upon them, and all their Idols were Vanities, things of nought that ſhould not be able to protect them, and from whoſe power or impotency, they muſt not meaſure nor make up a judgment of what God was able to do, for Iſrael's God was that God who made the World, and the Lord of all the Armies of the Creatures whether in Heaven or Earth.

* Chap. 50. 23. ‖ Or, in thee, or by thee.

20 * Thou art my battle-axe and weapons of war: for ‖ with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdoms e.

e Interpreters are here divided, whether by thou or thee in this and the following Verſes to underſtand Cyrus, whom God made uſe of to deſtroy Babylon, and many other places, or Babylon. Our Tranſlators underſtand it of Cyrus, and therefore ſpeak of the future Tenſe, will I. The Hebrew Text will not reſolve us; I rather incline to interpret it of Babylon, as indeed the moſt do, and ſo it ſhould be, Thou haſt been, and art, for that is the ſence, Cyrus and Darius were not yet in being. God had made uſe of Babylon like an Hammer or Battle-Axe to break many Nations in pieces.

21 And with thee will I break in pieces the horſe and his rider, and with thee will I break in pieces the chariot and his rider:

22 With thee alſo will I break in pieces man and woman, and with thee will I break in pieces old and young, and with thee will I break in pieces the young man, and the maid.

23 I will alſo break in pieces with thee the ſhepherd, and his flock, and with thee will I break in pieces the husbandman, and his yoke of oxen, and with thee will I break in pieces captains and rulers f.

f The ſence of all theſe three Verſes is the ſame, viz. That God had made uſe, and was ſtill making uſe of the Babylonians to waſte and to deſtroy many Nations, to ſpoil and impoveriſh much People, waſting their Goods, routing their Armies, killing all ſorts of their Inhabitants.

24 And I will render unto Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea, all their evil that they have done in Zion, in your ſight, ſaith the LORD g.

g The Particle in the front of this Verſe which our Tranſlators (underſtanding the four former Verſes of Cyrus) render and in a copulative ſence, muſt be rendred now or but, if the four former Verſes be underſtood of Babylon, and the ſence is this Though I have hitherto made uſe of Babylon, and ſhall yet for a time make uſe of the Chaldeans and Babylonians to deſtroy ſeveral other Nations, yet now the time is come, that I will puniſh them, and recompence to them all the miſchief they have done to the Jews and ſome of the Jews ſhall live to ſee it.

25 Behold, I am againſt thee, O deſtroying mountain, ſaith the LORD, which deſtroyeſt all the earth h, and I will ſtretch out my hand upon thee, and roll thee down from the rocks i, and will make thee a burnt mountain k.

h Babylon is not here called a Mountain becauſe it was ſituated upon any Hills or Mountains, for it appears from Geneſis 11. 2. that it was ſituated in a Plain, and we read Verſe 13. that it dwelt upon many Waters; but becauſe it was very high for its Power, and Greatneſs, and had very high Walls and Towers, that it looked at a diſtance like an high rocky Mountain, and as ſome ſay (being a very large City) was full of Trees. They had deſtroyed many People of the Earth that lay near to them. i God threatens to deſtroy them notwithſtanding their Towers, and great Fortifications, as many times they threw down Malefactors from high Rocks, Mountains, and Precipices. k And to make them like Ætna or Veſuvius, or like ſome other Mountains of Sulphur, or other bituminous matter fired, which are always burning, or elſe he threateneth that their Cities and Towers which appeared like a Mountain ſhould be burnt.

26 And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be † deſolate for ever ſaith the LORD l.

l God threatneth to Babylon an utter ruine and deſolation, ſo as they ſhould not have a ſtone left fit to lay a foundation, or to make a corner ſtone: or, as ſome others interpret it, that City ſhould never be built again, there ſhould never from the Rubbiſh of it be taken a ſtone to lay the foundation, nor to lay upon the corners of new Houſes, new Walls, new Towers in that place. Foundation Stones, and Corner Stones, are principal Stones in Buildings. Nothing ſhall be left in Babylon of any worth, value or conſiderableneſs.

27 Set ye up a ſtandard in the land, blow the trumpet amongſt the nations m, prepare the nations againſt her, call together againſt her the kingdoms of Ararat n, Minni, and Aſhchenaz o, appoint a captain againſt her p, cauſe the horſes to come up as the rough caterpillars q.

m Theſe former words of this Verſe are expounded by thoſe that follow, ſetting up of Standards and blowings of Trumpets, are preparatory to bring Armies together. The ſetting up of Standards, and blowing of Trumpets, are Military ſigns of the Will of thoſe Princes or Captains General, whoſe thoſe Standards are, and to whom thoſe Trumpets belong, that thoſe Soldiers who are under their Command ſhould gather themſelves together to the places where thoſe Standards are ſet up, and thoſe Trumpets blown. n What this Kingdom of Ararat was, o And thoſe of Minni and Aſhchenaz is very hard to determine, we read of a Mountain called Ararat, where the Ark reſted after the Flood, Geneſis 8. 4. Of Minni we read no where elſe; moſt Writers think theſe were two Kingdoms within Armenia. Aſhchenaz deſcended from Noah by Japhat, Geneſis 10. 3. certain it is that the Emperour of the Medes had the Dominion of theſe places, from whence it is very probable that either Cyrus or Darius, or both drew out Soldiers to help them to conquer the Chaldeans. p After People are gathered together for War, the firſt thing to be done is to put them into Military Order, conſtituting a Captain General. q Let the Horſes come up like the rough Caterpillar. Others read it like the waſting Caterpillar, or like the horrible afrighting Caterpillar. Great Diſputes there are amongſt critical Interpreters what Caterpillars are here meant, the Caterpillars being generally ſmooth; but as we know not the complexion of Inſects over all the World, ſo even amongſt us we ſee ſome Caterpillars that look a little rough; that which alone we are here to attend is why the Median Horſes are compared to theſe Inſects; undoubtedly it is either, 1. With reſpect to their Numbers, for Caterpillars in thoſe Countries uſed to come in vaſt numbers. 2. Or in regard of the horror and trembling cauſed by them in People when they came, being a great Plague to the places which they infeſted.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the captains thereof, and all the rulers thereof, and all the land of his dominion r.

r Here the Prophet declares thoſe particular Princes, and Nations that ſhould be God's Inſtruments to deſtroy Babylon, viz. Cyrus and Darius the Emperours of the Medes, with all the Forces under their Command, and People under their Dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorrow ſ; for every purpoſe of the LORD ſhall be performed againſt Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a deſolation without an inhabitant t.

ſ That is, Babylon, or the Land of Chaldea ſhall tremble and ſorrow. t For God hath determined to deſtroy it, and to leave it wholly deſolate, ſo as none ſhould dwell in it.

30 The mighty men of Babylon have forborn to fight, they have remained in their holds, their might hath failed *, they became as women ſ: they have burnt her dwelling places, her bars are broken t.

* Iſa 19. 16. Chap. 50. 37.

ſ When God hath determined an end, he ordereth means proportionable to that end. Babylon had many valiant and mighty Men, and it is very probable the Babylonians truſted very much to them, but when it came to, God took off their courage, ſo as they had no heart to fight, but kept themſelves in their ſtrong Holds, and, if at any time they came out, their courage failed them, and they behaved themſelves more like Women than Men of War, ſo as their Enemies burnt their Cities, brake down their Fortifications, and made what havock they pleaſed.

31 One poſt ſhall run to meet another, and one meſſenger to meet another, to ſhew the king of Babylon that his city is taken at one end u.

u We have had occaſion once and again to recite what we have in Civil Hiſtorians about the taking of Babylon by Cyrus, viz. That it was taken by ſurprize, by the Median Emperours unexpected diverting the River Euphrates by divers Channels which he cut; as alſo that Babylon was a very vaſt City, the greatneſs of which might admit of Poſts, and Meſſengers from one end of the City to another to acquaint the King what was done at the other end of the City in which himſelf was Reſident, and it is ſaid that the King of Babylon when his City was taken, did not know of his danger until the Enemy had entred the City.

32 And that the * paſſages are ſtopt w, and the reeds they have burnt with fire x, and the men of war are afrighted y.

w This was part of the meſſage which the Prophet ſaith the Meſſenger ſhould carry to the King of Babylon, that was in the other part of the City, that the paſſages over the River Euphrates, or any other paſſages by which the Babylonians might, upon the Enemies entrance, make their eſcape, were all ſtopped, and guarded with Soldiers, or otherwiſe ſo as there was no hope of any making an eſcape. x The word tranſlated Reeds ſignifies alſo ſtanding Pools of Water, and that ſome judge the ſence, the Water is drained out of the Pits or Pools, ſo as it could not hinder the entrance of the Enemies; thoſe that adhere to the Tranſlation of it Reeds, ſay that upon the borders of the River Euphrates were vaſt quantities of great and tall Reeds, which with the Mud in which they ſtood, were as another Wall to the City, but the Medes had burnt up them ſo as the way was open to the Walls; and the Men of War, y ſeeing theſe Reeds burnt up, and the Water drained from them, were afrighted, ſo as their hearts through fear failed them.

|| Or, in the time that he threſheth her.

33 For thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, the God of Iſrael. The daughter of Babylon is like a threſhing floor z, || it is time to threſh her: yet a little while, and the time of her harveſt ſhall come a.

z Babylon had been a threſhing inſtrument, by which, and a threſhing floor in which God had threſhed many other Nations, God now intended to make it as a Threſhing-floor wherein he would threſh the Chaldeans. a Some think becauſe of the next words that the words were better tranſlated it is time to tread her, (ſo the word properly ſignifies) as Men uſe to prepare their Threſhing-floors againſt the time of Harveſt, for the time of this Harveſt was near; her Harveſt ſignifieth the Harveſt which the Juſtice of God would have from the ruine of the Chaldeans.

34 Nebuchadrezzar the king of Babylon hath devoured me, he hath cruſhed me, he hath made me an empty veſſel, he hath ſwallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicates, he hath caſt me out b.

b The Prophet ſpeaketh this in the Name of the Jews complaining of the King of Babylon as the Author of all the Miſeries they had indured, which he expreſſeth by ſeveral Phraſes ſignifying the ſame thing, viz. That it was the King of Babylon that had ruined them, and filled himſelf and his Soldiers with their delicate things, and caſt them out of their Land, dealing with them as Wolves or other Beaſts of Prey, that eat what they pleaſe of other Beaſts they have preyed upon, and leave the reſt in the Fields.

|| Or, the remainder

35 The † violence done to me, and to || my fleſh, be upon Babylon, ſhall the † inhabitant of Zion ſay; and my blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, ſhall Jeruſalem ſay c.

c The words are either a Prayer, or a prediction of God's Vengeance upon Babylon, ſo Pſal. 137. Ver. 7, 8. God hath ſaid Vengeance is his, and he will repay it. The Church of the Jews here commits its cauſe to God, and prayeth him to execute Vengeance for her. How far it is lawful for us to pray againſt our Enemies, we have heard once and again.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will plead thy cauſe, and take vengeance for thee d, and I will * dry up her ſea, and make her ſprings dry e.

d Men had need take heed how they give cauſe of appeals to God againſt them, eſpecially the appeals of ſuch as are a People that have a Covenant relation to God. God in thoſe caſes ordinarily ſheweth himſelf a ſwift witneſs and Judge; and gives a ſpeedy Judgment in ſuch cauſes. Behold ſaith God I will plead thy cauſe, not with words, but actually with my judicial diſpenſations, therefore it is expounded by taking vengeance. c The Vengeance which God threatneth is expreſſed metaphorically under the notion of drying up her Sea, and making her Springs dry, which ſignifies the depriving her of all Neceſſaries, not only of the abundance of her Men, Riches, Treaſures, but of her Springs. Thus I had rather expound it, than as referring to the particular Stratagem by which Cyrus took Babylon, viz. By drying up in ſome meaſure the River Euphrates, that is, turning it into other Channels.

* Iſa. 13. 22.

37 And Babylon ſhall become heaps d, a * dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment and an hiſſing without an inhabitant e.

d Heaps of Rubbiſh. e See the Notes on Chap. 50. 39, 40. where the ſame thing was before ſaid.

m It is incertain whether this be to be underſtood of the Medes, making horrible roarings and noiſes when they took Babylon: Or, of the Babylonians, who upon the taking of their City (as is uſual) made horrid Outcries, as being a People quite undone; ſome think it referreth to the drunken noiſes of the Babylonians at their Feſtival, during the celebration of which we are told their City was taken; but to this one would think the compariſon of Lions Whelps (which ordinarily yell for want of Victuals, or for ſome miſchief done them, not when their Bellies are full) ſhould not ſo well agree.

* Ver. 57.

39 In their heat I will make their feaſts n, and * I will make them drunken, that they may rejoyce, and ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not awake, ſaith the LORD o.

n When they ſhall grow hot with Wine, I will put or give, or make them a Feaſt of another nature. Interpreters judge that the Prophet referreth to the Feaſt made by Belſhazzar, Dan. 5. 1. To a thouſand of his Lords, when he and his Wives, and Concubines drank Wine in the Veſſels belonging to the Temple, during which Feaſt the City was taken. o So they were made drunk with the Wine Cup of God's Fury, becauſe the Lord had deſigned them to utter ruine, and deſtruction, that as Men filled with Wine are merry, and ſhout, and then fall aſleep; ſo the Chaldeans being drunk with the Wine of the Lord's Wrath, while they were merry with their Cups of Wine, might fall into ſuch a Sleep as they ſhould never awake out of.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, like rams with he goats p.

p That is, they ſhall be deſtroyed before they are aware of it.

41 How is Sheſhach q taken? and how is the praiſe of the whole earth ſurprized r? how is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment among the nations ſ?

q We meet with this term Sheſhach only here, and Chap. 25, 26. both places leave it doubtful whether it be to be taken for an Idol, which they called by the Name of Shach: Or a Name given to the City of Babylon, which worſhipped that Idol, to the honour of which the Babylonians kept a yearly Feſtival for ſeveral days. In the time of which Feſtival they ſay it was that Cyrus took the City of Babylon. r Babylon that was ſo famous over all the World for her ſplendor. ſ And ſo it is interpreted in the next words, wherein Babylon for the puniſhment brought upon it is ſaid to be an aſtoniſhment to all Nations, which makes it probable that Babylon is what was called Sheſhach, by the doubling of a Letter, becauſe ſhe worſhipped Shach.

42 The ſea is come up upon Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof t.

t A multitude of Enemies, that are like the Sea in which there is a multitude of Waters, or that will over-run them as the Sea overfloweth the ſhore, or any Land into which it once breaketh.

43 Her cities are a deſolation, a dry land, and a wilderneſs, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doth any ſon of man paſs thereby u.

u See Chap. 2. 6. and 9. 12. the words are all of them deſcriptive of an utter deſolation, that ſhould not only be the fate of Babylon the head City, but of all the inferiour Cities that were as Daughters to that Mother City.

44 And I will puniſh Bel and Babylon w, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he hath ſwallowed up x, and the nations ſhall not flow together any more unto him y, yea the wall of Babylon ſhall fall z.

w Bel was the principal Babylonian Idol, of which ſee what is noted, Chap. 50. 2. x All the Veſſels of the Temple, 2 Chron. 36. 7. and whatever Gifts the Babylonians had preſented to him. y It was the cuſtom of other Nations to ſend Preſents to the Gods of thoſe Nations whom they were in ſubjection to, or whom they would appeaſe, whence it is that we read the Philiſtines when they had the Ark would not ſend it home without a preſent, 1 Sam. 6. 11. God by his Prophet foretelleth that the time ſhould come when the Nations ſhould come no more to Babylon, either to pay an homage to their chief Idol, nor yet to bring Offerings unto him. z And the City of Babylon ſhould be alſo ruined.

* Chap. 50. 8. & Ver. 6. Rev. 18. 4.

45 * My people, go ye out of the midſt of her, and deliver ye every man his ſoul from the fierce anger of the LORD a.

a Theſe words are an exhortation to the Jews to be willing upon the firſt proclamation of Liberty by Cyrus, to go out of Babylon, notwithſtanding the pleaſantneſs of the place, and that now their ſtakes had been pitched there many Years, becauſe of the ruine which ſhould moſt certainly come on that place.

46 And leſt your hearts faint, and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land b: a rumour ſhall both come one year, and after that in another year ſhall come a rumour, and violence in the land, ruler againſt ruler c.

b And leſt they ſhould be affrighted by the Succeſſion of Evils Year after Year that ſhould come upon Babylon. Some think it were better tranſlated, And let not your hearts faint. Though you ſhould hear of Cyrus his coming Year after Year, yet faint not (for they ſay Cyrus was one Year preparing, and that he ſpent the ſecond Year in paſſing through Aſſyria, ſo as he came not at Babylon till the third Year) no not though you ſhould ſee or hear of ſucceſſive troubles, and a great deal of violence in the Land by the oppoſition of great Princes one to another, for none of them ſhall do you any harm; but this doth not ſo well ſute to the former Verſe, where they are bidden to make haſte out and to ſave their own Lives. I do therefore prefer the ſence of our Interpreters and their Tranſlation of it, as making another Argument to perſwade them to make haſte out, becauſe they would by reaſon of the ſucceſſive evils Year after Year coming upon the Babylonians live there very troubleſome and uneaſie Lives.

† Heb. I will viſit upon.

47 Therefore behold, the days come, that † I will do judgment upon the graven images of Babylon, and her whole land ſhall be confounded c, and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her d.

c I will do, that is, I will execute Judgment upon the Idols of Babylon, and the whole Land of Chaldea ſhall be confounded, when they ſhall ſee that their Idols will do them no more Service. d Some in ſtead of her ſlain, would have it read her dancers (for the City was taken while Belſhazzar and his whole Court were Revelling) but the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations tells us the word will not bear it.

* Iſa. 44. 23. and 49. 13. Rev. 18. 20.

48 Then * the heaven, and the earth, and all that is therein ſhall ſing for Babylon e, for the ſpoilers ſhall come unto her from the north, ſaith the LORD f.

e All the Creatures in Heaven and Earth ſhall rejoyce at the Vengeance which God ſhall take upon Babylon, which had been the deſtroyer of ſo many of their People. f The Median Soldiers are thoſe here called Spoilers from the North.

|| Or, both Babylon is to fall, O ye ſlain of Iſrael, and with Babylon, &c.
|| Or, the country.

49 || As Babylon hath cauſed the ſlain of Iſrael to fall, ſo at Babylon ſhall fall the ſlain of || all the earth g.

g The words in the Hebrew have ſome difficulty, which is not ſo obvious to thoſe not acquainted with that Language, but hath given occaſion to Interpreters to vary in their particular Tranſlations of it, but they moſtly agree in the general ſence, viz. That theſe words are given as a reaſon why the whole Earth ſhould ſo much rejoyce in the ruine of Babylon, becauſe Babylon had cauſed Iſrael to fall: The latter term all the earth muſt be underſtood in a reſtrained ſence, for that earth; the Chaldeans coming up from all parts of Chaldea to help Babylon, ſhould be ſlain there, as by the means of Babylon the Iſraelites were ſlain that came up from all parts of Judea to help Jeruſalem.

50 Ye that have eſcaped the ſword, go away, ſtand not ſtill h: remember the LORD afar off i, and let Jeruſalem come into your mind k.

h It is hard to reſolve whether the Prophet here ſpeaks to the Chaldeans, or the Medes, or the Jews, though moſt underſtand it of the Jews whom God would have leave Babylon as ſoon as they ſhould have a Liberty proclaimed. i And to remember when they came into Judea the great things both of Juſtice toward the Chaldeans, and Mercy toward them, which God had done. k And keep Jeruſalem in their mind, as the place where they were to worſhip God according to his direction, and for which God had ſo wrought.

51 We are confounded, becauſe we have heard reproach l, ſhame hath covered our faces; for ſtrangers are come into the ſanctuaries of the LORD's houſe m.

l The words of this Verſe ſeem to prove that the Jews were the Perſons intended in the former Verſe whom God would have to go away, and not to ſtand ſtill, for it is out of doubt, that it is of them the Prophet here ſpeaketh, and whom the Prophet brings in here, ſaying, we are confounded, that is, aſhamed (as it is expounded in the next words) to hear the Enemies reproaching us, for our God, or for our Religion, as Pſal. 137. 3. And m becauſe Pagans that were Strangers to the Commonwealth of Iſrael, who Numb. 1. 51. might not come near the Tabernacle of the Lord, were come, and that not to worſhip, but to plunder and rifle in the Sanctuaries of the Lord, even into the Court of the Prieſts and of the Iſraelites, and into the moſt Holy Place; thoſe whoſe very preſence in theſe places had been a pollution of them.

52 Wherefore behold, the days come, ſaith the LORD, that I will do judgment upon her graven images, and through all her land, the wounded ſhall groan n.

n For which complaints of my People, or rather for which profanation of my Holy Place, I will be revenged upon their Graven Images, and not only upon their Idols, but upon the Worſhippers of them, and cauſe a groaning of wounded Men over all the Country of the Chaldeans; I will cauſe them to know that their Idols are not able to protect them from my Power and Juſtice.

* Obad. 4.

53 * Though Babylon ſhould mount up to heaven, and though ſhe ſhould fortifie the height of her ſtrength, yet from me ſhall ſpoilers come unto her, ſaith the LORD o.

o We are very prone to meaſure things by the meaſures of our own Reaſons, and to judge of events which are to be the effects of Divine Power, by humane probabilities, therefore God is put to uſe many words to the ſame purpoſe; he ſaw the Jews ſaying in their hearts, How can theſe things be? Babylon hath impregnable Walls (two hundred foot high ſo Hiſtorians report) and of a great breadth, and it hath very ſtrong, and high Towers; God by his Prophet tells them, that if they could mount up as high as Heaven, if they could make their Towers much ſtronger than they were, yet the Spoilers were to come from him, and he could and would ſend Spoilers, who would pull down her Walls, and break down her Towers.

54 A ſound of a cry cometh from Babylon, and great deſtruction from the land of the Chaldeans p.

p To aſſure them that what God threatned ſhould certainly be, he calls to the Jews to liſten, as if already there were a cry from Babylon, and a ſound of a great deſtruction from the Land of the Chaldeans.

55 Becauſe the Lord hath ſpoiled Babylon q, and deſtroyed out of her the great voice r, when her waves do roar, like great waters, a noiſe of their voice is uttered s.

q The Sword is not ſo much the Sword of the Medes, as the Sword of the Lord. It is he who is to be looked at, as the Spoiler of Babylon. r And hath made to ceaſe in that great City the noiſes cauſed from Multitudes of People in it walking up and down, and trafficking together. s The noiſe of her Enemies that ſhall break in upon her ſhall be like the noiſe and roarings of the Sea, when it daſheth upon the ſhore or upon ſome Rocks. That ſhall be the only noiſe ſhall be heard in her, inſtead of the Noiſes wont there to be made from the multitude of People, or from Revellers.

56 Becauſe the ſpoiler is come upon her, even upon Babylon, and her mighty men are taken, every one of their bows is broken t, for the LORD God of recompences, ſhall ſurely requite u.

t Little more is ſaid here than was before, only the words hint the taking of Babylon by a ſurprize when the King, and the Inhabitants were not aware of it, which we had before alſo told us, Verſe 39, 40. u In this the Prophet ſaith, that God would act but as a juſt God, a God of recompences. Where God's People ſuffer wrong, and either cannot revenge themſelves, or may not do it, being private Perſons (to whom God hath given no power of the Sword) if they can exerciſe Faith and Patience, they ſhall find God a God of Recompences, that can and will requite their Enemies, and plead their cauſe.

57 And * I will make drunk her princes, and her wiſe men, her captains and her rulers, and her mighty men, and they ſhall ſleep a perpetual ſleep, and not wake, ſaith the king, whoſe name is the LORD of hoſts w.

* Ver. 39.

w Drunken Men uſe to fall aſleep. The Prophet ſpeaks here metaphorically. His meaning is, that the Lord would fill them with the wine of his fury mentioned Chap. 25. 15, 16. and upon the drinking of it they ſhould ſleep their laſt ſleep, the effects of it ſhould be their utter ruine and deſtruction. Yet there ſeemeth to be an alluſion to the poſture the King of Babylon, and the Thouſand of his Lords mentioned, Dan. 5. 1. was in, when their City was taken (which as was before ſaid) was in the time of the Feſtival of their Idol Shach) when they were drinking Wine in the Bowls that were brought from the Temple at Jeruſalem, Verſe 3. Verſe 30. it is ſaid, In that very night was Belſhazzar the King of the Chaldeans ſlain.

58 Thus ſaith the LORD of hoſts, || The broad walls of Babylon ſhall be utterly || broken, and her high gates ſhall be burnt with fire x, and * the people ſhall labour in vain, and the folk in the fire, and they ſhall be weary y.

|| Or, the walls of broad Babylon.
* Hab. 2. 13.

x Incredible things are told us by Hiſtorians of this great City. They ſay the compaſs of it was threeſcore Miles about. That her Walls were in height two hundred foot, in breadth ſuch as two Chariots might drive a breaſt upon the top of them, that it had an hundred great Gates, many of them of Braſs, God threatens the breaking down of theſe Walls, and the burning of theſe high Gates and Towers. y And that though the People ſhould labour to quench this fire, or to rebuild this City, yet it would be all loſt labour, and they ſhould give over their enterpriſe, as being weary.

59 ¶ The word which Jeremiah the prophet commanded Seraiah, the ſon of Neriah, the ſon of Maaſeiah z, when he went || with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babylon a, in the fourth year of his reign b, and this Seraiah was a || quiet prince m.

|| Or, on the behalf of.

z Of this Seraiah we read no more than we have in this Verſe, though Chap. 36. 26. there be mention made of another Seraiah. a We no where read of any Journey Zedekiah made into Babylon till he was carried a Priſoner thither, it is therefore probable that with ſhould be tranſlated from as the ſame Particle is in other places, Geneſis 4. 1. and 44. 4. it being not uſual with great Princes to make Viſits one to another at ſuch diſtances, though the Jews tell us a Story of ſome ſuch thing. b The expreſſing of this Circumſtance of time, lets us know that this Prophecy was many Years before Babylon was deſtroyed, for it was ſeven Years before Jeruſalem was taken; ſo as it muſt be above ſixty Years before it was fulfilled in the firſt degree. m The Hebrew word admits of various Interpretations, ſome think that Menucha was a place over which Serkiah had ſome Authority under Zedekiah, the ſame with Manahah, 1 Chron. 8. 6. Others think it was a Name of Office, and ſignified Lord Chamberlain; but the beſt Interpreters ſee no reaſon to vary from our Tranſlation, the ſence of which is that he was a Man of a moderate quiet Temper, that perſwaded to Peace.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a book all the evil that ſhould come upon Babylon, even all theſe words that are written againſt Babylon.

61 And Jeremiah ſaid to Seraiah, When thou comeſt to Babylon, and ſhalt ſee, and ſhalt read all theſe words n.

n Not to the Chaldeans, nor poſſibly is it to be underſtood of a meer private reading of them to himſelf, but to the Jews, that were in Babylon, acquainting them with what God had ſpoken againſt Babylon by the Prophet.

62 Then ſhalt thou ſay, O LORD, thou haſt ſpoken againſt this place to cut it off, that none ſhall remain in it, neither man nor beaſt, but that it ſhall be † deſolate for ever o.

o Thou ſhalt teſtifie that thou believeſt what thou haſt read to be what ſhall moſt certainly come to paſs, by ſpeaking words to this Sence.

63 And it ſhall be when thou haſt made an end of reading this book, that thou ſhalt bind * a ſtone to it, and caſt it into the midſt of Euphrates.

* See Rev. 18. 21.

64 And thou ſhalt ſay, Thus ſhall Babylon ſink, and ſhall not riſe from the evil that I will bring upon her p: and they ſhall be weary q. Thus far are the words of Jeremiah r.

p It hath been often ſaid that Euphrates was that great River which ran by the Walls of Babylon; into this Seraiah is commanded by Jeremiah to throw this Roll of Prophecy againſt Babylon, ſymbolically to teach the Jews, that according to the Tenor of his Prophecy the time ſhould come after ſome Years, when Babylon ſhould be deſtroyed never to riſe again to any great view, or degree of ſplendor, no more than that Roll with the Stone tied to it ſhould riſe from the bottom of Euphrates. q Some read though they weary themſelves, that is, do what they can, or (as it is here) and they ſhall be weary with that weight of Judgment which ſhall be upon them. r Either the words of Jeremy relating to Babylon reach thus far, or all the words of Jeremiah remaining on Sacred Record (for it is thought that the next Chapter was rather penned by ſome other Holy Man) Or (which ſeemeth the beſt) the Prophetical words of Jeremiah, for the matter of the next Chapter is Hiſtorical, and the Book of Lamentations is not Prophetical; as to the main of it, though there be in it three or four Prophetical Paſſages, Lam. 4. 21, 22, &c.

CHAP. LII.

A Repetition of the Reign of Zedekiah: Of the Siege, Taking, and Deſtruction of Jeruſalem: With the Cauſes thereof; and what further hapned there, 1,—30, Evil-merodach advanceth Jehojachin, 31,—34.

1 ZEdekiah was one and twenty years old when he † began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jeruſalem; and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

3 For through the anger of the LORD it came to paſs in Jeruſalem and Judah, till he had caſt them out from his preſence, that Zedekiah rebelled againſt the king of Babylon a.

It is generally thought that what we have in this Chapter was not penned by the Prophet Jeremiah, who it is not probable would have ſo largely repeated what he had related before Chap. 39. and could not Hiſtorically relate what happened after his time as ſome things did which are mentioned towards the end of the Chapter, from Ver. 31. to the end. They therefore rather think it penned by ſome or other of thoſe in Babylon, and put in here as a Preface to the Book of Lamentations. What we have in the three firſt Verſes is intirely taken out of 2 Kings 24. 18, 19, 20. See the Notes there.

a Here the wicked actings of Zedekiah, and particularly his Rebellion againſt the King of Babylon who had made him King, as 2 Kings 24. 17. and to whom he had given an Oath of Fealty, is aſcribed to the wrath of the Lord; God not putting any ſuch wickedneſs into his heart, but ſuffering him ſo to miſcarry, having a deſign to ſend Judah into Captivity. Princes are often by God ſuffered to miſcarry, for the ſins of their People, which ſhould oblige us when we think we have cauſe to complain of the Errors of our Rulers, to conſider whether we have not by ſome ſinful courſes provoked God, which hath made him leave our Rulers ſo to miſcarry in order to our Ruine and Puniſhment.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon came, he and all his army againſt Jeruſalem, and pitched againſt it, and built forts againſt it round about.

5 So the city was beſieged unto the eleventh year of king Zedekiah.

6 And in the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was ſore in the city, ſo that there was no bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken up, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the gate, between the two walls, which was by the kings garden, (now the Chaldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the plain.

8 ¶ But the army of the Chaldeans purſued after the king, and overtook Zedekiah in the plains of Jericho, and all his army was ſcattered from him.

9 Then they took the king, and carried him up unto the king of Babylon to Riblah, in the land of Hamath; where he gave judgment upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon ſlew the ſons of Zedekiah before his eyes, he ſlew alſo all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he † put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babylon bound him in ‖ chains, and carried him to Babylon, and put him in † priſon till the day of his death b.

b This Hiſtory is found, 2 King. 25. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8. much in the ſame words. See the Annotations on that Chapter. Jeremiah alſo hath the ſubſtance of it, Chap. 39. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7. only neither of thoſe places have the laſt words, from whence we learn that Zedekiah died in Babylon a Priſoner.

12 ¶ Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month, (which was the nineteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babylon) came Nebuzar-adan ‖ † captain of the guard, which † ſerved the king of Babylon, into Jeruſalem.

† Heb. chief of the executioners or ſlaughtermen. And ſo Ver. 14. &c.

13 And burnt the houſe of the LORD, and the king's houſe, and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and all the houſes of the great men burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans, that were with the captain of the guard brake down all the walls of Jeruſalem, round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive certain of the poor of the people, and the reſidue of the people that remained in the city, and thoſe that fell away, that fell to the king of Babylon, and the reſt of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard left certain of the poor of the land for vine-dreſſers and for husbandmen c.

c See the Notes on 2 Kings 25. from Ver. 8. to the 13. where all this is related, only with a ſmall difference as to the Day of the Month when Nebuzar adan came to Jeruſalem and burnt the Temple. In the Kings it is ſaid he came the ſeventh Day, here it is ſaid he came the tenth Day. See the ſolution of it in the Annotations on 2 Kings 25. probably he might come into Jeruſalem the ſeventh Day, and not burn the Temple till the tenth. Much of it alſo is related by Jeremiah, Chap. 39. The Provoſt-Marſhal about a Month after the taking of the City, returned with a part of the Army, burnt the Temple, the great Mens Houſes in the City, and many other Houſes, and carried away divers Priſoners, but left ſome of the poorer ſort of the People to dreſs the Vineyards, and Till the Grounds, which is a thing very uſual with Conquerors, for their own advantage, that their Conqueſts may yield them ſome Revenue.

17 Alſo the * pillars of braſs that were in the houſe of the LORD, and the baſes, and the braſen ſea that was in the houſe of the LORD, the Chaldeans brake, and carried all the braſs of them to Babylon c.

* Chap. 27. 19.

c The particular enumeration of the parts and Utenſils of the Temple mentioned in this, and in the following Verſes, may be conceived to have been to juſtifie the Prophecy of Jeremiah, Chap. 27. 19. where there is a particular mention made of the Pillars, the Baſes, and the Sea, that they ſhould all with the reſidue of the Veſſels of the Temple be carried into Babylon. Of theſe Pillars we read 1 Kings 7. 15. they were of Braſs eighteen Cubits high, they were in the Porch of the Temple, Ver. 21. of the Baſes we read there alſo largely from Ver. 27. to Ver. 38. they alſo were all of Braſs; and of the Sea from Ver. 23 to Ver. 27. Theſe being all made of Braſs were for conveniency of carriage broken by the Chaldeans.

18 * The Caldrons alſo d, and the ‖ ſhovels e, and the ſnuffers f, and the ‖ bowls g, and the ſpoons ∴, and all the veſſels of braſs wherewith they miniſtred, took they away.

* Exod. 27. 3.
‖ Or, Inſtruments to remove the aſhes.
‖ Or, baſons.

d Theſe were called Pots, 2 Kings 25 14. e Which were to remove the aſhes from the Altar. f Some think that this word in this place were better tranſlated Tongs, becauſe he is ſpeaking of Inſtruments of Braſs, and that thoſe Utenſils are not here underſtood with which they ſnuffed the Lamps, becauſe they were of Gold. g Or Baſons; it is uncertain which is here intended, there being in the Temple, both Bowls to drink in, and alſo Baſons to receive the Blood of the Sacrifices. ∵ The word is ſuch as may ſignifie Ladels, or Cups, or Diſhes.

‖ Or, Cenſors.

19 And the baſons, and the ‖ fire-pans, and the bowls, and the caldrons, and the candleſticks, and the ſpoons, and the cups: that which was of gold in gold, and that which was of ſilver in ſilver, took the captain of the guard away h.

h Some of theſe Utenſils were only of Braſs; others, were ſome of them Braſs, ſome of Silver, ſome of Gold, the Captain of the guard carried away all, both thoſe of Silver, and thoſe of Gold, and thoſe of Braſs.

20 The two pillars, one ſea, and twelve brazen bulls, that were under the baſes which king Solomon had made in the houſe of the LORD: † the braſs of all theſe veſſels was without weight i.

i Solomon made two Pillars, 1 Kings 7. 15. which Ver. 21. he called Jachin and Boaz, Ver. 23. a molten Sea, ten Cubits broad, this Ver. 25. ſtood upon twelve Oxen, and had ten Baſes Ver. 25, 27. the making of all theſe took up a vaſt quantity of Braſs, as any one will eaſily judge, who 1 Kings 7. 27. readeth the dimenſions of theſe things.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and a † fillet of twelve cubits did compaſs it, and the thickneſs thereof was four fingers: it was hollow k.

k This agreeth with 1 Kings 7. 15. where what is called here a fillet, is called a thred, concerning the height of the Pillars we read the ſame 2 Kings 25. 17 2 Chron. 3. 15.

22 And a chapiter of braſs was upon it, and the height of one chapiter was five cubits with net-work, and pomegranates upon the chapiters round about, all of braſs, the ſecond pillar alſo and the pomegranates were like to theſe.

23 And there were ninety and ſix pomegranates on a ſide, and * all the pomegranates upon the net-work, were an hundred round about l.

l There are ſome differences as to the meaſure of theſe Chapiters betwixt 2 Kings 25. 17. and this Text; here the height of them is made to be five Cubits, there it is ſaid to be three Cubits, that which is ſaid to reſolve this difficulty is, That there were three parts in the Chapiter, the Square, the Belly, and the Crown, and that this Text gives an account of the whole; but that Text 2 Kings 25. 17. gives an account only of the Belly and the Crown which were no more than three Cubits. The like difference there is betwixt this Text, and 1 Kings 7. 19. and 2 Chron. 4. 13. about the number of the Pomegranates. In the Book of Kings it is ſaid the Pomegranates were in number two hundred, Chron. 4. 13. they are ſaid to have been four hundred. The meaning is, There were an hundred in a row, in the two rows two hundred, in the four rows (two upon each Pillar) four hundred. Some other difference alſo there is about the particular number of Pomegranates on a ſide, which are here ſaid to be but ninety ſix, which make on the two ſides but one hundred ninety two, on the four ſides but three hundred eighty four, and comes up neither to the two hundred mentioned in the Book of Kings, nor to the number of four hundred mentioned in the Book of Chronicles. Vide the Engliſh Annotations, where the learned Author hath obſerved that in the Hebrew, what we tranſlate of a ſide, is word for word Wind-ward, that is, toward the four Winds, ſo as the Table was ſquare, and there were twenty four on each ſide which made ninety ſix in all, to which four being added, one at each corner, this made an hundred. But theſe are niceties, a ſatisfaction in which is of no great concernment to us, unleſs to ſatisfie ſuch as would make uſe of theſe little things to queſtion the authority of the Scriptures, becauſe of theſe ſeeming contradictions of how little concernment ſo ever they be as to our Faith and Holineſs.

24 ¶ And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief prieſt, and Zephaniah the ſecond prieſt, and the three keepers of the † door m.

m See the Notes on 2 Kings 25. 18. where we have the ſame words. This Seraiah was not he mentioned Chap. 51 59. but the Son of Azariah, 1 Chron 6. 14. By the ſecond Prieſt, Interpreters underſtand him that ſupplied the place of the High Prieſt in caſe he were ſick, &c. he that was ſent by Zedekiah to the Prophet, Chap. 21. 1. and whom Shemah choſe by his Letters Chap. 29. 25. for not ſetting Jeremiah in the Stocks. It is probable there were more Keepers of the Door, but the Captain of the Guard took only three of the Principal.

† Heb. ſaw the face of the king.

‖ Or, the ſcribe of the captain of the hoſt.

25 He took alſo out of the city, an eunuch, which had the charge of the men of war, and ſeven men of them that † were near the kings perſon which were found in the city, and the ‖ principal ſcribe of the hoſt, who muſtered the people of the land, and threeſcore men of the people of the land, that were found in the midſt of the city n.

n See 2 Kings 25. 19. only there is mention but of five men, here there is mention of ſeven, but probably two of them were of leſs note.

26 So Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babylon ſmote them, and put them to death in Riblah, in the land of Hamah. Thus Judah was carried away captive out of his own land o.

o See 2 Kings 25. 20, 21.

28 This is the people whom Nebuchadrezzar carried away captive; in the ſeventh year, three thouſand Jews and three and twenty p.

p That is in the time of Jehojachin, 2 Kings 24. 12, 13 14. here it is ſaid to be in the ſeventh year, there in the eighth year, it might be in part of both. But there is a difference in the number of the captives which are here ſaid to be 3023, and 2 Kings 24. 14, 16. ſeven thouſand, or eight. It is thought by ſome that the number here mentioned were ſuch as properly belonged to Judah, and the number mentioned 2 Kings 24. were the number of the Captives of Judah and Benjamin. See the Engliſh Annotat.

29 In the eighteenth year of Nebuchadrezzar he carried away captive from Jeruſalem eight hundred thirty and two † perſons q.

q That was the Year when the City was broken up.

30 In the three and twentieth year of Nebuchadrezzar, Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews ſeven hundred, forty and five perſons: all the perſons were four thouſand and ſix hundred r.

r Of this we read nothing in Holy Writ, ſome judge it to have been upon occaſion of Iſhmael's killing Gedaliah, but this was four Years after the taking of the City, and we are not certain what at this time brought again the Chaldean Forces.

31 ¶ And it came to paſs in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah s, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month s, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the firſt year of his reign, lifted up the head of Jehojachin king of Judah, and brought him forth out of priſon t.

s Jehojachin began his Reign at eighteen Years of Age, 2 Kings 24. 8. and reigned but three Months, but that he yielded himſelf to the King of Babylon Beſieging him, Ver. 12. in the eighth Year of the King of Babylon's Reign. He was a Priſoner in Babylon (as appeareth by this Text) in which circumſtances he continued (as appears from this Text) about thirty Years; which was during the whole Reign of Nebuchadrezzar, ſometimes called Nebuchadnezzar, ſometimes Nebuchadonoſor. Evil-Merodach was Son to this Nebuchadrezzar, who, in the twelfth Month of that Year, the 25th Day of the Month (ſaith this Text, but 2 Kings 25. 27. it is the twenty ſeventh day, but that difference may eaſily be reconciled, The Penman of this part of Holy Writ, might count preciſely from the Day of his Fathers Death, and the Penman of the Book of Kings from the time of the Coronation of Evil-Merodach, or when he openly ſhewed himſelf as King; or the one might reckon from the Day that Evil-Merodach decreed the thing, the other from the Day when he put it in Execution.) t Lifted up the head, which ſignifies in Scripture the altering of ones eſtate that is in Miſery, Gen. 40 20. which is all that is here meant, for his bringing him out of Priſon is mentioned in the next words. The Reaſon of this favour is variouſly gueſſed at. The Reverend Author of our Engliſh Annotations fancieth, that Evil-Merodach, might be much of the ſame Age with him, and that Jehojachin got into the Acquaintance of this Evil-Merodach, during his Thirty Years Captivity, who conſidering his long Impriſonment, and that now there was no danger of his heading the Jews (whoſe City had now been deſtroyed Twenty five Years and upward) this Prince out of his Humanity might ſhew him this favour, nor are ſuch things unuſual in Nations upon their changes of Princes and Counſellors.

32 And ſpake † kindly unto him, and ſet his throne above the thrones of the kings that were with him in Babylon u.

u The King of Babylon might have other Kings his Priſoners, his Father having been ſo great a Conquerour, or he might have other Kings, his Subjects, that might reſide at his Court; and either out of a particular kindneſs he had to Jehojachin, or in regard of the Fame of David and Solomon, from whom Jehojachin lineally deſcended, he might do him this Honour.

33 And changed his priſon-garments: and he did continually eat bread before him all the days of his life.

34 And for his diet, there was a continual diet given him of the King of Babylon, † every day a portion, until the day of his death, all the days of his life w.

w He treated him like a Prince with a reſpect becoming his former State, took care both for his Habit and Diet, for his Habit, that it ſhould be decent, ſuch as became a Perſon of his Quality, though a Captive: for his Diet, that he ſhould have it in his Court, thereby learning others that Humanity which becometh all Men to treat others with that are fallen under their power; that Decency, which becometh them as Men, and as Men whoſe Circumſtances have been better; doing to others, as we would they ſhould do unto us. Thus Jehojachin's Lot was different from that of his Father Jehoiachim, whoſe Body was caſt out as we heard before: As alſo from that of his Uncle Zedekiah, who did not only die in Babylon, but died a Priſoner; his Nephew Jehoiachim died there, and a Captive, but not in durance. Theſe four laſt Verſes are found alſo 2 Kings 25. 27, 28, 29, 30. and being found here in a Narrative form, related as a piece of Hiſtory relating a thing done: not in a prophetical ſtile, are an Argument (as was ſaid before) that this whole Chapter, is no part of the Prophecy of Jeremiah, and probably not wrote by him, for he beginning his Prophecy in the thirteenth Year of Joſiah, who reigned thirty one Years, and continuing it three Months during the Reign of Jehoahaz, and eleven Years during the Reign of Jehoiachim, and three Months during the Reign of Jehojachin (or Jeconiah) and eleven Years during the Reign of Zedekiah; and Jehojachin, outliving the Reign of Zedekiah Twenty five Years, it muſt needs be ſixty five Years and an half after the word of the Lord firſt came to Jeremiah before the Death of Jehojachin; ſo as the Prophet if he lived to that time muſt be near an hundred Years old, which is not probable. Here now endeth the Hiſtory of the Kingdom of Judah. I ſhall only note the ſevere Judgment of God upon this People, whoſe Kingdom was made up of the two Tribes of Judah and Benjamin, and half the Tribe of Manaſſeh. In the numbering of the Perſons belonging to theſe two Tribes, Numb. 1. (counting half of the number of the Tribe of Manaſſeh) we find One hundred twenty ſix thouſand one hundred, Numb. 26. we find of them One hundred forty eight thouſand four hundred and fifty. Here Verſe 30. we find no more of them carried into Captivity, than four thouſand and ſix hundred. From whence we may judge what a multitude of them were ſlain by the Sword, or killed by the Famine and the Peſtilence, though we make a great allowance for ſuch as were left in the Land to dreſs Vineyards, and to till the Ground. It is a dreadful thing to fall into the hands of the living God, to mock his meſſengers, deſpiſe his words, and miſuſe his Prophets, till there be no remedy, as this People did, 2 Chron. 36. 16.

Lamentations of JEREMIAH.

The ARGUMENT.

THis Book in Greek, Latine, and Engliſh hath its name from the Subject matter of it, which is Lamentation So alſo amongſt the Hebrew Writers, but in the Hebrew it hath its Name from the firſt word of the Book, as alſo the five Books of Moſes have.

That it was Wrote by Jeremiah none can reaſonably queſtion, becauſe in the Hebrew it is ſtiled, The Book of Jeremiah.

There is little controverſie about the Time, or Occaſion of the Writing of it. That the Occaſion was the miſeries of the People, by reaſon of the Famine, Sword, and Captivity is evident to thoſe that read any part of it; but whether they were thoſe miſeries which began with the Death of Joſiah, and held on till the City was taken, which was two and twenty or three and twenty years after; Or thoſe only which began with the Siege and followed on many Years, hath been doubted by ſome. That Jeremiah lamented for Joſiah, and all the ſinging Men, and ſinging Women ſpake of Joſiah in their Lamentations, is plain from 2 Chron. 35. 25. But that theſe were the forms they uſed, or that they were compoſed upon that ſad account appeareth not, and the miſeries, which the Prophet mentioneth befell not the People in the time of Joſiah, but during the Siege, more than twenty Years after Joſiah's Death. Nor is there any thing which looks like a Lamentation for Joſiah through the whole Book, unleſs Chap. 4. 20. which (as we ſhall ſhew) may alſo be fairly interpreted of Zedekiah: Some think that Jeremiah began to write them upon the Death of Joſiah, and continued his ſtile to the time of the Captivity, ſetting down all the miſeries the People ſuffered all along that time.

The Scope of the writing as to thoſe whom it immediately concerned, is plain and obvious, viz. to affect the People with thoſe Judgments which came upon them for their ſins: As to us (upon whom the ends of the World are come) to mind us to take heed of their Sins, leſt we be ſharers in their Plagues.

The Book is made up of Complaints of their lamentable condition; Petitions unto God for Mercy, and Prophecies both of their better eſtate, and the ruine of their Enemies.

In the four firſt Chapters are ſeveral Alphabets of Letters beginning the ſeveral Verſes, each Verſe beginning with a new Letter, only Chapter 3. every three Verſes begin with a new Letter; the myſtery of which we do not underſtand, nor poſſibly was there any myſtery intended in it, only the Chapters were ſo compoſed for the advantage of our Memories,

The whole Book lets us ſee from what an height of dignity, to what a depth of miſery ſin may bring Nations, how much ſoever intereſted in God; and likewiſe directs us to our duty in ſuch ſtates of Affliction and Miſery if we would obtain Mercy.

CHAP. I.

Jeremiah lamenteth the former Excellency and preſent Miſery of Jeruſalem for her ſin, 1,——12. She complaineth of her Grief, 12,——17. Confeſſeth God's Judgments to be Righteous: And prayeth unto him, 18, —22.

1 HOW doth the city ſit ſolitary, that was full of people a? how is ſhe become as a widow b? ſhe that was great among the nations, and princeſs among the provinces, how is ſhe become tributary? c.

a The interrogative Particle how? Once expreſſed and twice more underſtood in this Verſe, doth not ſo much inquire the cauſe or reaſon of the effect, as expreſs admiration, or lamentation. The Prophet admires the miſerable ſtate of the City, which was full of People beyond the proportion of other Cities, and now was ſolitary, ſo thin of People that ſcarce any could be ſeen in her Streets. b She that had a King, or rather a God, that was an Husband to her, now was forſaken of God, her King taken from her, and ſhe like a poor Widow. c She that was like a Princeſs amongſt the Nations, that ſometimes (as in David's time) had the Moabites, Ammonites, &c. Tributaries to her, was now a Tributary her ſelf.

* Jer. 13. 17. * Job 7. 3. Pſal. 6. 6.

2 * She weepeth ſore in * the night, and her tears are on her cheeks d: among all her lovers ſhe hath none to comfort her, all her friends have dealt treacherouſly with her, they are become her enemies e.

d All her hours are hours of ſadneſs, ſhe doth not only mourn in the day time, but in the night alſo, when ſhe ſhould reſt, her Cheeks are like the Graſs in the Morning hanging full of drops, as if her Head were a Fountain of Water, and her Eyes Rivers of Tears. e In her Proſperity ſhe had a great many Friends that ſought, and courted her favour, with whom ſhe made Leagues, and confederated (ſuch were the Egyptians, Aſſyrians, &c.) but they were now ſo far from helping the Jews, that they helped their Enemies, and dealt treacherouſly with them becoming themſelves Enemies inſtead of Aſſiſtants to them.

3 Judah is gone into captivity, becauſe of affliction, and † becauſe of great ſervitude f: ſhe dwelleth among the heathen, ſhe findeth no reſt g: all her perſecutors overtook her between the ſtraits h.

f This is expounded as the cauſe why the Jews were carried into Captivity, becauſe of the ſervitude, and oppreſſion exerciſed amongſt them, oppreſſion by their Rulers, and ſervitude more generally, keeping their Servants beyond the Year of Jubilee, when they ought to have ſet them at liberty, and that this was one cauſe appeareth from Jer. 34. 17. or if becauſe of affliction, &c. be joined to the next words, the ſence is plain ſhe dwelleth amongſt the Heathen, by reaſon of her low condition, and the ſtate of ſervitude ſhe is in. g Where ſhe (that is the Jews) have neither any ſatisfaction nor quiet in their own minds, nor are they by their Enemies ſuffered to be at quiet any where. h Thoſe that purſued them with all violence to deſtroy them, overtook them in places where they could not eſcape them, as Huntſmen and others take their Game by driving them into ſtrait and narrow places.

4 The ways of Zion do mourn, becauſe none cometh to the ſolemn feaſts i: all her gates are deſolate k: her prieſts ſigh l, her virgins are afflicted, and ſhe is in bitterneſs m.

i The ways that lead to the Temple, have as unlovely a Complexion as Mourners, being overgrown by reaſon that none goeth up as uſually to the Feaſts of the Paſſover, of Tabernacles, &c. Either all the Gates of Jeruſalem, or the Temple, or all her Cities are very thin of People, the places that uſe to be ſo full. l Her Prieſts that were wont to be ſo fully imployed at Feſtivals receiving the Peoples Oblations, and offering Sacrifices, they mourn having now nothing to do. m The Virgins who in thoſe Feaſts were wont to play with Timbrels, Pſal. 68. 25. they now mourn, and Perſons of all Ages and Ranks are in bitterneſs.

5 Her adverſaries are * the chief, her enemies proſper: for the LORD hath afflicted her n; for the multitude of her tranſgreſſions, her children are gone into captivity before the Enemy o.

* Jer. 52. 28.

n God hath fulfilled his threatning, Deut. 28. 43. The Enemy is got above us, and we are brought very low, for the multitude of our ſins, directly contrary to his promiſe in caſe of obedience, Ver. 13. o Not only our young and old Men, but the little Children, have been driven like Sheep before the Enemy into a miſerable Captivity.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beauty is departed p: her princes are become like harts that find no paſture, and they are gone without ſtrength before the purſuer q.

p All the inhabitants of Zion have loſt their former Beauty, whatſoever ſplendor the City had, whether from the multitude or gallantry of her Inhabitants, it is all gone, her Nobles are become thin, and ill-favoured like Beaſts almoſt ſtarved, their Enemies purſue them to deſtroy them, and they have no ſtrength to oppoſe or reſiſt them.

7 Jeruſalem remembred in the days of her affliction, and of her miſeries, all her || pleaſant things that ſhe had in the days of old, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, and none did help her r, the adverſaries ſaw her, and did mock at her ſabbaths ſ.

r The Inhabitants of Jeruſalem now, that they are in affliction and miſery, have time to remember their former Mercies, and with how many deſirable things God had once bleſſed them, and compare her former ſtate before ſhe fell into the Enemies hands, with her preſent ſtate now ſhe is in their power. ſ Now it is an affliction to them to hear her Enemies mock at her Sabbaths, which while they enjoyed they abuſed.

† Heb. become a removing, or a wandring.
* Jer. 13. 26. Ezek. 16. 37. & 23. 29.

8 Jeruſalem hath grievouſly ſinned: therefore ſhe † is removed: all that honoured her, deſpiſe her t, * becauſe they have ſeen her nakedneſs: yea ſhe ſigheth, and turneth backward.

t She is carried out of her own Land into an Enemies Countrey, and made an hiſſing and ſcorn to thoſe who before reverenced her, (in all this God is righteous; for all orders of Men have grievouſly ſinned) becauſe they have ſeen the Lord ſtripping her of all her Bleſſings, and expoſing her to the ſcorn and reproach of all Men as Strumpets are expoſed.

* Deut. 32. 29.

9 Her filthineſs is in her ſkirts w, ſhe * remembreth not her laſt end, therefore ſhe came down wonderfully: ſhe had no comforter x: O LORD behold my affliction: for the enemy hath magnified himſelf y.

w He perſiſteth in his compariſon of the Jewiſh People, either to a ſluttiſh naſty Woman, or to an impudent Woman that is not aſhamed to expoſe her naſtineſs or wickedneſs to the view of all. x That is, the Jews never conſidered, or would not believe what thoſe degrees of ſin would at laſt bring them to, and that hath been the cauſe of that prodigious Calamity into which God had brought them. y The Prophet turns himſelf to God, whom he deſires to behold the affliction of this People, that is, with a pitiful compaſſionate Eye. It is a very uſual thing in Holy Scripture, to ſignifie the acts of the Heart, by the acts of the inward and outward Senſes, thoſe eſpecially of the Memory, Eye and Ear, becauſe Objects muſt be firſt brought in by the Senſes before they can affect the Soul. Hence (the Scripture ſpeaking of God after the manner of Men) the Servants of God deſiring God to have compaſſion on them, ſhew them favour, &c. deſire him to behold and look upon their affliction.

10 The adverſary hath ſpread out his hand upon all her || pleaſant things z: for ſhe hath ſeen that the heathen entred into her ſanctuary, whom thou didſt command that they * ſhould not enter into thy congregation a.

z That is, hath got them into poſſeſſion. By pleaſant things are here to be underſtood the Ornaments of the Temple, upon which the Enemy had laid violent hands, ſo this Phraſe of ſpreading out the hand is taken Iſa. 25. 11. The things of the Sanctuary were always pleaſant things to thoſe that feared God. Poſſibly thoſe that little valued them before, now looked upon them in their true notion. We ſeldom know our mercies till we come to be deprived of them. a He means the Ammonites, and Moabites whom the Law concerned, Deut. 23. 3. Some of whom probably aſſiſted the Babylonians in the Conqueſt of Judæa.

* Jer. 52. 6.
|| Or, to make the ſoul to come again.

11 All her people ſigh *, they ſeek bread b, they have given their pleaſant things for meat to || relieve the ſoul c: ſee, O LORD, and conſider, for I am become vile d.

b He ſpeaketh probably with reference to the Siege, after which the People had ſcarcely any pleaſant things to exchange for Bread. The whole Body of the People was in a ſad condition, and in a Land that ordinarily flowed with Milk and Honey, they were at loſs for Bread to eat. c And gave any thing for ſomething to ſatisfie their hunger. d The Prophet ſends up a ſudden Ejaculation to God much like that Ver. 6. The Argument he uſeth is drawn from the miſery the People were in, expreſſed under the notion of being become vile, that is miſerable or contemptible.

† Heb. paſs by the way.
* Dan. 9. 12.

12 ¶ || Is it nothing to you, all ye that † paſs by? behold, and ſee, * if there be any ſorrow like to my ſorrow: which is done unto me, wherewith the LORD hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce anger e.

e The Prophet ſpeaks in the Name of the Jewiſh Church, as a Woman in miſery ſitting by the way ſide, and calling to Paſſengers that came by to have compaſſion on her, ſuggeſting to them, that her affliction was no ordinary affliction, nor the effect of a common and ordinary Providence, but the effect of the Lord's fierce anger, a moſt ſevere puniſhment.

13 From above hath he ſent fire into my bones, and it prevaileth againſt them f; he hath ſpread a net for my feet g, he hath turned me back: he hath made me deſolate, and faint all the day.

f By Fire he means a Judgment as conſuming, and as afflictive as Fire in the Bones, which had conſumed the ſtrength of the Jews. g That is, God had brought them into a condition wherein they were entangled, and could not get out. The Holy Man owneth God as the firſt cauſe of all the evil they ſuffered, and entitles God to their various kinds of afflictions; both in Captivity, and during the Siege, looking beyond the Babylonians who were the proximate inſtrumental cauſe.

14 The yoke of my tranſgreſſions is bound by his hand h: they are wreathed, and come up upon my neck i: he hath made my ſtrength to fall; the LORD hath delivered me into their hands, from whom I am not able to riſe up k.

h Still the Prophet eyeth God in all, and acknowledgeth his Juſtice while he calls their afflictions the yoke of their tranſgreſſions, that is, which was put upon their Neck, upon the ſame account that Yokes are put about the Necks of Beaſts that uſe to break Hedges, &c. and bound to keep them faſt. i My puniſhments are twiſted as Cords, to make them more ſtrong; I have a complication of Judgments upon me, Sword, Famine, Peſtilence, Captivity, they are not only prepared for my Neck, but they are already put upon it. k All my valiant Men, the ſtrength of my Nation is broken, and I am ſo fallen, that I am not able to riſe again.

15 The LORD hath trodden under foot all my mighty men in the midſt of me l: he hath called an aſſembly againſt me, to cruſh my young men m: the LORD hath trodden || the virgin, the daughter of Judah, as in a winepreſs n.

l In the midſt of me, may be interpreted either as pleonaſtical, or as denoting the place in which they loſt their valiant Men, viz. in the midſt of the City during the Siege, not in the Field. m Inſtead of thoſe ſolemn Aſſemblies that were wont to be called together within Hieruſalem by ſound of Trumpet for the ſolemn Worſhip of God; God had called an Aſſembly of Chaldeans as Adverſaries againſt the City, to cruſh the Inhabitants of it. n God had trodden upon the Jews as Men uſe to ſtamp Grapes in a Winepreſs, where they uſe to cruſh them to pieces to get out the Juice, and then they throw the husks that are good for nothing upon the Dunghills. Theſe are but various expreſſions to ſet out the miſery which God had brought this People for their Sins into.

16 For theſe things I weep, * mine eye, mine eye runneth down with water o, becauſe the comforter that ſhould † relieve my ſoul, is far from me p, my children are deſolate, becauſe the enemy hath prevailed q.

o For theſe ſore afflictions, and for my ſins that have cauſed them, and for theſe impreſſions of Divine Wrath which I diſcern in them, Lord! I that am thy Prophet, and we that are Iſraelites indeed weep, and that plentifully; p having neither thee preſent with us as formerly to be our hope or comfort, nor any Friend that will deal by us as Friends ſometimes do by others in ſwooning fits to fetch back their Souls. q Either the other Cities of Judah (Jeruſalem was the Mother City) or my People, my Inhabitants, are waſted deſtroyed, and made deſolate, becauſe the Enemy hath prevailed.

17 * Zion ſpreadeth forth her hands r, and there is none to comfort her ſ; the LORD hath commanded concerning Jacob that his adverſaries ſhould be round about him t: Jeruſalem is as a menſtruous woman amongſt them u.

* Jer. 4. 31.

r The ſame in this Verſe is meant by Zion, Jacob and Jeruſalem, unleſs Zion more ſpecially ſignifieth the Jews conſidered as a Church, becauſe of the Temple built upon it. She ſpreadeth out her hands as in a poſture of mourning, and bewailing her ſelf. ſ But ſhe had none that could afford her any comfort. t God had commanded concerning the Jews who were deſcended from Jacob, (their twelve Tribes from his twelve Sons) that their Enemies ſhould incompaſs them. u They were become loathſome and filthy even in the Eyes of their Enemies like Women, which were ſeparated from the Congregation during their legal Uncleanneſs.

w The Prophet either directeth thoſe that feared God what they ſhould ſay, or expreſſeth what many of them did ſay in the Name of the reſt, acknowledging both the Lord's Juſtice and Faithfulneſs, becauſe they had been diſobedient to the Commandments of God. x In theſe words the Prophet only perſonates a paſſionate Woman begging pity of all becauſe her Children were taken from her.

19 I called for my lovers, but they * deceived me y; my prieſts and mine elders gave up the ghoſt in the city, while they ſought their meat to relieve their ſouls z.

20 Behold, O LORD a, for I am in diſtreſs; my * bowels are troubled: mine heart is turned within me, for I have grievouſly rebelled; * abroad the ſword bereaveth, at home there is as death b.

a The Petition is of the ſame nature as before, a petition for mercy as the product of that pity and compaſſion which extream miſery begets in good Souls (and is aſcribed unto God though found in him in a much more perfect degree, Pſal. 78. 38. and 86. 15. and 111. 4.) through the eyes affecting the heart. b The argument the Prophet uſeth is drawn from the miſery this People was now in, which he expreſſeth metaphorically, telling us their Bowels were troubled, their Heart turned, ſignifying the more inward diſturbance of their mind; or, more plainly, and that both generally ſaying they were in diſtreſs, and more particularly by the great Judgments of the Sword, and Famine, the Sword in the Field, the Famine in the City; unleſs the Sword alone be meant both without and within the Gates of the City. In all this the Church juſtifieth God, confeſſing this was but the righteous product of her ſin, by which, ſhe having formerly ſubjected her ſelf to God, had grievouſly rebelled; for as all Men are born Subjects to God, ſo by their ſins they are become Rebels, ſo it is a great aggravation of Mens Rebellion againſt the Lord, when they have formerly taken an Oath of fealty to the Lord, and as Moſes ſaid, avouched the Lord as their God.

21 They have heard that I ſigh c, there is none to comfort me d: all mine enemies have heard of my trouble, they are glad that thou haſt done it e: thou wilt * bring the day that thou haſt || called, and they ſhall be like unto me f.

* Iſa. 13, &c. Jer. 46, &c.

c The Nations contiguous to me, Egypt, &c. thoſe that before courted me, as pretended Friends have been no ſtrangers to my bitter afflictions, that have brought forth ſighs from me. d But there is none of them can or will comfort me, but give me over as in a deſperate caſe. e The Edomites, Obad. 1. &c. and Moabites and other Heathen Nations, with whom I have had hoſtility, they are glad at the great miſery that hath befallen me. f But thou haſt declared thy pleaſure for their deſtruction alſo, and haſt by me proclaimed it, Jer. 49. and 50. and thou ſhalt in that day bring them into as ſad a condition as the Church of the Jews are now in. As they ſeldom in themſelves feel thoſe Miſeries, which they have felt and compaſſionated in others: So Men hardly eſcape their own ſhare at laſt in thoſe evils which they have rejoyced to ſee brought upon God's People.

22 Let all their wickedneſs come before thee: and do unto them, as thou haſt done unto me for all my tranſgreſſions: for my ſighs are many, and my heart is faint g.

g This Verſe is another Prophetical Curſe or Imprecation, ſeveral of which we meet with in Holy Writ, Pſal. 109. 6, 7, 8, 9. and 137. 8. Jer. 11. 20. and 18. 23. and in many other Texts, which would incline us to think that our Saviour's Precept, Matth. 5. 44. to pray for thoſe that perſecute us, back'd by his own Example, Luke 23. 34. and Stephen's, Acts 7. 60. is either to be interpreted of praying for the forgiveneſs of their ſins, (we ought to deſire the eternal Condemnation of none:) or to be reſtrained to ſuch as are our perſonal Enemies, not the common Enemies of the Church of God. Our Saviour's Precept moſt certainly is not to be ſo interpreted, but that we may lawfully pray for ſuch evils to the implacable Enemies of the Church, and People of God as may reſtrain and weaken their hands, and put them out of a capacity of waſting the Lord's Heritage; we are only obliged by it to wiſh well to their Souls, and to deſire no evil againſt them out of private revenge or malice, but only out of Love to God, and Zeal for his Glory; but for their outward Proſperity in their Courſes of Enmity we ought no more to pray, than againſt their eternal Salvation; for this were to beg of God to encourage his Enemies in their enmity againſt him. And though Jeremiah were a greater Prophet than any of us can pretend to be, and had Revelations of particular future Contingencies which we have not; yet every one may propheſie a ruine to the Enemies of God's Church and People, and ſuch as rejoyce in their ruine; God never uſing a Rod againſt his People, which he doth not at laſt burn, nor ever countenancing Inhumanity in any, but much leſs when it is rooted in a malice againſt himſelf, and his intereſt in the World.

CHAP. II.

Jeremiah lamenteth the Miſery of Jeruſalem; and its Cauſes; and their Enemies deriſion, 1,—17. An Exhortation to true Sorrow and Repentance, a fervent Prayer, 18.—22.

1 HOW hath the LORD covered the daughter of Zion with a cloud in his anger a, and caſt down from heaven to the earth the daughter of Iſrael b, and remembred not his footſtool in the day of his anger c!

a It hath been formerly obſerved that great States and Kingdoms are often in Scripture expreſſed under the notion of daughters, Pſal. 137. 8. Iſa. 47. 1. 5. Lament. 4. 21, 22. Jer. 46. 11. Iſa. 10. 30. the meaning is, how hath God obſcured all the beauty and glory of the Church and State of the Jews. b That is, thrown them down from the higheſt pitch of Glory and Honour, to the meaneſt degree of Baſeneſs and Servitude. c The Earth is called the Lord's Foot-ſtool, Iſa. 66. 1. Matth. 5. 35. Acts 7. 49. but here plainly the Temple is underſtood, called God's Foot-ſtool, 1 Chron. 28. 2. and the whole Temple ſeems rather to be underſtood, than the Ark, for we read of no indignity offered to the Ark by the Chaldeans, more than to any other part of the Temple; God had ſuffered the Chaldeans to burn the whole Temple, and it may juſtly be doubted whether thoſe other Texts that mention a worſhipping at God's Foot-ſtool, Pſal. 99. 5. and 132. 7. be not to be underſtood of worſhiping in the Temple, for it was not the privilege of all the Jews to come ſo near the Ark as to worſhip before that: The reaſon of the complaint is God's permiſſion of the Chaldeans to burn the Temple. See Jer. 52. 13.

2 The LORD hath ſwallowed up all the habitations of Jacob, and hath not pityed d: he hath thrown down in his wrath the ſtrong holds of the daughter of Judah e: he hath † brought them down to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdom and the princes thereof f.

d As he hath had no reſpect to his own Houſe, ſo he hath had much leſs reſpect to the common Habitations of the Jews. e Their military Fortifications have been of no uſe to them, he hath made them to touch the ground, i. e. ſuffered the Enemies to batter them to the Earth. f That is, Either delivered them into the hands of Pagans whom to touch they judged a legal pollution, or elſe dealt with them as with a polluted thing, caſt them off, or brake them in pieces. All this is made the effect of God's Wrath, and his Work; for as a Man is ſaid to do that which he incourageth others to do, and aſſiſts them in doing; ſo God is ſaid to have done this, becauſe he did not only ſuffer the Chaldeans to do it, but uſed them as a Rod in his Hand, inclining them to do it, and aſſiſting them in the Execution of his Wrath.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce anger all the horn of Iſrael g: he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy h, and he burned againſt Jacob like a flaming fire, which devoureth round about i.

g That is, the beauty and ſtrength of Iſrael, ſo Horn ſignifieth by an uſual Metaphor in Scripture, Pſal. 75. 4. Jer. 48. 25, &c. the Horn being much the beauty of the Beaſt, as alſo that Member by which the Beaſt puts forth its ſtrength in aſſaulting its Adverſary. h Either God hath drawn back his Aſſiſtance which he was wont to give the Jews againſt their Enemies: Or Iſrael, through God's leaving of them, hath drawn back his right hand; but it ſeems rather to be underſtood of God's weakening the Iſraelites right hand, ſo as they were not able to hold them up (as before) againſt their Enemies. i God had conſumed them, not in this or that part, but round about, as a fire ſiezing an houſe or heap of combuſtible matter at once, on all ſides.

4 He hath bent his bow like an enemy: he ſtood with his right hand as an adverſary k, and ſlew † all that were pleaſant to the eye l, in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he poured out his fury like fire m.

k That is, God, (whom by their ſins they had provoked and made their Enemy) behaved himſelf as an Enemy, bending his Bow, and ſtretching out his right hand, l and ſlew their young Men, and Maidens who were pleaſant to look upon. m And had brought Judgments upon them like fire, which devours without any diſcrimination.

5 The LORD was an enemy; he hath ſwallowed up Iſrael, he hath ſwallowed up all her palaces; he hath deſtroyed his ſtrong holds, and hath increaſed in the daughter of Judah mourning and lamentation n.

n See Ver. 2. Several pathetical expreſſions ſignifying the ſame things, properly imitating the dialect of Mourners whoſe paſſion ſuffers them not to ſpeak according to Art, but frequently they ſay the ſame things over and over.

6 And he hath violently * taken away his || tabernacle, as if it were of a garden, he hath deſtroyed his places of the aſſembly p: the LORD hath cauſed the ſolemn feaſts, and ſabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath deſpiſed in the indignation of his anger the king and the prieſt q.

* Iſa. 5. 5.

o The word tranſlated Tabernacle (ſay ſome) ſignifies an hedge or fence, and they would have it here ſo tranſlated, and ſo the Phraſe ſhould denote God's withdrawing his Protection from the Jews, but it is no where ſo tranſlated. It is another word uſed, Pſal. 80. 12. and 89. 40. The moſt judicious Interpreters think that the word here ſignifieth the Temple, and the rather becauſe of what followeth. p By the places of the aſſembly may be underſtood the Synagogues. q By the King and the Prieſt are meant Perſons of greateſt Rank and Eminency, though it is thought here is a ſpecial reference to Zedekiah the King of Judah, and Seraiah who was the High-Prieſt, the former of which was miſerably handled, the latter ſlain.

7 The LORD hath caſt off his altar: he hath abhorred his ſanctuary r: he hath † given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces s; * they have made a noiſe in the houſe of the LORD, as in a day of the ſolemn feaſt t.

* Pſal. 74. 4.

r By Altar and Sanctuary ſeemeth not to be meant ſtrictly here the places or Buildings ſo called, which are ſaid to be the Lord's, becauſe he directed the making of them, and they were dedicated to his Service, and uſed for no other uſe; but the ſtated Worſhip and Communion of the Church of the Jews; as Altar is taken, 1 Cor. 10. 18. God by his ſuffering the place to be deſtroyed where alone they might Sacrifice, ſeemed to have abhorred his own Inſtitutions, as it is ſaid, The prayers of the wicked are an abomination to the Lord. s He ſaith the Lord alſo had deſtroyed the moſt ſtately of their Civil Edifices. t And the Enemies with their Triumphs and Blaſphemies, had made as great noiſe, to the reproach and diſhonour of God, as before thoſe that ſang holy Songs, or plaid on Inſtruments were wont to make in the Temple to the Honour and Glory of God.

* 2 King. 21. 13. Iſ. 3. 11. † Heb. ſwallowing up.

8 The LORD hath purpoſed to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Zion u; * he hath ſtretched out a line w, he hath not withdrawn his hand from † deſtroying x: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament; they languiſhed together y.

u The term Wall in this Verſe ſeemeth to be taken in a metaphorical ſence, for the ſtrength and ſecurity of the Jews (the ſtrength and ſecurity of a place lying much in its Walls.) w Artificers uſe with Lines not only to mark out places for building, but alſo for deſtruction, to direct them what to cut off, ſuch a Line is here meant. x God had gone on in deſtroying them. y And had made their Walls and Ramparts feeble, and to ſhake like a Man under ſome languiſhing Diſtemper, that had no ſtrength left.

* 2 Kings 24. 15. and 25. 6, 7. * Pſal 74. 9. Ezek. 7. 26.

9 Her gates are ſunk into the ground z, he hath deſtroyed and broken her bars a, * her king and her princes are among the Gentiles b; the law is no more c, her * prophets alſo find no viſion from the LORD d.

z That is, the Gates of Jeruſalem are deſtroyed, and covered over with Rubbiſh. a The Bolts of the Gates are broken. b Zedekiah and the Nobles of Judah that were not ſlain were in miſerable Captivity. c The Law was no more read and opened, nor was there any more Sacrifices offered according to the preſcript of it, nor any ſolemn Feaſts kept according to the direction of it. d They had but very few Prophets amongſt them from this time to the time of the Goſpel, and very few of thoſe at this time alive had any Revelations from God, we read only of this Prophet, Ezekiel, Daniel, and three after the Captivity, Haggai, Zechariah and Malachy.

* Job 2. 12.

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion ſit upon the ground, and keep ſilence e: they have * caſt up duſt upon their heads; they have girded themſelves with ſackcloth; the virgins of Jeruſalem hang down their heads to the ground e.

e Sitting upon the ground, keeping ſilence, throwing Duſt on their Heads, girding themſelves with Sackcloth, hanging down the Head, were all of them Poſtures and Actions and Geſtures of Mourners. The meaning of this whole Verſe is, that the whole City of Hieruſalem was in a very ſad ſtate and condition, and all Perſons in it in a mournful poſture. Not the common People only, but the graveſt of their Magiſtracy and Miniſtery. Thoſe who were wont to ſit in the Chairs of Magiſtracy and of Teachers. Their young Women alſo which uſed to be moſt briſk and frolick, thoſe whoſe condition was furtheſt off from ſorrow, and who were leaſt diſpoſed to it, were now, all of them drowned in floods of it.

* Chap. 1. 20. ‖ Or, faint.

11 Mine eyes do fail with tears f, * my bowels are troubled g; my liver is poured upon the earth h, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people i, becauſe the children and the ſuckling ‖ ſwoon in the ſtreets of the city k.

f This whole Verſe is but expreſſive of the Prophet's great affliction for the Miſeries come upon the Jews. He wept himſelf almoſt blind. g His paſſion had diſturbed his bodily Humours, that his Bowels were troubled. h His gall lying under his Liver, upon this diſturbance was vomited up, they are all no more than Expreſſions of very great affliction and ſorrow. i For the miſeries befallen the Jews, he had mourned for their ſins before, and for their Plagues too which he had in proſpect, Jer. 9. 1. he now mourns for them, as being come upon them; which mourning conſidered only as for their Miſeries, ſpake no more than the Prophet's good Nature and Love to his Country: but conſidered as the Indication of God's Wrath and Diſpleaſure was alſo a godly ſorrow. k The Children and Sucklings fainted and ſwooned, either for want of Water, or Bread, or Milk in their Mothers or Nurſes Breaſts during the Famine, occaſioned by the long Siege of the City. This appears in the next Verſe.

12 They ſay to their mothers, Where is corn and wine? when they ſwooned as the wounded in the ſtreets of the city, when their ſoul was poured out into their mothers boſom k.

k The little Children ignorant of the cauſe of the failure of their uſual Food called to their Mothers for it as formerly, being ready to faint and die, as Men mortally wounded for want of Spirits and Blood uſe to faint, and died in their Mothers arms; for ſo I had rather interpret the Phraſe poured out their ſouls, than (as ſome) underſtanding by Souls the deſires of their Souls, for he is ſpeaking of Sucklings as well as more grown Children, the Phraſe is capable of both ſenſes.

13 What thing ſhall I take to witneſs for thee? what thing ſhall I liken to thee, O daughter of Jeruſalem? what ſhall I equal to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Zion? for thy breach is great like the ſea; who can heal thee m?

m The Sum of this Verſe is, That the miſerable condition of the People was both incomparable and incurable. There was no People whoſe miſerable condition was in any degree parallel to the miſery of the Jews. It is ſome comfort to Perſons in miſery to conſider, that others are, and have been as miſerable as they, but the Prophet had not this Topick from whence to fetch an argument of comfort to the Jews; there were none to whom he could liken them, nor was there any preſent cure for them, their breach was like a Sea-breach where the Waters come in with ſuch a Torrent, that while the Tide abates there is no making any bank or defence againſt them.

14 Thy * prophets have ſeen vain and fooliſh things for thee n, and they have not diſcovered thine iniquity, to turn away thy captivity o; but have ſeen for the falſe burdens and cauſes of baniſhment p.

n Not the Lords Prophets in thee, but thoſe Prophets to whom you choſe rather to hearken, and whom you believed rather than me, and others ſent by God to reveal his Will unto you, came and told you idle and vain Stories, that thoſe who were carried into Captivity, ſhould after two Years return, &c. o And by telling you ſuch ſmooth and pleaſant things tickled your Humours inſtead of diſcovering your Sins, which were bringing theſe Judgments upon you; whereas they ought to have dealt freely, and faithfully with you, and have made you ſenſible of your ſins, and this might have prevented your miſerable Captivity. p But they rather ſpent their breath in telling you falſe Stories to incourage you in your ſinful courſes, and ſo proved to you the cauſes of your Baniſhment; or elſe they told you falſe Stories which they pretended to be the cauſes of the Captivity of your Brethren, in the mean time concealing the true cauſes, and ſuffering you to run on in the ſame Errors, till you came to be more miſerable than thoſe that went into Captivity before you.

q This was according to God's Threatnings, 1 Kings 9. 8. Jer. 18. 16. and 19. 18. God had poured out all his Bleſſings upon this People, whatſoever might adorn them, or make them happy, ſo as all People bleſſed the Jewiſh Nation: But now the caſe was ſo altered, that all People ſcoffed at them, and hiſſed, and admired at the change which God had made.

16 * All thine enemies have opened their mouth againſt thee: they hiſs, and gnaſh the teeth: they ſay, We have ſwallowed her up: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we have found, we have ſeen it r.

r As Strangers that had no Quarrels with, nor Prejudices againſt the Jews, paſſing by their Country, and their great City Jeruſalem, deſpiſed and ſcorned it, ſo their Enemies with whom they had former Quarrels, and who had taken up Prejudices againſt them, they reproached and abuſed them, and triumphed in their ruine, and in the ſucceſs of their Arms againſt them, and bleſſed themſelves as having now ſeen the day they had looked and wiſhed for.

17 The LORD hath done that which he had deviſed: he hath fulfilled his word that he had commanded in the days of old: he hath thrown down and hath not pitied: and he hath cauſed thine enemy to rejoyce over thee, he hath ſet up the horn of thine adverſaries s.

s God hath not ſurprized us by theſe Providences, he gave us notice what he would do, and hath done no more than what he threatned long ſince, Lev. 26. 16, &c. Deut. 28. 15, &c. It is true he hath ſeverely puniſhed us, ſo as in his Diſpenſation there appear no prints of pity, he hath ſet up our Enemies and hath made them to triumph over his People, but in all this he hath but juſtified his truth, and fulfilled his word.

t They cried unto God ſeriouſly, though not ſincerely, from their heart, though not with their whole heart; either by the Wall, or upon the Wall, or (which is judged moſt probable) by occaſion of the breaches made in the Wall. Upon this he turns his Diſcourſe to the Wall it ſelf, and calls to it, or to thoſe that were upon it, or near it inceſſantly to mourn. In the Heb it is let not the daughter of thine eye ceaſe, we call it the Apple. The Latines, the Pupil, or Babe of the Eye.

19 Ariſe, cry out in the night: in the beginning of the watches pour out thine heart like water before the face of the LORD: lift up thine hands toward him, for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the top of every ſtreet w.

w The Prophet calls upon the Jews not to be ſlothful in this their very evil day, but to riſe up from their Beds, and either at the beginning of the four Watches, or at the beginning of each Watch, at all times in the Night, to betake themſelves to God by Prayer, and that not in a cold lazy manner, but ſo as to pour out their hearts with their words; and he moveth them to it, as for their own ſake ſo for the ſake of their young Children who every where, were ſtarved to Death.

20 ¶ Behold, O LORD, and conſider to whom thou haſt done this x : * Shall the woman eat their fruit, and children || of a ſpan long y ? ſhall the prieſt and the prophet be ſlain in the Sanctuary of the LORD z ?

* Lev. 26. 29. Deut. 28. 53. Jer. 19. 9. Chap. 4. 10. Ezek. 5. 10

x That is, not to Heathen who never owned thee, nor were called by thy Name, but to thine own People called thy Portion and thine Heritage; let thy former relation to us, and our former acknowledgments of thee, prevail with thee. y Wilt thou ſuffer, or ſhould ſuch a thing be, as for Women to ſatisfie their Hunger with the fruit of their own Bodies, and that when they are very young. z And ſhall thy Miniſters be ſlain and that in thy Sanctuary? any humane Blood polluted it, ſhall not the blood of thoſe that were the Miniſters of God be judged a pollution, and profanation of it?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the ſtreets, my virgins and my young men are fallen by the ſword : * thou haſt ſlain them in the day of thine anger, thou haſt killed, and not pitied a.

* Chap. 3. 43.

a None of what Sex or Age ſoever are ſpared; though the hands of the Chaldeans have done this, yet they have been ſet on and aſſiſted by thee, and have been but the Executioners of thy wrath and diſpleaſure.

22 Thou haſt called as in a ſolemn day, my terrors round about b, ſo that in the day of the LORDS anger none eſcaped, nor remained: thoſe that I have ſwadled and brought up, hath mine enemy conſumed c.

b As my People were wont to be called together from all parts in a ſolemn day, when they were to meet at Jeruſalem from all parts of Judea, ſo now by thy Providence my terrible Enemies, or terrible things are by thee called together againſt that Holy City, whither thy People were wont to be called to thy ſolemn Worſhip. c Thou haſt made me as a great mother to bring up many inhabitants that were my Children, and now the Enemy hath conſumed the far greater number of them.

CHAP. III.

The faithful bewail their Miſery and Contempt, 1—21. They nouriſh their hope by Conſideration of the Juſtice, Providence, and Mercies of God, 22—38. They ſtir up themſelves to Repentance, Patience, Prayers and confidence of deliverance for themſelves, and Divine vengeance on their Enemies, 39—66.

1 I Am the man a that hath ſeen affliction by the rod of his wrath b.

a Some underſtand this of the Prophet, ſome of the People who were before ſet out under the Notion of a Woman, a Daughter, here of a man. b Affliction muſt here be taken Emphatically for eminent degrees of affliction, cauſed not meerly from the power and malice of the Enemy, but from the Wrath of God tho brought upon them by the Chaldeans who were to the two Tribes, the Rod of God's Wrath, as the Aſſyrians are called with reference to the ten Tribes, Iſa. 10. 5.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkneſs, but not into light c.

c Darkneſs in Scripture (metaphorically taken) ſignifies Ignorance, Sin and Miſery; and Light ſignifies Knowledge, a ſtate of Grace, or a ſtate of mirth and jollity, they are both here taken in the latter ſenſe, as light is taken, Eſther 8. 16. Micah 7. 8. Job 18. 5, Pſal. 97. 11. and alſo Darkneſs is uſed, Jer. 13. 16. 2 Sam. 22. 29. Prov. 20. 20. Joel 2. 2 Ezek. 32. 8. The ſenſe is God hath not brought me into a joyful and proſperous, but into a ſad and calamitous eſtate and condition.

3 Surely againſt me is he turned, he turneth his hand againſt me all the day d.

d The courſe of God's Providence toward me is quite altered, his hand, that is, his power which was wont to be with me, and for me againſt my Enemies, is now turned againſt me, nor is it for a moment, or for one ſtroke or two, but his hand is continually againſt me.

4 My fleſh and my skin hath he made old, he hath broken my bones e.

e I was a Virgin, young and fair, but I am quite altered, and am now as an old Woman whoſe Fleſh is decayed, and my Skin wrinkled; all my Beauty is gone, and all my Strength is gone, my Bones, thoſe in whom my ſtrength conſiſted, are ſlain and broken.

5 He hath builded againſt me f, and compaſſed me with gall and travail g.

f He hath not builded with me increaſing my proſperity, and protecting my Houſes, but he hath builded Forts and Batteries and Caſtles, (military Buildings) to batter down my Walls and Houſes, Iſa. 29. 2, 3. g Or with Poiſon, Venom and Miſery (as ſome Tranſlate it) and it ſeems more proper than gall and travail, which have no cognation one with another. We are not well acquainted with the ancient Dialect of other Countries, the ſenſe is obvious, God had ſurrounded them with Miſery and Calamities.

6 * He hath ſet me in dark places, as they that be dead of old h.

* Pſal. 88. 5, 6.

h The Prophet compareth their ſtate in Babylon to the ſtate of Bodies in the Graves, or in ſome Charnel Houſe, which are places of darkneſs, full of rottenneſs and dead Mens Bones. Such was the ſtate of the Jews in Jeruſalem during the time of the Siege before the City was taken, when Jeruſalem was a moſt miſerable place by reaſon of the Multitudes ſlain by the Enemy, or by the Famine: Such was their eſtate in Babylon, where the company of Heathens made their ſtate, as the ſtate of the living amongſt the dead.

7 * He hath hedged me about, that I cannot get out i : he hath made my chain heavy k.

* Job 3. 23 & 19. 8.

i The uſe of an Hedge about an incloſed Field, is twofold: To keep out other Beaſts, which belong not to the Owner of the Ground; in this ſenſe God ſet an Hedge ſometimes about Canaan, Iſa. 5. 5. 2. To keep in thoſe Beaſts that are within, thus God had now hedged them in, into a barren place where they had no Paſture, but were continually puſhed at by other Beaſts with whom they were mixed, and who were ſtronger than they, and they could not get out. k God had dealt with them as with grievous Malefactors, who are loaded with heavy Chains. He had made their affliction heavy and inſupportable.

8 Alſo when I cry and ſhout l, he ſhutteth out my prayer m.

l In the condition I am in, I cannot help my ſelf, no Creatures can help me, I have no hope but in God. I take the ordinary courſe in that caſe, which is Prayer, I pray fervently and aloud as thoſe that are ſerious and importunate for what they deſire (for ſhouting here ſignifies no more than making a loud noiſe, not a loud noiſe of Joy and rejoycing, as it moſtly ſignifies) but he deals with me as great Perſons that have no mind to liſten to Suitors, and ſhut their Gates againſt them, he ſhutteth out my Supplications, which made their caſe wholly deſperate and remedileſs.

9 He hath incloſed my ways with hewen ſtones n, he hath made my paths crooked o.

n Ways in Scripture ordinarily ſignifies Mens Courſes, and methods of Counſels, and Actions; if the term be taken in that ſenſe here, it ſignifieth God's defeating all their Methods and Counſels taken for their own ſecurity, in the purſuit of which they met not with ordinary, but with inſuperable difficulties like Walls of hewen ſtone. o Nay God had not only defeated their Counſels, but had made them prove more fatal and pernicious to themſelves, which ſeemeth to be intended, by making their ways crooked, which ſhould have led right on to the end intended.

10 * He was unto me as a bear lying in wait, and as a lion in ſecret places p.

* Job 10. 16 Iſa. 38. 13. Hoſ 5. 14. & 17. 7, 8.

p That is he hath taken all advantages againſt me to deſtroy me.

11 He hath turned aſide my ways, and pulled me in pieces, he hath made me deſolate q.

q The ſame thing is repeated in other Phraſes, which was before ſaid, viz. That God had pleaſed by his Providence to fruſtrate all the deſigns and counſels of the Jews, and miſerably to deſtroy them, as a Lion, or a Bear (the wild Beaſts mentioned before) tear in pieces the Beaſts they prey upon.

12 He hath bent his bow, and * ſet me as a mark for the arrow r.

* Job 7. 20. & 16. 12.

r He hath prepared himſelf for acts of vindicative Juſtice, and he hath made me the object of it.

13 He hath cauſed the † arrows of his quiver to enter into my reins s.

s That is, he hath made his Judgments, to pierce the moſt inward parts of the Nation; or he hath mortally wounded me. In the Heb. it is the daughters of his quiver, a way of ſpeaking very uſual in Hebrew, to expreſs any thing that comes from another as the effect either of a natural or moral cauſe, ſo Sparks are called the Sons of the quick coal, Job 5. 7. and corn the Son of the floor, &c.

14 I was * a deriſion to all my people, and * their ſong all the day t.

* Jer. 20. 7. * Job 30. 9. Pſal. 69. 12. Ver. 63.

t Though ſome think the Prophet ſpeaks this of himſelf, yet, conſidering he hath all along ſpoken in the Name of the People, it is not probable, which makes a difficulty, how the People could be a deriſion to themſelves? It ſeemeth therefore ill Tranſlated, and that it ſhould have been, I was a deriſion to all people, leaving out my, that is, to all Foreigners, to whom the Jews were made a deriſion and an hiſſing, there only wants the laſt Letter in עַמִּי, and it is well obſerved by the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations that the like defect is to be found as to the ſame word, 2 Sam. 22. 44. compared with Pſal. 18. 43 ſo that י is not a Pronoun affix (upon which ſuppoſal our Tranſlators go) but one of the Letters that form the plural number, the other being left out, and עַמִּי put for עַמִּים.

15 He hath filled me with † bitterneſs, he hath made me drunken with wormwood u.

u That is, he hath filled me with ſevere and bitter diſpenſations; Wormwood is a bitter Herb, but it is alſo a wholeſome Herb, and therefore ſome think that the Hebrew word ſhould rather be Tranſlated Henbane, and that it ſignifies ſome Herb whoſe juice is intoxicating and poiſonous.

16 He hath alſo broken my teeth with gravelſtones, he hath || covered me with aſhes w.

|| Or rolled me in the aſhes.

w Theſe are but more metaphorical expreſſions ſignifying the unpleaſant difficult condition into which God had brought this people. They were like Men that lived upon gritty bread, more fit to break their teeth than to nouriſh them; they were in the ſtate of Mourners, and no ordinary Mourners, who were wont to throw aſhes on their heads, they were all over covered with aſhes.

17 And thou haſt removed my ſoul far off from peace x : I forgat † proſperity y.

x Peace, here ſignifieth proſperity, rather than a freedom from war. Though during the Siege they were far from Peace in a ſtrict ſenſe, yet in their Captivity they had that peace, but both their minds were far off from quiet, and their Perſons from Proſperity; the Prophet owneth God as the cauſe of this. y They had in Canaan lived proſperouſly, but now they thought of it no more, nor underſtood what ſuch a thing meant.

18 And I ſaid, My ſtrength and my hope is periſhed from the LORD.

|| Or, remember. 19 || Remembring mine affliction and my miſery, the wormwood and the gall z.

z If according to our Tranſlation we read Remembring, or while I remember, theſe two Verſes contain but one Sentence; in the former part the Prophet in the Name of this People expreſſeth their deſpairing Condition; in the latter he gives the reaſon of it, viz. The Peoples poring upon their great, and heavy afflictions, which he compares to wormwood and gall, two things exceſſively bitter, and often made uſe of to ſignifie great affliction, Pſal. 69. 21. Jer. 8. 14. and 9. 15. and 23. 15. Rev. 8. 11. But it may as well be read imperatively, Remember mine affliction, ſo the firſt of theſe two Verſes expreſſeth the dejection of the Peoples Minds in their Captivity cauſed through their proneneſs to deſpair of any better condition that their angry God would bring them into. The 29th Verſe is a Prayer directed to God, which ſhewed that though they were mightily perplexed, yet they were not in utter deſpair; and to this ſence the following Verſes ſeem to incline.

20 My ſoul hath them ſtill in remembrance: and is a That is, I cannot forget them, and the thoughts of them ſink my ſpirits.

† Heb. I make to return to my heart. 21 This I † recall to my mind, therefore have I hope b.

b This, not what was already ſaid, that made them deſpair, and their Souls to bow down; but this, that which followeth, concerning the Nature of God, and other good Providences. I ſee nothing in the circumſtances of my condition to comfort me, but I ſee ſomething in God's Nature, and in ſome other Diſpenſations of his Providence, which gives me ground to hope for better things than an utter ruine and deſtruction.

* Mal. 3. 6. 22 ¶ * It is of the LORD's mercies that we are not conſumed, becauſe his compaſſions fail not c.

c Mercy is nothing elſe but Love flowing freely from any, to Perſons in miſery, and differs from compaſſion only in the freeneſs of the emanation. It is nor becauſe God had not power enough utterly to have conſumed us, nor becauſe we had not guilt enough to have provoked his Juſtice to have put an end to our Lives, as well as to the Lives of many thouſands of our Countreymen, but it is meerly from the Lords free Love and Pity to us in our Miſeries. If God had not a Bleſſing in ſtore for us, how is it that we are Captives, and not ſlain as many others were during the Siege?

23 They are new every morning, great is thy faithfulneſs d.

d Theſe Compaſſions of God are renewed Day by Day, to declare the great faithfulneſs of God in fulfilling his many promiſes made for Mercy to his People.

* Pſal. 16. 5. & 73. 26. & 119. 57. Jer. 10. 16. 24 The LORD is my * portion, ſaith my ſoul, therefore will I hope in him e.

e God is the portion of his People, and they have choſen him as their portion, he hath declared himſelf to them as ſuch, and they have accepted him as ſuch. This gives them ground both for Patience under his Providences, and alſo of expectation of good from him in their loweſt and meaneſt ſtate.

25 The LORD is good to them that wait for him, to the ſoul that ſeeketh him f.

f Good is a term of a very comprehenſive notion. The nature of it lieth in a ſutableneſs to the thing or perſon to whom it relateth. So it ſignifieth profit and pleaſantneſs. There is in God an eſſential goodneſs, which is his abſolute perfection; but this Text ſpeaketh of a communicative goodneſs, which floweth from him to his Creatures, and is ſeen in his ſuting their various neceſſities and deſires with ſatisfactory diſpenſations of Providence. Though God be in one degree or other good to all, yet he is more eſpecially good to the true Worſhippers of him; yet poſſibly not in their ſeaſons or times when they expect or would have God ſhew himſelf ſo to them, in this or that way, but always to thoſe who wait for him, patiently induring Trials and Afflictions until God pleaſe to ſend them deliverance.

26 It is good that a man ſhould both hope, and quietly wait for the ſalvation of the LORD g.

g Good here either ſignifies honeſtum, what becomes Men, and is their Duty; or Utile, what is profitable, and will turn to good account to them. Hoping and waiting differ but as the mother and daughter. Hope being the Mother of Patience and Waiting, or as the Habit and Act. Hoping and Waiting being much the ſame, flowing a gracious power and habit given the Soul to wait. Quietneſs is neceſſary to waiting, for all turbulency and impatience of Spirit under ſad Providences is oppoſed to waiting. The Salvation of the Lord refers to the outward Man, in preſerving or delivering us from dangers. Or to the Soul and inward Man, in preſerving us from, and delivering our Souls out of dangers they fear, or evils they are preſſed with. Now for a Man in the midſt of all evils to hope in God, and without turbulence or diſorder in himſelf, to wait for a preſervation from, or a delivery out of any evils, is what becometh a Man (a Child of God eſpecially) and will turn to a good account to them.

27 It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth h.

h Good here muſt be expounded in the ſame ſenſe as in the foregoing Verſe. It is not pleaſant, but it is profitable, it is honourable, what becomes us, and is our Duty, quietly and patiently to bear what afflictions God will pleaſe to lay upon us, to reſtrain our wild and wanton Spirits when they are moſt prone to be too brisk and laſcivious. Some by Yoke underſtand the Law of God, called a yoke (becauſe indeed it is ſo to fleſh and blood) Matth. 11. 29. It is not ſo eaſie to bend a Neck ſtiffened with Age, or change an Heart made hard by Cuſtom. Solomon bids us to train up one in their Youth in the way we would have them to walk; and whether God will tame us when young, by his Word or by his Rod, it is of advantage to a Man: It is alſo laudable, and what becomes a Man, early to bear the yoke of God's Law, or to bear afflictive Providences, to have his heart betimes humbled to the Will and feet of God.

28 He ſitteth alone and keepeth ſilence, becauſe he hath born it upon him h.

h Our Engliſh Annotations ſupplying That, makes the connexion clear, It is good for a Man, that he ſit alone, Jer. 15. 17. not doing what he doth to be ſeen of Men, but ſitting alone, and when he is alone, ſuppreſſing the mutinies of his Spirit, and keeping his Soul in ſubjection to God, becauſe God hath humbled him by his Rod, humbling himſelf to his Will.

29 He putteth his mouth in the duſt, if ſo be there may be hope i.

i If that may be ſupplied, or when (as Pagnine tranſlateth כי, Ver. 28. the connexion of theſe words with the former, is very fair and eaſie, for then thoſe words, Ver. 27. It is good that muſt be repeated in the beginning of Ver. 28. and 29. however both this and the former Verſes let us know the Duty of Perſons under Afflictions in order to their obtaining Mercy at the Hand of God, and admirably give us the Character of Perſons under afflictions preparing for Mercy. They hope, and quietly wait for God's Salvation, Ver. 26. they bear Gods yoke, Ver. 27. becauſe he hath laid it upon them. They ſit alone and keep ſilence, Ver. 28. and here they put their mouths in the duſt, that is, humble themſelves to the feet of God, and to the Will of God; not being too confident of deliverances in this Life, but if peradventure there may be hope.

30 He giveth his cheek to him that ſmiteth him k: he is filled full with reproach.

k According to our Saviour's Precept, Matth. 5. 39, he doth not take any private Revenge, he is reproached and reviled, but when he is ſo he revileth not again, 1 Pet. 2. 23. he is filled with reproach from others, but his mouth is not filled with the reproachings of others.

31 For the LORD will not caſt off for ever m.

m This is that which beareth up his ſpirits, that though the Lord may for a time eſtrange himſelf from his People, yet he will not always forſake them.

32 But though he cauſe grief, yet will he have compaſſion according to the multitude of his mercies n.

n But though as a prudent Parent he may ſee reaſon to cauſe grief in, and to afflict his own People, yet as a tender good Father, that pitieth his Children in Miſery he will have compaſſion upon them, having not only Mercies, but a multitude or abundance of Mercies.

33 For * he doth not afflict † willingly, nor grieve the children of men o. * Ezek. 33. 11. † Heb. from his heart.

o In the Hebrew it is he doth not afflict from his heart, that is with pleaſure and delight; or (which ſeemeth the beſt ſenſe to me) not from his own meer motion without a cauſe given him from the Perſons afflicted. Hence Judgment is called Gods ſtrange work; ſhewing Mercy is his proper natural Work, which floweth from himſelf without any cauſe in the Creature. Judgment is his ſtrange work to which he never proceedeth but when provoked, and as it were forced from the Creature, whence it followeth, that he cannot delight in it.

34 To cruſh under his feet all the priſoners of the earth p.

15 To turn away the right of a man before the face of || the moſt High q. || Or, a ſuperiour.

36 To ſubvert a man in his cauſe, the LORD || approveth not r. || Or, ſeeth not.

p Here are three things mentioned, of all which it is ſaid, that God approveth them not, neither all, nor any of them. The firſt is to cruſh the priſoners of the earth; he hath power to cruſh all Men in the World, they are his Priſoners, and cannot fly from him, but he delighteth not in it: Some think it ſpoken with ſpecial reference to the Jews who now were all Captives. q A ſecond thing which it is ſaid God approveth not, is turning away the right of a man before the face of the moſt high. Some, by the moſt High underſtand God, and make the ſenſe to be in the ſight of God. Others think that a Superiour Magiſtrate is underſtood, who Eccl. 5. 8. is called the Higheſt; and that ſeemeth the moſt probable ſenſe. The turning away the right of a Man before them, ſignifieth the uſe of any Arts to deprive them of their juſt Right by miſrepreſenting their Cauſe, aſperſing their Perſons, &c. r The third thing mentioned is the ſubverting a man in his cauſe, either by Art, and Rhetorick, making it to appear bad when it is not ſo, or by meer Will and Power over-ruling it contrary to Right and Juſtice.

37 ¶ Who is he * that ſaith, and it cometh to paſs, when the LORD commandeth it not s. * Pſal. 33. 9.

s The ſence of theſe words is doubted by none. That nothing cometh to paſs in the World, but by the diſpoſal of Divine Providence, either effecting it by an immediate influence, or permitting it: But to what end theſe words are brought in this place, is not ſo generally agreed. Some think they are brought in to check the Blaſphemy of ſome that ſpake of what had befallen the Jews as a thing which God had no hand in. Others think they are brought in as expounding that term that went before, The Lord ſeeth not. Though God doth not approve of ſinful actions, nor incline any Man's Heart or Will to them, yet God hath an hand in the permiſſion of the moſt cruel and unjuſt actions, which he could eaſily hinder. I ſhould rather incline to interpret them as an Argument brought by the Prophet in the Name of the People of God, arguing themſelves into a quiet ſubmiſſion to the afflictive Providences under which they laboured from the conſideration of the Superior hand of God in them, as Chriſt told Pilate, Thou couldſt not have had any power againſt me, if it had not been given thee from above: Shall there be evil in a City, and the Lord hath not done it, Amos 3. 6.

38 Out of the mouth of the moſt High proceedeth not * evil and good t? * Iſa. 45. 7.

t In the Heb. the form of theſe words is interrogatory, as much as if he ſhould ſay, Doth not evil come out of God's Mouth from his Direction and Command, and from his Providence as well as good? He ſpeaks of evils of puniſhment, judicial afflictive Diſpenſations; ſo it agreeth with Job 2. 10. Amos 3. 6. It is no reproach unto God to make him the Author of his own Puniſhments, tho' we call them evil.

39 * Wherefore doth a living man ‖ complain u? a man for the puniſhment of his ſins w? * Prov. 19. 3. ‖ Or, murmur.

u This Verſe admits of various Senſes, cauſed from the various interpretation of the Hebrew word, which we Tranſlate complain, which alſo ſignifies to mourn or grieve, ſo ſome render it; why doth a living Man grieve or vex himſelf? But the word is noted moſt generally to ſignifie complaining or murmuring. w The word alſo which we Tranſlate Sin, ſometimes ſignifieth that oblique act which we call Sin; and thoſe who Interpret the former word grieve or vex, thus underſtand the word Tranſlated Sin, ſupplying ſome ſuch words as theſe, Let him mourn for his ſin? Why doth he mourn for his Afflictions and Plagues, let him rather ſpend his Tears upon his Sins. But the word alſo ſignifies the guilt of ſin, or obligation to Death, which it layeth Men under, ſin lieth at the door, Gen. 4. 7. ſo alſo Gen. 20. 9. and alſo any puniſhment brought upon Men for ſin, Gen. 4. 13. where we Tranſlate it puniſhment. This ſenſe our Tranſlators follow. The Prophet then in the Perſon of the Jews, checks himſelf in his Complaints for their Puniſhments from the conſideration, that nothing had befallen them, but what was the juſt reward of their ſins.

40 Let us ſearch and try our ways, and turn again to the LORD x.

x Seeing God doth not grieve us willingly, nor delight to cruſh us though we be his Priſoners, and ſeeing the Hand of God is in theſe things upon us, and that juſtly to recompence our Iniquities into our Boſoms, inſtead of murmuring and fretting againſt God, which is not reaſonable, nor will be of any profit to us, Let us examine our Thoughts, Words and Actions, and conſider what they have been, and reform, and turn again to the Lord, by apoſtatizing from whom we have brought theſe evils upon us.

41 Let us lift up our heart with our hands unto God in the heavens y.

y Let us apply our ſelves unto God by Prayer, often expreſſed under this Notion in Scripture from that geſture ordinarily uſed in Prayer: and let us not do it in Hypocriſie, but joyning our Hearts with our Hands, praying ſeriouſly and fervently.

42 We have tranſgreſſed and have rebelled, thou haſt not pardoned z.

z The Prophet doth not dictate words, but ſenſe to them; teaching them the matter of their Prayer firſt by way of Confeſſion. Sin is called a Tranſgreſſion, becauſe it is going aſide from the way of God's Precepts; it is called Rebellion, becauſe it is an act contrary to that Allegiance and Duty, which we owe unto God, and the Covenant we have made with him. By pardoning here is meant, the diſcharge of the guilty Perſons from the temporal puniſhment due for ſin (as it is often taken in Scripture) ſo it ſignifies, thou haſt plagued us according to the juſt deſert of our ſins.

43 Thou haſt covered with anger a, and perſecuted us; * thou haſt ſlain, thou haſt not pitied b. * Chap. 2. 21.

a Either thou haſt covered thy ſelf with anger, or covered thy own Face with anger, ſo as not to look upon us to move thy Pity, or (which is more probably the ſenſe) thou haſt covered, that is overwhelmed us with thy Wrath. b Thou haſt purſued us to a fatal ruine, without ſhewing us any pity.

44 Thou haſt covered thy ſelf with a cloud, that our prayer ſhould not paſs through c.

c God had covered them with Wrath, overwhelming them with Afflictions, ſo as they had no way to eſcape; and whereas in this diſtreſs they had nothing elſe to do, but only to apply themſelves to God, he had hid his Face from them, ſo as they could get no comfortable ſight of him, he was as one covered with a Cloud that could not be diſcerned through that opacous Body. What is meant by this Cloud, whether, his fixed reſolution to puniſh them, or his freſh remembrance of their ſins, or his juſt Will to be revenged on them, ſeems too curiouſly inquired. The Phraſe is a Metaphor, and ſignifies no more than that God would not hear their Prayers in their diſtreſs.

45 Thou haſt made us as the * off-ſcouring and refuſe in the midſt of the people d. * 1 Cor. 4. 13.

d That is, thou haſt made us to all Nations extreamly contemptible, ſo as they value us no more than the Sweepings of their Houſes, or the moſt vile, refuſe, and contemptible things imaginable.

46 * All our enemies have opened their mouths againſt us e. * Chap. 2. 16.

e That is, to mock, ſcoff, and reproach us.

47 * Fear and a ſnare is come upon us, deſolation and deſtruction f. * Iſa. 24. 17. Jer. 48. 43.

f All manner of miſery was come upon them. They were ſeized firſt with fears and terrors, going to eſcape theſe they fell into a Snare, or (as it is in the Heb.) into a Pit, out of which they could not get, they were waſted, made deſolate and deſtroyed.

48 * Mine eye runneth down with rivers of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people. * Jer. 4. 19. & 14. 17.

49 Mine eye trickleth down, and ceaſeth not, without any intermiſſion g.

g The Prophet was deeply affected upon the proſpect of this evil before it came, Jer. 9. 1. and was now much more affected when he ſaw the Judgment was come, he wept plentifully and conſtantly, as for their ſins which had brought theſe Judgments upon them, ſo for the Judgments themſelves, as Indications of God's Diſpleaſure and Wrath againſt them for their Tranſgreſſions.

50 Till the LORD look down, and behold from heaven h.

h That is, until the Lord ſheweth me ſome favour. See the Notes on Chap. 1. Ver. 9.

51 Mine eye affecteth † mine heart, ‖ becauſe of all the daughters of my city k. † Heb. my ſoul. ‖ Or, more than all.

k The Eye and the Ear, are thoſe Organs of the Body, by which the Soul exerciſeth its Senſes to bring in all Objects whether pleaſant or ſad to the underſtanding to judge of them, according to the judgment of which upon them it is affected, with Joy or Sorrow, Deſire or Averſation, &c. and the Eye is the chiefeſt of theſe, becauſe its Evidence is more certain, and leſs ſubject to deceit. The Prophet, and moſt of the Jews were Eye-witneſſes to the Evils which had befallen the Jews, and which at preſent were upon them; ſo as their Hearts were the more affected. The word Tranſlated affect, is by ſome noted to ſignifie to waſte and conſume, which are the effects of a deep affecting the Heart with ſad and miſerable Objects. k Our Margent tells us, that it may be alſo read more than all the Daughters of my City; according to which, the ſenſe is, that he was more affected with the State of Jeruſalem, than the tendereſt Woman that had lived in it; but it is as well, if not better in this place rendred cauſally; ſhewing the reaſon of his deep affliction, viz. all thoſe Miſeries he had ſeen fall upon all the Jewiſh Nation, or upon all the Inhabitants of Jerualem.

52 Mine enemies chaſed me ſore like a bird, * without cauſe l. * Pſal. 35. 19. & 69. 4. & 109. 3. & 119. 161.

l As Boys beat a Bird from Buſh to Buſh, ſuffering it to reſt no where, ſo mine Enemies to whom I gave no cauſe purſued me.

53 They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and caſt a ſtone upon me m.

m Dungeon ſeemeth not to be here taken literally for the loweſt and naſtieſt place in Priſons, which probably was the portion but of a few of the Jews; but metaphorically for the loweſt and ſaddeſt condition of Miſery. Their Enemies had brought them into the deepeſt Miſeries to the cutting off of their Lives, and as Men uſe to roll great Stones upon the Mouths of Dens and Pits, where they have ſhut up Perſons to make them ſure from eſcaping out, ſo their Enemies had dealt with them, doing what lay in them to make their Condition remedileſs and deſperate.

54 * Waters flowed over mine head n, then * I ſaid, I am cut off o. * Pſal. 69. 2. & 124. 4, 5. * Pſal. 31. 22. Iſa. 38. 10, 11.

n Afflictions often in Scripture are called Water. Iſa. 28. 17, 18. and 59. 19. o That is, I am utterly undone, there is no hope for me.

55 ¶ * I called upon thy name, O LORD, out of the low dungeon p. * Pſal. 130. 1.

p That is, out of my deepeſt affliction, as Jonah out of the belly of Hell, Jonah 2. 2. I cried unto God, and called upon him for mercy.

56 Thou haſt heard my voice q, hide not thine ear at my breathing, at my cry r.

q I in former great Afflictions applied my ſelf unto thee, and thou didſt hear me. r Shew me now the ſame favour. Our former experiences of God's goodneſs to us in hearing our Prayers, ought to hold up our hands in Prayer, and beget a confidence in us that we perſiſting in our Duty, ſhall find God the ſame God, yeſterday, this day, and for ever.

57 Thou dreweſt near in the day that I called upon thee s: thou ſaidſt, Fear not t.

s There was a time when I was in diſtreſs, and called upon thee, and thou didſt draw near unto me. God is never far off from any of us, as to his eſſential preſence; nor is it poſſible that he ſhould, for he filleth all places. But he is ſaid to be near us or far off from us, as he manifeſts, or doth not manifeſt his goodneſs to us by acts of gracious Providence; of that drawing near the Text ſpeaketh. God being infinite in goodneſs and mercy, is ſpoken of as abſent from thoſe Perſons and places, where he is not ſhewing mercy, and preſent only there where he ſheweth forth his goodneſs, and to be drawing nigh to them to whom he beginneth to ſhew Mercy. t Thou didſt incourage me formerly upon my Prayer.

58 O LORD, thou haſt pleaded the cauſes of my ſoul u, thou haſt redeemed my life w.

u Thou haſt been wont to take my part againſt my Enemies, not like a Lawyer by word of mouth, but actually and really pleading my cauſe. w Thou haſt ſaved me from many a danger which looked fatally upon me.

59 O LORD, thou haſt ſeen my wrong x, judge thou my cauſe y.

x Thou haſt a perfect knowledge of Mens perverſe, and unrighteous dealings with me at this time. y Do thou judge betwixt me and mine Enemies, and deal with them according to what ſhall appear juſt to thee.

60 Thou haſt ſeen all their vengeance z, and all their imaginations againſt me a.

z Thou haſt been a witneſs to all their fury and rage. a And all their malicious and bloody contrivances againſt me.

61 Thou haſt heard their reproach, O LORD! and all their imaginations againſt me b.

b Whatever knowledge Men get of things done from their Eye or Ear, thou haſt from thy omniſciency, thou knoweſt not only their malicious actions, but words and thoughts.

62 The lips of thoſe that roſe up againſt me and their device againſt me all the day c.

c That is, thou haſt obſerved and noted the motions, or products of my Enemies lips, and their ſecret devices, before they came out of their lips.

* Ver. 14. 63 Behold their ſitting down, and riſing up, * I am their muſick d.

d That is at all times when they ſit down, and riſe up I am their ſong. Though probably the words have a ſpecial reference to their ſitting down at Feaſts, and at their merry meetings, I am all the ſubject of their diſcourſe, they ſpend their time in mocking and ſcoffing at us, and at Jeruſalem; we are they that make them ſport.

* Pſ. 28. 4. 64 ¶ * Render unto them a recompenſe, O LORD, according to the work of their hands e.

e Theſe three laſt verſes are all but the ſame general petition, though expreſſed in various phraſes, the Prophet had prayed, ver. 59. that God would judge his peoples cauſe, here he prayeth that he would alſo judge his Enemies, he only deſireth juſtice againſt them, a recompence of the work of their hands.

‖ Or, obſtinacy of heart. 65 Give them ‖ ſorrow of heart f, thy curſe unto them.

f The word tranſlated ſorrow of heart is found no where elſe in Holy Writ, which makes a certain particular explication of it to be difficult, and hath given Interpreters a ſtrange liberty in tranſlating it, ſhield, ſorrow, and grief, obſtinacy or hardneſs of heart, perplexity, abjection or breaking of heart; the beſt guides we have to direct us in the ſence of it are, 1. The other things joyned with it, perſecution, deſtruction, a recompenſe according to their works, ſo that ſome afflictive evil of an heavy nature is certainly ſignified by it. 2. The Analogy of Faith which reſtraineth us from wiſhing or praying for ſpiritual or eternal evils againſt our worſt Enemies; it therefore probably ſignifies, ſuch perplexity, and breakings of mind as commonly attend a ſtate of great affliction.

* Pſal. 8. 3. 66 Perſecute them and deſtroy them in anger from under * the heavens of the LORD g.

g Bring them to a temporal ruine and deſtruction. How far ſuch Petitions are lawful we have before ſhewed, in our Notes on Pſal. 69. 22, 23, 24, &c. and 109. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, &c. Jer. 11. 20. & 15. 15. See alſo Chap. 1. 22. It is hard to interpret all paſſages of this nature which we meet with as Prophecies, though ſome of them are ſo, and others may be both Prophecies and Prayers.

CHAP. IV.

Zion bewaileth her Miſery: Confeſſeth her Sins, 1,——6. Miſeries of the Chief ones: Women who killed and dreſſed their own Children, 7,——12. The Sin of the falſe Prophets and Prieſts: Their vain hope, 13,——19. Their King taken Priſoner, 20. Edom is threatned: And Zion comforted, 21,——22.

1 HOW is the gold become dim! how is the moſt fine gold changed a! the ſtones of the ſanctuary are poured out in the top of every ſtreet b.

a Though ſome take Gold here metaphorically as ſignifying the moſt precious things, yet the moſt and beſt Interpreters take it in its native ſenſe, for the Gold which adorned the Temple either in its cieling or in its veſſels, the houſe of the Lord being burnt by Nebuzaradan, Jer. 52. 13. the Gold in and about the Temple muſt needs be diſcoloured, How! is here a note of admiration. b That is, are tumbled down and ſcattered in the head of every Street about the City.

2 The precious ſons of Zion c, comparable to fine gold, how are they eſteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter d.

c Either the Nobles and Great Men, or the Prieſts, or the good Men amongſt the Jews d, that for their intrinſick worth, and value may be compared to Gold, are lookt upon no better than earthen Veſſels, the workmanſhip of an ordinary Potter. God carrying Jeremiah down to the Potters houſe, Jer. 18. 2. and 19. 1. had taught them that they were no more in his hand, he now proveth it by his providence, they were indeed made ſo, and as miſerably and irreparably broken in pieces.

‖ Or, Sea-Calves. 3 Even the ‖ ſea monſters draw out the breaſt, they give ſuck to their young ones: the daughter of my people is become cruel f, like the oſtriches in the wilderneſs g.

e The learned Author of our Engliſh Annotations, well obſerveth that whatever Creature is here intended by the word Tranſlated Sea-monſters, yet our Tranſlation is not proper, the Text ſpeaking of Creatures of God's making. Monſters, properly ſignifying ſuch as have ſomething beyond their natural bulk and proportion. What Creatures are ſignified by the Hebrew term, whether Sea Calves, or Dragons, or Serpents, or Whales, is very hard to ſay, the Hebrew word ſignifying ſome Creatures, occurring ſo rarely as it is not eaſie to determine the Species, from the word uſed to expreſs it. He certainly ſpeaks of ſome brute Beaſts, and thoſe that are moſt ſavage, he ſaith there are none ſuch, but by a natural inſtinct feed and nouriſh their young ones. ſ But the Jewiſh Women were become cruel to their Children, either forced to appear ſo, having through the Famine no Milk to give them, nor any thing to relieve them, or were indeed ſo, killing them to make Food for themſelves, as Chap. 2. 20. g Like Oſtriches that lay their Eggs, and leave them in the Sand, and are hardned againſt their young ones, (as Job 39. 14, 15, 16.) ſome think a kind of Owls are intended, which for want of Meat eat up their Young ones as the Jewiſh Women now did. See Ver. 10.

4 The tongue of the ſucking child cleaveth to the roof of his mouth for thirſt: the young children ask bread, and no man breaketh it unto them h.

h As the fatneſs of the Mothers Milk makes it inſtead of Bread and Fleſh to the ſucking Child, ſo the moiſture of it makes it to be as Drink to allay its heat, the Children wanting this moiſture their Mouths were hot and dry; it was a time of Famine, the little Children underſtanding not the caſe of the City, were importunate for ſomething to eat, but none had enough for himſelf, much leſs for others. See Chap. 2. 12, 13

5 They that did feed delicately are deſolate in the ſtreets: they that were brought up in ſcarlet, embrace the dunghills i.

i This Judgment reached not only to the common People, but to Perſons of the higheſt Rank and Order, whoſe miſery was now ſo much the greater, becauſe ſo contrary to their former ſplendid ſtate and way of living. They were wont to fare deliciouſly now they wanted bread to eat, and were deſolate in the Streets. They were wont to eat upon Scarlet Carpets, or to lodge upon Scarlet Beds, and Couches, now they ſearcht for their Meat upon, or were glad to lie upon Dunghills.

6 For the ‖ puniſhment of the iniquity of the daugh- ‖ Or, iniquity.
of my people, is greater than the puniſhment of the * Gen. 19.
ſin of Sodom, that was * overthrown as in a moment, 25.
and no hands ſtayed on her k.

k The word Tranſlated Puniſhment, ſignifies alſo Iniquity (as was ſaid in the Notes on Chap. 3. Ver. 39.) the ſins of the Jews are compared to the ſins of Sodom, Iſa. 3. 9. Ezek. 16. 46, 48, 49. Hence their Rulers are called Rulers of Sodom, Iſa. 1. 10. either their ſins were ſpecifically the ſame (as they were) as to many ſins, Ezek. 16. 49. or they were of an equal magnitude, and provocative nature. The Prophet here complains, That they were puniſhed like Sodom, Amos 4. 11. yea and their puniſhment was greater, becauſe more lingring, and gradual, whereas Sodom was overthrown in a moment, and that by no humane hands that abode upon her, cauſing her a continued torment, as there did upon the Jews. David ſaid, It is better to fall into the immediate hand of God, than into the hands of Men.

7 Her Nazarites l were purer then ſnow, they were whiter than milk, they were more ruddy in body than rubies, their poliſhing was of ſapphire m.

l By Nazarites in this place the moſt and beſt Interpreters do not underſtand Perſons, who were of the Religious Order of Nazarites, the Laws of which Order are to be read, Numb. 6. 2. and of whom we read Amos 2. 11, 12. for here is a Beauty deſcribed (under ſeveral Metaphors) which could never agree to them; but Perſons that were nobly and ingenuouſly bred. The word Nezer ſignifying a Crown, or Enſign of Honour, 2 Sam. 1. 10. 2 Kings 11. 12. The Name Nazarite was given to Perſons ſplendid for their Breeding, and Education, or Honour and Dignity, it is given to Joſeph, Gen. 49. 26. we Tranſlate it ſeparate from his Brethren, Deut. 33. 16. ſo Nahum 3. 17. Her Nazarites in this place ſignifieth her ſeparated ones, who either in reſpect of Birth, Education, Eſtate, places of Magiſtracy or the like, were diſtinguiſhed from the reſt of the People. m He expreſſeth their former ſplendid Eſtate by the Metaphors of Snow, Milk, Rubies, and Sapphires.

8 Their viſage is † blacker than a coal n: they † Heb. darker

n They that in the proſperity of the City were fair, plump and ruddy, look now black for want of fit nouriſhment, and through ſorrow and grief. o Inſomuch that thoſe who before knew them by their Countenances, Garbs, and Habits, did not now know them. p And by reaſon of the Famine, (for he ſpeaketh with relation to the Famine during the Siege) they are almoſt ſtarved, their Skin is withered, and hard, and even ſticketh to their Bones.

q During the Siege many were killed by the Enemies ſword: many more periſhed by Famine, the Prophet ſaith the condition of thoſe who periſhed by the Sword was much better than the condition of thoſe who periſhed by Famine, becauſe they had a quicker Death, and were ſooner diſpatched and put out of their pain, whereas r they who periſhed by Hunger, dyed a miſerable lingring Death, gradually pining away, becauſe they wanted Corn and Herbs, the Fruits of the Field, to uphold their Souls in Life.

ſ This was according to what God had threatned in caſe of diſobedience, Deut. 28. 57. and a thing which hath often happened in Sieges, 2 Kings 6. 29. ſuch things did happen in the laſt deſtruction of Jeruſalem, as we read in Joſephus, and though we read of no ſuch thing happening in the Siege of it by Nebuchadnezzar, yet that there were ſome ſuch ſad inſtances appears from this Text.

11 The LORD hath accompliſhed his fury, he hath poured out his fierce anger, and hath kindled a fire in Zion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof t.

t An unuſual fire, which burns up not only the roof, and ſuperſtructure but the foundation, leaving no bottom for hopes of being reſtored. See Deut. 32. 22.

12 The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed, that the adverſary and the enemy ſhould have entred into the gates of Jeruſalem u.

u Jeruſalem was ſo naturally and artificially fortified, and ſo favoured by God, and taken notice of as a place which the Lord cared for, and watched over, that it could not have entred into the thoughts of any of thoſe that were Enemies to it, that they ſhould ever have been able to make themſelves Maſters of it.

13 ¶ For the ſins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her prieſts, that have ſhed the blood of the juſt in the midſt of her w.

w Not for their ſins alone who were the falſe Prophets, and Baal's Prieſts, but for their ſins in an eminent degree, they were the Ringleaders, either incouraging the People to the wickedneſſes they committed, or not reſtraining them, and denouncing the Wrath of God againſt them. So though they were the corrupt Magiſtrates that had ſhed the innocent Blood, yet the Prieſts and Prophets became guilty of it, either incouraging the Magiſtrates to it, or ſoothing them up in their bloody courſes, or by burning the Children that were burnt in the Valley of Hinnom. The Eccleſiaſtical Men were a great cauſe of the firſt and laſt deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and ſo they are of moſt other places that come to ruine through their neglect of their Duty, or incouraging others in their wicked courſes. which both ſheweth us how great a Bleſſing to a People, a godly, conſcientious Miniſtry is: And how great a Plague and Curſe a Miniſtry is which is otherwiſe. See Jer. 5. 31. and 23. 21.

14 They have wandred as blind men in the ſtreets, they have polluted themſelves with blood, || ſo that men could not touch their garments x.

x A variety of Interpreters hath made this Text much more difficult than it is. Certainly nothing can appear more reaſonable than to interpret the Pronoun in the front of the Verſe relatively, and to fetch the antecedent from the former Verſe. They, that is, the Prophets and the Prieſts wandred up and down the Streets like blind Men, being ſpiritually blind, polluting themſelves with blood, either the blood of the Children which they ſlew, or the juſt men mentioned, Ver. 13. the ſlaughter of whom they either incouraged, or at leaſt did not diſcourage; ſo as one could not touch a Prophet or a Prieſt, but he muſt be legally polluted, and there were ſo many of them, that Men could not walk in the Streets, but he muſt touch ſome of them. Some thinking the Diſcourſe of the Prieſts done with, interpret They of the blind Men in the City who could not walk up and down the Streets without touching the Bodies of ſome that were ſlain. Others interpret the words of the common People: Who during the Siege, could no more avoid touching Bodies ſlain and ſo polluting themſelves with blood, then blind men could, ſo as they abhorred to touch their own Garments. The firſt ſenſe to me ſeemeth moſt natural and eaſie.

15 They cried unto them, Depart ye ||, it is unclean, depart, depart, touch not when they fled away and wandred y: they ſaid amongſt the heathen, They ſhall no more ſojourn there.

y The various application of the Pronoun They by Interpreters makes them as much divided in the ſenſe of this as of the former Verſe. Either the Jews that made Conſcience of keeping to the Law againſt touching dead Bodies, cried to the other Jews to leave the City as themſelves did, the City being now ſo full of dead Bodies that they could not ſtay in it without polluting themſelves. Or the Prieſts called to them to that purpoſe. Or their Enemies ſpake in that Language to them. z For their Enemies had reſolved they ſhould not ſtay in Jeruſalem.

16 The || anger of the LORD hath divided them, he will no more regard them a: they reſpected not the perſons of the prieſts, they favoured not the elders b.

a Theſe words ſeem to be the Language of their Enemies triumphing over them, as diſcerning that their God was provoked againſt them, and would have no more regard or reſpect unto them; and that b they had miſuſed his Prophets which agreeth with 2 Chro. 36. 16. But others rather think theſe latter words (if not the former alſo) are the Prophets words expreſſive of the cauſe of their miſeries, viz. The Lords anger who had divided them, &c. and the effect of it. Their enemies having no regard to the moſt grave and venerable perſons amongſt them.

17 As for us, * our eyes as yet failed for our vain help: in our watching, we have watched for a nation that could not ſave us c.

* Iſa. 30. 6, 7. Ezek. 29. 16.

c That is, in expectation of the Egyptians, whom they waited for to raiſe the ſiege, it was a long time before they came, and when they did come they could do them no ſervice at all, Jer. 37. 5, 7, 8.

18 * They hunt our ſteps that we cannot go in our ſtreets: our end is near, our days are fulfilled, for our end is come d.

* 2 Kings 25. 4, 5.

d The Chaldeans imployed in the ſiege are ſo cloſe upon us, that we cannot ſtir a foot about our buſineſſes, nor look out at our Doors, nor walk ſafely in the Streets; we are ruined, there is an end of our Civil ſtate; our period is come, and the time of our proſperity is elapſed.

19 Our perſecutors are * ſwifter than the eagles of the heaven, they purſued us upon the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderneſs e.

e Our Enemies who purſued us to deſtroy us were very ſwift in their purſuit of us, (as ſwift as an Eagle, was a proverbial Expreſſion) we could no where be ſafe, if we ſought refuge in the Mountains they followed us thither, if we fled from them into the Wilderneſs, they laid wait for us there.

20 The breath of our noſtrils, the anointed of the LORD * was taken in their pits f, of whom we ſaid, Under his ſhadow we ſhall live amongſt the heathen g.

* Jer. 52. 8.

f That he calls ſome Prince here the breath of their noſtrils, that is their Life, Gen. 2. 7. is out of doubt, and though ſome of the Jews would have it underſtood of Joſiah, yet who ſo conſidereth that he was not taken but ſlain, and that not by the Chaldeans but by the Egyptians 23 years before the City was taken, will ſee reaſon to conclude that he meaneth Zedekiah, who though a bad man yet was a King, and of David's line, and afforded ſome protection to the Jews. g We promiſed our ſelves that though the Land of Judah was encompaſſed with Pagan Nations, yet through Zedekiah's valour and good conduct in Government we ſhould live comfortably, he being a covering and refreſhing to us, but ſaith the Prophet, he alſo is fallen into Enemies hands.

21 Rejoyce and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwelleſt in the land of Uz h, * the cup alſo ſhall paſs through unto thee i: thou ſhalt be drunken and ſhalt make thy ſelf naked k.

* Jer. 25. 15, 16, 21.

h The Edomites were deſcended from Eſau the Elder Brother of Jacob, and dwelled in a part of Arabia, that obtained the Name of Uz, probably from Uz the Son of Diſhan, who deſcended from Seir, Gen. 36. 20, 28. they out of their old hatred to the Jews rejoyced at their ruine, as we learn from the Prophecy of Obadiah, who upon this account was ſent to Propheſie againſt them, the Prophet here ironically ſaith, Rejoyce in the ſame ſenſe as Eccleſ. 11. 9. Solomon bids the young Man rejoyce, but their joy ſhould be but for a little time. i For God was dealing out the Cup of his Fury to more than the Jewiſh Nation, and amongſt others to the Edomites. k And they ſhould be filled, and intoxicated with it, and make themſelves naked as drunken Men ſometimes do in their Debauches.

22 ¶ * || The puniſhment of thine iniquity is accompliſhed, O daughter of Zion k, he will no more || carry thee into captivity l: he will viſit thine iniquity, O daughter of Edom, he will diſcover thy ſins g.

* Iſa. 40. 2. || Or, thine iniquity. || Or, carry thee captive for thy ſins.

k O Judæa thy puniſhment is paſt, but the puniſhment of Edom is yet to come. The Jews were to abide many Years in Captivity, but they were now ſuffering their laſt puniſhment from the Chaldeans, they were only for ſome Years to continue in that ſtate of Captives. l After thy term of Captivity ſhall be expired, thou ſhalt not for thy old ſins ſuffer any more puniſhment; not that their preſent Captivity ſhould be all their puniſhment in caſe they went on in ſinful courſes, (as they did in rejecting Chriſt, and cauſing him to be Crucified) for thoſe new wickedneſſes after many Years they were deſtroyed by the Romans. But the Prophet hints, that there ſhould at preſent, or for their paſt ſins no more wrath be poured out upon them, nor would God ever detain them in this Captivity. g But for the Edomites, their puniſhment was yet wholly to come, God was yet beginning to puniſh them, and would do it, diſcovering their ſins. As the pardon of ſin is in Scripture ſet out under the notion of covering it, Pſal. 32. 1. ſo the puniſhment of ſin may be expreſſed by diſcovering it, Job 20. 27. but the learned Author of the Engliſh Annotations, conceiveth the Hebrew may be better read, He will diſcover thee for thy ſins, becauſe of the Particle על ſet before thy ſins (though our Tranſlation taketh no notice of it.) He will diſcover upon thy ſins, and ſo it anſwereth, Jer. 49. 10. (as he conceiveth) I have made Eſau bare, I have uncovered his ſecret places, and he ſhall not be able to hide himſelf.

CHAP. V.

An Humble Prayer, preſenting to the Lord their great Miſery 1,——15. Confeſſing their Sins, 16,——18. Imploring Deliverance, 19,——22.

1 Remember, O LORD, what is come upon us: conſider and behold our reproach a.

a It hath been before obſerved, that it is very frequent in Scripture to expreſs thoſe acts which are reaſonably conſequent to the exerciſe of our exterior or interior ſenſes, by terms which ſignifie the exerciſe of thoſe ſenſes. That which the Prophet here prayeth for is God's freeing the Jews from thoſe Calamities which oppreſſed them, this he prayeth for under the notion of God's remembring them, and beholding their reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to ſtrangers, our houſes to aliens b.

b What our Fathers inherited as given them by thee, and we as left to us by them, is come into the hands of the Chaldeans.

3 We are orphans and fatherleſs, c our mothers are as widows d.

c We are all of us without a King (who is the common Father of the Countrey) we are deprived of thy fatherly care and protection, many young Children amongſt us are left without an earthly Parent. d Either our great Cities are like Widows wanting Magiſtrates. Or, our Women that were Married are left Widows.

4 We have drunken our water for money, our wood † is ſold to us e.

e This ſeemeth to refer to the State of the Jews in Babylon, where it is probable their Adverſaries made them buy both Water and Wood, which in the Land of Canaan they had plentifully and without any further charge to them, than fetching the one, and cutting down and bringing home the other.

5 † Our necks are under perſecution, we labour and have no reſt f.

† Heb. on our necks we are perſecuted.

f As the generality of Priſoners of War, are made Slaves and put to hard and inceſſant labour, ſo in probability the moſt of the Jews were at firſt at leaſt.

6 We have given the hand to the Egyptians, and to the Aſſyrians, to be ſatisfied with bread g.

g The ten Tribes were all carried Captives into Aſſyria, many of the Kingdom of Judah, as we have heard, fled into Egypt after the taking of Jeruſalem. Giving the hand may either ſignifie working with their hands, and labouring for them: Or, yielding up themſelves to their power, or lifting up the hands as ſupplicants to them, or ſtriking hands and making Covenants with them, or lending them their hands to help them, and all to get any thing to live upon.

7 * Our fathers have ſinned and are not, and we have born their iniquities h.

* Jer. 31. 29.

h We muſt not underſtand this in the ſame ſenſe as Ezek. 18.2. where God reflecteth upon them for uſing a Proverb to this ſenſe. It is the Prophet who here ſpeaketh, and in the Name of the Godly Jews who would not excuſe themſelves, as if they ſuffered meerly for their forefathers ſins. But the Prophet confeſſeth and bewaileth that God had puniſhed their Iniquities and the Iniquities of their forefathers together, and it was better with their forefathers who had ſinned, and were dead and gone, than with them upon whom the puniſhment of their iniquity did abide, and was like ſo to do a long time.

8 Servants have ruled over us i: there is none that doth deliver us out of their hands k.

i Either thoſe who ſometimes were our Servants, tributary to us, or the Poſterity of Cham, condemned of old to be Servants to our forefather Sem, Gen. 9. 26. Or the Servants of thoſe Maſters whom we ſerve in Babylon. k And none will help us and give us more liberty.

9 We gat our bread with the peril of our lives, becauſe of the ſword of the wilderneſs l.

l The Enemies lay incamped in all the Plains, ſo as they could ſtir out no way but the Sword of the Chaldeans was upon them, and what Victuals they gat they adventured their Lives for, during the time of the Siege.

10 Our * skin was black like an oven, becauſe of the || terrible famine m.

* Job 30. 30. Pſal. 119. 83. || Or, Terrors or ſtorms.

m The want of bread cauſed leanneſs, and paleneſs, and ill colours in their Faces.

11 They raviſhed the women in Zion, and the maids in the cities of Judah n.

n Uſual Outrages of barbarous Soldiers. The Heb. is, They humbled, a modeſt term to expreſs thoſe actions by.

12 Princes are hanged up by their hand w: * the faces of elders were not honoured.

* Iſa. 47. 6.

w Moſt probably by the Enemies hands, though ſome would have it by their hands intimating a more ſharp and lingring Death. Hanging was an ancient way in the Eaſtern Countries of putting Malefactors to death, Gen. 40. 19.

13 They took the young men to grind, and the children fell under the wood x.

x Their baſe ſervile condition is expreſſed by the labour they were put to, which was either grinding in the Mill (an ordinary employment of Slaves in thoſe Countries) or carrying Mill-ſtones, and the younger Children, in carrying great Burdens of Wood under which they fell, as being not able to ſtand under the Burdens laid upon them.

14 The elders have ceaſed from the gate, the young men from their muſick y.

y Our grave Men were wont to ſit and execute judgment in the Gates, but now there is no ſuch thing. Our young Men were wont to play on Muſick, and to have their merry Meetings, but they are allſo ceaſed.

15 The joy of our heart is ceaſed, our dance is turned into mourning z.

z Either our rejoycing at our ſolemn Feſtivals, and Dancings there, which were uſual as appeareth from many Scriptures. Or all our Joy and Dancings as well at other times as in our Solemn Feſtivals.

16 † The crown is fallen from our head a: wo unto us that we have ſinned b.

† Heb. the crown of our head is fallen.

a Or, the crown of our head is fallen, by which is not only to be underſtood the ceſſation of their Kingdom, but all their Honour, Splendor and Dignity, (Crown being taken in a Metaphorical Notion.) b We muſt thank our ſelves for all this, this wo is come upon us becauſe of our ſins.

17 For this our heart is faint, for * theſe things our eyes are dim c.

* Pſal. 6. 7.

c Either for our ſins theſe Miſeries are befallen us: or for theſe Miſeries our Spirits fail us, and we are almoſt blinded with weeping.

18 Becauſe of the mountain of Zion which is deſolate, the foxes walk upon it d.

d Foxes and other wild Beaſts, which fly from places inhabited for fear of Men inhabiting, and are much in deſolate places. The Mountain of Zion, where the Temple once ſtood, and People met to worſhip God, was now a deſolate unfrequented place, ſo as wild Beaſts ran up and down there.

19 Thou, O LORD, * remaineſt for ever: thy throne from generation to generation e.

* Pſal. 9. 7. and 10. 16. and 29. 10. and 102. 12, 27. and 145. 13. Hab. 1. 12.

e That is, Lord though for our ſins thou ſuffereſt theſe things to be done unto us, and our Throne be through thy righteous Providence thrown down, and thy Throne in thy Sanctuary amongſt us be thrown down; yet thou art ſtill the ſame God, thy power is not diminiſhed, nor thy goodneſs abated. Thou ruleſt the World, and ſhalt rule it for ever and for ever.

20 Wherefore doeſt thou forget us for ever, and forſake us † ſo long time f?

f Wherefore doſt thou in the Diſpenſations of thy Providence, carry thy ſelf as if thou hadſt forgotten us, and forſaken us, and that for a long time.

21 * Turn thou us unto thee, O LORD, and we ſhall be turned g: renew our days as of old h.

* Pſal. 80. 3, 7, 19.

g See the like expreſſion Jer. 31. 18. Turn thou us unto thee by giving us Repentance, and then our condition will be altered, or receive us into thy favour, and then it ſhall be well with us. h Reſtore us to our former eſtate, that it may be with us as it hath formerly been.

22 || But thou haſt utterly rejected us; thou art very wroth againſt us i.

i Our Tranſlators have here ſo rendered the Particle כי that the words ſeem to expreſs ſome diffidence in the Prophet of God's Mercy in reſtoring the People to their former ſtate, ſome expreſſions of which nature we find falling from the moſt eminent Servants of God in an hour of great Temptation: But where ſuch a ſenſe is not neceſſary, it is hard to put it upon a Text. Some therefore expound כי אם in this place by But if. Others tranſlate them, Although thou haſt, &c. Mr. Calvin prefereth the Tranſlation of them by Niſi, unleſs thou haſt utterly rejected us, and thinks that by this expreſſion the Prophet confirmeth himſelf againſt Temptations of diffidence, becauſe it was impoſſible God ſhould utterly caſt off his People, Rom. 11. 2. Others read it Interrogatively, Haſt thou utterly rejected us? Which doth not ſuppoſe that the Prophet believed he had, though his preſent Providence ſhewed him very angry with them.
